CHAPTER 1 - INTRODUCTION to Immortality for All ☺

1.1. Introduction 1.2. The central quality of reality or 'God' 1.3. Cybersecurity for all

4 billion years ago, we were bacteria, living 1 hour, today we live 1 million hours if aged 114, our size increased from 1.7 µm to 1.7 m, a million fold too☺☺☺. Evolution means that one day, we'll live to 100 million years old being possibly a million times bigger, 1700 km, like a 10000x faster than light shimmering cloud of 'light' made of new (unknown today perhaps) fancy "bosons", genderless spheres or ovoids shapeshifting into any lifeform inside stars, black/white holes, any planets. Imagine 1700 km diameter "spirits", beautiful telepathic radiant teleporting genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortals moving between universes via black/white holes/portals, live in stars, odd places, to easily shift before universes die. A 140 lb human is 5.9×10^{27} atoms, an Earth size sphere if all atoms are 5.7 mm apart, 2.1×10^{28} electrons & 2.1×10^{28} protons, an Earth size sphere if all electrons 3.7 mm apart, so we may become Earth size clouds of pure intelligence, made of various particles, all of us superimposed on Earth and other areas of space, looking the same, a blob of light with a certain camera, just as today all humans look the same on IR thermal camera, a blob of light. No hate/war/politics/lies/sales/marketing/GDP, no races/ethnicities/genders/genitals, no politicians, no countries, just one Family of Immortals ☺☺☺. To these exalted eternal beings whose "kids" are "created" by all humanity, i.e. all are parents of every kid, made of eternal protons, neutrons, electrons, etc… the conflicts, prejudice, concerns of primitive modern humans are laughable, they see all as tiny lights of the Infinite Light, they see each other as a cell of One Universal Body, as humans will one day evolve to see themselves as, as they become an adult species, ending the infant cry stage of 24-7 tantrums, wars. Ant IQ humans (bacteria vs future humans who live a trillion years) wage illogical war over resources/land that's infinite instead of helping each other ☺☺ be Immortal via science.☺☺ Do the Immortals think that humans (bacteria) with x skin, DNA, eye, hair color are 10^{97} times longer lived, smarter than others? No, we're all bacteria living 10^{900} times less than many Immortals. The neuroscience clueless think a "brain trip" is a literal trip to a new universe. Freedom means freedom to decide if to live to 80 or 80 trillion years. USA is the Land of Freedom, no Israeli Bible, Talmud (kill gentiles over 20$), Arab Quran or foreign scripture of Buddha, Gita, etc will tell us we have to die at 80. Our soul can choose to live as a physical being for a trillion years and no religion will change that.☺☺ USA got addicted to beauty salons, cannibal blood/body imagery, evil rituals of 'ants' who 'know' God, cruel bloodshed (97 pages: 5 scriptures) for a violent fake miracles God: slaves, Christians crucify self to bleed, Bible God/Jesus (who praises Torah many times in all 4 Gospels) advised humans via 1280 Torah (Old Testament) quotes to take slaves, mass rape, exterminate all nonJews (99.8% of humans) if Jews feel like it, beat kids, beat slaves, smash kids, sacrifice humans, see 4 clips on how Jews taught

Christians to drown & torture babies (1st) for 2 millennia (baby died), 3rd clip, 4th clip), Muslims beat self to bleed (Mohamed killed/raped 900+, copied the Bible, called for genocide, wife beating, kid beating, chopping hand/eye/feet, sex slavery), Jews Muslims cut penises to bleed, US natives torture self in rituals to bleed: Iroquoi /Aztec/Navajo/Anasazi/Hawaii/Native/ Pawnee human sacrifice, cannibalism, Hindus pierce self to bleed (Krishna called for genocide without being disturbed so Hindus killed each other for eons in Hindu-Hindu wars like all religions/continents did, not knowing God knows a trillion ways to peace without war, some Hindus eat corpses, damage neck off concrete, sacrificed humans, like Catholics, Druids, Jews did), Jains worship suicide/pull hair, Buddhists starved to death/damaged body). Religions are made up☺, their prayers didn't prevent the infernal shouts pastor, rabbi, imam, Hindu, Buddhist (ethical or spiritual immortalist tone is kind, donation free, religion is aristocrat made fake miracles for profit) or the 270 million Islam dead victims of 1300 years (same as 4 billion dead in 2026, since in 630-1930 world population average was 600 million, so 270 is 45% of world total if all dead today), WW2 (3.5% of world total if all dead today), 120 million 'communism' victims (4.0% of world total average in 1917-89 if all dead today), 98 million Christianity victims (14% of world total average in 380-2026 if all dead today, 20 million dead in Protestant-Catholic Reformation wars in Europe, 70 million dead in other Europe wars: 20 WW1, 40 WW2, 2 Napoleon, 8 380-1900), 35 million dead Buddhism victims (Buddhism dominant in Asia in 900: 6.0% of world total today or average 900-1945: Buddhist Japan killed 20 million Chinese, 8 million other Asians in WW2), 368 million killed by Judaism (Christianity 98, Islam 270 are Judaism rewritten, plus "communism" 120 was Jewish to a great %, so min 368) or 59% of world total, or 5 billion dead in 2026 as % if all dead today, Holocaust of Gentiles by Jews (Bible created Christianity 14% and Islam 45%), all wars (started by aristocrats who invented all religions to loot the masses, 2000% the world population then or today or 20×8.5=170 billion dead, if victims of 100 millennia all dead today). We realize Hindus fighting among themselves per their evil religions, Native Americans, other natives also add up to gigantic numbers, but since those wars are older, it's harder to come up with true estimates for the genocides each tribe or Hindu kingdom perpetrated on the other 50 in true % of world total at any time. ☺☺☺ In human history about 110 billion humans lived and died last 200 millennia, with 90 billion since Jesus time. In Germany, 7 million died in WW2, losing 40 years of lifespan, so 280 million life years lost. In wars, the major injuries of those not dead (losing 2-20 years of max life), damage to infrastructure meant the life years lost for the living affected by poor health and shorter lifespan via poor water, sanitation, education, transport, healthcare (hospitals razed or not maintained due to war production), pollution birth defects, stress meant 5 life years lost on average for that generation, so 300 million extra lifespan years lost, close to 280 from actual deaths. Thus, life loss is equivalent to 1 extra average age dead victim, so the actual toll from war alone will be about 2 times higher for each of the above religions, in real genocidal criminality, so aristocrats killed via war the equivalent of 340 billion in today's "world average total" numbers. In USA, dead were only 0.41 million × 40 years lost (avg age of death 26, avg lifespan 66) = 164 million lifespan years, but the rest were less affected by war, but still 1.2 years lost by the rest on average meant 1.2 × 140 million = 168 million life years, close to 164 for actual deaths. Again total = twice the deaths. That's over 0.5 billion for Islam and over 0.5 billion for Christianity when you consider the 0.4 billion minimum dead equivalent due to alcohol. This means that the Bible, via creating the 3 Abrahamic Religions, killed the equivalent of 1.2 billion people, which is 2 times the average world population 33-2026 (613 million), or 17 billion people dead if all died today. The fanaticism of the Jewish Bible is still growing wildly even in the USA, as the ongoing Jewish Invasion of USA section explains.☺☺☺ Give this 17 billion number to the religious Jews who claim their "holy" text has "nothing to do with the Holocaust", or better yet, have Jews read the 500+ genocides via war Jews aided, which caused pogroms/Holocaust. Math ($) guru Jews, where is your math? Chart shows Israel, followed by US (run by Jews), have highest growth of multimillionaires last 5 years on Earth, Jewish style equality: Fascism United. ☺☺☺ Compared all these "religions" with the Immortalist Anthem idea of loving the worst human a trillion times more than the most nurturing kind mom loved her suckling baby last decade? It's a big difference that justifies a sane decision to consider credit for an ethical society. Evil ritual or obedience to clergy controlled societies (via Bible-Quoran quotes) are not kindness. Skeptics say "religions didn't cause the wars", but greedy aristocrats. That's false, in ancient times everything revolved around religion, the church was the center of social life, of defense, of politics, so if clergy were not murderous psychos in disguise, they would have taught the duty of the people is to never listen to the greedy aristocrats, but to work for universal peace among all people, 1 language, 11 companies, 3 agencies for all. The clergy were the aristocrats in disguise, working with the nobility and monarchy to stage 90,000 fake miracles and wars of greed. A slight doubt about some nonsensical claim, ritual, belief of Catholics would kill you, but if you opposed killing fellow humans, you were killed too. Use Google or other search engine AI to ask for the cheapest company doing what you need do, since otherwise, you will get the same exact thing done for 2-5 times the price, since there is no law in USA and in capitalist societies except everyone deceives as many naive folks they can find.

Clergy say God said "Don't kill", except when they give you the command to kill 3000 like Moses, meaning they're above God: God is a fiction created to enslave you. You either have killing or nonkilling, you're either with demons or with God. A demonic brainwashing cult of "Cannon Fodder creation" for the Infernal Monarchies of Death became a cleverly packaged set of "nice sounding" ideas to loot entire continents and establish a Terror Based Maximum Imbecilization System of Evil called Spanish Inquisition and other Inquisitions (French, Italian, Portuguese). Religion focused on 20000 quotes instead of one simple one: there are a trillion ways to World

Peace of Heaven on Earth without any violence. When your scripture contains 1450 violent quotes, it's not a recipe for peace, but for 1. genocidal eternal infernal war, 2. mass rape and 3. slave beatings to death, the 3 pillars of the Abrahamic religions that clergy hides from all, especially Catholics where Bibles are not in pews. A society with an ethical "religion" focuses 24-7 on World Peace in 3 months, zero violent crime in 2 years, as outlined in this book. Current religions are scams, since their focus on World Peace is null or pathetic, having been created by military serial killers, despots and spies. No goal is more important than ending violent crime and war NOW. Only animals fight in wars. An ethical president talks about achieving World Peace in 1 year twice daily on TV, in a national TV address called "Preventing the 10 second End of Humanity via 2 capsule scenario". He invites all World Leaders to discuss the Plan for Ending all Hostilities. Panels of officials discuss how we can bring World Peace in 3-12 months in the 3 hours a day dedicated to that, besides the 10 hrs daily on all TV-radio dedicated to zero violent crime that is needed to create Eternal World Peace, as per state of emergency educational drive and post death penalty for any violent crime implementation. A criminal genocidal "scripture" doesn't make a religion, Abrahamic religions are not religions, but cults of "genocide, mass rape, kid beating, slave beating". Gita based Hinduism calls for genocide too. Any sane person, who actually has read these 200 Bible-Quran quotes of these 100 pages, will realize such genocidal hate is not religion or ethics, and deserves zero tax exempt status, as it fuels war/crime. Since Egypt, kings pretended they're God's representative, so the kings' subjects give kings their toil, wealth: religions were made up by aristocrats, kings to increase the looting yield of slavery profiteering. Millions of slaves built useless pyramids, symbols of slavery, for the king to enjoy, ridiculous. Real "religion" does everything to prevent conflict (since without Immortality for All, without Life all other rights are meaningless, if we're dead), it implements the removal of all criminal content from movies, lyrics, literature, scriptures, etc, it bans all violent books, all sex outside procreation content in any media, all violence containing scriptures, etc, it bans all religions based on scriptures with violence, as they were created by psycho lunatics of old with no understanding of neuroscience of crime. Saudi Arabia bans all religions except Islam, why should we not ban all violent scripture religions? Religion today is a tool by the rich to enslave all. The politicians are pathological liars who pretend to believe a religion to get votes. They know religions are all fraudulent remnants of cannibal chimps who figured out a way to enslave others: pretend a connection with the deity people crave for and be their "psychic advisor". ☺☺

Fungus IQ folks spend billions on mascara, eyelash, breast implant, hair dye beauty (self-mutilation industry), $1.4 trillion/yr selfish stuff instead of acting with intelligence, virtue to help all get good health via 11 companies to create a world of Immortals, Eternal Global Peace. You're not the body, don't believe parasite deceitful clergy trying to subjugate nations by destroying self-esteem with the "Jewish Jesus saves all" scam because, for all we know: your soul, if souls exist, could be Milky Way sized and Jesus' soul the size of a chimp. If we got no soul, we may evolve to create a Milky Way size soul for each to allow more cloud computing, discovery of 'God'. They got no proof of any Jesus, Eucharist, saints' miracles, only fraud, forged 'evidence'.☺ Christianity is a cover for promoting Jewish supremacy, right to exterminate any nation 'God (Jews) gives over to Jews', via the infinitely violent and evil Torah inserted into the Bible, which led to the Quran (Bible rewritten). Thus, Jesus created 80% of Islam, Christianity spread, Mohamed merchant learned the Bible, recycled it as Quran, though slavery existed in the Middle East since 5000 BC. Jewish retards recycled the Slave Codes of 3300 BC Babylon into their Bible that became the Quran. Slavery was everywhere for 10 millennia, 450,000 slaves were brought to USA, 12 million to Brazil and Caribbean, while Muslim Arabs enslaved 17 million in East Africa, the aristocrats enslaved the masses, most citizens were serfs, slaves of the nobility/royals in every society on Earth. Immortalism would end covert modern slavery. Jesus was violent, God isn't. Jesus, like Mohamed, said to cut hands eyes out. Jesus 'materialized' no 2 mg neuro chemicals in heads of evil rulers so no wars since 0 AD, but "materialized out of thin air 5 million mg (5000 loaves) of bread": thus, Jesus' cruel indifference killed 500 million in wars alone, he's no God, just a fraud or fiction. Jesus instigated all to drink alcohol, to drink blood and wine, to eat human flesh and diabetes, schizophrenia causing gluten in bread, alcohol which killed 1 billion people early, caused domestic violence, beatings, car crashes. Jesus was evil. God doesn't care about looks (beautiful is one who adds the most lifespan years to humanity), but about how we helped all know God/Heaven by living to a trillion years so all can go to a heaven via Virtue. Think for yourself, don't trust liars creating religion to expand genocide empires, they invent 5000 miracles, tablets, scrolls, books, artifacts, back date them to invent history. Religions tell us that if we work, do a ritual for 1 second of eternity (80 yrs), we get 10^{900} eons of fun. Is it logical that we can work 1 second, then have fun an infinity of seconds? Who maintains Heaven?

All underlined yellow highlight pink words are hyperlinks to the Internet or to other "Civilization of Immortals" book sections. Multi color fonts, like flicker lights*, stimulate optic nerve (and* our awareness of how human vision works via photons and retinal*), brain info* linked to visuals*, raise IQ,* prevent dementia. Before going into the philosophy of gentle tender soft nurturing loving healing kindness for All or Immortality for All ☺☺☺, before explaining in detail ways to bring a sense of unity of Immortals, where all humans are one family of beautiful genderless colorful telepathic radiant teleporting shimmering shapeshifting Immortals aged a trillion years☺☺☺ who often think/sing about Gentle Tender Soft Grace for All as they Live in ☺☺☺ ~~ Eternal World Peace ~~ ☺☺☺, Peace deified in song, like in the Immortalist Anthem, I wrote 5 less poetic "lower vibe" pages about the urgency of the hour, less uplifting as truth often is ugly on violent planets, so perhaps, you can now play serene instrumental music to raise the vibe: We can calmly, perhaps while breathing gently and compassionately, while listening to really peaceful music to prevent World War 3, ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ avoid a 10 second end of all humans in a war with weapons that can kill all humans within 30000 miles in all directions, in all bunkers, where no lead offers protection as the new rays penetrate all matter and kill all except those in a special capsule made of new inter-dimensional matter particles. Given the wretched nature of most people, who give no thought or take no action to help those bombed to death by their tax dollars, thru even the simplest thing such as listening to peaceful music, such an act (all 8 billion dead except some capsule with 1 million people) would be only fair for a human imagined God, if God didn't have an infinite compassion for our low IQ, which the real God does have, so God didn't do it, but humans may. We live in the most dangerous time in human history, where all humans, due to a physics mistake, can end up being dead in 10 seconds. It's because of this and other reasons, this book was written, to prevent the death of us all via a culture of physical ☺☺☺ Immortality for All, ☺☺☺ of nonviolence, instead of religious brainwashing and wars in the name of "religion" or resources. Humans will either reach semi "Immortality" some day, living millennia or die much sooner in a war, as we all hear from stories about AI killing us all, or an old style human-human war with more exotic sci-fi weapons. This book explains trillions of species disappeared in such wars; we have a chance to do so too. The chances of humans disappearing soon are much greater than those of surviving. Thus, immediate unbelievable changes need to occur to prevent the disappearance of humans, via a global state of emergency to reduce war to 0, violent crime a trillion fold in 10 years.

To reach trillion year lifespans or even to be close to God, we're to be compassionate towards all beings, and to love the worst beasts in human form a trillion times more than the most loving mom last decade loved her only infant baby, as the Immortalist Anthem explains in its first page. This ethos however doesn't make us lose discernment about which aristocrats in grand mansions rule our infernal planet, which mass murderers never prosecuted have bankrolled endless wars to profit from genocide, and still do. We can ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ recall that Trump (whom some have accused of being a covert communist) and his Defense Secretary Pete (a covert communist? The media claims (a lie perhaps, as the military may not choose such a guy as secretary) that he allegedly drank too much at times), called for the use of soldiers to torture, mock, humiliate or KILL leftists. Check out one jail. Without the new Immortalist Party, USA may become in 2030 like Nazi Germany, except the Nazis torturing, beating and killing everyone are right-wing Jews (Kaganovich Jew KILLED 5 million Ukrainians by starvation in 1933, with aid from Russians, other Jews), aristocratic Brits, Irish, etc and Bible fanatics. The espionage section details in the Fake elections section how Trump faked his assassination attempts to boost his election ratings, in a style typical of Hitler's false flag methods. Check out Trump's love of wrestling, typical of people who don't value honesty, but force. Recall how Gaza became all ruins, so will everyone, who opposes Jewish Supremacy, the Religion of Alcoholic Jesus, like in the Jewish USSR, be killed in USA, via slow torture. The unholy BLOODY Bible calls for the Extermination (Deut 7:1-16) of all non-Jews that Jews believe "God gave to them", meaning 8 billion dead in a worst case scenario of Jews thinking God gave the whole world to Jews, which is not hard to imagine given some esoteric texts calling Jews superior, gentiles subhumans. To see all Bible genocide calls, click here. The Bible is, due to Torah, PURE evil, just like the Quran. The fraudulent dishonest pastors, with huge mansions personal airports, fraud based congregations, receive tax exempt status, yet hide 1450 genocidal (they lead to genocide later) Bible quotes or claim the calls to genocides were justified within the context. The quotes were not justified, there are always a trillion ways to peace without any violence, but Jewish "low IQ scribes" (a polite word for genocidal psychopaths, as others would say) who wrote the Bible fantasies didn't know those trillions of ways, as simple as peaceful music only in the media, as they were not connected to God, but to fantasies in their starved malnourished violent exhausted brains, exhausted by the eternal wars in the area. Narrow minded people lack fluid intelligence and the ability to grasp a simple concept: to get from A to B there are a trillion violent ways and a trillion nonviolent ways at least. Jews and then the whole world who followed the violent Bible just chose "Satan", the violent ways, due to inertia, incredibly low IQ and credulity, and due the ☺abysmal IQ☺ of the neighbors fighting forever with all around them due to scarce food perhaps in the desert or whatever. One text totally screwed up humanity for millennia and they shove it on us daily: the Bible.☺☺☺ The Quran is a rewrite of the Bible with some extra worship of the black cube and other filif gnat IQ traditions of some Neolithic tribes, too primitive to realize God is not in a material object, icons, relics, medals. Beatings are deified in the Bible/Torah (kids, workers, sex slaves) or Quran (sex slaves, mutilated infidels, kids, wives), not just genocide and mass rape. This is why modern slavery is so common and why slavery happened in the Arab world, Mohamed had slaves. Gullible Muslims don't know God is within, all can connect to God via breathing, they got no need to travel to any location and God is not in Mecca anymore than in any other locations. The Muslims are slaves going to Mecca for Haj, mind controlled slaves of the Saudi Royal Family of businessmen, who know fully the whole Mohamed, Islam thing is a big scam, but it is too profitable of a scam (Haj pilgrimage, with its 100s of stampede deaths, 100s of heat stroke deaths, brings in lots of revenue via hotels, etc) to give up the Islam business and empire of spies coming to Haj pilgrimage to learn how to undermine the country they live in: richest royal families worldwide are Saudi 1.4 trillion, Kuwait 0.36 trillion, Qatar 0.34 trillion.

All this wealth happens while Saudi immigrant slave labor live like tortured (pins in their body) pigs in a den, while building nice tall buildings for Arabs and getting sometimes their arms cut off by Arabs. The Saudi royals, like many royals, steal national wealth, while the poor beg on the streets of Mecca. All this is from the Bible that teaches how to loot everything after a war, take captives as slaves, and Quran copying that. Check out modern slaves sold on instagram in the Arab world of Islam, Muslim wealthy families do it in London too. How is enslaving non-Jews in Lev 25:44-6 "Word of God"?☺☺☺ Why are West's Christians so ☺low in IQ☺ to believe these fraudster clergy saying "Word of the Lord" after reading the Old Testament? Bible was written by violent thugs and clever spies manipulating masses of enslaved colonies. The Jesus miracles were faked. 90 million Middle East slaves were abused due to the Jewish Bible re-written as Quran. Do blacks, gullible enough to go to these Jewish churches who advocate for slavery, realize they support slavery? In 1970-2025, 50 million Indians/Africans were enslaved to make Arab nations flourish. Isn't it time for US to declare the Bible a manual for slavery, war, rape, destruction of all human ethics, civilization? Check out slaves being sold in Libya for $400, thanks to the Jewish Bible: Lev 25:44-6 tells it all. Gentiles are cattle, Jews are human. Just as in US, the aristocrats living in palaces subjugate the rest using their 4500 banks. In India exploitation of lower castes is a 5000 year old tradition: they lend money and then enslave for decades.

We need to avoid USA become like Saudi secret police tortures dissidents or migrants, see pics. Any Demon-crat/Re-pub-lican (they love alcohol) politician who swears on the Bible or Quran is the ultimate fraud, liar and conman, because these two texts deify, legitimize slavery, beatings of slaves, genocide, mass rape, looting entire nations. These wolves in sheep's clothing, using a Christian cover in order to deceive the masses with soft talk about Jesus' fake miracles and his 'closeness' to God, use many RF, infrasound weapons. Their only ethics is power by all means, even thru the most violent religions they made up thru fraud. Read on to see why USA is like a Nazi camp where any critic of the criminal psychopaths at the top ends up being tortured. The British, Muslims, Portuguese blew to pieces in public people in India or areas they invaded to terrorize all. The British Parliament (approved by the unholy Royal Family) laws of execution and mutilation of centuries was created by the same folks who founded America, Washington and his pals were all British Army generals, soldiers, spies with British Army values. The Jewish gangsters posing as Christians are pushing for the Bible (80% of which is the Jewish Tanakh (24 books, 5 being the Torah), where most bad quotes are) to be forced on all kids, even though the Bible ought to be illegal due to 1400 violent quotes, check out laws passed in forceful imposition of the Israeli Bible in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Ohio by Jewish spies. Americans, this is USA ☺☺☺, not Israel, what does the Israeli sadomasochistic Bible of endless genocide, SLAVERY, mass rape, burning entire cities, exterminating 195 nations have to do with American culture and civilization? Nothing, they came here, setup banks to enslave us all. We can end all banks, create the one People's Bank, Eterni Bank. This book may be one of the last chances to save America from Total Dictatorship, to save humans from extinction in all out war, save humans from the forces of Eternal War, from those aristocrats who created Hitler and made Mao, Stalin far worse than they were thru endless military support of their enemies by US-UK. The radicalization of Stalin, Hitler, Mao (who killed 200 million) was due to the eternal genocides of the aristocrats in Russia, UK, USA, France, Germany. Stalin, Mao didn't become monsters in a vacuum or on their own. The West's aristocrats supported Stalin/Mao enemies, used killings, covert genocides to radicalize Stalin, Mao and caused the transformation of evil Stalin/Mao into gigantic monsters: faced with imminent death at the hands of the greedy aristocrats who didn't want a just society to emerge in any nation, an America where max salary is 3-5 times the min, not 50000 times, the Stalin, Mao types became equally violent and killed 110 million. We're never told this in history classes, because it is all controlled by the rich and they don't want any blame for the dead.

In our jail like "free society" perfect slavery exists (slaves think they're free), where all media is controlled by aristocracy, with fake debates between Democrats ("max salary should be 10,000 times the average" (Democrat TV hosts make 30 million a year, doing nothing of consequence to help the homeless) and Republicans ("max salary should be 50,000 times the average"). We live in a prison planet, where the victims of aristocrat crimes are in jail and the genocidal aristocratic perpetrators are free. To prevent USA turning into a Jewish Sharia Taliban style 3rd world police state (we are almost there), where the Bible extreme violence is forced at gunpoint on all US like in the times of the Italy started (after Italy crucified 6000 slaves in 1 day) Inquisition where people were publicly (see how) burned, tortured, we can gently recall we don't need to support these churches, since the Vatican simply renamed the Inquisition Office into the Dicastery (means court of law in Greek). The Vatican supported endless wars to brainwash, reduce the nations' IQ with its cult of Jesus, which is a pure fraud. Today, endless Christian, Hindu, Muslim, Jewish cults use similar coercive tactics. Instead of focusing on single family homes for all Americans, we build endless churches, mosques to be brainwashed by fraudulent bandits living in huge mansions while preaching pure lies. The fact our politicians swear on such texts is unfathomable, as if they're all mind controlled robots with the IQ of a rat. We no longer use chemistry or physics books from the 1st or 7th or 16th century, yet they want to use "ethics manuals" from the 1st (Bible) or 7th (Quran) century or 3rd BC (Mahabharata). Any world citizen can create something far nicer, less violent than Bible, Quran, Mahabharata, millions of peaceful "scripture quality poems or songs or texts" exist, like Tao Te Ching, the Immortalist Anthem, Dhammapada. They talk about the family of "humans, of the body of Christ", but what about making all humanity a true family and ending all wars now? 11 companies instead of 1 billion?

Some aristocrats will kill 7.9 billion people if it helps them to retain power, so we need to unify and create 200 parties in 200 nations to promote ~~ Eternal World Peace ~~. ☺☺☺ The so called free press is nothing (military controls it in each nation until we achieve World Peace), but the most grotesque brainwashing and justification of the bold theft of trillions of $ from the masses and state by the millions of aristocratic parasites living in $3-200 million mansions (check out 3500+ huge estates, all built by the Feudal Dictatorship of USA, where Free Press doesn't exist). Similar mansions of local aristocrats, royals exist in about 100 nations, check Saudis. Nowhere do you see a political party of "max income, assets being 3 times the average, instead of 50000 times?" That Party will win elections if we spread happyimmortals.com to enough online, the Immortalist Party. Today, more than ever, we need Immortality for All, no more killings, no more war, let all humans live to a trillion years old, because for that God of Eternity, a trillion years is a nano nano nano second. God, hear our prayers, let us live an extra nano nano nano second, after all, you created endless trillions of universes and beings infinitely longer than a trillion years old, have some compassion for us earthlings. We're the Internet generation and can use the Internet to change the existing order, or to be more exact, the parasitic American disorder. The current main parties are both controlled by Jewish, Italian, etc and British gangsters. If democracy is gone 100%, we can't bring World Peace, and remain stuck in the Eternal War. We're fighting for democracy to not disappear 100%, since 99% of it is gone. Military of each nation controls everything and everyone. The real rulers are unelected. The officials mere puppets, all elections faked. Americans are jailed (even the free men) in a police state that brainwashes all they're free (to be a slave dying in forever wars), like in each nation. It's the truth, but it's because of paranoia and collective psychosis, civilization is only possible when all nations merge and violent crime is zero, that's the bottom line. You want freedom? Then stop buying crap, 2 trillion/year, and do something for zero violent crime now, one language, 11 companies for all humans. Stop complaining about gov, because if you were a gov ruler, you would be doing the exact thing they're doing to protect yourself from enemy nations. Everyone lies in the media in all nations. We, the lovers of Peace, need to unite worldwide against all scriptures, governments, royal families, ideologies who condone wars, torture and genocide, and end war, jails and violent crime forever. All nations will help Americans to vote for the Immortalist Party, via social media, email, text, so we can bring Eternal World Peace. No nation wants war, only the rich love war, since slaves fight their wars. Gently stop being a doormat, awaken from the sleep, start organizing for the Immortalist Party. Send the top 3% parasites to fight the wars among themselves until we're free of their reign of terror, and voila, no wars will happen. They won't go, because they're hypocrites. If we don't unite and spend 10 min to spread this book, USA may become like Nazi Germany and be bombed until nothing is left of 80% of cities. Do you want USA to become a nuclear desert with 250 million dead? The enemy inside USA is not leftists, as Trump says, but the Jewish, British, etc fascists who financed Hitler (to create Israel, Hitler made a deal, later broken, to help Jews run to Israel) and started 100+ wars since 1776. The thugs have no respect or love for the human quantum field that is destroyed with each act of torture, war, violence such as blowing by gun. The prioritization by all nations of POWER/LAND expansion, meant the trampling of human quantum field information field, the destruction of endless quanta that led to endless wars. Wars stop when all realize we have infinite resources in space, so eternal war for resources makes no sense. Now is the time for decency to start in human history, with the help of the youth voting for the Immortalist Party President and Congress candidates. United We Stand, divided we fall. Awaken from the sleep, America. These feudal lords from UK, and other parasites from Jewish areas of various nations, using the cover of "American patriots" created 4500 banks to suck our blood and steal our labor, we only need one Bank, Eterni Bank, they made endless complex systems of stealing trillions from the American people and the state, brainwashing us about economics, Wall Street, finance, stock markets, etc, in order to enslave us all with their corrupt monetary system and fake educational system producing slaves to die in war. You can help, together, we're Invincible:

We can ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ choose to be discreet. You can use a temporary account with an imaginary name to post "Found a nice free book with 5000 nutrition references happyimmortals.com, Chapter 11" on social media or Internet forums, mailing lists, to protect yourself, and inform the masses. In many countries many parties won by the efforts of social media and anonymous Internet posts, or even texting: if each person texts happyimmortals.com to another 10 "Hey, I found an interesting site, what do you think?, talks about nutrition in Chapter 11, have not read the other chapters, lots of USDA links to every food, including 160 vegan foods with higher amino acid score than Burger King hamburger". Thus, in 2026, the Immortalist Party can win the midterm elections, making Demon-crats/Re-pub-licans minority parties (the fake parties we got are mere tools of aristocracy to enslave the masses, award aristocrats salaries 10-50000 times the average salary), then bring the immortalist US President in 2028, a young maybe 35 year old immortalist, who is a native born citizen. The evil parasitic political class wastes billions on their buildings, bureaucracy, elections, etc while doing nothing. We, the youth of the country, can show that we can overcome these fleas, bed bugs, leeches and bloodsuckers,☺☺☺ without any of their 400 buildings, by simple tweets, texts, phone calls, emails, Internet forum posts, and overthrow a system of 250 years of USA terror and 1000 year of terror in Britain, all based on one thing alone: killing. Our Party is the Party of the Youth, all our candidates age 45 or younger, welcoming all ages as supporters of the young candidates with the most Eterni Tone Voices. Younger brains are larger (most physics epochal discoveries (that redefined everything) came from 18-35 yr old brains, who're fastest at seeing connections for discovery), have more capacity for eterni tones, while older people sound slightly closer to the growling psychopaths who tortured millions, like these five infernal sounding "humans"☺: 1. hollering Jewish rabbi, 2. screaming Buddhist monk, 3. shouting imam, 4. yelling Hindu preacher, 5. howling Christian fraudulent pastor who faked miracles with a radio. The age of these cannibal like yelling baboons ruling the planet ☺☺☺ with their despicable macho psychotic torturing Inquisition like depravity is coming to an end. The rest of the book explains why:

Everything in this Immortality for All book is a set of hypotheses (even if the wording may seem as if a stated fact), questions and perceptions, which may help bring World Peace within 3 months ideally from the moment enough believe in immortalism, and 500 year lifespans in year 2700. Purple font was chosen as a perfect blend of red and blue, Republican and Democrat, to signify the national unity coming from the Immortalist Party, who makes Re-pub-licans and Demon-crats obsolete after they get 10% of vote only, and vanishes the political class and political parties if the masses support changing the US Constitution, because the political class does little but incite fights and chaos, waste taxpayer dollars, brings redundant inefficiency. The eye chapter 1st paragraph end explains more about the fake nature of news and papers. I think of this ebook as a high school/college writing project students could be asked to write (essay on "the transition to Heaven on Earth or 140 average lifespan"), so as to stimulate the imagination, to inspire others to create their Immortality ebook, website, movie, song, research project, radio-TV program, online course, high school class, 9,000 year lifespan contest, to better connect with the most positive timelines of the future; since now it's free to download programs for writing such books, it's better if all write their "| | Immortality for All | |" book ☺☺☺ (to organize their priorities, knowledge, pass the Immortality test for their grade, 5 pages 1st grade, 100-900 pages 12th grade), adding daily to the book, so they make longevity, Immortality the central focus of life, recall easier concepts learned prior, for quicker teaching of their kids. Spruce trees live 9,550+ years, 637 times longer than peach trees (only 15 years), some rats/bees 10 times longer than others, some worms to live 10 times longer, humans can live to 4000 too.

We see today lots of 14-20 year olds doing some amazing app or inventing something or winning medals in science olympiads, but there is no focus on discovering what nutrients or chemical compounds slow the progression of aging speed biomarkers 2-5 times enabling them to live to 160-400 (measure the marker at 3-15 weeks intervals in volunteers to assess speed, create an infrastructure in every school or college where teens and any citizen scientist can apply to run lifespan tripling research instead of 30 hrs/wk with sports, Sudoku, card games, gambling, chess, not just Big Pharma). There are many aging speed biomarkers and one nutrient (or undiscovered vitamin) may not always be enough to control enough biomarkers to result in 160-400 year lifespan, but it's a step forward. Great discoveries in science happened when the inventors were only 19 (solar power 1839). Youngsters alive today, like some whose work at age 20-29 led to Nobel Prize, with a 9000 year life edu culture, can discover how to live to 400. 20% of Nobelists before 1905, got Nobel for work done before age 30. Instead of chess, bridge, sports, we make 9000 year lifespan sciences contests/projects, change the STEM contests, olympiads to focus on 9000 year life in 90% of the tests/gadgets. Bragg got a Nobel at 25. If kids study physics or biochem 40-70 h/wk from 9 to 28, they win a Nobel at 29 for 40x worm lifespan or superluminal. Today, schools create low IQ folks, due to wasting 30h/wk with sports, humanities, nonsense instead of specializing at 9. Youth can use diet to increase lifespan 40x (like queen bees live 40x longer, like alter light travels 40x or 4 trillion x faster confirmed by superluminal craft), not just to get science knowledge to create a lethal food/soap additive (texture, flavor, preservative, color) that shortens life, because "it's a higher $ job kids get due to winning a contest".

The smiley faces ☺☺☺ are frequent for these scientific reasons, we become happier when we see smiley faces, we can breathe consciously easier and attain tranquility (see Chapter 10) and have a positive influence on the mass consciousness field, reducing violence and war. The many rainbow colors remind us of heaven, increase fluid intelligence (essential to World Peace & science) due to the way the brain works (50 font or background color changes per page, not 0), make it easier to understand a point ("Godliness brings Immortality", "God is the 1st Immortal" or some nutrition idea) as in colorful chemistry textbooks. It's hoped that the book's hypotheses will help the reader to formulate new hypotheses, questions leading to a deeper Understanding of how we might achieve 90 million year lifespans in the next million centuries. Billions of Christians say the "Lord's Prayer" like "Our Father... Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." Thy Kingdom (of Immortality and not eating, but living on energy, teleporting, shapeshifting maybe once a week or month or year, telekinesis, telepathy) come on Earth as it is in Heaven can be thought of as no war, no death (Immortality), no disease, no violence. Similar prayers exist in several religions, for example "Our Father" Avinu Judaism prayer asks for ending disease, war, and famine. All religions talk of a future when there will be Heaven on Earth, Christians believe we will live forever on the New Earth (Immortals), there are Buddhists and Taoists who believe in an era when people will live to age 50,000, some Hindu denominations also believe in physical Immortality on a New Earth (transformed perhaps) some day. Imagine a future century where we would live without any anxiety of dying before the age of 900 or much longer (where absolutely nobody dies before 900, no animal is killed, all being vegan or eteri), it would be such a paradise, since in our world, we can die at any age, even 5 due to flu or an animal attacking us, which leads to incessant anxiety and fear in the background in all our actions. This utopian anxiety free Civilization of Immortals is possible if we desire it, or at least it seems so to me: reality is the result of our dreams, imaginations, wishes, thoughts, plans. Buddha says to "Love all beings as a mom loves her infant child", Gospel says 1 Thes 2:7 "gentle among you, as a nursing mother tenderly cares for her own children" Phil 4:5 "Let your gentleness be evident to all". In this future world of Grace, there are only positive emotions, intents like universal loving kindness from all towards all, and a truly healthy heart rate born of compassion and conscious breathing. Immortality for All gives eons to all to become gentle tender soft loving kindness embodiments, so they avoid a hellish afterlife. "Immortality" for All is therefore, theologically speaking, the epitome of compassion. Thus, the degree of compassion in a civilization is reflected in the lifespan length of its people.☺☺☺

We know from science that when the sun becomes a red giant, Earth temperatures will reach 1,500°C (they will reach 50°C first and higher leading to evaporation of all oceans), and then the

Earth will dragged into the sun as the sun expands. Earth civilization could continue maybe in this dimension underground if we can shield from the heat, in theory, or in another dimension unaffected by this or more likely in another solar system as human beings we're today, just able to live 20 times longer maybe. We could become energy beings able to live inside the sun even by some semi-ascension process into a body made of particles able to switch between dimensions allowing living in 2 dimensions, with lifespan of millions or billions of years, able to create solar systems, small galaxies, etc; today we're close to being able to take asteroids and create small planets; with fusion mastery creating solar systems may be easier or creating a cooler zone 20 miles underground even if surface is a very hot desert; the surface being 1,500°C without a shield, it provides a lot of electricity that can be used to lift matter 20 miles to create a heat shield acting as a battery station for 5 mile wide motherhip building and recharging; via high tech it may be possible to live inside a sun (create a cool zone) or even create a sun like star around a planet, with high tech saucers to travel the hot ring of solar fusion). Inside stars/hot planets there could be undetectable cool zones inhabited by humans with lives of 900-7,000,000 years who do it to avoid star wars. Future humans may choose to live in white or black holes (gates among universes?) or neutron stars, as their energy body can shapeshift into rocks, trees, lifeforms of any planet, temperature, etc or neutron bodies, etc. It seems that the purpose of human existence could be said to include bringing this kingdom of Heaven (Immortality) on Earth (and other planets we move to when Earth is too hot) with World Peace, harmony, gentle tender softness, happiness. Since souls are Immortals, we're technically even now a Civilization of Immortals disguised as mortals; in general, when we use the term Immortals, we refer to physical people (not souls) who don't die or, at least, as in science fiction, live such a long time, maybe 900, that we call them "Immortals". ☺☺☺ In several religions there is a talk of a future era when people live forever; this talk may be a precognition of an era of Ascending Longevity, Immortality (live a million years, translate into another dimension, living 3 trillion years there, then ascending into another universe, living 1 octillion years there, etc), or "Immortality of Spirit extended more into physical longevity"? Immortality is a central topic in all religions.

Nobody knows exactly how to interpret the theology of the New Heaven and New Earth that some believed into, since there are trillions of interpretations to any words in a given text. One interpretation is that the advance in understanding enables transforming the Earth, the building of a new dimensional Earth or the translation into a new dimension, from which a New Heaven (astral planets) is visible. Muslims/Christians, who make up 50% of humans, believe in the second coming of Jesus. Some say this 2nd coming already happened at his "ascension". Others say that the 2nd coming is symbolic, and happens thru the ideas God gives to people via sciences of the material and spiritual world that enable them to build this New Earth where people live to be Immortals, in perfect Peace, before people actually have the capacity to see spirits of the

"dead". Others say Jesus didn't predict anything (we video chat and have Internet in 1995), so it's all false, Jesus won't come back. What about the apocalypse or bad things supposedly meant to happen? Those things have already happened in the 1st century in one interpretation called preterism. In Mt24:34 Jesus says "this generation will certainly not pass away until all these things have happened", which means that his 2nd coming/'end times' refer to the apparitions of his spirit form, and happened already before 80 AD. Matthew talks of Jesus coming from the clouds, which could mean Jesus shared an astral travel/dream visits returning from between clouds. However, we simply don't know, and via time travel one can recreate videos of past events, and atomic structure of past bodies, so "resurrection" ☺☺☺ into a recreated changed perfected body (looking similar, but Immortal) is not impossible scientifically. We have no video to know what Jesus really said and did. The Gospels are too metaphorical. It's very easy to misunderstand what a guy says. When Jesus talks of the dead resurrecting, the scribe could have written that as that was local belief then, even if Jesus didn't say it, since he may not have fully understood Jesus' real beliefs or astral travels. Hear say and translation of oral into writing, can totally change meaning or distort it, because we never know what meaning a sentence has without a deep explanation. Even if some believe in 'a bad event', humans may still live to 4000 years old when that happens. Some New Testament parts were added later by scribes.

No scripture was able to predict we walked on the moon in 1969, saw people far away with video phones and flew 161 times faster than the fastest bird (240 mph) with Voyager 1 (38,610 mph since 1979), 654 times faster with Helios 1974 157,000 mph probe (relative to sun), 897 times faster with 1980 Helios 1 (relative to Earth) 215,193 mph, 1000s of satellites at 17,000 mph, soon 1,800 times faster with the sun probe 430,000 mph, so why believe any prediction? No verifiable prediction was made by the "son of God". Jesus was probably fictional: they made up books/tablets about him, et, like FBI writes fake books evidence today. Modern scholars think the John of the Revelation was a different John than the one in the Gospel of John. We're often asked to believe without questioning stuff written in scriptures full of human errors. What if we start to analyze every scriptural sentence and question the standard interpretations? What is the evidence that an unknown John was right about 'end times'? Zero. This John never predicted anything 2000 years ahead, our moon walk, so why believe his junk? Why would the fears of a cave man become our Physics of Reality Textbook? We study Physics from 21st century books, not 1st. Same with Ethics. Can we create a future of peace without the gloom? Why not? God is Infinite intelligence, so God knows trillions of ways to World Peace without any violence, apocalyptic events, war. Will we discover those ways via Listening 'Prayer' (telepathy, listening to God, like Dirac Nobelist did in his quiet place) instead of linguistic repetition of old texts and mechanical prayers of telling/asking God to do this or that? What if the destination of human evolution is this 100 million year lifespan? Even if Jesus indeed "comes from the sky" as some naively hypothesize or believe, and "brings World Peace", we might have to first bring a 40 year cessation of hostilities first and a human World Peace before Jesus brings the permanent World Peace of a Civilization of Immortals. So, whatever one believes, World Peace can happen well before "Jesus second coming from the sky, via reincarnation or invisibly" via a mind change via telepathy. Chapter 13 explains trillions of ways World Peace can happen via global cessation of hostilities agreements and removing violence from all media, movies, literature, music.

One of the most evident qualities of God or the Universe, which humans don't have, is this Immortality or Almost Immortality of the Universe, which is 14 billion years. This Immortality quality is so intrinsic to Godliness*, that we could argue that aiming to bring more of this* Quality into our civilization would automatically bring more of the other qualities of God*, such as* gentleness*,* tenderness*,* softness*, peace,* kindness*,* selflessness*,* etc. If we look at the planet, we can easily find in 1 million people some who're very gentle, tender, soft, kind, selfless, etc... but we can't find even one who is physically Immortal or able to at least stop aging for 100 or 400 years. To bring a world of Immortals is a lot harder than to be gentle, peaceful, nice; it requires a knowledge of such depth and a mastery of all the other qualities we associate with spiritual paths of such depth, that it automatically brings a total transformation of the inhabitants into Godliness filled beings. To bring a world of Immortals where nobody dies before 4,000, living anxiety free until 4,000, as far as "death/being harmed" anxiety is concerned, we need the evolution of the entire civilization to a degree of such grace, tenderness, softness, nonviolence, that nobody would ever conceive to harm another, with the worst behavior being perhaps frowning or having the slightest tension or negative emotion building up, before a healer can immediately help the people frowning to return to happy tranquil joy.☺☺☺ In this Immortality world there are no violence/prisons, all bad actions are prevented by centralized education in ethics, in all life extension sciences and areas of knowledge, including hypothesis about other dimensions, emotional regulation via tone, smiling, breathing, etc. We see in our civilization, that as we have increased average lifespan, we also have increased time spent in education, so it's conceivable that when we live to 900, we won't study 12 grades minimum, 12 years, but 120. This gives us an idea of what kind of education one gets after studying for 120 years (imagine how advanced their understanding of optimal sleep is also, sleep being so critical to scientific discovery; Einstein slept 10-11 hours and said he solves physics in his dreams), a 120 year education that is more reflective of the infinite complexity of the universe and reality, as science, psychology, spiritual sciences and seeking, afterlife beliefs, ethics, etc becomes more and more specialized and more and more complex. At 120, the future 900 year old humans (the future us?) know more physics and chemistry than 99% of people today.

1.2. The Central Quality of God is Immortality and the Science Knowledge to Attain It

If we look at spirituality or ethics, any character quality of God or Immortals is easy to master, except Immortality or, more exactly, the in depth Knowledge leading to Immortality. This shows us, arguably, that the most transforming and Godliness filling pursuits of a "spiritual quality" development are the pursuit of Immortality via the Science of Immortality, and the ability to stop all natural disasters and causes of death. What are the attributes of God? Evidently, first one could be said to be the one no man can emulate, Immortality. We can emulate being gentle or we can even be gentle, kind, honest, but we can't be Immortal, or emulate being Immortal as we would if we were to live to 2,000 years like some individual trees or 80,000 like the tree colony in Utah. We can't be Immortal now, at our level of development and understanding. So, if we want to be really really Godly, or close to God, or spiritual, we might have to develop so much more Understanding, Knowledge, Awareness so as to emulate, thru 4,000 year lifespans, a tiny bit of God's Immortality to get a tiny understanding of God's Nature. Then, perhaps, we can better really understand (never fully of course) the concerns and true qualities of God stemming from the hard work of eons to develop such an amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ wonder as that of a Civilization of Immortals who live centuries or millennia. Since God is a very smart parent knowing that kids learn better by doing, instead of being spoon fed forever, it is very easy to conceptualize how God would want us to take the lead, discover the Knowledge (Knowledge = Immortality, ignorance=death) and extend our lifespan to 900 and attain World Peace ourselves thru our own efforts, instead of God granting us a wish after we say some elaborate prayer of "adding 100 years to our lifespan" or "give us World Peace". It's reasonable to conceive how God would want us to graduate from toddlers to adults some day, as a civilization, who no longer need so much babysitting. One can develop kindness, sweetness, but without Understanding, Knowledge, Immortality like lifespan, it will be perhaps ultra-difficult to really comprehend God, God's tenderness, softness, kindness, grace, gentleness. We find in this motivation for Eternal Learning, Ever Refining Knowledge, Hypothesis Thinking tested for eons until the models better reflect the infinitely complex reality, for the pursuit of discovering Ascending Immortality, translational Immortality into another Universe. This “theological” opening leads us to a new perception in ‘spiritual’ thought, an era when scientific hypothesis testing is embraced, science and spirituality are both aspects of our eternal search for truth, scientists helping us understand God's creation are made saints (see Chapter 14), scientists admit they don't know if there is a soul instead of saying "there is no soul", when the pursuit of physical longevity and "semi-immortality" and later, perhaps via ascension, of true Immortality, are thought of as not only natural and spiritual, but among the central ways to know the nature of God, for we only understand God's mysteries better when we're able to understand how hard it is to build a Civilization of Immortals in this dimension or other dimensions (heaven). ☺☺

Why would Immortality (and Semi-Immortality) be among the central ways or the central way to know the nature of God? Because the Immortality NATURE of God is the one we can emulate the least. In the process of trying to reach million year lifespans, we're bound to realize how much patience, kindness, gentleness, tenderness, grace is required of a civilization to reach million year lifespans, so the drive towards Immortality forces people to really change fundamentally in all other "far easier to emulate" Qualities of God or spiritual qualities a seeker of truth is supposed to develop as part of being on a spiritual path. We could argue that the most obvious or even the Central Nature of the Human Soul is Its Immortal Nature coming from the divine spark that is Immortal. Immortality is what makes the soul different than the body, so we could call Immortality Its Central Nature. It's only natural that to study the soul we study Immortality. The Central Nature of the divine spark in our soul is infinite kindness, Immortality. The Essence of spiritual paths is the attempt to bring Heaven on Earth, a more soul/Heaven like world. The soul is Immortal, so we can see how bringing ever Increasing Lifespan, 200, 900, 3,000 year lifespan becomes not a "sci fi dream" for "new age hippies", but the very core (or at least a major part of the core) of our spiritual search for closeness to God thru understading God, and the effort and qualities it takes to build Immortality, the infinite effort and infinite qualities it takes to build Civilizations of Immortals in this or Heaven dimensions. Heaven = Civilization of Immortals, not an Immortal civilization of mortals. This fundamental core of our spiritual search of meaning and closeness to God can be perceived as such no matter what our religion, spiritual belief may be. Perhaps afterlife deals with 10^{70} spiritual dimensions, making it 10^{99} times more complex than physical reality (1 dimension) sciences. Perhaps no human can be a Nobel Laureate level expert in all sciences of this dimension, or in all afterlife sciences, all "Important Spiritual Qualities to develop (Gentleness, Tenderness, Longevity, semi-Immortality) to become closer to God" sciences. Thus, we're filled with a sense of awe at how much we have yet to develop our understanding to begin to comprehend the complexity of afterlife and the Soul's Immortality, how this Immortality expands in physical societies when immortalism dominates; this is explained in the next Chapter.☺☺☺ See the Immortality world vibe, greetings, wishes. ☺

1.3. 35 pages on Online Security in the Age of 24-7 Online Spying by Gangs/Nations:

Always do/purchase stuff online anonymously, never link real name to your physical address:

Given the genocides in 1.1, and how easy is for nation states to hack email, bank accounts, phones, PCs/Macs, record every keystroke PC, see every page you visit, you need to protect self. Weak cybersecurity makes killing/manipulating you into being an unconscious spy for them very easy. In the future, with only 11 companies in the US, we can setup the most advanced system of changing each persons' online identity for every purchase, with title and email body items purchased hidden like amazon does now for purchases, including new credit card number issued for each purchase of one's life, via privacy.com type of technology, so that no foreign hacker knows who orders what, who lives where, no yellow/white pages anymore allowed, no real estate directories, no way for foreigners to search real estate databases, tax records and establish a map of all USA using these directories. We seal our USA from espionage. Based on hack data, Chinese serial killers can go to a US city page, type a name, see if a guy owns a house there or name of that home owner. This will become illegal, it's helping our enemies. Hackers can intercept emails that use real names, so every citizen can use special aliases generated by the Central Software when sending emails, whose real name is seed only by the Key Holders of YubiKey, with everyone securing their central account for the 11 companies with YubiKey used by the Highest Top Secret Pentagon personnel. The civilians will use strictest security for simplest tasks, in order to defend USA against Hackers who aid with satellite weapon attacks of critics. All fruit fly IQ govs need to be dissolved, only 1 central gov shall exist that protects our privacy. Cybersecurity = each company is a million x more secure, so 11 companies instead of 33 million. To avoid spies reading email, online purchases, SMS, take some steps, besides passkeys, 2 factor authentication (2FA) using offline Google Auth app (2FA safety: auth > email >> SMS):

1.3.1. STOP SPYWARE via Windows quad9 & stronger settings in Chrome, Brave, Tor:

In chrome://settings/security choose Enhanced Protection. Install ublock origin Lite to block youtube ads as one of the only open-source extensions besides Google Voice, as non-US extensions can install malware if not open source. Only use extensions that are official by Big tech (Google, Apple, etc) or have at least 10 million users, have open-source code and are US-Canada based. The rest of extensions with a few users can be used by spies to take over your PC. Malwarebytes extension (California team) blocks malware and compliments uBlock Origin Lite. Chrome's built-in "Enhanced Protection" (when turned on) relies on Google's index of known malicious sites. Malwarebytes maintains its own completely independent, enterprise-grade database focused specifically on rapidly evolving zero-day malware domains, phishing pipes, and ransomware servers. So, even with all Chrome settings to the highest security and blocking, Malwarebytes helps. In Mac/Windows, create a new admin account and then demote present account to standard, so that when KGB, etc malware wants to silently install, it can't, since you are not admin and asks for the new admin password of the account you just created. This way, each time you install anything, you get the password prompt. Windows: Settings, Accounts, Other Users, Add account, click 'I don't have this person's sign-in info', then 'Add a user without Microsoft account'. The logout, and login into the new account you made, with the new password, type "Control panel" in start menu, click on "Change User type" and change this account you made to Admin and the old admin to standard, logout. Extra security: Click Windows Start, type UAC, click Change User Account Control settings, move slider all the way to the top option: the default setting (second) allows certain built-in Windows programs to make changes without dimming the screen or asking you first. Sophisticated malware can hijack those trusted Windows programs to slip through silently: by pulling the slider to the top, you force Windows to ask Yes/No, giving your uBlock Origin, Malwarebytes time to intercept bad files before they even reach the prompt stage (Yes/No prompt can be bypassed by advanced KGB malware, so browsing using standard user is safest; admin OK for changes to settings once a year). In ChromeOS, you don't need separate accounts, since Chrome forbids malware or any software from interacting with the core OS files, as long as you don't turn on Developer Mode (it's catastrophic to use developer mode as it allows KGB to spy on you 3 billion times easier). Another safe open-source app you may want is uBlock Origin on Firefox/Brave if using that, since uBlock Origin (V2 engine) does all uBlock Origin Lite (V3 engine) does, plus block youtube channels that google pushes even after you clicked "don't recommend this channel" on the right. Lite is a V3 analog of Raymond's uBlock Origin, made by him for Chrome users after Google banned V2. Lite lacks the youtube channel blocking ability. Brave got a custom override into their browser to keep supporting V2: Settings > Extensions > Manifest v2 extensions.

Go to Chrome, Extensions, uBlock Origin Lite, Options, Filter Lists or click here to jump there. Under Privacy, AdGuard/uBO – URL Tracking Protection: Turn on, Block Outsider Intrusion into LAN (spies try to see what printers, connected devices are on a network to try identify your computer by devices and fonts; you don't need this if you use VPN/Tor) Turn on, under Annoyances, Malicious URL Blocklist: Leave it on to block malware, EasyList – Notifications Turn on to block "Site wants to show notifications. Allow/Block?" popups which can be used by spies to install malware if we accidentally press yes. If we click "Allow," we give a site permission to send messages directly to the OS (Windows or Mac), so hours or days later, even if the browser is closed, a notification pops up in the taskbar corner,designed to look like an official Windows Defender, McAfee, or Norton antivirus alert: "Virus Detected! Click here to scan now." which takes us to a fake tech-support site to download a "cleaner" tool (malware or ransomware), or demands we call 888-111-.. where a spy cons us out of $. EasyList/uBO- Cookie/ Overlay Notices: Turn on to hide popups asking you to accept cookies or register for accounts. Other Annoyances: Turn on to delete clutter/dynamic layouts like YouTube's on main websites. If you turn on AI/ Chat/Social Widgets filters, you can't use chat, social media, AI. "Don't allow sites to send notifications (popups)", delete all in "Allowed to send notifications" in chrome://settings/ content/notifications. KGB/PLA hack US trusted sites (on allow list), exploit unpatched flaws in site's content management system (WordPress, etc) or hijack its DNS routing to inject a script that sends a popup "Windows Alert: Virus Found. Click here to.. (be screwed)". Every computer runs a secret OS besides the one you know: meaning all you do is seen by a spy agency.

In all browsers use 3rd party cookie blocked (default on Brave) and at chrome://settings/security turn on Use Secure DNS and Add Custom DNS and paste https://dns.quad9.net/dns-query this is Quad9 (9.9.9.9), the global fight against all spy agencies malware. 9.9.9.9 is way superior to the Cloudfare 1.1.1.3, which is better than 1.1.1.2. (for malware). 1.1.1.3. or https://1.1.1.3/dns-query (or 1.1.1.2. if you don't want to block adult stuff), prevents malware AND adult and violent sites used by spy agencies in the social media profiles of fake or real people who point to a seemingly legit site but reroute to adult sites (allowed by 1.1.1.2. but blocked by 1.1.1.3), in order to use adult sites to install spyware. Quad was US based, but then went Swiss based due to stronger privacy laws. It's a nonprofit financed by IBM, etc. Cloudfare is a for profit company. Chrome and Brave only give you the auto 1.1.1.1. Cloudfare (alternate DNS Google DNS is 8.8.8.8) as one of their default options, but there are others (quad9) far more secure for spy agency attacks. You can also setup the home cable modem/router for quad9, so all connected devices are protected. You can set this 9999 in Windows, so all your Ethernet, Windows (iOS, etc) updates, WiFi (better never use WiFi) blocks malware too: Win (Comm if Apple keyboard) + R to open the Run dialog box, type ncpa.cpl, enter, select Ethernet (never use WiFi, disable it, all can hack WiFi), Properties, TCP/IPv4, Properties, enter in Preferred DNS server 9.9.9.9 & in Alternate DNS 149.112.112.112. Check "Validate settings upon exit", OK. Visit on.quad9.net: it shows a clear "YES" with white leters on pink backgroundd to confirm if you use Quad9, world's strongest malware defender for civilian consumers. Visit Settings/ Network/ Ethernet, ensure 9.9.9.9., 149.112.112.112 say DNS encrypted (not unencrypted) via automatic templates and IPv4 on. Visit Win Settings/ Privacy& Security/Recommendations & Offers, toggle all 6 to OFF, so that no telemetry data is intercepted to identify you. Go to Privacy&Security/ Diagnostics & Feedback, set all Off, feedback to Never, Delete existing data. Visit about:preferences#etp in Firefox, select Strict instead of Standard. All browsers: tighten security. Visit tls-ech.dev to see if it says "You are using ECH. :)". ECH encrypts website names, so spies can't monitor ISP to see what you browse. Encrypted Client Hello (ECH) is a browser and TLS security feature that hides your traffic. It upgrades HTTPS by encrypting the Server Name Indication (SNI) during the initial connection handshake, preventing ISPs or spies monitoring ISP traffic from seeing the sites you view (spies try to see your routines).

Google "how to turn on ECH" for more AI ideas, or use the free gemini.google.com/app and Pro/Extended for any long threads if you want the AI to recall more of what you told him 20 questions prior, such as talking about ECH, privacy settings, home rennovation project, technical complex topics, online cybersecurity against PLA, KGB. However, after a few questions, Pro/Ext moves to Flash/Ext, which is terrible, recalls little, being even less useful than the web version that is more detailed and has all links, youtubes as references. Even google search is better than Flash, since the references allow you to evaluate the logic and credibility of a website, etc. If using a regular google search prompt and AI overview, you get ultra fast answers that forget everything AI/you just said 2 queries ago with terrible software (PC glitch) fixing advice, being a pure info aggregator not a reasoning model that takes much longer to answer a question. The chrome AI summary is useful for 1-5 question general queries where you want a long summary of why the 2 line advice from gemini.google.com is true for that last query, as it will show you 10 web links, youtubes, etc that detail in 10 times longer summary why that is the right decision. The web search doesn't have memory of prior searches, so you need remind it of your project, not ideal as the only tool for extended PC fix with 20 questions, security upgrades or home DIY renovation. They compliment each other, but for most questions, web is fine. Both are free. Overall, even if it has poor memory, 99% of the time, the web version is much more useful, with the gemini.google.com used as confirmation for deeper questions checked on other AIs too. AI is incredibly stupid, makes illogical summaries that fail to read context and realize what they're saying is wrong, for example, AI reads "new plumbing fixtures" need permit on a city page, but in that context new refers to new, extra not replaced fixtures, since prior lines indicate "new and replacement electrical, etc", meaning replacement plumbing with like fixture needs no permit. Google AI is very low IQ, gives you 180 degree opposite answer depending on how you ask a question. It's a primitive info aggregator that summarizes the rantings of 10 billion sites, but it can save time if you're looking at fast answers and want to check sources, it's more of an enhanced google search really the AI mode of google search, nothing intelligent about it. ☺☺

To block spyware in Brave, go to brave://settings/security. If using Windows, use Brave for banking, email, amazon, Walmart as it is more secure than Chrome, though Brave passkeys are device based not saved into Google Password manager (can use a 3rd party app to store passkeys, passwords). If using a Chromebook, Chrome is safer than Brave. If you use Chrome for banking, amazon, etc at home, and Brave for dangerous sites at work (if Tor is not available at work), leave all Brave setttings as they're except for the following changes to increase Brave security 900 fold: brave://settings/content/v8 don't allow JavaScript (dw.com won't display, suspect, most other news sites display on Brave, Tor without Javascript, dw runs BND hacks: any website that says turn on Javascript to display is run by a spy agency that tries to hack your computer, avoid that site, get news from the other 900 sites), in settings/content Don't allow notification, camera, mic, location, delete all 90 passwords in Brave brave://password-manager/passwords in so if malware attacks that browser, it can't steal your passwords (don't import passwords from Chrome), settings/content/siteData Don't allow, settings/shields Trackers and ad blocking set to Aggressive, 'forget me when I close this site' ON, Upgrade connections to HTTPS Strict, Block Scripts (ON, no Java is safe, malware uses Java, etc) – "Store contact information for future broken site reports" OFF, because you don't login into emails in Brave. settings/payments, settings/addresses All OFF, settings/appearance "Show autocomplete suggestions in address bar" All OFF, settings/autofill "Allow auto-fill in private windows " OFF. Separate surfing PC/browser from the shopping, banking accounts PC/browser, so malware from news sites can't steal passwords/passkeys. Without account logins, there is no identity footprint for tracking scripts, spies to scrape from a browser's local memory.

Even with these Brave settings, the torproject.org browser with security set to Safest is more anonymous, and the ideal choice for foreign news watching, so don't use Brave for dangerous foreign news sites watching on the deadly malware laptop used to open PDFs, jpegs, files from a USB write only clicked drive. On the upper right of Tor window, the broom button allows a restart of browser in 2 seconds to get a new IP and access another site, to prevent correlation of IP across different sites hacked by the same superpower. Anonymity is far more critical than the Brave settings, since to harm you KGB needs to know what your IP address is. If you use VPN, KGB uses sophisticated traffic correlation attacks on VPN servers to unmask you. Once unmasked, they can target your specific IP, so don't use VPN, free or paid, as they can find you. Tor is much better than VPN for browsing. To bypass the Tor block by social media in case you want to watch a random use instagram without logging into a real account, etc, use Tor Bridges (pluggable transports like obfs4, see below) which disguise Tor traffic to bypass network blocks natively. Tor's 3-hop circuit ensures that no single entity, not the entry, middle or exit node, knows both who you are, what you do. This breaks the chain of custody required for spies to target you. Tor advantages versus Brave:

1). Superior Anti-Fingerprinting: Brave tries to randomize your browser fingerprint, but Tor forces everyone to look exactly the same. Tor users all share the same screen resolution, fonts, and browser details, making you blend into a crowd. Tor changes your IP 900,000 times.

2). No Extensions Allowed: Brave supports Chrome extensions, which can weaken security or add tracking. Tor blocks extensions by default, so avoid extensions to match Tor anonymity.

3). Tab Separation & Isolation: Tor Browser isolates cookies and site data to the specific tab you're using. Tracking scripts on 1 website can't see or interact with your activity in another tab.

4). No Cache: Tor default settings never save browsing history, cache, or forms to your disk. Brave requires you to open Private Windows or change settings to wipe history on close.

5). Nonprofit: Brave is built on Chromium (Google open-source base with commercial crypto wallets, ad networks), Tor on Firefox ESR, free of all commercial telemetry, background noise.

Why is Tor much safer and better than VPN for browsing those foreign news sites?

Websites run invisible scripts to collect a massive list of technical details about your hardware, software. When they combine these details, they create a unique "fingerprint" that identifies a PC with 99% accuracy, tracking you across the internet regardless of your VPN IP address. Tor blocks tracking by making every single Tor user look identical. Your monitor has a specific pixel resolution (e.g., 2560×1440) shown by VPN. Tor forces its window to open at standardized rounded dimensions (like 1000×800): don't ever maximize the window, don't increase text size in Tor or any browser or Windows Settings/ Accesibility/ Text Size by sliding bar away from 100% (smallest a) as that creates a unique fingerprint. If you need to see better simply go to Settings/System/Display/Scale to set it to 125, 150 or 175, as millions of people have it, 150 being the most common; these numbers will make you one of millions with same setting, don't choose 146 or 129. If LibreOffice (open source, doesn't contact MS/Google servers like MSOffice or GoogleDocs) icons increase, go to Tools/Options/LibreOffice/View/Icon Theme/Colibre (SVG) or any SVG to shrink icons for sharp clear image and set all 3 Icon sizes to small to give you more text. It surrounds your webpage with gray borders (letterboxing) to absorb the rest of your screen space. This ensures a tracker only sees standard, generic dimensions. Spies track what fonts you have installed. Because everyone installs different apps, your unique list of fonts acts like a fingerprint. Tor completely blocks websites from reading your local system fonts, forcing them to use a tiny, generic package of open-source fonts built directly into Tor. Unlike VPN, Tor also blocks "Canvas" tracking, which forces your computer's graphics card to draw a hidden image behind the scenes to fingerprint your specific GPU chip's patterns. If you run Windows 11 or Linux, Tor actively lies to the website. It alters your "User-Agent" string to tell sites that you're running a standard, generic version of Firefox on a standard desktop. If a site checks your PC internal clock and sees you're in a specific local time zone + 34.1 miliseconds, it narrows down your physical location/PC. Tor overrides PC clock, forces timezone to standard, generic UTC. Every Tor user on Earth shares the exact same timestamp to the millisecond. If you open any non-Tor browser on a VPN, it hands over monitor resolution, local time to milliseconds, graphics card drawing pattern, complete list of installed Windows fonts to any asking site. The site might see a different VPN IP address, but its tracking database will say: "it's the same hardware fingerprint of yesterday; it just changed its IP." You, a neighbor might buy the same laptop, but you installed MSOffice, Adobe Photoshop, Zoom, he installed AutoCAD, Spotify. Each application installs unique system fonts, language packs. A site can scan your system fonts in milliseconds. The combination of your exact list of fonts narrows you down from millions of identical brand PCs to just a handful. If two laptops have the exact same Intel or Nvidia graphics chip, they don't draw images identically. Websites use a trick called Canvas Fingerprinting where they force your browser to draw an invisible 3D shape and text block in the background. Because of tiny manufacturing variations in the graphics chip, micro-code firmware versions, and your specific Windows monitor-scaling settings (like 125% zoom vs 100%), the resulting image produces a unique cryptographic hash specific to your computer*, among millions of identical brand PCs or Macs*. Your exact browser version 142.0.5.1, local clock time to 1 millisecond, preferred language list (en-US, en;q=0.9), identifies you. When a spy agency combines Fonts + Monitor Resolution + Graphics Card Hash + Millisecond System Time, they know you're the only person on earth with that exact digital signature and a unique VPN IP address each day is useless. If you find text difficult to read, don't change the font, zoom, window size (never maximize) settings inside the Tor. Instead, change the settings in Tails OS or Windows, etc. Look at the top right corner of the Tails OS desktop screen and click the system menu. Open the Settings, Accessibility, turn on Large Text. Don't change any Tor settings except Security move to Safest, otherwise, they'll fingerprint (identify) you.

Attackers frequently distribute fake, modified Tor Browser or any other software (Proton VPN, Brave, Chrome, etc) installers via third-party forums, torrents, or unofficial mirrors that bundle clipboard-stealing malware or keyloggers, so always google search something to download from official site, not from some third party widget on some site.

HOW TO PROTECT IP ADDRESS from Foreign Nation Attack: hide IP address via Tor Bridges

Tor browser is the best (not VPN) to hide your IP when browsing the web, but never maximize the Tor window as it tells hackers your monitor size. For those on kill lists using Tor Bridges is required while browsing on the Tail OS dedicated laptop. Tor Bridges are hidden entry nodes that don't appear in public directories and are unknown to spy agencies, so when you use Tor on a hacked ISP, the KGB can't see that someone is using Tor, and if you check certain sites like social media, etc you don't get blocked, as they don't know you use Tor. Tor & Bridges are not for secure banking, regular email accounts, only for browsing unrelated to your real identity. Bridges disguise your traffic to look like standard web traffic, allowing you to access the Tor network even if your ISP, fake email (never used to purchase anything), or government blocks Tor. The 4 methods to install Tor Bridges: Method 1 is the safest (in case spies hacked or try hack your ISP to find your IP): on your safe banking laptop (Chromebook), go to bridges.tor.../en (then click on the huge long encrypted .onion site (address bar says .onion in purple, which changes, in 2026, y...d.onion..ns/en, E2EE, select pluggable transport obfs4 (obfuscate), for max security, .onion so KGB can't get your bridges via fake KGB exit nodes) click Get Bridges and solve the security CAPTCHA if asked (due to using non .onion site). Tor gives you 2 unique text strings that look like obfs4 192... 7... cert=KeepThis Secret iat-mode=0. Copy that. On your browsing laptop with Tails OS, open Tor, go to Connection Settings, select "Provide Bridges I know", paste your secret strings. Method 2 (2nd safest, not ideal): Request a Bridge If a gov has blocked the standard built-in bridges or you have foreign spies tracking and hacking your ISP (assume they do), request private ones since built-in bridges IP addresses are known to spies. Go to the Bridges section, click Request a Bridge, fill CAPTCHA. Tor will download/install new, private bridge addresses. Method 3 (3rd safest: avoid if possible): Built-in Bridges: Tor Settings, Connection, Bridges or address bar about:preferences#connection, Select a Bridge... obfs4. Method 4 (4th safest: avoid at all costs): Snowflake (Severe Restrictions) If a network uses advanced Deep Packet Inspection (DPI) to block obfs4: select Snowflake.

Tor Bridges override Quad9 DNS settings to prevent leaks, which is safer for anonymity due to no fingerprint: you avoid creating a unique "Tor + Quad9" combo signature. Total Encryption: All DNS queries are encrypted and routed safely through the 3-hop Tor network, so no one, not even Swiss Quad9, can see what domains you're looking up. When you use Brave's Tor windows, your browser fingerprint stands out because you look like a Brave user trying to use Tor, which narrows your identity down to a tiny fraction of internet users. Tor is far more secure than Brave Tor against foreign spies if watching foreign news sites. If you're on a kill list, use Tor for browsing. Malware and exploit surface area is much smaller for Tor: Brave is built on Chromium, a massive and highly complex codebase designed for a feature-rich web. Tor is built on a stripped-down Firefox version. The Tor set to Safest security in about:preferences#privacy completely disables JavaScript by default, turns off WebGL, and blocks many fonts and images. This kills almost all modern web-based malware and zero-day exploits before they can execute. Brave's Tor windows don't lock down the browser engine to this extreme level. Brave's Tor page has a history of bugs, that leak your IP and can kill you.

If you want to use certain sites with Tor, on the right you get a purple thing saying ".onion available". What does this mean? This is the most secure way to read any website, since it prevents the foreign spy agency setup rogue exit nodes used to inject malware on Tor users. Go to Tor Settings, Search, Under the Default Search Engine, select DuckDuckGoOnion instead of the standard DuckDuckGo to prevent IP discovery by spy controlled exit nodes. Only use Tor for .onion sites for highest security. Proton.me EE2E ultra secure email provides an official onion site on the Tor network, which offers far more privacy and security for a connection. Logging into Proton via a Tor browser suggested .onion site is structurally much more secure (example: protonmailrmez3lotccipshtkleegetolb73fuirgj7r4o4vfu7ozyd.onion) than the regular proton.me Internet address because your connection never leaves the encrypted Tor (The Onion Router) network. Tor Data is wrapped in multiple layers of encryption, much like the layers of an onion, that's why Tor program icon is like a the layers of an onion. Traffic bounces through at least 3 volunteer-operated computers (nodes), known as the entry, middle, and exit nodes; each node only decrypts a single layer to see the next step of the path, meaning no single computer ever knows both where the data came from and where it's going. When you browse a regular site on Tor, your data must pass through an "Exit Node" to reach the open internet. When using a .onion address, the connection stays entirely enclosed within Tor from start to finish.

The .onion is a must and far more secure than the regular website address because it:

1). Eliminates Malicious Exit Nodes: if you go to proton.me via Tor, your traffic travels through three encrypted Tor relays. However, the 3rd relay, or the Exit Node, must decrypt the Tor layers to send your traffic to the standard internet. If a spy runs that specific Exit Node, they can spy on your traffic or attempt advanced downgrade attacks. If you use a .onion site, your data never reaches an Exit Node since it travels from Tor's internal relays directly into Proton's server. There is no middleman on the regular internet who can intercept it.

2). Does End-to-End Authentication: Standard sites rely on the Certificate Authority (CA) system to prove they're legitimate. If China compromises a CA, it can issue a fake SSL certificate for proton.me, trick a browser, steal a password via a Man-in-the-Middle (MitM) attack. Tor .onion addresses don't strictly rely on third-party CAs to prove their identity. The protonmailrm..onion address is a cryptographic public key. If Tor connects us to the address, it is mathematically impossible for it to be a spoofed or faked website. We're guaranteed to talk directly to Proton.

3). Absolutely Resists Censorship: Governments or local Internet Service Providers (ISPs) can easily block standard domain names (proton.me) or block the known IP addresses of Proton's data centers, but they can't block Proton's onion service, because it is a hidden service. Its actual physical location and IP address are cryptographically masked. A local firewall or restrictive government can't block the site directly because they can't see the destination of your traffic within the Tor network. Because onion addresses are long, impossible to memorize, hackers frequently set up fake onion sites with very similar characters to steal user passwords.

4). Has true double encryption: When logging into the Proton onion site, data is wrapped in multiple, redundant layers of armor: Layer 1: Proton's standard Secure Remote Password (SRP) and PGP encryption handles your local login credentials. Layer 2: An HTTPS SSL certificate explicitly issued for their .onion address protects web traffic. Layer 3: Tor's native multi-layered "onion routing" protocol fully encrypts the entire connection end-to-end. The Guardian has its own .onion site, go to theguardian.com/world and you'll find it on the right. DW.com too, but due to using JavaScript, turning highest security in Tor that blocks Java makes DW invisible. Java is used to hack computers, so DW is probably trying to do just that, forcing users to downgrade security, let their guards down, so malware spyware can be installed.

If you go to rt.com or any website, on the bottom of the Tor window you see different things like connections with .ru sites. The Tor Browser privacy tools (NoScript and HTTPS Everywhere) show you every single domain, tracker, and script a webpage tries to load, so you know. Regular browsers hide this, even if processing these exact same connections silently in the background. When you load a major news site like RT, the page automatically pulls in elements from other sites/servers, including web analytics (like yadro.ru), video players, and advertisement networks. You can see this suspicious RT activity also in a regular browser by pressing F12, then Network at the top in the new window on the right, then Refresh button of the browser (see right window). If you visit foreign news sites from the US, you can use .onion sites if shown (bookmark them), for the highest security and never accept cookies. To reset IP restart Tor. Or reset the Tor circuit using the icon near the web address. When done browsing foreign sites, close Tor or Brave, whatever you use for that to minimize attacks. Pentagon, CIA don't use commercial VPNs, but custom, secure, NSA managed cryptographic networks, IPsec (Internet Protocol Security) tunneling solutions. SIPRNet (Secret Internet Protocol Router Network) is the Pentagon's internal, protected network used for classified information up to the "Secret" level. JWICS (Joint Worldwide Intelligence Communications System) is another CIA secure network.

1.3.2. Safely viewing Attachments via a 2 computer setup & read-write Taiwan USB

Never download files (or use Discord, Spotify, Steam, or any other Windows background application) on the Tor browsing laptop that lacks any cache, cookie, passkey, password. High security needs 2 computers that never share regular USBs:

The safest OS for the Tor laptop used for browsing, are in order: 1). Tail OS run from Taiwan made USB (see below) $31 Kanguru drive (with physical switch for read only to open laptop 1 pdfs safely), 2). Qubes OS (see below) 3). ChromeOS 4). MacOS 5). Linux 6). Windows.

The safest OS-browser configs for banking/shopping laptop are 1). Chrome for ChromeOS Chromebooks 2). Safari for MacOS, 3). Brave for Linux, 4). Brave for Windows. Windows is catastrophic for either laptop, Windows is the target for over 95% of the world's malware, info-stealers, nation-state hacking toolkits. Linux/Mac are bad. High security means using 2 OpenTitan chip Chromebooks with ChromeOS, highest security means using Tail OS for Tor. Tail OS can be installed on any laptop on a special USB, so you can use any laptop you got, Windows, Mac to install Tails to achieve the highest Tor browsing security. See details below.

To prevent PDFs installing malware by opening in Chrome directly and executing it, go to chrome://settings/content/pdfDocuments and select Download PDFs, not Open. To open PDFs, use Tail OS on a flash drive. When you get a PDF, never open it the so called "secure" Windows Sandbox app that is meant to remove cheap criminal malware when you close the window after viewing a PDF inside of it (drag and drop from Windows to Windows Sandbox) in a "malware resistant environment that wipes all malware after closing that window", because Sandbox is very weak against superpower spy agencies. To open PDFs, PNGs, you need to use a special PC that has no WiFi, Bluetooth, or audio hardware, or any Ethernet connection.

If you download/upload a sensitive document (like a PDF, Word doc, or image) via Tor, spies can track you if you handle the file incorrectly on your local Windows machine. 1. Strip Metadata: files metadata (camera serial #, location data, software licenses, Windows username) can unmask you. Before uploading/sharing a file, use an open-source tool like MAT2 (Metadata Anonymization Toolkit) to strip metadata. 2. "Phone-Home" Malware: Spy PDFs or doc files can execute a hidden script that bypasses your VPN/Tor and "phones home" to an enemy government server, instantly revealing your real IP address. Never open a downloaded Tor file while your main operating system is connected to the internet. 3. Tails OS: downloading files in Windows, even via Tor, is risky, since Windows itself logs file history, thumbnail caches, registry entries. Instead of Windows, burn Tails OS to a USB thumb drive. Tails is a temporary OS that runs in RAM, writes nothing on hard-drive, routes all system traffic through Tor, has built-in metadata stripping tools, safely deletes every trace of our files the moment we unplug the USB.

Spies often infect PDFs with invoices, manuals, contracts on the servers of a trusted US company. (often leveraging a zero-day exploit in Adobe Reader). The US company (using amazon seller communication for example) emails these infected PDFs directly to customers who get infected with malware or a remote access trojan (RAT). By using the Tails OS offline method below to open any PDFs, jpeg, png, docs received from external companies, you maintain privacy, or, if on a kill list, you avoid being killed. Even if the PDF contains malware, the exploit will fail to compromise your primary OS, and it will have no internet connection to send data to spies. Disconnect Ethernet cable when viewing PDFs from a realtor, company, etc and never use WiFi. Spies always infect millions of weak security small companies, realtors, escrow companies, etc to infect millions of customers and then figure out who is who and what goes on in that nation or kill those on a kill list. Don't ever open a file on your laptop of real identity, use Tail OS plugged into a second laptop that has no trace of your real identity (not even some privacy.com alias), or internet connection (WiFi, Bluetooth cards removed, no ethernet). Installing Tail needs USB 8 GB, go to tails.net (don't download from anywhere else) to download the Tails USB image, then download BalenaEtcher a free, open-source tool balena.io/etcher to safely clone Tails on the USB. Plug in the USB. Open BalenaEtcher. Select the Tails USB image file you downloaded. Select USB. Click Flash. Shut down PC. Unplug the Ethernet Cable (always have WiFi disabled on any PC, router, device). Turn PC back on, press the Boot Menu key (F12, or etc). Select USB from the menu. You can now safely open/read your PDFs using Tails' built-in PDF viewer without any risk of the pdf leaking your IP address to the internet spies in enemy nations. Turn off the "Preview Pane" in Windows Explorer, and switch your folder View settings from "Icons" to "Details" or "List". This stops Windows from reading the internal contents of the files, which can infect your PC even if you don't double click on a pdf or file. Open File Explorer, click (...) on the top menu bar, Options, switch to the View tab, check the box that says: "Always show icons, never thumbnails". Uncheck: "Show preview handlers in preview pane". Click Apply.

Safely Transferring Files to an Air-Gapped (eternally offline cheap) Laptop needs 2 special USBs:

To move files to an offline Tor laptop without letting malware infect a USB's internal firmware or jump back to a main laptop/PC, avoid regular USBs that allow computers to both read and write data to them. Buy 2 USB with a physical, hardware write-protect switch on the outside of the casing (Kanguru Solutions of US, MA makes 16 GB in Taiwan for 31$, Walmart sells it for 60$, avoid Netac and Ezitsol as they're made in China, Kanguru is TAA Compliant). 1 USB is for Read-Only forever, for the Tails OS, that is always plugged into that Tor laptop. The 2nd such USB is for Transfer and you Plug this USB into your online PC with the switch set to Write/Read. Download PDFs on the Transfer USB. Eject the USB and flip the physical switch to Read-Only mode. Plug the Transfer USB into your offline junk laptop. Because the lock is enforced at the hardware circuit level, the offline junk laptop can't write any data, logs, or malware (that it got from opening PDFs, files) back onto that USB drive to infect the main laptop # 1-5 you use for real identity or fake identity layer # 1, layer # 4 and/or other stuff. Security is multiple air gaps.

Never trust any pdf or png. Never click on Windows files, until you require Windows to show true extensions, since file.png is jew.png.exe, tim.doc or tim.pdf are tim.pdf.exe. Force Windows to show extensions: Open File Explorer. Click on View in the top menu bar. Scroll to the last item called Show. Turn ON both File name extensions & Hidden items (to see malware in flash drives). If a file is secretly an exe posing as a doc (like .doc.exe), you see the .exe at the end & delete it. When you view a bad flash drive with "Hidden items" turned off, it looks empty or having your files. The moment you turn it on, you see a hidden .exe on the drive marked as "Hidden." Hackers create a fake shortcut folder on the drive that looks normal. When you click the normal-looking shortcut to browse a drive, it secretly launches the hidden malware file in the background. Windows creates a folder called System Volume Information on flash drives. Hackers love to hide spy tools inside this folder.

1.3.3. Creating a new set of emails, shopping accounts, etc ideally before location change

Never use Tor to login into any account, except Proton Email .onion site that bypasses gang/spy run exit nodes that intercept passwords. For safe gmail login, use Paid Proton VPN, but Tor login into Proton .onion is far more secure against spies than VPN gmail. Don't use Free Proton VPN or any Free VPN, as free VPN servers are known to foreign spy agencies and monitored, if you use any VPN choose paid, like Proton VPN NATO nations use. Your login tells them exactly which VPN server you're using. If they're monitoring that VPN server's entry points via domestic internet choke points, they can perform a traffic correlation attack to match the time of your login with the data packets entering that VPN server from your new location. Spies can detect the new IP address (new physical location thus) used to log into an old Yahoo or Gmail account 3 years later, even if the account has been completely inactive. Spies don't just hack the account password; they monitor the account infrastructure continuously. If a spy is tracking you, they place a specialized system alert on your yahoo. The millisecond you log into that account after years of silence, the spy instantly receives the incoming IP address used for that login. The main email providers lock accounts using Tor to login, so don't use Tor to login into gmail, yahoo.

Securing your Banking Account via a secure Proton email

1). Create a dedicated, Proton.me account solely for banking: don't use Gmail or Yahoo, as their recovery loops are easier to target. Go to Proton Security Settings and disable all SMS recovery options. Register your YubiKey as the exclusive, non-bypassable 2FA (2 factor auth) method. Save the emergency backup recovery codes on a physical piece of paper stored securely offline. Even with Google Advanced Protection Program that blocks instant recovery via apps, SMS or email, spies can use stolen identity e-docs to gain access to your account in 4 days, by forcing slow account recovery. However, if you're a special person in the Program, they won't just allow anyone to access your account, they'll confirm by talking to CIA, FBI that you lost contact and it's you who does it. If a gmail belongs to a diplomat, spy target, the automated "Forgot Password" or standard identity verification web forms are completely disabled or routed to a dead end. If foreign hackers try to recover that account, the system blocks it automatically. 99% of world email providers have low security, as they don't offer YubiKey as the only recovery method for an account that Proton offers via Yubico. When you set up a YubiKey on Proton, the system forces you to keep an Authenticator App active, which can be a YubiKey 5 Series device with a Yubico Authenticator app. This requires physical contact with the YubiKey to calculate the 6-digit code, effectively making the YubiKey your sole authentication factor, which Apple, Gmail, etc fail to provide. Yahoo forces another email at least for authentication, which is bad. Apple gives you a recovery 28 character code to write on paper, but if someone gets it, you're screwed. Proton is the only email provider that offers PQC encryption in 2026: Crystals-Kyber, Crystals-Dilithium, lattice-based algorithms co-authored with the German Federal Office for Information Security (BSI), so the Chinese quantum computers can't break it even in 20 years from now if they steal data now. US providers (gmail, apple, hotmail) plan to do that in 2029. 2). Configure the Chromebook for Isolation: don't sign into the Chromebook using your main, everyday Google account. Create a clean, separate user profile specifically for banking. Turn off cloud synchronization for passwords and passkeys within OS settings to force local validation. Banking can be done via Proton VPN, while proton email via .onion Tor login, see below.

3). Strip Bank Recovery Fallbacks: Log into Wells Fargo and update your contact email to your new secure Proton address. Register your passkey via the Security Center. Call Wells Fargo Fraud/Security Support: Request that they place a high-security note on your profile. Explicitly ask them to disable verbal password resets over the phone and block any account recoveries that don't undergo manual identity verification or physical branch validation. This blocks the fallback exploitation channel that hackers rely on to bypass your hardware Yubikeys.

4). Switch to a paid VPN with Secure Core before doing this banking change, to hide your IP (even if they know you're at the old location still) and start creating your new Chromebooks, YubiKeys, Proton email accounts, phones, passwords, well before you move elsewhere. When you finally move to your new town, you continue using that same VPN structure. To the bank and to spies, your traffic profile remains a secure, anonymous VPN endpoint, completely hiding the physical transition between your old home and your new location, so they don't know you moved by you changing static IP to a new static IP.

5). Deleting your Google, Hotmail, Apple, Yahoo, etc is the single most effective step you can take to stop foreign spy agencies following, harassing or trying to kill you. Because if you make a mistake one day in 3 years and log back in, they can find out your VPN or real IP eventually via that VPN and locate you. You can do this right after escrow closes, when you move out of a place for example, since the old utilities accounts don't need to know your new email, only the bank. For social security, tax purposes, etc, you can create individual accounts that are separate from your banking or everyday purchases accounts for Amazon or Walmart. To access these separate accounts use a completely separate laptop than regular, or boot the PC into an independent environment like a Tails OS USB to guarantee no local registry files or system identifiers match your new identity in the new town that the regular laptop broadcasts. Use paid Proton VPN Plus via Secure Core. If using Windows, Chrome, iOS, Linux, use a fresh, isolated installation of an independent browser (like an official standalone Tor set to "Safest" mode, or a completely fresh profile in Brave with all histories, cookies, and cache completely wiped clean). Login, don't browse, go to the taxes email site, pull the data or verification info you need, log out immediately, destroy the browser session or format the temporary space. Never visit any other web pages during that active connection window as spies will identify you if you do.

To keep your new location invisible when accessing these taxes, SSN, etc email accounts, you must ensure your Proton VPN subscription can't be tracked back to your real identity or bank account. Generate a free Proton Mail account created while using Tor .onion site. don't include your name, location, or phone number. Pay with Cash (The Absolute Best Way): Proton accepts cash by mail. Put the cash along with your printed invoice/account token into an envelope and mail it to Proton's headquarters in Switzerland. No credit card, no bank trail, no identity link. The less secure way is to pay with Monero (XMR): buy Monero on an exchange, move it to a private, non-custodial wallet, and swap it. Monero is a privacy coin that hides the sender, receiver, and transaction amount, making it mathematically untraceable. You can also login in a broswer profile: open Brave browser, click your Profile Icon in the top right corner, click add, name it "SSN" or "taxes", click done, a new Brave window launches, this profile shares 0 history, 0 autofill data, 0 cookies, 0 tracking tokens with your main browser. Go to Brave Settings in this new window, turn Shields to Aggressive, ensure history/cookies are set to Clear upon exit. Close the window. Only open this specific profile when your secure VPN is active and you're ready to check your taxes or social security etc email.

How foreign spies can know the new IP that logged in into an old gmail within milliseconds

5.1). Spies splice directly into undersea fiber-optic internet cables and major global routing hubs. When you log into an old account, your computer sends data packets across the globe. If your VPN traffic passes through a routing hub monitored by spies, automated systems clone that data packet instantly. Spies route global traffic through their own country's servers by exploiting the Internet's routing protocol (Border Gateway Protocol, BJP). Even if they can't read the encrypted data, they instantly see: "An IP address from Town X logged into gmail login servers" 5.2). Every major website uses background tracking scripts, ad exchanges, or content delivery networks (CDNs). Many of these third-party companies operate globally. If a global ad network or tech vendor has offices or servers in the spy nation, that spy gov can legally force them to install an intelligence data mirror. When you log into your gmail, if a 3rd-party script loads in the background, that foreign spy gets a live feed of the metadata (including your new IP) instantly. 5.3). Spies run massive operations to secretly acquire, fund, or hack commercial VPN providers. If a nation has infected a VPN server you choose, they look at the VPN server logs to see your real home IP connecting to the Yahoo login portal in real-time.

For amazon, walmart etc you can create new accounts. Google tracks your location history, search queries, YouTube habits, and app downloads across all devices. If you use a Google account, a new phone will eventually leak your new physical location back to Google's servers through background play services. Big tech (yahoo, gmail, etc) databases are the primary targets for spies. Before you erase these, change the email to your new proton email for any banks, etc things you use: google password manager shows what you use.

To start an ultra secret life, erase the accounts (shopping, email, etc) in the old location they know before you move to a new location, after you have typed the passwords, passkeys etc in a new safe computer not infected by their malware (using paid VPN to hide the current IP and that it's you, using fake alias) for any accounts you may delete later on in the day or week. However, if you already moved to a new location, erase them without revealing new location or phone # during the identity check: 1: Activate your Paid Proton VPN with Secure Core on your laptop. Open a completely fresh, isolated profile in Brave Browser with all tracking history wiped clean. 2: Remove all links connecting that yahoo/gmail account to active offline devices, backup emails, phones. If you delete an account that still lists your active phone # as a recovery option, that phone # remains forever flagged in data broker systems. Login, go to Security or Account Info. Delete your recovery phone & any personal backup emails. Go to Connected Devices, revoke access to any synced device. 3: go to google.com, left choose Data & privacy, scroll to "More options", Delete your Google Account. Re-authenticate your password. If Google forces a MFA check, use a passkey or Google authenticator app method, don't add a phone. Or go to Yahoo Account Termination page. Log in. Click Continue deleting... 4: Format the browser profile you used, clear your system's temporary file caches, let the VPN tunnel drop.

You can create 3-200 individual Proton free emails for SSN, taxes, shopping under alias 1 for Walmart, banking, everyday, shopping under alias 2 (amazon, etc). You can use Proton Pass Aliases to make detection of real identity impossible. With gmail you need 20 real phone numbers to create 20 accounts, with Proton, you don't need any phone to create 300. If you're on a kill list due to criticizing Islam, Mahabharata, Buddhism, Christianity, Judaism or Taoism, Confucianism, you can't use gmail, yahoo, apple, hotmail, because those require a phone and a phone can be used to trace your location if they ever figure out that email alias/phone is you. During human verification, you can choose to verify Proton using an alternative email address or a captcha instead of an SMS text message, and you never will choose another email. You always do captcha, so nobody knows the Proton accounts are linked. If a spy has your phone from gmail, he finds your live location via cell tower pings (triangulation) or IMSI catchers, completely bypassing any VPN or browser security you have set up, so keep phone always off, unless using it for Organic Maps offline driving. Proton was designed for activists, whistleblowers, etc.
Email 1: Taxes/Social Security: login via Tails OS or Virtual Machine on Proton VPN Secure Core.
Email 2: Banking: login via a Chromebook profile or your offline-first GrapheneOS device.
Email 3: Lifestyle & Shopping (Amazon, Walmart, etc): everyday interactions. Use Proton Pass to generate up to 10 random email aliases per email for Amazon, etc. If spies find a Walmart alias, the link stops there. They can't trace it back to your other 2-50 emails or 500 aliases. Soon, the Immortality Nurturing Agency will mandate every purchase receipt goes to an alias valid for 1 hour only, for maximum national security of metadata, so foreign spies can't track US so easily. Proton is outside the EU and the 5, 9 and 14 eyes alliance, so it's less forced by KGB spies within EU to force account disclosure, etc than EU or USA email providers. Keep subject lines empty or random, since the subject is not encrypted: Good: Update, Document, Inquiry, File, Notification, Test Bad: Wells Fargo Password Change, Social Security Info, New Moving Address, Secret Keys. If you need include a reference number for a file, place it inside the first line of the email body. The email body on Proton is completely encrypted end-to-end. Proton login via Tor Bridge (set to Safest) and .onion address is the safest for those hunted by enemy spy agencies. Why? Because your traffic never leaves the encrypted Tor network. There is no exit node that a state actor can monitor, setup or control. Furthermore, because you're using a Tor Bridge, your local network or Internet Service Provider (ISP) can't even tell that you're using Tor. To a spy agency monitoring your ISP, your traffic just looks like unidentifiable web noise. Delete any sensitive email that has your privacy.com alias for amazon shopping or etc or your real name fast, after reading it, so the Proton servers delete it too. That way, no spies can read it later. For yahoo, gmail, etc the gov keeps emails for decades, even if you clicked "delete" or account was wiped out. Don't archive, Click New message to compose an email. At the bottom of the composer window, click ... or the hourglass/clock icon, Select Set expiration time to 1-28 days. To delete inbox: Go to Settings, All settings, Filters, Add filter, If Received date is > 20 days, Set to Delete permanently. Anything critical can be written on paper to stimulate handwriting brain areas or files saved to a USB, that way if China hacks Proton servers, they will see NOTHING. Don't just move Sent or Inbox items to trash, make sure you Empty the Trash if you use no filters or programmed self-destruct, so KGB can't see anything if they hack servers 2 months later. If you want to save some escrow PDF or something on a USB, start PC into your Tails OS USB or open a secure Virtual Machine. Activate your Paid Proton VPN with Secure Core. Open .onion for proton.me, flip USB switch to Write, save file to USB, run the file thru MAT2 (built-in metadata cleaning tool in Tails OS) to strip out tracking markers, timestamps, system data. Remove USB, flip the switch to Read-Only position. No malware can change your saved PDFs.

To unsubscribe from something you subscribed to, don't open the email, just check that email title line in yahoo, gmail with a check mark, right click and select Block Sender so he can't fingerprint your browser or know if you opened the email. Spies can read the logs of a company's unsubscribe servicing company to detect where you moved your location at. Only Proton email allows Tor network via secure .onion site. Use Block sender, don't click unsubscribe request button in the email title line in gmail as that tells them you use that email; best is to never read that email and delete it, since emails got hidden tracking pixels to see if you opened an email, to track when you're awake, when you're at the computer, so they can plan their burglary or killing you better. Spies, gangs use fake "unsubscribe" links to target users to steal our IP address to directly "hack" our PC/phone. A goal of a spy is to confirm that our email address is active/monitored. Clicking the link upgrades our status to a "live target," causing them to flood our inbox with more advanced scams, files. Any time we visit a site, we give the site an IP address, location, PC type. Spies use this to profile our laptop for future target phishing. The unsubscribe link can route us to pages with drive-by downloads which abuse browser vulnerabilities to silently download, install malware without requiring us to click "accept". The low level criminals send emails with unsubscribe links redirect to a fake page that asks you to "log in" or enter a password, to try steal login credentials of the naive folks.☺☺☺

1.3.4. HOW TO CHOOSE A SAFE PASSWORD

Even if you use YubiKey, for stronger than passkeys security, you still need backup passwords. Choose random passwords you type using letters, upper case letters, numbers and symbols, none repeating and at least 25 characters, so they take millions of years even by quantum computers. Quantum computers pose an immediate threat to asymmetric encryption (like RSA or ECC used to secure internet traffic and crypto wallets) because Shor's Algorithm can effortlessly reverse-engineer the math behind them. However, passwords stored using standard modern hashing functions (like bcrypt, Argon2, or PBKDF2) rely on symmetric structures. Because Grover's algorithm only halves the effective key size of symmetric structures, simply utilizing any truly random password over 25 characters completely neutralizes the threat of quantum brute-forcing. A random (no character repeats) 25 character password takes billion trillion years using today's fastest computers, and millions for a quantum computer. In the event a nation discovers a trick to break them with a new quantum design, you can be sure they won't take seconds, but perhaps centuries at best, especially with 80 character ones I and others use on sites allowing more than 15-30 characters. Never use 2 factor authentication (2FA) with text (phone), as those are easy to hack by spies, plus you give spies your phone # to hack. Use 2FA 6 digit codes from offline authentication apps that work offline (don't login in your google account on Google authenticator or Microsoft authenticator, to prevent cloud connection, since spies can exploit Google software errors and hack your codes, as Google is allowed to sync and connect with the Internet, while Aegis authenticator is not allowed to go online) or physical place where you wrote them down in case of a device malfunction. Use passkeys always, not passwords as it's much safer even if password is 80 digits, but always have the 25-80 character passwords as backups as they can help recover account if passkey is destroyed, i.e. laptop crashes and it's not saved on google server, etc. Use Chromebook with Open Titan security chip (tested daily by many open source, far less vulnerable to superpower enemy hack) that is ready for PQC and is more secure than Titan or Titan2 Chromebooks. Opt for ChromeOS, not Windows or Mac, as Chrome is the most secure of the three. However, Qubes OS in Linux is safer than any other OS, including ChromeOS, though it's becoming less so, with Open Titan. Yet the only user friendly laptops with Qubes use China Clevo motherboards that may install PLA stuff, like Nitro, Nova, Star; German Nitro is the same laptop as Dutch Nova, just Nitro brand on it; Nova uses Polish Goodram memory. As far as firmware defense, Chrome OS with OpenTitan is a PQC Secure Boot that Defends the boot layer against KGB/PLA modification, which is far superior to the Qubes Linux which can be vulnerable to even with the Polish developed Dasharo Coreboot + Heads firmware installed. Heads can't prevent a Chinese KAPOK (that merged with Clevo) factory worker from installing a malicious hardware chip on the board; Heads can only alert you at boot that the motherboard's code was modified after it left the warehouse, during shipping.

1.3.5. Avoid Made in China motherboards computers

OpenTitan and Made outside of China motherboard prevents China motherboards in "Made in EU or Taiwan Chromebooks". The Qubes certified laptops are pure trash, because notherboard is made in China. The Chinese will know everything you do. To source laptops by country of origin of motherboard, use the US Fed gov way: TAA Compliance (Trade Agreements Act of 1979). "Made in Taiwan" motherboard Chromebook made outside of China yields no results because Amazon doesn't know. Instead, search the cdw.com or connection.com for "TAA Compliant" hardware, which, by law, isn't manufactured/assembled in China, Russia, India, Vietnam, Malaysia. It's built in the USA, Taiwan, South Korea, Japan, EU. To buy peripherals, Chromebook with non-China motherboard or YubiKey, bypass Amazon and purchase directly from Dell/HP or enterprise/federal tech distributors that have TAA country-of-origin filters built into search bars: 1. Visit business/enterprise division of Dell or HP website. Click "Contact Sales" to speak with a direct corporate enterprise account manager. Say "I am procuring this hardware for a high-assurance deployment. Before payment processing, I require the specific warehouse SKU to be flagged as TAA-Compliant, and I need a formal Manufacturer Certificate of Origin (COO) included in the shipment manifest." 2. cdw.com, Type "TAA Compliant Chromebook" directly into the search bar. CDW features a dedicated left-hand filter sidebar panel on its catalog pages labeled "Compliance". Check "TAA Compliant" box. 3. connection.com In sidebar, scroll to "Special Typologies" or "Gov Compliance", select TAA Compliant. For 2 & 3, use direct sales chat to request the Certificate of Origin (COO) paperwork for a warehouse SKU before they ship it to make sure the primary assembly (motherboard) and sub-assembly processes occurred in USA, Taiwan, South Korea, Japan or EU. When Dell/HP make PCs for military, the motherboard comes from outside of China. To ensure no spy intercept of laptop during shipping, verify the box is sealed with the original OEM holographic tape (e.g., Dell or HP factory tape). If it has generic clear packing tape over the seals, the box was opened in transit. Turn the laptop upside down and check the micro-print to say "Made in Taiwan" etc. Once you turn the Chromebook on, the built-in OpenTitan chip executes its cryptographic check. If a spy intercepted the package and flashed a malicious, backdoored spy firmware onto the laptop motherboard, the OpenTitan chip will detect that the cryptographic boot signature is broken and will physically lock the device from starting up entirely. Return it if it's locked. Windows 3K 4090 RTX Nvidia PC uses 1200 W to run a 70B LLM for technical writing, while a refurbished Mac studio has 4 times the VRAM (96 GB) and uses 100 Watts, being 100 times quieter too. For a local 70 B parameter LLM AI capable secure quiet desktop, a Mac Studio is far better than a PC, unless dealing with images/video.

1.3.6. Walmart, Amazon, shopping accounts tips for higher privacy

By having 1 laptop for purchases and email and 1 laptop for random browsing using Tails OS for foreign sites in Tor and maybe highest security Brave for local news etc (that never gets a USB used on any other computer), you totally separate the two much better than Qubes software separation. Set up and register Your FIPS 140-3 YubiKeys (see below) only from your clean OpenTitan Chromebook that you never use to visit anything except Amazon, Walmart, online purchases, and check your email (max security). Use a different browser for shopping and for email, for higher security, as each browser has its own shield, so if one is attacked, info from the other browser is not hacked. Never register or insert this specific key into the separate Windows or whatever other computer you use for "dangerous" tasks like everyday browsing. When configuring the key for email, ensure you enable the FIDO2 User Verification PIN. This forces the browser to request a physical pin code and a physical finger tap on the gold contacts to authorize a session, completely locking out remote hackers. More on Qubes & laptops is in the next 10 pages. On Open Titan chip Chromebook you create 2 profiles: the default one (banking, email, no login into social media, no browser extensions) where you must first register FIPS 140-3 YubiKey, and a Guest Mode Profile for Shopping, that destroys all session data, malware, etc upon closing that browser, so that a malware attack on a shopping site won't steal banking, email info. In default profile (not Guest), setup passkeys: Amazon (Login & Security) or Walmart (Manage Account, Passkeys). Create a Passkey. Don't save passkey in Google Password Manager but to "USB Security Key". Insert YubiKey, touch the gold contact, create a PIN if you didn't already. Each day, if shopping, press Ctrl + Shift + G to launch the "Guest Profile". To setup a PIN, login in the default profile, click the clock in the bottom-right corner, select the Settings icon. On the left, click Privacy & Security or Accounts, Manage security keys, Insert FIPS 140-3 YubiKey, Create a PIN (8 letters/numbers min), tap the flashing gold contact. Instead of clicking through the system menus every day to open your isolated shopping sandbox (virtual machine sort of), use Ctrl + Shift + G to open a Guest Mode window to shop, then close it to delete all data. Spy agencies frequently use DNS hijacking to eavesdrop on what retail websites a person visits. Bypass this in both ChromeOS Profiles (default and guest) by browser Settings, Privacy and Security, Security, Use secure DNS. Toggle it on and select With Custom DNS (quad9 see above). This encapsulates browsing requests in an encrypted tunnel, preventing local network entities or routers from logging shopping destinations. Force the browser to block retail store trackers and script injections: go to chrome://flags and press Enter. In the search box at the top, type: Strict Site Isolation. If it appears as an adjustable option, ensure it is set to Enabled. (some ChromeOS versions often lock this to "Always On" by default to prevent malicious cross-site scripting).

To secure retail accounts against state-sponsored password cracking or credential theft, read this: neither Amazon nor Walmart allows you to completely delete or turn off your password fields. Instead, you force password bypass by changing your login behavior and enabling strict verification locks: For Amazon: Amazon keeps a password on file as a legacy recovery method, but you can configure it to prioritize YubiKey, to skip the password prompt. Go to Account, Login & security. Ensure YubiKey is in the Passkeys field. To render a password useless to remote hackers, change Amazon account password to a completely random, 90 character string of gibberish (you won't need it), or if you want, a complex password you write on a paper. don't save this password on any computer, not even in a password manager. Because your daily login path in Guest Mode only requires you to click "Sign in with a passkey", you never need the 90 long password that takes 3 billion years to crack. If spies hack your email and try to type a password into Amazon, they'll need 3 billion years, while you log in seamlessly using YubiKey. For Walmart: Account settings, Personal Info, Password management options, Switch setting from "Password" to "Password-less". When combined with YubiKey, Walmart is entirely locked down to YubiKey. Verifying it: Press Ctrl + Shift + G on OpenTitan Chromebook to open Guest Mode, go to Amazon or Walmart. Enter your email address and click continue. Select "Sign in with a passkey", Type your 8-character hardware PIN, tap your YubiKey's gold contact, and verify you're instantly logged in. By successfully logging into your accounts inside a blank guest window without typing a single password character, you prove that your credential pipeline is entirely reliant on physical hardware and you gave PLA, KGB, etc 3 billion years...

If spies see they can't bypass YubiKey to break into banking or email, they will attempt Account Recovery Exploitation. They do this by trying to compromise the recovery email or phone number attached to your email/banking, triggering an automated fallback reset to bypass your hardware token. To prevent this, do this: remove SMS or phone recovery from banking & email. Spies can effortlessly execute "SIM-swapping" attacks or intercept cellular network routing (via SS7 vulnerabilities) to steal security codes sent over the air. If you use Gmail, enroll it directly into the Google Advanced Protection Program. This strict mode completely blocks immediate account recovery attempts if a key is missing. Under Advanced Protection, if you lose YubiKey, Google ignores all standard automated recovery options. It initiates a mandatory, ironclad 48-hour to 30-day delay period before allowing a reset. This delay gives you a massive window to detect the unauthorized recovery attempt and cancel it before spies bypass you. If your bank requires a backup recovery email, don't use a standard unmonitored account. Use an encrypted alternative like Proton, which must also be explicitly locked down with a secondary YubiKey if not using Tor. Walmart allows your name for reviews/shipping in account settings to be a fictional alias, different from your credit card on file, 'credit card name' itself can be a fake alias via privacy.com linked to your real identity (see # 3). below☺☺☺). This allows you to remove any name-address link, so Walmart, etc delivery people never know your real name, or your real privacy.com alias. We need to hide the real names, privacy.com alias and purchases as thieves and foreign spies always hack networks to steal Amazon ordered items or to poison those who criticize gangs or foreign governments, religions, etc. We need to become more discreet as a society, due to 20 million hacking attacks daily against NATO. Buy stuff from Amazon if nonedible or high temp resistant (some edible items like potassium iodide is stable even at 200°F) and Amazon will say "Delivered or Ordered 1 Nutrition & Wellness Item" in subject line to avoid foreign espionage of metadata. Amazon started to hide the product names from titles, since all emails meta data for any company can be hacked by foreign or internal spies for even private emails like proton.me or gmail, yahoo, hotmail, apple, etc. Amazon no longer shows last name in emails, to protect us from foreign nation mass hacking AI aggregating emails after a breach to establish identity, habits, purchases, for recruitment, sabotage, poisoning, attack of houses from satellites. Foreign spies can try intercept packages, discover the real identity of an alias account based on email titles intercepted for encrypted emails whose text they can't read.

Running the Brave app on a Chromebook is far less secure than using the native Chrome because Chrome Web Store "apps" are deprecated, unmaintained extensions that run entirely outside of ChromeOS' hardened hardware security framework. Brave is safer than Chrome in Windows for banking/shopping, but far less safe than Chrome in ChromeOS because Brave bypasses ChromeOS' multi-layered defenses, including the Titan C (OpenTitan based) security chip, verified boot, and strict process isolation. Since Guest Mode starts fresh with default settings every single time you open it, you can't permanently save changes to your Chrome browser settings. Click the 3 dots in the top right corner and open Settings, Privacy & security, Third-party cookies. Change to Block all third-party cookies. In Privacy & security, Site settings, JavaScript. Toggle "Don't allow sites to use JavaScript." To safely load a bank or utility payment page, scroll down to "Allowed to use JavaScript", click Add. Type the exact trusted URL (yourbank.com). Java off freezes all unverified code on foreign or compromised retail chains, rendering hidden exploits inert while allowing your specific financial sites to operate normally. If you don't want to change global settings daily, you can strip privileges from individual websites: visit utility or store website. Click the slider/settings icon located directly to the left of the URL in your address bar. Select Site settings. Manually flip JavaScript, Pop-ups, Automatic Downloads to Block.☺☺☺

1.3.7. Avoid yahoo, hotmail, apple, gmail, aol, as they lack end to end encryption (E2EE)

Regular emails use only "while in transit encryption" Transport Layer Security (TSL), i.e. they store emails unencrypted (TSL) on servers. E2EE protects emails better during data breaches and espionage. Of those only Google/Microsoft are strongest at securing servers from foreign powers. 99% of email providers maintain master copies of data, log enormous amounts of account metadata (proton.me never does), and employ 100+K folks, all of which are potential spies (Microsoft got 230,000 employees, Google 190,000, so 80+ possible spies at least). It only takes 1 spy among these 420,000 people to totally screw up everything. Big email providers etc give deep access only to the top 0.001% and even then 2 people must OK any access. If internal, external spies breach gmail, etc, intercept unencrypted metadata (to, from, subject line, date) transit hubs, you can die (if on the kill list of any spy agency), as they use metadata to find info, connections. Proton operates on a 0-knowledge architecture, meaning even if an employee spy infiltrates Proton's server offices, they can't decrypt emails because they lack the master cryptographic keys, while if they breach mainstream emails, they can see the text of emails. The latest quantum computers can't decrypt E2EE Proton messages in 2026, as Proton has PQC, while gmail, yahoo, apple don't have PQC. Having a US based server may be better for some, to avoid ocean cable snooping by Chinese underwater drones hovering over cables in a new way unknown to NSA (no touching needed). Google's servers continuously log search history, profile associations, diagnostic loops though, and spies can find metadata as it's unencrypted. Proton doesn't log or monitor user activity, so banking transactions, privacy.com alias setup remain completely shielded from centralized automated corporate scans. The privacy.com personal plan is free and allows creation of up to 12 new cards per month, including single-use "burner" cards and merchant-locked cards, total privacy for all Americans. Proton is a privacy fortress, but state actors can gain access via global hack of email/SMS recover codes. To make a 2 proton or 1 proton 1 gmail setup (1 banking, 1 regular) safe, go to proton Account Settings, Recovery. Turn OFF the toggles for Allow recovery by email and phone, then Lock the Accounts with Your FIPS 140-3 YubiKeys so nobody can read your email. This setting is for using normal browsers, if you want to use Tor for Proton .onion, you need 2FA. Erase any electronic record of the proton 12 word Account Recovery Phrase, at most print it on the back of a paper taped to YubiKey you wear. If a spy enters your house while you're shopping, finds this 12 word piece of paper, encryption is broken. Keep this data on a paper in a safe place where none can find it. Proton code is all open source and there are inspectors who visit the company, etc, theoretically Proton can't spy on people. The US Fed gov doesn't use any foreign server (proton is Swiss). A U.S. servers (Proton equivalent) Email Provider for FIPS 140-3 YubiKey is Aussie Fastmail with Masked Email, a fake email for each website you sign up for, has servers in EU for EU users, US for the rest. Fastmail is a small company, so it's 9000 times less targeted by spy agencies, hackers, gangs. Downside: price, 5$/mo, so they know who you are. China can hack Aussie. Aussie and UK are one, so Brits will read every email. Google, yahoo, etc make $ by logging in endless data for ads to sell, so data is insecure. For NATO servers try Disroot Dutch servers, so AIVD reads each email.☺☺☺

Proton gives 1 primary email address, up to 1 GB of secure cloud storage, but you can setup many accounts, like with yahoo. A free plan contains the exact same, military-grade 0-access E2EE as the most expensive paid plans. Proton owns, operates its own "bare-metal" hardware. Their primary data centers are hosted in heavily guarded, underground military bunkers deep within the Swiss Alps in Zurich area, though, due to "privacy law changes" there are now backup servers in Oslo/Norway, Frankfurt/Germany where Germans may read your Proton email. If a continental quantum weapon takes US mainland out (all dead), proton.me may become NATO's most secure civilian backup, Proton got 21,000 VPN servers in 148 nations. Proton doesn't rely on 3rd-party cloud infrastructure like Amazon Web Services, Microsoft Azure, thus limiting the physical/digital supply-chain attack surface. Email providers, banks are now moving toward post-quantum cryptography (PQC) using lattice-based geometry (NIST ML-KEM, ML-DSA algorithms). Proton moved to PQC encryption on 5-5-2026, while Google has a 2029 deadline to secure Gmail. Because quantum computers can dismantle traditional prime-number factorization (RSA) using Shor's algorithm, industries started to move to PQC. The RSA Rivest-Shamir-Adleman algorithm generates 2 large prime numbers, p & q. R is Catholic, S is Israeli, A is Jewish. Google AI Gemini promotes Gmail as most secure email, and says "Microsoft can't use YubiKeys", then Bing AI Copilot claims the same about gmail, "Google can't use Yubikeys (see below), passkeys are synced, etc". Apple AI promotes Macs, Leo (Brave) AI promotes google products as Brave is based on Chromium engine as browser. All lie about the others, showing how fraudulent the AIs are, and why we need a national AI, not these scam corporate bandit AIs. When you ask them to rank, gmail, hotmail, yahoo, etc they give theirs as #1. The AI promotes the products the AI maker sells. Pathetic. The public key is n = p*q. A sender can use n to encrypt a message, but only the owner of the private key (p&q) can easily calculate (p-1)(q-1) to decrypt it. Breaking RSA encryption requires finding p & q from the public n. For a 2,048-bit RSA key, this takes supercomputers billions of years. Hackers from KGB, PLA steal data now by ocean drones over ocean cables to decrypt and read later, once their quantum computers will decrypt in months instead of billions of years. Google was founded by 2 Jews, and Google always gives search results that hide the Jewish identity of certain people and makes Jews appear much better than other search engines, which means gmail is read by Mossad as google is full of Jews. For example for Shor new algorithm to break RSA made up by Jews, Google claims he's gentile, his mom is gentile, while Bing says his mother is evidently Jewish. Shor and Bopp are Ashkenazi Jewish names. In such a situation, I can't trust gmail, Google Gemini AI or ChatGPT by Samuel Altman Jew. They're good as free basic searches, etc, but when it comes to nuance they miss a lot of info on purpose to protect Jews and Israel. When you read Wikipedia and it claims X is so and so, doubt it. Those are their public stories, what lies beneath can be sometimes the exact opposite. The total enslavement of Americans by Jews can't be more evident in the % of Jews in strategic areas. US says "RSA is impossible to decrypt" then all adopt it and US knows how to hack all prime numbers, and US promotes RSA to be able to read all email worldwide. Then they come up with Shor to make RSA outdated via quantum computers and a new 'RSA replacement' that they know how to decrypt in days, but takes 5 billion years if you don't know how. If you decide the standards, all low IQ guys believe you and you make the planet's rules, as you read all chats. So, never assume RSA is safe, for even YubiKeys can be pure waste of time to reinforce the brainwashing that RSA is secure in order to get all fools to use it so US can read all emails. US does this stuff all the time in 100s of fields, it's a typical police method to dupe criminals.

In cybersecurity, nobody trusts promises. Experts trust open mathematics and code audits. The US gov and global researchers verify Proton via its Open Source code (no backdoors to keep email data), via audits of the company, via E2EE, starting with your browser before the data goes on the net. Metadata is as valuable as the text, it tells hackers what you bought, when, etc, it's almost like they know what you buy, and can be used to discover real identity, address, so if Swiss can't defend metadata, you're screwed. The safest 5 main emails may be Hotmail > Google > Apple > AOL > Yahoo. If using gmail, use one email for fake identity (one browser for online alias shopping, so nobody knows what is delivered to your address in real time to try to intercept it) that can change over time so spies can't identify you as that based on metadata hacks and purchase history and one email for real identity (banking, etc) on a secure separate laptop made in USA that never has any flash drive access it, except 1 for backup that is always taped to the laptop cover perhaps to avoid accidentally inserting it into your infected laptop(s), which can never enter any other device or laptop as it could get infected with malware. You want to separate Amazon etc purchases from the everyday easy to hack laptop made in Taiwan, etc... so avoid infecting this secure laptop with your everyday browsing laptop (where you open dangerous pdfs, pngs etc). The secure laptop for email/purchases can be a low power tiny one, just for email. The junk laptop can be for unsecure email (fictional alias to ask questions about products etc), the fake alias accounts to browse Amazon, Walmart, a laptop never used with your secret aliases and real identity, never used for purchases.☺☺☺

1.3.8. When buying ANYTHING online, use US based privacy.com (arguably the safest)

Watch this video about how some people use trusts and LLCs to totally vanish from the records foreign spy agencies can access, when spies may try kill them due to wealth or writing a book. You can try similar services to legally generate an alias and fake card number linked to your real bank, so that no courier knows the name these products go to. The Fake alias has to match your fake Amazon name, so when your Amazon, Walmart, grocery delivery arrives, it has a fake name on it and no spies know your location on Earth. Foreign spies hack USPS, FedEx, UPS, Amazon, Walmart, online platforms, to search for the names they want to kill or recruit to be spies. If you live in City X, for billing you can use a fake name with the commercial address (hotel, restaurant, apartment complex) in some other city (especially if online products that are not shipped) since privacy.com doesn't check if the name and address match like banks do, they know you use aliases to protect self from identity theft by Amazon hackers, so it can be used by activists who expose genocides. For shipping address, use a fake name (same fake name on billing/shipping) and a PO Box, Amazon Locker or, if brave enough, your real address, but make sure that nobody knows your real name in the area, no talk to neighbors. Whatever you do, make it less likely for them to be suspicious about the identity. Use self-pay, not insurance, to avoid revealing your alias or real identity, or change your legal name and use trusts to hide the info in IRS data.

1.3.9. Avoid any phone talking, since spies know it's you using AI; install GrapheneOS

A phone, if used to banking, should be off 99.9% of the time stored in a Faraday cage made of thick aluminum that removes any RF signal, and in airplane mode until you're ready to login into the bank with a hardware key for only 3 minutes. ☺☺☺Spies can detect any version of your speech, even if you try fake it as a female, eterni or etc, they scan ocean cables: most SMS, VoIP phones, landlines, cellular calls to stores, offices are unencrypted on one end, so they're audible to all US enemies with strong enough AI to scan thru 90000 trillion calls. Even cell to cell calls can be intercepted by China, the only secure calls are via Signal, when encryption is done at all times. WhatsApp collects extensive metadata, including your IP address (which China can hack via meta server hack to see where you're and kill you), phone identifiers, who you text, how often, and at what times. Signal logs only two things: the day you created your account and the last day you connected to the server. WhatsApp is owned by Jewish Meta/Facebook, a company built on data collection and targeted advertising. Signal is run by an independent, user-supported, non-profit organization with no financial incentive to monetize your information. Signal's entire code, for both the app and its servers, is fully open-source, allowing independent security researchers to constantly audit it for vulnerabilities. WhatsApp uses closed-source software, meaning the public can't verify exactly what happens to data inside the app. WhatsApp strongly prompts users to back up chats to Google Drive or iCloud. If these backups are not manually toggled to be end-to-end encrypted in your settings, they can be accessed by Chinese hackers. Signal stores backups only locally on your physical device by default. Security = silence, all done online using aliases or Signal text/voice, or from Tor browser for max IP security (except banking and certain websites that block Tor: all banks block Tor, don't use Tor as you get locked out). Our voice is shaped by the physical geometry of our throat, nasal cavities, jaw, and tongue. This creates unique, unalterable background resonances called formants that we can't change, the AI scans all phone data for specific cadence, accent, rhythm, breathing intervals, specific consonants sounds. The way air passes through vocal cords creates a unique wave pattern or glottal pulse, as unique to us as a fingerprint. We can't alter the micro-vibrations of our larynx muscles through acting. We all have an unalterable linguistic fingerprint: breathing intervals, "94" millisecond delays between words, length we hold specific vowels, co-articulation (unconscious muscle movements when transitioning between consonants)) remain completely hardwired into the brain. A foreign spy AI tracking engine searching phone data will effortlessly match these behavioral vocal patterns to your master identity file.☺☺

Never use a smartphone (always off in a Faraday cage, aluminum foil wrap to prevent remote control while it's off), except 4 minutes a month to access an app that is only for phones, with a bank or whatever, since smartphones can figure out location (via cell tower triangulation, background Wi-Fi scanning, and IP tracking) even when you turn off GPS and connected devices, cars (OnStar, etc, Tesla, etc) share your location with car company or insurance company (if device installed), company servers can be hacked by spies, plus RF fries brains/bodies. Because a traditional offline GPS unit (bought with cash, so no enemy knows it was shipped and can't be intercepted in mail by foreign spies on US soil) only receives one-way satellite signals and lacks an internet connection (map updates via USB from a clean computer), it can't transmit your data to any third party, so it is the only way to prevent foreign hackers from knowing your location if they figure out your google or phone maps app and account. An example of a decent low-EMF (least brain cancer, least detection by spy listening posts to all satellite communications from Earth to satellite in connected GPS units, least hacking by an ex or ex-employer) standalone car GPS model is the Garmin Drive 52 GPS Navigator. RF mW/m² changes continuously based on distance from the device, the vehicle interior, satellite positioning. To navigate offline, the device only receives signals from overhead USA satellites. It doesn't broadcast or transmit any RF signals to the sky, resulting in 0 mW/m² of cellular/Wi-Fi. Unlike smartphones (worst idea for getting directions, even if you connect once and then go in airplane mode and travel in airplane mode that leaves GPS on, just like connected cars – disconnect your car by calling manufacturer from all internet, GPS, etc as it causes high mW/m² that clouds judgment and is detected by foreign spies Earth to satellite monitoring devices) & unlike connected GPS models, the base Drive 52 model lacks cellular modems and Wi-Fi chips, 100% eliminating constant background RF sweeps. Drive 52 has preloaded US/CAN maps & a 2.4 GHz Bluetooth to receive optional traffic updates via a phone, so turn it off in settings, wireless networks, Bluetooth. Mounting the GPS on the windshield reduces RF to negligible levels. Even if you always disable GPS and phone is off 99.99% of time, all phone maps apps can be hacked, so spies can kill by real time tracking of maps location that one time of the year when you use the phone or car for directions. Avoid the Garmin inReach Series: inReach Mini or GPSMAP 67i are active satellite communicators. They transmit high-power radio signals up to Iridium satellites for two-way texting and SOS tracking. State actors with advanced electronic warfare capabilities can intercept these signals or compel satellite providers to hand over real-time tracking logs. Avoid the Garmin DriveSmart Series & Drive 53: they feature built-in Wi-Fi and Bluetooth to pair with smartphones for live services. If a phone is compromised by spyware, it can bridge onto the GPS via Bluetooth. When not actively navigating, unplug the Garmin 52 and completely shut it down so it doesn't log your position or generate a localized hardware clock signature. If a bad actor gains access to the car, they can read the unit's internal "Recent Destinations" and trip logs. Always clear your travel history in the device's settings menu after every sensitive trip. Only perform USB map updates on a secure computer that you're confident is free of malware. Never use real identity or online purchases aliases for phone Maps or any non-laptop digital device, create separate compartments of your life with restricted access, create endless virtual machines in all areas of your life as if you're running Qubes OS (described below, if they penetrate one cube of your life, they can't enter the other, don't let any one person, place, device have all your info, as that can kill you instantly). If they know those google maps or phone maps accounts are you, you're dead. Thus, it's far far better is to NEVER use a phone for directions. If you buy a renewed Amazon Garmin 52 or ebay, etc…, don't simply turn the device on and start driving to sensitive locations. Instead, do a Hard Factory Reset: settings, full factory reset to clear any cached location data. Garmin got a built-in feature called "Travel History" or "Where I've Been," which logs location over time to suggest frequent routes. Go into Settings > Device > Travel History, clear it, disable it entirely so it stops writing your data to the internal flash memory. Don't plug Garmin into a PC connected to the internet more than once 2 years to update maps. If you use the Garmin Express software on a web-connected PC, Garmin servers instantly log your device's unique serial number, your home IP address, and diagnostic data saved on the unit. If Garmin 52 is too old for you and the storage is too small, find one that is easier to update and turn off any connectivity there is.

Consider GrapheneOS, widely considered the most secure mobile OS, significantly surpassing Android and even iOS in specific security architectures. Graphene is a hardened version of the Android Open Source Project designed specifically to protect against superpowers. Graphene works only on Google Pixel phones 6+, due to Titan M2 security chip that enables extra features. It uses a hardened custom memory allocator that effectively neutralizes common memory corruption exploits, the primary vector for mobile malware. It enforces stricter application isolation than Android. GrapheneOS sends 0 data (telemetry) to Google, anyone by default. It supports full Verified Boot with custom keys, i.e. the phone verifies its own integrity at startup. If the OS is tampered with, it refuses to boot, protecting against "Evil Maid" attacks. Evil Maid is a hotel maid who alters your phone or laptop while you're away. If you want to use the Pixel 6, 7, 8+ because you need up-to-date maps, uninstall Google Maps (tracks you) entirely and use an offline, open-source navigation app: Organic Maps or OsmAnd from the F-Droid open-source app store. Download the entire map database for your state or country while on a secure Wi-Fi network (ideally via a VPN). Turn on Airplane Mode, disable Wi-Fi, Bluetooth. GrapheneOS + Airplane Mode + Organic Maps matches the security of the Garmin 52. The internal GPS chip will act purely as a passive radio receiver, calculating your position locally on downloaded map files without transmitting a single byte of data. To make your Pixel Graphene phone as secure as the Garmin Drive 52, you must isolate the device from networks before initializing GPS tracking. 1. Remove any physical SIM card from the phone (the SIM card you used to download Graphene via WiFi, update Android to graphene, using some phone you plan to use for maps only, meaning to not connect to the Internet much, some older phone). Ensure no eSIM profiles are active. 2. Turn on Airplane Mode, disable Wi-Fi and Bluetooth. 3. Settings > Location> Use location to ON. This allows the phone's internal hardware chip to act as a passive satellite receiver without transmitting outbound data. To download a Google Maps alternative, before you remove SIM and turn off WiFi open the F-Droid App Repository or the Google Play Store (if using GrapheneOS sandboxed Google Play) and download Organic Maps ideally using a public Wi-Fi or a network not tied to your home address. don't log into any personal accounts on the dedicated "maps phone" while connected. Activate a Verified VPN: Route all traffic through a paid Proton VPN or etc before launching your app download. Once the download reaches 100%, immediately turn off the Wi-Fi connection, turn Airplane Mode back on, and never reconnect that phone to the internet much (if you can afford a dedicated phone, or use it only once a month for some banking or emergencies). Because most people use phone with Internet often, Garmin 52 (always offline) or a similar Garmin (that can be offline) is their best bet, US verified company. Because your GrapheneOS device is entirely de-Googled, you can't download VPN from the standard Google Play Store. To install Proton VPN cleanly and securely, ppen the native, hardened Vanadium browser on your GrapheneOS phone. Navigate directly to the official download repository ://protonvpn.com. Scroll down to the Android section, tap Download APK (Android Package kit). Don't download from 3rd party mirrors. Tap Install. GrapheneOS will ask if you want to allow Vanadium to install unknown apps. Toggle Allow for this session. Open the Proton VPN app, log into your anonymously purchased Proton account, and immediately configure the Always-On VPN and Block Connections Without VPN hardware kill switches in your system settings. Now you can download Organic Maps.

Google Pixel are the only phones able to replace iOS or Android phone with a GrapheneOS (only unlocked 8a (300$), 9 (900$), 10+ phones can run it best, as they got security updates until 2031, + ARM hardware memory tagging (MTE) to instantly block memory/framebuffer exploits, which are 90% of 0-day spy attacks. Pixel 7 security updates end 2027. Graphene removes tracking at the OS level, is a hardened, open-source OS that strips out Google Play Services. It has advanced sandboxing, memory corruption defenses, a hardened browser engine. It's incapable of "phoning home" to Google because there is no Google software installed on it. Unlike Google or Apple Maps, which constantly stream your location back to servers foreign spies can hack, Organic Maps is an open-source, 100% offline navigation. Download maps for a region over VPN once, turn off cellular data, navigate entirely offline. It logs 0 data, has 0 location, etc trackers. Pixel 9 is more secure because it has 50% more RAM than 8a. Graphene is RAM intensive via background sandboxing, hardened memory allocators, aggressive memory zeroing to prevent hackers from executing code via buffer overflows. Spies use fake cell towers (IMSI Catchers, Stingrays) that the Pixel 9 modem defends better against via cleaner baseband isolation, so spies can't force security downgrades or push wireless firmware exploits. The Pixel 8a uses an older optical fingerprint scanner that takes a standard visual 2D picture of your finger, and any AirBnB who took a pic of that or old phone that was hacked has it. The Pixel 9 has a 3D Ultrasonic Fingerprint Sensor: optical scanners can be spoofed by high-resolution photos or physical molds created by spy forensic teams. Ultrasonic sensors map the 3D finger ridges, valleys using sound waves, making biometric bypass virtually impossible. However, if you keep Pixel 8a in airplane mode always, even while driving, they can't do over-the-air attacks, so you're safe. 8A is fine if you do that, if you almost never use it. No need of extra 600$ for Pixel 9. Just keep phone in Faraday cage, shut down while not driving. To minimize spying open the Settings in Graphene, go to Location, Location services, turn OFF both Wi-Fi & Bluetooth scanning. Open Settings, Apps, See all apps, tap the... menu icon in the top right corner, select Show system, Bluetooth, Permissions. Revoke all permissions, select Disable. Never use cellular data without VPN if you try to be secure from spies. Your paid Proton allows you to use it on 10 devices at the same time. You use your cellular data plan for internet access, but you immediately wrap that cellular data inside the Proton VPN Plus (Secure Core) tunnel. To ensure a phone never accidentally leaks data over raw cellular towers if the VPN connection drops, go to Settings, Network & internet, VPN, gear icon next to Proton VPN, Toggle ON both "Always-on VPN" and "Block connections without VPN", so that if Proton VPN disconnects for even a millisecond while you're traveling, Graphene freezes the cell plan, entirely stopping unencrypted data from escaping your phone.

1.3.10. Disinfect existing devices and the basics of sandboxing, virtual machines VMs, etc.

Your existing computer is possibly already rich in foreign spyware so you may need reinstall the OS with a clean copy, after saving passwords, disinfected files on a flash drive. After removing these malware, we can have a phone for banks that work only on phones, 1 laptop or desktop for basic browsing and 1 laptop for banking/email, though that means you need avoid using a USB to transfer files/and infect the good banking laptop with real identity. For top secret files, use a tablet/device that never goes online, has no WiFi card, and is never touched by flash drives that touch other computers (has its own flash drive for backup). Separate banking from everyday email. Qubes OS Xen is updated by a team of international programmers working for the Linux Foundation. Xen is a Type-1 ("bare-metal") hypervisor, a software that installs directly on computer hardware instead of running inside an operating system. Qubes OS relies on "security by compartmentalization." Xen is the tool that isolates web browser, work files, banking, into entirely separate, locked-down virtual machines called "qubes." Xen interdicts software access to CPU, RAM, so an attack or virus in one qube (web browser on unsafe sites with malware) can't break out to steal data from another qube (banking), it's an advanced version of Microsoft Sandbox (that erases all memory and passwords used, all session cookies, so hackers can't steal cookies to login). It helps you avoid needing 4 laptops. The primary, official updates to the Xen hypervisor are managed by the Linux Foundation. Because Xen is used in massive cloud servers (and Qubes OS to separate qubes, like 1 banking, 1 email, 1 random browsing, 1 top secret), major automotive tech, and embedded systems, it is funded by a global board of tech giants (including UK ARM Ltd, Citrix/XenServer employing many British developers who write core code for Xen), updated by engineers from AMD, Intel, Amazon Web Services (AWS), Huawei, and Vates who write a vast portion of the updates to support new hardware. Qubes OS is the house, and the Xen Hypervisor is the concrete foundation. If you use Windows, open Windows Sandbox (or equivalent for other OS), which is a security feature in Windows that makes Internet activities far more secure, saving no settings or bookmark. Sandbox deletes any info from any Sandbox session, so save all files in your normal Windows. The Polish team behind Qubes OS got development grants from the Open Tech Fund, a US gov non-profit and 1000s of people check the open public code for Qubes OS to make sure no spying goes on. In Chrome, sandboxing is mandatory, not optional: every browser tab, extension, app, and system process runs in its own sandbox (restricted environment with minimal privileges). There is no Chrome need to manually launch a "sandbox" session as in Windows; the OS treats all untrusted code as potentially dangerous from the moment it executes. If a specific Chrome window is compromised, the damage is contained within that specific bubble, preventing it from accessing the core system or other data. Sandbox in Windows or Guest Mode in ChromeOS deletes all cookies, etc once you close the window, so nobody can track you, it can be used to deter criminals, but for country spy agency attacks, you need ChromeOS.☺ In Qubes, one mistake, copying a file from unsecure VM to secure VM can ruin the machine. With 2 separate laptops, this can't occur. Price is the same since 2 cheap laptops cost same as one expensive Qubes with Chinese motherboard so China sees everything. Qubes gets a tray notification: security update is available, but Chrome updates itself on its own, heals its own OS via Verified Book (Qubes doesn't). Chrome's self-healing Verified Boot, auto weekly updates, + 2h/wk online, creates a defense often stronger than 24-7 Qubes. To prevent spy laptop intercept, you can use cash to buy a Chromebook in person, in a top secret visit no google maps tracks on phone or car. Never login or visit privacy.com on the unsecure laptop/PC that has an alias. Never use old email/shopping accounts on new PCs, as KGB knows them, can try hack via Google cloud attacks, city utility website attack of the same electric/water bill account we access via a new PC.

Qubes OS is for travelers who can't have 5 laptops without appearing like a spy. Qubes system requirements are "expensive laptop" type. The NSA and US Cyber Command maintain heavily funded internal code-auditing teams, so they verify nobody can spy using Xen. CIA doesn't guess if Xen in Qubes is safe; they download the exact source code, run it through advanced automated vulnerability scanners, and deconstruct its logic byte-by-byte to prove it contains no hidden backdoors or unauthorized transmission pathways. The Xen Hypervisor has 0 network drivers/IP address capabilities/internet protocols built in, so nobody can send data outside the laptop. Xen is the Fabric of the US Corporate Cloud. Xen is used to secure Amazon Web Services that hosts millions of top-secret corporate databases and US government cloud servers on the exact same physical computer hardware. 2 separate OpenTitan Chromebooks that never interact via a common flash drive etc is more secure than 2 Qubes on 1 laptop. The basis of Qubes security is Xen, like for Amazon used by the US Gov. Anything security related is run by the local spy agency in any nation, any strategic business, any big size business is run by the spy agency/military of that nation. Nova partners with Berlin company for support and Nitro relabels Nova laptops, so AIVD, BND 1976 Maximator alliance is at work. You verify the integrity of the Nova/Nitro physical box using high-resolution photos sent directly to your email shopping alias before you ever break the seal, to make sure no foreign spies changed the NATO laptop. 1-day air shipping drastically lowers the opportunity window for a foreign spy agency to alter your phone or computer. You need 1 day air, since a laptop is 90,000 times more important than fence around a house, as it has your location, activities, routines and spies can use that to kill, harm easily. A house fence does nothing, except stop regular criminals. Your phone, computers router, modem, ethernet cable, connected devices are 90,000 times more critical than a fence. A fence has no meaning, once they know where you are, they can throw a grenade even or machine gun that room, unless you have kevlar built in the walls or even easier, put nerve agent on your face as with with Kim brother when you go out, you touch a grocery store door infected with etc (do online deliveries instead), or they can do a slow assassination in 90,000 other ways, so discrete, when shop offline (more discreet, since at home it attracts attention of FBI), thinking nobody read your emails, texts, plans, when in fact they know every trip outside the house, via hacking google maps, etc. There are 600 OS within Linux. For example, PopOS is highly insecure vs Qubes OS that gets way more coders from major US companies, etc. Once one section (app run as Flakpak) of Pop OS is compromised, it can infect the whole computer. ChromeOS uses a read-only root filesystem: the core operating system can't be modified by malware or accidental user error. In contrast, Pop!_OS and Ubuntu allow users (and malware running with sudo) to modify critical system files. Chrome updates silently in the background, applies them on the next reboot, ensuring the system is always patched against known vulnerabilities. Linux distributions require user intervention or manual configuration for automatic security updates. Chrome has 200K people at Google updating it, vs 2-2000 people for each Linux distribution. Chrome has a reduced attack surface, is a minimal OS designed primarily for the web. It lacks many of the background services, legacy drivers, development tools present in a full desktop Linux version like PopOS, reducing the number of potential entry points for hackers. Every time a Chromebook starts, it cryptographically verifies the OS integrity. If the OS was tampered with, it automatically repairs itself by reverting to a known good state. While Linux supports Secure Boot, it doesn't inherently self-heal a compromised OS installation. Qubes VMs (virtual machines) are vastly stronger than Pop!_OS Flatpaks. Flatpaks share your computer's OS kernel, meaning a complex kernel exploit can break the sandbox. Qubes OS uses the Xen hypervisor to build hardware-isolated virtual walls, which are mathematically and architecturally much harder to escape to steal banking/shopping info from one qube by hacking another qube. Qubes OS offers security by isolation. ChromeOS that offers security by simplicity: it relies on a minimal attack surface, an immutable read-only system, and mandatory process sandboxing. Chrome monolithic Linux kernel (shared by all processes) presents a larger risk than Qubes' microkernel-like isolation if a kernel-level vulnerability is exploited, but if you only use Chrome 1 hour daily, it’s fine. Qubes

OS security depends heavily on the user separating tasks into different qubes. A user error (e.g., copying a virus from a "Untrusted" qube to a "Personal" qube) can bypass Qubes defenses. ChromeOS is "secure by default" with almost no room for user error. ChromeOS often has an edge in physical security: Verified Boot that automatically self-heal the OS if tampered with, and hardware write-protection switches on many Chromebooks. Qubes OS supports Verified Boot (via Heads firmware) but typically requires 3 laptops of 3 spy agencies (Nova54, NitroPad56, Star) and manual configuration to match Chrome's Verified Boot.

1.3.11. Replace passwords and software keys with passkeys from YubiKey

With the exception of people using Tor Bridges to login into .onion Proton email, the safest way is: go to yubico.com (not on Amazon or any other site) and buy a Yubi 5 FIPS 140-3 (most secure, no NFC radio antenna) hardware key, with the key made in USA-Sweden and shipped from US-Sweden, approved by the Pentagon, FIPS (Federal Information Processing Standard, FIPS 140-3 meets the highest authenticator assurance level 3 (AAL3) requirement from NIST SP800-63-4, part of NIST...). The normal software passkeys (which themselves are far more secure than passwords, being far longer, etc) can be hacked. Good hard keys can't, especially not the ones like 140-3 designed for Pentagon. Don't use Google Titan key, as the key, chip are made by a state company Feitian in Beijing, and Google is clueless. Yubico is the hard key leader that partners with IBM for AI, Google makes 2 keys in China and one in cooperation with Yubi. Why you need Yubi 5 FIPS 140-3, not the 5C key: 1. To counter spies intercepting the key in the mail to clone/change it, the FIPS 140-3 key has its NFC physically locked out and disabled during shipping. FIPS 140-3 needs a localized initialization script once it reaches you to activate, ensuring it can't be remotely probed (via radio waves) or modified by postal spies (without opening the package). For non-NFC, Yubico uses physical tamper-evident packaging + firmware-enforced initialization. FIPS 140-3 is shipped set to OFF. To activate, you execute a hardware state change on a clean desktop, replace the default internal admin codes. If a spy gets the key to register credentials onto the key, the key's state configuration changes, failing validation when it reaches you. 2. FIPS 140-3 supports massive public-key algorithm lengths (RSA-3072, RSA-4096, Ed25519), required by Pentagon to block decryption attempts by rivals. 3. FIPS 140-3 firmware enforces stricter PIN rules (8 character min) by default across FIDO2, PIV, OpenPGP. If spies physically steal the key, the key restricts brute-force guessing patterns way better before permanently bricking the internal secure element chip. You can use a data sync extension cord USB A to USB C, buy USB-C version for phones/laptops. Any hardware key is 90,000 times better than passwords/passkeys, even the NitroPad56 included key. Yubi is 99$.

1.3.12. Avoid all in one cable-modem-routers and use Cat 7/8 ethernet cables

Use Shielded Twisted Pair (STP) Ethernet cables (Cat6A STP or Cat7/Cat8) because they

physically prevent data leakage through electromagnetic radiation and block foreign spy eavesdropping using drones, satellites, cars. When data travels down a standard, unshielded plastic network wire (UTP), the electrical signals inside the copper copper lines generate a tiny electromagnetic field that leaks right through the plastic into the air. Spies use advanced, highly sensitive directional antennas or nearby tap devices to pick up these microscopic radio waves out of the air, even through walls, to reconstruct the exact data passing through the cable without ever touching a network: it's called a TEMPEST attack (leaked waves, frequencies (monitor's pixel clock harmonics) can reconstruct exactly what is being displayed, and typed). That's when isolating your room via aluminum taped boards, etc can make it harder to spy. Use high-quality, double-shielded HDMI or DisplayPort cables, to avoid espionage. NATO SDIP-27 = metal-cased displays to prevent EMF leaks. A shielded cable is completely useless if it has standard clear plastic plugs on the ends. The cable must have grounded metal-shielded connectors (the wire end RJ45 plug is encased in shiny metal). The internal foil shield of the cable must be physically soldered or clamped to this metal plug casing to create a continuous ground path. For the grounding drain wire to work, the metal plug of Cat7 must click into a physical metal socket on the ethernet router/modem. The Netgate 1100 and Protectli Vault feature enterprise-grade metal-shielded Ethernet ports built right into their chassis. When your shielded wire clicks into the Protectli or Netgate port, the electrical ground loop is completed. Any leaked data signals are vaporized, any external neighborhood electronic snooping tools find zero signal to read.. Buy a non-China made modem, such as Hitron CODA56 DOCSIS 3.1, with an Ethernet port to feed data directly into your firewall router, with zero Wi-Fi hardware inside it, so it can't emit an internet tracking signal. Only fools use WiFi at home, it kills brains, and any car outside can see all you do online. Choose routers with zero telemetry monitoring, UPnP/automatic port-forwarding 100% disabled out of the box. 8.1. The Netgate 1100 or 2100: Netgate is the official parent company and core engineering team behind pfSense—the world's most trusted open-source☺☺☺ firewall distribution. Has an integrated CryptoAuthentication microchip directly on the circuit board that cryptographically verifies that the internal firmware has not been intercepted, modified, or backdoored during shipping. 8.2. Protectli Vault: Protectli is a US security hardware company that builds "Vault" mini-appliances explicitly designed to run open-source firewall systems. It's one of the only router manufacturers selling devices with Coreboot open-source firmware pre-flashed. By wiping the private US/Taiwan BIOS from the hardware chip and replacing it with open source BIOS, it removes the risk of hidden manufacturer backdoors, giving you a completely transparent boot sequence.

CHAPTER 2 - NOT KNOWING

2.1. The challenge of understanding resurrection & a trillion year Immortal's telepathy, ethics

2.2. Not knowing removes all anxiety; even young 'Immortals' are anxiety free, because nobody dies before age 500; what a paradise world – all have good intent towards all

2.3. Is afterlife infinitely complex, trillions of times more complex than all sciences combined?

2.1. The challenge of understanding the telepathy or ethics of 700 or trillion year Immortals

Not knowing has been hypothesized to be the beginning of understanding. When we talk of Immortals, we can even think of them as the descendants of the future humans who live to a trillion and who reach out to us by going back in time, to help us evolve to become like them. In a mere 200 years we have increased communication speed 10 billion times: from 3 months to send a long distance intercontinental letter to 1 milisecond via email. Imagine a civilization of Immortals or Eternals, our descendants in the future, where we increase the compassionate happy gentle tender soft nurturing graceful serene universal loving kindness in our tone of thinking, emoting, speaking 10 billion times, it's quite hard to wrap our head around that concept to understand the savage nature of humans today. This is harder to conceive, since over 200 years or millennia human technology can change a lot, but the inner nature of humans changed a lot more slowly, as it is the DNA itself, but with today's exponential synergy in learning and etc critical brain, intent, cognition, ethics, telepathy DNA changes via music, culture, etc can speed up 1 billion fold easily. The Immortals are like God, but not as universal as the oldest mightiest Immortal, God. 4 billion years later, we don't know anything about our ancestors, the little microbes or viruses that emerged, none of those virus or bacteria heroes are famous in our world; no shrines to them. Fame is pointless. It's likely in 4 billion or trillion years, nobody will know about any of the top famous humans in our world or religions; this analogy makes us realize that what we know about the future is little. Want to be famous due to your "knowledge", tattoo, piercing, makeup, hair dye? Nobody will likely know about you in the far future, even if you become the most famous ever for 1 million years, hey "Your First name, a little bacterium, unified America via one eterni tone or speech tone that calms everyone, then they became new lifeforms, one of 500 on their way to 'future 'humans'". Humans 4-50 trillion years in the future, will study the romantic life and religious beliefs of various bacteria or viruses (us today) from 4 billion years ago or 50 trillion and sing songs of praise "Jesus, the virus, bacteria or parasitic protozoa (single cell eukaryote), save us, our viral friend, Thou, Holy One, Who lived 10 billion times shorter and are our Avatar, we're brain dead"? ☺☺☺ What if we placed nonkilling above fame, not knowing above religious dogma? It's commonly agreed that confirmation bias (filters created by our experiences, beliefs, thought processes, etc) leads us to not hear or see telepathy, perceptions, or even physical events that don't match our preconceived notions about how the universe operates or functions, about how the Soul Immortality possibly expands in Physical Dimension(s) to Bring Civilizations of Immortals, where people live to trillions of years, and even resurrection is possible (eons after death not instant resurrection), but perhaps not needed if the same soul (not recreated from ash, but found thru future science without ash even) can come into a much better new Immortal body that lasts 5 billion years. We hear, perceive and see selectively, especially deeper conceptual telepathy but even verbal one too, and that's true for everyone to some tiny degree, since we know little. We all wear our rose-tinted blue-tinted or whatever color tinted glasses thru which we see reality. If we wear those blue light blocking glasses, the blues often appear green, etc. Because of this, misunderstanding between humans becomes easier sometimes and scientific progress slower. That's why we have peer-reviewed studies, hypotheses testing, etc which help us to develop a more refined understanding of what is going on with reality or Civilizations of Immortals in this and other dimensions (heaven too).☺☺☺

It is obviously beyond our ability to fully comprehend the infinite complexity of the thinking of an Immortal with a memory of his last trillion years or his last trillion digit age (our universe age has 11 digits in years); but it is within our capacity to understand that we have a very tiny understanding of reality and that our beliefs form powerful filters and confirmation biases that make much telepathy from such an Immortal invisible and inaudible. Even if we would bypass these filters and hear telepathy in the closest form our limiting language could render, we would be overwhelmed by the sheer infinite complexity of it, beyond the human brain capacity to process and we would understand maybe one trillionth of what the Immortal angel just said. Some people, who may not be as careful, may even then excitedly go to fellow human beings and unintentionally start a religion, scientific theory, ideology, cult or movement about "the new revelation I got which is the ultimate and final one presented in these 100 or 5,000 pages and whoever contradicts this is an anathema". Sensible people would perhaps admit everything understood via unfiltered telepathy is a trillionth of what was said and a hypothesis that would suffice temporarily until we discover a truer hypothesis or hypothetical model. ☺☺☺ But just to imagine what it would take to remove filters, we could hypothesize that we would need to consider all possibilities (which are thousands in any circumstance) for what the Immortal was trying to convey via telepathy and then arrive at the right choice. It would take a long time to arrive at the right choice, among the choices that our human brain can correctly translate into a language as a possibility. Likewise, it is easy to forget how easy it would be for us, if born in a very bad environment where the only examples shown are bad, to become a bad person, and to thus forget the meaning of infinite compassion that scriptures talk about, a God with unconditional love for all. So, when we look at the "bad" people who're the product of a long history in many nations and many millions of events leading to that "bad guy today" over millennia, we often forget how we would have fared if born in exactly the same circumstances: could we have become a dictator doing some really bad things? Also, compared to a 1 trillion-year-old Immortal, a 90-year-old human is a tenth of a second old baby. What knowledge of the world does a tenth of a second baby have? It's a tiny knowledge, based on 5 sensory inputs. Likewise, the human knowledge of the universe is infinitely small vs the infinite complexity of reality. When we think about this fact, we become more open minded, more prone to bypass the consciousness filters that reinforce confirmation biases clouding our clear view of reality. The Immortals, our descendants from the future perhaps, live a trillion times longer because they also have a trillion times more gentle tender soft healing honest nurturing loving kindness. So, how is your level of such qualities today and how can we increase this level to theirs? ☺☺☺

A 1 second baby forms his own perception and ideas, which change as he grows until he arrives at adulthood and has a decent understanding. It may be too that when our souls are 1 trillion years old, they will get some understanding, but at age 10-120, or whatever, we have a very infant like understanding of prelife, afterlife and this life. We can't even understand how to live to 900 (in the same way we extended the lifespan of some worms 10 times) or 9,000, let alone what happens in the afterlife of 9 trillion years or prelife of "who knows how many years in another universe" if the soul is not always created at conception. This truth just fills us with a sense of total humility at the human condition, the human language, the human existence and with a deeper appreciation of the logic of being gentle tender soft, for we really don't know even what is ideal ethics, we probably only understand trillion year old Immortals' ethics as an infant 1 second old baby understands our ethics. This fact makes us even more unsure about how to proceed and unsure about when to be filled with the most tender soft gentle healing grace and when to be less so. Acknowledging that there is an infinite amount of knowledge we lack, is normally going to infuse our thoughts, feelings, cultures with a deeper gentle tender soft humility specific to small kids who simply admit they don't know thru their curiosity, questions. Of course, no human can understand the reality as a trillion years old Immortal would, being beyond our capacity, but we can understand that we don't understand and that perhaps there is no point in killing a billion or a few people over an understanding that is not really that exact, so this would help dampen militant ideological fights or eliminate them. Obviously, when we live to be 5,000 years old, if we do, we can probably eat eterni food or some energy without the need of physical food or some nanoparticle or picoparticle mix of something, so the vegan versus omnivore militant debate would vanish in the brilliance of deeper knowledge. Not many people have the humility to admit that if they were born in the circumstances of the worst people in history, they might have become very bad too, even if not as bad as those people. People are imitators and if parents are drug dealers or killers, kids are likely to emulate that. This is a simple reminder of how powerful the environment is in shaping the planetary reality of peace or war, even what a huge planetary effect have the tone of our voice, the lyrics of our songs, movies, art, the goals and words of our literature and news, etc.

We see other humans as humans, not as Immortals might see the souls inside, most of the time. So we see others thru a 1-90 year old mindset (or maybe 20,000 or million year mindset if we were a spirit in some heaven before being born, but not an old Immortal, just a new baby soul, a new Immortal), not thru the real or imagined or hypothesized mindset of some 9 trillion billion years old Immortal or angel as it were, to use terms some relate to better. Moreover, if this life is but a "second life like" (virtual reality) test of our behavior in a given set of circumstances, and we have lived before in another world, then everything becomes so much more complex, further diminishing our ability to correctly estimate, perceive or judge other souls inhabiting bodies, even if today the spiritual people always say "God alone can judge, etc". The soul could be totally different and far subtler than the mind, emotions, personality, beliefs this life, with soul choices contributing far less to total human action than genetics and environment (people or spirits around, gadgets used for mind control of 'dictators, people made into 'bad' people' (so 99% of 'bad' was done by these manipulators perhaps in God's view), culture, telepathy diffusion, etc). ☺☺☺ Even if you were to astral travel daily with your spouse and visit many virtual universes and such, you might not know her true soul nature, if her astral double is but 0.1% of her hyperuniverse self, with another 0.1% projected in subuniverse A, 0.1% in subuniverse B (see below for more details), etc. We walk down the street and we see a garbage collector and some dressed up scientist or businessman. The garbage collector may be 1 million years old as soul (very young "Immortal" compared to the trillion quadrillion years old Older Immortals), the scientist only 20,000. The knowledge of the garbage collector could be so much higher in hyperuniverse than that of the scientist, but the garbage second life role enabled a focus on peculiar inner processes of the human psyche. The soul hyperuniverse personality might also be diametrically opposite to the human personality. A really bad guy (per the spy agency controlling media and making the 'guy' bad via brain tech, sleep deprivation, torture) here might have a very beautiful soul, if his bad was done by genetics and environment, not soul choices. Are the spies who control the thoughts of some 'bad people' using gadgets evil? Would most people do the same if born in same circumstances? Perhaps we're all learning something and people we think as bad are often just having tougher lessons in tougher environments (in which we would become as bad too). Weirder still, their souls might be more learned, in some area at least. Doing more difficult math (life assignments) problems is not meaning one is bad. Why not? Origen, the early theologian, believed in the spirits' pre-existence. ☺☺☺

The Nicea Council of 325 did away with hypothesis testing and considering possibilities, and thought of Origen reincarnation ideas as anathema by vote (under pressure from the Italian emperor, since fear is much greater with eternal damnation, with no possibility of fixing your mistake, if you failed to pay church donations used to extort and brainwash into slave mentality all nations). The models we form are simpler and easier to work with, but by the time you finish this chapter, you might think the reality of prelife and afterlife might be trillions of times more complex than models any human can conceptualize. Since the soul is different than beliefs☺☺, beliefs play probably a less vital role, so spirits might perform miracles (when real, not fake) in all kinds of belief systems to aid the soul's understanding and learning. While the human goes thru rollercoaster emotions, the soul might only record some minor perceptional fluctuations, like when you set up an algorithm. Even if life of spirits would start at or around conception, still we can't know others' real nature as God created them versus as they became as humans in our perception. It's irrelevant to this discussion when spirits are born ultimately or if they exist.

Alright, some will say, this is all fine and fancy, but of what use is this philosophical little chat? The use is that having loose filters of telepathy instead of very strong ones may actually lead to more peace in the world, more science progress and longer lifespan for everyone, as the emotions are a little more even and words a little kinder and less "absolutist". It may even be that hundreds of thousands or even millions of people die prematurely by 10-15 years due to a lack of gentle tender soft loving nurturing healing positive compassion in their habitual thoughts (shaped mostly by what they hear from music, movies, news, literature), which leads to bad decisions, carelessness or a cascade of biochemical events that bring an earlier death, like with atherosclerosis caused by stress (perhaps negative thoughts induced stress at times) in the NM 2014;20(7):754-8 study. Everyone agrees too much stress sickens people and ages them faster, so a more empathic telepathic world would be gentler and more peaceful, less stressful and more longevity enhancing thru lower cortisol stress hormone secretions. We don't know how an Immortal would suggest we would react when a 1 second old baby (human teenager) throws a light object or toy as a prank at some other 1 second old baby (human teenager), but we can speculate that it would not punish the baby, instead take him gently in his arms and hug him and show the kid the pain the other felt and how it would be sweeter to be kind to the other baby/all beings, not cause pain in him, maybe the Immortal even giving a kiss and etheric hug to the angry baby or playful baby who threw something at the other baby. If the human teenager does something really bad, like hurting another human badly, to humans it seems the end of the world (indeed it is the end of human world for a person killed for example), but to a trillion year old Immortal it's seeing an Immortal soul in a clueless human body doing a mistake, a 1 second old baby doing a mistake in his eternal learning journey, so the Immortal's reaction might be, indeed, vastly different than that of humans who perceive others not as 1 second old innocent clueless babies, but as adults or teens. Since God is eternal love forgiveness compassion mercy and grace, patience and joy, and God sees the unreality of this virtual world we're in, God would react vastly differently, and so would an angel who is a 9 trillion years old Immortal. The human way of reaction is very rooted in our perception filters, so when something bad is done, we tend to immediately punish, panic and retaliate or discipline and forget altogether how an Immortal or God would react, which perhaps might be infusing the "bad" guy with the most abundant healing, education, loving kindness, sweetness, prayers, therapy needed. ☺☺☺

Since 1 trillion-year-old Immortals or Angels possibly treat ALL human beings like we treat 1-second old babies, with utmost tenderness and patience, it's very difficult for human consciousness to comprehend the level of tender softness and grace of these beings and their telepathy. We see how in Korea, they have so much focus on respect for those older by 1-3 years, showing how the old people totally disrespect the young (or even beat them for not using the correct pronouns and forms for talking to 'older guys'), assuming the biological age is the defining method for determining how much loving kindness one needs to express: but if we all may be much older than the body, then, obviously, one can't know who is older or wiser or both on a soul level, so then it seems more logical to use an eterni tone with all (no need of special pronouns or words), perhaps nicer tone with those who have made an effort to have a nicer emotional, verbal tone (same exact words intoned more lovingly, with all negative emotion removed) to amplify the positive vibes for the planet, since technically, we all like 3 minute old babies versus the Immortals, biologically, and even maybe soulwise. Older people need to be gentle and respectful too towards younger (by 2, 10 or 40 years), because the young imitate the tone of the old role models. Discovery and innovation that triples lifespan come from the young who question why the system is so cruel, psychopathic and full of war, and the young will take care of the old, and can bring World Peace in 3 months, provided the old generals don't impose via global terror the old way by force on the young; likewise, the young learns the things the old have discovered and how to discover new ones, so naturally, they need to be loving too, as old people become more like helpless babies (it was older than us folks who helped us while we were babies, they had compassion for us, we need have compassion, patience with them, they have turned into babies now) who can't quite understand anymore some things, like babies can't really understand complex math at age 1; their brains have shrunk tremendously (see pic)☺☺☺ due to aging and malnourishment via atherosclerosis and have become exceedingly incapable to produce extremely complex cognitive tasks or tones, to comprehend we can send a letter billions of times faster than 200 years ago via email and we can achieve peace in 3 months too, 1 billion times faster; some old people can still retain some cognition skills, but not much beyond the minimal needed to torture and beat the young to death 'for not showing respect and for wanting World Peace in 3 months'. From the vantage point of an Immortal who celebrated his 8 trillionth birthday, the differences between people's ethics, conduct are way smaller, just like for us the differences between the ethics, conduct of 3-second old babies are small and not worth panicking about: a 30 or 70 year old is still a 2-4 second old baby for an Immortal, not much of a difference, they both deserve the same gentleness.

We see a trillionth of a person compared to what a 100 trillion-year-old Immortal sees. *If a 1-*second old baby spills a cup of juice by accident, we're not going to punish the baby, but fill him/her with love and kisses. Now, what is the right action and behavior of humans, if a Trillion-year-old Immortal would also never punish a human who is a 1 second old baby in his perception, but instead follow the scriptural saying "Love and gently teach all unconditionally as a mother loves her infant child"? ☺☺☺ This is a very philosophical question with an infinity of trillions of possible answers. The nice thing about it, is that it may be true that if our Ethics would always be designed from the point of view of an Immortal, it would probably speed up the advent of a Civilization of Immortals by a possibly very big factor, maybe way above 10-20. From the vantage point of a billion trillion years old Immortal, our lives last 1 nanosecond, or a billionth of a second. This comparison is useful in trying to "wrap our minds" around the concept of the so-called infinity of knowledge of such an Immortal compared to human knowledge. Now, if our lives are a nanosecond and we make some mistake, what kind of Loving Sweet Intelligent Immortal would punish such short-lived nanosecond beings with billions of trillions of years of burning into hell? If we do a tiny mistake in real life like failing to get 800 at math or physics SAT 2 college admission test, are we going to be tortured for the rest of our life? Even human beings seem kinder than this version of a God sending people to hell forever. But some learning may occur (as the peaceful guy explains in Chapter 4.3) that could be interpreted as "a brief visit to hell". But again, we can't understand Infinity or God, so who knows, right? The afterlife may be octillions of times more complex than the human models which are a reflection of "nanosecond lifespan knowledge". ☺☺☺

If we try to teach a mouse about differential equations and quantum physics, we won't be able to, even if we try the best telepathy we can. The mice simply won't understand our language, communication, telepathy. Could it be, that in a similar way, if an Immortal living 5,000 years (50 times longer than humans) tries to communicate to human beings the structure of the afterlife or the real physics of the universe, he would not be able to explain that to ANY human being, via any method, because humans can't understand? What does that mean in terms of people saying "I talked to God and he told me x, y, z"? That if people talked to spirits or God they only understood a tiny fraction, infinitely smaller than what a mouse would understand from a Nobel laureate in differential equations related quantum physics. If people would think deeper about what this means about human knowledge about afterlife, ethics, physics, etc, it would make them realize how useless it is to lose one's tender gentle soft calm universal loving kindness healing nature, behavior or speech tone over some theology or interpretation of reality, when we know it's but an ultra-simplified version of a reality infinitely or trillions of times more complex. Say you ask a mouse a question from quantum physics. What does the mouse answer? Maybe some gibberish sounds. Say an Immortal asks a human a question about real physics or the afterlife. What does the human answer? Maybe something that is pure nonsense to the 5,000 year old Immortal, like a mouse sound appears to us.☺☺☺ These analogies show how limited and relative our knowledge about the universe might also be. Some people say they know "mice have no souls". OK, we live 50 times longer and we got a soul. Do 50 times longer living "Immortals" (of future humans) think humans have no souls, just because we live 50 times less? Probably not. What is the evolutionary path for the mouse soul, how do these souls evolve? Do they reincarnate into smarter bigger more complex higher lifeforms or remain mice forever? Albert Einstein and many Greek philosophers said "Question everything"; perhaps this questioning brings about an appreciation about the human incapacity to give a correct answer to many questions, which are more "gray area", like what is the ethics of this or that action, what happens in the afterlife? etc. We're talking about very young Immortals here, or beings, just 5,000 years old, with 4 digits in their age, imagine Immortals whose age has a trillion digits, not 4. How can the human even begin to understand the motives and ethics and management of the universes by such a trillion digit aged Immortal being who might oversee a few hundred universes, like our 11 digit number aged universe, and who is but a clueless baby soul compared to God or some much older Immortal? Would God or an Immortal supervising this universe punish a mouse with eternal burning in fire, because the mouse did not know the correct answer to a quantum physics question? Probably not. Similarly, if a human being can't know or comprehend the answer to a quantum physics like question about "good or evil" (is this action evil or good?), would God or an Immortal angel supervising afterlife transitions punish such a soul with eternal burning in fire? How can someone 10^{99} times more intelligent expect us to know what is good or evil, when to fully understand that one needs to be much smarter? This raises a lot of questions about forgiveness mercy compassion gentleness softness tenderness and the lack of those in our civilization and in our theologies that condemn to eternal hell souls who did a mistake in a nanosecond of their Immortal life. And it also makes some question everything related to afterlife hypotheses formulated so far, which may be far too simplistic.

When a person understands everything they say, believe, think is a relative approximation of ultra-gross nature and not the truth itself, they're filled with a humble soft gentle tender tone of speech, as all confidence becomes much weaker, enabling the person to learn more than the people yelling or uttering in great confidence in a loud voice or at the top of their lungs their hypotheses as if they're the ultimate truth. It's quite interesting to think about spending a billion trillion years with someone (your spouse for example) in different dimensions, getting to know them well. The more we ponder on the "infinite" ignorance of humans, the more filled with wonder we become. At first, people thought there were 5 elements: air, water, earth, wood, metal. Now we got 120, dozens of metals and on our way to getting thousands, later millions and far later maybe trillions of elements when we discover how complex elements are and how different they are, even when they seem the same. Now, if physical reality is so complex, why would spiritual reality offer only 2 choices, heaven or hell and be so simple? What if there are billions of paths and some may seem like "hell" while others may seem like "heaven" just like the dozens of metals in periodic table seem like old metal element and the nitrogen and oxygen and other gases of the periodic table seem like the old "air"? Now, our life on Earth is a nanosecond compared to our next billion trillion years in Heavens, so naturally, a question would emerge: will 2 happily married people really spend billions of trillions of years together after a nanosecond (100 years) encounter? Theology says yes, but what is the proof? Maybe they met before sometimes and spent eons together? We can question everything. ☺☺☺ Perhaps the two souls become one soul, so they're one forever, perhaps not. Or they were one soul to begin with before they even met, who knows, if pre-existing in other dimensions. Or maybe they were one soul before birth even in the hyper-universe as the globe of light with simultaneous parallel lives analogy of 2 or more people being actually same soul. But if the hyper-universe time is of a different value, with this universe time being like that of a video or second life, where we see a story of someone being a trillion years, but we don't actually take a trillion years to watch the movie. We see their trillion year life in a virtual universe which can still be 5 minutes in the hyper-universe time, and the choices in this virtual universe matter for that universe that is real in terms of educational insight, etc. If that is so, then when 2 people meet for a nanosecond or 90 years, it might be actually 1 hour in some dimension, but those people met before and are real actors in the hyper-universe who might have spent the equivalent of much longer than 90 years (a trillion?) before incarnating in the human virtual world. Everything becomes so warped if you think of time and trillions of years and multidimensional time, that actually a 90 year old human in this reality might be 5 year or 5 trillion year old in another reality, or even all humans might be. This is because there are infinite possibilities, of virtual realities within realities.☺☺☺

Furthermore, some people might feel better by imagining they shift to a universe where time has a different value, so in that universe 5 billion trillion years pass, a truly Immortal life of galaxy building and universe building and recycling, while in this universe just minutes pass. It's the imaginary way of attaining Immortality, but it does help as a thought exercise in appreciating the Immortal nature of the mind, and that of Immortality as a state of perception and mind. The more we think about it, the more we realize that we might already be able to transcend time on some level of our beings, perhaps this comes from the Immortal divine spark in us all. This inherent Immortality of soul has been conveyed to us theologically for eons, but the more one ponders on the virtual reality of this universe, the easier is to see how the expansion of God's

Ascending Immortality can occur rapidly within consciousness and lead to physical Immortality in this dream world or 5,000 years lifespan or longer. The self-reflective nature of Immortal soul perhaps brings the folding of time, and in the dream world the desire for long life shifts the dream world towards that, as we ponder on our essential nature: Immortal SOUL. The possibilities are endless and one of them is that this universe, 13.7 billion years old, is a video reality sort of created 4 weeks ago in hyper universe or when we live 100 years here, it's just 2 minutes there, and the real age of the universe is a perceptional construct, i.e. it appears so to further create the illusion of a super-real world for the purposes of enhancing the learning. Our real selves might have nothing to do with the roles played in this game called our virtual universe. This is a very simple possibility, but the reality could be far more complicated with many levels of reality within reality. But still this doesn't diminish the reality of the universe as a possible soul school and test. It just brings a much more complex series of possibilities for what is going on. Imagine if we would have molecular Immortality classes in all high schools and people would major in mitochondrial Immortality, cytosol Immortality, membrane Immortality, mRNA Immortality, RNA polymerase Immortality, long telomere Immortality, DNA Immortality (preventing DNA damage) thru subatomic repair, etc.☺☺☺

In real life, we make the news headlines when some guy does something bad, but we never broadcast how we're calling millions of viewers to send loving soft gentle tender rays of healing grace to the "bad guy" so everything heals and the bad becomes good, as God's loving grace surrounds him thru our prayers, intentions, positive vibes sent, maybe some healers give him massage, angelic music, a nice greeting card with holograms coming out of it singing joy songs, some vitamins or ω3 if needed (low ω3 leads to violence etc). Perhaps we could hypothesize that a perception that would open the window to the greater truth is that any bad guy is a 1 second old baby compared to an Immortal Angel, a baby who cries for love due to some discomfort (lack of love from fellow humans, this love being like breastmilk is for babies who cry for milk), and we have freedom to either send good healing energies and pray for those bad people or to move into fear and things related, threats, punishment, revenge, etc. If we move into negative emotions, it is harder for a miracle transformation of "1 second old baby crying for the milk of infinite loving compassion" into "1 second old baby smiling peacefully" to occur. Sometimes people are quick to punish and slow to send healing loving graceful energies of forgiving compassionate grace. And step by step, over a period of time, this retaliatory pattern escalates to war and violence of all sorts, even end of a species. ☺☺☺

How many times does a news agency in any nation say pray or surround in healing grace this "bad guy" who did this and that? How many people hear that people pray for them in a prison or have hands-on healing done on them after they commit some silly thing or etc? It doesn't happen, so not exercising empathy, remote healing telepathy, prayers, good vibe transmission becomes the norm, for both the bad guys and the good guys, making it harder to attain a world of harmony and nonviolence. We become infused with the righteousness (part of it is the historical habit, we copy what others did before) to punish while forgetting the hypothesis that God's nature is infinite tender soft forgiveness and love. So it's very difficult to gauge what loving kindness and compassionate gentle softness and what consequences are optimal in our mortal world if we were to implement some of these ultra-idealistic concepts in our ethics systems. My telepathy filters probably tend to be skewed towards "earthlings favor 'overwhelming force, minimal grace and IQ' and are too quick to punish, scapegoat and bury head in the sand, not deal with the issue", other people may have filters thinking that we're too soft in this world with the bad guys. Of course, nobody knows the truth, that's our human condition. But just thinking for a second about how Immortals perceive souls, makes me re-evaluate much of what I sometimes thought. I could be totally wrong of course. ☺☺☺

The risk in this quick punish and retaliate pattern is that the average baseline becomes void of the gentle tender softness we associate with a heavenly civilization of angels or angelic Immortals and peace is harder. Millions or even billions of people could pray for some dictator threatening to kill a lot of people or some guy having hostage one person and having 1 billion people pray for saving one person, and news agencies could broadcast these calls of sending healing energies to him, etc and in a few weeks, the whole planet, nation, town would manage to change his mind, yet we never try things like that. We could coordinate internationally to pray in such situations we develop a global empathy current and see we all deal with same issues. This shows media is sometimes more keen to sensationalism or passive reporting of the most negative stuff (which would be bad for humanity) than to being a tool for bringing very positive empathetic change in the world. This collective empathy (transmission of healing energies by local or international viewers to a person who is unstable and threatening to do bad things) would create a much more empathetic and telepathic civilization of gentle tender softness, forgiving nurturing healing compassion, etc. It would be a daily practice (since every day there is some guy doing bad stuff in the news) of telepathic remote healing that would enable everyone to become really good at it and to make our world a heavenly place, replacing anger with compassion, revengefulness with forgiveness, despair with hope in the daily emotional life of many people. This is a possibly true hypothesis: we're missing this incredible opportunity of modern communication to bring Heaven on Earth so much faster by reporting too much negative stuff, and too little positive stuff and practicing no telepathy remote healing, empathy, prayers, etc, when the evidence shows telepathic remote healing works especially in cases of more trained healers as explained in section 12.2. ☺☺☺

With more empathy healing telepathy remote vibes sent, the senders would be radically transformed (even more so than the receivers of one person's healing, but receivers would be transformed by millions sending healing of course too) and we would slowly move away from all violence and war and this telepathic empathic prayerful remote healing transmission would be used daily in the most simple incidents, like noticing some guy in check out lane being a little upset.... or a guy taking drugs or alcohol or smoking to ease his anger or frustration at something, etc. This global love-gentleness-tenderness-compassion would make alcohol-smoking-drugs addicts feel good inside and feel it is easier to quit, leading to 3-4 trillion dollars a year spent in health care, better housing and longevity instead of smoking, alcohol, drugs and then 2 trillion spent on longevity instead of war. The world would become a paradise of harmony and peace where everyone finds it impossible to ever be angry at others. If all of the hypotheses above are false, they're at least anger management techniques or positive thinking methods. Whenever someone upsets us, we can smilingly imagine they're a 1 second old baby and we're the tranquil anxiety free trillion years old Immortals loving all and smiling at adorable babies we hold in our laps or we imagine that the Immortal God light is hugging us or some trillion-year-old Immortal angel is holding us in their big hands the size of 30 feet (maybe palms are 5 feet), filling us with joy, love, and peace. ☺☺☺

Anxiety is the enemy of any consistent precision in telepathy, empathy, etc, so writing a little about diminishing anxiety via not knowing is possibly helpful in understanding an anxiety free Civilization of Immortals. Can we think like an Immortal and experience no anxiety over human world events or any human person or situation, approaching them in a tranquil state of mind? We could hypothesize that a quadrillion-year-old Immortal doesn't have any anxiety about any human action because humans don't know the "real world" nor can they damage anything in it. C. elegans, who live 2,000 times shorter than humans, are not really a source of anxiety for human beings, since their knowledge and abilities are so tiny, they can't damage anything really in the "real world" of humans unknown to the worms. Imagine how much less anxious Immortals would be about humans, if Immortals lived 2 billion times longer than humans, not 2,000 times, as an Immortal Civilization in an ascended universe so to speak, thus invisible to beings of this universe. Humans, like worms, can only affect the simulated or perceived universe they think as the "real world". This is one way to explain the scriptural "peace that surpasses all understanding", since God is much older than a quadrillion trillion years old Immortal. In ACIM or A Course In Miracles, they have this phrase reworded as "Nothing Real can be threatened, herein lies the peace of God". Remembering the Immortal Nature of the Soul, as a spark of the Eternal Immortal God, can thus help to diminish anxiety, fear, etc which rob us of the serenity needed to find wonderful solutions to human problems like disease, natural disasters, violence, etc. The more we realize we know nothing indeed, on a deep fundamental level of our being, not just intellectually, the less anxious we become when a worry about "something" emerges, "something" which is always infinitely more complex, less to be worried about and nuanced than it seems. It's strange to realize that all we know is a very rough approximation of the infinite complexity out there and that much of what we believe in will be proven false in 50,000 years. So paradoxically, the more humble a person is, the more doubtful he's about his beliefs and hypotheses, the less "panicky" he gets about random events. That's why being humble or aware of the fact we know little can be useful in daily life, not just some "virtue" that's nice to have. But it's very difficult to truly recall nothing is what it seems ☺ all the time, so practice alone probably will enable us to think in terms of infinite complexity or more like an Immortal and be less anxious about "trivial" things that seem so "big" to us, but trivial to Immortals.

In our short lives, with so many threats to our survival (like floods, earthquakes, animals chasing us, diseases chasing us, asteroids) anxiety has a role in ensuring survival and rushing out of danger zone. But as we overcome these threats to human survival, high anxiety will be useless for the species and evolution will drop it from our brain wiring, enabling us to perhaps develop our neocortex in a way that eliminates almost 99% of anxiety from the level it is at today, or 99.99% of it when and if we manage to reach 2,000 year or 9,000 year lifespans. Until that future, normally, anxiety will be hard-wired in us but still day dreaming about the future and working to bring it about, a future with no deaths from disease, aging, natural disasters or violence, can help to diminish anxiety and feel more smiley, cheerful, motivated about this amazing 1 million year project of building a better future for future generations who may live to be 90,000 years old in a million years. ☺☺☺ There are many individual trees known to be 2,000-9,500 years old in different areas of the world. Humans don't know if they will live to see next day, due to so many things humans hardly have any say about (hurricanes, etc), but in a physical or "parallel" universes civilization where everyone is living tens of millennia or millions of years in heavenly peace, such a worry/anxiety about "making it beyond next day or year or decade" is non-existent. Imagine we're born on a planet where nobody dies before age 500 or 50,000 and there is no violence or harmful intent/activity directed at anyone. Naturally, we're very relaxed, tranquil, able to research the most esoteric and outlandish things in telepathy, physics, other dimensions, ascending thru wormholes, etc and have nothing to worry about almost, nothing to be anxious about and everything to be happy and grateful about. Statistically, it is evident that trillions of such worlds can exist, but they may not all necessarily be in our dimension. Or imagine being a 50-year-old (a baby) in a world where everyone lives to be 4 billion years (no death ever occurs) before ascending to another dimensional universe (heaven in religion terms), there would be no anxiety about anyone ever trying to harm you, mistreat you, lie to you or about sudden death due to some natural disaster, but only peace, ease and bliss; in this hypothetical world, one has a seemingly infinite amount of time to explore this universe

(heaven) and learn a few basic things in preparation for the higher dimension (higher heaven) where lifespan is even longer, perhaps 1 trillion, as in an Ascending Immortality journey thru various dimensional heavens. After all, we're talking in spirituality about an Infinitely Loving God, so why not?☺☺☺ Because the soul possibly expands as it ascends immortally, given the complex structure of the universes, one could see how this Eternal Self could even occasionally send an infinitesimal part of self in a virtual universe where life is only 500 years old, if those folks are transitioning to something else in the grand structure. This makes it possible to dilate time a lot, to conceptualize how more traditional concepts such as Eternal Heaven and "reincarnation" are possible to be "true" at the same time.

Perhaps we could think about a mouse or worm who comes into a room that has 10,000 spheres of identical size, texture, weight and color. He looks at the balls or feels them, yet inside them might be styrofoam plus something different in the center, say chocolate, milk, cranberries, pumpkin, sunflower seeds, a tiny spherical computer or processor, some different oxides or chemical compounds, each different. To the mouse or worm, the spheres are identical, but we know each has something different in them, just as atoms of a certain chemical element isotope seem to us the same today but may not be so in the future when we discover new particles that bring 10,000 atom types of each chemical isotope known. If a mouse comes into a room, his understanding of the books, gadgets and everything in there is so limited; to him, they're just "natural" objects. Similarly, if we walk on a barren or habitable planet or inside an atom or proton or electron or lepton or quark, we see SOOO little, we can't even begin to comprehend the sheer immensity and complexity of those things and what it might have taken to guide the evolution of things to arrive at that configuration from multiple parallel universes. A computer took us centuries of science to develop, yet to a mouse, it is a box, like other metal boxes he might have seen that are ultra simple or empty. If we humans look at a human being, we don't see the spark of God, the Immortal Soul, the inside of that person, their soul history, their journeys before this life if any in other worlds or dimensions, their true nature in hyper universe and sub*universes*. But Immortals can see more. Just like mice, we see soooooo little of any human, perhaps a trillionth of what an Immortal sees. We visit a natural environment and we see some "random" things such as 80,000 years old trees in Utah or rocks, but can we know with 100% certainty that they're random or natural and not created by Immortals a million or quadrillion times older than human beings? We can't obviously know, and this makes us filled with a kind of awe or curiosity or desire to discover the truth, as it really is, not as it seems. For example, the earth seems flat, but it is not from a different vantage point, from space, it's a sphere. Similarly, a lot of things seem one way, but they're totally different. We're so much more intelligent than mice, and live only 30-50 times longer (they live 2-3 years), able to move or blow mountains with our inventions, terraform planets soon, etc. Imagine the intelligence and abilities of humans of the future who live 50 times longer than present humans. Imagine the intelligence and Big Bang creating abilities of beings who're 10 to the power of a trillion years old (their age has a trillion digits, not two like most of us or 11 for our baby universe). I mean we're not even talking about God, just young baby souls, compared to God, souls asked by God to create a little universe, ours, among a few quadrillion universes. The mind can't even begin to comprehend their intelligence. Imagine the joy, bliss, peace, ecstasy ☺☺☺ of someone who has lived 3 quadrillion years in a heaven, before ascending into another heaven. We can't even begin to comprehend the joy and freedom from anxiety of the Eternal Heaven. This makes us speculate how hilarious (comical☺, as we laugh when watching comedies) we might come across as to Immortals (or even to people who have been in heaven for only a few centuries or millennia) when we think "we know, we're aware of how the universe operates, so we can lose our tender gentle soft calm universal loving kindness thoughts, intents, behavior or speech tone over things which we can't prove at all". ☺☺☺

Another reason not knowing vanishes all anxiety and anger is this: we human beings can't know the truth about many things with absolute certainty, so often times, the things we think or have an opinion about being "right" or "true" or "ethical" will be proven to be wrong in 3,000 years. God and Immortals don't expect nano baby mortals to know everything, so they probably judge us by our intentions more, not by our thoughts (which can be influenced by spirits or media or others), emotions, actions as much. So, most likely, we're primarily responsible for our intent (how is our intent in reply to circumstances or telepathy diffusion?) response in a given environment, which is probably calculated probably in ways so complicated, we can't even begin to understand, to equalize the environment aspects; this means a good person born in a good environment may perform worse intent wise given the environment, than a bad person born in a bad environment, since the actions of "good and bad" are many times wholly or 99% influenced by environment, and much less by intent level (not thought, action level) response to life circumstances. We're not responsible for the karmic consequences of other people's actions, be them kids, spouses, relatives, coworkers, we're only responsible for our intent, and the intent choices that pertain to our free will. We may be clueless sometimes and not realize the intent is good, but the action is bad and is best avoided, but that is obviously much easier to fix and forgive so to speak and will probably influence much less the grade one gets in earth school, at the classroom level one may be enrolled at as. Thus, there is no point to ever get anxious or angry about anything someone does, because the truth will win in divine time. Moreover, every person has free will and their learning curve and it seems that very few ever change long-term without unwanted side effects because of an angry or anxious response from other people. What happens at times, is that some people are very used to forgetting other people's free will and try to convince them that this or that way is the best, and when it doesn't get easy to convince others of their "opinion being truth", they get maybe angry or anxious or fearful due to misunderstanding that the self, the soul, is not responsible for other people's souls free will choices. The soul is much subtler than our mental thoughts, which are highly influenced by the society, peers, friends. The way Immortals and God evaluate soul's responses is way more complex than the way humans look at humans. So, say if a close person wants to do something that we believe (rightly or wrongly, in view of future science) to be wrong; it is OK to live and let live because we can't even know if it's good or bad anyway; it makes no sense to get angry or anything negative emotionally as it's often a waste of energy for all involved. We can share our view if asked, but other than that, people are souls in evolution. Life is not about being right all the time, but about learning and respecting others' free will learning process, and doing our best to bring a better world given our limited understanding.

The good will prevail, even if even good people don't understand what good means well at times. Galileo's ideas and books were banned for 200 years by the Catholic Church, but in the end truth won though, Galileo won against millions.☺☺☺ This truth winning happened to many people of many other churches and organized institutions, the reason I brought Galileo up is that most people heard of him, some called him the father of physics. Many times, a person may be right, in one of their opinions, maybe they connected to the future a bit, via ESP; but if no human being listens to it or agrees with it, that is perfectly fine, because, like with Galileo, truth will win, everyone will know that opinion as a fact, if true indeed, if meant to be, and there is nothing to get upset about, as we're not responsible for others' choices. Therefore, there is nothing to ever get anxious or angry about, because all our ideas and good ones especially are astrally recorded, and will be spread via telepathy again by us (or others) from the spirit world, thru other people, as we're their spirit guides, if those ideas are really meant to become popular due to support from spirits (which we can also call Immortals), the spirits will make sure it will be so, as they did with solar power which took 150 years to become popular. The work of the anonymous most evolved spirits is probably subtle and not militantly fanatical, free of anger or anxiety, but more filled with the peace that passes all understanding of an Immortal that knows no anxiety. Thus, in this amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ realization, and remembrance, we become much better at anger/anxiety management, more peaceful, happy as a person, more smiley☺☺☺: imagine smiling about not knowing, how funny and hilarious life is indeed, we know NOTHING. God's Divine Plan, the Civilization of Immortals, or whatever we believe to be the future that is best to happen, will happen anyhow, regardless of what happens today to any person, country, circumstance or thing, and future humans will get to be telepathic "Immortals" living to 900 or more. Thus, there is no need to be angry, fearful or anxious about anything.

Low anxiety via positive subconscious images is another seemingly true hypothesis that goes like this: when we try to explain something to someone, as a math teacher maybe would explain it to another math teacher or a student to a student or a teacher to a student, the capacity of the taught person to understand is directly proportional with the subconscious mind love and like of the teacher (us for example). Even if the person, whom we want to explain some basic math to, likes us consciously, loves us consciously, his or her subconscious mind may do the opposite due to negative misunderstood experiences in the past or ongoing empathic-telepathic patterns, judgments, emotions of the teacher's subconscious mind, that unbeknown to the teacher trigger a negative image in the subconscious mind of the student, unbeknown to the student. This explains why sometimes when a teacher changes a little attitude or bad thinking or emotional habit, that was triggering a negative subconscious radiation from teacher to the student subconscious, without either of them knowing, the student grade improves from maybe D to A, from very bad or failing to the best grade. This is what spouses, coworkers, managers, teachers, politicians, etc everyone often forgets. Of course, when the conscious image of the teacher is bad, the learning becomes even worse than when the subconscious image alone is bad. So, then, we lower our anxiety when we realize that the reason some people don't understand certain things, at times, has nothing to do with them, but with us, the teacher, i.e., we can do something about it, we're not helpless. Other times, it may really be beyond the student's capacity to comprehend this lifetime. So, to reduce anxiety, we can have empathy, compassion, forgiveness for ourselves too, and not get angry at the fact our mistake has led to misunderstanding by the student, and try to behave like an angel, communicate a better conscious and subconscious image to the student, so he becomes a wonderful bringer of Heaven on Earth, unaffected by the bad things that happen in this world, an optimistic student with a love of math or whatever people try to teach. This can be very helpful for parents, spouses, etc to realize. Once the subconscious mind image of a teacher, parent, spouse, friend, etc is bad, it takes a lot of effort to fix it, because unlike the conscious mind which overrides using intellect, the subconscious imaging is more of an emotional average that is far less rational than the neocortex conscious thinking. That's why one is better off when avoiding things that might damage the image, as it takes a long time to fix the subconscious perception sometimes, even though other times, it happens very fast, as explained above. Like maybe the teacher would radiate anger towards student, thinking, "wow, this guy got a fail again, he needed to have done better"; this judgment lacking tenderness universal kindness and grace☺☺☺, this impatient emotional energy goes right into student's soul, brain and subconscious mind and triggers a very negative image creation of the teacher, often without either knowing. But when the teacher relaxes, accepts, is patient, universally loving, kind, sweet, like an angel, like an Immortal, then all of a sudden the negative feedback stops, the image becomes positive and grade becomes perfect. This is why we become less anxious if we try to be angels no matter what other people do; otherwise, students will never learn the most they could and the world will have a hard time to become the intelligent wise serene paradise we want it to become, a place of trust, peace, long lives, honesty and compassionate universal kindness. A student who likes his teacher can learn a lot of the unsaid stuff, via telepathy, this was proven in some studies; it may be true because they entrain and love each other, with a universal loving kind compassionate soft gentle altruistic love. Sometimes even the student may get angry because a parent at home did yell at them or something, and then at school be angry a little bit, and the teacher of math, picks that up due to telepathy diffusion (or empathy as it is often called) and the teacher subconscious mind gets angry because it misinterprets that the student is angry at the teacher not his parents. This anger leads to the formation of a negative image in the mind of the student, blocking the student from getting the best grades. We lower our anxiety when we have benign emotions always, benign behaviors, honest thoughts, words, in life, movies, comedy, jokes, sarcasm to avoid subconscious misinterpretation of human behaviors, which is acting independent of the conscious rational interpretation and has unintended consequences. ☺☺☺

Perhaps we can also lower anxiety via this trillion year old analogy: since every soul has within it a spark of the Immortal Lord of Ascending Immortality or God, we can realize the Immortal nature of our beings and that we're Immortal and that the divine spark in our souls will live for trillions to the power of trillions of eons, a number of years with an infinity of digits. Thus, anything that happens on Earth becomes like an infinitely small trillionth of a trillionth of... a nanosecond in our life, and not something to get too worked up about, or too anxious about, anything that any human does is not their full self, we only see a snapshot in time of that person or soul, not even a trillionth of a trillionth of a trillionth. So, this simple realization can be used to bring the eternal resplendent Brilliant cosmic magnificent marvelous indescribable Infinite JOY, Bliss of the Immortal God into our awareness and help us to overcome any negative fear, anxiety, anger, frustration, depression, etc. Thru this remembrance of "We are Immortal", we can more easily understand, as explained below, how thru the vantage point of the Eternal Heaven self (that which will become of us in Heaven, Eternal Now present future), an inner world in the hyper-universe structure, situated far away, so to speak, as if we would move galaxies away at high speed thru wormholes, not in outer space but inner space, dimensionally. We can also see the time relativity of all subuniverses and the second life projections of the self, as speculated below, the human self as a tiny aspect of self, while the idea of self becomes slightly different, since the self is an Immortal spark of the Creator. Then it becomes easier to build a world of 900 years old humans, or in some far future, maybe 90,000 years old humans. Additionally, for less anxiety and more joy, every single nanosecond, quadrillions of miracles happen at the electron, lepton, quark, boson level, in every single one, so in every human being, 10 to the power of a trillion miracles happen each second, just like in the coolest physics and chemistry miracles we see in high school that blow our minds. ☺☺☺

2.3. AFTERLIFE COULD be 10^{900} times more complex than all SCIENCES COMBINED since it could

deal with quadrillion infinities of dimensions

String theory says 10^{500} multiverses exist, they could be what some call “dimensions” or heavens. Some atheists/agnostics may not understand that a soul can exist in a pure physics sense, i.e. a being (self-organizing intelligence) that comes to exist and evolves just like a physical lifeform of an alien who then becomes Immortal over eons, randomly, not because of being created “like an AI by God or aliens who made human souls, this universe”. The soul wants World Peace in 3 months to preserve its immortality, or extend its lifespan as it were, so naturally it wants peace since wars lead to research projects under stress when tests can wipe out entire civilizations by mistake and hinder research into Immortality. The soul wants peace, since wars can lead to arms races that can lead to accidentally killing souls (well, that would be hard, but in the far long run). Thus, the soul will use all its powers to survive, i.e. to maintain peace, via peaceful ways. Perhaps, it has already happened, on another planet, a guy wrote a book like this one, and then after he died, in his astral body, he researched for 200 years and found how to create a little device☺☺☺ that once beamed into the mind of a living scientist from the most or a more peaceful country on the planet, it can dematerialize or turn into useless dust all nukes/weapons within 3000 miles of the planetary surface, without that scientist knowing it was done by his wind farm, TV tower, thus helping that planet to move towards 10^{90} year lifespans, helping his fans to bring || Immortality for All ||. Chapter 3.2 covers some of the techs *he can easily beam or can be used to beam into others' mi*nds to help them bring peace in minutes, as all missiles, satellites, tanks, airplanes, ships, etc stop working for all, except the Immortalists. This allows immortalists to win the war in 2 days using the methods of universal soft healing grace (no injury to anyone), so all surrender peacefully (a few pockets of resistance that the divine bliss doesn't inspire to work for peace, can meet the quantum device applied over a limited area to make changes to all humans in the area to enable surrender, no need to kill all instantly in a 700 mile radius area, even if possible with this tech, without affecting any other tree or plant or device). Thus, Peace arrives in days and all peace loving humans live in a world of freedom from war, as all enemies of peace are sent to a healing center (security, military folks who opposed Immortality for All, instant World Peace and 0 torture, 0 violent crime in 5 years), in a mega city, sealed from the world, as prisoners of war who're never tortured and allowed to live in peace, separated by gender, their kids separated by gender too, to avoid kids from the 'fallen DNA' (pathologically aggressive, found in all ethnic groups) that has caused enormous suffering and delays to peace for eons. This is the nice thing, with this tech, spirituality, longevity can finally develop, so we understand what afterlife is like better, free from the torture of war, dogmas shoved into our heads at gunpoint by "clergy" who're spies of military empires. Nobody needs to carry weapons or be violent, nor will they be able to, as no jails exist anymore (only healing centers one attends for 1+ weeks), as planet is defended by quantum weapons of space corps that once locating an alien attacking can wipe out the rest of the invading force if needed instantly, guns are useless against any space alien coming to Earth anyway, once they locate a human, they can kill us all instantly. God bless the 50f/50f cosmic realization of the chemical physics wonders of the Eternal Universal Peace. It's the astral call to imagine the happy gentle tender soft nurturing grace & universal loving kindness future. The physical chemist & chemical physicist cooperate to bring Immortality for All. Let all nations sing ""May all live to a trillion"☺☺☺ to happily bring Trillion year life for all.

A 1 second old baby is young, but a 96 year old man is 3 billion seconds old. In the physical world, we have therefore people who're 3 billion times older than others. What about in the "spiritual" world (a realm we don't see, could be actually physical too, a dimension)? Do some people on Earth of the same physical age, say 44, have soul ages that are 3 billion times smaller than others' soul age? The only way to scientifically and honestly prove someone has a soul that is 10 or 10 billion years old is to capture the picture of the soul and video tape the soul for 10 billion years, for a person who died, communicating with that soul too, to make sure it exists for that long. For millennia, manipulating parasitic dishonest people made wild claims about souls, and said their unproven claims are true or reality, without really having had any picture or evidence of the soul surviving physical death. These claims enabled them to take over continents and to become ultra rich, avoid work and live off as a parasitic aristocrat who is God's dispenser of eternal life in a heaven dimension. If we want to be an honest society, meaning one where nobody needs to steal or attack others, then obviously, we aim to live to a billion years old to be able to understand this "religion business" and to have time to measure in our lifetime a soul or at least to make only true statements for which we have a proof. We're all the one all that is, so we're Immortal in that sense, we don't need to lie. The natural appearance and evolution of soul, without creation, just like elements led to human beings, means that the soul of any past/present human, appearing randomly in infinity earlier, can actually be a trillion times older/younger than ours, just like a physical lifeform can be a trillion times longer lived: this makes it hard to judge anyone by their shell (body) or brain (controlled by others with gadgets): their soul could outlive ours by a trillion fold factor? This opens a pandora box: is not every soul immortal? I don't know, but if you think about the spirituality chapter tech that brings into the present the exact video of past events, it means that the very essence of a person, the best of them perhaps, if you want to bring the best, lives for a long time after death as a 'soul' sort of, a collection of informational fields, strings, etc, that can be brought to life even a billion years later with enough advanced tech; however, that soul may already be living and being more evolved now, even if disincarnate. The act of living creates these amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ thought-imprints that have an unknown physics nature, which are coalescing in groups, i.e. the very best of any person merge to create the 'immortal self' of that person that goes on to live until that 'imprint' may choose to, or may somehow float around and attach to a body, in something reminiscent of reincarnation, but perhaps different. Likewise, the 'worst' of a person can float around too (some may call that the hedonist earthbound spirit like energetic form that is short-lived, like the physical body is), but due to its negative, clueless and destructive thought it dies soon after. We emit a lot more particles and energies when we think and live, than we know of or can detect, so these things can create a self-organizing intelligence that survives physical death and will continue to flourish, independent of the 'junk' in our psyche emissions which are discarded upon death or die soon after (the brainwashing by spy agencies, all the negative experiences that are incompatible with the infinite bliss of the super optimistic Immortality centered imprint, etc), the stuff we find irrelevant in the continuation of our journey towards Immortality, Immortality being the longing of all imprints once self-aware upon death; this is how in the age of modern science the existence of souls and their evolution can be easily accepted as possible by people who don't believe at all in God, aliens, or afterlife in a classical sense of 'heaven, hell, simple linear reincarnation of one soul per body etc'.

This is how "angels" and "demons" can be defined too, for atheists, agnostics: imprints from former good angelic or bad mean violent sex addict people: brain prematter information fields, which may hover around locations for centuries, or millennia, or millions of years, unless one discovers the physics to clean the area up. This thought could help the fight between atheists, theists, agnostics to end. For example: when a chemical reaction happens in a flask, we only see the reactants becoming products in this present understanding, meaning we only see changes our science allows us to see. But that change, also can cause other changes, while other things remain the same: the flask, the etc. Likewise, when the chemical reaction of death happens (bacteria grow, due to heart stopping), we only see some changes. But the flask, the quantum information field, may remain for a while. For example: you have computers that produce a sound or some calculations that create a pattern in electronic and photon fields, so when computer dies, those patterns vanish, BUT, the patterns are still there since they influenced something much subtler that has an imprint of the recent photonic fields and anyone advanced can find out what happened in there, even what was spoken verbally, thought or typed on a computer millennia ago. You for example walked and left footprints in a recent concrete, but even if you died, the footprint is there. The real debate here is whether this field of "other particles" has any ability to actually continue to exist and influence human thought, due to inertia of self-organizing systems and particle groups to do the same thing, if it is easy to do it without the body's support. For example, we go swing in a place and then the swing can continue to swing for 40 years if a perfect design, so the same thing can happen with a quantum swing that carries the "tone of your thoughts" to living people after you died physically. When we make a sound, there are higher octaves that we don't hear. The sound influences other aspects of physical reality our science doesn't know, just like sound reshapes our cells, organs and can make plants produce twice the vitamin A, C, E. Likewise, these self-organizing "other aspects" of dead people can make "sounds" that influence the self-organizing aspects of living people, even after death of the body. This "electron" cloud is a soul. This may be living only 10 days or 10^{988} years, we simply don't know. This gives us peace, and explains why allegedly haunted locations may hold unbalanced quantum fields from former evil residents.

If we could telepathically write down the basic ultra simplified structure of afterlife (including aliens in all dimensions), it may take 1 trillion years of writing 40 words/minute 24-7 to describe the complexity, and because of that, it is easier to comprehend how so-called "opposing concepts" like "Eternal Heaven"☺ and "Reincarnation" can be true at the same time, especially when you read the following lines. If we ponder on what might be the architecture of the universe, that would require a higher level of complexity, let's say in a few centuries, physics and astral travelers agree that we can perceive about 1,000 mega universes, folded within the hyperuniverse. The ascensional and descensional harmonics are like when you throw a ball in a labyrinth and it can go via say 1,000 paths, and depending upon which path, it lands as it descends in a dimensional doorway where it decides what part or percentage of itself goes to descend and explore via "reincarnation" that parallel time dimensional system and associated parallel universes and sub*universes* (each subuniverse can have 1 billion virtual universes) within that mega universe domain. When each % finishes its journey thru each subuniverse and chooses the ascensional path, and the temporary joining of %s in their return to the original point in the hyperuniverse, we get the new synthesis of knowledge birthing the next mega universe with all its subuniverses and virtual universes. However many lavels of hyperuniverse exist, each with a different time value, i.e. 1 billion years in universe x is 2 years in universe z, making things extremely mind-blowingly complex. Time seems to have, in the perception of consciousness, different speeds in different dimensions so to speak, so we can have a lot of looping within all types of universes. A very simplistic analogy is this: we're in hyperuniverse and decide to play a video game in "second life" virtual universe # 590 of the subuniverse # 7,888,333 within the megauniverse # 789 of the 574th layer of the hyperuniverse. ☺☺☺ In subuniverse, if a part of our soul watches a movie from "second life" virtual universe # 590 or play a game in "second life", it may take 40 minutes, but in that 40 minutes, we may have seen 40 years of virtual universe # 590. When the % of soul in subuniverse # 7,888,333 lives its life and 40 minutes pass, only 2 seconds may pass in megauniverse 789, etc. These time relationships need not always be so, it can be very different depending on which universes we talk about. Because of the sheer amount of universes and possible combinations, there are octillions (10^{27}) of such time relationships each very unique.☺☺☺ have many alternate explanations: reading a book a long time ago, and forgetting about it and identifying with the character (happened many times), quantum entanglement of memories, random interference from ghosts who knew the person who died, someone living or a spirit sending images of a living family and saying mentally (hypnotic video rich suggestions "my mom was like this, these are not my siblings, my toys are in that cabinet, I used to go to that temple or be of that religion (common in cases of different religions for same soul) and I used to pray that way, etc" or "I traveled to this planet, this realm, I was this and that in that dimension prior to this life, an alien maybe on planet z") it's "the former family of suggestee" (or spirits that dwell inside or beside a person for a brief moment) leading to them recognizing former family members, objects hidden in certain locations, or behave like someone of a different religion, even if it's not a reincarnation in all or any cases. Why would anyone do that? For entertainment or manipulation? The reincarnation books have all kinds of seemingly to explain things, but there are always alternate explanations, even for birth marks that are genuine (not made up): spirits or perhaps astral body energetics causing maybe a little mark matching a little mark on the dead body (some cultures claim that these can carry over as a birth mark and some cases supposedly are genuine). I used to be very naive and believe many reports of reincarnation, but some people may seek to make money selling a book or not understand how their brain exactly came up with that or how easy is to be induced to believe that thoughts, decisions and images in our head come from spirits or us, when it can be even other living people. Because of so many possible explanations for a memory, it's very difficult to say when it's real. Not to mention, reality is SO COMPLEX, not everyone may live more than once on Earth, and if they do it doesn't mean that they would recall it all the time accurately. There may be trillions of similar systems where one can try to learn something similar (choosing kindness over cruelty, forgiveness over revenge, peace over war, nonviolence over violence, honesty over lies, prayer, scientific discoveries to extend wellbeing and lifespan, compassion for the world suffering instead of erotica and self-gratification, altruism over selfishness, etc) and graduate to a higher plane no longer needing returning to Earth-like systems. The soul is sometimes possibly projecting only 0.1% of itself in a human and the astral bodies, say 1 trillion, that interact with local dimensions, are not always visible or affected by Earth events or physical events or by beings in the lower subuniverses (mythology calls them fallen angels, bad aliens or inter-dimensional beings, or instigators to eternal human-human war and violence against living beings) which can't see or interact with those lightbodies, hence fear vanishes. ☺☺☺

That's why the soul can be free from the influence of Earth events, to a much greater degree than we imagine, depending on what percentage incarnates, etc. Some people get very excited that their reincarnation is "real" sometimes because the personality of the previous hypothesized person matches the person recalling it or their past live matches current person memories or some details (accent) match perfectly, or some birth defect carries over or something. But since there are billions of people, if we have a large enough database, we're going to find 2-3 people whose "stories, likes, personalities, interests, facial features, body shape" appear to be the same person, or even more people, and call it "multiple reincarnation at once". Rather than focusing on the past or parallel lives, we can focus on creating a kind gentle loving energy in the present moment, this life. Likewise, memories of heaven or soul travel to the "eternal heaven" we "all go to for a one way trip, with no complexity at all, no subuniverses, no previous spiritual existence, virtual reality systems" or even with "complexity, subuniverses, etc" are subject to manipulation, distortion via confirmation bias, hypnosis, mixing of brain perceptions. UCLA scientists were able to make snails remember something that never happened to them, by using RNA to transfer memory from one snail to another ► eNeuro. So, are "past lives" sometimes things that never happened to people, yet the memories transfer in some weird quantum entanglement way or are implanted by spy agencies using brain gadgets?

We can think about the years it takes to prepare for applying to the best universities to spend 4 years there, so a natural question arises, for preparing for Immortality, or living trillions of years (Immortals who live trillions of years in that local Heaven, not Immortals who live to 4,000 or 500,000 years in that local heaven) in another dimension, would 80 years of a human life be enough if it takes 12 years to prepare for being admitted to a 4 year university, 12 years of learning in primary, middle and high school? Or would trillions of years of preparation in other dimensions be required, in a journey of Ascending Immortality☺☺☺ to ascend to the dimension where Immortals live trillions of years in that local Heaven, not to the Heaven dimension where Immortals live 10,000 years or a million years before ascending to another one? This is a very simplistic linear time on Earth comparative explanation, not exactly describing the time properties, in relation to the central hyperuniverse, of those Immortals' dimensions or Heavens. One can see that even from this linear dimensional time shifted point of view, it seems illogical that the afterlife is one simple "journey into and of Immortality with newbies accessing the same realms as the old locals of that dimension", in that the evolution of the soul would continue, its testing and its progression thru different subdimensions, where one can be Immortal, but doesn't live forever because one will want to ascend to yet another more amazing Heaven by becoming more Godly. Or, as it were in a time warped explanation, we can see that the afterlife and what happens in the time shifted temporary subuniverse one's soul is located, could be far more complicated than the present popular theories, which are fine, because after all these "afterlife dynamics" details probably don't matter as much as the actual contribution to a world of Immortals one does in a virtual universe. What seems more important is just that it could be almost very hard, if not impossible, to prove one hypothesis over the other, given how little we know. Because of this, one can see how in linear this dimensional time, spread over many parallel realities that the soul projects into, it can take a billion years to train to live into a hyperuniverse subuniverse for 250 million years, from which one can ascend, after more billions of years of training, into another subuniverse where average lifespan is not 250 million years, but maybe 50 billion years. This billion years can be many things, depending on the structure of local subuniverse and how it furthers soul evolution. One of the things this billion years can be thought of as is that if you add equivalent virtual reality projections timespans, that the soul projects into, say 5,000 soul projections (some may call them "reincarnations", but the word is not accurate), each living 100 years or sometimes 500 or 20,000, they can add to 1 billion years relativistically with respect to Earth time, but in central hyperuniverse time, it's much less, and the time in the mega universe subuniverse is different than central hyperuniverse time.

The impression certain concepts make is that Immortality is something ultra simple, you live 80 years and accept God and that's it. ☺☺☺ But what happens in life when someone wins a lottery of $500 million? They don't maybe appreciate it and they will waste the money fast and maybe lose most of it. If something is not earned, thru thousands or billions of years of learning and efforts in building Civilizations of Immortals in many virtual reality systems, if something is not aimed for, it becomes much harder to appreciate it and if Immortality would happen in a system, it would be squandered so fast by newbies, as newbies have not gained the knowledge to sustain Immortality, in the same way that if one 4 year old is hired as nuclear power plant safety officer, disasters will happen as the 4 year old has no clue what to do. Similarly, in a given dimension of Immortals, to maintain the high Immortality knowledge applications, parameters and values that sustain the dimension, it's requiring some knowledge and training and any newbie would have to go thru a lot of training to be admitted into the full world of those happy ☺☺☺ Immortals, being first more restricted to the newbies area, the "baby souls" who need 3 million years to learn the operating ways of the Immortals of that dimension. If one serial killer is raptured into some Immortal heaven suddenly, he will be unhappy as he wants to kill people, torture them and beat them. In the same way, if one who has always worked for less lofty goals (but was much better than a killer), when he's in a world of Immortals, he will be very very unhappy, so a few buffer dimensions, virtual reality systems projections or purgatorial systems (if we were to use a religious term) would be more appropriate or logical. So one can see how, while many simplistic concepts of afterlife are accurate in a relative way, they're trying to simplify what is most likely something far more complex. ☺☺☺

What would be the purpose of living 1 billion or 1 trillion years in a simulated virtual universe, say as some being made of particles that switch dimensions and can withstand millions of degrees inside a star? Once again, the purpose could be the training for Immortality and taking care of a universe, sustaining Immortality and the Civilization of Immortals. So, when people often talk about ascension into a body that lives forever, maybe, it includes the possibility of the projected part of soul in the subuniverse ascending into a bidimensional virtual reality universe body (switching between virtual universe A and virtual universe B) for the purposes of learning to sustain Immortality and taking care of a dimension and universe. Given that some Immortals may have an age that is a number with a quadrillion digits, instead of 11 digits for our 13.7 billion year old universe, one can see that the simulation can have quite an educational effect on the subuniverse greater selves and associated hyperuniverse journey, similar to us taking a 1 hour class in some subject or skill. Atheists ask what happens with the soul of the babies born and dying at a few weeks or months old or at birth (stillborn)? What was the purpose of their life? There are many ways to explain this, one being that the soul simply has many more opportunities to learn than one human existence in one virtual universe. As explained above, the Eternal Heaven Immortal heaven self can project 30 parts of itself in 30 virtual universes, learning something and the projected soul part on Earth may be visiting and staying in the body less, having a try at witnessing this experience, even if the soul knows the life will be only a few months or years and that only 0.1% of his soul is involved in this simulated reality, it is the evolution of the simulated collective "Increasing Lifespan and Birthing Immortality" reality the soul projection assists, evolution which is creating future opportunities for others to learn (even if one doesn't send another self projection in that virtual universe) as the civilization progresses. How can a stillborn or short life (say someone dies of flu before they're even 30 or 40 years old) life assist? People play fewer sports and invest more in science to understand why various diseases happen, so instead of bullfighting, super fast sports cars contests, gambling or whatever we had more longevity related science and we reduced mortality from many diseases 10-500 times. When someone is stillborn or dies early (before normal old age), their relatives may invest more in science, less in bullfighting, etc and they shift the simulated reality towards Immortality enhancing the evolution and learning of other souls projecting in that virtual universe. To many it might seem utterly nonsensical that God created a soul at conception, as some hypothesize, to have that person carry water or food on their head 3 hours one way daily. Think about how bad the lives of people were before modern conveniences. But if the self is a being who is projected in 20 or 900 realities with different percentages of self and learns from all avatars of "The Immortal hyperuniverse self"☺☺☺ or "Immortality", or AIs, in those simulated realities and contributes to those virtual universes evolution, the Logic of God creating souls living these "bad lives" is far easier to accept by atheists, and they can then see that the nonsensical may actually make sense, since the soul may not be even created at conception, but in a different time, in subuniverse and hyperuniverse time, and even earth time, maybe a long time ago. Because today with AI we have a different understanding of consciousness and it's easier to conceptualize things that explain one possible reason why the "nonsense" happens.

People sometimes ask "If God exists, why does this happen, how can this cruel thing happen or

this least intelligent thing happen?". This is one answer, out of 5 billion trillion possible answers. Ultimately, the projected self could have chosen for the subuniverse or hyperuniverse self, to always make the projected self in a virtual reality question everything "locals" (nobody is local, they're all projections, they appear local) of that virtual universe believe, and then they may ask so many questions that it will be harder for them to be very religious and shift more towards spiritual or agnostic, as they doubt everything they believe in almost.☺☺☺ This questioning and considering alternate scenarios would then lead to a new awareness for subuniverse and hyperuniverse self in terms of effects on Immortality enhancing in a virtual universe, and even for other projected self parts who learn from the unique experience of this projected self. And no matter how hard one may try to explain God exists or could exist, some may never be fully convinced in their short life in a virtual universe. Ultimately, since the soul may be wholly different than our beliefs and mind, as explained above, it's probably not the end of the world if one's beliefs may sound a little strange, since that soul projection has possibly chosen to develop new perceptions more often perhaps. We have so many assumptions about so many things, that are so unquestioned, that obviously, we don't have the time to dissect every belief we have. Here is a question someone like that (who questions everything) would ask: what if all humans on Earth are soul projections of the same one oversoul projected in 7,000 planets, learning how to build a universe? We have billions of structures, cell types, molecules, DNA short sequences, etc in the human body avatar, why would the soul not have billions of projections or levels to its tree of life as it ascends thru the subuniverse structures reaching to the hyper-universe? Why would a person believing this (could be possible in the hyper complex structure of the universe) have any harmful intent towards any human being? If God would provide enough proof that God exists to all soul projections, it would reduce the amount of learning possible, so it may actually make sense for God to perfectly hide so to speak from many people. The behavior of people in the absence of God (the First Immortal), afterlife or soul (and the belief in such) is far more revealing to God about the nature of future behavior in other universes. As such, God may not want to fully reveal divine Presence to everyone on purpose. What is interesting is that in subuniverse time, the age of the soul of a human projection (0.1% of that soul) could be much longer than the age of the soul of a 1 billion year old star being of this virtual universe projection living inside a star, like a member of a Civilization of Immortals who have ascended into a solar body so to speak, the bidimensional one mentioned above, the shimmering shapeshifting energy body as in Star Trek. Now, if you could expand and shrink virtual universe time, you could in theory be able to go 10 billion light years away way faster than light. The soul who projected into the human could have sent a part of itself to change back quark properties thru a new Civilization of Immortals, as explained below:☺☺☺

What if some souls, (as part of their evolutionary attempt to explore what if?) changed the quarks to make ascending out of this universe superstructure (several levels of virtual reality) harder and the task at hand might be to find out what they did? Perhaps we find out when we travel to the subuniverse whose quarks can't be changed, to download true info. When I say a virtual universe I mean the physical and certain astral counterparts. Things get a little more complex when we start thinking deeper. The Matrix we live in may be part of something far more entangled and complex. What if our smallest particles, that we haven't even discovered yet, run on a program, a software ('laws of physics') that is being upgraded periodically, without us knowing how, due to the limited understanding of the complex array of dimensional links between this universe and the other virtual universes and the hyper-universe? ☺☺☺

Time shifted space shifted projections of self from subuniverse and hyperuniverse

If the stuff above were not complicated enough, we can now imagine another set of complexity added to this. Normally, we think of bacteria as little creatures with a simple structure, very primitive, etc. However, this is probably only true from the human vantage point, because we have only discovered 120 elements and can't see the millions of types of each atom of the future periodic table, due to small undetectable (today) subatomic particles, that render each molecule of water, guanine, adenine, food as slightly unique and different, and potentially able to be distinguished by the bacteria as such, molecules potentially able to store as much information as the biggest supercomputer today, enabling us to live to age 80,000 easily feeding on energy, without needing to eat, probably using subatomic particles tech, unknown today, to keep us young. When we think of bacteria, we don't think of them as having advanced universities, cultures, religions, philosophies, cell phones, etc. However, to our tech, molecules of some type will always appear identical, while to bacteria, they may appear unique and different than other molecules, possibly acting as a "cell phone equivalent". This woudn't be the pheromone chemicals we're familiar with, but a much subtler subatomic based communication. Ants leave traces of some chemicals and then use that to help others find the food source. This subatomic particles communication is something undetectable to our tech, just like a cell phone of ours may appear as some random matter to a being the size of our planet or bigger when they look at us (little bacteria to them) on their microscopes. For example, it could be the case that the planet we're on is the organ of a sentient being or maybe have 10 big beings of some sort living on or in it, and that when we do some damage as with star wars of the future that may blow planets up or even thermonuclear explosions or some sort of harmless to us pollution, we behave like flesh eating bacteria, that destroy these creatures, which then, take precautionary measures, as we do in case of bacterial infections. If God created these beings, we might have to be a little careful if we want to reach ages of 1 billion years, not only because of the risk of self-destruction of our species via war. We're careful when a lion is nearby and avoid making him angry or see us. This doesn't prove that God exists or doesn't exist, it just adds another layer of complexity to the idea of the oversoul sending projections of itself in different realities. These realities don't necessarily all have to be human, they could be other lifeforms, unknown to us, made of subatomic particles unknown to us, or even things known to us, like bacteria, quasars, stars, etc. As one can see from the relativistic time shifted virtual universe projections, they very much resemble in a way the relativism of time that the life of a bacteria or star have with respect to a human life time span of 80 years.

We think sometimes in very simplistic terms, very "Earth is the center of the universe, humans are the center of the universe" ways, that pertain to our time and size. But in relativistic space and time, one can see that just as Earth was not the center of the Universe, as Galileo and others found out, the human being may not be the center of the Universe. This then leads to a new question: what is the center, what is the formless sea of consciousness of God pervading universes like, does it have a center, what is the role of the human stage in the grand scheme of consciousness evolution and God exploring its infinite Eternity? But what if, when we find out our real self, thru science in the far future, this question doesn't make any sense anymore, as we're able to live as an 80,000 or 500 million year old shimmering shapeshifting formless energy ☺☺☺ being human simulataneously in many lifeforms and time shifted universes and get a sense of this ultra-complex evolution of the Immortal self, as it tries to understand Immortality and building a new Immortal universe. After all, in the subuniverse, or hyperuniverse, it could be that the beings there are of "human size and appearance in their most shapeshifted into form" so to speak and they have created a range of time shifted and size shifted universes and lifeforms, virtual ones, for the educational purposes of learning how to built a new subuniverse or megauniverse. Normally people joke that some people have the same soul, being 5 parallel incarnations of the same souls in 5 people, but imagine if you could be in many lifeforms, some the size of a star, others the size of a bacteria at the same time. We normally think of a "Messiah" as being a human being like, but what if it can also take the form of a tiny bacteria that causes such a revolution in human understanding of lifespan, that it will propel people to reach 50,000 years lifespan and shift to another universe and live there a few trillion years? The oversoul of a bacteria or star could be a "Messiah". What if a "Messiah" can incarnate as a star that explodes that prompts the greatest scientific revolution due to its effects on Earth? See, the more we question things, the more complex everything becomes, and it doesn't mean God doesn't exist, it's just slightly different than maybe what a religion book from 1,000 years ago would say. The fact humans are not the center of universe will propel our faster evolution towards human being 2.0, 5.0, like the cell phone releases, as we evolve to live longer and defy the constraints of our first forms.☺☺☺

Even if someone would be the most atheistic person (some atheists believe in afterlife or even reincarnation) who doesn't believe in afterlife, souls, spirits, and believes we're a bunch of strings, quarks, neutrons, protons, whatever, ultimately, if you look scientifically at reality in its whole nature, the essence of every human being lives forever still and is still Immortal, due to the very laws of physics, even if that which is Immortal isn't the biological human. Why? All is connected at the most fundamental level and that one "All That Is" set of strings, particles, laws, consciousness, etc connecting everything as one energy lives forever, energy lives forever. In that sense, even atheists would have all the reasons to be ultra joyous and to join the theists in bringing the Kingdom of Immortality on Earth and whatever planets we terraform, the realm of the Immortals. Immortality is the coolest thing there is, the first property of God (or All that Is in its Entirety) so to speak that we can't emulate that comes to mind. What some people don't realize sometimes, even when they're atheist or theist believing in reincarnation, is that the Eternal Heaven of Immortality self can be enjoying itself in Heaven forever, while only a tiny part of itself projects in a second life, time-shifted universe, as in reincarnation. So, we may be Immortal in that sense, since "the greatest part of our being" is actually in Eternal Bliss and only probably partially bilocated so to speak or multilocated if projected from the globe of the soul via multiple "second life" time subuniverses and dimensions. But the projected self can naturally return for brief moments in "time" 24-7 to the Oversoul, of the Eternal Heaven Self, beyond the matrix of our relativistic time and experience the infinite joy of Immortality, which lives in a different time than Earth time. It's kind of weird to think that we can experience the future in the present, but the future has already happened in another time-shifted dimension. Because of the sheer complexity of time shifts among universes, hyper universes and subuniverses and associated virtual reality universes, it can be at times a little hard to conceptualize or understand how this can be, how we can be in the ☺☺Eternal Heaven☺☺ forever already and we're simply extending Immortality and expanding it in this virtual second life universe. We say "Our Father Mother God, who're in Heaven, Thy Immortality Kingdom Come, Thy Immortal Will be Done, ☺ on Earth as it is in Immortality Heaven." ☺☺☺ Heaven is Immortality, so naturally, to bring the Kingdom of God on Earth is to Bring Immortality, the kingdom of Immortals who have defeated death from aging, disease, violence, natural disasters. As we repeat this prayer, we remember the true meaning of Heaven which is Immortality. This will speed up the Advent of "Immortality" in our virtual temporal universe. ☺☺☺

Perhaps, as humans can predict weather 2 minutes ahead of time perfectly, so can Immortals can predict human events to a T, to great detail, 200 years ahead of time and share such future in bits with people if helpful for their life purpose. We can conceptualize human universe as a simulated 2nd life, a movie sort of, where the soul takes on an avatar of soul's Immortality (avatar of soul, soul is Immortality, the avatar is not real, but a simulation of Immortality) role, or in short an AI (avatar of Immortality), like a second life avatar, the human appearance. The Immortals know the movie ending, but the learning of the soul is its reactions to the lessons the movie presented, i.e. the soul is very different than the thoughts, actions, words we perceive to be "ours" but wholly or mostly determined by the movie itself, the environment and the preset parameters of our genes, which are controlled from subuniverse, megauniverse, hyperuniverse to enact certain response and movie outcomes and elicit a consciousness response for the evolution of souls who interact via avatars in that virtual universe. In that case, the future has already occurred, and Immortals, and possibly our Immortal hyper-universe self even, the eternal self we will become, which is outside of movie time, know the movie ending, know everything about the future. This raises the possibility that of course, the reality is far more complex than this simplistic analogy, so complex, that it is beyond the head of human math and physics to comprehend at this time in history. And so, we remain in this very interesting NOT KNOWING dilemma, about what it is the "soul" and "free will" and etc. We live under the great impression that we do a lot of choices we make, but it's interesting that we don't know how much we, spirits, environment had to do with any choice made and we will never know, how this simulated universe of ours is set up and what is the variability in free will for human souls, if existing and not everyone has the same degree of free will exertion capacity in the context of a fluid movie, with only certain outcomes being set, but not all outcomes, Immortals knowing the fixed outcomes and being open to any outcomes from some other less important to the design movie endings. It's evident that these are simplistic words, analogies to explain something far more complex, but for the purposes of making it short and easily understood, these 2 analogies of fixed and semi-fixed outcomes of a simulated universe movie, as second life within a structure of subuniverses, each within other simulations would suffice.

Reality is probably so complex, even if we wrote 50,000 pages about this simulation, it will be wholly childish and incomplete, almost inaccurate, even if far more accurate than this paragraph random speculation or kindergarten hypothesis so to speak. ☺☺☺ The simulation is obviously designed to be impossible to figure out, so as to enable the student to learn, because if we were to understand it, it would be the equivalent of a student being given the answers and failing to learn to arrive at the answer. Like a math answer is 4, one could cheat and see 4 on teacher paper, or do the calculation, learn to do it and get 4. So, probably, no matter how hard we ever try to figure out, we may never get it really as it is with respect to our own life construct within the grand movie (every soul having a different "math problem" to answer), or maybe only 1 out of millions of people who has already figured answer is 4 and then sees the simulation construct on the condition that it is kept secret from other students in the classroom to avoid interfering with their learning or helping them to figure out (by shortcut, not by actual learning, as the student who sees answer is 4 on teacher paper) their simulation construct by making analogy to someone else's simulation construct, in the sense that the movie is an ultra sophisticated simulation made of many individual simulations that interact, like some holographic wave guides creating interference patterns. For example, we have the double slit experiment of electrons behaving as particles if we observe them, and as waves, interfering waves, if we don't observe them. If one were to observe the simulation of the interfering individual simulation wave guides, one might collapse the wave function, and then see the answer, without actually learning what is meant to learn. This experiment is an analogy for when people say that we create our own simulation outcomes by collapsing the wave function via observing the future timeline as if it already occurred, as people do when visualizing an event occurring before it occurs and taking steps to activate that timeline. The question of how timelines work and what effect soul has on bending time and what soul is, within the flexibility of global and individual simulations, so as to arrive at one timeline, if that were even possible outside of a human illusion in perception, is a question that has always fascinated people; yet, there will be trillions of answers to such questions. ☺☺☺

This dual particle-wave nature is confusing, but we know human emit photons, via bioluminiscence and other unknown particles and it's possible we looking at it simply causes a jet of unknown particles to come out of the eye and change the outcome: it doesn't necessarily mean "we, souls, create reality" as some claim, it can be a much simpler physics explanation that our stone age science didn't get yet. That's why a lot of this "randomness" stuff may be false. It appears random to us, but it's not. Mice have 8 times lower visual acuity and only see well from 1-2 ft, so imagine, the world in their view is just so much less than for us, we are like mice, clueless of how complex physics and reality is. The complexity of this makes many filled with a very freeing joy, since no evil human will ever figure it out. Not that figuring out this simulation will ever accomplish anything, since it would be all tightly held within other subuniverses with far more complex simulations that are way harder to understand. Yet, the "evil" and "good" are abstract concepts, given that it might be a simulated movie and then the environment can cause, via spirits and people, 99.99% of choices we make. So our goodness and evilness then becomes invisible, as it's that 0.01% part the soul really chose, part which is hard to see, if not VERY HARD or beyond human capacity anyway. The fact such a possibility exists raises a whole pandora box of other questions about ethics. We live under a strong illusion that we make our choices 100%, but often times it is brain gadgets or the strong pre-simulation set genetics (wormhole descent of soul carries information on what simulation genetics to turn on for movie individual simulation parameter setting) and spirit guide assigning via holographic relay from hyperuniverse that prompt us to make certain decisions (not controllable via gadgets), which we confuse with our "soul", when the soul is actually something altogether different and much subtler. This is what we may never know as humans. Because of this, it often becomes hard to judge what a person did: was it preset to occur or was it result of simulation room for flexibility, the non-set part of the simulation or movie if any is non-set and the soul does more than just watches and learns by watching soul instruments react to life as we watch a movie, in a way of watching that we can't understand the use of and learning of, "watching" being a simple analogy for something far more complex?

Additionally, another layer of complexity is added to this when the soul projects only 0.1% of itself in a physical body so to speak, while having a filter to only experience and learn from 4 weeks out of an 80 year life simulation (maybe the most amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ spiritual experiences only, or astral travels). Since the life has already played out in the subuniverse, megauniverse or hyperuniverse (the spirit guides have set the experiences, unknown fully to the learning soul), the soul could choose a part of it to have an effect on its consciousness, so even in a very bad life of someone, there could be 4 amazing weeks of really mind blowing discoveries and learning. Because of that, a noble soul can incarnate in a bad life and to an outsider, all they would see is a "bad person", even if the soul inside the "bad person" is actually much nobler overall (based on overall history in all time shifted realities), than a saint on that planet or the outsider judging the mind-body as bad. Because of that, we realize that we don't know. We don't even know how the human body works, so we can't make it live to 500 even. How can we assume we know how the soul works, what is its operating procedure? We have these ultra complex physics, chemistry theories of the universe or our body with trillions of millions of chemical reactions a second, yet we have these ultra simple models of afterlife. Questioning everything then removes all fear, because what we fear the most might not be true at all. This questioning or not knowing also makes World Peace much easier to achieve, since we realize we might all be clueless and fight over nothing important. As each time shifted virtual universe teaches the soul about Immortality, it becomes easier to one day complete the lessons for gaining Immortality in an universe, but obviously it may not require necessarily more than 1 incarnation as an earthling. This wouldn't stop the soul from projecting in virtual realities 0.01% of itself, even after reaching Immortality, to learn new things about Immortality.

There are infinite possibilities. The oversoul or hyperuniverse self, the size of our solar system, could send tiny bits, trillions of them, of itself into virtual reality systems we call galaxies, star systems and universes, in tiny miniaturized versions of self, quadrillions times smaller, the size of a human being to speed up learning in a smaller space (all Earth humans could be from same oversoul, same soul family). The interesting thing is that one of the largest stars known to us is VY Canis Majoris with a diameter of 1.2 billion miles. Earth's diameter is just 7,800 miles, while Sun's diameter is only 0.86 million miles. 670 trillion Earths can fit inside Canis Majoris, since volume is proportional to the cube of the radius, $V=(4/3)\pi r^3$. Pluto is 3.7 billion miles from the Sun. In another dimension, a much bigger star, quadrillions of times bigger than Canis can be the place where Immortals the size of our solar system dwell. We often are gripped with fear about what might happen if we're honest about our beliefs or hypotheses. If Galileo and others like him were afraid to speak to avoid sounding low IQ or crazy, we might be a little more primitive today, using 18th century tech. What would this hyperuniverse self think of the actions of the human self? If “aliens” or hyperuniverse selves the size of a galaxy exist, what would they think of humans or our civilization? We would be smaller compared to them than bacteria are compared to us. How important is food color, flavor, etc versus its triple lifespan giving potential, so we can understand the universe more? What is really important in life? Playing sports? Eating tasty foods? Watching TV? Fighting? Sex? Money? Living to 900? Science?☺☺☺

The book's 1st science paragraph deals with science papers & free anonymous Tor access to them. For highest security, use Brave browser or even Tor, which has total anonymity via flexible IP, unlike Brave, but zero translation (unless using some extension that diminishes security). Brave blocks all cookies, ads (thus Brave is the fastest browser, way faster than Tor; Brave Tor mode is slower/less secure than Tor) and cookie requests (many sites don't let you use theirs unless you accept all cookies) you get with the main browsers, while you can still translate into English content from 200 languages (right click, select "translate into English"). Block Google Widevine, as you don't need it on Brave to see most stuff and it slows Brave. PubMed is world's largest collection of health related abstracts and PMC is world's largest collection of free papers. However, there is something that shows us when 250 years of Republicanism have done to USA: they made everyone of a stupidity beyond description, since intead of one strong government of 11 companies 3 agencies, we have 20000 governments and 1 million agencies, in every town, village and etc. The Re-pub-licans say "limited government", so they destroy everything in the path of maximum fraud by aristocrats they place in charge of USA. For example, USA is the laughing stock of the world, of an IQ for these "heads of NIH" lower than that of a 13 year old who knows some basic math. In our society, which should prioritize efficient use of data, websites, papers, NIH scientists chose these formats: for PubMed pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/24992682/, for PMC pmc.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/articles/PMC4081000/. If longevity is the most important thing, why can't this database be at i.i (US owns the Internet naming anyway), i for immortality. i.i is a whole lot shorter than pubmed.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov. Then instead of 8 digits, you can have a combo of characters and numbers, because, as 7th graders know, the permutation where order matters and repetition is allowed is n^r, so if you have 10 digits and can write them in any order and repeat any, you get 10^8, or 100,000,000 papers, as we know, because from 00,000,000 to 99,999,999 there are 100,000,000 numbers. Thus, if we had a government if people with any IQ, past 7th grade level of intelligence, which is the Republican Party Level of Bible IQ and Ethics, we would choose the Eterni Alphabet of Phonetic English (33+ characters, not 26) or existing one (26 characters plus 10 digits = 36) to get 3,656,158.4 billion or 36^{10}, instead of 0.1 billion or 10^8. This is 36,561,584 times (37 million) more papers indexed by as address far shorter. 3656 trillion papers not 100 million. Immortalists are only 37 million times smarter than the current Reps and Dems??? Who needs doi.org if we end all nations and have 11 companies on Earth only? Who needs.gov when there are only one set of 11 companies on Earth?? 1. food.i, 2. move.i, 3. home.i, 4. bank.i, 5. i.i, 6. peace.i, 7. use.i 8. beauty.i 9. toy.i 10. fun.i 11. cloth.i and 3 agencies: ina.i, et.i, edu.i. We would have also solved the issue of doi numbers using 60 characters sometimes. Likewise, why do these "PhDs" need the word "PMC" twice in each address and /articles/, etc, when you could have all of them in one place i.i/a1b25t9z8y system that uses 14 characters (not 33 PubMed, 40 PMC) and merges all papers into one system, not just medicine? If every citizen publishes 1000 papers, we need at least 8 trillion numbers, so 3656 trillion gives us enough space for intellect development of every Citizen Scientist. Before Nov 2020, PMC was www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pmc/articles/PMC3607807/, 45 characters, and PubMed was 37 characters as in www.ncbi.nlm.nih.gov/pubmed/17691592/ which now are both redirected to the new system without www. 45 vs 14 characters means indexing 37 million fewer papers. PMC could only hold 10 million until 2024, when they decided to give it 100 million by adding a digit for numbers above 10 million, so now they got 41 characters. For newbies: each PubMed page has the doi address where the paper may have been made free (Even if PubMed forgot to write Free Article since they didn't check every 3 months with a crawler to see it's free), even if it doesn't say "PMC Free Full Text" on the upper right, for the easy to read PMC format. This PMC is not even needed, since if you got the doi, you get any newer paper at tesble.com, ☺☺☺.

Google search is the best, their AI and answers are truly comprehensive, except for weather, for that Bing is the best (shows when it will rain next 3 hours). ChatGPT.com will enable you to get free much more exact answers to various questions about some topics than Google AI answer that comes up with some questions when you use google search, so get both perspectives as Google is so wrong at times, but Google Ai can often be much better than ChatGPT, way more comprehensive. Google (founded by Jews, like Facebook) search, AI promote Jewish businesses, violating anti discrimination laws. The smarter the working class, the harder for the aristocratic beasts to chain us all. Correlation is not causation, high intake of a chemical is not the cause of a biomarker or lifespan length. If a study is not fake science, a randomized double blind placebo controlled interventional study's conclusions (as long as confounding factors are accounted for) are far more believable than observational studies (from the past) of two parameters (intake of a nutrient based on poor memory recall food intake versus one biomarker or mortality), because an end outcome can be caused by billions of combinations of 50,000 common nutrients that changed value (once at least) taken as 9,000 $_{50000}C_{9000}=50,000!/(41,000!*9,000!) = 8*10^{15342}$.☺☺☺ So, no, it wasn't nutrient X that caused higher HDL, but 9000 nutrients in tandem. To know which of the $8*10^{15342}$ nutrient combos cause it is DIFFICULT, to say the least. 10^{12} is a trillion, 10^{15342} is much higher (it's 8 trillion trillion... (repeated over 1278 times) trillions). Which combo causes the outcome? Go figure and get Nobel Prize. We haven't even taken into account that for each of those 50,000 nutrients that could have changed their value, its values could hover on a scale of 100% of the typical max value in a meal to say 0.1%, so that alone adds another multiplier of 1000 possible values for each of the 9000 possible nutrients whose value has changed quite a bit, among the 9000 that did indeed change. So we have combinations of 50,000,000 taken as 9000 $_{50000000}C_{9000}$ = 50,000,000!/ (49,991,000!*9,000!) = $4*10^{37608}$. That's why being an ND is way harder than MD, why nutrition (which can grant us 4000 year lifespan) is harder than today's medicine, same symptom can be caused by 10^{37608} nutrient value combos AT LEAST (even more if more than 9000 change value), that's 37608 zeros, not 12 as in a trillion. Our only solace is that only 50 compounds are truly super important for a given biomarker and we can approxiomate it to 10 possible values in most diets☺☺☺ (10%-100%) and say only 15 changes exist in a study, we get $_{500}C_{15}$=500!/(485!*15!)=$19*10^{27}$. Even in the most tightly controlled study with almost µg quantities resolution, unless you're very very precise, at the µg level, you got a 19 quadrillion trillion possible outcomes, showing you why studies contradict a lot. You could also have 45 different numbers, so $_{100}C_{45}$=500!/(455!*45!)=$61*10^{27}$. That's why to trust a given conclusion, they often want 100s of studies with millions of participants, because we can't really know, since intake of the top 50 nutrients changes so much (lycopene in watermelon can change 2-20 fold from one subspecies/lot to the other, you think diet is same, but it changes and the study is so poorly designed). The reality is that you can't have the top 100 be constant and only change 1 parameter or nutrient, unless you measure intake of the 100 and all other 50000 chemicals in that diet by the µg. That's why most conclusions are false. Likewise, a longitudinal study (follow the same exact people over 1+ years, to measure nutrient X☺☺☺) is much more accurate in determining if a nutrient decreases with age, than a cross-sectional study (measure X at the same time, not over a period of time, in 5000 people and see if old folks have lower levels). Truth is far more nuanced, but we're slowly starting to understand basic trends (Ch. 12). Thus, the immortalists will have ETs, NPs, NDs, and lastly, the least important☺☺, MDs. They're for eterni foods science, where we know µg of everything we eat. Most of what we believe in nutrition is actually false, ask the people in the year 5000, they laugh at our 'science'.

Since some criminal governments ban sci-hub, folks use VPN or Tor to access free info that liberates humankind. Knowledge is Eternal Life. Before we go into the one gene change in worms that increased lifespan 10 fold, let's look at far more exciting research closer to human DNA: scientists found the obvious thing humans have noticed for millennia, domesticated animals live twice as long as the wild animals. In a fox experiment, they found that kindness towards foxes and selecting for kinder foxes led to hundreds of genetic changes, double the lifespan and even fur color changes. This means that for humans, the implementation of the immortalism will likely lead to the doubling of the human lifespan via the elimination of infernal violent thug like music vibes that pervade 99% of music worldwide, depraved music which is like the wild foxes versus the eterni music which is like the domesticated foxes smarter than even dogs at some tasks. In just 60 years, the domesticated foxes became so different, they perceived the wild foxes as a different species they had nothing in common with. Likewise, the humans following the immortalist irreligious happy gentle tender soft nurturing graceful serene universal loving kindness of the Immortalist Anthem, will develop thousands of new genes and far higher intelligence than the naive misinformed brainwashed (by the evil clever dishonest aristocratic thieves and genocidal psychopaths financing religious wars for profit) less lucky people following the cannibal chimp like or violent wild fox like Islam, Judaism and Christianity. It's thus the duty of governments to stop the imports of poisonous or violent "religions" or other deadly products, ideas, music. As we have 50% tariffs on products from thuggish nations using terror or whatever, so can we have 500% tariffs on religions of terror/fraud, tax every donation 500%, or, like Saudi Arabia bans all religions except Islam, simply ban violent scripture based "religions", like the trio from hell. Do you understand why those wishing to subjugate others, to lower their IQ, etc promote Islam and Christianity? The 2 are ideal religions via which the predatory vampiric aristocrats drastically lower average IQ for 4 billion humans, enslave the 99% and retard their genetic potential. 9 million papers available via "PMC free" widgets on the top right of pubmed abstracts are free and have links ending in gov/pmc/articles/PMC..##. CR 2013;5(6):1600-10 is the paper on worms living the equivalent of 500 years old humans by some genetic tweak; Medical Daily explains it in simpler terms. They found that when they change the daf-2 gene or rsks1 gene they get about 25% increase in longevity from each, but if they change both genes, synergy happens and they get 500% increase in longevity. A single mTOR gene mutation in mice increased their lifespan by 20%, equivalent to about 16 human years. mTOR is a member of the phosphatidylinositol 3-kinase related kinase family of protein kinases. age-1, that increased lifespan 10 fold in worms, encodes a mammalian equivalent to mTOR like kinases. 3.2. EIGHT METHODS TO EXTEND HUMAN LIFESPAN 50 to 80 trillion TIMES

(incl. Chem. Physics/Physical Chem. reactor for 1 billion times faster 1 step chemical synthesis)

3.2.1. Transforming molecular system of age 20.1 into molecular system of age 20, or doing a daily 10 minute molecular reorganization to return to the chart (simulation below) of the previous day, ending aging forever, giving trillion year lifespans, creating the invincible replicator and Immortality for All giver that ends death and brings instant resurrection (even if some atoms are wiped out in all a nuke war) of anyone killed by any natural disaster or event like supernova explosion. Entire shimmering cities of indescribable beauty, as we will have, can be recreated. An old Immortal or God could grant all humans Unconditional Immortality to promote their spiritual evolution and see how long it takes for them to stop fighting, given that they can't injure or kill anyone, since all revert to their Immortal self 3 days or minutes later. Perhaps, this already happened in other dimensions, where killing a soul is impossible, so those in “hell” fight all the time, even if they're Immortal. It's the end of death which enables people to get bored of fights and war, since anyone killed or injured returns back to his healthy Radiant Beautiful state 3 minutes later, entire cities with molecular photo taken being able to be rebrought in exact replica back after any attack. This is the holy grail of physics and chemistry, if you can take subatomic particles and energies and cause a return of entire tissues, organs to a prior state (we take a picture of it with future scanners we need develop first, see next method), without necessarily doing much room temperature element conversion (in the early versions of this tech), but in ways that are pure sci fi now, literally isolating a chemical system and moving around atoms with energies that don’t reach nuclear fission energy to obtain a molecular version of the system that most closely resembles the one from last night, delaying aging by 400 to 400 trillion years depending on how advanced the tech is. It's a physical chemistry approach to aging, like the next one, that has nothing to do with organic, inorganic chemistry, biochemistry or biology, genes, mechanical transport of nanobots via blood vessels, etc.

Biology is a branch of chemistry, a case of chemistry, chemistry a branch of physics, the case of peculiar electrophotonic interactions (or other types for nuclear chemistry) we call chemical reactions. Everyone is so focused on DNA, cells, mechanical ways depending on blood vessels, transport etc that they ignore the Elephant in the Room, ELEMENTARY PARTICLE PHYSICS, the Mother of All these tiny subbranches we call chemistry, biology, engineering fields. We see the trees, but not the forest, PHYSICS. Physical Chemistry, a branch of physics, is the mother of all chemistry and biology and biotech, the giver of the electrophotonic simulation of all chemical processes, the first photo of a human and organ we need to do this. All genome, DNA, etc discoveries would be nothing without physics. It's a science fact this can be done, but we don't know how. All medicine does today is using our knowledge of suborgans (molecular systems, etc) to bring organs to a state more like healthy one; so 22nd century medicine would use our knowledge of subatomic particles and submolecular energies to bring atoms and molecules to a state more like that of a healthy version of the chemical system where they have a different configuration, surrounded by different atoms, molecules, etc. Breaking a chemical bond can provide energy to create another, so say in cytosol we need to break some useless toxic buildup and use those atoms as raw materials to build a new molecule that vanished in the nearby cytosol area or even in mitochondria if not many raw materials available in mitochondria, a protein structure that creates enzymes, etc. Normally, this would be difficult to do today with nanobots, if not impossible, since you need per "organic chemistry" so many intermediates and steps, it's going to take eons to get it done, so you can't do it in 20 minutes (no way to transport and avoid various chemical reactions on the way to the location where you want the new molecule to appear from your raw material) it takes to do a transplant equivalent of isolating that organ temporarily into a field where powerful energy enters in a "nonclassical 'nonphysical' way", not affecting nearby organs, to reorganize the neutron-proton-electron-photon particles to the chart we want via the most efficient step by step process, an iteration of quadrillions of steps, it's more like a "nonclassical odd chemistry due to undiscovered processes". ☺☺☺

Classical transformations or "reorganizations" of electrophotonic and nuclear systems are not the only option; exactly as the energy of breaking bonds can be used to create bonds, the energy to catalyze transformation in a specific way exists in dormant form; under new fields and unknown particle jets, etc everyday proton-neutron-electron matter behaves differently due to guided quantum entanglement of various particle systems, in ways never seen before; new ways of efficiently recycling nearby useless molecules that don't match "healthy chart" means they can be used to create nearby useful wanted molecules that are mising in the sick chart with maximum efficiency, i.e. we use toxic products from 10 nm away to create a molecule 20 nm away, not something from 3 mm away; each carbon in a cell, tissue, organ is different, so guiding matter and subatomic components to various atoms in other molecules 10 nm away or 50 is possible if classical behavior is changed to emphasize the behavior that distinguishes the carbons – so when for example a carbon-sulfur bond breaks, where will it move and react, with the nearby elements per classical physics rules or can it avoid nearby "identical" per present periodic table atoms, and reach the target prelabeled or transformed atom? Can a molecule part or atom interact strongly only with atoms that meet waveguide parameters, or, in more advanced forms of the tech (not 1st) can the subatomic component come and go between dimensions to allow carbon from 33 nm away to donate quarks or something to help carbon from another place to become nitrogen by virtue of quantum entanglement, if we properly label and transform via waveguide prior each carbon accordingly in the old template so as to allow easier guiding of the quadrillion iterations to the healthy template? There are 100s of ways this could be done, this is just one example of how things can behave nonclasically in certain conditions; but to achieve amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ transformations of molecular systems, aided by AI, one doesn't even need to behave too nonclassically; the AI can compute a pathway from old template to new template that doesn't involve too much nonclassical behavior, which may require too much energy for a given application, making it too expensive. In the 1st most primitive versions of the tech for simple chemical synthesis doing away with multiple steps, particle jets (given to the lab by particle physicists) can make stable only certain molecular arrangements (that lead to the end molecule, as those molecules form, their stability decreases and the next intermediate becomes stable as AI guides the waveguide parameter) by the suspension of normal chemical physics, so once we have some small molecule raw materials, we can prepare anything with enough time in one step reactor, then we revert to normal physics (physical chemistry, it being a subset of physics). This is simpler for chemical physicists, physical chemists to discover. This doesn't need to ever require dangerous expensive energies of fission or fusion. Just because we didn't see it in nature, doesn't mean it doesn't occur: we thought you can only go to America by boat, now we got airplanes, etc; undiscovered or known jets of particles can do things that were never seen before in the lab or nature around our planet. It may even happen in nature actually, we just didn't notice as we didn't notice natural fission.

Fission was something that happens in nature rarely in a way that we can see it, but we didn't know about it for eons; if you told someone in* 1870s in 90 years we would have 1961 tsar bomba (57 trillion g TNT) a trillion times (or 80 years, 1945 Hiroshima 15 billion g TNT) more powerful than a grenade (52 g TNT*) via a simple nonclassical chemical reaction (nuclear), they would think you're a* science fiction writer*; likewise, a lot of things may happen in outer space or our planet, and we didn't know about it for eons, which are nonclassical chemistry or rather, physics, which would enable us to synthesize chemicals, eterni foods and repair organs in ways nobody does today, way easier (1 step, 1 reactor only), 500-5000 times faster☺☺☺ (we are not talking about billion or trillion times faster, though that can happen later) than a 50 day 100 step organic synthesis that is extremely expensive, very labor intensive (for stuff microbes can't make). We will be able to quit eating upon reaching adult size, as all cellular recycling products can be converted into what we need in the new reactor inside our "stomach" so to speak to be distributed as needed, even adapt to producing energy without oxygen (no breathing needed) if we want to live offplanet without terraforming the planet in 4 weeks first with big 3 mile wide motherships rearranging atoms, atmosphere, terrain, atoms, molecules into desired city layout. A scanner can detect all viruses inside a human body or even 50 square mile area if on a huge mothership, their location and via a signature wave guide alter them slightly to make them inactive, or dead and then recycle them, moving them to phagocytes if inside people or animals. Most organic synthesis chemists and biotech synthesis workers will need new jobs, a few will still know some things for the sake of history of science (and knowing what happens with molecules in normal Earth EMF field, surrounding particle jets, temp conditions, when mixed together, etc) just as today we still can burn wood to warm ourselves up in a campfire, (nobody will do organic or microbe biotech synthesis, as we don't use coal and wood burning for electricity in 50 years anymore, as renewables replace old tech), as well as many analytical chemists in biotech and chem industries, as high tech scanners replace current methods entirely, no more titration and stuff, just scan and it shows how many octillion atoms of mercury, virus, bacteria, molecule are in a mountain or many trillions in a human. Good bye to memorization of reagent identification of metals in inorganic chemistry, etc.

MDs perform "transplants", imagine not having to do that, we simply isolate a section of the body with a waveguide or force field, let the subatomic invisible attobots (10^{-18}m) or whatever, maybe even known "particle jets" do their work and then we get a new version of it, that looks like you had 1 year ago; regrow limbs in 1 day or week; however this is a little far out, as it requires element transmutation, so it may not happen soon. It's the end of surgeries, which will obviously become outdated, as we can perform changes remotely and seeing the inside of any molecular, " Lepton-Quark-Boson etc" more exactly, system☺☺☺. In the most primitive version of this that doesn't require "room temperature element transmutation and new types of matter to create new atoms where needed and enormous levels of energy", etc, a molecule is excited, out of 10 million, so one side of it, with a -C=O group becomes the youthful -CHOH version by reacting only with H_2O or some proton donor (that we can live without as long byproduct is not toxic or free radical forming) we design the electronic cloud to have higher affinity with via the new (unknown today) particle injection that goes only to that molecule via the resonance with a nearby jar with that molecule perhaps, to avoid damaging anything with hydrogen nearby in that cellular environment (the challenge is once the change from MW 900000 to 900002 (2 hydrogens) is made, no other change can occur, so it has to have a specificity that is pure science fiction today); this can also be used to cure arterial plaque by making a few changes to only some molecules found in plaque only, to make it easy for the body to break it and heal it naturally. It can thus be used to cure 100s of diseases where a simple change in one molecule leads to huge improvement, to treat every citizen for 1 minute to reverse aging and prevent 100s of conditions and wear and tear, by having 1 million such devices per billion inhabitants, to have them go there at the City Immortality Park for 1 min every month or quarter at least, so all can live to 200, and ater 9000 as it is perfected for 1000s of conditions and molecular systems; since these devices scan for 500 macromolecules and molecules specific to various conditions that could be easily reverted to the youthful versions, it would be expensive initially and cost a fortune, the whole particle accelerator, jet, device, etc, more than a stadium, yet smaller than a room. It can be used to cause a viral, bacteria enzyme, replication DNA or respiratory cycle chemical, to change one group, CHOH that makes it die, so it's the end of antibiotics, since it can kill with far fewer side effects all bacteria, viruses, etc. It can also be the end of war, because all can create a shield that deactivates and changes the chemical contents of any weapon system, missile, nuke, rendering it useless; so it can also allow one nation to conquer the entire planet without killing anyone, to bring the 11 companies 3 agencies and bring 10000 times more innovation per decade; if it is deployable over large distances, it could clear arterial plaque in 1 billion people, world's first device or 'bomb' that adds lifespans to the bombed country; the flip side of it is that it could also, if it works and can penetrate walls, shielding, etc, be used as a device that only alters a life sustaining enzyme or molecule only, and kills all people on a planet (unless shielded, if a shield can even be created, it may not be possible for centuries) or continent even, without killing anything else, except mammals with a similar enzyme, molecular pathway - a scary outcome, but not out of question if we don't achieve galactic (if we're interstellar then) or World Peace by then: initially battles had 100 dead, then 0.1 billion in WW2, who knows in WW3, an invisible craft made of invisible matter, unknown today, drops a device that uses a propagation via humans as reactor of energy, so anything surrounded by water has the reaction stop (no more people to sustain it). ☺☺☺

The quantum device can kill all termites, ants, rats, pets, microbes, blood spilling animals (all carnivores, wolves, wild dogs that eat herbivores daily with utmost cruelty, shedding blood and causing violent or 'demonic' energy to dominate the Earth, wild dogs who often eat people and cause endless human quantum field pollution (side effect may be all domestic dogs may die, but by that time, drones will do a job 10000 times better than the best service or sniffing dog), reptiles who eat humans often or injure them (aligators, etc), chimps eating people (see chimps eat fellow chimps too, being violent carnivores), chimps eating monkeys, pet chimp mauled and blinded her owner, see the result, monkeys killing 250 puppies and terrorizing Thailand, langur monkeys killing children (100s of cases in India and yet they don't kill the monkeys, they trap them), monkeys snatching and killing humans, sharks who eat people (avoid swimming in oceans or seas, where sharks, alligators may hide, where dock wires can cause electricity in lakes and kill people or shock people so much that they drown (test water by placing hand in it first, before jumping for fun, while others are homeless due to your wasting physical energy to jump, not help them and the criminal government to build the houses or renovate ones in need), use only swimming pools which have 1000 times cleaner/safer water, free from brain/flesh eating bacteria, got only small depths, of clear water, easy to come out of by crawling out of, vs lakes/rivers where drowning (about 2000 deaths in US national parks) is possible: low IQ cops didn't kill shark, it let it go after shark bit 3 people, 4000 folks died in national parks within 17 years, due to drowning, animal attacks, etc, build houses for longevity researchers, don't go to dangerous places where animals can attack), snakes (who kill 1000s every year via venomous bites), see whole woman eaten by 16 ft phyton (Florida ☺abysmal IQ☺ folks have phytons as pets and the 17 ft snakes end up in the wild), rats (decimate all crops, etc), big cats (read the cat section on 440 people killed by one tiger alone) and how pet and zoo tigers kill their owners. People are homeless and others waste lives as zoo keepers (watch video showing no pet animal is safe), big cat trainers, what can be more selfish and lower in IQ? Tiger shows without barriers are legal? 7 zoos worldwide max is all we need. Lions kill people even in USA, in Africa it's a weekly event. By the time they discover this amazing tech in a few centuries or more, everyone will be so kind towards people, that they won't have cats or dogs, but help people instead. Drones will help us get rid of wolves, big cats and other pests. However, sadly as it were, any wild small cats may die too in the process of preventing the death of endless people eaten by big cats; this sad death helps a few remote rural people (who may be one in a billion who still has a pet cat) to start loving people instead of cats☺☺☺, to liberate all from jails and love them, etc. All will be aware that one human life is able to live to a trillion years old and is more valuable than 1 trillion house cats people use to fill the emptiness in their life coming from our society of violent music and soulless depraved sports), this will cause a sadness in some people who're full of love for their cat/pet and hate for endless people who could help them 3 trillion times more than their cat: these people don't care about humans being eaten by cats or dogs, only about having an obedient slave to lick them, it's a strange mindset that undermines the human species, why not befriend some lethal viruses and bacteria and have them as your pet if you're so loving? Would you let the deadly bacteria kill you in return for your love for sentient beings? Billions of people are in need of love and care, and they choose to dedicate eons to cats and dogs? Is that spiritual or selfless? No, it is immoral and unethical, the number one thing is ETERNAL World Peace in 3 months without which no civilization or spirituality exist. People of the future will stop killing people, realizing that every time they spend time with dogs and cats

(unless a cop using dogs to sniff drugs until drones can do it 1 million times better) or for a disability, they're not loving people, which is essential for World Peace in 3 months. Animal hospitals everywhere, but endless human hospitals bombed and many Americans never get medical care, endless American, European, etc people killed, mauled by dogs and killed slowly by barking dogs disturbing sleep (when body aging is reversed daily by repair), what is that but genocide of humans by humans out of obsession with dogs and cats? Realizing this, the future people will have 100 million times fewer pets, their number one priority being 0 violent crime and loving people instead. Where is the empathy for humans who need affection, are unjustly used as scapegoats for the criminal system of government? The wise people of the future realize this is mnore like a species war, the domesticated wolves against humans, domesticated tigers against humans, and some people simply betrayed the human species, being more like traitors of the human collective. In studies on dog benefits, they ignore the shorter lives of people around pissed off by dog barking or biting: 200 people in a condo complex are pissed off and have worse sleep due to a dog, and owner may live 4 months longer due to affection, but the other 200 people may live 1 month shorter due to the dog barking on average, meaning the human species is being destroyed by dogs: we lose way more lifespan years as a collective than we gain: 200 months lost, versus 4 gained, 196 months lost per loud dog, maybe 1 month lost for the quieter dogs. You don't need to believe in this hypothesis, just only to investigate truthfully the effects. America is the place of free speech, so here we go, one more hypothesis to consider. We need "human lives matter" movements to protect people, families, nations, ruined by cats and dogs, dangerous animals. Eternal World Peace is like the evolution of monkey into humans: a quantum leap allowing chimps to achieve more things allows humans to evolve into kinder humans and achieve Eternal World Peace. Dogs simply love owners since they get better treatment and get the most self-interest benefits out of loving owners versus random objects and strangers. They're logical species who place themselves first and to low IQ naive humans it appears as "unconditional love". Nobody is around, who is he to love? The chair? The single mom ignores her child, and spends 10 hours weekly with her 4 dogs: pure atrocity. Aristocrats who were too evil to work and had endless time to have fun while others died at half their age due to exhaustion from 80 hour workweek and malnutrition, kings, queens, had pets and then this aristocratic habit spread to their slaves: the average people, who got the virus of placing pets above people, since aristocrats never cared about people, spending more time with dogs would be so natural and an extension of their complete disregard for the poor masses. To be kind is to not become another small tiny aristocrat, and to have some real empathy for people. USA claims they invade, bomb and kill innocent civilians for humanitarian reasons (resources usually), but if they cared, they would love people more than cats and dogs, and not encourage treating people worse than cats and dogs, like those they use as scapegoats for the failures of the government. For these hideous so called "humanitarian people" using war for global looting, it is more important to build hospitals for useless cats and dogs, than to stop bombing human hospitals. They don't treat local Americans better than dogs and cats, torturing and beating them in jails (which would not exist if Americans were ethical people) and in their houses using hidden microwaves and other devices, and they want the world to believe they treat foreigners better than dogs and cats. The foreigners haven't even attained the level of dogs, for these people, as evidenced by the treatment of locals. These so called "legitimate government of USA" people get the applause of the brainwashed masses, as they violate all ethics and common sense. This is sold then as democracy and implementation of the international rule of "law", meaning "genocide, global rape/theft". World Peace, the end of torture and killing of humans, is so much more important than having a pet, that evolved people of the future would think of having a pet as bad as an act of violence against people, if World Peace has not yet been true, jails and violent crime, animal slaughter (to feed filif gecko IQ☺☺☺ people who can't create eterni foods) have not been eradicated. This is the way of the sage or kind human, not the way of the 2024 aristocrat. The Brits and others were blowing people by gun, as they do today kill slowly using microwaves, infrasound, ultrasound, etc, but cats and dogs were loved and showcased as the example or "proof" of the infinite kindness of aristocrats and kings: people didn't even get to be treated as a dog, even after working so hard to supply goods and services as a colony of slaves to Brits. Shot in their own country, for not being a slave good enough to be alive: just like today CIA kills people for the simple reason they want all people to be treated kindly, not like the shot Indians. In 2024, most stores and condo/apartment complexes lack recycing bins placed near trash bins, and if they have some recycling, like Publix stores, it's only for soft bags or paper and foam, not metal or hard plastic. Taking care of the air quality, by burning less trash, is not important, but dogs that create so many emissions, create so much waste of resources with their food needs, etc, are important. All recyclables trashed means people will get sick from burning/treating the trash later, nobody cares, they claim to be kind, but even the basics are not done for future people.

The quantum device can gently wipe* out reptiles, carnivores, big birds that spill blood, even coqui frogs that annoy millions of people worldwide with their loud sounds not letting people sleep (Hawaii state tries to get rid of them). Any animal causing pain in blood animals will be wiped out in days. No need of cats to wipe out mice, since mice can be wiped out. The Earth will be free of violence. Alligators, after killing so many people, almost went extinct due to people hunting them and then, blood drinking legislators, who love slaughterhouses horrors so much as to eat their products (anyone eating meat, which has 0.2-0.9% blood, drinks that 0.5% blood), passed the Endangered Species Act which enabled a lot of human killing/harassing species to rebound. It was a big mistake, as many now have alligator farms and other "rat filif IQ" enterprises wasting land while others lived in cramped noisy environments. All understand trying to protect a parrot, but not violent reptiles or carnivores who eat small babies walking by a lake or pond*, which shred other animals or people to pieces shedding blood, harass, stress and bring anxiety to millions of people who look out for alligators in all bodies of water and swiming pools.* All reptile pet stores or growing businesses need be designated as terrorist organizations who're complicit in the murder of children eaten by reptiles, maimed by snakes, who prevent us from achieving World Peace in 3 months, same for a lot of useless pet stores: the first priority of immortalists needs to be 0 jails, 0 violent crime, 0 wars, not giving permits for so many pet stores, breeders, farms. This insane mania with reptiles is a bold abuse of humanity by people who fail to realize we have limited national resources to achieve World Peace and 0 violence. It's possible a lot of thefts in pet stores are intentional, so that owners close the pet store and make space for housing. Sniffing or service dogs are OK, the rest are for spoiled aristocrats who're out of touch with the 3 billion victims of violent crimes. Meditate and breathe, be happy, no pets needed, peace is needed now. Manifest it now, don't wait 3 billion years. While some are homeless, billions are wasted in zoos and other places to feed these monsters who spill blood daily and pollute the human quantum field; let's remove all blood spilling animals off the endangered lists globally and free humanity from animal attacks, encourage their rapid hunting and extinction: one killing prevents thousands of killings by these predators, so we get rid of bloodshed on Earth*. The murderous alligators prevent all people from swimming in canals and lakes, and eat all fish you* could catch yourself*, depriving millions of people of much needed protein.* If herbivores remove all vegetation, just hunt herbivores for meat instead of cutting all forests for beef, since no oxygen will be left if we remove all forests and ocean plankton, we will all die. Why waste billions of tons of meat by letting it be eaten by reptiles and carnivores? At least, meat eaters ought to support this idea, since humans can kill herbivores painlessly high tech, bring the happy era of Immortality for All, Eternal Universal Peace (0 wars/torture/pain for Eternity*)*. All ethical legislators need to support the quantum device and the eterni food to stop blood spills. End terrorism of humanity by the carnivore animal species. The end of terror by animals can start: wolf, coyote, bear, wild dogs, alligator, snake, big cat, bison wiped out. Bisons attack/kill people, spread brucellosis disease, eat grass that cows can use. Brainless EU reintroduced bisons in Romania. EU ought to build medical facilities, not spread disease in EU. Silly misuse of EU funds to help animals that endanger humans. Same ☺ abysmal IQ☺ like with US reintroduction of alligators in 1970s. It's hybrid war against US, EU by conservationists, animals/pets above people again.

The quantum device can gently wipe out all coyotes (they attack people, terrorize people, eat people and are so similar to big dogs that all big dogs will die too, leading to an amazing rebirth of human love for humans instead of pets, and ETERNAL World Peace, Immortality for All ideas turning into reality), pests (all insects, animals would be vegan to avoid human quantum field disturbing, so no more wildlife management jobs, as all bad animals are wiped out planet wide in 1 week and in some areas even some vegan ones if they attack people, like 6-8' shoulder height moose (taller than horses) who injure more people in North America than wolves and bears combined due to sheer numbers and people feeding them, making moose less afraid of humans). The quantum device can gently wipe out all viruses (causing 100s of cancers, 100s of diseases), mites (demodex mites and others causing dry eyes, eczema, diseases), fleas, bed bugs, kitchen bugs, mosquitos (like this zapper), spiders, any insect that ever attacks any human, bacteria on Earth (no more pimples, no more arterial plaque from P. acnes bacteria (see pic), no bacteria in our food or guts, since all food is eterni, bacteria free, produced with high tech, a sterile planet, 0 aging inflammation caused by 100s of bacteria today, 0 infections, etc), no more cavities, eliminate the need of any vaccines, etc, as we develop molecular seeking waveforms (not heat seeking missiles) for specific molecules in viruses, bacteria, animals that we need to change to wipe them out globally, even 200 miles under and above ground; even narcotics rendered useless or any illegal substances, explosives, etc. Missiles of other countries don't have the signature of local objects, a sequence of 10^{27} elements, arrangements, so they can be altered (turned into candy, shipped back to sender country, or made unusable) by the shield upon contact, entrance in the shield is all granted in secret ways. But to get there, we first need photos of molecular systems at different points in time, hence the next method:

3.2.2. Molecular/Atomic/Subatomic Simulation of each Human Being for discovering the mass produced (or printed on molecular printers of the future) nutritional compounds that extend human lifespan many times, by eliminating the 100,000 confounding factors in present nutrition studies (not even talking about fluctuating pesticides (organic vs conventional), dirty electricity, microwaves, electric/magnetic field values, sleep quality, stress level in short-term studies that happen during the worst sleep of some participants in 1-50 years, that are bigger than thousands of nutritional factors combined – they never mention these two in many papers, just age, sex, LDL). The confounding factors section talks about the efficiency of centralization, being able to do 10 million people studies that are 10000 times more reliable than small studies done today, because they eliminate confounding factors much better. These simulations can lead to discovering the non-chemical (not related to pills or nutrition) ways to induce changes that extend lifespan many times, via biophysics. As chapter 3.5 and chapter 11.1.1 explain, in nature we have naked mole rats that live 10 times longer than normal rats, trees/plants that live 10-637 times longer than others, bees that live 10-50 times longer than others, and other species and we can study these and get some basic insights that might help understand lifespan limits better, as well as what to try in human simulations in terms of food chemicals we can easily mass produce. These human simulations can lead to discovering the compounds that also slow aging. A 70 kg human being has 7 times 10 to the power of 27 atoms or 7 trillion quadrillion atoms.☺☺☺ The body has 62% of atoms hydrogen (1 electron), 24% oxygen (8 electrons), 12% carbon (6 electrons), 1% nitrogen (7 electrons), 1% others, so we got even > 10^{28} electrons. The simulation of movement of electrons, atoms and molecules they make up is extremely difficult given our present slow computers, but this may change with advances in particle physics and quantum computers. Rocket science (a billion static parts and a few moving parts) is very easy compared to this simulation of 7 billion billion billion moving parts. But if we simulate it, and all octilion chemical reactions that happen every nanosecond, we can get a more accurate understanding of what happens when we make a DNA/biophysics change or when we eat a certain food or pill.

Simulations enable trying trillions of billions of combos and ratios of 90,000 common phytonutrients, vitamins, minerals, fats, carbs, proteins, fiber, cofactors, enzymes, man made chemicals. We monitor 10,000 aging biomarkers and speed it up to year 200, 300 and see how the body ages until 900 and we know if something will work and then try it in mice, rabbits and perhaps monkeys. We know some foods/pills lower glucose, some markers and we can use that info to verify/optimize the simulation models. Even if simulation is normal speed, in 1 month we know if arterial calcification rate is 5 times slower or if other biomarkers indicate 5 times slower aging. If all monkeys get benefits, then some humans might want to try it and they may be the lucky ones to live to 300 first. A major problem we see today in nutrition and medicine is that there are 100,000+ potential nutritional confounding factors ☺☺☺ (genome, microbiome, local cellular organ differences due to dietary habits last 50 years add a few trillion confounding factors) in almost every study we can't account for, making many nutrition studies incorrect as they're not personalized to genome and the individual simulation which is far more than genome (it's microbiome too and etc, identical twins can look vastly different after 70 years of very different lives). These 100,000 potential confounding factors refer to the different intakes of g, µg of 100,000 chemicals from food (not to mention weight is different), which can cancel the effect of medicines or nutrients (vitamin B_{12} deficiency is in the microgram intake range and has huge effects) or epigenetically induce changes over time that affect the behavior of a specific allele. The different amounts of some chemicals won't influence a certain biomarker much, or only 0.00001%, so it won't be a really big confounding factor, but with so many potential factors, each having a small influence, we're definitely having a lot more than a dozen that have some real impact unknown today, making a lot of the ambiguity in nutrition studies understandable. On the other hand, even if a nutrient (unaccounted for potential confounder) influences a biomarker only 0.01%, if you add it up, with 3,000 such chemicals intake differences influencing 0.01% one way, it becomes a 30% influence that can completely confuse someone who tries to understand why one study got 30% higher values. Often, in nutrition, we have 2 camps, one using 500 studies to argue that eating this amount of nutrient X will lower biomarker Y by that much, while the other group use 500 studies to say it will increase biomarker Y by another amount. How can this be? Easy: thousands of unaccounted for nutrition confounding factors due to different food eaten, with both camps being possibly off a bit and truth being more or totally in one camp or in the middle, the exact (ultra complex) truth being impossible to find with current technology (for some nutrients truth can be always individualized, i.e. for a million diets, very similar, but slightly different, we get 1 million variations in how much biomarker Y increases or decreases upon intake of nutrient X in the same exact amount/kg of body weight).

Correlation is not causation, so many studies have a so called "reverse causation", of absence of causation (something else causes the effect), see example at APJCN 2000;9(Sup):S60-4, a group of people choose a healthy behavior (vegan diet or not smoking), due to being made sick by the opposite behavior (high fat/meat, smoking), so they appear in the study as "non-smokers" or etc, yet the health parameters are worse (doesn't mean quitting smoking worsens health), since becoming unhealthy made them quit. Those who quit for longer periods have improved biomarkers. So, when reading studies we need to see how long someone has adopted a given diet or pill, and account for 100s of study irregularities, differences that obsfucate causation (not all studies record length of a healthy behavior). Even in "identical diets" they use in some studies, not all pears, apples, etc are the same. Polyphenols (8,000 in nature) and nutrients turn gene expression on and off, in various cells as they make it there depending on intake.☺☺☺ Additionally, the bioavailability of each nutrient is influenced by changes in the concentration of 30,000 other nutrients that vary from person to person, the exercise, sleep patterns, stress. Even a cognitive task uses different chemicals than a physical one and introduces a variation. Whether we eat 1 or 10 µg of a vitamin can make a huge difference in some cases in the behavior of newly introduced nutrients that aim to triple lifespan or cure a disease. With big data, we can use artificial intelligence (AI) to discover new vitamins/nutrients to epigenetically induce a 10 fold slowing of aging for a 900 year lifespan, by parents eating new nutrient formulas since 1 year before conception for optimal sperm and egg changes.

ATOM TRACING: label each atom of every Eterni Foods pack via new unknown today particles:

With eterni foods, we know the µg (ideally ng, pg, fg, ag attogram (10^{-18}) later on) precision of molecules we eat, which is ultra hard to estimate today by using an average of what is found in a brand of fruits, veggies, as they can vary wildly, etc. Why attogram? Well, some chemicals can accumulate in the body, so if we eat 500 kg of something (versus 0.5 mg someone else), the attogram becomes nanogram and can wreck the body or an organ or organ part where 98% of that rare peculiar chemical accumulates due to a specific enhanced (due to local molecular environment in that organ) chemical affinity for a hormone, receptor, vitamin, cytokine, stem cell cofactor, active (and often present in nanogram amounts also) in an organ natural renegeration. We know the top sources of that rare peculiar chemical, with ultra high bioavailability (200 times higher than other foods means attogram becomes 0.2 microgram, not 1 nanogram) due to a food matrix, in attogram, and by changing diet we can cure a disease (unknown for 400 years sometimes) until the future century of atom tracing: later centuries, we can label every atom (new undiscovered particles and methods unimaginable today) in every food eaten daily, to have 36,525 labels for the 36,525 days of one's 100 year life to understand better where the atoms that caused a disease came from (food package serial # for much better tracking atomic behavior to see manufacturing errors or subtle differences leading to future periodic table) for improving the simulation dramatically. Today we get vitamin, mineral studies with opposite conclusions, as food vitamin intake is impossible to correctly calculate or vitamins have cancer causing additives (colors, etc) or eating too much Se shrinks life more than vitamin C extends it. As thousands of studies show, if we're very deficient in something (no zinc, dead at 25), a vitamin pill is life saving. But if one is not so deficient, food sources are often better as they got some extra good compounds too. The AI can also find which compound (undiscovered vitamin) leads to longer life or cure. To eliminate all nutritional confounding factors (let alone RF, exercise, etc), we need high precision, as in the design of space rockets. Today's nutrition science is imprecise☺☺☺, just like eons ago we knew the effects of some plants, without understanding it is a compound or several in those plants that benefit or poison us. Mice die in 2 weeks in the absence of air ions, do we account air negative ions in nutritional studies as confounding factor? The air quality, 15 other factors, the air/food heavy metals, RF, magnetic fields, dirty electricity?

Besides the atomic and molecular simulations, the subatomic simulation of human beings is the depiction of lepton (electron is a lepton), boson (photon is a boson), quark charts of the human being as a result of different physics fields, bombardment with different subatomic particle (maybe not even discovered) jets from a belt worn by the human being simulated, to determine which jet leads to the return of lepton chart to the healthy 20 year old chart, as opposed to the 90 year old aged chart or the cancer chart, or atherosclerosis chart or Alzheimer chart of the brain. We can travel at 161 times the speed of the fastest flying bird (240 mph), via Voyager 1 (38,610 mph), so naturally one day we will learn how to live 161 times longer too and develop scanners to take a picture of all 10 trillion cells with all atoms, and the video of all atoms moving 24-7. If we simulate a human being and its life, we can then measure the longevity effect of endless molecules, etc which are a mixture of quarks, leptons, bosons. If we subject a human being to an undiscovered particle jet (probably discovered after we have used chemical simulations of humans for a long time), given that each atom of the body emits a unique value of an undiscovered field or property, we're able to selectively choose which atoms to affect by tuning the frequency of this jet or its properties, which molecular (electrophotonic) changes to cause, much like we would if a new molecule would come around and cause some chemical reactions, some exchanges of electrons and photons. This way, the human can live longer, and live on less and less food, ☺☺☺until we live on energy as Nikola Tesla predicted we will, and the simulation of the human subatomic structure is so advanced, that it enables the alignment of subatomic vectors to coincide with the wormhole direction for inter-dimensional transfer enabling inter-dimensional bidimensional Immortality, with the benefits of being able to do things in the more Immortal Universe faster than here and impossible to do in this dimension like traveling much faster than the speed of light, etc. The value of computational chemistry in leading *to computation inter-*dimensional physics and translation as in Ascending Immortality, can't be underestimated. If we subject the human to a certain jet of electrons or protons or whatever, the effect is so different than what a molecule can achieve, since the molecule goes in certain locations and is a machine that is able to generate electrons and photons in certain conditions in a certain environment, achieving local effects, much like if you had new forms of matter wikiped...Hadron in pill form achieving very unique effects that are so hard to achieve via normal jets that affect all atoms and molecules at all locations. The molecule can pass intact thru certain body membranes only if it is of a peculiar type. However, new techs may enable more precise laser/etc treatments only when certain (sub)cellular structures are identified, without affecting the nearby structures, light or waves recreated at an exact distance (sort of like teleportation of photon information in quantum entanglement), meaning, there will be some advantages versus molecular (nutritional or pill) methods of delivering electrophotonic changes at mitochondria level or other cellular parts. Science high school teachers can ask at the end of each classrooom "how can we apply what we learned today to cure all diseases and help us to live to 4000?" Diets are leptons, quarks rearranged. Biophysics can help us live to 9000.

Electrons are the most common and stable leptons. Photons are the most known bosons. The reason subatomic simulations are very important relates to non-chemical information transfer, like in the teleportation of photon information experiments. As explained in more detail in the biophoton section, Alex Gurwitsch found "that when pointing the tip of an onion root (inducer) to another onion root (receiver), separated by quartz glass, the receiver root surprisingly shows an increased rate of mitosis (approx. 20-25%). Since this effect was absent when using ultra-violet (UV)-opaque glass, he concluded that" UV rays were responsible (UV biophotons) ► AJTR 2013;5(6):586-93. In 1970s other researchers "used a specially designed device to perform the (cellular communication without contact, via photons) experiments consisting of two flasks, which were connected by a window of either quartz glass or a UV-opaque glass plate (with a depth of about 0.2-2 mm). An "inducer" cell culture was placed in one flask and a "receiver" culture in the other... using inducer cell cultures consisting of monkey kidney tissue treated with adenoviruses demonstrated that the receiver cell culture also shows morphological signs of infection in 72% of performed trails after 2.3 days of (optical) contact". Naturally, we can ask if we can use the biophotonic emissions of healthy cells, organs and their information, to heal sick organs. For example, a healthy pancreas has certain bioelectrical, magnetic, photonic emissions, and if we can understand the photonic emissions of these organs, we can transfer this info, without contact, somehow, and cure internal organs (we record the biophotonic emissions of our organs when we're healthy and young) or stop their aging or slow it down 10 times. We save this biophotonic emission data, so that we can wear a belt or clothing that transmits this info to cells and organs repeatedly, to revert these organs to a youthful state or slow down aging 30 times. Everything is information. We have seen how M. Levin grew legs of frogs for the first time in history using bioelectrical fields research, when that doesn't happen in nature. Likewise, thru understanding the biophotonics and bioelectrics, we can regenerate the human organs, and coax aging cells to return to a young state as in the flask experiment. The challenges of many diseases (including aging itself) could be overcome thru biophotons. ☺☺☺

With molecular nutrition we can cure many diseases, turn on/off genes; with SUBATOMIC, INFORMATIONAL and WAVE nutrition (localized, from a distance, molecule and atom focused) or undiscovered particle jets (tuned in specific ways resonating with specific molecules, protein and transcription factor conformations, DNA geometries) we can change genes, cure diseases, without having to eat chemicals. For example, we discovered above that biophotons can transmit information between 2 isolated flasks from one culture to the other without physical contact. This opens the possibility of discovering how big molecules can communicate with each other in ways similar to how cells communicate with each other. Biophotons acting as neural communication signals was demonstrated by in situ biophoton autography ► PPS 2010;9(3):315-22. "In this paper we argue that, in addition to electrical and chemical signals propagating in the neurons of the brain, signal propagation takes place in the form of biophoton production" ► JIN 2011;10(1):65-88. The discovery of molecule to molecule communication via unknown to physics particles (MIT Tech Rev: quantum action occurs at 10,000 times the speed of light ► LiveScience and 14.pdf) would be a great boon to this human simulation research and to enabling this communication for anti-aging purposes in certain cases where it doesn't occur in the body. Which particles might those be? A telepathy exercise I did was guessing how is a new particle discovery (related to longevity) is related to the up quark properties (the mass 2.3 MeV/c^2, electrical charge 2/3, spin 1/2, color charge, antiquark); the spirit telepathy answer was SPIN. Another telepathy exercise said that the particle is related to the up quark. Wikipedia "The up quark or u quark (symbol: u) is the lightest of all quarks, a type of elementary particle, and a major constituent of matter. It, along with the down quark, forms the neutrons (one up quark, two down quarks) and protons (two up quarks, one down quark) of atomic nuclei. It's part of the first generation of matter". A 4 min youtu.be explains more about quarks. Discovery of the quarks is shown in this paper. In 1968 they bombarded the protons and neutrons with electrons

(at the longest linear accelerator in the world, SLAC, Stanford) and noticed in this inelastic (loss of some kinetic energy) scattering 3 points of deflection from the 3 quarks (2 up and one down for proton, and 1 up and 2 down for neutron) much like Rutherford bombarded gold atoms in 1909 and noticed in that elastic scattering (no loss of kinetic energy) a deflection of α particles in some cases corresponding to a tiny nucleus, enabling him to discover the electron and neutron.

The Hayflick limit can be extended possibly a million times for with subatomic technology of reverting cells to a young state (by undoing telomere shortening and errors during replication), by reverting the molecules of cellular components to a "young" state in new ways, via room temperature chemical element conversion, not seen much in stars we had access to so far. Hayflick limit doesn't stop some bees/rats/trees from living 10-50 times longer than others. Royal jelly diet lengthens lifespan 10 times via nutrition alone bypassing the "Hayflick limit argument" of nay sayers who postulate living to 900 is "impossible". Simulations also allow us to discover a new mechanism of telomere repair via new genes, that can extend this limit too. Molecular simulation of humans is a little bit like the human genome project: at first it would be very slow/expensive, but as time goes by and quantum computers get better and cheaper, it will be simpler and pharmaceutical and food companies will be interested in human molecular simulations to discover cure of diseases by new foods or pills. There are millions of natural compounds and we can't eat 500 foods/day, so science comes in with the best ratio of natural or man made compounds in the best tasting cake/cookie that enables us to live to 900. Living to 500 may be the only way we will get to other solar systems, who knows? ☺☺☺ Until computers can run such complex simulations, we could try to build 1 billion models of humans yearly (in 8th, 9th, 10th grade, every teen would build a model in nutritional biochemistry class, class required in all high schools/colleges, as chemistry and physics would start sooner) that simplify the biochemistry and biological regulation of cells so much, that we have far fewer variables than 7 quadrillion trillions (every atom behaves uniquely due to being surrounded by a unique set of quadrillion atoms, the electronic cloud and all electrophotonic effects are different; all 4.3 quadrillion trillion hydrogens would behave differently and it can be modeled well, once a photo of every atom and its surrounding quadrillion atoms has been taken by future physics meter using a subatomic tech perhaps) which affect the most important biomarkers of aging speed (which every teen would select, would be different). Then in the class the high schoolers test their model, by eating some simple food and measuring some biomarker. Then in college, grad school the same thing is done better; we got more people working on it and understanding how it can postpone by 500 years all aging-caused diseases and cure all non-aging diseases too thru slightly changed models, customized for every disease. Eventually one model, that the students or AI builds will match reality, and people will eat that and live to 180 before computers become strong enough to allow 900 year lifespans. High school students can study in physics class what particular electronic, photonic, un/discovered physics elementary particles and acoustic (subtler sounds) charts of humans mean perfect health and youth and how could we use biophysics to retain or influence them (instead of getting charts of diseased or aged people), via a food, music, light or biophysics charging so that triggers cellular renewal and slows aging 5 times. We already use light (laser medicine) and sound to send instructions to cells (listening to a background audible or inaudible sound that makes us live 20% longer like plants do), organs to renew and perform functions when a blood vessel doesn't provide nutrients, so it constructs a new blood vessel and performs regenerative functions without chemical signaling. This would be like a daily light therapy based on photo of each cell, teleported light (undiscovered particles or at least photon information as done already) at specific depths where needy cells exist, hard to perform now in 50,000 places at once.☺☺☺

3.2.3. Discover which brain cells control aging as in Nature 2017;548:52-7 & neurosci..86.

3.2.4. Regenerative medicine using bioelectrical fields, stem cells like Levin who grew legs of frogs, when it doesn't occur in nature. We ran at 25 mph, now we travel to ISS at 17,000 mph, 2018 sun proble 430,000 mph, we will live 800 times longer too, we always go beyond nature.

3.2.5. Gene edit, like in worms living 10 times longer CRISPR and SENS (molecular repair)

3.2.6. Telomere and new methods that will be discovered when we build a million Immortality Universities. Vimeo..1 is a 3 min video about making cells younger using RNA that encodes telomerase protein. As we age, cells divide, the end of chromosomes, telomeres, getting shorter. Telomerase can lengthen the telomeres. They found a way to make telomeres longer, something that never occurs in humans long-term. Our average telomere length declines from 11 kilobases at birth to less than 4 in old age. When the telomere lengthening happened, cell division was easier many aging markers were reversed ► JACC 2017;70(6):804-5. Telomerase was demonstrated to be capable of extending cell lifespan; it is now recognized as capable of IMMORTALIZING human somatic cells ► Sci 1998;279(5349):349-52.

3.2.7. Compound mix that delays aging for 400 years thru synergy, just like 2 simultaneous gene changes increased lifespan by 500% in worms, only 25% if one gene changed only. The vitamin B_3 section first paragraph discusses anti-aging study in mice after taking a B_3 like compound.

3.2.8. Increasing stem cells 10 fold by increasing oxygen (O_2) delivery and then lowering it, simulating lowering O_2 levels (which stimulates stem cell boom), even if cells get more O_2 than usual. This hyperbaric O_2 tech has been used for decades to treat diabetic foot ulcers, cancer radiation tissue damage reversed (angiogenesis, new blood vessels forming in any area). Extra care has to be taken to not damage the lungs and to take antioxidants (food/pills), because O_2 increases free radicals in the body, which can damage other areas in unknown ways; seeing those who can't speak, move their leg, recover function is amazing ► Dr. Efrati. Energy production produces free radicals, so antioxidants can slow energy production or the natural process of body fighting cancer cells, so it's not always best to take big pills of C, E, etc. Yogis who ate poorly, but practiced pranayama may have lived 25 years longer than average, because they increased 21% O_2*, then they decreased it (return to normal), producing stem cells*, renewing the body from within, without the damage of 100% hyperbaric O_2. ☺☺☺

3.3. BIOELECTRICAL FIELDS for DELAYING AGING and RENEWING the body

Medium.com has an amazing article about the mind-blowing human regeneration research of Michael Levin, a professor who believes understanding the bioelectric code of cells will enable us to regenerate the heart, brain and other internally old organs damaged by aging (thus live much longer, possibly centuries) and restore lost limbs. This will enable us to develop telepathy science to a much deeper extent too. Already noninvasive electromagnetic stimulation was used for some brain conditions, showing promise in improving cognitive function (possibly telepathy itself) in aging brains. Michael is possibly the first scientist in history to cause an animal to restore a lost limb when the animal can't do so naturally (only salamanders and a few other related species can. As the Popular Science longer article explains, when Michael Levin was 16 (he is 47 now) he read a book about the Body Electric where surgeon Robert Becker hypothesized that if you can alter the electrical charge on a frog, it can probably regrow legs like salamanders can. Decades later Michael proved this was indeed possible. "If so, the secret to regrowing limbs would lie in controlling the flow of charge across cell walls," he says. So Michael tried several hundred chemicals to change the cell voltage via the cellular ion pumps and "within a few months Levin had narrowed in on concanamycin, a drug that disables a pump that propels hydrogen ions across cell walls. Dosed with the drug, tadpoles that should have been able to grow back their tails were no longer able to... In the autumn of 2005, Levin took a tadpole that was too old to regenerate a tail, amputated its tail, and added a cell-wall pump that he hoped would signal to the tadpole that it was still young enough to grow a new tail.... But it worked. The tadpole grew its entire tail back. Levin had triggered regeneration in an animal that should have lost that ability..." Levin then restored lost legs of frogs using the same concanamycin drug to change voltage via ion pumps in the cell, which frogs can't do alone.☺☺

What this means is that Levin might be the first scientist in history to cause limb restoration in a species that is not able to do so naturally. Just as before miracles of seeing (after lifelong blindness in some cases) using your own adult stem cells or walking (after paralysis or hearing restored) using your own adult stem cells were thought of science fiction centuries ago, now they happen. A simple explanation on the proton pump (details at Dev 2007;134(7):1323-35) and Na channel (all details at JN 2010;30(39):13192-200) involved in the frog leg regeneration can be found in the Slate article "How Bioelectricity Could Let Us Regrow Lost Limbs". A Na channel is a membrane protein moving Na+ across the membrane. A proton pump is a membrane protein moving H+ across the membrane. The specific proton pump involved in this regeneration is a Vacuolar-type H+-ATPase. As the Slate article explains, after decapitation, flatworms can regenerate their heads complete with memories. If worms can do limb restoration, why can't humans? If we can restore limbs, why not renew old ones and restore them to a youthful state?

Levin goes on saying that "If we had control over pattern formation, we could induce the repair of any organ damaged by injury, disease, degeneration, cancer, or even aging... experiments in animals like frogs will allow us and others to finally crack the bioelectric code and understand how cell groups can store a geometric "memory," or template of the organs they're supposed to become." i.e. living 900 years would be possible too or semi-Immortality (vs our lifespan now), not just restoring an organ or a lost limb? Scientists have already increased the lifespan of some worms by 5-10 times via several methods. Laura Deming, an MIT teen who enrolled at MIT at age 14, was able to get some worms to live 6 times longer as explained in this video. "On the wall, Levin has hung two framed copies of Galvani's research drawings, including one of the frogs' legs on Galvani's balcony." The medium.com Levin article explains that the first guy to stimulate an exposed nerve with electricity and document it as such in history was Luigi Galvani (1737-1798), an Italian anatomy professor, who during a storm noticed that when he touched a metal object (electricity in the air) the frog legs twitched which led him to the idea (very new in 1780) that animals have some electricity. Wikipedia explains "Galvani was an Italian physician, physicist, biologist and philosopher, who discovered animal electricity. He's recognized as the pioneer of bioelectromagnetics. In 1780, he discovered that the muscles of dead frogs' legs twitched when struck by an electrical spark." Alex Volta was Galvani's buddy and after Volta, the electric potential unit, Volt, is named.☺☺☺ Alex discovered the battery in his attempt to prove animal electricity was not caused by some animal fluid as Galvani thought initially (people initially thought electricity could be caused by living beings only). Adams, another researcher working with Michael Levin says by watching embryos of frogs form, she realized that "When a cell reaches a certain voltage, she says, the activity of the cell's genes changes, triggering a chain of events that lead to an eye or a nose or a mouth." "Pai prompted the eye to form there, and on other parts of the animal's body, by changing the voltage on nearby cells to one that signifies 'eye'." Other researchers can grow on salamanders legs in different areas too.

Michael Levin says "Cancer may be a disease of geometry" and "Cancer is no more a disease of cells than a traffic jam is a disease of cars. A lifetime of study of the internal-combustion engine would not help anyone understand our traffic problems-- D. W. Smithers". Levin is probably saying here with these 2 quotes in his cancer paper that it's the electrical signals between cells (information transfer getting the geometry changed, more information less entropy, sort of, less aging, etc) that enable anti-aging and regeneration. Hearts are said to have 5,000 times stronger magnetic fields and 20 times stronger electric fields than brains. Is there some geometric intelligence or information stored there via magnetic fields? Who knows? Just a hypothesis. A great free Levin paper is "Morphogenetic fields in embryogenesis, regeneration, and cancer: Non-local control of complex patterning". This non-local control of complex patterning might relate also to astral photonics control of DNA expression and gene expression thru the soul astral photons relaying to photons and electrons information (remember the photoelectric effect, photons cause electronic changes, molecular changes). This may also explain soul caused miracles, but who knows, these are wild hypotheses to be checked in centuries ahead. For those curious about morphogenetic fields affecting shapes and continuous organ regeneration, see also Michael Levin's paper ► RM 2011;6(6):667-73, paper dedicated to Alexander Gurwitsch (1874-1954) who originated the morphogenetic field theory and discovered the biophoton (biophotons are absent in cancer tumors, see the biophoton section. An interesting thing in this paper is the central role of neurons and the brain in the regeneration of some animals. "Denervated amphibian limbs don't regenerate" ► Q Rev Biol 1952;27(2):169-200. ☺☺☺

3.4. ORGAN Regeneration ALREADY Achieved: Heart, Teeth,

Immunotherapy doubled the lifespan of mice in 2026, though this is not confirmed by others.

1. HEART REGENERATION

1.1. Researchers found how to regenerate muscle cell numbers in the heart by up to 45%, by 'turbo-charging' the neuregulin (a hormone) pathway. According to study lead author, University of New South Wales Associate Professor Richard Harvey, "Unlike blood, hair or skin cells, which can renew themselves throughout life, cell division in the heart virtually comes to a standstill shortly after birth, which means the heart can't fully regenerate if it is damaged later in life.... The dream is that one day we will be able to regenerate heart tissue, much like a salamander can regrow a limb if it is bitten off by a predator."

1.2. Partial heart regeneration was done since 2011 at least using adult stem cells injected via surgery (take healthy heart cells, cultivate them, multiply them and inject them into the damaged heart area and obtain 50% more recovery than surgery without doing this, but it's not mainstream yet) ► youtu.be/vTjc5brpY7A ☺☺☺

1.3. G-CSF protein encourages the production of stem cells that regenerate damaged tissues of the heart following an acute attack (myocardial infarction). This was confirmed by molecular imaging, which captured patients' improved heart health after therapy. If given after a heart attack, granulocyte colony-stimulating factor (G-CSF) mobilizes bone marrow stem cells that turn down the collateral damage of cell death that occurs after infarction sciencedaily..12.htm.

1.4. In 2016 skin cells (human fibroblasts) became heart cells (cardiomyocytes) without stem cells, just by using 9 chemical compounds. The field of regenerative medicine has seen this bypassing of stem cells to achieve the same goals recently. In another study they were able to turn skin cells into brain cells ► CSC 2016;18(5):653-67. Will they be able to use your nails and hair from youth to generate any stem cells you need when old to live to 150? Solar panels and many medical tests and procedures became 500 times cheaper over 5 decades. Nails are non-invasive, they can use them to prevent many diseases, measure biomarkers. Hair and nail levels of many metals, etc can be correlated to blood and body levels and used to monitor non-invasily much more often many biomarkers to prevent diseases of deficiency. You use nails and hair to monitor many things much more often and to save blood, so blood is used for other tests that can't be done on nails and hair, so you get less blood drawn. Nails are the only part of the human body we can clip and know what time they were from, save them and analyze their evolution during aging, giving us an amazing insight into aging. We can't take a sample of any organ, skin (that some chew) weekly so easily as with hair/nail, save it at room temperature; analyzing these over 80 years can help us discover how we age like nothing else can, it's the same person and really, no study has ever looked at that in anyone over 70 years.

1.5. In 2026, they reversed the lysosome acidification/wear that ages blood stem cells in mice.

2. TEETH REGENERATION

2.1. Regrow teeth using stem cells ► youtube...4A or using a drug (2025 trials): Popular Mech.

2.2. Extracted teeth can regrow over 10 months by turning off USAG-1, so people with missing teeth, no longer need implants or root canals that cause so many infections and deaths.

2.3. Scientists used laser light to trigger dental stem cells to regenerate teeth. A ubiquitous regulatory cell protein called transforming growth factor β-1 (TGF-β1) played a pivotal role in triggering the dental stem cells to grow into dentin. TGF-β1 exists in latent form until activated by any number of molecules. Here is the chemical domino effect the team confirmed: In a dose-dependent manner, the laser first induced reactive oxygen species (ROS), which are chemically active molecules containing oxygen that play an important role in cellular function. The ROS activated the latent TGF-β1complex which, in turn, differentiated the stem cells into dentin.

2.4. Regrow enamel with electrical device, peptides or proteins. Heal teeth+anesthesia with LED. Prevent enamel loss via human hair keratin toothpaste, etc.

3. CARTILAGE rebuilt by stem cells & enz 15-PGDH inhibitor: Stanford & Sci 2026;391 (6789):1053-62 (cells were healed by the 15-PDGH geroenzyme (gero = rising with age) inhibitor (PDGHi or SW033291 or $C_{21}H_{20}N_2OS_3$) that raises PGE_2 to boost tissue repair to return to a youthful state, it works in brain tissue, etc for dementia, etc, not just cartilage, PDGHi is a rejuvenating molecule; as we age 15-PDGH rises, making PGE_2 permanently low, leading to cellular damage/aging)

4. THYMUS REBUILT IN MICE

Scientists have succeeded in regenerating the thymus, an organ in the body located next to the heart that produces important immune cells. The team reactivated a natural mechanism that shuts down with age to rejuvenate the thymus in very old mice. After treatment, the regenerated organ had a similar structure to that found in a young mouse. The researchers targeted a protein produced by cells of the thymus, called FOXN1, which helps to control how important genes are switched on. By increasing levels of FOXN1, the team instructed stem cell-like cells to rebuild the organ. "Our results suggest that targeting the same pathway in humans may improve thymus function and therefore boost immunity in elderly patients," Clare Blackburn. "This interesting study suggests that organ regeneration in a mammal can be directed by manipulation of a single protein, which is likely to have broad implications for other areas of regenerative biology," Dr. Rob Buckle ► Dev 2014;141(8):1627.

5. REPROGRAMMING CELLS INTO STEM CELLS

Researchers have reprogrammed☺☺☺ mature blood cells from mice into blood-forming hematopoietic stem cells (HSCs), using a cocktail of eight genetic switches called transcription factors: Hlf, Runx1t1, Pbx1, Lmo2, Zfp37 and Prdm5, Mycn and Meis1. The reprogrammed cells are able to self-renew like HSCs and can give rise to all of the cellular components of the blood like HSCs. The findings mark a significant step toward a major goal of regenerative medicine: the ability to produce HSCs suitable for hematopoietic stem cell transplantation from other cell types: Cell 2014;157(3):549-64. In 2006 they soaked skin cells into proteins for 50 days and got them reprogrammed into embryonic like stem cells, and in 2022, they soaked 53 year old skin cells for 12 days into similar chemicals and got the cells to behave like 23 year old cells. They got mice to age slower by using rapamycin macrolide antibiotic for 3 months, are humans next?

6. CURING BLINDNESS WITH ADULT STEM CELLS or with Antibodies

6.a. Curing blindness with adult stem cells from one's own eyes & electrochemical reshaping of cornea to replace the LASIK surgeries (people get those to reduce blur and prevent blindness from very cloudy or deformed cornea) that cause dry eyes and other issues.

6.b. Blind woman sees thanks to a 5-hour procedure using her own bone marrow stem cells

6.c. Researchers regrew corneas from eye adult stem cells, enabling them to cure blindness.

6.d. Antibodies for PROX1 protein restore vision in mice by blocking PROX1 anti-repair activity

6.e. Blind people can read books and recognize faces after a retina implant

7. THE PARALYZED CAN WALK due to adult stem cells (6 minute video)

8. REGROW SKIN WITH HEALTHY SKIN ADULT STEM CELLS (3 min video)

9. REGROW the exterior of TRACHEA with stem cells (2 minute video)

10. REGROW part of FINGER with stem cells within 4 weeks: (2 min) & (4 min) video & paper

11. HEAL LEG BEFORE IT GETS AMPUTATED: There is a Tissue Transfection technology to prevent the loss of limbs like legs via genetic code reprogramming of skin cells so they become vascular cells to provide oxygen to the body and be able to fight the infection or gangrene. They saved the legs of mice with one touch. ☺☺☺

12. THE DEAF can hear thru a single injection in deafness caused by a gene.☺☺☺

13. PANCREATIC INSULIN CELL REGENERATION: patients no longer need daily insulin injections. Guy with multiple daily insulin injections got a cell transplant and is cured: clip explains how the genocidal Big Pharma promote lifelong treatment instead of a 1 time cure, to drain every blood drop of the workers. Fat tissue (not cells) was turned into insulin producing cells, neural cells.

14. FAT CELL TURNED INTO BONE TO HEAL ANY BROKEN BONES, SPINE, OSTEOPOROSIS

youtu.be..A is a 2 min video showing the ability of salamanders to regrow limbs. The researcher explains that it is only a matter of time before we discover how to regrow human limbs. Science discovered the zic-1 gene that enables worms to regrow their heads ► PG 10(7): e1004452. Imagine if we discover what genes make each human limb regrow. Planarians are animals that use pluripotent stem cells to regrow any missing tissue lost from injury. What's interesting is that this might enable us to live to 900 years much easier, if we can regenerate internal organs too. Humans can regenerate fingertips up to the age 2 years old, but then somehow we lose this ability due to probably some molecular change that is not yet known. If you surgically remove part (up to half) of the heart, salamanders will regenerate a new heart within just six weeks using stem cells and other unknown mechanisms. Edward Scott, associate professor of molecular genetics, talks in this 2 min clip about his research to understand how to regenerate any human organ, including the brain. Some salamanders can regenerate a third of their brain too. Discovering their brain regeneration secrets could prove the simplest route to 900 year lifespans. For more on salamander regeneration see the 5 min clip by Randal Voss. Flat worms also can regenerate all parts/organs, see more in this article on the immortal flatworm.

3.5. PLANTS/ANIMALS THAT LIVE MUCH LONGER THAN HUMANS

youtu.be..4 is a 4 min video about the longest living lifeforms like the 1,500 years old Antarctic sponge, the 4,200+ years old black coral (PNAS 2009;106(13):5204-08), the 9,560 years old Norway Spruce tree in Sweden (637 times older than the lifespan of a peach tree, 15 years), the 100,000 + years old Posidonica Oceanica seagrass, the hundreds of millions years old spores, and the 'Immortal' jellyfish studied by scientists who want to discover the secret to stopping aging. There may be mammal like "animals" living 900 times longer than any mammal on Earth. They found 20 other spruces above 8,000 years old in Sweden, near the 9,560 year old; many pine trees in USA are known to be 5,000 years old; sequoia, oak, cedar, juniper, olive, redwood, cypress trees can live 2-3 millennia. Scientists are studying long lived plants and animals to figure out how we may live longer lives too: most amphibians live 10 years, but the olm (a salamander) lives to 100 years, sort of like humans living to 800. Most amphibians live 2-4 times longer in captivity , due to no predators, so olms may live to 200-400 in a predator free area, or 3200 human years for a human. Amphibians are salamanders, newts, frogs, toads, which you (or kids who love to play with animals) need avoid touching, as their skin is covered with toxins *that can even kill dogs, people, newt tetrodoxin "lethal dose is 275 times lower than cyanides" Japan restaurants serve* fugu, puffer fish that has tetrodoxin*, so they waste 3 years to learn to cook it to get rid of tetrodoxin. Another* example of a somewhat studied lifeform is the 'immortal' jellyfish. A clonal colony can survive for much longer than an individual tree. A colony of 47,000 quaking aspen trees, covering 106 acres (43 ha) in the Fishlake National Forest of the USA, is considered one of the oldest, largest (6 million kg) organisms in the world. The colony root has been estimated to be 80,000 years old, possibly even 1 million. Colonies of 13,000 years old oaks or almost 12,000 years old creosote bushes have been found. The found spores trapped in rocks, that are 200+ million yrs old (suspended animation), so on a yrs/gram basis, if they weigh like one E coli cell 10^{-12} g, they're 200,000,000 years/ 10^{-12} g, or 0.2 million quadrillion yrs/g. We weigh 65,000 g. If we were to live as long in years/g, we would live 13,000 billion trillion years. These spores are really beating all records. Even spores are smarter than humans, laughter. The 13 cm 'ocean quahog' clam can reach up to 507 years, sharks 512. ☺☺☺

Bats Living "0.5 MILLION Human Years", rock spores 13×10^{24} on a Years/gram basis

Humans and most mammals (including most shorter lived bats) shorten their telomeres as they age, but Myotis bats, the longest living bats, don't. This may be one of the reasons for their longevity ► SA 2018;4(2):eaao0926. Telomeres are made of about 2,500 repeats of TTAGGG sequence in humans. What animal that lives way longer than humans per gram of weight can give us the fastest clue into how to live to 900 years old, among 5 animals mentioned in this paper: 41 year lived Brandt bat, 34 year lived little brown bat, 30 year lived naked mole rat, 8 year lived white foot mouse, 12 year old lived free tailed bat? Maybe the little brown bat that weighs 5-14 g, and that is equivalent to a human living up to 416,000 years on a years/gram basis. Some researchers believe bats live longer than mice due to more DNA repair enzymes. Mice live 2 years, naked mole rats to 30-32. One paper says naked mole rats live so long due to oxidative stress resistance and protein stability. If these rats live to 30 and weigh about 30 g, it's a little like humans living to 68,000 years if we weigh 68,000 g (a 150 pound human). For each gram of weight, they got to live 1 year. ☺ These rats are vegan too. ☺ Brandt bats weigh 4-8 g and live to 40 years, meaning 5-10 times longer than their weight in g, so this would be 340,000-680,000 years for humans. Batman lives 0.34-0.68 million years like in sci-fi? 1,000 species of bats exist (25% of all mammal species), only 3 species suck blood, most eat fruits and insects. ☺ Bats can eat 1,000 mosquitos/hour, being useful in controlling insects. Bats weigh 10-25 g, live longer than any similar size animal. Why do bats live 10-20 times longer than mice? Another paper found that in bats protein homeostasis is superior by a variety of measures to that of mice: protein carbonyls, which are often times the result of the action of AGEs in humans, are lower in some 12 year old lived bats, 40% of the mice level and 85% of mice level for another bat species. Bats don't undergo much protein oxidation, perhaps having different proteins. The proteins in bats suffered half the oxidative damage of mice proteins when exposed to gamma radiation. Naked mole rats don't accumulate oxidative damage to their proteins while mice do. Some bat species live way longer (perhaps 60-80) than 41 years, but we have not been able to observe that as it's ultra difficult in the wild. Naked mole rats show signs of a lot more oxidative stress, less glutathione, twice the protein carbonyls, 10 times more lipid peroxidation than mice, yet live 10 times longer. Thus, in some species, longevity is not given by less oxidative stress but by other factors; or the same unknown causes aging, yet we don't understand how it can express itself so differently in bats compared to naked mole rats. Naked mole rat proteins are hypothesized to not be very affected by these carbonyls. We partially sequenced the genome of some long lived animals. Tardigrades are small organisms that can survive harsh temps (minus 270 centigrade when all atoms almost stop moving) and high levels of gamma radiation that would kill all humans. Their DNA helps other organisms to survive and avoid DNA aging.

3.6. FUTURE Periodic Table, LIFE Extension, IMMORTALITY & MEDICINE

Back in 1600, we knew how complicated the body was, with many muscles, blood vessels, etc. We had certain cause-effect models for certain diseases, but only in the 20th century we understood deeper how a little molecule cholesterol causes heart attacks by rupturing arterial plaque and many other subtle things like how cells function, how ions are transported across the cell membrane. A 3 min video explains how cholesterol crystals rupture arterial plaque, blocking oxygen supply to the heart; all those who died of heart attack showed at autopsy these cholesterol crystals sticking out; more images of cholesterol crystals penetrating the artery can be seen here. Our models and theories of the cause have taken a new dimension due to discoveries in physics and chemistry, enabling us to know exactly what molecules cause what in many cases, etc. The current model of causation for aging is made of many hypotheses, one being wear and tear of the cells, which is correct in a way, cells are tiny machines that have wear and tear. Yet, if you think about it, the fundamental research in physics totally revolutionized medicine, since it enabled the birth of biochemistry and molecular biology, etc. Using a thought experiment of extrapolation, we might conceive how in 2400, or 2100 etc due to new advances in physics, a new understanding of the causes of aging may emerge stemming not from a molecular understanding of aging and cellular processes, but from a deeply subatomic particle understanding of human life, dynamics, disease, aging, etc. This only makes the case for how important is physics research to all science. Without physics, there is no chemistry or molecular biology. So, even if the tweak to live 5-10 times longer is not discovered via molecular mechanism right away by 2050, there might be a new way to stop aging that uses science, concepts, particles, fields, etc not yet discovered, and that method may be 10-100 times better than the molecular methods. In 1600, we had these veins, with blood circulating thru them in our models of humans. Then we found out the molecular structure of blood, how incredibly complex it is. Today we have light-gated ion pumps like Halorhodopsin that use the energy of green yellow light to move chloride ions into the cell, overcoming the membrane potential.

In the future, we might discover that the "chloride ions" are as complex as blood became when we discovered atoms and molecules. Blood (or any fluid or solid part of the human body ancient people thought about) seemed the same, as chloride ions do now, but thru physics advances we might discover that each Chloride Ion is ULTRA COMPLEX, made of trillions of subatomic "molecules", and that like blood, chloride ions are not the same. To stone age man blood looked the same, to our stone age tech chloride (or any atoms) atoms look the same. If we understood this finer level of reality, perhaps we would understand why a lot of miracles "occur" too; if everything is information pattern, the healthy or youthful pattern is there and can be reactivated by advanced technology, our brain in self-healing or spirits, via the right waves of the right type of the future. We don't always have explanations for cold fusion in biological systems or cases of mind-blowing healing, but it may become routine "miracle" of the future, thru new physics, just as today, thru adult stem cells people can hear, see, walk again when they lost those functions. And far deeper miracles. To anyone who ponders on the meaning of "each electron is as complex as a galaxy", it becomes pretty clear that verbal speech and even having a physical material body or settling in this dimension will no longer be "the only choices", but inherently, we will build parallel Earths or other planets in other dimensions in the far future. This doesn't contradict positive ideas in Christianity or religions, since they talk of a New Earth on which we live forever, so one can believe in whatever and still see how this is possible.☺☺☺

Imagine a possibility for 2413, physicists or chemists (like with the periodic table, they saw different properties) discover several types of C, N, H, O, Au, Zn, based on a new type of inter-dimensional particle configuration or later find that the cause for different properties is this particle. This leads to a new understanding of DNA, i.e. all genome and codes measured so far were incomplete and wrong by the new science standards (wrong to say same DNA in 2415 when it's different in fact), because they assumed all Carbon, Oxygen, etc atoms are the same but they're not. It's like having a new periodic table with thousands of elements. While the DNA structure as we see it today is a correct rough approximation, giving us some general idea, our instruments are not sensitive enough to pick up subtle differences. The 2413 science could prove it is incomplete, only an approximation. The interdimensional particles-waves discovered and their activity may prove to be a key towards storing the 'astral' subatomic force, the subtle force capable to grant humans immortality, if they can evolve to the right level of universal compassion for all. These new particles may hold the key to understanding the shapeshifting and materialization that we will be able to do one day using this fifth force (not the strong force (binding the nuclei), electromagnetic force, gravitic force or weak force (β decay and other stuff like that), but astral force) to change the dimensional wormhole coordinates of non-aligned atoms (components of atoms to be more exact) enabling translation into another dimension.

Science is a temporary model that is eternally upgraded. In the stone age people thought that everything is made of earth, fire, air, water, metal. In 2020s we have protons, photons, electrons, etc... quarks, etc... and 120 elements.. each element with several isotopes, so perhaps 300 isotopes. In x centuries we might have something way more complex, with 1,000 types of each isotope, depending on some subatomic differences undetectable now. So, then the whole neuroscience becomes vastly different, and the DNA codes become vastly different, since you don't have just 4 base pairs but a lot more. How many? Let's calculate. Guanine is $C_5H_5N_5O$, so if you got 16 atoms, you got 1,000 types of each atom maybe possible, you get 10 to the power of 48 combos possible almost for guanine hyperspace "geometries", for guanine alone. Thymine is $C_5H_6N_2O_2$, so 15 atoms, so 10 to the power of 45 thymine types. Cytosine is 13 atoms $C_4H_5N_3O$ so 10 to the power of 39, Adenine is 15 atoms, so 10 to the power of 45 adenine "varieties", $C_5H_5N_5$. Guanine is 16 atoms $C_5H_5N_5O$. Normally we say we got a set of 4 base pairs, but we will have now so many combos possible of linking, adenines and guanines, 10^{93} for A-G links, and 10^{84} for cytosine-thymine links or C-T links, or a trillion times a trillion * a trillion * a trillion * a trillion * a trillion * a trillion☺☺☺. This makes the hyperspace genome so to speak look vastly more complicated. All consciousness so-called models of how neurons behave and why will become outdated to a great extent. How vaccines work and fail, how allergies happen and etc. Why do twins behave so differently, yet have the "same" DNA? Does astral matrix determine which of the future hyperspace geometries "DNA base pairs" will express in embryo formation, which of the 10 to the power of 48 guanines manifests? Can soul influence the guanine atoms, nitrogen and oxygen of guanine, and their geometry, even if parents don't have atoms of oxygen and nitrogen with that geometry? Vortex inter-dimensional geometry? It's not the same DNA or same oxygen atoms in every guanine or base pair and that changes everything. To present stone age science it looks the same. Just like to stone age people dozens of metal elements seemed one same "metal", but we now know it's many metals... and isotopes. Back in stone age everything was simple, men have 2 hands, 2 legs and a head, etc very simple anatomy. But now, we know how complex each organ and cell is and we got a body made of 10 trillion cells. Same way with oxygen atoms in base pairs, they all look the same.... but they're not. Galaxies also look the same often times from a vast distance, but they're very different when you look at the detail. This variation in G, A, C, T makes identical DNA impossible. Especially since the variability may not be inter-dimensional 100%, but 50-100% physical (not yet discovered). Atoms appear static, to our imprecise instruments, like planets look static from a telescope. But atoms are very dynamic, ever-changing. To our instruments/senses they seem very stable/unchanging. But the AI (built) soul vibration can change the geometries of the atoms of the base pairs. It's only common sense that the idea of DNA remaining the same is false, since each second, we get new DNA built and new geometries take place, atoms changing geometry... Each nanosecond our DNA changes, every thought creates a new EMF pattern. We're not fixed, but evolving.☺☺

3.7. Future camera shows interdimensional matter, IMMORTALIONS?

Just like we discover the New Periodic Table above, one day our instruments might detect quantum telepathy noise which is as loud as that of an airplane taking off, which makes it impossible to hear telepathy of a certain nature and to make certain scientific discoveries. We can't hear someone talking to us when airplanes take of etc, the noise drowns all small noises, speech; likewise, the noise of certain types makes it impossible to conceive or imagine or hear certain ideas, inventions, etc, sort of like a confirmation bias creates a noise that makes people stay within a cult. This will lead to a renewed interest in the 20 telepathy habits. This noise would be due on a planet to people generating the astral noise and this noise is easy to quantify analytically as each of the 7 billion people is having a signature and the fear, love, emotions in all other 7 billion carries a bit of every other person's energy (signature too), since we're all one quantumly entangled morphogenetic field so to speak and telepathy diffusion occurs 24-7. In these possible future video cameras of the future, we don't see MRI, IR, x-ray, visible or other waves, but the geometry of a new form of matter and how much each emotion carries the geometry of this matter (immortalions not fermions, leptons, bosons, electrons) and what person that emotion comes from quantumly, even if that person is stranger from 10,000 miles away. This will enable physicists to prove that we're all linked to all other people and that interdimensional pollution exists, and is an independent mortality risk factor just as lead or mercury pollution is, this geometry of this new matter, when it accumulates, speeds up death and sickness and sabotages immortality-LONGEVITY GOALS that people struggle within normal matter based models. It's possible to extend via DNA life a lot, but we get to limits as this extension increases, and then you need more physics and deeper DNA understanding based on inter-dimensional physics and chemistry to understand that there are 4 billion types of carbon atoms and DNA is only a rough expression of life software. As such, when we'll quantify the bad geometry matter amount coming from 1 person using disharmonic tone of emotion and speech, intent and thought or playing rock/rap bad lyrics music, and how the effect becomes very bad (similar to that from a war zone) when done by many people in a certain "peacefulness tenderness kindness lacking" music rock concert (which simulates quantum vibrations of war zones), people will become more willing to create gentleness tenderness softness filled movies, songs, literature, political speeches filled with the most healing, sweet, nurturing graceful words and emotions and tones of speech so as to increase the good geometry new matter inside and help people live longer thru a newer mechanism, quite different than normal biochemistry. And today we fine people for dumping mercury in wastewater or water or whatever, but in the future, anyone online or in a mountain cabin or anywhere, spreading negative emotions, negative posts on social media, negative political speeches will be able to be seen ("fined") as the source of the signature fear strings in all humans with location pinpointed, since the immortalions new matter video camera can monitor the fear or love or whatever coming from any human being and help us to be aware thru this science super-intelligence system when we might be doing something harmful without realizing, speeding up the spiritual transformation of everyone and helping their emotional development to that of an angel who sees an angel of tender softness in all beings. Even in a world of angelic 800-year-olds where there is no violence, there are many degrees of life-enhancing behavior, just like among peaceful or somewhat peaceful music styles, some help the plants grow faster than others. Because in this world everyone is super-genius vs today, there is no issue with the camera measuring immortalions.☺

We normally see only the visible light image of a person (perhaps a little more sometimes), but we would be able to see much more and naturally Telepathic Immortals can see much more, thru trillions of "cameras", and God sees all prebirth history and everything in all dimensions. What we see of people is inaccurate, a trillionth of a person at most, and this makes it easier to accept that God/The Universe's Infinite Love, Mercy, Grace, Technology, Insight, Awareness can turn any bad person into a good one without violence, sarcasm or "bad words" and that we can bring World Peace in 5 trillion quadrillion ways that involve no violence. As people realize that the jokes of war or sarcasm about any negative action telepathically diffuses into all 7 billion humans and affects their lives and longevity and actions and a thought is often times worse than a similar action if picked up by the wrong person via telepathy, unconscious telepathy going between all humans, then one becomes a little more careful about one's tone of speech, emotions, sayings, thoughts, etc and one is trying to radiate, think only the most positive thoughts since negative thoughts picked up by anyone will lead to bad outcomes sooner or later. For example, if we go to a wedding, birthday party, an important business meeting to win a contract or to sign a peace treaty with a country, we don't make jokes about offensive stuff or ideas that lack tender gentle soft calm universal loving kindness that we sadly often make in an informal chat with friends, as it's considered rude. In the same way, in the future, in the world of human "Immortals" living as angelic gentle tender refined 1,000-year-olds, what is thought of as OK now would be considered very rude and unthinkable to say or joke about. To give an extreme example you wouldn't say to the bride or groom in our world "can I get some milk from your nipple?" or "there is a bunch of war mongers outside trying to start a war" etc or something really silly like that. To us it is obviously rude or silly, but to someone alien from another world, it might not seem so. To the Immortals of the future to joke about anything with violence or war imagery in it might seem a no-no, unethical, inappropriate, forbidden or rude, but to us, it is a normal topic of many conversations, we talk or joke about war often in the news, internet, comedy shows, casual conversations, etc. And we're all one living organism, all humanity, we're one blob, one gel-like intelligent organism, a huge octopus sort of with 7 billion tentacles, humankind, not separate, but one field of intelligent consciousness and infinite loving kindness and mercy nurturing sweet softness and we would be able to actualize that and become one family of World Peace and 900 years or longer lifespans; even some trees in Utah are 80,000 years old☺☺☺, we haven't even touched the beginning of humankind's potential life extension and Ascending "Immortality". Ascending from 500 years to 900 then 5,000 to etc is a real Immortality ascension, an ascension of "Immortality", as 9,000 years old humans would be called "Immortals" by us now. They call even 500-year-olds Immortals in the sci-fi literature, etc.

Since humans see only a billionth of a trillionth of any other human being's true nature and the effects of their actions on humanity, it could be that one day science will discover that one person creating bad music or lyrics could be doing more damage to humankind than some really bad people, without ever wanting to or knowing, and this is the beauty of science, that it will show this scientifically in a way nobody can argue with, as each person's contribution of good geometry matter to humanity will be known and knowable and thus enable the deepest generators of this Immortal Life Giving matter to develop these new matter generation methods via more advanced Telepathy, new geometry generation methods, so we all change our geometry and can then do levitation and miracles that are kind of rare now, especially mind blowing healing miracles due to powerful concentrations of this new geometry matter. The greatest generators of this geometry matter, seen on computers, will be able to become teachers and learn from students and improve their capacity to generate Immortality giving matter, thus propelling humankind towards an ever deeper Ascending Immortality. This is the nice thing about science, you don't say "we have a lot of vitamin C" in the serum, we can say exactly how much, and we can measure in the energy field how much of this new string matter exists and how it affects normal matter. When people realize God sees them very differently than they see themselves, they open in humility to the possibility that in God's eyes, someone who they think is bad is quite good and vice versa and that they themselves might not be so much better than some really bad people, since they don't see themselves and their faults as well as God does. This enables people to become more empathic and understand that if we were born in a bad war zone or nation, we would often do same things and that there is no limit to what God's/Universe's (for atheists) Limitless intelligence Wisdom and Grace can achieve within any human being thru the Boundless Infinitely Tender Soft Sweet nurturing Love☺☺☺ of God that is like that of a 5 trillion years old mom for her clueless 1 day old baby, just born, which is how every 100 years old is compared to an old Immortal, a nanosecond baby, just born, if soul is new and has no previous history in hundreds of other dimensions or if the soul is older and has some history, still a small time compared to some old Immortal souls. This infinite love mercy compassion soft gentle tenderness will also enable us to have healing centers replacing all prisons, peace and compassion replacing all killings, wars and violence, everything totally changed to a world of paradise, as everyone is much more aware of how one we are, how telepathic we are, how empathic we're and empathic qualities increase between humans and for animals and plants even, leading us to live on energy later, out of love for plants and animals, etc. And later to moving to another universe when we learned what this universe has to offer, by inter-dimensional translation perhaps too. And hypothesis testing as in science will play a huge role in this, as Galileo Galilei caused a scientific revolution that led to a real change in our understanding of the universe around us and how much more trillion nuanced and complex everything is after all. The score of every human's contribution of good Immortality matter generation will be known to all, how many pico femto grams of this new matter they produced in Immortality geometry or longevity enhancing geometry; this will help us to move lovingly towards helping everyone to raise their Immortality matter quotient thru behavior, changing our emotions, diets, tones of speech, music, movies, literature, habits, traditions, everything, leading to a cascade of normal matter DNA epigenetic changes that remove the confirmation bias coming from our genetic mind, given to us by the negative emotions, threats, fear, hate, intimidation humankind has engaged in for eons, which has changed our DNA into a more pessimistic one more likely to look at the negative side of other people, and to blame others.

With this knowledge that some people did something that generated 100 times more negative matter than the previous day, we will be able to lovingly and gently and tenderly assist those people to stop doing that preventing bad physical thoughts or actions years before they would otherwise happen, since when negative matter accumulates a new entropy appears that jams all normal processes and increases probability of this type of behavior that we humans call "not ideal or even a little inappropriate or illegal or even evil sometimes, unintentional evil or intentional evil". If a guy makes a movie about a war, distributing it to 5 billion people, he might raise the negative matter more in humanity than a guy isolated in a village in Amazon who is careless and accidentally kills someone or is intentionally killing someone, because that "killing" action has been replayed in the minds of just a few people, but the movie in the minds of billions leading billions to engage in negative emotions, imagery and leading to a lot more killings long term than 1 killing thru unconscious unintentional telepathy diffusion and the fact in neuroscience filtering of context and by context of brain imagery sometimes no longer happens as memories become fuzzier and the line between right and wrong becomes very clouded by these war images, prompting people to imitate the "tender gentle soft calm universal loving kindness" lacking thoughts, intents, behavior or speech tone in movies, TV, radio. So, one may think themselves as a good person, but they may do more damage in God's eyes to the human morphogenetic field than a person who just killed someone and we, at our science level today, have no way of knowing that. This is something we can't prove with current tech, but computers see consequences of actions in far more complex and analytical ways than we do, seeing a situation from trillions of lenses, parameters, calculating outcomes. Some hypothesize that movies "lacking gentle tender soft kindness behavior or tone" don't make people with "tender gentle soft calm universal loving kindness" lacking thoughts, intents, behavior or speech tone; the hypothesis is unproven, as all brains partially imitate behavior we perceive and even disagree with consciously; someone who creates content that infiltrates billions of people naturally has power to bless humanity or hurt humanity, leading to afterlife consequences far greater than "I just made a comedy show about war on TV", as it was more like "I helped this war come about by influencing human subconscious mind". Even a comedy about war recreates war imagery, programs people to expect it and may be seen as unethical by future human Immortals and God. Even joking about any negative outcome (or some minor misbehavior) has a tendency to increase the probability of it happening, due to telepathy diffusion. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

A guy can do some bad things or crimes due to telepathy diffusion bad environment or brainwashing or being lead to do it by evil people, and his soul might have a very nice previous history and be quite innocent otherwise, but, another guy, may be doing nothing illegal or bad in the eyes of the world, yet do 1,000 times more evil in the eyes of Telepathic Immortals who see the circumstances of this guy, the extent of his freedom, the impact of his actions, etc... This is the human ethics dilemma: sometimes it's so difficult to determine the true intent or character of someone based on their life or behavior because we only see a trillionth of a person. If a guy has a bad day and messes up a contracting job he does, we only see him once and assume he's bad because he screwed up that time in his life, that day or year, but God sees the soul over millions of years, not just 2 days or 30 years humans see and develops a different view of people. The human language speech habit sometimes is to say that "he screwed up" or something, but if we were a very advanced Immortal like world we would perhaps always praise everyone and think "He did so many good things, but missed this one due to some unknown factors, we need to pray for him so his positive Immortality geometry matter increases, etc" a different vibe, one of helpfulness instead of just labeling or even dislike type of energy, an energy of loving kindness instead of repulsion or distrust, unforgiveness and lack of love and tenderness an Immortal Mother would have for her nanosecond old baby. The Immortality enhancing good geometry new matter is sort of like today good "feel good hormones" form of neutrons-protons-electrons matter from meditation/laughter increase longevity, while stress cortisol and catecholamines form of neutrons-protons decrease longevity, this new form of matter, immortalions, does the same in other ways; it's not cortisol or neutrons or protons, but more fundamental. It will be exciting when we become one planet of Immortal shimmering energy beings so to speak, helping each other live longer in peace. If we teach our kids that this amazing Immortal Mother of infinite tenderness gentleness softness intelligence wisdom grace honesty sweetness dwells in all and train kids to speak while radiating kind emotions, thoughts and intents, we enable them to become much better healers than former generations, to turn enemy into friend, anger into mercy and joy, and to be the bringers of World Peace. ☺☺☺ It's hard as adults for us to change suddenly after eons of historical inertia brainwashed us to be so lacking in gentle tones, gentle behavior etc, but at least 5 minutes more every month or week may make all difference we need for World Peace to emerge way sooner. We tend to always fall back to our standard mode, the conditioned brainwashed social construct consensus reality self, and forget to recall every human being is the most precious adorable nanosecond baby (maybe even 4 million years old as soul) loved infinitely, eternally and tenderly by his motherly God, the quadrillion trillion year old God. If we want God to love us, we can recall to also try to love everyone with that same infinite tender healing grace in speech tone, speech content, action, behavior. Not because we want to bribe God with love, but at least due to the “selfish interest” physics of energies, action, reaction, and also because loving God sparks in others reminds us of God's already existing infinite love and protects our life, longevity and theirs too. To love God is to love God's creations, people with all their perceived or real imperfections and "evilness" too, often times due to factors beyond their control. Everyone can be seen like this most radiant shimmering angelic telepathic Immortal being from Heaven, who took a human form to disguise themselves and teach us something or mirror some imperfect side of our inner nature.

3.8. Slow Aging via RESTORE POINT Elementary Particle Chart That Shifts DNA Daily

2020 is the beginning of the first decade in human history when billions of people own a cheap device called phone that they can use to take pictures and videos of themselves (alone or with friends/relatives help) in the happiest or best moments of their life to create RESTORE POINTS for the Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion Chart, similar to the computer hard drive RESTORE POINTS. Immortalion is a name for unknown particles physics will discover in the next 5 trillion years. In the dry eye section, which follows after the electron (a lepton) and photon (a boson) discoveries paragraphs, we have a very simple exercise of transforming the dry eye into a wet eye by using the RESTORE POINT of Yawning. You can reread a little the first few pages of that section and try wet your eyes yourself for eye longevity, health, fun and relaxation. If you're one of those people who experienced digital screen dry eyes (more than 0.1 billion) or one of the eye doctors, you know that in some cases, if people don't put tear drops the eye will get very dry and worse and worse until it almost dies out. Now, via our memory or RESTORE POINT of yawning, we can focus it and adapt it to produce more tears than usually produced when yawning. We're taking an eye that would die out without artificial tears, and slowing down its aging dramatically, bringing it alive and giving it another 50 years of life, by natural wetting. We're literally almost bringing a dying eye back to life, via the brain memory and associative processes, we're moving the eye chart to the different configuration closer to the day when our eyes were wet naturally, we're going back in time and rebringing that Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion eye Chart that corresponds to molecular processes in the wet eye. Tears are essential for the eye, they flush out toxins into the lacrimal sac; these toxins, when not flushed cna completely destroy the eye. Yawning also induces a relaxation response, lowers cortisol and has its own antiaging effect. In the age of computer screen jobs that stress our eyes, knowing this is helpful. Now, imagine if we can take this same analogy, trick the brain to go back to Younger Age Charts, and via that, to help the organs to go back to their Younger Age Charts. Another example is this: fake smiling can after a while change the chart of the brain, the IR MRI/Terahertz picture, the electron cloud picture, to more closely resemble that of us 3 months ago when we were very happy, all by us faking smiling and thinking of being happy for 20 minutes. Thus, we don't restore only the MRI or IR Chart, but also the Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion Chart. This means we don't need to wait 5 centuries or millennia for physics gadgets to photograph all these charts, we can help revert to them right now, even if only 20% (50% would be difficult and require a lot of studies to determine which methods work).

This change of the Chart☺☺☺ or Spectra for various Electromagnetic Waves causes a tuning fork like, resonating "crystal singing bowl like" subatomic particles, to emulate that past moment and get entrained into that music, causing electrophotonic changes that trigger epigenetic changes, cellular-tissue changes that slow down aging, since we drag the human energy ball to its earlier pattern/music. The various clouds of electrophotons, informed by immortalions or subbosons on the prior configuration of an aspect of their "field properties", and other particles, exert a specific influence on the equilibrium constant of chemical reactions in tissues, exactly like lasers can, so they can change even the DNA daily via that same method. Skeptics argue this is true to some extent, since even a daily diet changes our DNA or bee DNA helps them live 50x longer, but it won't have such a dramatic effect, because the organism is already an adult and the changes are smaller. We know that as adults diet reprograms gene expression and encourages genes to be turned on and off, even if less than when fetuses in the womb or first year of life when we grow the fastest in the afterbirth period. What this mental exercise of RESTORE POINT activation or happy memory reliving, recall or ROLE PLAYING we are in our happiest moment in our 20s or 30s, does is basically acting as a complimentary longevity tech, that brings organs back to life, as the yawning brain trick tricked the eye to live another 50 years instead of dying. It's a complimentary epigenetic change stimulus that acts in a novel way, without pills, using our own outer and inner resources, to rebring those memories however we can, either with eyes closed and reliving it in our head, role playing a little as if you were 30 years younger, and realizing "I am Youthing, I'm the Infinite Energy of the Trillion Year future human Immortals (revisit time travel chemistry analogy) Blueprint (Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion Chart, or Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion "genome")" or using videos, pictures of those HAPPY moments, mental or stored in physical media; we're quantum entangling with that lepton genome, that "trillion year old" immortalion genome. It's perhaps helpful to realize that some mental encrypted secret RESTORE POINTS (besides some happy video moments which don't need be secret, perhaps) provide the person with extra privacy and security in all realms of "Awareness", because today, with synthetic telepathy gadgets, unethical people can try to influence the RESTORE POINT selection, the conscious memory of its content.

That's why it's a good idea to record yourself 2-10 times each year, after a few days of rest and preparation, when you're at your best cognitive, spiritual and happiest state and rewatch, relisten to that picture, movie or audio or all of them and help your brain to return to that Chart. Of course, you may not be able to achieve full return, as future physics could with gadgets of science fiction, so even if you don't achieve this aging delay of 5 million years of the future, you could achieve maybe a 15 extra year of life. Incidentally, from interviewing centenarians and those making it to 108, 113 etc we notice they all share one thing in common: optimism, focusing on the bright side.☺☺☺ This "optimism" is simply them unconsciously using HAPPY RESTORE POINTS of their "hard drive" way more often than the average person, to shift the Chart away from the decaying eye or dying eye to the alive eye, the alive Chart of Younger years, to shift the Chart away from entropy increase and body decay, to delay aging. Now imagine if someone who is 5 years old starts doing this RESTORING daily for 90 years, with the technologies of today to assist memory recall, they could add 40 years to their lifespan, not 10-

20 like centenarians. People who day dream and think about the amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ future also go into this kind of "RESTORE POINT" like state, so sci-fi writers who write about positive futures may live longer, when adjusted for confounding factors, than those writing about negative things. You can't role play being evil or doing bad things, or writing endless novels about crime and bad things without tricking unintentionally your brain to sabotage your lifespan length; it may be by design, to ensure only the kindest live longest. Our brains are quite machine like, robotic computers that can be duped without us realizing. Aware of this, police officers and soldiers take Immortality test to diminish life shortening effects due to bad training.

The electrophotonic chart from 3 months ago looks more similar to our chart today, vastly more similar, as the same molecular systems are activated. Thus it's easy to revert to it. Likewise, reverting to a chart from our 20s is far easier by watching a video of ourselves, or audio-pictures of us then, than by watching strangers in their 20s listening to our favorite music or something, even if those strangers have similar genomes, but very different chemical contents (genome and atomic composition are two different things). Our biological children are more similar to us, DNA wise (not atomic composition of equivalent cells, unless similar diet), many times, so watching a kid (especially those who look more like us) who is 20 can have a stronger effect than watching a college student one advises as a college professor living to 104. However, kids are only 20 for a short period and parents don't take advantage of about this biophysics fact by watching videos of themselves or their kids in their 20s in happy moments of health, failing to benefit as 104 years old college professors do from the youngest adult size human chart interaction, watching and resonant quantum entanglement transfer of information. They didn't retire, they kept watching young people, helping themselves without knowing to go back to their own 80 year old RESTORE POINTS, helping the youngsters and they often lived to 101-107. Those who retired, often died at 80. Could it be because of this brain self-tricking? Writing papers, doing research in the same building they did 70 years ago, or similar environments if another college, recreates the atmosphere of the earlier decades, like in studies designed to do just that recreation of older decades, and they improve their biomarkers to earlier ages, as everything reinforces the brain illusion that they're in their 30s doing research with undergrads, since brain doesn't see itself in the mirror all day, so it tells "i am young, 35, not 90". It's a form of positive autosuggestion, placebo and chart restoration trick without trying to do so. One can appreciate then the usefulness of role playing one is 20 or 50 years younger, in creative ways that trick the brain to recreate younger age charts and biomarkers, without the brain noticing.☺☺☺

HOW TO DISCOVER THE BEST METHODS FOR CHART RESTORATION

Obviously, now that we know, from several studies done on elderly people that memory recall and role playing they're 20 year old and playing music from that time they loved, etc, which showed those role playing like that had more youthful biomarkers, the question arises, how can we capitalize on these findings about "smiling changes brain chart", "yawning changes dry eye to wet eye chart", etc and get the 80% Chart recreation, not just 5% or 20%, for a stronger aging delay, of not just 10-20 years, but 50-150 (if exercises practiced daily since childhood). Skpetics will say that we're dreaming, that this 50 or 75 year extension is wishful thinking, helping only with a more positive mindset and indirectly the lifespan by people being in a better mood (lower cortisol, more positive thinking, more optimism about future, more eagerness to take care of one's health, 100% placebo and auto-suggestion that is); but look what happens with people who practice a skill a long time, they do things that sometimes 99.999% of people think of impossible (some never even know humans can do that, for example some feats of Shaolin monks). What if this auto-suggestion and RESTORE chart tech gets so good, not random as in the first millions of years of our species, that we can add 50 years to out 80 year average lifespan now in many countries? It's conscious evolution, conscious epigenetic change. All medicine does is similar to going back to a healthy RESTORE POINT using waves, lasers, chemicals, molecules... the HEALTHY STATE OF THE BODY. Imagine if you could figure out the inner master switch to partially regenerate various systems (vascular, lymphatic, immune system, inflammatory cytokine response, organs, limbs) of the body outside of the classical "telekinetic energy moving and massage of that area, energy radiation thru that area" coupled with chart linked memories of perfect function of those systems. This would enable you to do through mental work what tech won't be able to for 500 years. Via careful studies, we can discover how we can return to such healthy RESTORE POINTS (as modern medicine does) as preventive maintenance done daily to our body, in the way that adds the most extra years; we can discover the best morphogenetic field configuration return to the "Immortality" granting Chart. Such studies could be like this:

☺☺Conscious vs Unconscious Time Travel or CHART RESTORATION☺☺

2 groups of 8,000 people are enrolling in a study. They're treated the same, each day of the 30 day period, spending the same time doing same things, relaxing, meals, meal times, in the same environments, very pleasant, perfect for bringing a super happy state of being a few days later, maybe day 20. The only diference is one group is told to consciously pay extra attention to the happiest day of the period (obvious when it happens, and to record audio, video or just given audio-video on last day to compare third party recording with self-recording effects on mamory retrieval) and create a RESTORE POINT and then reactivate it on the final day, while the other group is not told day x is the happiest day when they're treated with free cash, kindness award, gift card, nicest things they love (favorite comedy or trip to an amazing park, amazing art, music, clothing, colors, smells, voice, everything known to be liked by them to create a happy state). The unconscious group is then catalyzed to recall the happiest day 20 by some people who talk about how beautiful day x was... to rebring those memories. The hidden gadgets record the IR,

MRI, etc spectra, charts and all biomarkers are measured too, daily, to see if the happiest day 20 and day 30 of recalling happiest day is any different than the day of the conscious people retrieving their strong RESTORE POINT consciously, using video, audio, and their memory (some their own memory only, others audio only, others both video/audio and memory). This then enables us to see the role on the Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion Chart and biomarkers of each conscious method versus the passive recall (catalyzed by others) of the happy day 20, and the nonrecall (no passive recall via others) of the happy day on the last day for a subgroup of the unconscious ones not knowing the study design. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

This is the democratization of longevity, achievable thru efforts of millions of scientists who have given us the neuroscience to know this is real, the gadgets to make the recall easier via recorded audio, pictures and/or video. While we can't reconstruct chart like physics will in 900 years or longer, we can at least entrain the "tuning fork" to be on the same patterns easier, since they're similar. Take a holiday, visit your favorite outdoors place and then recreate the happiest thing, record it and watch it. It's your chart, you're in resonance with it the most and you can bring it easiest. Watching others who're young and happy has not the same effect, but college professors watching college students benefit from this and live to 104 often, due to this process perhaps; while kindergarten teachers, accessing vastly different lepton, quark boson charts (of smaller humans) can't activate the chart of them at 20 and young as easily as 5 year old chart is very different than 20 year old. We can create RESTORE POINTS for us 10-30 years ago by drawing and writing and painting things about that period, role playing, and taking the best of each memory and creating the aggregate with the Immortal template of trillin year lifespan, to make the most optimistic chart and autosuggestion you can possibly imagine. We can talk to prematter baby too if done before having babies, to create a much better habit in offspring to focus on the positive like centenarians do at least, and to learn from their brain plasticity about the Immortals in other universes and galaxies, via role playing astral traveling with them. In the future, physics and chemistry will allow us to reconstruct the 20 year old, based on the trillions of libraries hidden in the electrons and quarks inside the brain (since many neuron atoms are there since age 2) and revert to it via tech some day and then recreate a template that ages 10 times slower based on new science. People say "What? How can you RESTORE the chart from some atoms in the brain that were there for 30 or 70 years?"☺☺☺. Answer: the same way in science we can restore a whole big thing to its original design from very few parts and things that have the traces and patterns of how the whole system worked, how nature takes a female egg and grows it in weight 5 billion times to birth a 4 pound baby, how we take skin cells from dead animals, turn them into sperm cells and create life again, bring extinct animals back to life. Of course, due to the quantum effects, restoring the chart of 1 year ago is a lot easier than chart from 30 years ago, but if we keep doing that 20s-30s year old chart (when we were healthiest, happiest) or most recent one, we slow down the aging a lot, or, as skeptics say, we think more positively, and we're less grumpy, helping World Peace and this scientific innovation indirectly, as energy used for fights is used to help each other live longer. Just less anger in the world and more positivity and happiness in of themselves would prolong average human lifespan, even if no chart is restored with high precision due to laziness or lack of belief due to lack of brain science knowledge. We can store in a tiny chip or flash card the design of a building that is gigantic, and 5-900 billion times in size, as a baby is 5 billion heavier than the egg. Likewise, a few g or even mg of atoms from 50-80 years ago can store perfectly the exact Chart of a human as it was at 20; all atoms of carbon or any isotope are different, as the previous 2 sections explain, each atom is a vast library, galaxy of its own, that can store 'infinite' info. Who needs flash drives when an atom can hold all books on Earth for those who know how to write it? Eons ago if you told us a tiny part of your body contains the info of 1 trillion libraries, we would think you're a "science fiction writer" or influenced by bad spirits, but today, we know that's true, we have trillions of millions of particles each with so many coordinates and things in that tiny barely visible tissue, from which we can reconstruct the entire health and condition that person, its genome, DNA, etc like we do today from fossils or tissue biopsies.

What if life leaves tracks on the brain atoms (those are not replaced as much as other organs) or unknown particles that store these patterns regardless of how many atoms changed, that once understood, the life that was there, the exact atomic composition and structure of every cell, can be reconstructed, i.e. true Chart and atomic composition can be recreated by super-tech of the future millennia? Besides, not all organs, bones, tissues get replaced every 10-20 years due to cell replication, so it's not just brain atoms, quarks, leptons that can be 50 or 700 years old, i.e. witnesses or microphones (that record everything in the quantum world) of the whole body electromagnetic patterns, whole-organ, whole suborgan patterns. For example, we change the eye chart in the tear generation exercise, but do nothing with atoms in the eye, we don't use atoms in the eye to bring wet eyes memory. We only do something to atoms in the brain who will produce yawns, so to return to a Chart configuration of new atoms in a tissue, we can use the brain atoms that are much older than that organ atoms and that can trigger the tissue or organ reconfiguration or shapeshifting, as it were. ☺☺☺ Then take that template of age 20, revert back to it and let it live at 100 times slower aging speed enabled by future tech, then do reversal again to age 20, and let it live at 1000 times slower aging speed based on upgraded techs and you end up living to a science fiction long age of 30 billion perhaps, or way longer. This obviously would also help forensic scientists to determine the history of humanity better and to discover who was there after an event that only left ash, or decomposed matter (big fire, or explosion, some atoms would have the genomes of former people retrievable from the ash or whatever left over atoms after the event, etc). Police would find truth with much better precision, because they seek traces of human genome specific recent Lepton-Quark-Boson-Immortalion oscillations in left over atoms, quarks. We can even find out if human like creatures existed on now barren planets with this tech, humanoids who vanished due to climate change.

Eventually, you get to the point where you can recreate the exact version of someone who died millennia ago or longer ago, a true resurrection from bone atoms left over, so they can then take advantage of latest tech to change template to one that lives to 9 million years old, as in "behold, the "Lord" of Infinite Knowledge Came on Earth, via the millions of scientists of Immortality fields, slowly, and brought the dead back to life, and there was a new Earth, new Heaven (off-planet maybe too, heaven appears different) where we lived forever, for billions of eons". Medicine will take high interest in using biophysics of Charts to cure diseases or compliment treatment, instead of using a molecule ingestion approach only, just as they use lasers etc now. Just as sugar placebo pills are standard of care that work for many conditions (people believe they will get better, that the pill is medicine (not sugar) and they do get better, showing how brain tricking changes physiology and biomarkers), conscious chart restoring could be a new extra therapeutic method doctors can employ, just tell patients to "recall happiest moments from year x when condition was not there, especially a day or activity involving the affected organ", if they don't believe in charts and lepton boson spectra. The physician or Immortality class teacher for the continuing education classes, would better be very positive and say "this medicine worked amazingly and cured these people with a worse version of your condition", and "recalling happy moments of your life lowers inflammation and helps your body heal, see these papers" and provide science papers for that for more sciencey types, to further enhance auto-suggestion placebo or chart restoration effects. If that didn't work, then he would later explain all this chart stuff to complement conventional treatment.

Parents can take videos of their baby, when he's small and has the most plastic brain. This enables the baby, when 20, to rewatch it and bring some of that plasticity. It helps the parents to watch someone with a somewhat similar chart with theirs being very plastic and rewatching this video helps them more than watching other youngsters, because this is someone with a chart closest to them than any other youngster. Parents can choose to be conscientious: when the kid is happy or achieving a cool science milestone or discovery, eterni tone, record the video. Then this kid or 20 year old will help you since he will age less, having more energy to help you recall more and delay aging by 10-40 years. Like in the talk with the prematter baby, the chart of the prematter baby is fluid, can be shifted towards the chart of the Immortal humans of the future, to help the baby to live to 500 or have a skill, parents visualize the baby having that skill.

Likewise, I have curly hair and this makes something very long to appear only 3" tall (it is 10), so a few 1 yr old ends of a hair strand is still there usually, allowing me to quantum entangle with the me 1 yr ago easier and delay aging. Since hair protects head skin from oxidative stress, that taxes body reserves of antioxidants, and since it allows easier entangling with younger age charts, longer (not shorter) hair might help us to live longer by a few days, weeks or maybe even more; usually we have only palms, face and head exposed to sunlight UV, so if we wear very short hair or even shaved, we double the skin area that receives daily heavy duty UV bombardment that depletes body of antioxidants; it also depletes brain of many nutrients, because in colder and warmer days, the brain temperature fluctuates more, since the hair is not there to provide a protective mantle against wild temperature fluctuations; this is why I believe that having some good hair on the head can protect the brain and the brain areas that regulate aging better, as there is less temperature fluctuation; likewise, don't stay in the car without AC or with AC too cold, let brain temperatures remain more even as this puts undue stress on the brain; nobody knows if these temperature fluctuations will shorten lifespan by 3 days or weeks or months or more, but computers (our brains are computers) don't work well regulating aging when they overheat due to not hair (wear a good reflective light color cap to reflect heat away, if you no longer have hair and are older, to protect brain from heavy duty heat); that's why it may not be a good idea to shave head in sunny climates, where UV intensity is very high for many months. Curls evolved to keep our heads cool in the summer, so we can think straight, so going out often in hot sunny weather without a cap (if shaved) is not a smart idea, as it puts undue chemical stress on the body to cool the brain, aging us faster. Ladies with long curly hair, could hold 24-30 months worth of hair, at the end, so those ends are their help to quantumly entangle with the 2 year younger chart an extra 2% easier. By holding the end of the hair in the hand, like in psychometry, one may get more of that younger self chart easier, since it's not mixed with other older self stuff. People will laugh at this, but anyway, our bones, brains and many organs have stuff from age 3-20, not just 2-3 years prior. However, these tissues with younger age quanta are all mixed in with older age stuff, head hair allows entangling with 1-2 years older stuff exclusively. Body hair falls and is replaced frequently, it's not 1-3 years old.

Women have long hair, so that's why they may outlive men too, if the body has developed a gene to use hair to slow aging?☺☺☺ Today we have genetic engineering to cure diseases in plants or people, etc and we think that it is always, in 100% of the cases, that the genes we know today are the cause, not the effect of an adaptive change of the body to the environment: 800 years ago people thought we're made of fire, wood, earth, metal and air, the 5 elements, now 120 elements, some day 1 million, so the future periodic table genes are different and they change to increase lifespan in a way we don't understand, i.e it's not that one present gene achieves the longevity effect, but the combination of the future element spin geometry and other properties of 'inter-dimensional particles', or undiscovered physical particles that causes a change, since only some elements have that choice of particle geometry, spin or whatever. What we see in a present periodic table gene is sometimes an EFFECT of a wider change of 100 genes of the future type, not the gene that causes a trait☺☺☺ (the trait is an effect of the wider trait change), so because of that, when we do a gene change to 'cure a disease', we may do more damage if we change some longevity gene set we don't understand, so just because we don't understand the hair thing, doesn't mean there is nothing to it; a cluster of genes may have less visible genes, that influence the expression of the trait, its epigenetic fluidity or turning on and off under various stimuli, etc, so while we may retain that important gene that is evidently linked to a physical outcome we measure today, not knowing the others leads to changing them and losing the hidden trait (more valuable for the species) that was the main reason for the biological trait that we think is linked to one gene alone, but is linked to 10 or 100 of the future periodic table, which would explain some oddities in genetics too. Men go bald more often and live shorter too. I have thin hair, so for me wearing it 4x longer would help me to achieve the same 'going back to a younger chart' as someone with 4x thicker hair; the thicker the hair, the shorter you can wear it without probably affecting the quantum thing; after showering, mine gets very curly and appears medium, just only 2-3 inches tall, but when I take some hairs, they're 5 to 12 feet long, they curl so much. Today, especially in Korea/Japan, men wear medium hair, 4-10", which may be better than the ultra short 0.5-1" hair many have. Ultra short (<1.5 cm) hair is making men resonate with boxing or MMA folks, the most violent and brutish people, Nazis mass murderers, jailed people, soldiers, generals who kill and do the most evil things humans do, so to protect yourself, medium hair is much better, 4-12", since if curly, the 12" will appear just 4 if not thick. Plus you look more laid back, more loving, less aggressive (skin heads are seen as Nazis and soldiers ready to kill) and this influences even your behavior, because each time a person sees you, they will think in their brain 'this is a cool, relaxed, compassionate, hippie guy' and you're influenced by this. Long hair is not needed and only 1 out of 300 men have really long 20 inch hair, but let's face it, women prefer men with medium hair, it makes men appear feminine, gentler and more like the girl's mom, so it's natural to trust and be more honest around such men; it also keeps you warm during the colder half of the year in most areas of the world, without a hat; it also saves you money, since you can use a pair of scissors and trim it, like I do, without ever wasting time at a hair salon, today they got so many kits to trim your hair; by keeping hair always medium, you trim it a little at home 1 minute each month and are all set. Men's hair 3-12" helps men quantum entangle with the females of the planet, being more like them and they're more nurturing, compassionate on average, so men become like a longer lived kinder species, odd how South Koreans live to 83, Japanese to 86 maybe Japan/South Korea wearing 3 times longer hair than most Asians helps them live longer too? We may, like females, develop better empathy and tune better into others' emotions, especially if genes exist that evolved hair as a mechanism to communicate with the rest of the species to increase its chance of survival, hair being an antenna based on physics of future centuries.

Our periodic table is not final, so the geometry of undiscovered particles and their interference wave patterns and music is unknown to us, and some hair could enable us to be 1% more in tune with what others feel, helping them feel better, promoting understanding, World Peace, etc. For this reason, it may be ideal to not dye one's hair unless a model, and use only spray on dyes that affect the photo taking session on a special day (wedding etc) only once a decade, so as to not change the DNA of the hair follicles via highly hair structure shifting hair dyes or even shampoos. We have hydrogen peroxide and PPD in dyes that create a huge increase of scalp free radicals for 5-20 minutes and this can destroy hair follicles, alter hair structure, impair our species wide communication, saturate blood with free radicals, prevent sperm and egg release from achieving perfect health state due to glutathione depletion (see hair section on why hair thins, etc), etc. Dyes also pollute the environment and our longevity depends on our sleep and diet, our reaction to stress and life and not the color of our hair. Our genital hair has virtually no (maybe 1) grey hair for decades while our head has 700+ white or silver or grey hairs, because our head hair gets 100-900 times more UV, jeans and underwear block 99.9% of UV, so the UV destroys the melanocytes that produce melanin, the hair color pigment and that have some immune role too. So when we destroy melanocytes 1. with short hair, 2. without a hat or 99.9% blocking umbrella (Amazon), 3. hair dye free radicals, heavy metals, etc 4. strong shampoos used daily that damage follicles, we're actually making hair whiter, thinner long term and immune system weaker; cosmetic companies never tell us that, just like eye drop companies hide that redness relievers will make eyes redder long-term, completely damage eye due to BAK. So, instead of focusing on hiding grays we can put fewer toxins in the body via creams, shampoo, dyes and stay healthier. When we got gray hair, people speak more kindly to us, with more compassion, respect, softer and it helps us to live longer, because it reminds us to speak in an eterni way.

When we become a fake, hiding our grays, everyone treats us with less* tenderness unconsciously without even realizing (trash tone of bossy "holier due to age than you" man with a teenager, etc) and this makes us more immature and angrier. To live longer, we need to have the most eterni tone. White hair also prevents bitches who look at appearance only from trying to approach us 'romantically', since they dislike old people or are too 'tired or unread' to realize or know biological and brain aging is not reflected in % of grays on the head. White hair is fine, our society is obsessed with looking good, while aging rapidly, we better focus on aging less and looking healthy without lethal toxins on our scalp skin that give us Alzheimer, birth defects of offspring if we dye hair around ovulation whether we're female or male. Can we think about the environmental costs of dyes too and only use them if we're in a job where looking cool without photo editing is a must? That's only 0.1% of people. We spend billions on hair dyes, but only 0.1% of them are somewhat safe for the scalp and brain. Peroxide etc bring vast hair structure change that prevents us correctly quantum entangling with our younger self. So, to live longer, we need hair dyes kept to minimum and also, using the 0.1% types that are truly heavy metal, peroxide, etc free and color only the outer area, meaning don't shampoo hair so often either, but better yet only use sprays for special events and embrace reality, let nature remind us we age so we can delay aging and have naturally youthful hair, instead of fake youthful hair.☺☺☺ Dying hairs prevents us from seeing aging, seeing the problem we face, seeing we need to take better care of ourselves, stress less and be kinder to all beings and self. Can we be real and aid our quantum entanglement with the younger self? Also, when people perceive us more like a female, more feminine, due to hair, the mass consciousness, due to collective unconscious beliefs and knowing (men do most violent stuff and wars) that long hair people are kinder (females), they use kinder tone of intent, action and speech and help us improve ours, like they do with females, are more relaxed in our presence, trust us more, we collect more valuable intelligence too. On our planet, shortest hair people are often soldiers and people in jail, those involved in more violence against fellow species members, so the mass consciousness doesn't like or trust that, people are more fake in presence of shorter hair people as a result. Hair, when thick (or longer if very thin yet curly), can protect hair follicles/melanocytes from UV damage, boost immunity. If we all wear it longer, not like skin heads, we may become kinder, more compassionate, etc and rely less on dyes that give birth defects and age us thru oxidative stress.

The worth of a person is not how much UV has damaged their melanocytes due to working outside more, or having less UV resistant melanocytes and having thinner hair, it's how they're inside. But how we're inside depends on how we sleep and eat, how we stress about longevity, instead of appearance all day, and how we respond to life. Can we think about these things and how our cultures are too focused on appearance and too little on living longer in a healthy state, to 500 years old or 1 million in the far future? The first step begins with accepting oneself as one is, with gray hair, thin hair, etc as it may be and wear a hat when outside and sun is really strong. Can all accept themselves as they're and work to have no more grays/whites naturally, not via hiding the grays? ☺☺☺ That requires knowledge 1 trillion times more profound than to make a hair dye. We need knowledge to age slower, not to fake we aged slower. Many people with all white hair lived 40 years longer than those who dyed hair often, because they focused on sleep, diet, stress, the main drivers of aging. Being honest is better, it helps us confront aging, by seeing it and taking real actions to age slower. If we bury the head in the sand when danger comes we die, if we hide our grays we die younger, as we're oblivious of the care and kindness we need towards self and others as a society. Can we be honest and treat the cause, not the symptom of aging, white hair? We want doctors and Pharma, companies to treat cause, not symptoms, and criticize doctors, but what are we doing? Exactly the same. Isn't that a double standard? What about contaminating water supplies with these chemicals, making people produce toxic dyes instead of eterni foods as a job, etc? Isn't that immoral? The super mind of the species notices vanity and the individuals who care about species's survival and longevity more than appearance, the health of the collective etc, so it will help those folks to live longer, not the ones who dye hair the most, those who're kinder or perceived to be kinder; longer hair helps us be perceived as kinder perhaps due to long help beliefs/knowing of the species genetic mind. The female is carrying the baby, she's connected with the baby better, being kinder and more understanding, so long hair helps us to tune into the prematter baby better, the Avatar of Immortality of all human babies to be born into one, etc and help it triple human lifespan. ☺☺☺

CHAPTER 4 - Immortality EDUCATION & ETHICS

4.1. Education: Immortality, Spy/Fake Science Paper Detection 4.2. Immortality Outreach

4.3. VISA for teen geniuses & ideas for Immortality Universities or Departments within colleges

4.4. Make $240 billion in education subsidies conditional on 900 year lifespan & STEM focus

4.5. Free K-12/college/PhD Education for all and 1 million labs in classrooms via Immortality Capitalism using Immortality credit score to compute income, benefits related to longevity

4.6. Increase 30 times alcohol, gambling, weed, cigarette tax to fund Immortality science labs

4.7. Use 95% of athletics money + tax 7 times more all cinemas/hotels (especially those that are very empty or luxury)/restaurants/vape stores/sport events to build longevity research centers and soundproof single rooms on/off-campus for school/undergrad/grad/postdoc students

4.8. Silence Halls for Meditation 4.9. Sports & altruism 4.10. Sleep studies

4.11. Bad effects of alcohol/smoking/coffee/weed 4.12. Heart Rate Monitors

4.1. EDUCATION - THE Center of the Civilization of Immortals

After a 2 page intro below☺☺☺, you'll find the 10 subsections you can also go to now:

4.1.1. Daily focus on living in the Bliss of Eternal Lifespan Tripling, of Immortality, of being free from death, aging, being free to study or specialize in any area of immortality science early on

4.1.2. Immortality Test (or exam) for students (for all other professions, see Chapter 6)

4.1.3. History classes of the future minimize past and focus on the science of the heavenly future

4.1.4. Athletics Departments are dissolved, becoming 5% of the Immortality Departments

4.1.5. Update all science, math, engineering textbooks to magnify lifespan tripling focus

4.1.6. Massive changes within movie, literature, theatre classes for longevity, immortality focus

4.1.7. Dedicated immortalism or living to 400 majors & classes 15 hour/week

4.1.8. More longevity/immortality related city, street, college, etc names to focus our goals

4.1.9. Discernment Education: 140 pages on Spies and Verifying, Doubting Every Claim, TV Story, like a true scientist who seeks unfakable proof of causation (not correlation) or reality

4.1.10. Turn all restaurants into mini immortality schools or universities

INTRODUCTION

Education is the most important endeavor in a Civilization of Immortals. This means using the scientific method to verify every claim in the media, TV or science papers, to see if it's true or false, or even intentionally planted by foreign spies to foment war, damage human quantum field by torture or attempts to shorten anyone's life, like the 140 page section on espionage (how to detect a spy from anti-Immortality for All regimes) explains. The goal is a world of Immortality where all help all to live to a trillion, where we have one nation, one language on Earth, but until the Immortalist Anthem ethics emerges, we need to be careful, since there is no international agreement to ban torture/violence/war, like CO_2 or CFCs, since the planet is ruled by terrorists who give themselves endless decorations for all genocides, torture they do under the guise of war (blood drinkers and mock little girl sacrificers with infernal demonic voices (thru wars, see Wikipedia) wearing military uniforms). Nobody wants war, except the top generals, their "aristocrat puppet governments" who hold the planet hostage. Civilization begins with World Peace and 0 Violence, real Education begins after World Peace, so We the People want World Peace in 3 months NOW. The parasitic vampires who rule the nations for millennia using the same old scam, never talk of Eternal World Peace in 3 months, only of conflict to protect "human rights (to be tortured to death or enslaved so they take the land/resources)". Notice how many filif gnat IQ☺☺☺ (hybrid war to drastically lower average IQ, enslave the working class) topics on TV, war among them, and ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ in 3 months never a topic. Watch the ☺abysmal IQ☺ of the music lyrics, never about Peace in 3 months. NATO+Australia is on the verge of becoming a 3rd world country, as # of STEM graduates in BRICS is much higher. Only 30% of graduates are STEM (Sci.Tech.Eng.Math), instead of 90%. Why not be efficient and study MBA or minor in business if you want to learn about management of 500 people in a division of one of the 11 companies? You have 40 product teams competing for the best design within the same company. We need end all city, county, state governments, for max efficiency, as they're replaced by the one gov of 11 companies and 3 agencies. Aristoc-rats need their guns and torture devices to beat the workers to death, wars to keep workers chained in confusion as cannon fodder meat, the religions to keep worker IQ ultra low. Workers wake up and let's end the aristoc-rat made wars.

The 100% of the high school hourly educational load will be for 8 subjects:

► 40% ► Immortalism (10% Immortalist Health: sleep, eyes, intoxicants & Nutrition Ch 11 & 12, 5% Immortalist Happiness via Meditative Breathing Ch 9, 10, 5.3., 5% Immortalist Culture & State of Emergency until all violent crime is 0, Ch 5, 3% Immortalist Ethics, History, Spies Ch 4, 2% Immortalist Speech, Emotion, Thought Ch 8, 1% Immortalist Music Ch 7, 0.3% Veganism, 0.2% Eterni Diet 5% Immortalist Altruism, Logic, Efficiency, Centralization Ch 4.5: 11 companies replace 1 billion of them, Immortality Credit Score, reviews.gov instant fine/bonus), 1% Trillion Year Life Tech, 3% 500 Year Life Tech, 1% Immortalist Psychology, Spirituality, Ch 14, 0.4% Maintain 0 Wars/Violent Crime, Ch 13, 0.1% Parent License Ch 15 & Sex for Pro-creation only chemical synthesis and intergalactic energy body, & 2% chemical physics for creating 10 billion tons of any molecule within seconds for eterni foods synthesis using particle jets etc)

► 13% ► Chemistry (7% particle jet chemical physics synthesis via new spin matter state, computational chemistry, for making stuff 10 billion times faster than photosynthesis or organic industrial synthesis, as letters now travel 10 billion times faster via email, for the creation of eterni foods to help humans survive an ice age (no agriculture possible) brought by volcanic eruptions, 1% shapeshifting human form into the chemistry, DNA and biology of other planets via the energy body, to create the teleporting telepathic shimmering shapeshifting human Immortals ☺☺ able to morph into any exoplanet lifeform as in the Immortalist Anthem)

► 9% ► Immortality Building (volunteering becomes physical education: build quiet houses, meditation rooms, particle accelerators, chemical reactors to bypass organic synthesis etc)

► 6% ► Biology (1% DNA upgrade to increase lifespan 10 times, 3% eterni foods via biochemical reactors to produce proteins, sugars, fibers of interest way faster than agriculture)

► 5% ► Math (half or 3% is applied math for particle physics and quantum chemistry☺☺)

► 5% ► IT, AI, software, engineering (3% engineer particle accelerators, chemical reactors)

► 5% ► English & 1% local language for nonUSA nations that don't have many English native speakers (eliminate all conjugation, simplify their language, make it logical), adopt Immortalist English that is simplified, mathematical, basic grammar/science vocabulary, evolution towards eterni phonetic English, with all subjects taught in English per One Language for Universal Immortality. Primary/middle school have more language/math, less advanced complex subjects.

All the 8 subjects, except Immortalism and English, have labs (20 hours weekly, grades 10-12, to focus on innovation and real world experience) to do engineering and science work based on the theory classes attended via youtube, applied math for math to help physicists and chemists. Say you go to school usually 40 hours a week, well, 20 hours you attend the labs, 20 you study at home the theory by watching lecture sand passing the exam online at education.gov, enter your course number and do the test. Labs are 5 hrs only in grade 1, 7 grade 2-3, 8 grade 4, 10 grade 5-6, 15 grade 7-8, 17 grade 9, 20 grade 10-12, 20 year 1-2 college, 25 year 3-4 college, 30 PhD, 40 Postdoc. Weekends are off to do any extra labs or study you're interested in to major in your area of interest, like how to split electrons. If volcanic eruptions bring global cooling and a nuclear winter like ice age, we have a big problem of no food, so it is imperative to be prepared to make physics and chemistry a priority to create eterni foods. To not do this is tantamount to genocide of 8 billion people. The labs in college are done on real projects, such as the National Solar Panel, Humidifier or Quantum Teleportation lab research done for one of the 11 companies. This way, we're not wasting time researching the shape and curliness of fruit fly leg hair, but doing real science to solve real problems and we don't waste anyone's time with college, college becomes like a real world job almost, just a high tech one. For profit colleges have 0 incentives to prepare you for the real world (the 11 companies), by working in the 11 companies research projects in these labs. Today what happens is people study nonsense that is wholly unrelated to their future jobs, so people waste 4 years in college for nothing. With 11 companies anyone can become a job they like and plan for it since age 10, with job security, as all remain employed, moved to another department if conflicts or poor performance happen, if being tired, having a baby and needing an easier job where bad sleep caused mistakes have less destructive impact. We focus on helping all, instead of dishonestly praising a boss out of fear of being fired, even if he's terrible and does make tons of mistakes. No student is forced to memorize anything in USELESS JUNK subjects like geography, etc, since to Live to 4000 you don't need to memorize lakes and countries created by genocidal aristocrats, or the anatomical parts of insects, animals, plants. We get one education for all, so we no longer have kids terrorized by the humanities classes and "physical edu" teachers who destroy brains instead of using them to innovate products that help all live to 4000 since the age of 12 by working with scientists at the 1 million Unis and the 11 companies to create the Universal Pay Immortalist Transition Society to the Post Scarcity World of shapeshifting Immortals ☺☺☺ materializing anything needed, so zero money, as all humans are telepathically connected and their Ethics and Empathy for all other billions are 1 billion times higher than people have for their spouse or kid today. Centralization = Peace, decentralization = war over what system to use, etc. Humans become one, each child has 10 billion parents as the Immortalist Anthem Explains, we are a Family of Immortals☺☺☺, i.e. you know more about every human than a human knows today about their spouse. Art History and humanities majors need be banned. The urgency is eliminating all deaths in male dominated industries that account for 92% of worker fatalities, by proper design of robots to replace these back breaking deadly jobs, via Efficient Merger of all into 11 companies. All majors need be STEM, all else is minors. When you have 11 companies, not 33 million, 1 gov not 20000, you don't need millions of morons in admin positions, just STEM thinkers. There is no art, no culture to study, all art and culture so far has been of murder and stupidity, theft and rape. Culture exists when we have zero violent crime, and to achieve it, we only need STEM: we get chemists, physicists, engineers, material scientists make the lens, etc of 500 trillion cameras, nobody dares do anything, as all is recorded and death penalty for all violent crime. We don't fool around, we don't play games, since all humans can die in 10 seconds if we play games. No point to study religion either, unless minor like in this book: fake miracles and infinite violence. Religion is psychopathy that is diabolical and antithetical to Ethics, Immortalism and Its Anthem. Physical Education classes are optional, and they are done by going to a gym, no shouts. Kids exercise as they clean labs, build amazing gadgets, chemicals, etc to help all Live to a trillion.

Immortalist nations teach Immortality and trillion year lifespans as goal from kindergarten to PhD, and retirement, since as people age they develop health issues and they can sign up for one of the 8,000 free classes they're interested in every month to fulfill Continuing Immortality Education Credits Requirement, to learn things from health experts, doctors that help them prevent health problems before they arise (prevention not cure). We know what health issues people are more likely to experience at any age and some are highlighted by the user, so they go learn about red or dry eyes for example if they get that.☺☺☺ Life is Knowledge, Immortality is Knowledge, acquired by the selfless dedication of those who pursue Eternal Learning and human progress above material GOALS. Death is due to Ignorance, while Life due to Knowledge on how to prevent aging, and death. We were clueless in 1800: death rate from 90 diseases was 500 times higher. Hypothesis Formulation and Testing (see song about it) as we do in science and all pursuits of truth (spiritual or material), is the Light of Knowledge, the Light of Life Immortal.

4.1.1. Ensuring students are free to specialize in any area of interest (to encourage ingenuity, exploration, discovery, innovation☺☺☺), and that the infinite bliss of tripling human lifespan forever/Immortality, freedom from "short lives, aging, death" are mentioned daily in school

The most cherished state for students is that of freedom from "sorrow, pain, terror, aging, negative emotion, short lives", from being trapped into a prison like educational system that diminishes human inventiveness, happiness, freedom and creativity 300 fold. Due to the difficult environment we emerged (animals eating us, disasters/diseases decimating us, etc), our religions and schools had that abrupt dictatorial cruel urgency energy to them that has carried over millennia into our schools, in some schools a lot more than others. Our schools are thus similar to our organized religions whose tone has, due to historical inertia, veered towards commandments (yelling as in services) from a wrathful disciplinarian (by fear of punishing, not positive motivation) terrorist cruel 100% male God, instead of 10 or trillions of communions (not commandments) or ways of loving communion with the infinitely tender feminine-masculine balanced God, gentle sweet healing eterni songs that inspire people with possible choices and suggestions for a happy life of 900 trillion years or Immortality as children of God. Kids want to be free, from the historical inertia and to bring the world of Immortals. But that is often impossible with the current systems of education that are geared towards 99% repetition of the former century; some say that only 10% is repetition, but the tone is 99.9% the same (tone is arguably reflective of 99% of our morality, ethics, character, mode of behavior, intent, gentle tender softness, etc) – so while techs change in schools, the basic inner human remains identical, only the method of cruelty/killing changes, new techs of being mean. "It's easier to denature Plutonium than the evil spirit of man" is supposedly some quote, we see how hard it is to overcome egos and change tones, because tone is everything we're inside, we're so addicted to it, our neurons so wired and set by parental and teacher tones we imitated and adopted before age 4-15, that change is "too gigantic of an undertaking to be bothered with". The current systems often diminish scientific discovery by 300 fold, and with that the advent of the Avatar of Immortality in every kid, who, literally brings the World of Immortals. Imagine an educational system where people are not forced to sit in a crowded room, with low oxygen, high RF that erases memory, positive ions from heating/cooling that increase depression, dirty electricity, to listen to the angry negative emotion filled tone of a teacher whose brain patterns pollute the kids and prevent the developing of the eterni emotional Life of Immortals.

Chapter 7 explains that today, for the first time in history, due to amazing textbooks, videos, etc, schools can create the most eterni videos and use those together with online texts to allow students to learn at home more (school for more lab like stuff), so they imitate the most healthy positive gentle healing nurturing emotions that are filled with the infinite love of Freedom of self and others (so people are gentle tender soft healing in behavior, as opposed to OCD controllers) – not with the terror of millions of years "this must be done now this way or world ends", in a soothing oxygenated environment, with negative ions like near a waterfall, with better air quality, decorations, colors, quotes, etc that uplift the student, soothing music that changes millions of years of DNA programming to be a non-thinking robotic unhappy person to the happy creative fluid immortalist of the future, who loves to live to 1 billion, because he is, after all, happy, not made into a life hating depressed individual (who is happy to die at 90, since after all, he's quite unhappy and dislikes the hell of our world) by the emotions of the teachers encoded in their tones of speech, who fail at hiding how they really feel about life and what their day is like. Happiness depends on being well-rested and fed, yet with so many useless things to memorize and so little nutrition data, so many sports to play and attend to look good, where can kids truly relax and be themselves, have an independent thought? How can the future be different if there is no filtering and prerecording of lessons to enable the teacher to speak much less and with eterni tone? Imagine many videos recorded after the deepest happiness states and most Immortality focused meditations – kids imitate tones, emotions and behaviors tones inspire. Then, like in Finland, where kids go to school only 20 hours a week and have 20 only minutes of homework, they're allowed to be happy, like an Infinitely Loving God (not an oppressive terror torturing oppressive entity), who honors the free will of the trillion year old spirit in every kid, they're allowed to freely choose what areas to study in depth, out of the curiosity, likes and affinity for that subject; when home, they choose which "Immortal Compassion for humanity" project to take part (after the daily meditation) at one of the Immortality Building Playgrounds, amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ colorful Disneyland like places replacing the huge sports fields sitting empty 99% of the time (or endless lecture halls and classroom areas that sit empty a lot if everyone uses online learning, remote learning and then every classroom space becomes an Immortality building lab, where kids learn amazing things and get more experience than some get in the entire college today of labs and undergrad research), same area of the city used for schools, just less empty grass/concrete/etc and more amazing & beautiful eterni labs, since schools, kindergartens can be smaller and the hands-on Immortality Building Playgrounds☺☺☺ can be closer to Universities or stand alone, perhaps sometimes near an astronomy site, but they can be near school too, but this is for hands on building, not a class focused on memorization, but a lab focused on thinking, inventing, applying in real life the knowledge they got in the 3 hours of instruction (it is optional to attend in person the 3 hours of instruction, since with video connection one can watch it remotely or an equivalent lecture; this enables all to never miss a class due to road closure, snow or flu, as the lectures for any day are listed for download, the textbook sections listed, etc.

As long as people pass the exams and take part in labs, they can avoid all 3 hours of instruction if they dislike tone of teacher or prefer home for other reasons (commute, etc). This is the freedom of choice to specialize since age 10. 3 hours knowledge, 3 hours knowledge applied in labs (groups), 2 hours relaxation, meditation☺☺☺, freedom in applying knowledge alone at home (the inner self, discovering the kingdom within), the rest of the day is sleep (kids sleep more), and other Immortality building projects done relaxed, no pressure, plus the homework (max 1 hour to avoid overload, becoming a walking encyclopedia (computers can store facts, no need to waste neurons with that) with no self-care ability, no good tone, no happiness, no filtering). Kindness for others starts with self, if one is angry one can't help anyone. First, let everyone be gentle with their breathing, breathe consciously, listen to eterni music to epigenetically change DNA of brain (undoing patterns of millions of years), become like an angelic monk, be gentle tender soft with themselves, and then it is natural they can help others as they're happy, not pressured/stressed, rested, not tired, relaxed, not overwhelmed with assignments, extracurricular activities and 5 hours of homework daily, memorizing useless stuff that in 2 years is all forgotten. To create new offspring brain patterns "of hypothesis thinking and formulation that increase discovery 100 fold" epigenetically, in the brain growth stage, neuron and speaking patterns formation stage of 1-18, one needs intense inner work, but that is impossible in the current educational systems, which focus more on precision of hitting balls than on precision of loving kindness in speech, emotion, intent and behavior. These labs (not all in ideal amazing looking environments) can also allow kids to be 20 times readier to comprehend the real world, to deal with the world and its problems, develop empathy and creativity, since the world is not like a classroom. Nobody would be required to attend these colorful Disneyland like learning mini-universities or playgrounds, but these would be so fun, everyone would, unless they want to meditate at home or study something in depth that there is no class for. They're designed like playgrounds to dissolve the artificial distinction between science and fun, since all play can be a funny service to humanity via the funny science wonders that amaze kids so much (think about chemistry or physics experiments that kids like), with less pushing from others and mostly self-driven activity. The extremely interventionist system, of teachers push everyone so hard, controlling and micro managing, the threat (stick, no carrot) based system of "fail grade" punishing, society "shaming people for not getting As in every subject", when grades can be thought of as "reflecting the interest of a kid in the present stone age curriculum in schools, which would be irrelevant in year 9,000, so for a time traveler it would be a waste of time", as if learning all junk in some class will make the world a better place, it could make it worse) etc, the unwanted energy of war and violence of eons, these threats don't just work in the short term as old style teachers believe, they teach kids (the "successful teacher" is the one who was so oppressive and harsh in tone, that kids emulate that and become the next OCD controllers) to become dictators, oppressors and users of threats and war starters in any situation, since kids learn from living example, not words of "be kind and empathetic" spoken in a yelling tone.

Whoever passes the building of something test (requires science knowledge), is given a toy, a toolkit to play with in spare time at home, to create more amazing things that help learn more things, build more Immortality building knowledge. This removes the stick, the stigma, the negative methods of millions of years, and opens the mind to a possibility of positive methods 100% working just as well to achieve the same end. Those who didn't manage to build something electronically (cytokine that signals inflammation, or some protein) by design on computer or hardware in a Playground (God=Eternal Lila, like Allyl, Play) or "lab", would be free to try other labs to find one field that they're happiest inventing new ways to live to 9 trillion in; ideally in labs all is real life like and related to longevity directly and indirectly and this is explained well, as well as why this tech is prioritized above other tech endeavors (cost benefit, resources, etc, and that's how they learn basics of resource management and some economics). The Finland video explains that happiness is their focus, as well as being more relaxed (which is important for happiness), not overwhelmed with homework in useless topics. Likewise, people could design school systems where a main focus is happiness that is Immortal, hence Immortality, being happy making inventions, happy learning via play (we learn 10-100 times more when it seems like a funny play and we do it out of our choice and interest, not by coercion) how to live to a billion and alleviate suffering of aging, etc, happy to play with physics, biochemistry, etc and build new sports, worlds, planets, dimensions, lifeforms. Without happiness, people have no motivation to live long, discover how to live to a trillion and enjoy being happy☺☺☺ for a trillion years. When building mice that live 3 times longer as our pets is a play, the kids are looking at it as fun, as a funny yet serious project (which doesn't always succeed of course, science is not like try 2 times and you discover the 2nd time) of compassionate alleviating the suffering of millions who die every year needlessly, when teachers present science totally differently, with Immortality and happiness applications as explained below, teachers inspire the kids to like science so much, there is no need to FORCE them to learn in detail stuff they're not interested in, as they will learn on their own faster what is needed to make the worm live 5 times longer or the tech be 10 times more effective at doing something we need to build 900 year lifespans. For example, in chemistry, they learn about glucosidase in 4th grade in some hypothetical school, and how beano is a man made product that relieves gas by breaking down some sugars. Student is amazed how knowledge can alleviate the suffering of millions of kids, tortured by parents/teachers without knowledge who feed them stuff that give them unpleasant smells or odorless bloating; then he discovers about the vast chemistry of odors and bacteria and immune system and wants to create eterni foods free of these nasty compounds, so by the age of 18 he makes 200 inventions and publishes 50 papers, not being "jailed"/forced to memorize negative literature and history stuff that is all forgotten (too much to store), endless details of "geography, this and that" (all forgotten by 30) to pass tests and do no invention that genuinely improves the lifespan and wellbeing (thus desire to live to 9 trillion) of others. The schools are often robotizing kids into negative emotions, hate, negative behaviors, not thinking creatively, obeying orders – inventing nothing, discovering nothing, thru polluted tones and vast memorization that is all forgotten and knowledge not applied, just like the pastors who talk of kindness yet have a yelling tone that has no kindness at all (why not prerecord it?), where is the knowledge of scripture applied? All brain resources wasted, nothing invented, another robotic unhappy life – no new knowledge created, huge waste of resources for billions of kids. Is that how we build a world of Immortals? 20 hrs/week playing soccer?

Critics will say this will raise a generation of happiness comfort seeking lazy kids who know nothing and can't deal with the real world; the exact opposite is (or "could be" if skeptical) true, the kids will be far happier, far more active (look at some of the "lifeless" "lazy" (tired actually) kids today sometimes, product of a depressive school system, no motivation to do anything, no joy), seeking less happiness, learning far more and knowing one field (of interest) better than university professors in rare cases, and being able to deal with the real world with an ingenuity and mode of strategic approach SO DIFFERENT, that it is often 1 billion times more effective. Look at Finland. They're the real dealers with the real world, more capable than many 70 year olds, able to use the healing nurturing gentle tender soft Grace of ingenuity instead the brute force (negative emotion filled, war like) of "lack of knowledge" or "Neolithic concepts, ideas, mentality or filif snail IQ☺☺☺", since they have been raised in a way like no generation ever did – they deal without the brainwashing of millions of years, with new modes of thinking, able to solve same problems in new ways nobody ever tried before. You can't solve a problem with the same thinking that created the problem. They can even create a lab of dealing with "unexpected or emergency" situations, to develop a new ultra tranquil serene compassionate way of coping with that that is way different than that of previous generations, to promote Eternal harmony. Counterargument to critics: the present system stuffs the brain with so much info/homework, kids get tired trying to get As in everything useless under the sky they will never use in their career to improve lifespan, but all they do is learn others' conclusions, have no independent thought to consider alternate conclusions and where the experiment or physics law is wrong, and then you get used to being this robot with no hypothesis thinking and questioning, a mind slave, when so many activities on top of it, you have no time for tone, self-care, meditation☺☺☺, just relaxing and higher cognitive functions, just being a robot. Easier said than done, for creating such a school would take huge efforts at first, since teachers would have to go thru special training to learn how to use videos more, prerecordings, speak 20 times better (but 20x less, as they would be exhausted otherwise in no time), etc. This is hard, since adults have egos, strong feelings about their "tone". They also fear allowing kids too much freedom. But with each new school, it becomes better, easier, less expensive (hard to find a good teacher who also can learn a good tone, pass the tone exam, and implement it while a teacher) and then it becomes the norm eventually, allowing reaching 900 year lifespan 100 times faster.

The standardized tests would be less important (maybe not even used some day, evaluate the inventions, Immortality papers and research done; since you can't really invent stuff without having almost perfect SAT score to begin with) for college admission compared to how many inventions one made to further Immortality while a high school student (or whatever projects one worked on, music in eternitone, etc). Likewise, middle school inventions would play a role in admission to the most wanted high schools (with more labs, facilities that allow teachers to do amazing research with 10th graders as professors do with undergrads and discover new things, publish papers like college or grad students, since teachers use prerecordings and have way more time to research instead of robotically repeating same thing. Teachers bored of repeating like a robot each class and year, would enjoy learning new things.☺☺☺ AI answers questions and also students cansend questions electronically to the teacher, who answers them. Today, youtube and many textbooks are so good, there is no need of much tutoring. As teachers have more time to think and prepare lab material, since recordings do much of the job, and online grading systems can do all testing, we get into amazing youtube demos of mind blowing experiments (too expensive to make in every high school) and lab projects that hook everyone to STEM from the 1st grade of kindergarten, simpelst thing is chemistry from age 4, since it's ultra cheap to get a chemistry set for kindergarten and see fantastic things. Basic chemistry doesn't require advanced math or physics, so it can be started at age 4, basic concepts, and more real chemistry in 1st grade. We start chemistry at age 4, and build it up to age 18, over 15 years, making everyone an artist of molecules, fields, physics and applied math in service to atomic simulations that give us 900 year lifespans. The more math-physics dependent chemistry we leave for high school, but the organic, inorganic, biochemistry, Immortality related medical applications and wonderful stuff we do way before then to show the vast applications in longevity, cures, etc early on and make people understand the real world as a shapeshifting world that knowledge shifts to 900 year lifespans; we design new toys with molecular sets and new games about compounds that triple human lifespan. We prepare the kids for bioelectrical fields in biophysics labs and, worm lifespan tripling and organ regeneration (rare, just when animals get hurt, etc and a veterinary hospital can arrange to bring it, to try new treatment) in immortal biology labs, for atomic quantum chemistry simulations in the 12th grade, after some calculus, physics and physical chemistry, since that is very important in curing all disease and aging, besides the chemical engineering and scanner building (chemical physics labs) to take pictures of the 3-20 trillion quadrillion atoms in a human body (depends on age, weight) every day to improve simulations, label atoms, trace them and do real nutrition from the 12th grade. This transforms the boring schools into colorful Disneyland like places☺☺☺ of wonder and scientific adventure, as instead of 3 labs in a high school, chem, bio, physics, there are 30 labs, since online learning removes need for classrooms. Vertical farms, building new labs, eterni food mini-factories, cleaning daily these labs remove need for any athletic fields (dissolve athletics department, create Immortality department instead), as everyone is doing exercise the eterni way of loving kindness in service to humanity solving real problems and becoming far more capable to deal with the world (not the ball), no shoving others as in football, rugby, basketball, or hitting others' legs as in soccer, etc.

Students will enjoy they can skip going to school some days, especially long commuters, and schedule 6 hours of lab research for next day, to be able to skip a 3 hour shift. 7th grade kids who have acne can take part in the eterni cosmetics lab, to design the best treatment and learn the chemistry of the immune system of the body and skin and how it fights acne, how to make soap, shampoo, shave cream, makeup at home or school from basic ingredients, and what each role plays, learning about extra cellular matrix of various tissues, etc. They will be 900 times more motivated to learn biochemistry, since they got the problem and the lab (and associated basic lectures recorded in the most amazing tone after 4 weeks of hourly glimpses of infinite happiness) can cure them maybe, learning 500 times more than parents know or even more in some areas than the dermatologist who can't read every paper the kid reads via searching; a motivated kid has the right to become a specialist in acne chemistry or digestive chemistry to fix his digestive gas or acne problem, and if discovering something amazing, get approval for standardized test in his area of expertise, so he becomes world's most knowledgeable expert at age 30 in a specific area, without having to cram his head with endless subjects. We can't allow depressed teachers, professors to contaminate via negative emotion 100s of kids or college students, lowering their motivation due to brain to brain contagion of low motivation, anger, unhappiness (or dislike of lecturing like a robot, when he could just play a recording in 30 times better tone, but Provost can't allow it, since they "got to make their own, can't use 1 recording for 800 universities/schools [let research define universities not basic non-lab courses, differentiate them, not so much the courses that can overlap 10-90% at times, Chemistry 101 (5 versions for different STEM intensities, co-created by the best schools), midterms, finals, eterni tone lectures [students can choose AI voice over they like too, 100 choices] t*aken same day by 4,000 colleges in USA at* education.gov, grade appearing instantly in 2 minutes (all multiple choice), leading to huge cognitive resources saved (most often ironically use same top 8 textbooks anyway, include top 40 textbooks as references for course so people can choose which one they like) and put to greater use of tripling lifespan 90 times faster. Some courses are only at some colleges, maybe shared by 10 or two only, specialized in that thing/research, but many courses can be shared by 2,000 universities], waste educator career in creating similar lectures, reinventing the wheel," when educator could have used that time to make students far more interested in research/discoery, since colleges partnering with high schools allow subcontracting simpler research to those science journal publishing groups of 10th graders and allow teacher-professor interactions for better inventions and faster discovery of 4000 yr techs.

Why not allow colleges who want to share exams, to have same midterm dates and questions, automatic multiple choice computerized tests, online testing for midterms/final exams? Then, the professor focuses mentors the student research projects, leading to higher discovery rate, instead of grading stuff computers can do 100 times faster and better. Negative emotion is as contagious as yawns, people don't realize it, and it shuts down creative thinking brain areas, meaning everyone loses, another day, or maybe 300 out of 365 days, taken off-peak of maximal neuronal connections and discovery by an angry, lethargic depressed lecturer or midly happy one whose tone ☺☺☺though has so much subtly negative emotion encoded, it subtly cues all student brains to shut down their areas too, as his worries, anxiety, stress, fight and flight are subtly encoded and contaminate students with his pessimism, which then shuts down inventiveness; or ultra-passionate teachers can also shut down hypothesis thinking areas, make students rushed, off that fine center of tranquil happiness and quiet confidence that is specific to truly happy and well rested individuals. Universities got the freedom to demolish lecture halls and in their place build 1. soundproof dorms with decent single rooms for all students who remote learn, 2. amazing vertical farms to learn eterni and vegan food production locally, and 3. the most amazing eterni labs, ventilated, negative ion rich, green, that replace 400 year old classrooms sitting empty and outdated by the youtube and textbooks and online learning nobody predicted centuries ago. This is our opportunity to speed up Immortality related discovery 500 fold, and to transform the world 100 times more than the Renaissance and the Enlightenment did. Every college student will be amazed that instead of 10 research groups he can join, there are 100 now, 40 of them in longevity immortality related areas (can be even high school ones that satisfy the requirement, where they act as teacher-professor liason and mentor for high schoolers) close to his genome weaknesses that need addressing to maximize his chance to live to 900 – this is a clever way to use self-interest to get people 400 times more motivated to learn genetics, biochemistry, biomedical engineering, atomic scanner building, biophysics, computers that can handle molecular simulations, etc. Colleges would allow students to go to nearby colleges too to do research and satisfy graduation requirements. This is a natural evolution the online era allows. The self-driven student, no longer needing policing and confinement in a lecture hall, is enjoying college far more and discovering 50 times more, being a more productive citizen who knows at 22 more than many professors now, since he started chemistry at 4, in kindergarten and he really liked it, so at 22, he knows more than 35 year old professors. His biomarkers also are better than sports players, due to the manganese superoxide dismutase reality. He just helped build these labs, since contractors needed some help, like with Habitat for humanity or lihi, and cleaning labs and maintenance, etc has created new opportunities to exercise a little daily, like many centenarian college professors who live to 105 and never exercise outside their job. Retrofitting many college dorms with soundproof walls, etc allows professor to help students and develop loving kindness☺☺☺, so better student sleep means better research papers for professor and student resume, better biomarkers for professor. Honestly, students would often do more exercise this way, live longer than the usual "athletics requirement" many go around by going to gentle *yoga (see safe vs dangerous yoga (or regular aerobic exercises some do) moves, (5% are fractures), see yoga injuries)* class in college.

When we teach STEM to college/high/middle school there is little emphasis on the mind-blowing effects each discovery had on human lifespan, how millions of people got rid of many diseases (vitamin C scurvy) when they discovered vitamins, sanitation, vaccines, etc. This lifespan doubling connection of every discovery would be emphasized 200+ times more often than now and the areas of life sciences with more application to human longevity would be given more time. In every chemistry, biology and related biomedical engineering class there can be a mention of 10-50 seconds about how a chemical/cell/tech mentioned today has been used to synthesize or catalyze the synthesis of a medicine/nutrient (faster/cheaper) that gave some or millions 10-50 extra years of life or cured a debilitating condition. Same thing in other fields, physics/engineering emphasize the applications (instruments built to monitor biomarkers, etc) that can double lifespan or helped advance biophysics of living to 300, math classes can mention that some types of models are used to create better simulations for living to 400. Make it colorful Disneyland like too, with holograms, projections, amazing, to captivate kids. We can make lifespan doubling something everyone thinks about naturally every day, even 7 year olds. We often spend time in biology to study the structure of the posterior of some bug, its wing structure or something; that is less important than nutrition that can extend lifespan 2-10 times or how 2 gene changes make worms live 5 times longer. We don't study STEM for the sake of STEM but for eliminating human suffering and doubling healthy/total lifespan, curing aging and diseases. ☺☺☺ We need prioritization so we can triple human lifespan thru super high tech methods, including a high tech eterni diet. If people understand better the history of science, they can see how we can, when really dedicated, increase lifespan years adding capacity a million times, just as we did for lifespan shortening. Most kids in school have no idea, as nobody explains to them, that actually if enough people would focus on this thru a new culture and educational system, they themselves might be able to live to 150 or 500 or if ultra lucky, like Immortalli from the movie, to 30 billion years old. How many kids today can say they heard a teacher of STEM explain to them that via science, if lucky, they could live to be 300 or even 50 times longer? ☺ 1 in a million? This lack of vision, this extreme negativity, extreme antilife and antilongevity bias, in our educational system and culture, create a very dreary boring environment where kids get some "ideas to pass an exam to get a paycheck" in a very depressive way, that is wholly removed from the very nature of Life, Immortality, which doesn't have limits, i.e. Immortality is not for some "afterlife only", and "peace is not only for some afterlife", but also for this world, where humans can live to be 500 one day. Kids' motivation to study anything, to discover, to major in STEM is disconnected from their self-interest, health, happiness, they often feel they're fed beliefs to get a paycheck to buy the next junk food, who can't even be an eterni food. Sadly, the religion classes come up with some fantastical stories for which there is no proof and forced beliefs, and if they get disillusioned with the religion they reject even the ethics (explained more in this chapter) associated with it, even the self-interest ethics explained in the peace chapter or altruistic ethics that is independent of a belief in God.

Why can't our education be more honest, lifespan extension affirming and "we don't know" like, and make people ☺ happy about living, extending this life ☺ instead of shortening it by wars to impose fictional beliefs for which there is no real strong evidence? The teacher would ideally explain very well how this or that fact of science personally relates to the student, to his ☺ perfect happiness and health, to his lifespan length, ☺ to his Immortality in this dimension and possibly (or certain if believer) other dimensions. We study to create Eternal beauty and happiness in this and all dimensions, not to be a robot with a paycheck eating junk food to die at 80 instead of living to 900. The mechanical repetition of facts of science any youtube video has (some in way nicer tone that makes student far more interested) is not going to arouse student's motivation and enthusiasm for making everyone live to 500. Teachers can open their minds and realize what humans already did in health sciences, in sending letters a million times faster, and inspire kids to do a million times better in lifespan extension, thus ending up themselves living perhaps a few extra decades or centuries if very lucky. Teachers can magnify a million fold the joy, bliss, ☺☺ happiness of, Passion for Living to 900 or far longer. Some people won't believe without material evidence in afterlife or God, so we need to be inclusive and create an educational system that is ultra motivational for the strongest atheists too, that develops a strong love and passion for ethics of longevity and physical (and spiritual if believer) Immortality in all, that can appeal to the self-interest of the most selfish atheist or theist in order to motivate all to create World Peace, to motivate their nobest lifespan extension for all behavior to the maximum, as that maximizes his chance to gain lifespan; most students don't care about living to 80 in a mansion, they would rather live to 900 in a normal place in happiness and health; young atheist people fail to realize they will very soon be old and their self-interest is not to impress others, have the biggest salary, etc but to live the longest, that's the only thing they still have past a few decades, all material things are gone or change, alter, even wealth status can change, the only thing available, in absence of afterlife is being a happy healthy person who is alive enjoying the beauty of new discoveries of younger people and self. When this realization hits home in the most selfish "no afterlife exists" people, they will soon value kindness and altruism more as it helps them achieve their selfish desire, to still have something, 100 or 500 years from now, or a billion, if lucky, that is, physical Immortality*, if spiritual* Immortality is not possible in their belief system. He realizes that this living to 9 million years old or even 500 is ONLY possible if we achieve World Peace ultra fast and we focus on helping all to live longer. Anyone with any IQ knows that the more people work on lifespan extension and helping others be happy and healthy, instead of wars, the more likely it is for the tech to be discovered and mass marketed. We can appeal to people's selfishness to bring out the best altrustic side in them. To claim that everyone is 100% altrusitic always is a lie, we have to be a little selfish to take care of ourselves. Some places have religion classes required, but no ethics classes. Religion teaches a lot of things about past events that are reportedly factual and sometimes hard to believe as real, but ethics teaches common sense stuff everyone accepts as real people are nice and help us if we help them usually, while they avoid or fight us if we're mean or try to shorten their lifespan in wars, i.e. if we help each other humans live to 500 perhaps one billion times faster than if we often try to "shorten others' lifespan" via anti peace moves or etc.

Why use religion fiction to try to bring out ethics only, when we can use hypothesis formulation and testing and the reality of life and science to bring it out too, and often times in a much more effective way for skeptics? God may want to keep his/her existence secret or ambiguous, as real character is far more evident in the absence of 100% certain (as opposed to nonexistent or ambiguous) afterlife punishment. We're all already ultra punished with short lives by our historical inertia and habits of anti peaceful behavior, so naturally, even in the absence of afterlife effects, anyone sees the effects of unethical behavior on humanity, a million years of fights and "me first, humanity or others last" and we still live to 100 years maximum. No fear of

"eternal/temporary afterlife hell" can motivate some people, not even "temporary physical life hell" can motivate some people, it's better to motivate ☺☺☺positively ☺☺☺ daily ages 3-18, than to use fear, fiction later. ☺☺☺ If we were a civilization that promotes Life, lifespan doubling, curing diseases and aging, eliminating all causes of death, including violence, etc it would make far more sense to have more University Presidents from Life Sciences/Life Sciences Engineering, especially majors like "Biochemistry of human longevity", "Molecular biology of 400 year lifespans", "Biophysics of 800 year future humans", "Physics of new instruments for tripling human lifespan", "Nutrition of 900 year old humans", "Biomedical engineering of 900 year lifespans", "Ethics of a Civilization of Immortals (souls are Immortal) as it pertains to life sciences and other fields", "The Culture of peace and tenderness in a Civilization of Immortals" instead of the situation today where life sciences professors are a minority when it comes to leading universities. This can change if we want RESULTS fast, not in 2,000 years, but within this century; lifespan doubling requires knowledge, resources, focus on the sciences that deliver that. Another useful idea could be bringing the idea of human compassion for suffering into every science class: when teaching about lasers that dissolve clouds, we apply it to ending 20 billion yearly damage from hurricanes (plus enormous human suffering) and how this can occur with enough knowledge and focus. We want kind, empathetic students who immediately use science to help others, not harm them or "make products" customers "want" (want = been brainwashed to want via ads). Simply having a legal system that emphasizes contributions to human lifespan increase or a Law School President with major in "Immortality Law" is wholly insufficient for doubling or tripling human lifespan. The driving engine of lifespan tripling are the STEM majors who liberate us from suffering and crippling diseases. Chemistry, medicine, biology depend so much on physicists (who depend on math) and engineers building instruments. Neuroscience combined with cymatics, music effects on human brain and behavior, nutrition, can provide clues into human conflict, how to bring a world of peace for more longevity money.

4.1.2 Immortality Test (to pass/skip grades) & courses to skip classes (more in Chapter 6)

We usually encourage choices that lead to longer healthier lives, but the promotion of such choices can become very concentrated and focused at all levels of the civilization, including education. Freedom & bliss are first & foremost: students would be able to skip rather useless classes (history, etc) they dislike if they choose an advanced life extension or Immortality civilization building course. This gives students way more freedom (yay☺☺) to skip subjects and, if dedicated to study more at home, skip even grades if they can learn so much about Immortality, learning what they really love instead of stuff they find boring or 'infinitely silly'. The education minister introduces the Immortality test required (standardized, like SAT, GRE) at the end of each grade/college/PhD year to move to the next grade/year, which enables all to skip grades, test their knowledge of Immortality/Longevity Ethics, 'Arts', Sciences ☺☺

(chemistry is an art of designing molecules and things; all STEM disciplines are artistic in their own ways of reaching for the truth and new perceptions. This test reduces the number of final exams, further reducing student stress, so they focus on learning not anxiety. The era of bliss in learning, of happy breathing would begin. The level of knowledge one needs to have to skip a year of college is specific to life extension STEM, molecular genetics, nutrition. Since everyone is a specialist, they can get a passing grade by scoring high in one area: atomic simulations or atom tracing. Immortality test is also the best defense of the civilization in the long run. The disconnection of our emotional brain filtering and 'science' speaking, leads to the development of truly genocidal scientists, people with no qualms about killing 3 billion people, which leads to the end of a species later on. It's easy, a scientist involved with testing new weapons (in the future, when we're multi-stellar the scary weapon tests kill all humans in multiple solar systems, at once, just as today a thermonuke kills all at once in many nearby small towns which was unthinkable 200 years ago) notices that a test would end humanity, but he doesn't share that with the scientific and/or military 'leaders', because of a lack of true eternitone, happiness and non-killing ethics in the leadership (which always has the tone of the civilization itself on average) contaminated him and he decided wiping all is 'better'. Even a test with delayed effect, all dead only years later, could prompt others to do the test too and then all die without knowing why; imagine quantum entanglement system that seeks all humans in a galaxy or area humans live in, it would be devastating in a 'nuke exchange equivalent' of those weapons, the stuff of last resort.

For mortal humans, the value of one life is great, so the attack of the 100,000 shorter lived bacteria one one human can trigger the use of some food or some disinfection cleaning tech that kills 100 billion bacteria; it's a disproportionate attack, 1 billion dead for a little infection (not even lethal) of a human that often only shortens human lifespan by 10 days, yet the bacteria lost equivalent of about 80 million human lifespan years, if 80 is average human lifespan; is it fair? Humans lose days (or 70 years if one human dead as a kid) and bacteria 80 million years? Not fair by any means, but humans do it, even when opening a window and letting UV in, we kill so many bacteria without realizing (primitive men didn't know, so if primitive giants made of unknown matter do something, all humans may die if we all use the same techs or are on one solar system). For mortal aliens or some future humans, the value of one life is great, so the attack and killing of 'wanna be' Immortals (losing 3 trillion lifespan years, since 1000 dead at age 3 billion) could trigger the automatic deployment of the ultimate weapon that annihilates those doing it (a lot more than 1000, if they live only to age 100, but same losing of 3 trillion lifespan years by the group doing it) – finding them fast, even if they used many robots and bioandroids intermediaries to the hide origin of attack. Imagine if we're like bacteria are to us, lack of eternitone makes us less likely to even care about these beings existing. Even visiting a planet with remotely controlled robots to torture and experiment on an Immortal 'animal', to see what happens, can trigger the blessing of the collective of Immortal 'animals', blessing (all positive intent for their fellow 'animal' not feeling well) which unleashes subatomic events, they're unaware of, which annihilate the whole species doing that 'animal' torture, since those 'animals' were actually the most evolved, unbeknown to them, beings in the universe, who then refined their blessing☺☺☺ and translated into another universe when realizing their blessing killed 4 trillion people of a civilization of death and torture, which was replaced by another civilization which later translated too. A real issue here is that the timescale of response may not be instant in human terms, but 'instant' in their terms, so humans may continue their mistreatment of 'animals', 'giants not aware of us little bacteria' or any human like 'enemy' thinking there is no repercussion, but it may occur in ways and at delayed times least expected, taking all by surprise (not always intentionally if Immortal 'animals' developing inner ways and techs, not outer and not knowing war or defense, or if unknown matter giants unaware of us), removing any chance to detect anything before all humans are dead. In the astral, the 'soul remnant' of generals argue 'I told you to not torture that animal. Now we're all dead. Only pigs are left to incarnate to, on a far away planet. Ready to search for species more responsive to our complex thoughts?' - so they start wrestling for 500 years then they get bored as the astral body is immortal and instantly heals. Since the soul forgets most of its memory, pigs have a hard time to notice astral thoughts of generals, so they give up reincarnating in pigs; generals get frustrated and search for other lifeforms to incarnate into for a million billion years, since their astral flight speed is low; meanwhile, people who were backward technically, but not spiritually, in other universe areas, evolved way past these animal torturers, translated into another universe before the generals could reincarnate even into any intelligent species to help recreate something eterni in tone.

They thought evolution is always in forward, but it can go in reverse too. Thus, the Immortality test prevents the self-annihilation of the civilization by a strong assimilation of any new member into the eterni tone of the civilization, by testing the eterni level of the tone of speech, thinking and emoting yearly, and perhaps, even grading the level of all public classroom talk, via the mic everyone has when speaking, to encourage year long tone improving and much better end tone, not just around final exam; however, if poor year long effort is done, final exam tone can't become overnight good. We don't realize that bad tone in public is long-term having such gigantic effects, to exceed those of a nuke dropped on civilian targets☺☺☺, so we invent scapegoats to explain issues. In our lifetime, the net effects we see are often tiny, just some angry folks, but if we wait long-enough and have the right computers to calculate effects, we can see a different picture which would immediately motivate us to improve our tone. So if we're only allowed to incarnate and interact with this universe once, our actual net effect may be 1 trillion worse than we had initially thought in our old age (when people think of that). There can be competing equal lifespan or comparable lifespan civilizations, which somehow are at war for a long time. So in their journey, they realize that the killing of one individual and its capture can trigger the end of the civilization, due to the quantum signatures that can be used to annihilate the group of 3 billion inhabitants. Thus, in such situations, weapon systems that launch automatic 'nuke strike equivalent' with undreamed of weapons can be deployed, whereas the attack or killing of one citizen triggers all out attack that annihilates the entire group of 5 or 9 trillion people behind it, out of the need to survive the impending risk of your entire civilization being wiped out just minutes or weeks later if the attack has recreated the signature. The two civilizations would do everything possible to stay away to prevent the signatures being determined, which would enable the weapon to instantly kill all 4 trillion people of their civilization on 80 star systems. (equivalent of a tiny device generating UV, killing 80 bacteria civilizations in a huge space). When we understand the complexities of what could happen as tech becomes more complex and trillions times more deadly, the tone takes more priority, because in the end, it's no longer 1700s when using the most powerful weapon just damages a house, it's damaging entire solar systems in the future, so it's a lot more thought going into it before use. So, yes, after spending 8 billion years building a civilization, people won't sit idle and do nothing when even 1 person is dead or tortured, since that can mean the end of it all. Right now, being away from such systems, by eons maybe, nobody almost tries eterni tone all the time (since it uses 20-800 times more brain energy than normal tone, depending on the person), especially because they don't believe in afterlife existing, so why bother? ☺☺☺

Also, this tone can only be learned when younger, so brain is plastic enough to produce high quality filtering, and vocal chords very healthy and responsive, the entire brain ultra healthy, etc. After brain architecture is done, the amount of effort required to redesign the whole brain, years, precludes older adults from even trying to reach the level a younger one can, just like we can't learn a language with native accent at 50 as easily as at 10. Nobody pays people for that effort. Knowing this, the civilization is adamant about this being learned before the age of 18, in incremental steps, deeper each year, as brain expands in complexity, since we're lazy and inertial and nobody will invest 10-80 times the effort at 50 or 60 to learn it, especially since society doesn't reward that, but shuns or mocks it. It's funny how we start talking about Immortality test in the context of the test to see how 'Immortal' the soul is via the sci-fi weapons of the future. The consolation is, after all, that instant resurrection tech may manifest, but not before this 'species ending' tech appears. Another consolation is that with the discovery of thermonukes, human wars of large scale disappeared, so perhaps, with 'quantum' weapons, there will be no war anymore, as country who attacks 1 person, reveals all their citizens signatures which then the enemy weapon can kill. Would this be the end of violence on Earth? Like an odd world where everyone keeps their signatures private to prevent first strike, by true gentleness and respect for others, with for Immortality, like in a civilized world? 2 countries don't get along, but at least, there is not even 1 more covert or overt killing. They learn to live in their own separate worlds, to co-exist without war, violence or torture, learning that there are a trillion ways to peace without torture, threat or war, by the very reality of life, not by trying to find the nonviolent trillion ways out of kindness, but being really 'forced by life' to walk on that path, to find that way, out of the need to survive. May all be kind and happy. ☺☺☺

This Immortality (Longevity) FOCUSED Educational system would allow 7-year-olds (like Tanish Abraham, born June 10, 2003, who started college at age 7) to enroll at MIT or Harvard if they can pass the annual Immortality final exam for the 12th grade. Tanish enrolled in 2016, as a junior at UC Davis. At 7 he took his first college course at American River College and at 11, he got his 2 year college degree. At 12 he was undergrad researcher in Prof. Tan's lab, learning PCR, Gel Electrophoresis, Bacterial Transformation, Artificial Cell synthesis, and co-authoring papers. He graduated in June 2018 with BS in Biomedical Engineering at age 15. moshekai.com is the site of Moshe Kai who graduated in math at 11 from 2 year East Los Angeles College (enrolled at age 8 there), at 15 from UCLA, at 17 from 2 year Masters in information security Brandeis University, and MBA at 20 from Arizona State University. Taylor_Wilson is another young scientist who build a fusion reactor at age 14 and met the President at 17, see the 2nd picture.☺ When students get a fail grade in art, literature, history (focusing too much on our troubled past of short lives and war and conditioning us to repeat it) or any subject, but they get at any time higher than passing score in the Immortality final year 5 hour exam, they would be able to pass that grade level, since they're propelling humanity forward, away from history and towards the Immortality CIVILIZATION. If one is choosing a major in the 5th grade, the Immortality tests that confer skipping grade or graduation can be different, depending on the major chosen. ☺☺☺ Those passing the Immortality test of the next grade would be free to not attend physical education classes so they organize Immortality Volunteering in their high school to inspire change in their town towards a Civilization of Immortals. The development of musical and musical speech abilities of people is far more important than physical education, since the civilization is built by the tone of speech, not by the strength of one's fist. Everything is about muscles, instead of the activation of the many brain areas required for eterni tone. The Bible education has given us a chimp gorilla culture. We can ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ always free our spirits from it and evolve beyond the Bible stage. If people get failing grade for Immortality test, but overall do "well" (to fail the test one would have to be a really bad C student) and would pass in all other disciplines, they would have to repeat the grade, because they did not pay attention to the Immortality applications presented in every subject discipline, which are part of Immortality Test. The test can be designed so that they would need the regular STEM/Ethics knowledge to pass, but without Immortality applications knowledge, they can't pass. That would be an incentive for the study of chemistry, physics, biology, life extension (10 fold, as scientists did in worms), Immortality civilization ethics and manifestation. We would essentially reward people who're Longevity innovative and who help us double human lifespan, who see art in chemistry, biochemistry, superluminal and teleportation physics, room temperature cold fusion, postponing hundreds of age related diseases by 300 years by postponing aging as we did in worms (see Chapter 3), not in drawing things or throwing balls like we did for thousands of years necessarily.

Drawing and painting, sculptures are good, but we got billions of people who die at 100 when they could live to 400 or 9,000. We could also draw, sculpt, paint chemistry molecules, hadrons and bosons of particle physics that help us cure disease, draw physics gadgets that destroy tiny tornadoes before they become big and end human lives. That is very artistic and far more selfless and perhaps 1 million times more beautiful than traditional art, since it has a direct application of saving human lives lost to disease, aging, tornadoes, violence due to nutrition. Imagine you land on a planet of sick people infested by some virus that kills them right away after they become adults; this is our reality on Earth, the virus of lack of knowledge is killing us rapidly at 75-100 or 120 if ultra lucky; we would want to eradicate this virus as we eradicated other diseases. Imagine how smart people of the future will be, because if they live to 400, or 5 times longer than the average lifespan of 80 in the developed world, they could spend 60 years, not 12, in minimal education, like getting 10 doctorate degrees in chemistry, biology, physics, math, engineering, afterlife hypotheses, telepathy, ESP, etc, so everyone would be like a walking genius in molecular biology, etc chemistry, etc, and old people after 60 become much more peaceful, gentle, tender, soft, kind, compassionate, peace loving, so as the average age moves to 150 or 200 later, instead of 80 today, we get the average person being such a genius, spiritual, wise and peaceful person, the world of today would seem like some long gone stone age. Can you imagine what scientific progress exists when Tesla has 3,500 patents not 700 due to living 5 times longer? When people can know many fields like a PhD, take part in inter-disciplinary research of such amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ effect, having PhD in molecular biology, genetics, chemistry, biophysics, epidemiology, biochemistry, computational chemistry, nutrition, they will be able to see patterns impossible to see now with our narrow knowledge base, and enable us to discover things we never can individually today. Instead of 5 people with a PhD in a field each, we got one person have 5 PhDs making longevity discovery so much faster, increasing lifespan quicker. Even living to 150 would completely change our world. Perhaps we could say that compared to 50,000 years old humans of the future who can teleport and shapeshift like the octopus can, build solar systems and planets, go between dimensions, we might seem like rats.

When a 15 years old who is a super genius in chemistry, genetics, physics, etc passes the Immortality Test for PhD level, he would have the right to become University Professor at one of the Immortality Universities or Immortality Departments within existing Universities, this naturally would not occur often, since the knowledge level required to pass that exam would be very high, but this would cut thru bureaucracy to give humanity a better chance at defeating "lack of knowledge" about aging, diseases. The world record for professorship is 18, Alia Sabur a professor 3 days before turning 19, Tian Boedihardjo UCLA Professor in 2017 at 18. Writing one's own "Civilization of Immortals or Immortality for All book" (explained on the 1st page), presenting latest version at each grade exam would be required, to encourage kids to centralize Immortality and Its Ethics in their lives, encourage creative thinking, long-term planning, become like Immortals. 8 years contain 2922 days, so a page every 3.25 days is ultra easy, to get the 900 page book required for high school graduation, PhD 4,000, Professor 8,000 (even if copied from one's papers), President of University 20,000 with at least 100,000 STEM paper references. This ensures a higher quality standard for colleges, avoiding the "brain overstuffing issue", where Presidents know what Immortality requires and don't force students to learn useless historical inertia stuff as part of "graduation requirements", while ignoring the essential, yet missing from most graduation requirements: chemical & acoustic nutrition, eterni food engineering, Immortality, ethics of Immortals, eterni tone, lifespan tripling and health classes. This would disqualify many from setting up universities, but quality would be more important in the era of online learning and eterni potential, if we want to not repeat the previous centuries. The Immortality test would include a tone test, and samples of eterni singing and reading to an audience to heal, uplift, transform, inspire, as an Immortal would do in speech. The exception for 900 page high school graduation requirement (100-800 pages, fewer pages the more other works are included with the shorter writing, with more of the book explaining the special works) is for people who compose eterni instrumental music, science recordings, or a vocal song in their voice, which take huge amounts of time, rest, meditation to reach 30-90% eterni or do other special projects that communicate the way of the Immortals in ways different than writing (meditation with brainwaves recorded as a public "brainwave CD" anyone can listen to, for example to see if this can be easier induced in others, sort of like calm music induces a tranquil state, who never reached that state before, with less effort on their part, without 10 years of meditating first, which means 70 years from age 20-90 if we talk about ages 3-13, when brain learns WAY faster and better, etc). This allows us to create millions of 10-70% eterni tone "science, ethics, Immortality, every subject" recordings urgently needed to replace the 0.02-1% eterni tone of teachers. Then we can create the best AIs to override speech or override whisper of teachers unable to realistically vastly improve tone as it's like learning 2 new languages, 5 if really eterni; this won't happen overnight, so AI is the savior who frees the teacher brain resource dedicated to vocal cords, loud volume to engage in emotional-intent-content tone neurogenesis. It's too exhausting at first for existing teachers to focus on content and eterni tone, so by receiving AI assistance, it will be easier and they can use an AI closest to their voice (custom AI based on each teacher voice, but different), to retrain the brain on how to speak, emote in a more nurturing, healing, gentle way, so over 15 years they use AI less and less.

We can use technology to replace existing voice in science videos with various AI voices that are 20-500 times more eterni, AI voices created from analysis of millions of these recordings we create. Until all teachers (nursery, kindergarten, school, college) recalibrate their voices (new teachers won't need it much (except on tired or bad days), as they get trained properly, may take 15 years for some old teachers to improve it slightly, due to daily stress, priorities), teachers can think stuff mentally or whisper it, and then a device takes that, transforms it into the most pleasant musical healing voice that the students/teacher hear amplified, enabling them to relearn how to speak like an Immortal. The tone is 1% eterni for the most angelic voice teachers, usually of spiritual topics because they intentionally modulate emotion and tone to convey the loving kindness of which they speak, who intone way better than most clergy, 0.1-0.2% eterni for most humans today in typical speech, 0.02 for bad tone teachers or bad/tired day of the rest. When people record spiritual music they can reach 70% on rarer occasions as they focus on coherent tone entirely. Teachers are simply not used to it, and i*t's a "superhuman task" to think very deeply about what they're teaching, speak loud and also to have the most* healing tone (emotion, vocal, intent, energetic), our brains are not evolved to that stage – so we're basically slowly, over 100 years, starting a process of creating a more connected brain, creating a more immortal superorganism (whole humanity) and individuals, with each generation becoming more eterni; singers can't do the most difficult science stuff and, at the exact same time, have that ultra rare (1 in 200,000 songs) 70% eterni tone in spiritual music, but that's what we will reach one day; our brains can only focus so much, multitask so much now, just like apes can only comprehend so much math versus humans. This enables teachers to engage in more intelligent higher brain functions activities instead of repeating like a robot same words in class over and over; it also allows us to record these lessons in the most perfect voices (combined "brain plasticity and control/complexity" of tone are almost highest in ages 18-25 anyway, brain shrinks afterwards and ages, so it's harder each decade to reach same level of eterni tone one could have achieved at 25 for a long period, if he tried; just like one can be super athlete at 25, but not at 65, brain is the same, and vocal cords too) that calm listeners and fill them with the positive emotions of eternal youth aiding the recurrent return to 15-25 year old charts when one refreshes concepts of high school or college later in life, using voices of 15-25 year olds (ideally more soprano), since this "waiving part of writing length requirement" can be done by college/PhD students too, to get 10-85% reductions of the book length via alternatives to writing. ☺☺☺ When we were 20-30 we heard mostly voices of 20-30 year olds around us, so this tech allows older people to be tricking their brains to think they're younger and delay aging. The book minimum can be set to 700 pages in grade 11 for example, if no other work done and then all one needs do is to add 200 in the last year (just fix awkward sentences in the first 700 written, updated cumulatively over 11 years). This allows for freedom too, so people are not all focusing on writing so much, if they feel like they would perfect their tones or meditation bliss on demand ability, which are very important for self-regulation of emotions, etc. Others may want to make the permanent (lights turned on via timer for the night part of it) decoration via holograms, out of this world landscaping (100 times more colorful and futuristic than the banal designs in most places today), nanomaterials of a City Immortality Park, so this is the most colorful Disneyland like area of a city of their choice and this special song of colors and geometries, quotes and lights would be equivalent of a eterni song or 500 pages of a book (12th grade 900 requirement reduced by 500 pages to 400, depending on project scale and years taken to do it); same for special middle or high school Immortality research projects that take 1-8 years to complete. Our cities are in need of some beauty, Immortality themes and quotes in the most beautiful most colorful Disneyland like area, looking very banal, intellectually unstimulating and why not learn some science, and tech, while doing physical exercise too, instead of moving balls around? This system ensures that we don't just go thru grades with "tests we passed and forgot everything next year" (or next day if cheating), but with works that last and inspire us and our grandkids for generations to come "Look, he decorated this city and it's still here the most beautiful in the county, it was your grand grand dad from 120 years ago", contributing to Heaven on Earth by doing, not just "passing memorization tests under pressure and retaining nothing of what we learned years later, while raising cortisol, speeding up aging," and never relaxing☺☺☺ as in artistic expression or scientific inventing. This promotes relaxed learning, not under pressure learning, less focus on tests and more on creativity, innovation and discovery. Basic formulas, concepts, exact numbers, etc we get it by accessing computers and AI who can help us, but to create new knowledge, inventions, music, techs of Immortality we need to do it and learn to activate, since age 3 other brain areas different than memorization. The book (and projects used to reduce writing minimum if wanted) allows students to write, detail, expand what they like and retain it better, be happier, magnify the stuff/area they're good at, they're not a machine passing tests only. The book has links to their songs, eterni tone recordings, presentations of projects, for students doing those to reduce writing requirements.☺

The Education Minister or Secretary in this World of Ascending Immortality would also consider implementing the use of Immortality final year exam scores for college admission, as today we use SAT. We evolved to live 2,000 times longer, we were little worms one time, at least according to the evolution theory. Even if that were not true, there is nothing stopping us from evolving to live 2,000 times longer one day, to be 200,000 years old (a grass in the Mediterranean was found to be at least 100,000 years old), but short term, we're talking of 150 or 300. Imagine if millions of people would spend their life researching how to make us live to 800, it will happen so much faster. But we need to create a whole incentive system and civilization pattern to stimulate that innovation and that trajectory. Everything needs a plan, even if it's a 500,000 year plan. Imagine a soul incarnating on a planet, and realizing the bad aliens have infested everyone with a virus so they live 100 times shorter. And then she has to get the people out of the alien matrix. How is she going to do it? With science. The "bad aliens" are our inertia to keep things as they are, to not work with enthusiasm, focus and dedication towards 900 year lifespan or "Immortality". ☺☺The Immortals from 'heaven' might hover around kids, and with some novel ideas that correct stuff in textbooks, but there is a real problem when the kid says something is wrong and a 50-year-old teacher says the kid is wrong, when it very well could be the other way around. To prevent this issue, Immortality exam to bypass grades is a good solution. The Immortals around kids, like around Tesla, can't help the kids to focus on their life task if the kids are brainwashed and pressured to take part in "time wasting" activities of the era we're in such as boxing, bullfighting, Sudoku, card games, rugby. This kinetic energy could be used for typing fast a new book on how to fix genes that lead to lethal diseases being transmitted. How can we have fast progress if people are not allowed to study longevity from the age of 7 at MIT? It's not possible. We might as well say that ultimately moving balls as in some sports is not that makes us human, it is living to 900, going to other stars, or living to 9,000. Monkeys can throw balls too, they can even throw rocks at people and kill people, India has 50 million monkeys and they often attack people, leading to injuries or, rarely even deaths. We want education to make us more human, and yet the growth in spending in some colleges is higher in sports than in academics. ☺☺☺

The history of life-extending and related science is worth studying in depth, but the history of humanity with all negative stuff going on is less important and those negative thought forms would need to be avoided or minimized in history classes because they will prevent people from dreaming the amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ future of wonderful 900-80,000+ and much later billion year lifespans. We completely limit what we believe is possible if we limit ourselves with the study of the past, especially since we want to create World Peace or 900 year lifespans and the past doesn't have any provable record of us living to 1,000 years old or 70,000 years old. Additionally, history classes are teaching a complete fraud and falsehood in a sense, having people memorize "killing events" of various groups, saying the cause was 'this and that', or 'one guy did a violent thing' and then it all started; when in reality the 'one violent thing that started' was paid off by someone and that payment was due to the bad thought, feeling (thus speech) tone of 500 million people who contributed (some 1000 times more than others) to that bad violent intent payment; our tone modulates our behavior like nothing else we do; this 'scapegoat' history classes strategy removes any personal and civilizational responsibility (we inherit the tones and will repeat history if we don't change them as a human group), any incentive to learn real self-transformation (just memorize events about 'scapegoats') and solves no problem long-term: addressing only symptoms, so the disease is never cured. It's ironic we want to create Heaven on Earth, and we study the past hell on Earth in all schools, but hardly do we mention the Heaven on Earth, the amazing world of Immortals awaiting us, how we're going to create it, live in it, design our society. Unintentionally, society induces young people to reimagine the horrific past thru history and we recreate it in their brains, but we don't create balancing positive future images to neutralize the past. The society thus program billions of young people to subconsciously create, expect and manifest a reality that is ultra similar to the past: eternal slaughter and short lives of 80, making longevity progress ultra slow. A few people could live to 115 even millennia ago, we have not really advanced as much as we think we did.

This is why if people are required to attend history classes, they would also be required to study the Immortality-Longevity-900 year lifespan civilization classes, about the Future World of Immortals we can create, where people discuss possible ways to achieve Immortality, pathways, get familiar with inter-disciplinary research, models, ethics and ways of sci-fi future and the amazing wonder that we think about 24-7 so that we bring it into reality 900 times faster. We either promote the past (history), death/short lives that is (people dying young due to natural calamities, wars) or we promote the future, long lives that is and eventually "Immortality". It's not like anyone is intentionally promoting negative thought forms, but the impact is there, even if people don't think about it usually. Alternatively, history Classes can be taught as from the perspective of 8,000 years old future humans, who're teaching present people how to get there, with only 10% of history as the actual human history of the past events, 90% of history classes being about creating history via our thoughts, feelings, expectations, dreams of world of Immortals living in peace and harmony, about creating the future as positive imagination is more important than knowledge of the negative past. "Imagination is more important than knowledge" Albert Einstein. ☺☺☺ The existing educational systems of the planet are emphasizing this incessant killing. A very clear example is the indoctrination millions of people have to go thru during "universal draft or military service", which is basically training people to be able to kill others and develop "toughness" and sometimes "cruelty". How come there is no "Universal Immortality or peace service" to learn how to help humanity one day live 2-10 times longer, to bring back to life (give life, not death) by high tech knowledge (medicine is getting better at this), how to bring Permanent Peace and expand it to more areas, prevent negative emotion via proper nutrition and 20 telepathy habits, gentle speech tone, peaceful soothing healing music, ecstatic☺☺☺ bliss states contagion to heal people, hands on healing and new sports to develop empathy. Our planet has peacecorps and a few things, but they're not that common and get minimal funds. People during Galileo time, even very learned and highly cultured professionals within the hierarchy, kings, top leaders didn't question the dogmas of the time, forbid his writings for 200 years because he said the Earth is not the center of the Universe, rotating around the sun instead. Likewise, we could perhaps say that today some people don't question the totally unbalanced focus of our global education/culture on waging war, instead of preventing it, on random stuff (taste texture of food, not whether it triples our lifespan) instead of living to 500, on war instead of peace, etc. I've never heard of a protest or petition in any nation to propose "universal peace service"☺☺☺ or "universal lifespan doubling service" instead of or in addition to (for balance) universal military service. ☺ This shows the totally biased way we educate to repeat the past, in all nations. Even when there is voluntary military service, there is no voluntary peace creating service or Immortality building service to balance it out; this absence could end our species when tech becomes way better in 200 years.

What people have a hard time to remember sometimes, is that history classes 4,000 years ago, shared by story telling by older people, were very primitive and about very irrelevant concepts to modern humans, such as how to wrestle with a bear using a stick to protect the village or how one guy fought another with this and that stick and hit him first on the hand, then on another part of the body, making the stick effect more effective, how to build a thing with some materials of stone age (not used today anymore). The people from 3,000 years from now, who live on several planets, will also, as 900 year old humans perhaps, find the stuff we study today in history of science, technology, humanity, wars, nations as irrelevant to them. In our present history classes people could be asked to write impressions coming from Immortals or God about how these future 900 years old humans study in their history classes, what they study, given that for the last 2,000 years in their history there was not one act of violence on the planet, not one death due to a hurricane, earthquake, flooding or any cause before age 400, even super hot weather or super cold weather since they had forcefields that create a perfect temperature in the city of 70 or 74 year round. The temperature setting would be dependent on what citizens vote for temperature to be ☺☺☺ and on what is most longevity enhancing, with no stress on the body (by today's ever changing temperatures), possible with global agreement on standard temperature range 70-74 maybe in all nations. This realization about irrelevant content would help people to better understand that what is really important in teaching in a history class is the ethical attitude, focus on longevity, hypothesis thinking that led to discoveries and wellbeing of all and dedication to Immortality that extends lifespan (as if Immortality pours from heaven to physicality more), not the peculiarities of the atrocities done which would be minimized. Everyone could focus on what we will do in the future a lot more in history classes. If we require students to take a class on the history of a country in the 20th century, we reinforce the past and have to revamp the course a lot in a few decades or centuries, because that country is less mighty (less important) or because we have to add history of newer centuries which are more important. But a history course that teaches the values, strategies, life extension science discoveries, ways taught by a civilization to double or triple lifespans (or live to 500) will have many parts remain the same, as people most likely are not going to live to 500 in year 2300 and in any future time people can aim to double or triple lifespan. We teach people in humanities (and sciences sometimes) a lot of temporary stuff that is arguably not really Eternally Useful to our Civilizational Effort to overcome suffering, rapid aging and disease, natural disasters and eternal wars. Why not require science fiction in every history class and sometimes ask "How would a civilization of 300-900 year lifespan proceed in this circumstance or how can we avoid this conflict in the future or how can we study more science history in history as it related to lifespan tripling sciences, World Peace creation? How did knowledge of science history lead to benefits for humanity?" This would make the class also more interesting for geeks. ☺☺☺

Honest Analysis of the Enormous Suffering every war and killing has brought to humans:

Even within the existing classes of history, there is a total lack of emphasis on the enormous suffering, pain and cruelty of our history of endless genocides (most nations history classes hardly mention the top 50 genocides in history and what they meant for the future), wars and violent government changes. If people would be explained and taught how much suffering each minor historical change brought thru even just one person being killed, let alone millions, and how we could create a world in which violence, torture, war doesn't exist among humans (in theory war could break if some aliens attack us), they would do everything to make the international agreement to end all violence, threats, torture, war a reality in all countries by making the World Peace Alliance of Chapter 13 the Planetary Defense Force essentially, uniting all armies into one. History classes today present in a very cold and "normal" way some historical changes, as if nothing extremely cruel happened, without mentioning the huge suffering that implied for thousands or millions of people; this makes the need for an international agreement to present the horrific, unacceptable, atrocious nature of human-human violence, war or even just one killing in history classes even higher, because when people are taught to be empathetic they can they understand what happened and how to avoid it in the future world of Peace and Longevity; we would need then to discuss 10 minutes (after the 10 minutes of empathy and honest self-introspection reality check teaching; seeing the spirituality or ethics that dominates on our planet, i.e. a spirituality/ethics so weak it produces only "eternal killings, eternal warfare and genocide") the future world of peace and happiness, free from pain inflicting, torture, violence and how we can create it in day to day life to balance the honest self-introspection into our species' horrific past (we lived in constant fear of being eaten by lions, etc, so we inherited this extreme paranoia and fear, leading to endless cruelty among humans, not needed today anymore). This balancing of the negative past would be essential. When every class shows the atrocious nature of our eternal killings past, and emphasizes this is because of many things in historical inertia, even the music, movies, literature, scripture passages, news we see, tones of speech we use, hear, etc..., and the urgent need to stop our devilish nature from dominating our civilization, we can make faster progress towards a Civilization 5000 years old if lucky to attain peace and spend time studying how to help each other live longer, not shorter.

History classes of the future could emphasize more the feeling☺☺☺ component, how the changes impacted people's happiness, how much suffering it brought, how we can create a world of peace and no violence in the future. Each group feels they're the better ones, so they're justified into terrorizing and killing others to defend themselves, so the cycle never ends until the world agrees to ban all human-human wars, killings, torture, violence, etc. Internet allows instant communication, our video phones, so it is possible for the first time in history for ☺ peace ☺ to emerge. For this agreement to occur, studying it, its implementation and the world it brings in each history class would be of huge help, if not an essential step, given the strong power of historical inertia to hypnotize people into glorifying human-human war, violence, terror, intimidation, etc. No country will ever volunteer to have such a focus, since it puts it at a disadvantage, where the more violent ones will take advantage of its niceness and would not work in bringing peace at all. The only way that seems acceptable to most nations is if all nations, starting with the most powerful 50-90 militaries of the world (top 50 countries in military power), then all the other 100+ nations joining The Educational Agreement within 1-2 years, would agree to such an educational emphasis after the World Peace in 2-3 years timeline is approved by the UN members, as well as the implementation plan and schedule.☺☺

4.1.4. Incorporating Athletics within the Life extension or Immortality Departments

Today we spend 50 times more on sports than on the sciences of life extension (like the studies to see what causes aging in worms, primates, humans) and we condition the youth to become this and that sports player, when all that time could be used to cure diseases, triple human lifespan via research in the Immortality or Longevity Departments replacing athletics 100% or at least in funding, with athletics receiving 1 to 4% (maybe 15% for schools with a lot of law enforcement or construction majors that still need perfect athletic body) or so of Immortality Department funding in every college/school. Athletics could alternatively become a subdivision within Immortality Department, where physical exercise is geared towards amazingly fun selfless helping of others to live longer happier lives thru activities such as those mentioned in the sports section. The sports are so entrenched in education, but we have no Life extension, Immortality Clubs, Courses, Departments in schools or colleges. Imagine if people would watch a competition to make worms/mice live 5 times longer on TV or some science show in an Immortality Park or Center, instead of sports games. Why not try something different? People are not going to live to 200 by playing any sport, but they can do that thru science. 20% of centenarians never exercised.

4.1.5. Updating all textbooks to magnify longevity and lifespan tripling focus

All science textbooks, history, literature can be changed so we stop thinking so much about aging and short lives. Every time people read that human lifespan is 80 years old, they program their subconscious minds to believe and expect that, even if their conscious mind is fully aware you can reach 200 with some new discovery. The better textbook sentence could be "Human lifespan today is 80 years in some countries, but in the future, it might be 2,000 years due to advances in science." This "but" qualifier is like a little tiny help for Immortal 900+ years lifespan civilization building, that takes us from programming ourselves to die at 80 to creating the lifespan of 900 years. We introduce positive Immortality expectations and programming and a culture of 500 year lifespan everywhere, instead of the 80 year lifespan focus we have now spread all over unintentionally. The inertia today is just natural inertia, laziness, etc, we just go with the flow. People don't want to expand God's Immortality from universe x to this one, etc... and they want God to do everything after they pray for 20 seconds or minutes. God did not reduce certain infectious diseases mortality 300 times, it was arduous human effort to apply the laws of science, sanitation (it was not 13th century literature or some obscure dialect, art, sculpture or language studies that did it), even if those science laws may have been given via telepathy by spirits or God. There is no greater human suffering than having kids die early, yet this was so common. This example illustrates how Science, Engineering, Ethics of Immortals, Technology of Immortality, can be thought of as the "Wisdom and Knowledge" of wise men in some scriptures. ☺☺☺. God may give us knowledge, that we can understand, but God is not going to do the "apply the knowledge" part for us. What if God wants us to take responsibility and co-create with God more resilient garments (bodies) for our souls that don't wear after 80 years, but wear after 800 years? If so, then perhaps God would want us to be responsible for what happens in our literature, movies, songs, anthems, news, textbooks, science programs, and create the incentives and content that builds LIFE and Immortality and not death and aging, war, disease. Perhaps, some would say, God gave us the freedom to choose, so we might learn to choose Life at all times, to overcome thru concentrated focus the forces of chaos and death, aging, disease, war. We have the freedom to build this Immortal LIFE culture, this culture of living for millennia and exploring moving thru portals to other universes, where Immortality ascends from this universe to that one and we achieve an even more amazing expansion of God's Immortality thru cross-universe lives of teleporting back and forth. So, in this amazing freedom of choice, we find the elixir of Immortality. We go from one building to another, the same way a future Immortal goes from one universe to another. A ball is moved by someone and its location changes, a human becomes energy moving from one location/universe, to another location/universe. The difference between inter-dimensional translation and us moving a ball is the knowledge level.

4.1.6. Writing, movie, theatre and literature classes with lifespan tripling focus

We can create new ultra positive literature, because old texts mold our minds to re-create the old stuff we have been creating for eons: war, disease, short lives, etc. We could give grants to writers (could be STEM majors) who specialize in Immortality novels, literature (sci fi too), movies, songs, lyrics, so that science truths are included to further lifespan tripling knowledge. Positive stuff already exists but is not required reading, while some outdated stuff is. We can create a very realistic literary, movie, music genre that is totally real and not sci-fi, where we sing, write, talk with joy about 900 year lifespan civilization: how it would be, what we will do. Some short stories (written perhaps by teachers who inspire kids from age 3 to think about their lives of 150-900 years old of the future) could become required reading for 1st graders and kindergartens. Novel writers can work with genetic chemists, quantum physicists etc to include real science in the plot and how these couples helped their society to live to 200 or 8,000 via their romance if a romance novel; the same can be done for all other genres. Nothing would be approved unless it is super-positive and talks about Immortality somewhere in their novel, infusing the mind of the reader with positive images of the World Peace future of Immortality or 900-year lifespans. People would not be allowed to promote death, promoting death in any form would be illegal. Somebody reads a bad book or watches a bad movie or song, someone else picks up the thought from the planet's thoughtosphere and starts doing those things as explained in Chapter 5.1 on telepathy diffusion. ☺ What if this can happen in reality, not just fiction via quantum entanglement. So, we benefit if we're more positive in our literature, movies, songs, news, etc, textbooks, etc. Some will say that this is not feasible because the censorship would be too deep. But, perhaps, we could argue that the more people move towards Life, the more they move towards order and lower chaos and lower entropy, i.e. less freedom to engage in deadly things and more freedom to engage in Life Immortal related things. So, there is a shift in the FREEDOM we experience and a decrease in censorship to do Life enhancing things (the limits of our "science and ethics knowledge" censor us from experiencing the wonders of semi-Immortality or living to 900, so this censorship of long lives is far more damaging than the censorship of "negativity, short lives, death and violence" in books), the freedom to do evil diminishes and the freedom to do good expands, like an ascending freedom. More positive thoughts, more and more discipline take us away from death and into the Life Immortal ever expanding, giving us new freedom with new qualities, while taking away the freedom to do bad. To build a fusion power plant, we need so little freedom for reactors to "behave in certain ways" to maintain perfect order, and in the same way, in a Civilization of Immortals, there is so little freedom to do many things we do now, but far more freedom to do things we can never do now. To build LHC Large Hadron Collider, we need a lot of constraints on every piece of the LHC. So is with Life Immortal and anything really, it takes a lot of focused energy that seems to limit freedom but then expands it in new ways never before available. We can perhaps visit 50 planets as a 900 year old "Immortal"; now we can just visit one. It takes hard work to build something like LHC, and it takes the tedious work of centuries to build a Civilization of Immortals. But once built, it is a wonder to behold, the jewel of all history.

The problem is that if we keep a person surrounded by monkeys or low IQ people, they will become a little bit less intelligent too than they would be if surrounded by geniuses. And if the same person or his twin is raised in an environment with geniuses, he becomes way different. So, if our educational system is focusing so much on death and these people who did bad things in history, but not on the world of Immortals and these super-geniuses we got that extend lives and live long and etc in harmony with no war, etc, people become like these people they hear about all the time, doing same things they see in movies, history books, etc. So, it's an unintentional sabotaging by humanity of its own future that happens very subtly and imperceptibly. We're recreating early death before age 900 and we worship death so much, without even realizing. We can say God's or Soul's Immortality (is Immortality a/the central quality of God?) is expanding in this physical universe (Thy Kingdom come, on Earth as it is in Heaven). All can still believe in their religion, this updating of writing, literature and other textbooks is about LONGEVITY, since Physical Immortality doesn't exist for physical beings, unless we disappear into an Immortal universe becoming energy, which we're eons from achieving. Our universe itself will die after some unknown trillions of years.☺☺ Immortality ideas could also be used in a script for a movie where the hero helps a world to triple lifespan in 500 instead of 7,000 years. Why aim to triple lifespan sooner than later? We might be wiped out by some undiscovered natural event, such as a black hole that sucks stars, a white hole from another universe that pushes matter into this one, a supernova explosion, an asteroid, a super-virus. Long-lived people can travel to far away stars and relocate easily, as their science is better. Their Tesla had 7,000 patents, not 700, living 10 times longer.

4.1.7. Classes/questions on eternal lifespan, Immortality/happiness, new majors

Create in every science and engineering school NEW majors in "chemical engineering of Immortality, biomedical engineering of Immortality, molecular biology, genetics, biophysics, chemistry of lifespan length regulation, living to 90000" so we discover dozens of ways (not just diet) to tweak these molecular programs and live 5-10 times longer, just as some bees change these programs by diet alone and live up to 50 times longer. Encouraging free creative thinking about the world of Immortals could be stimulated even at the end of each class of all subjects (especially chemistry, biology) with a 2-5 minute period where we talk about how what we learned today can be applied to building a civilization of 9,000 years old human Immortals? We would have a truly powerful Immortality energy going that postpones or sweeps away death like a gentle patient tender soft river of soft water melts away the hard rock over time. Even better could be to study 1-3 hours a week a new subject, Immortality, in all kindergartens, schools, colleges, an inter-disciplinary subject mixing ethics, physics, chemistry, biology, molecular genetics, etc. Even 4 year olds can see a tiny worm and understand that a change has helped it live 10 times longer; they can understand how transparent liquids turn into purple ones, when acid base indicator phenolphthalein is added, since they see the "miracle" of colorless water becoming purple or red water, depending on which acid-base indicator we use. And the amazing wonder of physics, which is what happens in all chemistry, an electronic exchange between molecules, can captivate kids since age 3, leading to a world of sage-like geniuses. ☺☺☺

The epidemic of alcohol abuse, smoking, drugs in high schools, the hazing and drinking parties at college fraternities, etc are partially due to our educational system. A good change could include something related to happiness in the Immortality or Living to 500 classes.☺☺☺ People learn about math, writing, science, but there is no 1 hour class even twice a month, about happiness, conscious breathing, emotional regulation and radiation, ecstatic trance states thru meditation or contemplative prayer (1,000 to a million times more ecstatic than anything else, even orgasm), visualizing the world of 900 year Immortals that you could live in if you discover a way to make you and those around you live to 900 via some amazing biochemistry. These classes could be the most attended as they help people to relax and be happy and develop also a better control over their body. There would be no exams and no pressure to perform in happiness altered states classes that create a powerful protection against alcohol, negative news, drugs, overeating, out of control sexual desire that leads to unwanted pregnancies. Ideally, a Media Protection Department of the Immortality Nurturing Agency (INA.gov with "happy gentle tender soft nurturing graceful serene universal loving kindness" as motto) bans negative content in books, movies, etc to filter out bad stuff (as explained here), but until then, these classes would be a buffer of inner happiness to counteract negativity and promote positive thinking, emotions, an Immortality-longevity culture, etc. People would get to meditate like at Visitacion middle school where suspensions dropped 4 times, grades went up, etc. It's all related, if people are happier as with earplugs and meditation, they're doing less "anger-based" things. Alcohol abuse is a form of “running away from the world”, that's why people get drunk, or high on drugs. Because in the perception of many "the world is hell", they need alcohol drugs to escape the hell by getting high or drunk, but if we bring heaven in the world thru conscious breathing, altered states, rest, meditation at school, the vision of the heaven of Immortals, etc we transform families, people, everything.... because the kid becomes perceptionally refreshed into positive Immortality thoughts, becomes a Geyser of Hope and Positivism, and the parents notice it and start changing too and they meditate more at home perhaps, or something like relax a little and think of Immortality, etc. If the world we live in is perceived as HEAVEN and as becoming a Heaven, then the world we live in is no longer that bad, since it's a temporary state that will give birth to this amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ WORLD OF Immortals, so the planet's imperfections are easier to accept as the infant stages of the true civilization of the future. We can live in the future simulated future world of Immortals so to speak, with everyone shimmering and imagining that helps it manifest faster. Like a tiny seed becomes a huge tree, our tiny miserable lives of mortals today living to 100 will become lives of 1,000 or 9,000 some century. It's this wonderful patient work of art, of building thru knowledge, loving kindness and science this AMAZING WORLD OF Immortals that brings a new joy into the lives of everyone attending the Immortal happiness & Immortality classes, finding hope in the stupendous future ahead. Think about how much happier we're today compared to people before who didn't have air conditioning, smoke free heating, showering, internet, free library access to books, email (ability to send a letter instantly, not wait 3 weeks to arrive), etc. Life was pure hell centuries ago by the levels of comfort today, people working ultra hard in the fields, famines, wars, epidemics, spending 5 hours a day to walk far and pick some water or food. We live in such luxury today, able to run away by car from tornadoes and tsunamis, escape inevitable death, etc. Our lives today, at their best too will be far exceeded by the standards of living of the future, due to the tech progress. ☺☺☺

4.1.8. More .gov, college, city, street, person, company names with Immortality words/GOALS

Seeing almost every college and city street name as positive, as in "Immortal Joy", "Eternal Gentleness", "Perennial beauty" will program the mind to expect Immortality and want Immortality and desire Immortality of Soul to Manifest as Reality in this world, because we actually are already Immortal and these names of "Immortal fragrance" remind us of Heaven, the Infinite Love of God and the Infinite Universe, etc. Parents can also name their babies Eterni, Eternia, Immortali, Eternia, Perennia, etc more often or other similar meaning in various languages, or Infilife, Eterlife, etc. We can also name high schools, middle schools, kindergartens, colleges "Immortality Kindergarten of Gentleness" "Immortality University of Los Angeles" "Perennial Life College of Massachusetts", "Infinite Lifespan High School". Likewise, we can rename businesses more elevating names such as "Immortal Pharma Corporation" instead of "Smith Pharmaceuticals", "Million Year Biosciences" instead of "Johnson Biosciences", "Sweet eterni Donuts to Triple Lifespan Forever thru Hypothesis Formulation and Testing" instead of "Mike's Sweet Donuts"; the GOAL of life is not to stuff oneself with donuts, smoothies or "any food you like" to get a sugar high and then die like a rat at 80, instead of 80 million; no need to go get smoothies from "Jamba Juices" (they can add sugar or toxic artificial sweeteners) we can go to "Lifespan Doubling Ever Evolving Juices" or "Eterni Juices". Panda Express is another weird name, do you want to eat at "Horse express or deer express?", why focus so much on animal names in KFC, Chicken Maison, etc. We will be eterni and no longer eat animals or plants, these names are so Paleolithic. We eat the protein, not the animal, why not "Eterni Proteins", "Eternal Kindness", "Immortal Way" or "Kind Way" instead of "Subway". Why "Trader Joe's", instead of "Immortalist Joys", "Immortal Gentleness" or "Compassionate Immortals"? Then we got nationalism (that leads to war) and taste-texture-smell focused names like "Chinese Cuisine", "Kentucky Fried Chicken", "Popeyes Louisiana Kitchen", "Mexican Tacos", "Italian Cuisine", "French Bistro", "French fries" (a name US troops gave to fries, not the French), "Greek Yogurt", "Thai Food", "Viet Burgers", etc. Who cares that a food came from some tiny region on a tiny planet if you remain a rat living to 80 or 100 if lucky (1 in 5000 people)? Why so much nationalism, why not "Humanitarian Eterni Cuisine", "Infinite Lifespan Tacos", "Universal Eternity Cuisine", "Intergalactic Immortality Cuisine", not from some country on earth that promotes tribalism and fights? Or, if restaurants will still be around in the era of eterni food and immortality schools replacing restaurants, why not call it "Mitochondrial Immortality Cuisine" - where they specialize in burgers that focus on mitochondrial longevity boosting as a way to 700 year lifespans, or "Polyphenol Immortality Burgers" - where the lab near every restaurant researches the combo among some of the 8000 polyphenols that extends lifespan the most and best. Our Paleolithic restaurant (and small business) names all over are so steeped in tradition (McDonalds, Burger King, Wendy's etc), tribalism, nationalism, taste, texture, appearance and living like a rat to 100 max, that no wonder no youth can dream to live to 700 and take active steps to build a brighter world, always postponing a world of peace and longevity for some afterlife future that never comes to the awareness of people in this world. We also need more company logos related to Peace ☮, Immortality ∞ (infinite lifespan). Like a ☮ the circle being dark purple and the 4 lines each being of a different color, to signify diversity: yellow, blue, magenta and lavender, or one of the 100s of rainbow peace signs on google images.

We drive in our grey-beige cities (where almost every building or gate is usually white, beige, brown or grey, as if the other 50 main colors of rainbow don't exist) and we see endless signs for businesses, "tire replacing, transmission, etc", all kinds of negative programming ads, "Call Jacob or Sweet James for Injury lawyer" (instead of lifespan extension lawyer) or some silly ad that programs people to expect negative events, short lives; there is never a name, sign on any street about Tripling Lifespan, "Longevity Lawyer", "Living to 1 billion Lawyer", Living to 700, no sign saying "Living to 900 Motel", "Million Year Lifespans Park or Market", everything programs people to just perpetuate the filif bulldog IQ☺☺☺ short lifespan society we're in; they got endless "Vape/Smoke Shop" and "Liquor" signs, nothing like "Tripling Lifespan Foods or Drinks" or "Immortality Research Formulas". We see endless signs for barber shops and beauty salons, nails, "Linda's nails", but we won't live longer if we wax our legs, etc or have a special hair style or nails; well, that barber shop, just made many homeless, as city ran out of space and crowded others, leading to low academic performance, anger, fights, etc. All because of vanity of others. Why care so much about hair style, when we can just do it all at home using a mirror or a friend or neighbor? Anyone can buy a $ store or Amazon hair color and do it at home, even trim hair at home (I do it), and use that commercial space to build Gasoline to electric conversion shop to help humanity live longer or create an Immortality Research lab☺☺☺ or vertical farm for organic pesticide free produce there or a nice park for people to meditate, lower cortisol, relax and live longer. At least they could have a barber shop where a wig or hair style/dye that helps create negative ions or some RF protection effect that helps you live longer by cleaning air you breathe, etc. Our cities are full of filthy air due to gasoline, "clean" natural gas and "biofuel" cars, yet surprisingly, people flock to cinemas, beauty salons and many places without caring at all about the slow mass murder of millions of people (5 years off for 3 billion people is same lifespan years lost as killing many millions in their 30s) by transportation smog and about the fact that what they're doing, where they go, won't increase anyone's lifespan and build a real Heaven on Earth as ethics or spirituality aims. People can watch movies with lifespan shortening violence from netflix, youtube at home, so cinema space is used for Immortality Universities, Parks, Indoor mini-parks (which can allow natural light in, thru UV filtering transparent ceiling, windows or walls) with clean air (no cars, just people, amazing gardens unlike any park, best air filtration with CO_2 levels kept < 500 ppm, oxygen high, artificial breeze and tons of Immortalist memes and positive colorful art), serene calming low level background music or silence and no traffic noise, indoor parks that are open 12 hours a day at least, rain or shine, and that also have quiet Meditation Spaces, to bring the angel within instead of bringing the "bad" within as with bullfighting and other odd sports, Lifespan Tripling Research Centers instead.

The sad reality is billions of people have these filthy toxic indoor cinemas, gyms (poor air filtration, many positive ions) but no indoor park to relax, meditate and breathe fresh air and nearest park is ultra noisy, ultra smogy, having to drive 50 miles to find a quiet and clean air park. Even with clean air and quiet parks, sometimes rain or high UV rays or high heat make it unpleasant or unfit for relaxed walk while listening to your favorite music on headphones, meditation, relaxation. At least they could create solar panels structures that provide parking lot shade (though if used on agricultural land, it has to be done for crops that thrive on low sunlight and where problems such as alkaline soil, erosion, floods by muds from erosion, etc are not issues) and 15 ft walls of noise absorbing materials to reduce traffic noise by 70% and smog by 80%, if not fully indoor (which is more expensive). Nearby could be a vertical farm where people can volunteer to grow local organic veggies if they want to exercise for 20 minutes to help others to live longer, or an Eterni Food Lab where they can volunteer to exercise in a healthier environment than a toxic air gym, in a way that benefits others too, not just self. These cars and trucks shorten our lifespan with their deadly smog, fancy nails don't lengthen our lives, we see our priorities are kind of anti-life and self-appearance focused, while public (not self) places look pretty ugly. It's as if "who cares about the common good, if self looks good?" or "Who cares about the trashy look at my gate, fence, wall or garden on a street, if it takes $10 to paint it a nice lavender color) and remove rust and etc once 5 years by repainting a little rusted areas, if I can spend 100 times more every 5 years on nails/waxing nobody sees except self usually (and 5 other people), compared to tens of thousands of people passing by the busy street in a year? Ideally we would want to move beyond a simple lavender (which would be in of itself amazingly beautiful, given for every billion brown fences there is 1 lavender globally) if we want to make our cities truly beautiful, with some lime green, silver or yellow edge patterns, for contrast, or white-gold or purple letters saying "May all live to a trillion"☺☺☺ or "Immortality for All" (one letter per fence, gold letter, purple fence for example for high contrast enabling easy reading from a car passing by or person walking from a distance). Why live so long? It allows everyone to become embodiments of loving kindness. We don't care about the healing of others' psyche, the joy of seeing a nice city, but are very adamant our nails or legs look flawless, when 10,000 times fewer people see them at times; a building with nice murals about Lifespan Tripling, immortalist ideas and amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ colors can enrich the day of way more people with positive programming and hope; nicer clothing, gardens, gates, walls, cars with more rainbow colors (instead of just green, white, black) and Immortality quotes would be far more effective in brightening others' life and increasing their lifespan and way cheaper than nails etc done so often; these women often are nutritionally deficient in some things, and would live 5-15 years longer if those nails money would have been spent on vitamins, micronutrients only present in a few foods; the same thing with men, they spend their entire life detailing their car, house, etc, and their body and health is neglected; our culture is anti-longevity. I see how boringly one or two color dressed some women are (no rainbow colors, ☺☺☺men far worse), when it takes the same amount of money to buy something much more alive, colorful from Goodwill, etc, yet they spent $15 to make their hair look a little different and nobody from a distance sees hair or nails, but a big "Live to 900 years old" t-shirt with amazing colors is seen by 900 times more people). We can think about others when we want to look good, how will it help others to become more fluid in intelligence (dressing in something different than white, black, "blue jeans" color, grey, brown, red, beige colors) and more positive, longevity focused words?

Some women have these amazing patterns and beautiful colored fabrics, others just some bland white or grey shirt. If you want to say "Smile and Live to 200", do you want to do that with a white on grey background or with a colorful beautiful shirt that all will recall? In chemistry textbooks we have colors to make it a lot cooler to learn and easier to learn (carbon one color, nitrogen another, oxygen another) instead of all being one color. At Walmart, the fabric price is almost the same for the most boring one color beige fabric, and something with amazing patterns and 7 colors, purple, pink, gold, white, blue, etc. It's not that people don't have money, they don't value fluid intelligence that doesn't always listen to the same music clip and wears one single shade of a color all the time, etc. Walk on any street and you will never find men/women dressed in yellow (say bright yellow t-shirt and light yellow pants), or lavender, magenta, both pants and shirt, etc. In this case, someone wearing those rare shades/colors does a service to humanity, as it opens humanity's brains to the idea, hey the world is not all black and white, lavender exists too, the worlds are not all like on Earth now, some people (maybe us in the future) may live to 9000. Our society and ethics, religions and cultures are not the only ones and the best... etc. Smoking, eating donuts or regular burgers and meals, drinking liquors or even healthy smoothies won't ever grant us triple lifespan, that would require a real research focus planet wide, a change of culture, where the Kingdom of Heaven is brought in this world.

This renaming of schools, streets*, businesses, would inspire video games, movies, songs, to always do the same too,* to imbue every aspect of life with the idea of lifespan tripling, Immortality. We can also change city names to "Immortal Gratitude", "Immortal Graceful Softness", "Eternal Serenity", "Perennial Peace", "Timeless Infinity" and $_3C^{50}$ of the qualities (gentleness, kindness, eternal, Immortal, perennial, infinite, infinity) we lack, so 3 qualities out of 50, gives us 19600 city names, 50!/(3!*47!=19600, enough for all USA, to reduce violent crime 10 billion fold, develop memory, character, etc. Permutations of 90 taken as 2 gives 90!/88!=8010 names. This is 8010 villages, towns, more than in most nations. Gentle Softness is village, while Soft Gentleness is another. Some cities, towns, villages can use 2 qualities and even merge them, such as Gentle Compassion or Gencom: instead of Boston (where infernal rituals of Halloween happen in street parades, Russia and some nations chose regional or national bans of this infernal display of death), we have Nurturing Grace or Eternal Learning or Elearning etc. With the combo words (trim quality names) we have 500!/497!=124 million names possible, which enables us to cover 100 solar systems into one English Eternia civilization. We need to standardize the most common 3 or 4 letter word begining of a quality name as the way, so people know that Gencompea refers to Gentle Compassionate Peace, which becomes the Logo the City at the Immortality Park near City Hall. To transform the hyena within into an angelic Immortal, it helps to have people's names reflect the qualities too, so you can have 4 qualities, whole or trimmed, to get 500!/4!=62 billion names. Instead of saying "John, please ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ give me that paper" we say "Gentle Angelic Immortal Grace (or Genangel Imgra, though it would be nicer to always say the full words when we want to convey love and reduce negative emotion in the other), please ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ give me that paper", to help tame wild emotion drastically by the time we finish the long name, even if we don't say ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺. This helps us to transform the brute within we inherited from ancestors and historical inertia cultures into the immortalist human.

People can use crowd funding, non-profits, etc to raise funds in their local areas to build Immortality themed kindergartens, daycares, schools, colleges, businesses, non-profits, etc. Why Immortality? Heaven is Immortality, so if we bring Heaven on Earth we bring Physical "Immortality" (ever longer lifespans) on earth. We expand God's Immortality from the spirit world to the physical world. Theologically speaking, this process of ever-increasing lifespan thru the discoveries of science can be thought of as a process of transmuting the human world into a divine world, a process of bringing forth the New Earth. If we think about one quality that vastly distinguishes God from 100 year old mortals it's not kindness or tenderness, it is Immortality. We can be kind, but we can't be Immortal. We never achieve Immortality without ascending to another universe (Ascending Immortality), since this universe itself is mortal, but IMMORTALITY is a word for "Ever Increasing Longevity and Divinity" in a way that refers to lifespans so long that we call them Immortals in sci-fi, etc. The fact that we can connect with the future humans who will live to be 10,000 years or a million year old, gives us amazing telepathic abilities to change our world by imagining how they would proceed in certain situations we deal with. A 100 year guy is like a 4 day old for a million year old Immortal. How would he deal with a 3-4 day old? With what kind of loving kindness, courage and grace? Fear would not exist, as a 3 day old is harmless. Our civilization is focused on treating or managing Alzheimer, heart disease, diabetes, etc thru nutrition and other methods. But we could also tackle these issues thru simulation based nutrition and anti-aging approaches of preventing it, such as increasing lifespan 2-10 times, since we have seen in worms how increasing lifespan 5 times can also increase the resistance of the organism to many common diseases. So, one can spend 1 trillion dollars getting 1 billion cars improve mileage from 35 to 40, or spend that trillion converting them to electric cars. Both are attempts to cure the addiction to polluting oil, but one engineering GOAL is different than the other. THE GOAL LIMITS THE ACHIEVEMENT. Our street, college, city names etc reflect the GOALS OF OUR WORLD. The 900 or 100 Year Lifespan Ideals, role models, poems, movies, songs, lyrics, etc of our civilization create the GOALS of our civilization and program people from kindergarten, primary, middle, high school, college. ☺☺☺

The GOALS we unintentionally program ourselves to achieve (how many MIT Harvard courses are about Strategies to Living to 900 or 90,000???) determine where we end up as a civilization. If people set the GOAL the moon, they got there, if they set the GOAL some town, they got there eons ago. If our engineering GOAL is 20 mpg, we get that, if it's 100 mpg we get that. One can focus for ages on an outdated combustion engine gasoline technology to make it better to pollute less, and spend all time and energy with that, while an electric car would eliminate all pollution. The ☺☺☺ ideas of living to 200 or 900 are not that common in our courses, education, movies, lyrics. We will probably not find one single college/school course that has as a GOAL to teach about humans living to 300, 700 or 900. We see the trees, look at the trees a lot for eons, but we often don't see the forest. A car is for example not starting due to some ignition issue, and we spend all time on fixing a few things with the tire, and other things but ignition in the car, so then the car doesn't start our journey to Immortality. Because we tackle what is less important, postponing the arrival of 500 year lifespan. We tackle every car component maybe and we will get ignition, but it will take longer. The way we formulate a question determines what answer we might get, the way we formulate our GOALS determine what destination we might get. If our GOAL is to get our kids to become tennis players, bullfighters, soccer players, etc this is the outcome we will get. If our GOAL is to get our kids to live to 300, to discover the secrets of 300 year lifespans and this is the motto of every high school and university and the promotion of ever-increasing lifespan, then, we will get that instead. People living to 200 or 300 or 900 later, instead of 90 year old boxing, rugby or karate players. Basically any time people punch someone as in boxing, they destroy some neurons shortening their lifespan, so it is unacceptable in a Civilization of Immortals. Evolution took some tiny worms and made them into human beings or monkeys that live 2,000 times longer. Why can't evolution also take humans who live 100 to live 2,000 times longer, i.e 0.2 million years? It doesn't mean we will look vastly (if we shapeshift) or any different, since looks are not what's important. ☺☺☺

4.1.9. Discernment education: 140 pages on espionage, World Peace and living to 500

(subchapter covers spies, 100s of fake things, fake protests, fake war, fake miracles, fake celebrities, fake elections, Ctrl+F "fake" to find them, 3 paragraphs later:)

For security reasons, remove all extensions in web browsers unless you absolutely need them (1-2 may be OK, a safe ad blocker perhaps) and set options for reading data on sites only to one website maximum or what you click on. Otherwise, foreign spy agencies who hacked or have spies within US extension company can get your data, even if you use American company made extensions, know where you move or change address, what store you go to, what place you went to with google maps, etc and follow you via satellite or local spies. So, always clear all history in chrome, to make it hard for transient attackers to steal data. Leave no traces of yourself online, use anonymous users if posting online. Many people believe that if a "Civilization of Immortals to be" is focusing on the cultivation of "Infinite Mercy, Infinite Compassion, Infinite Forgiveness, Infinite Tenderness*, Angelic Soft* Healing Tone of Speech Emotion Intent, Infinite Lifespan, Infinite Gentleness*, Infinite* loving kindness*"* in its Educational System (and Culture) it will become a civilization of naive gullible people, easy to take advantage of by more aggressive or "cruel" (lacking gentleness, tenderness) civilizations. However, one side effect of the cultivation of tenderness gentleness softness is the expansion of neural circuits in areas dealing with fluid intelligence, telepathy, empathy, and with what we could term "access to Infinite Tenderness as Infinite intelligence, Infinite Wisdom, Infinite Knowledge via telepathy with nobler spirits or self-organizing floating thought constructs of the universe". This means that the Civilization of Immortals citizens can be infinitely compassionate with all beings, according to their level of understanding. For example, in dealing with a loveless less aware human eager to kill people (from a nation that is ok with war, threats, intimidation) it is infinitely compassionate, tender, gentle and soft to not reveal some things to them, things which they'll immediately use to kill others in their quest for world domination (instead of the nobler quest to help humanity end all killings and wars, short lives, diseases, natural disaster deaths, etc). The Civilization of Immortals would not become naive, but on the contrary, develop an even greater level of discernment or awareness of the fact that other civilizations don't teach the same infinite loving kindness towards all beings as the Immortals teach, and that one can't be as open to killing-lovers as with Civilization of Immortals members who know (or desperately want and work towards, if not there yet) no killing, war, prisons, etc.

Over time, thru international agreements, it would be possible to eliminate violence and hateful teachings from all movies, books, classrooms, colleges, etc, as every nation knows what each nation teaches, but realistically, this may not happen overnight, time in which the Civilization of Immortals has to adapt and live in a world where some countries teach "less gentleness, less tenderness, and 'killing is ok'". As the Civilization of Immortals builds its ethical foundation, it can't compromise on its fundamental principle of NonKilling, to avoid being killed itself by the historical death force. The Civilization of Immortals may develop a deeper insulation, against the death and violence forces thru the Immortality Test and a policy (and culture born out of education) of "self-sufficiency and no trade with killing nations refusing the join the Universal NonKilling and World Peace Alliance". In such an environment where to be admitted to the country one has to pass an Immortality test as difficult as learning 2 new languages of 2 different alphabets and grammar, the cohesion within the Civilization of Immortals is great, as assimilation is perfect, due to the fact everyone admitted studied for years to pass the Immortality test in English. To pass the test one has to literally understand things of such depth that one becomes a totally new being of much higher awareness and intelligence, like when getting a PhD in Immortality Sciences. The cultivation of gentleness, intelligence and wisdom, as opposed to sports, war, violence, etc, will ensure the development of great technologies that will enable this civilization to discover God's Infinite Grace towards those who cultivate peace, nonkilling, compassion, tenderness, softness, they might even discover 50 planets and how to levitate, teleport, live 9 centuries and have robots do all manual work (no need of fitness or muscles), while "killing is ok" mortals kill each other over 2 square miles of land. It's interesting how in our world a country is sometimes trying to take land from countries with 2-10 times less land per capita; the values of these mortal cultures are more towards land, than life itself, like people who value their cars more than their health, spending 8 hours daily fixing/cleaning their car. It's no wonder that the Universe won't help these "land 1st, life 2nd" civilizations. While the "killing is ok" mortals wage incessant wars to get 2 square miles, the Civilization of Immortals is developing new tech, secretly terraforms many planets expanding Peace and Immortality galactically, as it is busy living spirituality instead of talking about it. ☺☺☺

While children are taught to love all beings, they're also taught about the fact not all nations are taught the same tenderness, softness, compassion, gentle tender healing tone of speech and emotional tone and intent tone, love of life, love of nonkilling, etc and that the ethics of those countries is often very different, so different, that many of those people would do things we consider horrific or unethical without a second thought or any remorse. This means out of compassion for all living human beings, one's compassion for such people has to take on a different expression to try to heal them, yet while understanding that they can't have information that would allow them to create more chaos in the world thru violence. While the Civilization of Immortals classrooms teach "conscious breathing, smiling, being kind, tender, speaking like an angel, radiating noble emotions, to all beings", mortal civilizations don't, as of yet, as we have not convinced them to join the Immortality paradigm, and as such, their ethics is vastly different than ours. The mortals would kill other people easily, to achieve some trivial materialistic GOALS, while killing would never be done by a Civilization of "Immortals", even when it lacks the technology to defend itself without killing, if attacked. Souls are Immortals so a Civilization of Immortals is a Civilization that focuses on the Soul and Its Immortality as it expands this Immortality in the physical domain. It doesn't mean they live forever, it just means they aspire to live longer each generation and remove death in all its forms: wars, killings, disease, rapid aging, hurricanes, tsunamis, etc whose death tolls can all be avoided by advanced technology. When helping someone of lower ethics from a civilization of mortals, the Civilization of Immortals citizens understand that the primary help has to be in understanding the basis of Immortals' Ethics not in revealing anything technological which the unethical may use to spread death, violence and destruction globally. A house built on a weak foundation will give way and crumble fast during earthquake, and civilizations built on weak foundations will disappear without trace during the earthquakes of history. Aware of this, the Civilization of Immortals acts as the Light of Ethics of the world, never stopping in being the living example of tenderness gentleness forgiveness kindness sweetness for others to follow, so that World Peace and the end of all violence can occur one day soon, hopefully this century. While they're mortal to all appearance, they may be Immortal if allowed to reincarnate most often. They may be of many appearances, belief systems, nationalities but they're part of the Hyperspace of Immortals. Many people view isolationism as a weakness, but it can be the greatest strength, as it avoids the mass consciousness and creates something altogether different that nobody else achieves. The audacity to be oneself and to persevere in the building of the Civilization of Immortals can grant these people undreamed of achievements, that other people, so busy following everyone and everything around, miss easily due to distraction. Isolationism can take many expressions, on many levels, and it may not necessarily mean or appear as "an isolated country", it may appear as the most engaged country, yet be the most isolationist. Engagement and isolationism are not incompatible, since the carrier of the Immortal Ethics in the world is always busy helping those eager to expand the ☺ World Peace ☺ Alliance; it's just that the engagement is more selective and more "isolated" in some ways, so as to protect the foundation of the Civilization and not compromise on that which will ensure disappearing from history as other civilizations did before. The Light of NonKilling is the Light of Immortality and those who uphold it and let it triumph, will be here forever. As such, aware of this truth, the Civilization of Immortals is ever busy engaging, while protecting, insulating its values/many aspects of its civilization from those disloyal to Immortality and NonKilling, so as to weather the storms of history and achieve the victory of Life over death, of Immortality. Aware of how much tenderness gentleness softness a citizen has for other citizens, people are equally aware of how much tenderness and loving care one has to employ in guarding the civilization and its secrets thru discernment, so that the Light of Immortality remains forever alive, until all can be free from violence and killings. ☺

The Immortalists are not naive, they know how enemy spies operate. The next 136 pages explain espionage: how 'peace, fake religion, freedom, human rights' lies are used to create looting wars, how partially fake war (Ukraine) is used to create a fake peace, via 70+ spy fake things:

4.1.9.1. ►►►► fake "job, scientist, business, tourist/student/investor visa" & fake thoughts: The citizens know that usually foreign visitors (artist, diplomat, clergy, hotel manager, CEO, investor, nonprofit worker, tourist, student, model, singer, musician, sportsman, actor, scientist, especially those on longer and more frequent visits to a location to load a spy network with cash and get flash drives and info back from spies) are spies for 1). origin country, 2). host country (if host nation invited or lured the guy to visit), or 3). third country, even if not known to the tourists, since they're remotely controlled. The Spies (who can even torture locals with hidden gadgets, or be recruited as 3rd nation ethnic (Jew, etc) to pretend to be origin country ethnic (NATO, etc) that runs origin country networking group and feeds info to host nation (USA or etc) on naive NATO, etc visitors of that group or church) can use a fake job or spy agency created job/career as a cover (via brain control, life path creation without person knowing all their decisions in life were done by others writing their brain), so they can be unconscious spies (they don't know others use them to spy on host nation). The immortalist citizens are aware of the many conspiracy theories☺☺☺ (each with some grain or % of truth) about some kind of secret societies (secretive rituals, etc, 100s of such groups exist, not just Illuminati or freemasons with eye symbols) or other group(s) using fake thoughts (lies) implanted into our head (disguised as ours) to have us make, after careful sleep disturbance and distraction (managing people in our path, calls, emails, internet searches we do, fake internet results/studies), all our choices as they want them to be (major choices) and do their bidding (be their slave in reality). CIA and cops have the lasers to listen to all conversations within a house from a mile away, using the window vibrations. This can be used to detect how good mind control tech is, they implant a sentence and listen to the sentence said. Thus, it is best to have background music, so that the laser can't read the window vibrations and to block windows with aluminized foam boards (aluminum taped to foam boards or at least aluminum foil taped) to prevent the use of lasers to listen inside your home. You can also be quiet. For private stuff, talk really within 1 foot, so background music (especially with human voice) can be louder than soft voice and make eavedropping impossible. See a spy give CIA up to 25000 docs, or a spy reveal 900+ KGB spies.

4.1.9.2. ►►►► fake news: just as Science reports a third of science papers are fake in many fields, most news are fake, the real story and cause is different; many incidents staged by various groups or gov agencies. This includes fake arrests, fake deaths, they arrest the opposition leader, former leader, president in 50+ nations, to create illusion of real opponents, they're all the same 'party': the security-military-complex, all spies lying to Americans.☺ They can also arrest a fake billionaire, who is a spy (in US, FBI/CIA) role playing to use as pretext to pass a law, create a reform or prevent 'crime, public incitation to violence', help arrested person win elections again. These fake arrests often aim to keep the masses short lived and enslaved, distracted from World Peace in 3 months, disposable cannon fodder for useless wars. 2300 acre 'estate' draws less opposition than a 2300 acre military base, so when you see some 10 or 1000 acre 'rich guy estate' you can be sure it's a military thing, spy base, 'rich people' are usually spies or soldiers in most nations or all, 'rich guy' is their 'cover'. Or, the aristocracy runs the military and spy agencies, either way, you get the idea. The wolf protects the hen, the rich protect th 'nation's poor', the military protects the civilians. There fake arrests keep masses in a state of fear, anxiety, slavery, eating poisonous restaurant and supermarket foods, while hiding the huge crimes and genocides of the security-military complex. Spy agencies (FBI, CIA, etc) think it helps, since some of the 'arrested' role played and made fake deals with the mafia maybe, so whatever, but in the long run it is delaying World Peace. My opinion is it is far better to have civil debate, be honest, work at all levels for Immortality for All, honesty is more valuable with 1 party than 10 parties and endless acting and lies: be true to the American people, stop the lies, give single housing to all, demolish casinos, liquor stores, sports facilities, vape stores (kudos to Australia, who banned recreational vaping, as it's a route for drugs), etc, centralize and bring happiness to all, end all jails, (create healing centers instead until all have single housing and 0 violent crime) love all, as the Immortalist Anthem says. Immortality is possible, when we give science education to all, instead of religion brainwashing. Give all free education on neuroscience of happiness, via meditation or happy breathing, peaceful music etc, so people are not addicted to vape cigs by a government who then bans it to increase suffering without offering a solution for people to find bliss and happiness, as if they just want to increase pain. We're all familiar with some governments whose main goal is slavery of the masses thru pain. The parasites own the "private companies" and can stop a product release before it happens. Maybe they tested the effect of these e-cigs on addiction patterns and now they know it failed.

Fake news ☺☺☺don't always inform, though under the guise of protecting the people, but they poison the minds and goals of the people, enslave the people with minimalistic survival day to day goals against fake 'enemies', distract the people's focus from 'Immortality for All' interested (all are interested in a happy immortality, not one of terror, all love immortality when they're not terrorized (often without them knowing) by the government or "private" media, music, groups, companies, religions, denominations controlled by same top spies, etc). Speech tone is the basis of all ethical behavior, scientific progress. If people know no bad tone, ideas, they don't know how to do bad things, so the media, literature, movies, music are flooded the people with bad tone, ideas nonstop to produce crime, which then justifies slavery, oppression. Fake news can also 1. prepare citizens for a real event like the fake one, 2. help all avoid the 'bad thing that 'happened' in a fake story', 3. confuse 'enemies of the state' with a lie or fake event. ☺ Stop the lies, stop the fear, stop the warfare on the poor, stop the torture. Just promote noble behavior and qualities thru centralized eternal TV education for all. To love the poor is to have the most positive uplifting tones that induce lifespan enhancing emotions in the brains of the poor, not to terrorize them daily with fake shouting news. Be kind.

4.1.9.3. ►►►► fake spirituality, they build 133 temples due to 10% of income given by gullible folks to church, while others die in overcrowding 30 years early: people can meet virtually or at the city Immortality Center where they measure biomarkers or sing as one; the Book of Mormon has violent, cannibalism quotes; "kingdom of God is within" not in buildings. Yet online church no donations is fine with anyone with IQ, because of this. Besides,☺ souls ☺☺ can meet ☺God☺ directly; all can stop supporting liars, fake miracles, naive or parasitic clergy stealing 2-10% of your income (some have private jets, own airports near the mansion, worth 1$ billion) for acting as intermediates God doesn't need and for brainwashing you these quotes are the 'Word of God'; why not build the church online (make home a 'church') & cut smog emissions, give clean air to all? Mormon temples sit empty far more than Catholic ones.

~~* SINGLE FAMILY HOMES for ALL (we don't need 8.5 MILLION USA mansions) ~~*

Crime is also caused by suffocation in 90 sq ft (instead of 300-350 min/room, 1 person/room) rooms too, that damages brains of kids, while parents (contractors) make huge living rooms and empty buildings for God, parents kill the God in the kids by oxygen deprivation, kids are closest to God, a blank state to create the most perfect Godliest person on Earth, but they destroy kids to build temples and make houses infernos of demonic music to create infernal fetuses/kids, instead of temples of the Living God, humans, with serene music. What happened to Gospel kingdom of God is within? Jesus didn't say to build temples. Build a 4000 year temple, your body that lasts millennia due to the virtue of the 11 companies. Make Your Body the Living Temple of God. The highest crime exists in multi-family housing, so we need end millions of useless businesses (listed in the next 30 pages) to make quality housing for all a reality. Consciously evil or unaware (of their criminality) criminals support Bible-Quran-Torah-etc fraud, ethical people support 0 violent crime via single family homes for all, meaning 1000 times more temples (each house is a temple, online churches free of donations only, personal spirituality, global spiritual renaissance, no organized religion, sing at home, karaoke, God will hear You my friend), just smaller church the size of your home, for 20000 times deeper spirituality. This means criminals build churches, temples, mosques, while ethical people use that same land and materials to help those whom God wants to help the most and society neglected the most: to create sealed secure healing cities, villages or centers that replace jails with amazing single family houses, single 1 bedroom beautiful houses for the violent crime offenders who work 35 h/wk until ALL CRIME IS 0 IN THE NATION, since all jails disappear, fines and education replace the jail terms. Violent crime can lead to all humans dead in 10 seconds, so it's a 1 trillion times bigger sin to have jails than not building a stone place to sing to God in a group, for today, we can sing together online and we can also sing individually and God will hear us very well. God wants you to help those most in need, not those who have it the best. Mk 10:25 "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven". Shelter the homeless, feed the hungry, protect the victims of 1 billion violent crime in USA, many done by illegals. We already got 1 million concert halls, places where people can gather for group singing if they want to record nice choirs singing to the God of Immortality for All. Plus some of the new 8.5 million Weekly Biomarker monitoring stations and mini-universities built on Aristocratic Terrorist Estates, all free, can have recording studios for choirs to create beautiful immortalist music of much higher quality than in these traffic noise trashy sound insulation churches today the rich beasts usually place in the filthiest places for the slave workers to go to. When a power plant explodes, you go help the pipe or machine that is BROKEN, when a society explodes, you go help the most messed up people with a truly Godly Immortalist Anthem like universal gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness. Our society explodes daily with 1 billion unreported violent crimes, the time is now to change. A divine society has no jails, everyone gets the same divine education. All holy experiences of bliss, God, etc in a place of worship can be attained in your single family home, which you can make as holy and 1 million times more powerful in generating divine experiences than a church. Holy bliss is all created by the brain in a powerful placebo via wafers, Eucharist, ritual and brainwashing, and at home you can make it 1 million times more ecstatic and efficient by lying down and doing the meditation. Liars say "we got no space/material for homeless" or material for "border wall to prevent drug flows or enslavement via illegal immigration" but we got space/$ for 400,000 churches sitting empty 80% of the time. Jesus said "kingdom of God is within", Jesus didn't tell anyone to build churches, churches were built by thieves, the rabbis and frauds (the 12 fraudulent disciples) who claimed to be the only way to God and who faked to be disciples of Jesus, the master fraud. You can generate bliss at any moment in any location because God is everywhere. Jews loved a comfy life, why work if they can simply preach lies and pretend to be a Jesus disciple in 1 AD, they could use Christianity to take over the planet and indeed they did. They say 'no single family homes for all', while 400,000 churches (materials, space for 4 million single family homes) promote 1500 "Holy Word of God" quotes of genocide, slavery, mass rape, violence and 30 types of businesses (on the next 30+ pages) waste even more space, materials, not to mention the 8.5 million mini and big mansions shown 3 pages later. Why so many churches w*hen everyone can be an online pastor,* every single family home can be a quiet temple to God, maintained by Immortality Building Inc (company where pastors/believers work part-time to bless all with decent mold/leak/noise/dirt free shelter, to practice, instead of preach spirituality) in perfect condition for breathing bliss, so all can love & experience God 24-7, not 1 hour monthly, with personal spirituality, no organized lies. Are people 3rd graders needing clergy to repeat like a parrot some quotes ethics.gov or any website (Bible gateway, Jesus said God is within, he never said to build churches but to feed and shelter the hungry/homeless), offers all online in a peaceful set of 24 verses, 8 to 33*)*. Oddly, UCLA astrophysics professor became homeless, due to a government of religious fanatics who worship the ultra violent Bible that deifies slavery of all professions, and beatings of slaves.

They tell us that there is no space for single family homes for all, but space/materials for endless useless businesses to keep aristocrat mansions huge, or 2300 acres palaces, or 2130 acre part-time living estates, (scroll down 3 pages to see the 8.5 million mansions in USA, with exact number in each state) or mini-aristocrat houses gigantic and 10% of USA living in terrible apartments/mobile homes/condos (17% of US lives in condos, apartments), 23% in bad ones: 34% (3 million) hotel rooms sitting empty all the time (9 million US total, 132K motels/hotels, 0 Immortality for All City Centers, US=redneck nation*)*, 2,400 gigantic zoos (animals get houses, people don't, priorities for USA, monkeys kill people in India, while tigers (10K in USA, 13 lb of meat eaten daily, 700 folks killed a year) eat people, zoo pigs give you flu to kill you, dogs kill 35000 folks, crocodiles 1000, hippos and elephants 500, snakes 100000), 32,000 gyms space for 200000 small homes, 22000 spas (filthy, transmit diseases that kill, let all have a tub at home, be democratic), 13,000 pet shops, 23,000 pet hospitals, 34 million square feet of vacant empty unused shopping mall space that could become 100000 tiny studios of 340 sq ft, 6,000 dog parks ☺☺☺ because 170 million cats and dogs are way more important than 100 million Americans living in bad conditions, 900 dog/cat food factories for the 80 million USA cats and 90 million dogs we really don't need (except a few service dogs and drug sniffing until 0 violent crime arrives) and who make single family homes so hard, due to nonstop barking requiring huge distance between houses, 900 land owners who own tens of millions of acres they don't use (except for timber company owners, recall the family owning 23% of Nicaragua land, 5 million acres of which was distributed to 100000 people), 4,000 strip clubs (the epitome of ☺abysmal IQ☺, when with meditation you can be so happy at home, and youtube has 1 trillion times more similar content, Iceland banned strip clubs, why can't the rest of the world?), 2,000 Masonic buildings where violent rituals are enacted to destroy the human quantum field which are anti-constitutional, and violence promoting, like the Bible-Torah-Quran themselves, 35,000 acres for growing useless flowers☺☺☺ (61000 acres in Netherlands, where people are crammed in dense housing), 10 million acres for 7.2 million useless horses pet and 'riding', 5,200 adult stores (sex shops, etc that destroy the human quantum field), 70,000 strip malls and 90,000 shopping plazas (each with 20-100 stores over 2-5 acres) with astronomical levels of redundancy. Then, we got 100s of cruise ships that take many folks to maintain, etc instead of building houses habitat.org.

We got for 200,000 phone stores (the small business parasitic metro T-mobile reseller, the backbone of American 0 IQ, resell, insurance, call it a life, who sells 5 phones/day, wastes his life with this (act busy baby, 6 hours a day waste time, instead of doing some research, while we also get T-mobile, AT&T, Verizon, Sprint for different companies, when all could be ordered online at Amazon or utility.gov or in one store Eternal Utility Inc store, you don't need stores for phones or activation, there ought to be a simple online page telling you how to put the SIM into the phone and do it). We can't have youth ("rat filif IQ" or "IQ too low to love all a trillion x more") in phone stores do tasks of 3 year olds, after wasting 4 years in college in drunk parties and humanities classes, wasting their life as "retail people in phone stores selling stuff America is too incompetent/lazy to make anymore", like putting a SIM card in your phone you can do at home after phone arrives from utility.gov with 3000 times less toxic RF radiation too).

We also got 500000 clothing/shoes stores. These low IQ small businesses can't produce one quality clothing item as described in the immortalist clothing section, so Eternal Clothing Inc suffices. This way we end the aristocratic vampire class and develop healthcare and high tech building, soundproofing tech for the slave workers who deserve nice places to live in too, not 100 sq ft studios on 45th floor vs 4500 sq ft mansion with 50 acres and 20 rooms. The new clothing.gov can have the Eternal Clothing Inc app that takes pics of your feet, trunk, arms, legs, waist, once, as you hold a 12 inch ruler nearby and then this profile is eternally stored there, until your feet grow if a kid, and it shows only shoes, clothes that fit that size when you search, since the immortality.gov ID logged in uploads your info, and you can select wide for comfier shoes and it is shipped in 2 days or 1 day, like Amazon does, and you're in no need of shoe stores, as we prioritize research, like making and discovering new materials to insulate houses cheaply so well, it's as if you're in a condo building with warm units around you warming your walls and being so energy efficient, and shoe tech to extend lifespan by 10 years via new sci-fi shoe tech or new vitamins, nutrients to help us live to 300.

Then we got 200000 food stores ☺☺☺. Of special hypocrisy are the ethnic stores selling ethnic food: ☺☺☺ little items and ethnic stores, why not merge 100 of them into one "Hispanic store or Asian store" or order from Amazon.com like food.gov to sell these items, give all decent housing for 0 crime, don't make the city a food market and 900 restaurants. We got "Indian pig heads meat restaurant", "Kebab sheep leg steak store", "Dubai tiger penis steak", "Korean turkey buttocks steak", "McDonald chicken breast store" and other cannibal like imagery very low IQ, no science based eterni food, just cannibal chimp restaurants, food stores by the millions, same old Neolithic food, ethnic restaurants or mainstream ones, just cooked slightly differently, a few different mixes of spices, etc, nothing high tech, no science. The ethnic restaurants take so much space too and these low IQ illegals (Democrats let in by the millions) complain that they don't have good housing at times, but they take all this land for the ethnic store and parking, they don't see the hypocrisy: everywhere you go you see the same stone age food or ethnic restaurants, taking space of eterni food future research centers, due to the incredible indifference of these filif chimp IQ immigrants Democrats bring in who simply spread their 0 IQ culture here instead of becoming the Land of Freedom from Death citizen, excited about the science of eterni food, science of living to a billion years old and the end of religious lies and religious violence. We need to kindly end 100000 small food selling markets that take same food from US/Canada wholesalers and sell it at higher price than Aldi, Walmart – their contribution to USA is buy and sell, inflate prices, inflation, welcome to USA Jewish traders disguised as Muslims. This is not ideal, we need better migrant integration instead of 200 nations within USA. Some want to have 7 to 10 babies and declare the Islamic Caliphate. In immortalism, one Immortality Building Inc permits any business in USA, no more low IQ cities permitting anything. We make sure 80% of nonresidential buildings are for research/production (0 imports) as guided from the efficient Eterni, the new capital of the USA, and the rest of the buildings are efficiently merged for a high innovation civilization of high thinking, low masticating. Until eterni food is mainstream, we use TV to teach people to cook much healthier meals at home (Chapter 11.12.4., pressure cookers). Lentils are sold in 1000s of ethnic stores, like many other items, just so a guy has his own business; this leads to a huge waste of human labor, the disappearing of research. Instead of 4 million stores, let us compassionately healingly nurturingly use the energy to raise houses in flood zones to save lives, houses that previous aristocratic bandits did not raise as redundant (all permits issued by housing.gov, the website for Immortality Building Inc) selfish corrupt city officials let it go thru. Thus, we will be creating better houses that don't get mold when a water leak happens since all water from pipes is caught, every pipe is surrounded in clear thin pipe see thru plastic vinyl to catch the water, like the drywall or new high tech soundproof materials are laminated with thin plastic too to enable easy washing and no mold, and the inside pipes are at an angle so no water is stagnant, so that all water flows into channels that drain in the sewer. All these simple changes to reduce mold growth and mold remediation 90000 fold, plus other changes to AC systems (more split AC, less central) to prevent sickness, require more people to produce these houses that last 5 times longer as we live 5 times longer eventually.

We got endless retail jobs, 50,000 tax places ☺☺☺ (0 taxes ought to be the rule), 20000 vasectomy clinics (this refers to offices that do mostly that, even if not separate buildings, no reason to waste money with such nonsense, just abstain from sex, sex outside procreation destroys the human quantum field, useless ☺☺☺ 'male contraception' procedure that 50 million sex maniac brainwashed men had between 1897-2024, to prevent sperm from going out into the ejaculated semen during sex, drains national resources, encourages animalistic sex and destruction of health, destroys the human quantum field, since sex is for procreation only if you want to live to 5 trillion and become precipitating species that materializes offspring without intercourse), 900 roller coasters that lead to 1300 injuries+5 deaths/yr adults and kids, while making kids selfish, unaware of the terrible housing of others, 70,000 bank branches (projected to disappear by 2041, redundant branches we don't need in a cashless society with only 1 online Eterni Bank, with no loans, no inflation, only wage deduction of prices if you don't want to pay right away for a house, car, etc though most get a free basic house at age 18), 30,000 liquor stores ☺☺☺ space for 80000 small homes, all kinds of alcohol stores that killed 2 billion people via alcohol last 2 millennia while these selfish alcohol addicts complain about lack of housing, 10,000 vape stores (selling illegal vapes sometimes) space for another 10000 small homes if it were not for the selfish criminals who use weed and other products, 900 huge stadiums (lots of houses/stadium, since some are 150 acres, so we talk 1500 houses/stadium, free the people, not the chimp inside man), 10 million RVs (trailers) sitting empty 94% of the time, 1,000 casinos (these are big, materials and space enable us to build at least 10-80 houses each ☺☺☺), 136,000 huge basketball, etc courts (shrink in half and we get space for 1 million 3 bed 3000 ft² houses) in the 131000 K-12 schools and 5000 colleges, 16 million empty homes ► Forbes, (China has empty apartments for 1.4 billion people reportedly, they rot, they could have built single family homes, but top communist mini-aristocrats didn't care about the workers, villas only for 'communist' top 0.01%, unless it's prep for WW3), 1 million restaurants we don't need so many of if homes are big for all, 500,000 empty commercial office empty buildings each the size of a small house AT LEAST, 15,000 gigantic golf courses (160 acres per course, so 2.4 million acres, about 26 million homes of 4000 ft² lot, got plus some alleged 52 acre 'golf player' mansions), each course able to have 100 single level houses, so that's 1.5 million houses, 1.1 million acres of USA wine grapes = 11 million lots for nice 4000 ft² homes, due to the selfish criminals who drink alcohol and others before them who killed 2 billion people via alcohol, California has no homes, but 620000 wine acres, 0.2 million acres for tobacco plants (for the criminals who smoke and produce tobacco and kill 3 million a year) that could allow 2 million 4000 ft² houses with roads in between to be built (no free meditative music mp3s to be happy and breathe the bliss, just smoking ads to make the rich even richer), 30000 acres Disney World Florida, space for 200000 nice 5000 ft² lot 6 bedroom homes and a nice 2000 acre Immortality Park, 2000 acre Immortality University too, more acres for other theme parks instead of giving all yards (instead of condos) so they make their garden into the theme of Immortality for All they wish, 12000 useless beaches (bathe in clean water, not ocean water that kills, 100s die from flesh eating bacteria, have some brains, build nice houses, your life is more important than being a 0 IQ redneck going to infect your eyes and body with lethal stuff that gives dry eyes or eye/lung issues for life). ☺☺

We also got ☺☺☺►►►►► ~*~ 8,500,000 ~*~ ◄◄◄◄◄☺☺☺ USA huge or small aristoc-rat-ic mansions, the largest 1 million residences of these rats will be Immortality Labs, (can be cruel cannibals like aristoc-rats 'eat' the rest, enslaving, working us to death) listed by state in the next 2 pages (many are mini or big palaces where those guilty of genocide live, genocide via torture and mind control of public officials who're simply robots (tortured animals) that ensure the imperial lifestyle of these beastly aristocrats (rich people, like British George Washington & all other young British spies disguised as "revolutionaries"(in 1776 James Monroe 18, Aaron Burr 20, Alexander Hamilton 21, James Madison 25, Thomas Jefferson 33, John Adams 40, Paul Revere 41, George Washington 44), created all spy agencies and military, to enslave everyone better under the guise of 1776 "freedom from Brits", the rich enjoy spying on/torturing all Americans as federal agents of the 18 agencies of national intelligence who "role play" being the rich and looting everyone inside and outside USA, as tech allows: peace thus is not relevant, only power, USA is a feudal monarchy (like all nations almost are in REALITY, with 1000 kings, the elites), where the offspring of the elites rule forever and pass the torch, meaning for 20 generations spies and monarchs who rule USA), genocide via blatant theft of elections, where only their puppets rule to protect aristocrat wealth, genocide via theft of trillions from the American people, loss of 3 billion lifespan years for USA, 9 per person, at least, same as killing 60 million 30 year olds who lose 50 years each of a 80 year lifespan, and preventing healthcare and proper nutrition for all, WhERE IS THE COMPASSION? See it next 2 pages, all mansions by state, search your country real estate websites for houses above $1 million to find your local aristocratic terrorists) even 2300 acres palaces (Facebook CEO) or 2130 acre part-time living estates (Oprah uneterni tone TV station, like the tone of most TV programs) that each wastes the materials and space of a city Immortality center (biomarker monitoring, medical facilities, middle/high school immortality or longevity tech lab, etc) that together would extend lifespan of 300 million Americans by 70 years. It's the aristoc-rats that create endless businesses that shorten the lifespan☺☺☺ and IQ of the poor (alcohol kills 3 million yearly, smoking 6 million), instead of giving single family housing to all Americans – the mansions take about 60 million acres or about 825 million 4 bedroom 2200 ft^2 homes, 1 car garage, 500 ft^2 yard, 500 ft^2/house for streets-shops (so 3200 sq ft total), to give everyone a chance to buy a house in 2 days with housing.gov and no more aristocratic vampire realtors, or a lot of research centers to help humans live to 500 for the centralization of education via the 1 million immortality labs instead of 8 million mansions, see how the priority in US is MEGALOMANIA not research centers to improve education, health, see how Immortality Party can fine many companies, regain trillions of $ stolen by aristocrats from the US☺☺☺ Government and the people via fake miracles brainwashing and other types of fraud ("they deserve 10-50000 times the wage of the average worker"), and refurbish these 3 million mansions (some got 2-4000 acres) to create 1 million immortality-longevity-health focused labs (state owned) to give free education to all (not brainwashing that these 1400 violent quotes are the Word of God) & 2 million (state owned) preventive healthcare centers, plus 250 million 2500 ft^2 single level houses 4000 ft^2 yard, 6500 ft^2 lot, plus 500 ft^2 for shops/street, see

WHERE THE MILITARY (some make weapons, others are disguised as businessmen)-SPY-celebrity-CEO-manager-judge-Lawyer-MD-Banker Aristocracy (who torture the 90%, higher ranks, not the cannon fodder soldiers) LIVES, mansions of 3300-30000 square feet and/or a huge lot (0.5-4000 acres), 2-9 extra rooms/baths, extra footage/acreage people don't use/need when others live 9000/acre, 2/tiny room, many bigger than the White House, gov is a puppet of the PARASITES:

Keep in mind, that while the French King Louis (killed by revolutionaries) lived in Versailles in 721200 ft^2, millions of white French lived (like a few thousands still do) as slaves in 50-90 sq ft2 studios (no bath) with no heat/cooling thereby shortening the lifespan of France by 50 million lifespan years = killing 1 million 25 year olds. French billionaire, worth 200 billion, creates evil luxury goods that fools buy, while many are homeless. Like the French King, today, the whole world is brainwashed to worship without question the Masters of the Universe, Kings of Hell:

In decreasing order of # of parasite mansions (total in USA is 8.5 million, where the 8% who vampirize the 92% live, numbers when I did the search): Texas 832,000 mansions & 5548 for sale, Georgia 608,000 (highest per capita in USA) & 4056 for sale, Florida 548,000 & 3655 for sale, California 535,000 & 3566 for sale, North Carolina 382,000 (3rd highest in USA per capita) & 2549 for sale, Tennessee 346,000 (2nd highest in USA per capita) & 2305 for sale, Colorado 340,000 mansions & 2270 for sale, New York 320,000 & 2140 for sale, the 3 states FL CA (Los Angeles 53 billionaires) NY (NYC 60 billionaires) with most Jews in the top 7 as Jews have highest

As these bastards do to Americans, so USA does to 200 nations: everyone is a slave... The aristocrats don't care about Americans, why would they care about foreigners? Look at what US does to Puerto Rico, taking over the nice weather areas, making the locals homeless or shipping them to the mainland by raising house prices, like in Hawaii, aristocrats have a house in Florida, a second in Hawaii, while locals are homeless or shipped to cold states with harsh weather. Democracy in action in full display in Hawaii, join USA now folks: Jewish Larry Ellison 85000 acres, Jewish Mark Zuckerberg 2300 acres estate in Hawaii (besides the many mansions in Palo Alto, Washington DC, Lake Tahoe, etc), Oprah 2130 acres. Here is a map of all (possibly a few only, the ones who don't hide they're Jews) 2025 Jewish Billionaires: USA 163 Jewish Billionaires con all, suck the blood of gentiles, create war via Wall St and 4500 banks, brainwash all with the Jesus scam religion to loot gentiles, brainwash all USA to circumcise and worship Mass Rape-Genocide-Cannibal Cult as Word of God, Israel 39, Russia 21, Canada-Brazil-UK 9 each, France 7, Australia 6, Ukraine 3, Spain-Swiss-Monaco 2 each, Cyprus-Colombia-Eswatini 1. Not to mention drug cartel Jewish kings. Five of the top 10 world billionaires are Jewish. Hollywood Jewish actors and movie directors push lies (war with Iran since 2013, "iran has nukes

in 6 months in 2013") that benefit Israel, not USA. See list of Hollywood Jews. Check out the Jewish founders of Hollywood, the books and info. Wikipedia details the Jews founders of Hollywood studios, the 80% Jewish comedians, etc, read the filthy trash Jews produced for gentiles for decades to destroy USA in the typical Zion Elders style. Mansions often house the mafioso of many cartels and gangs, some being worth 1-47 billion. This is possible due to USA being run by Freemason mafia families who're opposed to the ethical 11 companies system that prevents more than 1 bank, prevents cash (that mafioso use), prevents illegals (only legals can buy anything with the one credit card/ATM card). The Slave owner Brit George Washington has turned USA into a Mafia Run state, where Aristocrats are the mafia Bosses who con everyone and steal trillions from the state and masses. All elections are fake and the 2 party system simply maintains the Mafia, like the royal family-aristocrat mafias of other nations, or the Putin KGB Mafia. We need democracy, not phony mafias disguised as CEOs. See depraved rich preferences. News.google.com, created by Jews Brin & Page, on 8-6-2025 had 10 items about Israel out of 28 (1 of 10 is Iran due to Israel fears) in the world tab. With 8200 million people on Earth, the events in a 10 million Israel, get 35.7% of news, for 0.12% of world population, like 300 times more coverage for Jews than gentiles. Read the quotes to see why US media is Jew controlled. Check out how Bill Gates (son of a rich guy who bought MS-DOS from a guy Tim) became a billionaire by selling someone else's operating system, how he treated the actual pre-MS-DOS inventor (killed at age 52?), to realize that no billionaire deserves their pay: the products and profits are only made by the actions, toil of millions of people who ship things, make raw materials, design parts of a product, extract raw materials, build roads/houses that transport products, people to work, etc.

Jewish Gift to Hawaii: locals made homeless or forced to move to horrible weather states, like in a concentration camp. Win-win: Hawaiians win hell, Jews the nice Beaches. America first, all nations bombed into the stone age, killed via torture or enslaved. Don't be deceived, when 1776 came, the Brits simply conned everyone that freedom would come: it didn't, slavery of all to the USA Brits continued, while slavery to UK Brits became covert. See the full genocidal ethnic cleaning in full display in Hawaii, only 10% of locals are natives now. Hawaii has the nicest climate in the world almost, and the locals are simply wiped out there. So, what kind of democracy is this? Brits/Jews steal the nicest beaches and the rest are sent to Siberia? Is this the future of 5 eyes? 0 democracy, but Feudal Fascist dictatorship of Jews + Brits. British 'kindness' is seen in Australia too, where on some islands locals are not allowed to own homes. Every non-Brit is treated like a dog, like Jews often treat gentiles too. Why don't British royals Prince Harry and Megan live in a 10 story condo like the blacks in Washington DC that has 400 times more homicides/capita than Singapore? Check out the 1815 Corn Laws that starved the Brits and Irish, approved by the infamous Royal Family… Check out how these same vampires looting Brits would ship 170K people to Australia for things like stealing bread made super expensive by the aristocrats, etc… Check the lives of UK families living 7 in a 150 sq ft room, working 84 hours a week, paycheck to paycheck, while Royals had 20 palaces and aristocrats one each. Why live in a palace in Santa Barbara? Isn't kindness sharing the joy of creating a nicer capital? Our capital needs real help, it looks really bad compared to where Genocidal Brit Aristocrats live. You know, Anglican church says we're all kids of God, not only Brits. Anyone who opposes The Immortalist Party idea of single family homes for all interested in one, is a genocidal selfish beast. Tall condos cause all major cities to sink, we need to stop building higher than 3 floors for anything. Australia needed some poppy seeds for heroin perhaps, so now they cultivate poppy for Ozempic, advertised by Oprah, to screw the working class, via side effects: lean mass loss, kidney cancer (JAMA 2024), hair loss and brain damage, pancreatitis and blindness, even EU says it causes NAION (2nd most common optic nerve blindness form after glaucoma) blindness, hair loss. Denmark Novo Nordisk (market cap 250 billion) was EU's most valuable company, since instead of prevention, EU, like USA, focuses on pills that shorten lifespan via side effects. Ozempic can be replaced with a vegan diet, as this GLP-1 video explains. Free all nations from these Big Pharma genocidal CEOs who live in palaces while prevention education gets no funds, and CEOs steal all national wealth so uneducated masses buy their lethal products. An Excel or fee LibreOffice file with a calories count table would remove any need for weight loss drugs, but we have a society of enslaved workers whose IQ is destroyed via brainwashing and dishonest ads by parasitic predator aristocrats. Weight loss drugs fail after being discontinued, people regain the weight, and they're too expensive. You see, the aristocrats won't address real causes of obesity, immense stress for workers due to parasitic aristocrats firing people all the time, instead of everyone having a job at the 11 companies, workers who have no time to count calories eaten at every meal, to sleep enough, etc, criminal companies selling high AGE foods, high fat foods, criminal stress levels for workers who need work 2-3 jobs, be unemployed, and replicate duplicate for the aristocrats the same stuff others already discovered in other companies, horrible work schedules that prevent good sleep, essential for weight loss & noisy cities. Nations worldwide, who have nice beaches and areas, weather forests, mountains, beware, Jews and Brits from the 5 eyes are out to buy stuff there, renovate it and sell it at 10 times higher price to price out locals and do genocide of the 21st century via homelessness and forced relocation. Russians did the same, they killed 1.5 million Circassians and got some nice areas. Right after I wrote about the 5 eyes, the beasts tortured my left eye area for a while, in the style of 120 pages of torture. ☺☺☺

The odd thing is in the UK, a lady was allegedly (she may have gotten out the secret door, if MI6 agent) given a 2.5 year sentence for calling for setting migrant full hotels on fire, and inciting racial hate against Pakistani rape gangs who molest British girls (1 million?), per Mohamed call to rape all gentiles in happy speed. However, the biggest inciters to racial hate are the British Royal Family and its puppet government and Parliament, whose King is the Head of the Ultra Racist Anglican Church. The Christian Church, via the Word of God, calls for the extermination of even 8 billion gentiles if Jews feel like it, for enslavement of non-Jews, for beating of kids with rods, for mass rape of gentiles, for arson of gentile cities, etc. Quran is simply the Bible rewritten. Blame every Christian church publishing the Bible, who appeared 7 centuries before the Quran. Here we have a state, fake country, where royals and aristocratic families own 70% of land since 1066, who lie to the UK that the miracles of Jesus are real, who love the shouts of the soldiers doing change of guards, who sponsor heavy metal music and other violent filth music overseas, etc, who engage in covert genocide of 99% of UK residents via poor crowded housing, who fake their baptism ritual to pose as Christians and deceive the world they believe in Jesus in order to keep others ignorant, naive. Isn't that a little strange? We need to kindly ask the Royals, all nations admit the Christian Church is a scam based on fake miracles and endless violence in the Bible.

625 billionaires are planning to build bunkers, some 300 million in cost, to live in luxury, after 5 billion are dead in a war the billionaires started to destroy the rise of global awareness of the real enemy of the planet: the billionaires and multi-millionares. Billionaires make huge profits while destroying millions of lives. All Big Food literally kill millions of people, but they make insane profits and get huge CEO salaries, like utilities who spread dirty electricity. They steal public funds, water, electricity, to make profits. They could be tried like the Nazis at Nuremberg, these Jewish (Facebook CEO Zuckerberg 2300 acres 0.3 billion $ palace in Hawaii, 750 acre estate in Costa Rica, 11 homes (0.11 billion in 2025) in Palo Alto, 1 mansion in DC, etc, estimated 0.7 billion in homes, boycott Facebook?) and other nonJewish billionaires. No worries, judges are Jewish too quite often. Please ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ check out 300 Hollywood Jews celebrities that have flooded (like nonJewish Hollywood too) the world with uneterni tones, scenes of eternal violence, rape, genocide in holy accordance with the infernal Word of 'god' Lucifer, the Bible. Check out the kindness of one Jewish celebrity suing for someone taking a picture of an area near her house. Perhaps, now it is clear what kind of vibe her music has? Check out some of the Jewish parasites responsible for endless wars worldwide: they made billions by using the criminal banking and financial system to suck the blood out of the masses. 60% of Clinton election campaign money came from Jews and Jews got 40% of cabinet positions, meaning 6 out of 15 were official Jews, with others being cryptoJews, so some say 80% Jewish, hence people say the 2% of population Jews got 10-90% of leaders in many fields. Fact or fiction? Trump & Clinton daughters married Jewish men, what if some Presidents were/are cryptoJews? How can it be possible for the White House to need 564 staff, 106 of which make more than 150K and yet the country is in such a mess? Doesn't it seem to you like we have a government run by lawyers, frauds and "wanna be technical" people who do little to bring real change? In 250 years of genocides, we never had a scientist President, only Hoover as a mining engineer, but never life sciences, only death and Jewish mercantilism fans to fuel the Feudal Police State. The only bachelor of science was in naval warfare, for Jimmy Carer, the rest were puppets of the military aristocratic terror industrial complex. The Biden admin had the second highest amount of Jews in the cabinet after Clinton, possibly thanks to the Jewish husband of the Vice President. We need the Immortalist Party, all staff will have a science degree, is a scientist or engineer. After 250 years of aristocratic filif frog IQ☺☺☺, we can change course 180 degrees and declare independence from the Word of Anti-Science & ☺abysmal IQ☺. See aristocrat yachts.

Higher Densities of parasite Aristocrats in the USA are in many counties, including these 5: Los Angeles County, where Music-Movie unHollywood Violence/Eternal infernal War Spreaders Live, alone has ►►► 112,000 (21% of California mansions) & 744 on sale, Miami Dade County FL, Palm Beach County FL, Broward County FL a tri-county area called greater Miami metro area with 6 million people and about 130000 mansions, San Diego County CA has ►►► 60000 & 390 for sale, see the 15$ million homes in Rancho Santa Fe for the Big Pharma poisoning us (no safety research center for medicines, but 38000 dead via Vioxx drug and all NATIONAL wealth stolen for their mansions), etc, the list of PARASITE rich Counties is HUGE... Big Pharma, with endless PALACES In California, Florida, got 75% of Pharma world profits, gotten via 4% of world population to finance PALACES in Mexican Cartel Style Trillion $ Thefts from the American people. These 5 counties are some of the biggest due to nice So California and South Florida weather for the Lovers of Eternal Genocide who terrorize us and the entire planet with their demonic ultra violent movies and infernal music, look at our national resources being fully wasted by these Rancho Santa Fe (and many other aristocrat cities) ☺abysmal IQ☺ primates or Santa Barbara ones, while research is not happening at all, ►►►►►►►► 35K single person homes of 120 sq ft are available and show we have resources to house all homeless in 10 days. What is lacking is basic humanity: look at these Hidden Hills estates that could have used these materials to house 1 million research centers to help all live to 200 in eternal universal (intergalactic) World Peace ►►►►► BANDITS RULE USA. Greedy monsters. They will kill 5 billion to maintain their power and position, so beware of these scumbags whose religion is mass theft from the 95%. In 250 years, the US founding aristocrats (British General Washington and others) always chose killing and genocide to expand the Empire, and not once has one President of USA lobbied daily for nonkilling and the end of torture, violence and war via presidential speeches and the White House spokespersons: they were just as part of the establishment of infernal eternal war, as all other nations of failed filif caterpillar IQ☺☺☺ (catering (eating) wood pillars, cellulose in leaves/wood). Their speeches were often written by bloodthirsty puppets of aristocracy, repeating dogmas they were indoctrinated with in aristocratic military colleges of genocides eternal, in colleges too low IQ, violent, thuggish to have any kindness, gentleness and eterni vibe like a truly ethical military. Our Presidents didn't have any freedom, like most kings/presidents didn't have much either, being mere puppets of the military aristocracy and spies controlling them from behind, who taught them how to suppress in every speech the universal gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness, that also is absent in all USA music, how to be OK to kill without any mercy, like the Brits blowing by gun or the execution of slaves for trivial reasons, such as being exhausted and unable to find a job that the serial killing nobility could not provide as with the universal 11 company system. The US Presidents always used 200 to 450000 useful slave cannon fodder soldiers (the 95%), as a sacrifice to Satan their God, a human sacrifice (evil US Leaders simulate in California yearly), as every war is, to wage wars that would have been prevented (such as WW2) if they lobbied for World Peace in 3 months for 170 years prior, practiced infinite kindness and eterni vibe in international affairs, and if they talked about the need to introduce World Peace in 3 months in any new song approved, or poem published, and the qualities of universal gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness that humans lack, plus the idea that ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ is possible within 3 months of agreement daily, on the media they use to brainwash us. Go to realtor.com select > 2750 sq ft, > 0.25 acre, 3 bedroom and you get: Hidden Hills (22 houses), Rancho Santa Fe (87 houses), see the immaculate roads, with 0 potholes. I lived 24 years in California, drove thru Compton many times and thru aristocrat cities too. Even bigger cities with some regular people, often have 0 potholes. Then drive thru poorest areas, like Compton to see 100,000 potholes, concentrated in certain less "affluent areas". This is due to the decentralization of city management. Cities and counties have no meaning, the buildings and streets will all fixed, maintained, built by Immortality Building Inc in the civilizations of immortalists, to ensure the fair and equal treatment of all neighborhoods, not by 20000 different building or street agencies that waste endless resources duplicating, making websites, logging request for pothole fixing and having it on file for 4 years. With reviews.gov anyone can make review of a street, choose to upload pics of potholes which will be fixed within 2 weeks by federal law. Today, often times, nobody does anything, since cities take 30 years to fix a pothole.

Freedom doesn't exist, the military controls everything, Presidents are mere toilet paper, whose thoughts and speeches are forced on them with infinite violence if needed. But see, in wars only slaves die, the 95%, so war is not an issue for these cannibals, in their mind war can be waged to destroy the workers or steal other nations' resources. The issue here is a military and spy/police global culture of rampant psychopathy, torture and violence that goes for millennia, stemming from the infinite arrogance of these genocidal murdering aristocrats, who're as used to torture (slow murder) and killing, as decent people are to breathing. They clothe themselves in endless decorations, but they're the eternal unelected rulers of every nation: the military and their aristocratic pals: the royal families, etc, the entire apparatus of torture, terror and repression to keep wages 50000 times higher for aristocracy and royals. What about real fairness of more equal pay, max salary 3-4 times the minimum? Simplicity for lower stress and maximum peace & compassion? Theft, crime will never disappear when income inequality is high, so all these police etc agencies, spy etc are to protect aristocrats and not to protect the people, they can't bring down crime to 0 until pay is 20000 times more equal. Until then, spy agencies merely protect criminal "laws, justice system, stock market, everything" based on the evil pay system. Elections are fake always, a mere show to brainwash all to become serial killers members of the military hordes used to loot various nations or destroy worker movements in those nations. Thus, any real ethical kind gentle immortalist government, needs no political parties, they're concerned with substance of Tao (eternal World Peace☺☺☺, universal gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness and 25000 times more equal pay), not the flowery trappings of rituals. Humans of integrity maintain their vibe and keep it simple, so all can understand it and all energy goes towards the most important task in life: maintenance of Eternal Universal Peace without which no immortality exists, nor happiness. It's high time for all humans to stop being brutes. Men of mass murder keep it ultra complex, with 4500 banks in USA alone, endless financial products, prompts when checking out at stores to donate 1$ to some cause or nonprofit that would not be needed in an ethical society of Immortality Building Inc (maintains and builds all housing, so all have great shelter, all are owners, 100%, not like today 65%), Eterni Food Inc that feeds/houses well everybody and has universal health insurance. In our aristocrat run society, we get endless flyers, coupons and stuff, to use slave labor to cut trees to get discounts (money, money, money we hear all day, 90 times, but Eternal Universal Peace, a world with no violence or torture, phrases like gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness we never hear on TV-radio: the money ads dehumanize us and make us easy to manipulate mind controlled slaves of aristocracy who is like the devil tempting us to think of money 100 times daily, of World Peace once a year, the infernal media does the bidding of the Zion Elders and reinforces that demonic 2% discount frenzy thru endless ads for stuff nobody needs almost, among listeners). We also get needless (if 11 companies exist) nonprofits to feed the ones who were left without food by the criminal system that prioritizes endless useless businesses mentioned above (thru which aristocrats get rich by destroying the masses), and we need endless cult nonprofits and violent cult churches to feed the ones the criminal government can't feed obviously, because they don't have the 11 company like system of 0 unemployment, a sufficient allowance for foods (foods bar codes don't affect nonfood balance) on each person's credit card, for shelter, for healthcare, for clothing, for personal care products, 5 protected categories. Look at homeless in Florida or Las Vegas, Texas, Arizona and Los Angeles, Oakland and Philly. A tragedy due to inefficient state governments. Las Vegas is a criminal city of genocide thru gambling that needs to be taken over by the chemical industry. Look at how depraved people are: doing endless businesses, and not caring about shelter and basic food, job for these people. It's a world of utmost cruelty and selfishness, where even pastors loot everyone via fake miracles. Local governments failed, let's dissolve them, take over all housing.

ONLY 1 credit CARD can exist, with only 1 Bank, no credit exists for small items, all is subtracted at 0% interest from your existing paycheck, as we prioritize longevity, health, food, shelter, ethics, nonviolence not useless FINANCE MAJORS invented by perverted aristocrats, with nothing else better to do: all economics majors replaced with management of immortalist resources majors, via centralist price setting based on trillion year lifespan goals. This food balance is unaffected by any other purchases to enable all to have the money to buy the food, and not be left without money for food due to some mistake. Since there are no mortgages (all basic houses are free, any other is money subtracted from your monthly paycheck), everyone getting free basic housing, the obsession with money is lower. Today, they make it complex, you need to turn on that super deadly phone, if poor, use apps to get some discounts in a store, cards, and endless products, the basic simplicity of the people of integrity is totally gone. In order to maintain the eterni vibe, of gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness, one needs to rest, meditate, relax and be simple and make the system ultra resilient, ultra simple, ultra prioritized on what matters the most: food, shelter, good deep sleep and happiness, and ethical music. With 11 companies, redundancy is gone and work week can be 33 not 55 as today for many, and allow all to be kind, to rest, to create eterni vibes, to have a spiritual life, a moment of rest, not some work 4 hours and wasting time, while others collapse after 90 hour weeks. In our world, we get ☺☺abysmal IQ☺☺ music, violent tone music in every store, 0% gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness, everyone is turned into a serial killer slowly by the evil powers that be, the military serial killers, all are brainwashed with 2% off and other things… Just buy what you need and make money not a reason to buy it. Aristocrats corrupt every human alive to be addicted to money, choose what you buy based on what your health needs, not what is on sale. The most basic needs are food and shelter and 70% live in moldy, filthy, toxic air houses, with stinky infested carpets etc, since the 1% pigs don't care, we're mere toilet paper they wipe the anus with. The most basic ethics of government, decency, caring and compassion has been replaced by an overly complex system of aristocratic theft of trillions from the state and the workers, via complex schemes and systems of redundant descent into ☺0 IQ☺, making it easy for any violent country to conquer USA, the land of aristocrat violence. ☺☺

Radiant shimmering shapeshifting (even daily into any racial appearance you want) Immortal, do you want to be remembered as a beast, who supported killing and bloodshed and the current depraved society of complex hooliganism, theft and banditry? Or as a kind being who supported a simple, ethical system to make sure everyone has shelter, food and basic healthcare needs met, so we have gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness, a sense of national and international family and 0 crime exists, since after all, those 'evil' aristocrats are gone and all make max 3 times the min, eventually all paid the same with the highest immortality credit score ones having managerial (power to shape policies) positions to advance the civilization, meaning stocks, financial products and the products of THIEVERY, BANDITRY, TRILLION DOLLAR THEFT are all gone… Jewish mercantilism, Jewish banks to extort gentiles, Jewish thievery deified as Scripture etc all gone, intermediate salesmen gone, reselling gone, Mohamed style aristocrat merchants looting caravans (like Saudis today destroyed huge swaths of Syria) and Mohamed launching 90 military thug expeditions to inflict endless suffering gone (some estimates 90 million Hindus killed and 270 million nonMuslims), Italian mafia banks of millennia gone, and high tech is in, 1000 times more innovation, so that one day, we all live as sages, in peace, 0 crime/violence, like trillion years old teleporting telepathic shimmering genderless shapeshifting Immortals ☺☺☺. World's richest $1.2 trillion (2024) Al Saud family, the heirs of Mecca where Mohamed fake religion (Quran is Bible rewritten) was born, enslaves endless people today like Mohamed supported slavery, taxing 1 billion nonMuslims the slave tax. Initially humans will live 200, then 4000, etc. meaning, after the immortalism high ethics minimal finance society 0 torture 0 police violence society is born, all taxes are 0 and everyone's income is our wages…, our income is our great gentle compassion for all beings, in world's simplest, most spiritual, yet most fair and honest society, who gave up violent psychopathy. Because we prioritize LIFE, not theft, BEING HAPPY, not material things, HEALTH, not winning useless titles or money. It gets down to this, do you want all humans gone in 10 seconds by the blast, or to be alive? Do you want to become cosmic dust, or to evolve past cannibal chimp stage? What do we want as a society of bipedal chimps thinking ourselves so infinitely smart, yet infinitely greedy/low in IQ? There is no culture nor civilization if terror, torture and war, violence exist, and yet these are the tenets of Judaism, Torah, Bible, Islam, Quran, Bible, Gita, Mahabharata. Can we think for ourselves and stop being fooled by aristocrats using religion to slaughter us forever, Muslim against Hindu, Muslim against Christian, etc? Who needs these fake religions? For endless millennia these thuggish aristocrat beasts from hell have deceived us with their systems of wars, banking and grotesque violent religion, in order to subjugate us and kill us when enslavement, infidel tax, etc was not possible. It's our choice to unify humans are one country, language, currency, system, of such deep kindness and ethics that no crime ever crosses anyone's mind. ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ is a big task and only a one minded focus will achieve ultra fast this very basic, most fundamental condition for the start of human civilization, as what we have today is a hell of cannibal chimps. We can choose today: nonkilling and simplicity, so all energy goes towards creating gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness, the vibe of the Immortalist Anthem that prevents all crime, or keeping the ultra complex thievery today, its eternal hell, anxiety, war. The military beasts don't ever talk about Eternal World Peace as that ends their job, the world Presidents don't ever talk about that daily as they're robots of the military using synthetic telepathy to wage war forever, they only talk about winning a war that is in the news… so you see, the whole planet is jailed by them in the inferno of their depraved souls. It's up to us to liberate ourselves from these demonic fiends and bring ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~. Try to create a beautiful song of World Peace in 3 months for all, use this draft recording to start. The infernal beasts will calm down if enough sage energy calms their restless souls. Take over every church, gym, store, music venue, make all play, love eterni music to bring ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~. Replace the infernal restless songs with eterni and peace will come without war. Replace the infernal lies about mass murdering psychos Mohamed/Moses, the whitewashing of the violent demonic Quran or the whitewashing of the demonic Bible quotes or miracle fakers and liars like Jesus, with the songs about eternal World Peace in 3 months, single family homes for all, universal healthcare for all, decent healthy food for all, physical Immortality for All (in the far future, when lifespan becomes 900000), the human decency of 0 wars, 0 torture, 0 violence in 2 years, the beginning of civilization free from violent psychopathic religions. It's comical, the media tell us a dictator has 2 huge mansions, but the military owned media never talk about the 2 million huge mansions of USA or other 100 nations aristocrat dictators who stole national wealth like the dictators CNN tells 3 billion fools need to fight to eliminate in order to steal 3 trillion of resources by the same dictatorial aristocrats of the USA or other 50 nations invading a weaker nation. See the Hypocrisy? When did the $15 million/year militarist aristocratic media ever talk about the theft of national funds, by the unelected dictators of USA who ran the scam for 250 years? We didn't forget the 100s of times Muslims looted, raped, burned, invaded 100 nations, we can't assume that because a country is non Muslim, they can't do the same in new ways.

The ever deceiving thieves of the ruling class, the elites of global terror, justify killing, torture and violence in ever more clever ways, ignoring completely that World Peace in 3 months that is Eternal would have been possible even 3 millennia ago if aristocrats gave up greed, pay was very equal, and we had a more fair system like the 11 companies one. If a little compassion exists, war doesn't exist, but when people are beasts, war is natural and even "holy" and "patriotic". Animals kill, humans don't. For the aristocratic brutes enslaving and working to death millions, awarding themselves 50000 times the pay of the average person, and 1000000 the pay of the minimum wage, war is a mere extension of their infernal brutality. So aristocrats brainwash all to become the hyenas and despicable monsters they're and arouse the masses of slaves with empty nonsense about Bible, Quran, Gita and patriotism to loot everyone (go to frontlines to become disabled, dead and make the rich richer) and keep their demonic reign eternal. The entire human species may disappear due to the US aristocracy, whose real religion is not the Jesus cult of "slave yourself to death to make us rich like Jesus died" that they generously brainwash (fake miracles) us with to increase the enslavement yield, but eternal beatings of the slaves that the aristocratic manual for global terrorism, otherwise known as the evil Bible, calls for, slaves whom they're "entitled" (Lev 25:44-6) to have via the "divine" right of depraved kings/aristocrats to torture, terrorize and start war to mutilate us for centuries. The real religion of these Machiavellian demons incarnate is wars to destroy the 95% in all nations subjugated by equally depraved foreign aristocrats they secretly team up with to start fake wars, while they invoke Jesus/Quran/etc and patriotism to lure the workers into suicidal wars. Endless crises are needed by the rich, to make the 95% malnourished, tired, sleep deprived, foreclosed, homeless, so via their 25000 banks, they can steal everything from the state and the 95% and continue their grotesque reign of terror whereby they create the evil music to incite the workers to crime as an excuse for their jails. These 'evil' bloodlines who have sucked entire continents dry for millennia have brainwashed the 95% so much via the fake news media, that people don't even realize, with 11 or even 30 companies, we would not have any inflation or economic crisis, via centralist immortalism. The stress on the workers would be 10 times lower (they wage eternal war on us to tire us and enslave us) and then they would live longer, think straight, so they can end wars in 3 months and violent crime in 3 years. The rich need chaos/war to LOOT us, to create endless jails who're populated by the victims of the aristocratic crimes, jails who're not even needed in any decent society, unlike ours where thieves of trillions or billions of dollars are free while those who steal 30$ are jailed. The people believe that ISIS, Nazis, Al Qaeda, etc appeared on their own with no outside help, but they appeared with foreign help (see video), as various ruthless cruel monsters wanted big bloodbaths for their imperial expansions.

The parasitic rich disguised as spy/military agencies, etc steal much from the average American instead of research into decent housing materials to prevent any house being destroyed by flood, hurricane, tornado (if only the houses would be built right, raised 5-8 ft to prevent flash flood entering houses and strong enough to withstand 140 mph winds and with 4 pillars deep into the ground, as one piece of a high tech material, no house would ever float and crash like these Neolithic houses built for slaves; the imperial vampires have a lot of stone and they build in areas with 100 times fewer floods), earthquake, etc, research into healthy food, medical care for ALL, not just the rich, etc), look at these ever deceiving liars, torturers, vultures and cannibals claiming to be a legitimate government when they're simply faking elections, deceiving the American people and acting as chief torturing agents for the Rich, defending these rich criminals (see what massive theft and unjust laws, that pay a thug 50000 times for the same amount of effort and intelligence, that favor massive theft lead to: flagrant 50000 fold higher waste of national resources: Beverly Hills and Greater LA Estates) and genocidal thieves (see 15 million houses) who steal all USA resources from 1 million unbuilt research centers that by now would have helped all to live to 200 in a World of ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~, to build their grotesque ugly properties from hell (check $100 million house, hey, don't you think we need more of these 6 million houses to destroy USA completely, keep us ultra primitive, everyone acting busy, stealing, cheating the government of liars and frauds, and increase our chance of being wiped out by China in 1 minute?), is it not time to vote for the Immortalist Party to get rid of the corrupt Republicans and Democrats bought by these blood sucking aristocrats?, don't you have 5 minutes to spread the word, help Demon-crats and Re-pub-licans quit their rotting parties and join the Immortalist Party, so we can take our country and planet back from these blood drinking cannibals whose religion is BLOOD DRINKING and stopping all progress for their selfish entertainment, progress towards the end of eating animals and plants, so all have decent houses and medical care and live to 200, maybe 500 some future century?

Space for housing exists, we got 5800 cinemas (each is 12 acres, so we talk about 70000 acres to create about 2 million 1 bedroom 400 ft^2 homes, each with 700 ft^2 yard) made obsolete by Netflix online movies (aristocrats want slaves to go watch their sick movies, while living like rats in moldy shaking condos and apartments) – 2 MILLION people liberated, science and engineering majors FIRST, let them watch at home something spiritual with no killing). We got 20000 cemeteries each big enough to build 100 homes (so 2 million small 3 bed 1500 ft^2, 1500 ft^2 yard, homes at least roads included). The irony is that in Singapore, Hong Kong, etc, they have a cemetery with 50 floors to save city space, one floor has 10 coffins in a small space, while in America, in Jewish controlled DC, blacks and whites live in 4-20 floors caged cells (condos), while the Jewish cemetery takes up a lot of land instead of 100 times less. Nothing can be more hypocritical about the Jewish love of Americans, to cram Washington DC, America's highest violent crime state, even further, into ever taller buildings, while the land is taken for Hebrew "cemeteries" (1380 & 1400 Alabama St SE, 3237 Congress Pl SE, 3233 15th Pl SE, etc). Why not simply compost people as legal in 17 states (animals mixed with wood chips turn into soil in 2 months), honor a tree grown out of the specially composted human by a company composting 4 times less, occupying no space; only works for healthier people without serious infections; they also have the chemical dissolution (aquamation) into powder methods to sterilize better, etc, no toxic fumes as with cremation; can basically be used as fertilizer after total sterilization by the food company or recycled into atoms to create objects by future atomic machines). Keep the coffins in Alaska or Israel or 90 levels under or above and have a camera to worship your ancestor daily from your home by WiFi to feel united with the Bones of Matter, for God matters not, but Bone Ancestor Worship Does, in the religion of $CaCO_3$ worship of calcite and $MgCO_3$. Why not prioritize the living? If God resurrects people God will resurrect them into a Body totally different that can live to a trillion and God doesn't need these bones and atoms. Resurrection myths came from the fact that people died, once people live to a trillion, there is no need of resurrection religions, as everyone lives forever, they worship life not Bones or Death. If these people were so chosen, so compassionate, so intelligent, they would not waste valuable city real estate that could be used to reduce violent crime 1 trillion fold. One of the most Resplendent Magnificent examples of human silly hypocrisy is the 1.2 million beauty, hair styling, leg shaving, and spa salons that could enable 1.2 million 2 bedroom homes with small yards, 1.2 million extra SLAVES FREED from the Age of Aristocratic Terror. The Eternal Beauty Inc section explains in 7 pages how destructive and hypocritical nail stores, laser leg shaving, mascara, makeup, liners, eyelash products are: the chemicals destroy eyes, body. Kindly watch how upset the female owner of a useless salon is when a homeless female lives near her business; isn't it odd how our criminal governments allow salons, all the business here and useless churches, mosques, synagogues, temples to exist before we reach 100*% home ownership, before* everyone has a house, even if only 250-900 sq ft tiny home? Should we not give everyone a mini-temple, their own house to worship God as they see fit, without brainwashing, fake miracles, fraud? An ethical government, absent on Earth today (since no nation has 100% home ownership), would immediately close the salon and turn it into houses for the homeless, with salon staff employed by the Immortality Building Inc). Anyone can do their hair at home with a mirror, trim it simply, youtube tutorials show how or use your brain. Are you ethical or simply pretending to be? Think about it. 0 violent crime depends on you.

We got the Holocaust of fetuses (caffeine causes millions of miscarriages and infertility cases) each year via the 38000 coffee shops (space for 2 houses with nice backyard, since many suburban stand alone Starbucks use 1 acre, so 76000 homes: coffee is very destructive, as explained in the 13 page caffeine section, these "demonic" coffee shops destroy the visitors thru their devilish music, noise, vibes. Only the most selfish depraved people STEAL national resources, building materials to create a coffee place for him to meet 2-3 people at a table, when he can do that at home, in the gigantic living room designed by the rat filif IQ city planners who make rooms 6 times smaller than the living room; where is the compassion for the Ukraine and Syria flattened cities, could you ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ please drink your coffee at home? Better yet, kindly buy blueberries or grow them in your backyard if nice climate, as it's much safer, healthier for you and humanity). Then we got 20 million huge yards (truly gigantic, 8000 ft^2 at least, some 3-20 acres, so space for another 20 million 5 bedroom houses) empty yards with nothing in them except grass or 3 decorative trees or bushes, when all that space could be used to grow walnut or plum trees: walnuts have all essential fats we need, plums polyphenols, much fresher than walnuts at the store that oxidize for months in a bag or jar due to light and heat. The movie industry is complicit in this genocide of 20 million unborn fetuses, killed by coffee, as their main task is to depopulate, via movies glorifying coffee shops.

We also got 20000 IUD (intrauterine device) insertion doctor offices and clinics (IUD causes infections and possible migration, perforation (look at the string and hole under google images tab, those strings and string attachment to the hole areas, the grooves in the plastic, etc will form biofilm and cause an insane level of body resources wasted to fight of chronic low level response to allergens and bacteria buildup, even if not full blown perforation during physical activities or pus infection or damaging uterus (womb) and future babies one might want to have; MDs lie that infection 'doesn't exist' if pus doesn't come out and you don't feel sick; they lie to women that if an infection is not 1 million times worse than normal (pus), you don't have to worry about it; infection exists regardless. There is another device, for selfish women and selfish partners who think sex outside procreation is fine when war, homlessness, violence rule supreme. In this new method, a device gets inserted into the arm, a sort of IUD analog, and one lady became paralyzed in her arm after the procedure. Inserting IUD in women is almost a hybrid war of national extermination, lowering IQ, a violent crime of womb damage and future baby damage, committed by misinformed women against themselves and future babies and by brainwashed doctors (same MDs told us in 1950s that smoking is good for you and does no harm); infection is the reason people don't get punctal plugs in eyes, the inside of that plug hole and its outside get all biofilm and cause low level or visible infections in 90% of cases), into the bladder and other areas, causing life threatening emergencies; you have to be the lowest IQ person to use IUD, since that uterus environment can't clean the areas of string and plastic that cause oxidative stress and damage to the epithelium). We got 1000s of acres for horse racing violent useless sport. USA got 678 acres in Ocala alone, luxury hotels for ☺abysmal IQ☺ people without any empathy watching violent thugs who abuse horses and sing/shout/holler like in rhythm with the ever so violent military songs (watch the macho tone that stirs people to be cruel, to kill, to sin, to remove all trace of universal gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness, perfect example of complete brainwashing of Americans into accepting the violent historical inertia, the terror regime of 250 years, copying every other violent military, while claimming it's different than a Nazi terror state) like 'evil one of US military about wrath, violent crushing'). All humans may disappear in 10 seconds and they build more strip clubs, casinos, horse racing centers. Compare such evil songs with decent 100+ clips on youtube to understand why the world is in a state of 1 trillion violent crimes a year, mostly unreported. A civilized military is wholly different, nontorture, nonkilling based, bans such violent songs and tones, all too typical of dozens of anthems, 70% of music, 100% world military songs of our hell world.☺☺

When we say single family homes for all, we also mean dome shaped to resist hurricanes and tornadoes if there is 'not' enough concrete to make them resistant by sheer weight, to withstand by shape alone (wind goes around the sphere, flat wall is pushed, sphere is avoided), storms 100 times better, foundation (via rock fill etc) raised above the street by 8 feet to prevent flooding in flood zones, or domes or box houses made of concrete to resist winds and not become a flat pile of ruble after a storm, with hurricane metal window shutters and strong Cat 5 hurricane resistant windows. Today, palace dwelling aristocrats make millions building flimsy houses that become a pile of rubbish with a tornado or hurricane, causing workers to be homeless for a year and shortening their lifespan and it all could have been prevented by Immortality Building Inc requiring any structure in certain areas to resist 190 mph tornado or hurricane, or 150 mph in milder storm areas. The blood sucking vampires build homes without raising the foundation, exposing workers to repairs every 3 years after each flood, that each cost 20K: this in turn makes aristocrats more money, yet introduces needless stress and sleepless nights, aging in the workers' lives. This is no accident, but intentional. These same aristocrats make millions selling nicotine, vape products, alcohol via a TV brainwashing campaign aimed at destroying the lungs and brain of every worker alive. The real criminals are not in jail. They run a wasteful decentralized ponzi scheme to milk every worker well. With centralization, the same standard applies to all states, and in zones of high hurricanes or tornadoes, we have 100 times better building procedures than today. No need of county policies. Centralization eliminates the middle man, the parasitic aristocrat, who sets up his con company to make profits for himself, while shortening the lifespan of the nation more often than not, simply because he doesn't have the capital to hire a lot of researchers, being mostly admin. Walmart, a big company, offers the lowest prices on many grocery items vs most stores. They take advantage of the vast volume and efficiency. Why can't all people get a free single family house built by world's most high tech house building company, Immortality Building Inc? For all that effort to build Paradise on Earth, listen to peaceful immortalist mp3s etc a few pieces of metal/concrete are not worth it? The USSR, destroyed by sabotage of the spy mobs controlled by aristocrats and by the historical inertia of too much torture and cruelty used, too little centralization, gave free housing to all.

We also got millions of substandard mobile homes, wood frame homes that need to be demolished or refurbished, where inside it's much noisier than in a nearby normal home, due to thin paper walls, windows, whose space we can use to build real homes, and whose price needs to reflect noise level too, more noise cheaper price. Instead, the aristocrats buy sports teams and brainwash billions of workers to play selfish sports that make everyone so selfish, the total enslavement of the workers is 1 million times easier by setting one group against the other. Why not help your fellow workers rebuild their trash homes, like Habitat for Humanity? We got 8 billion people living in substandard homes in need of major upgrades or minor ones (good MERV 13 or FPR 12 (removes viruses, virus precursors, tiniest allergens, VOCs, the moldy vegetation smell in humid climates of Florida, and coastal Texas, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana etc, that you only notice outside when you have a good filter or fly from out of state) (Home Depot FPR 4, 6, 8 are not good enough) central air intake filters for example), retrofit to maximize lifespan and it could be done if we wasted no time with our silly sports. In many parks we get 35 dB noise at the back of the mobile park and 60 near the street(s), so there needs to be a big difference in the price to reflect health hazard, so people have money to create good soundproofing, triple pane windows and air filtration, more vitamins, etc that others don't have money for, to provide all with decent equal opportunity to live to 500. Right now, pricing is filif and comical☺ at best, unscientific, there is almost no science to it.

Mobile homes allow the extermination of workers by aristocrats who charge huge land lease fees: this needs to stop by one federal law that allows home buyer to buy the land too, not just the home, and turn all mobile homes into HOAs instead. Why is the worker dying early and having no property rights to the land, while the aristocrat gets land appreciation and workers just lives paycheck to paycheck to pay the rent, while getting no equity building? It's discrimination: some cities have mobile home space rents that are 7 times bigger than a space rent 2 miles away, 300 vs 2000 in 2023. Drive a little south, and land lease goes to 4000. No federal standard for noise levels at 9, 10, 11 pm exists, so the slaves get to live in areas where businesses make 24-7 noise sometimes. The decentralized scam websites of private companies have no features where you can search by home type from low to high for the entire nation, all you can do is by state on zillow, or redfin (replace your state in the address) and then no way to search or sort by land lease fee in any city or county. Or on the rental sites, so few search options, like "available within 24 hours or 4 days or 15 days, etc". Every site is so simple, featureless like the CNN design, etc. Everything is so primitive, only a few sort by options. To even see the lease, you need to go to redfin.com, the site with the most info, more search filters possible, click "property details" tab and read it there or Ctrl+F "lease" to go directly on every page. Check 'exclude 55+ parks' if younger. If you selected a city, county or state, click "remove outline" on the lower right corner on the map to get more houses nearby. Because you need to setup email notifications for multiple cities, areas, counties, it is much easier to simply set you 9 search criteria and then look at all homes, mobile or not, HOA or not, click 'hide' on ones you don't want and that way, the whole tri state or 10 county area you look into will appear empty each new day, except for your favorite 4 homes and new homes. This makes you avoid looking again at the same homes and wasting time since many don't have hat you look for and you spent 3 minutes figuring that one out by checking all maps, crime rates, etc, flood levels, etc. Mobile home rents can increase 3 times over 20 years, while taxes on a mobile home without land lease remain flat, so it's a total fraud, since if you sell a home they charge 10% extra tax, which is sort of a real estate tax for 10 years. At least you can move map to go to the area of interest. If you check "exclude land leases" on redfin, you may get 1 in 5000 mobile homes that has no mobile home park and is thus cheaper in the long run. The aristocratic dictatorship of the 5% (especially top 0.5%) over the 95% is deep and shameless. 10K mobile home 1000 sq ft or 2008 built 12k newer home and 710K mobile home 1400 sq ft (was 92K 9 years before in 2014, if you visit redfin sale & tax history tab, in a typical pattern of mobile homes often increasing 10 times in price versus 2 times the regular ones. This shows the huge profit made by these conmen

Check out this 1.4 million mobile home, to realize how little actual expense exists (100s of similar size homes are 15-30K), to build it. There is even a 2.6 million one. Notice the 260 times more expensive price. So how is that for maximizing lifespan for all? ☺☺☺ Bad, because nothing is designed in USA for that, it's just for the aristocrats. As a result, they got 50,000 companies producing low tech junk, even for aristocrats too. With one company Immortality Building Inc mass producing 1000 models, you get 50 times more research (and 50 times more lifespan years added to the nation), as no admin and HR and endless jobs and design focus (just LIFESPAN) so everyone lives in much better conditions. This brings more innovation as people get decent sleep and can think clearly, benefiting even those aristocratic conmen flipping houses and increasing price 10 times in a few years for many mobile homes. In immortality capitalism, house flipping is not possible, nobody can have 2 homes until all own one. Who cares? Vote Democrat, the semi-Republican party. These flips are not by accident, cops/spies posing as realtors do them too, to cause population shifts via price of real estate adjustments, etc. In many nations, like Australia, they're designed to increase house prices, to that immigrant workers live crowded and waste their life, as those nations are drained of young smart people, in a war of sucking the life out of those nations sending immigrants to Australia. Nothing is by accident, the British aristocrats know the game, having perfected slavery for 900 years. Sadly, in most nations today, immigrants are 2nd class citizens, usually, mere slaves, so we can't blame Brits only for being that way, this is a genetic thing, due to the low IQ of the human primate. This gorilla nature causes the ideas of the leftists to become mere theories and slogans of empty socialism and communism or social democracy, that are never practiced 100%, as we have seen with USSR enslaving Warsaw nations or China, Korea, etc or with US enslaving its 'allies'. This racism or ethnic superiority complex (for those within a race) comes from a primate fear of the 'other' who may be a spy and it's somewhat natural to some degree, as a self-defense of a civilization against possible anti-immortalism agents of evil and death, but what we see today at times is a total meanness and lack of 'gentle tender soft healing grace'. Why do people have to sleep poorly, 2 in a room when there is a huge space for creating doors and smaller rooms or useless businesses remodeled into tiny studios, etc for temp workers, etc? So that Australia and other nations productivity is low (bad sleep = 50% lower productivity at least, no quiet cities needed, just UK style rock music), per British logic of course of digging one's own grave. Instead of making solar panels and cars, Australia imports most of its solar panels/cars, so that 0 IQ aristocrats can play games and flip houses. Main jobs in Australia are finance, sales and real estate, mining, with too few domes being built in hurricane prone areas, gov could take domeshells.com.au that makes domes and make it bigger to produce 20000 domes a year. A 7m (23ft) dome cabin is 90K including plumbing and electrical (about 60K USD), a 3m relocatable dome is 24K (16K USD), a 215 ft^2 (20

m^2) studio dome 50K. They got too few metallic, plastic or wood hurricane shutters, impact windows. Even 50 year old lifespan pygmies seem sometimes to have higher IQ and kindness than Australia's government, ever so busy with false flag attacks and mind control (instigation with hidden gadgets or via saturation of media, literature, movies with crime scenes and improper tone of speech void of gentle tender soft emotion for listeners) of citizens to do crimes to justify various policies, endless jails, etc, the whole system of USA (they copy it, minus guns, they got fewer, so to keep the population under aristocratic terror, ASIO (Australia FBI) stage knife attacks, pay or write the brains of youth to do burglaries and then post videos on TV about it, etc). Nobody does crime if crime is never depicted anywhere. The youth imitate the movies cops do to create crime. They show on TV in every nation almost, how masked youth attack various religious or ethnic groups or burglarize their property, to incite inter-ethnic and inter-religious hate, as if Australia Federal police is implementing the ancient 'divide and conquer', "terrorize and subjugate" Zion Elder Protocols used by all empires, in line with American Nazis and Jewry in police, spy agency and military. On paper, they "protect the public", but in reality, they're inciting viewers to crime. On ASIS (Aussie CIA) website, they say they don't do torture, but who knows? What is the TV stuff but torture and mere destruction of the human quantum field via vast pollution of every brain and mind? People work hard and come home to watch the news or turn on the radio, and all they get is more violence, meanness, wars and bad tone music. This would bring 0 motivation for the workers to do a good job next day, as they view the government as inept, incompetent and fraudulent filif comical☺ sponsor of daily national TV terror? Where is the solution? Lifetime labor for any violent crime in a healing city separated from the rest? This is the government that is supposed to protect the nation's psyche, to uplift, inspire, motivate people to lofty goals by showing violent crime daily on TV? Is this the government we want? If CIA is the ASIS partner and they're the 5 eyes network (CIA), how sure are we they don't do it like CIA? So, again, are ASIS and ASIO honest with the Australian residents and citizens? Everyone knows CIA, MI6 created many terror groups to stage attacks to justify military actions, so who knows?

How come we don't get 1 million people in every nation march with gigantic "Eternal World Peace in 3 months" and "Immortality for All", "0 Violent crime in 10 years" big signs, on streets to shut down all banks (except 1 national bank that guarantees all deposits, that can't crash so that no aristocrats can steal workers' money), sports facilities and gyms, strip clubs, circuses, zoos (except 1 national zoo), nail salons, gambling, casinos, vape and alcohol stores and convert them into decent housing for the overcrowded? Workers of the world unite, it's perhaps time to demand the end of aristocratic alcohol and tobacco lobby used to kill 9 million workers yearly. This is a holocaust by the aristocratic class against the worker class, awaken from the sleep. British aristocrat has 10000 acres estate. In many places 10000 people live on one acre in a tall building killing 100 during earthquake. Please boycott all alcohol and smoking products, show true compassion for fellow workers, like a kindhearted gentle soft tender soul ☺☺☺. Thugs go to gyms to build muscles, want 0 violent crime? Have no gyms☺☺☺. Love those bulldozers, let's use them for all old barely inhabitable homes and businesses, needless restaurants, hotels, gyms that can't be remodeled etc. Vote the Immortalist Party now. Build virtue at home, build housing, build Immortality for All. Let us demand faster demolition for true compassion. If people never know what robbery, burglary, assault is (no movies, TV, radio, etc books, depicting it), it won't happen. It's THAT simple. Don't expose kids to any crime scene of any sort. Everyone does eterni breathing, gets same centralized gentle tone education and all are surrounding all in kindness. Lovers of alcohol (or drunkards to use a metaphor) control Australia and many nations and they use alcohol sales to get minorities or groups into fights and violent crime (killing each other), just as American Jews and Nazis use gun ownership to get certain whites to commit suicide (10000 a year, mostly whites) and blacks to kill each other (20000 deaths, mostly black) in gang wars (gangs created by local spy agencies, cops). Why allow bars when people are overcrowded? Bars ought to be remodeled into housing and banned globally, same for pubs the alcoholic Brits so eagerly visit to shrink (ω3 reduced by alcohol) what's left of their shrinking brains, due to high RF stress. They got endless bars in Darwin, Australia, 15 liters alcohol/year, and it's the punching capital of the world. The aristocrats sell alcohol so the poor victims who drink it are jailed for punching each other and then we waste more resources to keep those in jail (private prisons aristocrats own) instead of having them do community service and evolve in a healing center, while their houses are renovated and all casinos, financial centers, pubs, vape shops, etc are demolished and turned into housing. If we got 1 bank, why have 1 million financial centers? British logic again, a la British USA and blowing by gun. Who cares about housing, all they do is false flag attacks and fueling violent crime everywhere thru Hollywood music, movies, literature, inflammatory tone TV anchors, shouting pastors, etc. Any ethical government would ban guns, violent content and tone and also ban smoking, vaping and alcohol. Our # 1 priority is good sleep, to prevent anger that leads to war, and the 10 second end of humanity. We need priorities to avoid extinction. Perhaps, we can gently agree globally that no business ought to be open after 9 pm, to encourage regular healthy sleep. In Australia, youtubers claim most shops close at 6 pm, to protect workers rights and allow all to get a good sleep. No room sharing ought to be permitted, so that all can have a better sleep, plus earplugs for free in noisy areas with airplanes, traffic. Sleep is body repair. Our tone is bad when tired.

A mobile home of the immortalist capitalism system of "homes for all first so all sleep well and get less angry and less prone to start the 10 second end of humanity" only qualifies as single family home if 1. it has a decent backyard and withstands hurricanes/tornadoes if in such a zone 2. owner owns the land, 3. the noise level is similar to nearby real homes, with window open or closed, 4. insulation is comparable, so he doesn't need run AC or heaters all the time to get sick from dry eyes, allergies from AC vent pathogens, 5. got 1 combo washer and dryer, to prevent disease transmission. In immortalism, the Immortality Credit Score (not money) influences what you can get more, since all incomes, salaries and house prices are more uniform, not 200 fold bigger. This creates a society of smart long lived people, not greedy gangsters. Check out the Polish "standards for condos and apartments". 2 sets of Poles exist: aristocrats and slaves, slaves live in condos. Romania got 94% of houses privately owned in 2024. They need to start building concrete domes worldwide, get people out of old condos that could fall during a big earthquake.

We got 21 million apartments, condos that we can demolish over 70 years of transformation, so none dies from earthquake, endless private and public prisons to make money for companies (have people live at home, learn online, take courses, change vibe), endless corn and soy fields to feed cattle, pigs, chicken (overseas or in USA) instead of high tech vegan or lab eterni food that uses 100x < land and water. By now, if you do the math, you will see space, materials wasted for roads + 75 million houses so all can live in a truly decent place and lower crime, focus on helping all live to 500, instead of maintenance, since ONE COMPANY does it all. Then we hear that "there is no space or materials" and we can't bring resources for 700 year lifespans. Make America high tech first time ever, let the greed vanish and science flourish. The list above lacks a lot of businesses, such as 18000 laundromats in USA, not needed once everyone has their own house with a laundry machine. These laundromats don't even have their dryer doors cleaned, I saw some that are quite dirty, again a total failure of not having Immortality Building Inc to maintain and inspect. Again, vampire aristocrats making money off a criminal system of slavery and subjugation. That's another 25000 small houses. The list OF USELESS BUSINESSES is huge, SLEEP is most important thing for longevity, how can people sleep in loud crime ridden places that know no QUIET CITIES LAWS? It's time to respect all Americans. Then people want to invent, discover, help all, give their all. Until then, it's pure chaos, check the borders alone. The so called "well off" Americans are too brainwashed to realize how much more tech would exist if we had real centralization for the first time in history in any nation, since youtube allows it. The clueless rural folks believe in fairy tales about Jesus brought by deceptive missionaries (on a special mission of mass rape, genocides, stealing as 100s of quotes explain in the "Word of wild dog", or God inverted) brought. The list is not complete, we got *62000 jew*elry stores (owned by Jews quite often, possibly to have mics or gadgets hidden in jewelry) in USA alone in 2023 which are pure evil, like all breast implant clinics too, as explained in Eternal Beauty Inc. We the People, want to free America from cartels, vampires and fraud. Online churches, jog, gentle exercise at home: give us a gentle music, i.e. 0 crime. When all get decent nutrition, not junk food, decent sleep, not prison cells, we can build World Peace. God is within, every single family house can be a church, need no wafers to deceive. We got clean energy, EVs, time to demolish tall structures, give all the right to not die in earthquakes, for Immortality for All is our ethos.

We also got 1 million acres for alfalfa or 10 million 4000 ft^2 houses (stuff cows eat, 250000 acres used for exports to China 33%, Japan 30%, Saudis 0.25%, etc) because people don't go vegan or invest in science (they invest in heavy metal music) to make artificial proteins far superior to beef. Everyone tries to be a realtor and speculator, so water that is 1000$ in Los Angeles is sold at 70$ for alfalfa. When we have no brains, we have cows, not people, cow sheds/alfalfa, not "cities or water lentils (duckweed) (ω3:6 ratio 2:1), seaweed, veggies, fruits, protein from water and air etc in backyards" in decorated beautiful greenhouses perhaps for better health than beef. Gardens give us produce from greenhouses after ~~supervolcano~~ eruption or Mach 83☺☺ ~~asteroid~~ which brings ~~no sun for 2 years~~, ~~temps drop 45F everywhere (most of the world is unlivable. We have to~~ use wood to grow mushrooms to survive; plant walnuts in backyards, big backyards (6000lb), not on fields, have wood nearby, so you survive EMP ~~nuke attacks that shut down all transport,~~ ~~Internet, TV-radio, ports for~~ ~~months. A garden~~ helps people lose fat, instead of bringing spies, gangsters to cultivate alfalfa or building gyms. Americans have been conned to eat deadly beef burgers, we subsidize Big Deadly Meat and exports due to water pricing fraud: huge 30000 sq ft mansions on 3 or 30 acres for these CEOs (family of 4) and top people keeping us in the stone age and 100 ft^2 rooms in a noisy apartment complex for scientists who take humanity forward, while the aristocrats love the 2300 acres palaces, or 2130 acre part-time living estates. The big CEOs, loud shouting singers that make everyone play loud music in cities to blast the hell rhythms, instead of listening to peaceful mp3, allowing all to sleep, meditate, are busy torturing the slaves and imposing their 'no afterlife, no Immortality for All even in this world, my profits and empire is all, everyone for themselves, 100% egoism' capitalist (instead of eterni capitalist) mentality. We got some odd festivals wasting wood: Burning Man is a festival few heard of, where 'satanists' gather to burn on the 7th day a 40 feet man and 8th day a huge wood temple, to simulate human sacrifice as at the Bohemian Grove, where (vice)presidents, etc come to "worship Satan" and simulate human sacrifice to ?catch satanists?, as this guy talks about the financial men sacrificing babies. The brutality of the aristocrats would sacrifice babies, no doubt, for they sacrifice millions of adults thru their wars and policies, babies by destroying working class families, and babies thru coffee shops causing miscarriage, etc. You see then why they got these silly fake story youtubes about rich people (Oprah, Diddy) eating human flesh, which are most likely not literal, but refer to the aristocratic class "eating" the working class: to make this illusion more real, Diddy got some fake emails about 'human sacrifice'. Don't go there, use wood to build a house and develop virtue. They also got loud music, drugs, orgies and incredibly wasteful procedures, long drives that spew people killing toxic pollutants. It ought to be banned. The US military maybe created rain on day one of 2023 Burning Man, so in 2023 it sort of died out. Selfish people drive their RVs there, while others are homeless and need at least an RV. What spirituality is that? Imagine all that energy of 80000 0 IQ people, could be used to build 1000 Habitat for humanity houses in 9 days, but the ethics is not there yet. ☺☺☺

We also got endless 10-300 ft Jesus-Quan Yin statues (the thin-tall, not sitting Buddha that fall less: make small empty plastic statues that can't KILL people during disasters) and 80+ ft minarets (or church thin tops) that can easily kill (due to 200-870ft height) people during earthquakes, that waste materials which would provide single family homes (so quiet, nice, nobody needs temples, the house is a temple) for many (we got computers, churches can be online, margin of all computer screens can have "gentleness" "immortality", altruism" as 'statues of ethics', various qualities changing, with links to ethics.gov to explain what that quality is, depending on website). 1 life, 1 person getting decent sleep that extends human life, is MORE important than 9000 wood-bronze statues, church spires, towers, minarets of stone. Value life not rock formations, have some brains, value every human as if he can live to a trillion years old, temples live to a few millennia at the most, UV, wind erode them, etc, but humans can live to a trillion. Why do we worship idols, instead of life? Immortalists prioritize LIFE, not height. The Immortalists are the softest gentlest folks, so they don't make sharp edges of buildings (everything more round and 100 times less likely to injure people during massive earthquakes). Likewise, chair legs for immortalists are always round, never square, since if you ever bump toes on a chair leg and it's round, the injury will be far smaller than if you hit one of the 90 degree corners. It costs only 20 cents extra to place a soft cushion of foam around the leg on the bottom 3 inches, where people bump feet on, so it can become federal law. Every injury shortens lifespan, so immortalists do everything to prevent them or diminish their severity by 95%. If a building part falls (metallic or stone) and is rounded, convex, etc it's less likely to break or break in 100 pieces that injure or to create a heavy injury it if lands on someone's body.

An immortalist building looks vastly different than the sharp edge churches or buildings. It's a science fact that domes are 500 times more resistant to tornadoes, earthquakes, etc than normal buildings. So obviously, immortalists would choose multidome buildings not these ultra dangerous structures of 99.999% of worship temples, mosques, churches worldwide. For immortalists, 1 life is more valuable than 1 million churches. A 4 bedroom house can have 5-7 domes joined like this one, like a flower with 6 petals, the living room central dome and the other 4-6 domes as petals of the flower center main dome that has a living room with a cooling hole at the top (this idea is millennia old, used by Romans (8 m diameter hole), Chinese and others) to allow hot air to rise (it is weighing less, so it rises) thru the window opening and hurricane shutter opening when it is not raining, so hot air can go up and ventilate each room (thus dome) naturally, by creating windows in the direction of the wind in every dome, so one side wind enters, another it leaves and it cools the dome naturally, without the noise of central AC and spreading of germs and reinfection of everyone's lungs with viruses and cold bacteria from the other 20 years, as they become dormant. The window can close automatically during rain and hurricane shutters too, for all windows and dome top holes. Buddha statues ought to be made of a one piece metal hollow inside to reduce risk of cracks, fall of stone pieces and to prevent extra injuries if it falls from the top of the temple (unlikely, unless temple collapses or statue is ultra slim and tall like 500+ are). Immortality Building Inc can ☺☺tenderly gently kindly ☺☺ mass produce 100 million of them and the assembly is on site with pre-fabricated plumbing, electrical, solar dome exterior, low dirty electricity inverter, battery storage, etc. The cost will bankrupt all small aristocratic contractors who squeeze the blood out of the workers. On top of that, due to having 40000 PhDs and material scientists, engineers, etc, vs 0 for small builders, the dome will be 5 centuries ahead of the trash those guys build. Establish national code, in any county or city where winds exceed 80 mph (tornado, category 1 hurricane can uproot trees, ruin houses, and have them fall on a 'paper' house for 'slaves', killing those inside or damaging the uninsured house (too expensive to insure due to companies leaving Florida, etc), domes are required to prevent house rebuilding by slave labor. Let's do it right once, let it last 2 millennia, so we spend time buildingthe science of longevity, instead of trash houses twice a century.

Likewise, today's chairs are designed with 5 roller wheels that are cylinders, instead of spheres, so if you bump your toes off it on the sharp side, it will cause more damage than if the roller were a sphere. To prevent that, you can simply use bubble wrap (from Amazon packing or $ store) to wrap the first 5 inches of the chair legs, to prevent any bumps, until the federal guidelines are updated to include some soft wrap around there. Everything needs to be designed to minimize injuries. Until that age of immortalism, when blood drinking parasitic aristocrats who torture others daily exist no more, it is a good idea to wear slippers (especially if they torture you and make you tired) and ultra thick socks, since these psychopathic spies often spend hours daily following by video someone and giving suggestions until they bump into something. Today's monsters use religion to enslave the planet into a vibe that never cares about 0 torture, 0 violence in 3 years, World Peace in 3 months, while their actions make a mockery of God, by torturing the divine spark, the God spark in other people. It's all about "give me donations for fake promises of eternal life in a heaven unproven". At least immortalists are honest, we say, "give immortalism to all people, and they live longer with equal access to shelter and other basic needs. These are provable tangible measurable outcomes that prevent fraud unlike 'an eternal heaven with Jesus the conman' etc". It's comical☺☺ (like watching hypocrites) to watch these conmen (or military uniform people) sing songs about Love, Compassion, Tenderness, etc, God and the country, or fatherland, and in their day job (they are spies, cops) they torture millions using the military college and police agencies national training methods. They want others to be honest, but they're the most dishonest people, with 0 coherence in actions and words. How can anyone believe them they want World Peace? They know the torture going on, the evil quotes, yet continue the scam, never telling the church goers to build the world of 0 war, 0 torture, because all "religion" enterprises worldwide are controlled by the militaries: all 'nonsense' allowed, except talk of 0 torture and World Peace in 3 months that puts militaries out of a job. With 0 crime, why do we need spy agencies, cops for? These agencies are like Big Oil trying to support electric cars, not going to happen. Their livelihood depends on CRIME & WAR. They're the biggest bandits, since they, the unelected aristocracy of the military-security-industrial complex, rule everything and are responsible for much of the banditry going on, as a result of their policies… even if all crate the outcome, thru their torture to death policies, they remove all free will of anyone to co-create stuff, so they're mainly the culprits, paradoxical as it seems. But people don't realize it. The clergy continue to disarm the masses, make them gullible and easy to loot with the fantasy of Jesus or whatever, while ignoring the genocides going in our midst. No freedom exist, everyone is afraid to speak, or else spies-cops tortures them to death. They have no mercy, have become pure animal hyenas with not even iota of universal gentle tender soft healing nurturing loving kindness for all beings, let alone anything God like. But hey, they're "pastors", "clergy" or "great God men and leaders" calling for the great slaughter and genocide of others who're "less ideal hyenas than them". It's as if they're possessed by the King of Lies, mythical Satan, another made up concept to increase looting efficiency. They use temples, churches, mosques or atheist 'human rights' think tanks, atheist organizations to fool others they believe in God or ethics, when they don't, since anyone who has the least ethics or respect for others or God doesn't torture, injure or bomb anyone, as everyone is a part of God. You can sense their so called fake miracles religion thru their songs of 2 millennia and the vibes the lyrics create vs more decent lyrics (verses 8-40). Slippers around the house that are solid and would take the brunt of any bump are ideal (removes the need for carpets/rugs, get high grip inside only slippers, keep house very clean), and washing/soaking for the first hour after a bump in very warm water any area that you bumped to relax/dilate the blood vessels (that got squeezed by the bump) and prevent toe from becoming red.

NASA states nobody can down a typical Mach 56 (12 miles a second) asteroid, even hours before impact, so if a big one comes, we're not prepared with big cities. For Mach 70+ it's even harder. Hypersonic missiles are just Mach 10 max usually. ~~No sun for 7 years if it hits a supervolcano or nearby area causing eruption too.~~ So how will 8 billion make it if not prepared, having food a few meters away, using peels of veggies as fertilizer to grow stuff using artificial light from wind-wave-nuclear-geothermal-etc, or even fish, etc? Some people hope a few nuke blasts near an asteroid could change its path if we can do that correctly, the first time we try it on a 400 meter diameter rock, but that's being unrealistic. We're not prepared and ICBMs are equally hard to deflect or alter their path. Single family homes allow all to grow basic foods and be 900000 times more resilient, more capable of surviving, since during EMP attack, no trucks or cars may work to transport food. Thus, having produce in your own garden and some grains, legumes in storage, besides water catchment, solar panels and ability to be off-grid with battery storage, means one can withstand attacks and enemy is not encouraged to attack due to people being spread out and unable to be killed by 200 strikes on 200 largest cities where 90% of people live. Ethics starts with self-sufficiency. If USA depends on any imports, it's not independent and free. The youth is being programmed to be violent by the violent music in gyms, which create a narcissistic ego maniac society obsessed with appearance and muscle tone. Why not grow your own tiny garden on a quarter acre every American gets from now on for any new home (all condos, apartments are made illegal, meaning all new homes are houses that come with a preinstalled garden to grow one's favorite veggies and fruits that one selects to be installed prior to home purchase for WW3 preparedness, asteroid hit or cosmic natural EMP preparedness) and provide single family homes to all, stop wasting energy doing so much lawn maintanance (huge food imports that increase national debt, as water is wasted on grass, instead of food). One central building code and policy ends endless duplication and brings WW3 resilience to 1000 higher level. ☺☺

This enables all to have some compassion for the slaves who now get 9 hours of burning sun exposure that destroys their skin and eyes, and also inhale a huge amount of pesticides and crap. This kindness creates more unity. As people exercise they lose weight, they eat fewer fatty foods (that foster weight gain) and more produce from their garden, and need fewer immigrants. Gyms are replaced by gardens where people can volunteer to grow kale or whatever they want to grow and then get for free in exchange for hours of work there. Imagine, get fresh organic produce, not 5 day old from California, after you exercise: no such deal is offered in the filthy toxic air gyms. With electric cars and trucks, air will be clean and we can have better air quality outside and in the greenhouses in the cold climates that have gardens to prepare for the catastrophic gamma ray natural EMP. The gyms are full of mold, the shower facilities and lockers are super filthy for all gym companies. Most never use the shower, but the mold spreads to lockers and the interior. What kind of Christian ethics is that? YMCA is a joke, the only ethical physical activity is service to immortality for all, meaning helping others directly to live a longer life, not by 3 years from muscle tone after age 50 when you need exercise more to prevent muscle loss, but by 30000 years via immortality for all labs we build in every home eventually to replace the kitchen. So many gyms, so few decent houses. The youth needs a new ethos, education to help them listen only to ethical orders, to defend the eterni ethics society of trillions of ways to peace without torture, violence, war, killing. The goal is to no longer need any imports, to create the most eterni society where we don't care about how others live outside of US that much, fixing our own mess first by bringing violent crime down a trillion fold.

Mushrooms grow in darkness, so dead trees help during a NUCLEAR WINTER. Plant walnut (essential fats, plus wood) trees in your backyard to make it. We spend trillions with all these useless businesses, while we have 0 Preventive medicine Immortality City Parks with biomarker free screening, to save 3 trillion in healthcare and help all live to 500. We could ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ have 1 million immortality labs via centralized education (so fewer dorms on campus), and these labs have the 1 million biomarker centers too in some area, where 350 people or so come and monitor stuff to build the most high tech preventive system worldwide. Who cares about fellow Americans, living in jail like wobbly noisy condos, when they can drink useless wine? So, we got space and materials and utilities and stuff for another 250 million single family homes to free all condo dwellers from their life and have a temple of God in their home and need less of these businesses that enrich the guys who live in huge estates, and motivate the average Joe to innovate and discover how to triple lifespan 100 times faster, reduce crime 1000000 fold, allow natural population growth for 800 years (growth rates are slowing) and also more longevity businesses instead of filif toad IQ☺☺☺ businesses. How about Making America Honest Again? MAHA means Great. How about the Immortalist Party, instead of these Dems and Reps that talk of change but bring more of the same for 250 years? What kind of American dream or fake priorities are that? For the rich: Brits enslaved all, US founders enslaved the blacks? The rich enslave all today? Let cities and states ban all casinos, strip clubs, sex shops, vape shops, liquor, stadiums, empty churches, all churches if need be go online, cemeteries, wineries, beauty salons, empty houses, empty commercial, etc. Replace this with houses for all, so crime goes to 0 and also nice Immortality Centers, demolish sports courts or shrink them 50%, build Immortality and Meditation centers, to raise kids IQ – ball moving increases life 10 years max, science 10 trillion at least. Have some IQ. Let every family turn their single family house into a temple to God and we have real spirit, no more conmen or fake teachings. Let the centralization of immortality capitalism government sponsor a nonprofit that 3D prints 50 million small homes on smaller lots (2000 ft^2 max in addition to the house), (1 bedroom 400 ft^2, 2 bed 700, 3 bed 1000, 4 bed 1300, 5 bed 1600, 6 bed 2000 ft^2), 200 models to choose from, to house all apartment dwellers in new areas, to decongest, making bigger smaller towns and villages and allowing the great migration to start, to reduce traffic accidents from 40,000 a year to only 100. Domes of concrete are great, they withstand earthquakes, nuclear blasts, tornadoes, etc, so they can be made of thermonuke blast resistant new materials too. I and millions of people would love to move out of this congested Los Angeles and other metro areas, even people who live in houses and not condos or apartments. It's also lowering crime and leading to higher safety in case of nuclear attacks, as we're spread out: the enemy would need to deploy 100 million small nukes and nuke the entire land, which would make it hard to use the land, so this disincentivizes the enemy from even wanting to attack us more than nuclear weapons deter the enemy; if we're all in tall buildings, conquering America becomes 90000 times easier by enemies and the workers end up being winners, they live longer too, happier. Nukues prevented big conflicts for 80 years, and so can the immortalist housing policy: countries tend to invade sparsely populated areas left to rot while everyone lives in tall jail houses called skyscrapers. Half Americans live in a few cities and that is ultra dangerous, we can all die in 4 minutes. Europe faces the same dangers: most live in a few cities that can be nuked, so EU needs to unify, make 200 models of houses of much higher tech than now via implementing the 11 companies model and producing 300 million new houses in 10 years (3D print some parts for faster outcome), demolishing all apartments, condos, to spread and defend the land. With a unified EU immortalism immigration policy, EU has a chance to survive and promote the positive happy gentle soft healing nurturing Immortalist Anthem instead of the Bible-Quran-Torah terror.

Europeans need to see the democracy in action in South Africa, the homeless whites living in tents while other whites live in mansions and how Sweden has transformed as a result of non-immortalist immigration policies created by Jews (Bible Lev 25:44-6 command to enslave workers, to beat workers (slaves Exodus 21:20-1*) and* exterminate all nations Deut 7:1-16 'Jews want wiped out' using Zion Protocols methods and others) pretending to be Swedes: video 1, video 2 (gun violence), video 3 (gang wars, explosions, etc), video 4. The governments of Europe today (often run by monarchies who praise the Bible 1400 quotes of horror and terror) allow all to come in without any real education, tests, immortality for all tests, etc, same as in most countries. This anti-Eternal Universal Peace choice invites crime surges (no education is given into the way of the Immortalist Anthem, free of torture, beatings deified in the Bible/Torah (kids, workers, sex slaves) or Quran (sex slaves, mutilated infidels, kids, wives), physical violence, terror, inflicting pain on others) and allows "Zionist" parties to start delivering weapons to gentiles to kill each other for "Zionist" global domination as they incited Europeans to fight in WW1 to destroy the Turkish Empire and its occupation of Israel to start migration of Jews there, in WW2 to create Israel shortly after, in WW3 if people don't wake up, to make Israel 20 times bigger, etc. People will say it is offensive to call the Bible promoting parties, monarchies, etc 'Zionist', etc, but people who promote the violent Bible as Word of God are by definition Zionist, pro-Bible as it is, the Catholics even who always praise the 'God of Israel' – all those pastors praising Israel and the infallibility of the Bible ideas. Kindly note the difference between Bible and Immortalist Anthem (verses 8-40 especially clarify this) where not only immortalists are against torture and pain, but against even diminishing the happiness of anyone on Earth. To prevent the Zionist sponsored and Christianity/Islam promoted beatings and torture of workers (glorified in Ex 21:20-1 by all churches and synagogues who brainwash our kids that those violent 1400 quotes are the Word of God and ethics, in Quran (beating wives who're workers too, Quran 4:34) by all mosques), to prevent the enslavement of workers (Lev 25:44-6), the beatings of worker's kids (beat kids quotes (Bible/Torah), or beat kids quotes (Quran)) we need to end the religious aristocracy with airplanes and airports, huge mansions gotten thru fraud and the aristocracy who uses religion to bring global terror in any form, covert or overt, thru companies or national policies of puppet governments, etc, as the Catholic Church brought to many lands via the Inquisition. Check out the mansions of the so called Christians.

Demolish all condos and allow people to spread out. If asteroid hits a 20 million people metropolitan area, what will they do? Spread out so fewer die and more live to 2000. When you have your own house, you're 10 times happier, you don't get mad when 50 neighbors above or around you have water leaks, parties and all kinds of pipe noise issues or etc and that lower anger also prevents wars. By not having all people into one place that attracts first nuclear strike, not having so much anger that leads to wars indirectly (anger triggers all wars), by not having vastly empty areas that attract conventional invasions, we bring ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ much faster and, more importantly, maintain it a trillion years. By not allowing aristocrats to own more than 1 home until all own 1 house, we prevent wars done by aristocrats to destroy the worker class in the nations they incite to fight or live in 3-50 floor ghettos. The universal rights of humans include living to a trillion years old, in peace and love with everyone, as Immortalist Anthem explains. We want to end the genocide of workers who fall to their death during earthquakes, video 2, video 3. Floods from tsunamis also can kill poor people, so we need to raise houses, in all flood prone areas, not just in 6' (6ft, 2m) above sea level average ground elevation South Florida where they use gravel to raise houses by 5' sometimes, using rocks/dirt or stilts/pillars, 2-18' above ground (use it as a storage unit or garage, see amazing images 14-20' pillars here), to prevent death, and if few resources exist, limit to 3 floors, instead of 20 to prevent massive deaths due to landslides, or earthquake. South Florida is basically a flood plain, so those guys deal with yearly floods. Many deaths happen in mountain areas because people don't realize once 100 years a big flood comes (no records exist). We need to stop our depraved sports and do some exercise to raise houses: use rock to raise foundation 4-6 ft to be safe from flash floods due to rivers nearby, mini floods cause landslides, so we need much safer codes for where it is safe to build a house, how to reinforce hill to prevent landslide. Ever year thousands die due to floods due to obviously ultra risky houses on easy to slide land areas. This is due to filif snail IQ☺☺☺ policies. By 2100, a big tsunami may kill many due to a huge quake, if we don't prepare. Tall buildings can help during big floods perhaps, but only if the flood doesn't take down the whole structure. If you go in any flood prone area, use pillars at least, 20 or more to raise it 6-8 ft, since repairs and removing mold is very expensive and a waste of time, takes weeks to recover all lost property, work if you make it without injury.

People got free time at work and can volunteer for Immortality Building Inc, the new Habitat for Humanity like company and nonprofit of the US government who helps all build their own house and others, to demolish condos once all move to houses, etc. You will be surprised how efficient people become, finishing stuff in half the time, just to have 20 hours to build houses for all, since credits allow them to move out of their existing dilapidated house into a new one, so the old can be demolished. The more volunteering, the more credits for a house built, all stop acting busy and doing real change. All complain about 'no construction workers', let's see when we allow people to use the resources available, all will work so hard to get out of their "jail like" housing. You will instantly have the equivalent of 20 million workers, working with so much energy, to build all houses and needed pipes, infrastructure, water treatment plant, etc even some of their free time, instead of watching TV and complaining about issues nobody fixes. Stop aristocrats from "jailing workers" on job site if all was done and free time is left. If they volunteer for Immortality Building Inc, they still get paid by the company until fired and government hires the new enthusiastic worker as house builder to improve the nation. Fear not, nobody has to fear they would be fired, because the government can hire anyone fired because of volunteering. Gently vote for the Immortalist Party now to create the Eternia Volunteer Network and bring real change. We will rebuild America one street at a time, create new cities too. Let us just have more humanity and gentle tender soft nurturing graceful universal loving kindness.☺☺ The workers are the unstoppable cosmic force of change who brings Immortality for All. Actually, we can prove that we via Immortality Building Inc can make more houses than all the private companies combined (1.4 million in 2023), as greed is not the motivation, but Immortality for All. The Cosmic Limitless☺☺ Energy of the Universe, unleashes its infinite might and brings true realization. Habitat.org builds or repairs 600 homes in California, Immortality Building Inc would build, renovate 7 million a year in USA in a sea change from "all for me" mentality now. Over time, it will surpass in quality and speed all other private companies and bankrupt them all.☺☺

This immortalism wave of FREE THE SLAVES NOW allows us to demolish condos, to make space for a few houses in those places in the city where people remain and we raze useless enterprises of depravity, ☺abysmal IQ☺ and vanity. Living to 200 means all have high standard of living, higher than the rich in all other nations; lifespan matters, not $. World Peace in 3 months, 0 violent crime, living to 400 is more important than a hair salon every 300 people, come on, one can trim hair at home. We can rebuild USA into the Image of Immortality for All, Freedom to Live to a Trillion for All. So, all other parties are a joke, versus Immortality or Eternity Party, because without life, nothing exists, who cares about fake democracy and all these fake parties in the multi party countries where all are controlled by the spy agencies? Money has no value if all we can buy is fake news and toxic food, products due to decentralization. Democracy is 0 torture, universal healthcare and the infinite extension of our happy healthy lifespan: not 98 lifespan for rich, 71 for poor, but 200 for all, as all help all, and the poor are not tortured.☺ US lifespan is lower than all developed nations, since we're slaves of the rich living longer. After helping kill millions, with the help of 300,000 USA-USSR-China, etc officials, soldiers, civilians making munitions (US for South Vietnam, USSR-China for North Vietnam), they happily live to 100 (all torture on gentiles and/or poor, so they die at 50, the war supporters at 100) and make 0 effort

(Russia-China never talked about Peace in 3 months, blaming USA for 'imperialism' always, how about everyone stops the blame game and bring World Peace?) to bring ETERNAL World Peace in 3 months: note the fake articles claiming Kissinger secretary of state can dupe the military, etc to provide a scapegoat for the military industrial complex's actions. The military remotely controls the government in every nation, who're trained by spy agency/military. Disregard the article lies about military being duped, the military dupes all. Kaganovich helped kill 5 million Ukrainians and lived to 97, died in 1991, "long live USSR?". Kissinger helped kill many Vietnamese. The 'Satanists' running the USA and other nations are trained to not care about burning "care" in this human sacrifice ritual, so they're prepared to become genocidal murderers creating wars of human sacrifice, each war is a song to Lucifer, their God, so they keep creating new wars. We're not allowed by the 'Satanists' to dream of Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months. Unfortunately, they're not just of one nation, they're in all nations, all war mongers, violence supporters who sometimes role play that they're "fighting satanism", that they love Jesus, Buddha, Krishna, Allah, etc. Check out the human sacrifice related Bible quotes.

4.1.9.4. ►►►► fake sports: Sports that don't extend lifespan, but actually shrink it in the long run versus real sports. They keep palatial aristocrats rich and in power, slaves ever lower in IQ and short lived. To further destroy America, the fake spirituality leaders of USA encouraged everyone to practice brutal sports, instead of service to World Peace in 3 months, like making World Peace in 3 months kits that we ship to 150 nations by huge aircraft or drop them, so all 2 billion people without access to mostly "be an ☺abysmal IQ☺ slave of aristocrats" content of the Internet, can listen to peaceful music and create a wave of loving kindness that brings Peace and undoes the bad vibe created. Let's drop 4 million mp3 players from a C5 aircraft (25g each, 5 g parachute, 30000/ton, 135 ton, so 4 million/aircraft) to thousands of villages and towns, to start a New World of Peace. World Peace in 3 months songs, no religion brainwashing. Let's end the War Department and create Eternium. When others were homeless, bombed and maimed, we played these sports and cared not, how "Christian", we played infernal mp3 songs of aggression, sometimes even in aerobic exercise class playing restless music that brings war. Instead of peaceful stuff, the poor restless nations get more violent music concerts, USA's Christian ethos in action. Why not build a house, a nice well, a pipe to bring water to dry areas from sea and ocean? Were we not supposed to give water to the thirsty, house to homeless, etc? If we want to worship God, Eternal Life, or want to be healthy and live to a trillion, we need to use our brains, not just muscles (as when we stretch, do gentle aerobic exercise that require no gyms, sports facilities that could house others, gentle yoga (be careful with yoga injuries), tai chi, qi gong, pushups, jogging, walking, house building, immortality lab maintenance, chores).

Brain use to generate the most eterni emotions, while we play eterni music, during gentle exercise is the worship of God, of the Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months, while rushed movements are the worship of violence, war, and the vibe of "Satan". In the context of the pathological violence on Earth, any restless sport (98% of them) is a song to "Satan", a support of murder, a low vibe engine, a sin. The only ethical sport is that which directly supports World Peace in 3 months since all humans may disappear in 10 seconds. Please stop sinning, end sports news now. Let us gently be a little honest: when our gentle brains are used to the gentlest eterni forms of exercise, to imbueing everything with gentle tender soft nurturing graceful universal loving kindness, they form an impenetrable barrier against shouting, bad music, killing & violent crime that thus disappear. Therefore, those who worship tranquility, working diligently for Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months, become angels worthy of the happiest Immortality and trillion year lifespan technologies. It's around them that the Immortals or "Angels" will hover, and gather. The rest, as Tao Te Ching explains in Chapter 67, will perish at 100 or 200, as Heaven arms with compassion those it would not see destroyed. This refers to interstellar civilizations too, not just individuals. ☺☺☺ Will we disappear like a trillion alien groups? If we look at our sports, it seems 100% likely. Wake up USA, before Heaven intervenes.

Given the context of eternal war on Earth, volleyball, football, basketball, rugby, soccer, hockey, ice skating, pickleball, baseball, cricket, tennis, boxing, martial arts etc are ways to worship death at 85, or War, Genocide, Demons, Baal, Satan in every school. Institutionalized violent 'Satanism', under the guise of secularism. Let's not be naive, the '0 IQ' 'satanism', genocide in disguise, blatant violation of all human rights can disguise as religion ritual too: watch, not just sports of a 'very evil' nature, like bloody slapping, boxing, UFC, martial arts, infernal music. What has ethics, increasing the lifespan of all by 200 years, etc, or religion to do with pain and suffering of babies during full immersion baptism or simulating cannibalism, eating blood of Jesus and his body every day at Mass? Pickleball alone can lead to a billion dollars in injuries, while not really doing anything for others: a gentle exercise is far lower risk, no healthcare costs, and doing something useful. The most basic human right is that of life, the most basic ethics is to defend that right first, ☺☺☺ i.e. World Peace in 3 months, not muscle building and moving balls. The most violent thuggish "sports" vibration has taken hold of the the entire planet. Nobody notices it anymore, the worldwide militaries have desensitized everyone in US, etc. Killing in video games is among the most popular hobbies, we're going downhill faster than ever. A change of priorities is needed in every nation, if humans are to survive. Every school with huge sports facilities (most of them) has become "Satan's temple": the hoop and ball kids worship, not the use of energy to bring Peace in 3 months, what a spirituality, empty, selfish, restless, depraved. Instead of dropping 22$ mp3 players with preloaded peaceful music, to help nations heal and love the USA, the 0 IQ "demon possessed (watch human sacrifice simulation officials attend)" (sorry, I don't believe in demons, trying to use religious terms to relate to believers) generals have dropped endless bombs. What sports did we practice under the Holy Guidance of

'Freemason' (mason=builder) Presidents of 250 years, Freemasons, to construct the buildings (overseas, or in USA build some things needed for those places) for 3000 relaxation, meditation centers of Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months in 90 nations before any war broke out, where people listen to peaceful music, relax and discover the science of nutrition, etc, instead of being given fake Mormon temples, etc to lower IQ and create more conflict? Why not send mp3s about || Immortality for All ||, I wrote on a forum in 2003 about sending mp3s or CDs to Iraqis to help them enjoy a peaceful vibe, promoting this peaceful music before any anger or war desire arrives. The world militaries remotely control governments to instigate wars, torture, make rape videos: has any USA President played peaceful meditative truly serene music, peaceful lyrics and/or sung with the Youth World Peace in 3 months every time a foreign visitor arrived? Why not? They talk a lot of nonsense, but 0 eterni tone and song on World Peace in 3 months and Physical Immortality for All. No, it's all about more weapon shipments, macho made up religion marches, *un*eterni average tone. "Pure Satan or war worship" the Christian may say.

The evil US gov (generals rule each nation using the aristocracy of spies and "intelligence" community) has never promoted peaceful music, a gentle World Peace in 3 months and immortality for all language, only wars to bring peace in some 3 billion years, trade to get whatever they want: cheap goods and 3 million spy stations via 1. nonprofits, 2. fake churches (Protestant origninating in USA, like the fake Adventists, Mormon churches (miracles of Ellen White and Joseph Smith were faked) that copy the Italian Mafia (Vatican who helped kill 20 million in Catholic-Protestant wars alone) model of brainwashing that the 1450 violent quotes are "word of God", to keep nations extremely low in IQ, naive and easy to plunder, like other nations use other religions or Protestant denominations for the same goals), 3. businesses? Has any 'Satanist' (death worship) US President ever talked about physical Eternal Life for all? Only about eternal 'nonphysical life after you're dead from slavery'. Yeah, sure, as if anyone can prove that eating wafers will get you there. Who needs lies? Why not play World Peace Songs with lots of young people, live, at every Eternium military briefing? Most US music exported via concerts is ultra restless and violent, it perpetuates war. Do they all worship Satan, all freemasons with killing imagery rituals, like freemason George Washington? Freemasons swear to kill in gruesome ways if anyone divulges their 'secrets'. Endless bloody revolutions for centuries? Is this their craft, the Freemason craft, blood spilling...? Turks killing goats in freemason lodge? What else they kill? Millions of innocent civilians under the pretext of "liberation from isms"?☺☺☺ Always creating a new 'ism" to create 200 wars over it, never an "ism" of the Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months. See the deception of millennia? All bloodthirsty empires craving for cash. It's time for a quiet peaceful transformation and evolution to undo the millions of years vibe of killings and wars. Does anyone see how they use religion wars and isms wars to enrich their pockets thru deception? Why not listen to peaceful mp3s?

4.1.9.5. ►►►► Fake deaths is another trick, to hide life expectancy: no stress, as they lie, fool everyone. All stress for the poor, which means 20% lower lifespan of course, due to poor sleep and food. A lot of these lifespan charts are fake, to hide COVID19 origins, attract or repel immigrants, make themselves appear worse or better. Then we got fake news of fake casts (roommates or anyone will wear a cast or limp their leg around you, fake it, to deceive you), fake leg limp, fake disease, to deceive, manipulate, make people become curious when someone with a leg issue (spy or soldier disguised as 'model', 'youtuber', 'travel enthusiast' (delivering $ or collecting spy info) or 'actor', 'singer' delivering cash to spy network) is forcing themselves in social media into your timeline or profile comments via an intermediate fake celebrity. CIA can give any spy 30 million followers, all bots mostly. Watch out, they're trying to enslave you, don't fall prey so easily, to their tricks. By their fruits (bad music or depraved posts) hyena energy, you shall know them. You only need to listen to 99% of world music to know what goes on, how different from civilization it is. Only 'depraved' spies role play negatively to destroy the human quantum field and lead others into bad vibes: we ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ understand they're mind slaves, robotic slaves with 0 free will, who're tortured to death if they insist there are 1 trillion ways to Peace or diminishing crime without negative role playing or war. USA is ruled by unelected generals who control every branch of government 100% thru the 17+ federal torture agencies. Same happens in 100+ countries: leaders are puppets for deceiving the public: # 20, fake elections explains it all. 100000 spies, cops, undercover agents fake their deaths each year to get a new identity and job. On 12-17-2024 Ukraine reportedly killed the chief of Russia's nuclear defense forces, who was a "slave living in a tiny apartment", while Putin/his family live like Emperors in the Kremlin, etc. Are we that abysmal in IQ ☺☺☺ to believe the most important military person lives in a non-gated community where anyone can kill him? These are fake news about the fake war. All evidence suggests the general killing is fake, and he was not even near that site but they made some fake videos to confuse the enemy.

4.1.9.6. ►►►► fake traffic accidents*: they transport dented cars and make a report that a collision occurred when none did, they took some junk yard cars, or had 2 cops drive 2 damaged cars and bump into each other gently or strongly. Another trick is* fake mass shootings, some people say most of them are fake if not all, just Hollywood special effects, cops doing it to fake their deaths and get new fake FBI/CIA identities (cops "die", i.e. get a new job under a new cover, with a different agency, dye is like new paint, on a car makes car hard to recognize, people with new clothes, hair style, town, story, fake job, etc are hard to recognize). Serbia in 2023 had 10 times more guns per capita registered than its neighbor Romania, so the police staged 2 fake mass shootings to cause the reduction of firearms by 10 fold. They could have convinced people to donate guns without the mass shootings and fear, just by explaining the immortalism values of gentle tender grace for all. See fake miracles videos to understand how easy is to fake all we see on TV and to distract a billion people from their 'enslaved status' with fake events (it's like stage magic, you misdirect attention, so people don't see and question what is going on), though some could be real, in some countries, using brain destroyed folks). Some say they do it to get population deal with some crisis now and then, to be more prepared, battle ready, see Machiavelli ideas of 'mentally and physically prepared citizens' to defend the nation.

4.1.9.7. ►►►► fake statistics: manipulate data on what is reported and provide totally misleading graphs to make people believe a lie, in any field, including science papers. Fake crime reports create fake 'bad people, dangers' ('bad' that the police create via gadgets, sleep deprivation and torture) to be feared, in order to justify the repression of the people by whoever controls the police and spy agencies of a country. Fake angry/negative radio-TV tone and content floods the people with ideas on how to misbehave, they know uneterni tone will diminish or shut down critical thinking and higher hypothesis thinking patterns in order to slow scientific or truth finding progress*; this* demoralizes and completely destroys a society so a minority (those who control the top positions in military, spy agencies) takes control, in order to make people angry, rebellious, incite a crime spike, one race against another, to justify increased oppression of the 2 races, in order to spread chaos and justify military or other intervention and slavery, increase terror/fear, keep many jailed/sleep deprived for decades, malnourished, etc.

4.1.9.8. ►►►► fake appearance: spy agencies or spy agencies like, not all members need to look the same, they can look like locals of all countries, thru intermarriage of parents so offspring looks like locals, wigs *(*or new hair color (fake blondes vs real, real blondes have slightly darker roots and hair in winter when less UV exists, fake blondes have very dark roots always, blondes wear sunglasses more often due to having less eye melanin that protects against UV, in order to prevent macular degeneration) new curl or style, density, length*)*, plastic surgery (pictures show how a Chinese can look Caucasian with blue eyes, 100% unrecognizable, talking about getting a new identity... for spies; recall, next time you see a "Mexican, Black or European with brown, green or even blue eyes", she may be a Chinese: thus via Eterni Bank, USA's only Bank, the only way to purchase items is via this Bankcard, that you only get if you're legal and get all DNA tests passed to make sure your appearance matches your DNA; can't buy anything in USA without a DNA test to find all spies on US soil; all 35 million illegals will need to go elsewhere as none can buy food) or other skin whitening (lead rich Chinese products for their Phillipino "friends"), yellowing, darkening *tech (new racial appearance, even eating carrots, greens, etc with high carotenoids makes skin orange-yellow, darker for some)*, makeup application (lady totally changes her appearance with a wig, makeup to look like Einstein, Lennon, Deep), contacts *(*or new eye color (many less known natural colors exist: lavender, pink, yellow, etc) surgery to make it blue: stromamedical.com or kerato.com (see 2 min video, 30 minutes, 12K, not FDA approved, but helps spies, yet can leave people blind if doctor errs or complications occur) or other methods spies use*) or "1 mile (not 900) away" remote control* via gadgets disguised as everyday objects, dental crowns, implants*, etc that make spy behave differently on their own, change thought, accent etc to sound more local)*. Jews or any spies can fake their accent to sound like a Brit, Italian, Russian and pretend to be so, or an Italian Jew can pretend to be Italian. Spies also can pose as dogs, to evade border checks and prevent extermination during tense times when cops look for people to kill. These spies can even create(s) fake riots (all/most are paid cops; why do French protest retiring at 64, when most retire at 64 and to live to 500 we retire at 450; or fake agitators start protest to incite Arabs or Jews to protest and get arrested like this Jewish professor arrested during anti-genocide protests against Israel as she tried to protect students), fake violence incidents videos (undercover cop or informant teens, adults stage it, cop plays video in reverse, edits it, so punches appears real, but is fake, read # 10. where fake war video is explained) or fake conflicts, fake crime statistics to deter people from moving into an area or to provide cover for cops doing spy work instead of policing the "huge crime that is reported 10 times bigger than it is"; hire 15 cops to stage various scenes after hours and what took 9 hours to shoot is presented as one 2 minute video, just like in the fake miracles section of Chris Angel etc. Note how blurry a video is. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

4.1.9.9. ►►►► fake protests: all protests are organized by governments, local or foreign, local only in the US or powerful nations, meaning, unlike China where workers have real protests about unpaid wages due to Chinese fake communism where 0.01% own 58% of wealth, in the US all protests are very well staged. Protests have been used for millennia by the clever kings and governments as controlled opposition: the aristocratic gangsters, like George Washington and his freemasons etc, control the masses, the 2 political parties or 10 in other nations, incite the masses to protest about nonsense, like abortion or whatever LGBTQ rights, which are irrelevant in a society that has sex for procreation only and focuses on trillion year lifespan for all. Likewise, these same looters and bandits mind control the naive masses to protest about "equal pay", say women vs men, while they never protest about universal pay: 1 pay for all people, since compared to Immortals, God being one of them, who live to the age of 10^{100} repeated 100x, every human is roughly equally stupid/evil relatively speaking (since all are infinite trillions of times more stupid), so all deserve the same material resources for survival: shelter, transport, food, healthcare. However, because people are naturally conditioned over eons to focus on reward and work harder or more seriously☺☺☺, passionately on something if rewarded, we can create a reward that is different than money: access to longevity products, supplements, eterni foods and also managerial roles, based on the Immortality Credit Score. What is there to protest about when our whole civilization shuns upon shouts that are part of every protest, when all have equal pay, equal job stress as the 11 companies section and equality section explain???? No crime exists, since there is nothing to be angry about, every person's income has separate parts to ensure they cannot buy alcohol and run out of money for rent, food, clothing, personal care, healthcare, etc, these are minimums for each category that cannot be used for any other purchase, to prevent the main cause of theft: lack of money and income inequality (envy). Death penalty for the slightest violent act means zero violent crime in no time. No more protests about "violent crime", since none exists. Any theft is met with 9000 times the amount stolen fine, paid by weekend work for the rest of one's life. Nothing is thus stolen, how can you steal when all make the same money and work 40 hours/week in the 11 companies via the most efficient system that removes the need for working 45-70 hr/wk? Let everyone work to keep their health perfect, 20 hours a week, that's 60 hours of work to create a healthy society, not one of obese sick people. The immortalist society is the most just society, and the kindest by a trillion fold at least as the Anthem shows, society that has ever existed on this planet of cannibals. Money can be used to do a lot of evil, but supplements can only be used to improve your own health and a management position (if so trusted), can only be used for good, as every manager is monitored by 100 others. Men are 70% of workplace deaths due to taking the most deadly jobs, should they be paid more? If we want equality, we need all 28 forms of equality, not just pay: we can't have men die as steel workers and ladies bullshit us on TV making 10 million for telling us lies.

That is the subjugation of men by retarded bitches from hell,☺☺☺ who have the audacity to destroy the offspring with lethal makeup that alters the eggs and reproductive organs and take chemists and waste their life to make colorful makeup, mascara, fake eyelashes etc for these "gnat IQ" folks on TV and all young women, instead of for giving all people lifespan of 4000 years old. The male bitches from hell also destroy offspring via alcohol, caffeine, weed, smoking that destroy the offspring via the sperm damage, which can be as bad as women doing it during pregnancy. Alcohol drives violent crime and yet these pigs never protest about their genocide of the future generation by their alcoholism. Hypocrisy, all these drunkard politicians belong to lifetime labor camps, they have sabotaged the prohibition with Jewish help. Never did these drunkard serial killer Jews and Brits from CIA, FBI stage protests (they initiate 100% of US protests by remote control) to end alcohol or nicotine use, caffeine use (by males, females) during conception attempt year, by females during pregnancy, lactation, to bring violent crime down 1 trillion fold, World Peace in 3 months, zero violent crime in 1-5 years. The CIA, FBI gluttons never staged protests of the masses against restaurants, because they are pigs. Any person who has the least character would not allow one single restaurant to exist in USA until there is zero homeless and zero violent crime, but when animals rule, banditry is all pervasive. The souless beast is only concerned with taste and hedonism, so our FBI-CIA made videos, movies are full to the brim with sex outside of procreation and violence. That's why we need a real reform, we dissolve FBI, CIA, all cop departments☺☺☺ and create one Unified Immortality Nurturing Agency, the Universal police. Did these cretins ever protest that Border and Postal Agencies lack 5 million dogs (Americans got 90 million, wouldn't donate 5) to sniff every letter and package in US 3 times to make sure no drug ever enters? No, because the rich Finance the Drug Trade! They stage all protests folks, wake up! That's why no protest ever attacked a Multimillionaire or Billionaire Mansion, only workers! The 'makeup fanatics' bitches are like the "tomato IQ" guys who subjugate women to waste life with ticket sales at retarded sports events, car racing, rodeos, and other male hobbies that don't do anything useful, since kids don't exercise, they just watch bipedal chimps run after a ball. Instead of those women working on the chemistry of eterni foods, they waste time in retail to please the aristocratic minded sewer devilish men who subjugate women. Pig headed ladies also subjugate endless women who have to sell makeup and toxic beauty products, like crocodiles from 80,000 BC ☺☺☺, instead of doing things 900x more intelligent. Beauty is living to 5000, not piercing your skin and painting oneself with toxins. Men and women subjugate each other, due to their infinite cretinism, and live to 80 as a result. These same jungle chimps now program all men, women to wear 40 ankles, 30 rings, on nose, eyebrows, bellies, vaginas, penises, etc, 400 tattoos, etc to prove how infernally ugly they are, wasting metal that could have been used to triple human lifespan, wasting medical resources to deal with 700 infections from piercings only chimps need.

Capitalism is the epitome of imbecility, because everything is drowning in bureaucracy, due to 33 million companies, 20000 governments, endless admin, no research on how to make all live to 4000. Everyone is wasting their life, like the dumbest morons in a lake of hippos of Escobar drug lord. Acting busy, like chained dogs waving their tail to get their next paycheck. Pathetic. Look busy☺☺☺☺☺☺☺. Follow the pastors, they are all informants of the Spy Agencies, FBI, who keep tabs on the workers, that's why out of millions of pastors not a single one has taught the basic ethics of this book. All clergy are charlatans, to put it simply, puppets of the aristocrats duping us all. Same for shamans. No real pastors exist in US, we're a morally 100% bankrupt nation, spiritually too. We don't need pastors, God can talk to everyone, without any clergy needed. God is within? The rich have corrupted everyone, so the oppressed have started to oppress the oppressed too. The most ridiculous thing is our so called "Universities" have "Divinity Schools" that teach the ultimate bullshit, faked miracles and a super watered down ethics that has zero impact on society and the violent crime rate. You can't have zero violent crime if you spend 1.4 trillion on pure garbage, 1.4 trillion on restaurants, 1.4 trillion on healthcare corruption, 300 billion on useless remodels, etc and you just spend 1 billion on real stuff that can end violent crime. It cannot happen. These criminals take 10-15 times more than the min federal wage to teach a fraudulent ethics and religion, all invented by aristocrats, while teaching us parables about visiting a restaurant and being kind in a chat. The clergy ought to steal no money from the poor, by having more pay than min federal wage, but they have no humility, only desire to con☺☺☺ and steal, to utter falsehoods. They who claim to be reps of Infinite Ethics engage in outright theft, scoff those who call for Universal Pay, in Light of the Infinite evil and stupidity of all vs the Infinite Lifespan God. Never do these "clergy" clowns mention that restaurants have no place in a society with violent crime, whose first and foremost duty is to eliminate that crime before any permit is given to a restaurant for GLUTTONS, let alone casinos, strip clubs, liquor stores, pubs, pet stores/hospitals/ parks, bars, lotteries, beauty salons, sports venues. The first human right is that of being alive and not attacked by anyone, as that can risk your life. All other bullshit, rights to violent religion, sex shops, concerts, anything is 1 trillion times less important and that has to be stipulated in the World Constitution based on the Immortalist Anthem, for the happy arrival of Eternal Universal Peace and Immortality for All. ☺☺☺. Our priorities are in disarray, chaotic, nonsensical, illogical, pathetic, anti-life and only designed at gun point by the aristocrats, so they can sell us trillions of crap a year, while not even 1$ the beasts make brings any lower violent crime. We are programmed robots, let to slaughter, by the rich, who could care less about zero violent crime, as they live in ultra gated palaces with 800 cameras and public areas lack even 1 camera. Every business type should have a priority score based on its contribution to Immortality for All. One national unified policy via the end of 20,000 different policies and governments. ☺☺☺

☺ These animals wearing robes to deceive us all forget their obesity and gluttony is the main reason for the crime waves: the clergy corrupt the whole nation. Gluttony makes clergy selfish, so they don't care about others who're homeless, beaten, so in their sermons ending homelessness, violent crime, drug use via Catholic mafia invasion over the border, is not a topic of concern. They love to be agents of the cartels killing millions with drugs. Are they "demon" possessed? Any gangster is a pastor these days. Many get rich quick. ☺☺ A spiritual or ethical person places the Life, the most basic human right, to Life itself, to not being attacked, above the desire for tasty food for Harvard Divinity School morons who need deadly food, who lead the congregation to blood eating worship and burned meat toxic overload, due to laziness (hard to press a button to cook with a pressure cooker) and ignorance of 4th grader chemistry. These blood drinking "clergy" of rat IQ scoff at science, EVs often, at the science that would enable their terrorist rotten souls to become humane, to stop calling genocide, mass rape, human sacrifice, arson, kid beating with rods, kid eating, slave beating to death the Word of God as genocidal rapist psychos alone would, to stop eating blood and eat eterni foods of the 1st of the 11 The National Unified companies, Eterni Food Inc. The clergy encourage war, claim genocidal Bible quotes are 'Word of God', when the real God knows trillions of ways to peace without violence. These frauds encourage protests too (which are expressions of savagery that don't exist in civil societies, let alone spiritual ones), but do nothing of substance to bring zero violent crime. When was the last time clergy☺☺☺ told people "stop smoking, drinking, coffee, restaurants, chimp sports, movies and instead help end violent crime in 2 years by real sports?"

They don't, they are just losers, informants and spoiled brats, too "hypocritical" to be honest: violent crime is created by many things, including the scriptures they brainwash us with ☺☺☺. 400,000 churches sitting empty most of the time, while 750,000 are homeless. Waste of cement. Only criminals agree to physical churches when so many are homeless. Online church is enough. Don't worry, God hears our prayers from any location, God, Immortals need no rituals or fees. ☺☺☺

The rich don't want that just society of real peace, zero violence, violence is the only way the rich can force all to live as slaves while they steal it all. The rich only want power for the 1% and slavery for the 99%, the rich, thru the gov they control 100%, will stage endless protests about LGBT, this or that, irrelevant reforms that touch only 0.001% of their profits, if even that.☺ The proof is obvious to any 3 year old, but the adults stopped thinking, they just tattoo, pierce ☺☺☺ themselves, dye their hair, wear eyelashes, 14 necklaces, 5 bracelets to show just how incredibly stupid they are. Of what use is jewelry: Japan wears least of these and live 20 years longer than Indians who wear the most jewelry. Most people are stuck in the Neolithic stage of thinking. No protesters ever attack the mansions of the aristocrats, they attack fellow workers instead, they never demand universal pay, etc. You know, nobody works 50-50000 times more than others to justify their salaries. Min fed wage is 15K a year, so why do TV bullshitters make 1000 times more, 15 million a year, while others make 30 million or 40, with radio show morons making even 90 million, 6000 times that, for basically destroying USA and keeping it as a concentration camp run by the Bastards making Billions as TV-Radio Bullshitters and their gang. Do you think those Bandits will ever Protest on TV about them making 2000 times more than people risking their life to make steel daily? No, they are all frauds who belong to California Farms to pick up produce for the rest of their life. All topics of protests are irrelevant in the big picture, since with an ethical government those would be non-issues. Protests are a form of humiliation of the 99% subjugated by the 1%, i.e. the 1% ignores the 99% so completely, there is no reviews.gov to voice the 99%'s opinions in a civilized way, so then the 99% are mind controlled to march and shout like Hitler in protests, led by gov instigators (cops, FBI, CIA, etc, or even the 1%) to violence, so the 1% can arrest more of the 99%, while creating the illusion of freedom to protest about irrelevant junk that won't change anything, since all elections are faked via mind control, actual faking (if brainwashing by TV ads fails), social engineering. The diabolical gangsters who run USA shout like Hitler at rallies or protests, inciting the whole world to imitate their grotesque culture of infernal violence, of protests thru which they overthrow violently endless governments. It would be easier to bring Peace by creating a zero violence society right here in USA via universal pay, real education, ethics videos in eterni tones daily until age 25, and 11 companies for all, that others would imitate and thus remove any need for CIA protests, deaths in other nations due to endless revolutions, insurrections the gangster aristocrats sponsor worldwide in order to subjugate the 99% and turn them into cattle. We never had eterni tone by government in USA, the tone of kindness, let alone eterni content of speech or eterni action, as explained in the tone of politicians section, the people are led to slaughter by liars who repeat the same mistakes of all former empires.☺☺☺ The more savage a society is, the more protests occur, when kindness exists there are zero protests, as protesting is a savage criminal action☺☺☺: inciting all to shout like Hitler, to use tones of violence, negative emotions, to stop traffic, etc, and this is very disruptive, but the evil 1% encourage this inferno as it keeps the workers fighting workers instead of their common enemy, the 1% who fakes it all.

Protests can appear to be made by people of a certain fake appearance too, to make it falsely appear they're protesting, when they're not. Protests can also be 100% fake, made by cops against cops doing fake riots. Talking of fake anti-Putin staged protests, organized by the communists to increase communist ideology fan base (by the communist Putin pretending to be a Christian), some think Alex Navalny is Putin's best friend, a KGB agent, role playing he criticizes a fake mansion KGB built for 'Putin' (Russian military) on the Black Sea. Military bases use 'huge rich estates' as cover above ground, they make pics of him looking tired, though not clear how much he's tortured, as he doesn't expose what goes on really globally and in Russia, only saying cliches like "one government is corrupt", when the real issues are never talked about: corruption is in all governments, huge violence in scriptures supported by all governments who allow "freedom of violent cults" naming themselves 'religion', torture used by all governments, so it's clear he's mind controlled by one or more spy agencies to just say a lot of cliches and create illusion of 'freedom to protest in Russia' – where all protests are organized by the government, as in most nations: it is the controlled opposition principle mentioned before in the spy section and fake elections. If Russia has one Putin 180 acres mansion (and more for some billionaires who may not even be Russian) that the 'Putin critic' talks about, in USA, the aristocracy has 1000s of such GIGANTIC 50+ ACRE mansions, and nobody protests 2300 acres palace of Mark Zuckerberg, or 2130 acre part-time Oprah living estate) or even knows much about them. If anyone mentions it, they're tortured, as slaves are to die at 70 working 90 hours/wk. So, let's get real, do you really think 'Putin put in power his friends', like Navalny claims? Or was that how KGB staged everything, with all those 'billionaires to become' being all part of one KGB team, to make it seem as 'Putin is promoting his friends and they seek money alone'? Do you think Chinese billionaires are anything but PLA spies? What if all US billionaires are spies too? You can't become rich without approval from the spy agencies who need to concoct your biography and your rise to "world celebrity" status: true in every country: how you started the trillion dollar company in your garage with 'God's help only'.☺☺☺ Is USA free or less free than Russia? Don't you see it's all a scam? The wolves protect the hen. Nobody ever protests about the 8 million mini-mansions..., while others live like pigs, 30000 in 1 acre. CNN is 'criticizing

Putin', what a joke, it's clearly fake, and a way to make the slaves in USA feel good they're not tortured as much as those tortured daily in some houses or prisons using various methods. CNN never mentions what happens to 2 million US citizens in jail, who act as scapegoats so that 15 million aristocratic Americans live in imperial wealth, see the materials for single family homes for all, the easy way to end all jails. To achieve peace, we can't have any jails, violent music/literature. The aristocracy (spies) uses true/fake foreign events, e.g. Navalny, to distract attention of the slaves, from what happens in their own country on a vaster scale, so slavery remains true. It's a trick they use in every nation. Make a country that may have even less torture/capita than yours appear so evil, to hide the atrocities the local government does against its own citizens, by denial and distraction. The citizens then run to the CIA wolves, who "protect" them against that 'dangerous foreign country'. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

4.1.9.10. ►►►► fake satellite photos: and news about troop movements, incidents to create fake narrative about 'country ready to invade x' etc, fake criticism of countries (to justify invasion to loot resources or while secretly agreeing before event with the criticized event if a secret ally role playing 'enemy', or after remotely controlling (or cultivating via spies, manipulating since childhood, etc) 'the dictator' leaders decades, centuries or days ago to create the 'bad regime/religion' or to do what was just being criticized, as a pretext for war or antagonism to control the planet. Yalta US-Russia met and divided world in 2 camps secretly; so regional or superpower A can criticize B superpower for bullying others, while in fact encouraging B to bully (via mind control) to increase arm sales to B's enemies who're to be protected from the evil 'bully' B – allowing A to dominate both B and B's enemies via 'divide and conquer'), fake movies (videos presented as real), news to increase population 'war preparedness and discernment' out of genuine belief it helps to have more cannon fodder to defend top spies (the hidden leaders who control all government, courts, senators, media, companies, etc, some who sincerely may believe they're the 'best' country), even if it may not help humanity much (not all fake news are to 'enslave', some are to 'empower citizens into being better soldiers' to defend the spies at all costs even if humanity goes extinct, humanity as a whole is not always the main or a concern), fake border changes (area between country A and B moves back and forth, due to fake wars created by hidden minority Z controlling both nations, enabling minority Z (posing as B via fake appearance) to repress (directly or by remote control of B citizens) country A majority or gigantic minority in that area with each change of border, by instigating A against B, controlling spy service and making B believe A tortures them and viceversa: Z pretends to be A when A gets that area, to exterminate B, the intelligentsia, to enslave both by maximizing A-B animosity; can also be fake repression if the 2 nations pretend to be enemies and Z scenario is not there), ☺☺☺

never targets the main 5 Russian satellite launchpads, showing it's a staged fake war, since satellites are the basis of all warfare (Starlink), in 4 years only 2 weak attacks, one on 8-15-2026, the 18,000 employee Progress manufacturer of Soyuz-2 carrier rockets and space satellites (new launch 9-17-2026, no Plesetsk launch site destruction by Ukraine showing war is fake, see Ukrainian article, right click to Translate into English, think about why they fake casualties), who made moon landing rockets and 3000+ rockets so far, used to launch the Soyuz-2.1b rockets, the basis of all military launches in Russia, part of the Rassvet, Starlink competitor. Russia plans to launch 900 Rassvet satellites to see Europe so it can invade, so it's odd Russia can launch Starlink rival Rassvet without Ukraine wiping off the map the Progress and 1440 (they launched 40 Rassvet satellites already, planning 292 by 2027, 610 by 2028, 900 by 2035) plants. Rassvet would prolong the war by centuries. The war is fake, it's made to appear (but may not be, just ruse by British, Jewish aristocrats, like communism was, to dupe certain nonBrits or gentiles) as if the proletariat ending the demonic rule of the aristocracy in both Russia and NATO/worldwide using the cover of "right-wing" parties etc to hide they are all leftists, obvious from the way EU nations slowly dissolve via the euro to create the Eternal Universal State of the Immortalist Anthem and the 11 companies, the 1917 events all over again, via bombing Ukraine aristocratic terror groups otherwise known as "warehouses of Death, Short Life causing JUNK" (most worldwide companies are aristocrats forcing the workers at gunpoint via radio-TV brainwashing to make/sell $ trillions of useless junk, while the workers' healthcare, housing, food, transport are terrible), Wildberries demonic warehouses (1 trillion times lower violent crime is not important to palace dwelling aristocrats who experience 0 violent crime, but useless junk to poison workers bodies and minds is: WB is Russia's amazon where the small aristocrats, like US amazon leeches, buy stuff from enslaved workers to sell to enslaved workers, and live like aristocratic blood sucking parasites like the eternal Jew, no compensation for inventory lost for these vampiric animals was reported by Wildberries (the Burial of Will based feudalism, fascism, the Birth of Intellect, Kindness for All based Immortalism), 1.3 million sq ft of 1.6 million were wiped out by 8-28-2026, they started on 7-18-2026 when Amazon reinstated my access to 1 star reviews, Mein Kampf publishing date, 7-18-1925, 101 years later, the End of Talmud-Torah capitalist scam to enslave all gentiles via fake "religion" and fraudulent mercantilism: buy gentile made junk to sell it to gentiles at 2-5x the price, don't work, be a parasite, a banker, lawyer, judge, CEO, MD, to get 8-1000 times the min federal wage for destroying society and keeping us savage forever), Ozon (30% of Russia's online commerce, Wildberries was about 45% before Mein Kampf day) and all small businesses, to create 11 companies type of system in Russia and all nations. NATO may have convinced Russia to secretly agree to stage this fake war to liberate all humanity, with help from China, other awakened nations who play stupid and "capitalist", but aid the Ukraine-NATO 'war' & its long-term 1 pay etc goal to get 0 crime, 4000 yr life.☺☺☺

Millions of fake videos, like fake killings, like spies, fake celebrities stage their "death" getting a new identity, secret contact with family, etc) finance both sides so that aristocrats (can be an ethnic minority even who make 80% of aristocrat class, Jews, Brits, etc) in both countries can totally destroy the worker class in both nations by having them fight each other in a staged war, using patriotism as the fuel to enslave and destroy workers (cannon fodder soldiers). It can work in reverse too, after millennia of subjugation, the workers become generals and stage a war to demolish hotels, lifespan shortening businesses that enslave and lower IQ of workers, restaurants, terrible housing aristocrats gave the workers, etc with empty buildings being demolished (they report huge casualties, when none happen) to make space for future better quality or even single family houses for all... and eventually, immortality capitalism like systems that are more efficient and beneficial for the nation and workers in the long-term due to 5-15 times more innovation. For Ukraine war latest news, tactics of fake war, latest videos of the war (20 times more pics and videos than all major news agencies), go to kyivpost.com. The Ukraine war is the collective planetary awakening of the worker class towards the imminent unification of all humans, to prevent the 10 second end of all humans via the 2 capsule scenario. Check out the fake ten fold increase in drone production by Russia, as Cold War turns into Warm War of Aristocratic Jails Demolition, the holy war against aristocratic parasites who "jail workers" in stinky tiny studios, apartments, while they live in huge estates behold the 2300 acres palaces or 2130 acre part-time living estates while workers live 9000 workers in one acre. Ukraine and Russia, NATO and Russia may have indeed joined the war against Aristocracy, by playing enemies, as "jails" are bombed, since they're old terrible buildings in need of demolition anyway. The TV drama makes the war ultra real, but it is all the start of the global revolution for Eternal World Peace. Or generals belong to a minority Z who uses majority as cannon fodder against some foreign enemy of minority present in both nations, or provoke country to be looted or enslaved into war that they know they can win, or give weapons via 'fake friends', know how every step of the war between 2 groups/nations proceeds ahead of time, end result too (real & 'fake news' result), so you come in as savior to one side you plan to annex and/or deploy 'peacekeeping' (often conflict stirring) troops to deepen control, etc. They can do it under the excuse of self-defense "due to" "1. information (fake) that the puppeteered countries would endanger the security of human remote control tech possessing superpower due to falling under the influence of a big superpower enemy, 2. resource needed immediately (not really, there is alternate tech) for human species survival, 'faster progress' 3. prevent any death of any of their citizens even it if means 'killing many of others' (citizens are worth 1,000 times more than 'enemy humans' due to 'etc, respect for life of even 1 citizen, advancing human tech more') by preventing foreign attack before it ever can occur *4. unify by force (not by loving kindness understanding, by one language all freely agree on/create out of compassion)* 70 tiny countries under one language *(see one language advantages) and* big nation for faster science progress, or planetary security 5. fool an alien group if it ever comes or 'superpower 3' (100% fake war, all sides fake all injuries, casualties, except damage of empty buildings, emptied secretly, since they were old and worthy of demolition anyway)"; all 5 are fake reasons, since there are 1 trillion ways to achieve 0 violence and 100 times faster science progress due to citizens knowing that wars, riots can be faked, simulated, thus the governments no longer fake the riots (cops are protesters) and wars*;* while short-term it seems ethical or good to some, long-term this fakery damages progress and can end the human species*)*, recall CNN James Cleverly cryptic Ctrl+F "Clever": "...expect a film-like counteroffensive... This is the real world. This is not a Hollywood movie," meaning IT'S A FAKE WAR, a Hollywood movie*???*☺☺☺

4.1.9.12. ►►►► fake scenes of war on 50,000 TV stations, fake war 100s of scenarios: 0 dead (even if media may say 3 or 700 or 20000 dead, with CNN and everyone sh*owing some blury videos of allegedly dead (breathing) Israelis, some staged clip of Arabs 'taking hostage a Jew' (filmed before the event maybe?),* to justify retaliatory genocidal attacks where 100 times the killings occur. Many videos of blown airplanes can be made with AI from 9000 other explosions. E.g. Hamas often kills 3 Israelis, then Israel kills 900 Arabs. It happened many times. Watch the absolutely phony, ultra easy to fake videos, most likely created by Mossad, IDF about the "genuine videos and "genuine documents" they found on the "Hamas soldiers", a phony 5 minutes that shows only easy to take videos, with red paint to simulate blood, etc. New York Times lies minimizing Hitler, Stalin and now Putin atrocities. CNN Matthew Chance has a perfect talent at using words such as "disturbing" to make it appear as if he believes the lies. See the absolute lie by Jewish CNN about a rocket that "was fired from Gaza and turned back" being used as filif comical☺ "evidence" that Mossad, IDF was not behind the attack or behind turning the rocket back to hit the hospital. IDF could have easily fired it from Gaza in a false flag on Oct 17 to blame the Hamas or Palestinian Jihad or turn around a Hamas rocket using some special tech. EU leader says Hamas was financed by Israel. The videos of the hospital blasts from Ukraine, Gaza, etc can all be fakes at times, using various wound faking techniques so common in the movie fake eye industry or even burn wounds, that would elicit an emotional response from people believing it's a real thing, they simply blow up an empty hospital and then show up lots of people moving about, with one eye closed for example or whatever pictures turned into a movie, to make it ultra hard to discern which bombings are real and which are fake. The whole war can be faked, to fool the Chinese or deter Taiwan invasion by messing up the oil supply plans. Any or all of the possible scenarios can happen, it's so complex in real life. World media claims '40 babies killed' on Oct 7 (CNN writes articles, and not even one image of a dead baby or 'decapitated person' is shown, only stories (using a totally faked tone of speech, easy to detect by scientific analysis, he's trying to fake his 'disbelief', typical of 100s of news reporters, who're nothing but disinformation agents usually) about the alleged dead people (some odd pic of

'burned bodies' is shown, but anyone undergoing cremation, for monkeys or puppies or children who died early naturally due to childhood cancer etc could be used to create even a real pic and then claim it was Hamas. Oddly, 9 months after Oct 7th, half of Gaza is entirely demolished, with Israel obviously bent on kicking Arabs out of Gaza. Organ harvesting by Jews may be real. Any pic of any dead can be from other conflicts, events, which we've seen widely in Ukraine, always blurry or covered in tarp so nobody can see they breathe, with no images or evidence, we're meant to believe without question: they show images of a wound, but how can we know that shoulder is from conflict or from the lady seemingly recovering in a bed (why not show the real video of that bed lady with that wound as she's moving and etc, instead of a picture?) reporting on the 'evil Hamas doing rape' when the US military rapes millions each month directly via electronic emission causing or indirectly via the very allowing of such infernal depravity as explained in the sex outside procreation destroying the national security of the USA? ☺☺☺

Who created Shiite 1979 Islamic Iran that helps Hamas? British, French, USSR and US empires or Jews within them? Israel helped create Hamas to divide and conquer Palestinians, by Islamist Hamas sabotaging the secular PLO of Arafat. Or is it only Arabs do bad things it's evil, when British, US gangsters do it or Jews it's OK? Jews want a stronger military action, so they had to report fake casualties a little higher this time than in 50 years. Nazis create false flag of "Poles" kiling 1 German, then Nazis kill 3 million Poles, 3 million Polish Jews. Country attacks itself thru orders of minority controlling military of self or other nations, stages anti-aircraft fire, etc, dramatic scenes for CNN, etc and blames it on 'enemy' nation that is in reality not at war with the top generals who know the army is made of 99% slaves who fight against their own nation's interests. For example Hamas, Hezbollah, China, ISIS, Al Qaeda are Mossad, CIA controlled, even if Hamas doesn't know Jews run the Hamas; to justify military bases everywhere oil, etc exists, CIA needs fake/real terror (groups it funds) attacks, using brain gadgets they incite people to do real attacks so USA comes as savior and security guarantor, selling weapons to mind control every foreign military. When a country stops buying weapons or etc, CIA installs a new government, via some revolution. Weapon purchases are basically "free will choices" on paper, in reality it's pure coercion using gadgets. Gently recall the strategy of Mossad and all empires, promoting fake rat IQ religion or ideology to keep Iran, EU, Arabs, gentiles, enslaved nations as 'low IQ' as possible, take the cover of anti-religion lustful thug music atheists (to create chaos by removing basic morality, kindness, gentleness) or liberal spiritualists (or even Nazis, far right parties engaging in violent behavior to incite gentiles to conflict), nationalists promoting Islam, Christianity fake miracles, see why both religions are 99% Judaism here. Oddly, Jews say they got to kick Palestinians out, what would happen if USA, EU or others decide the original inhabitants were not Jewish and they want Jews out of their own nations, especially Mormon fake church out, a get rich scheme for the founders who build new hotels to make more homeless, they charge 10% of income for any member and tell them about events that never happened, all made up fraud, like Ellen White Adventist fake miracles, another way for bad type of Italians, Jews to promote Jewish Sabbath etc, as with denominations where the wolves prey on the gullible sheep (pastors can be like hippies who pretend to be loving, yet use torture device to disable others, destroy their toes, knees, back, joints, eyes, kill people), telling them stories of fake miracles to get donations and mind control gentiles. It's like Mafia extortion networks of the Vatican, who uses a soft image while planning wars for 2 millennia) promoters who claim "Jews were the original inhabitants of USA" and that their fake tablet proves it, a tablet that doesn't exist. The territorial claim of 30 times Greater future Israel to USA, in order to annex USA later, can stem from the myth being made true by the Mormon Church whose cannibalistic quotes all can read here. For 2 millennia the entire planet has been forced, at gunpoint, via fake miracles, to believe in a fake Jewish (or Italian, if they made it up) story of Jesus. First, they come in 'peace', as Deut 20:10-17 & etc explain, to teach gullible people the fake miracles. Amazed by the events and the well staged testimonies, locals are fooled, convert, allow greater power of clergy over society, until Catholics become the largest landowner in Europe, control every monarchy. Then, if anyone tries to think and question, 20 million dead during Reformation for trying to get away from the cult. The national resources, property, etc everything is theirs, the extortion network has been setup, a state within a state. What if the entire planet wants to liberate its brain from such violent brainwashing? And use resources to improve people's health and living conditions, instead of building palaces for pastors and lowering the IQ of nations so that the vampiric predators can suck dry the blood out of all, turning nations into slave colonies where "pastors" use torture devices to torture, mind control the local sheep? The ultra corrupt US government gives taxpayer money to these extortion networks ('churches' etc) that defraud people via fake miracles claims, violence, promises of invisible immortality in heaven. The entire USA is controlled by these scammers who brainwash millions with their fraudulent claims of miracles, 'heavenly immortality if you donate'. Fake scenes, fake casualties are used as cover for 7 types of fake wars:

11.1. fake war to take over a rich country (rich in fresh water, oil, gas (31 min video explains water, oil, gas, security possible reasons for Russia invading Ukraine, besides restoring 1900 Russian Empire borders), access to foggy climates to use fog for irrigation, access to non-hurricane, non-tornado sea or ocean for desalinization) and arable land like Ukraine has a lot of/total area, "10-12 trillion worth of mineral deposits" (Sen. Graham video confirms it, see how Putin took over a lithium mine, how Russia exterminates/deports to steal trillions in minerals), up to 26 trillion worth of mining resources (Russia invaded only the parts of Ukraine where the 20 trillion is located), Ukraine also got more fresh/salty water plus fertile land % than most nations (like in Iraq, pretend it's to save a group from etc, but it's about land and resources). 2.2

million acres of land was leased by foreigners in Ukraine (US too), for food. Wars over land for food, wars over food prices, water, sea access may be part of the reasons. Russia is known for its infinite hypocrisy: they call the French colonizing power, but behind the scenes they steal African gold and fuel the destruction of the human quantum field thru war to amass "paper money". The 2025 Russian leaders, filled to the brim of human blood, like many leaders of the 950 years of endless genocides to steal land and resources, banning 200 languages in stolen lands while crying now that the Genocide imposed Russian language is not favored anymore, would not live their fake Christianity, but murder to steal, for in the far future gold would be useless, as would any matter on Earth for the Immortal humans who live on new types of matter. 13.19. explains clearly, there are 5 planets for every human alive, killing is not needed, except for subhuman frog IQ chimps. Instead of taking humanity forward towards 0 violence and 0 war, they fuel war to get rich, like gangsters. CIA created Osama bin Laden and instigated 911 to have an excuse to invade Afghanistan. CIA trained Osama to attack USSR via the Taliban USA created and still controls today. USA fakes it loses wars, then installs a puppet government that does what USA wants*, USA won in* Afghanistan*. Then USA criticizes the 'Taliban' to appear they're fighting it, it's the ancient strategy of deception, so much* for defending 'women rights in Afghanistan', they learned it from the MI6 and the Brits. All news are fake, wake up. Why don't women get education in the Afghan world? So that CIA can recruit them, of course, while they sit at home. Online women can get 100 times better education than via the Afghan school system. In 2023 the CIA made Taliban eradicated 95% of opium, but opium farming moved to Burma. The fake media says "they're bombing refineries" (no evidence shown, all could be staged fires) to "choke Putin sources of $$$", but in a real war Putin (any nation) simply can print $, he doesn't need oil sales. The NATO-Russia war seems fake, a plot to increase the power of US & Russia aristocrats by destroying rivals, like US destroyed France, UK, Germany in WW2 to superpower with Russia. See issues with the US "culture" in Chapter 5. See Russian depots images of before and after, via satellite, after Ukraine hits, 35 warehouses gone, see 23 sec video, small earthquake occurred, and maybe Russia tested a small nuke disguised as munition fire, if the Ukraine war is fake and a cover for testing hundreds of new weapon systems.

11.2. fake war to do major military training exercises and/or take over Europe using spies among refugees, who're loaded with exotic torture and mind control weapons (that CIA, PLA, RAW use too) detailed here, they use the cover of "victims" of Russia, but actually are Russian agents torturing local nation they invade. Beware of the sweet talking "Russia militaristic society" criticizing youtubers, see beyond the fake facade, they may be just mind controlled 'cannon fodder', used to carry everyday objects that are hidden weapons activated by satellite at various times, without even knowing. Watch for torture signs around Russia or Ukraine refugees (Russians use Ukrainian as cover, as they can often look the same, see tourist data, KGB agents posing as tourists? Are most tourists spies from all nations? Can people be honest and achieve World Peace in 3 months and stop playing mental games*),* as well as immigrants from any foreign country who could be (conscious or unaware) KGB, PLA, RAW agents even if not ethnics of Russia, China, India, but Mexicans or Mossad Jews posing as South Americans or Mexicans, Europeans, etc: high heart pulse, toes, feet, eyes sensations, twitches, false sounds, etc (easily detected if you wear earplugs and listen to your normal heart beat, etc). You see reports of buildings blowing up, due to drones, etc, but what if Russians tell Ukraine where they will hit and then they evacuate and make up casualties? Any war can be faked to deceive third parties, see this video on the centuries long China-Russia rivalry. Odd how CNN says 5 million Russians from Ukraine moved to Russia, just when Russia needs more people to defend the Far East. Demolish parts of buildings to have a pretext to do major reconstruction used as cover for the discreet installation of 7 trillion cameras, mics, mind control gadgets. For example, USA can mind control China with Japan's help to claim the entire South China sea, to claim to arrest anyone there, to build bases, to justify Japan, Phillipines, Vietnam, Malay, US military build up in the region, to enhance US domination by setting Chinese against all the other Asians in useless wars that destroy the human quantum field and the US itself later. China can also on its own make South China bases and Taiwan invasion rehearsals (like Russia can make fake war in Ukraine to distract US from 200 Alaska tunnels), to distract USA☺☺☺ from other things China is doing that are far more destructive to US security, yet far more covert: underground tunnels to Alaska, or infiltrating the Mexico border via spies, new space satellites, drones the size of a bee.

11.3. fake proxy war (between other countries, for reasons different than public, such as looting resources, land, water) US/Russia or any 2 superpowers deciding to wipe out many buildings and companies in a third country (Ukraine) by proxy war to eliminate competitor industry and reshape world geopolitics, degrade any rising superpower that challenges the US-Russia dominance (like 2 World Wars made US and Russia the only superpowers, wars in Europe made US in 1990 the only superpower; wars are often created by foreign powers, such as US, infiltrating puppet governments and enabling destruction of US competitors (British, French, German, Russian empires in Russian invasion by 'Italian per fake wikipedia, probably a spy' Napoleon selling Louisiana French area to double US size in 1803, WW1 and 2, Ukraine today) and/or buying of Ukraine, victim countries assets by various banks, US state owned companies (disguised as private) for cheaper prices in a form of global looting, quantum field degradation and border changes preying on the weak and easy to brainwash (Germany lost 34% of territory after 2 world wars they were puppetered to start to 'expand') into wars of 'expansion and building of a new empire' via hell tones of Hitler showman types*; in WW* 1 US got no land attack on itself (US joined after most destruction was done in 1917 and 1941 only when it was certain Germany would lose and did nothing to prevent the Holocaust (some may have cheered, if antisemitic), as it was no $ to gain, they portray any looting and competitor destruction war as a humanitarian action, just like most nations do in our hypocritical world of lies) and in WW2 only a minor attack on some Hawaii base - yet each war destroyed all US competitors and made US a huge power vs before, note the US, British hidden support of the German war industry (profit? or meticulous planning?) during Hitler's 1933-39 military buildup, plus USSR help for German air pilot training in breach of global 1919 treaty that gave Germany no right to airforce and army of 100K max (bad karma, the Germans then killed millions of USSR folks, Ctrl+F "Hitler" to read on it in this book), enabling USSR to take huge chunks of Romania, Poland (taken before German invasion of USSR and then taking other areas of Poland once Poland was restored, as USSR was always looking for more land, since Stalin in the office makes easy plans, not realizing or caring that a war can cause millions of dead, since he did many purges of millions already, what is there to risk, when you don't fight?), the entire Baltics, Germany after WW2 since Stalin didn't care much about a few million dead if he could expand USSR, nor did US (if generals have no risk to their life, they can plan a fake war with less stress, as no international law forbids degrading human quantum field by war, killing, violence, coups; history is written by winners, not by facts, on savage planets of violence like ours) office war planners care much about a few US casualties, few vs what Europeans had to deal with (3.8 million Germans mostly invaded USSR in world's largest invasion, so spread out, they could not even take out Moscow where Stalin was (sending there only a fraction of troops), sabotage by spies in Nazi command structure so as to weaken USSR and Germany as much as possible); US now ships LNG to EU instead of Russia and sells so many weapons, they benefit hugely from the Ukraine conflict, recall US was made by a spy general so US was a military expert from the get go, with ample Italian Vatican support ☺☺☺.

11.4. fake war to cause population shifts within the 2 nations or globally for more spies planting (Russians pretend to be Jews immigrating to Israel, for example, then become spies with new national identities deployed elsewhere, as Mossad trains them, etc. Or simply Jews get Mossad trained in Israel then hop to other places as immigrants). According to the fake news, never to be trusted, half the Jews (maybe 10%?) in Ukraine fled by Sep 2023. In 2025, Jews worldwide are called to move to Israel, as Jews expand into Gaza and West Bank daily making space for new Jews. Did Moscow & NATO Jews create a war for Jews to have a cover story when they go to 50 nations as Ukraine/Russian refugees? You never know what happened. The news show 2% of the truth. Oddly, they claim Jews fought on Ukraine side and also on Russia side, so what is going on? Another ploy to get rid of Jews? As Russia + Ukraine fake their war ever longer thru Hollywood style movie effects and explosions of fuel, drones, etc, it's possible, per the Institute of Jewish Policy, that 98% of Jews relocate to other nations if not dead during forced conscription (read last 2 paragraphs here) and then fight where Russians are told a Jewish regiment is so they can bomb while Ukraine pretends to misfire air defense, to kill Jews. 100s of things can happen, Russia pretends to fight Nazis maybe to get Jews to join the "anti-Nazi" fight where only Jews, and other 'cannon fodder' Russia doesn't need, die. They make it sound like millions die, but who knows? All news are fake. The Jews leaving Ukraine-Russia for Israel, etc or battlefield to die will sadly make many in Russia + Ukraine ecstatic, due to quotes of killing (anti-immortality for all). Is that why the war happened? Russia and Ukraine wanting to be Jew free? There is ever scarier news of depleted uranium (not sure if they use it, or say it to scare Jews, gangs or whoever they want out of Ukraine conflict zone areas), asbestos, etc. Note how Russia (or its Jewish Russian leaders) is happily allowing Ukraine to strike Moscow and etc with drones to create fear in Russian Jews who happily seek to escape to Israel to avoid the military draft (and build the Greater Israel as Israeli soldiers wear on their uniforms... except no evidence exists of such past kingdom), while Russians are breathing with relief as more Jews leave and some Russian spies too disguised as Jews. Or did the UK Brits & Jews (master of USA, even after the fake American 1776 revolution, let gentiles fight for easy British or Jewish domination?) start this to wipe out EU, euro competition and Russia off the map and dominate them all as 3rd world colonies, using USA to add fuel to the flames? 100s of possibilities exist, even like Gentile Aristocrats (who never fight in wars, they get exemptions or get a fake rapid rise thru military ranks to become general) and/or Jewish bankers wanted to finance a new war using gentile workers cannon fodder? Are "North Koreans" joining the war in Ukraine Chinese Muslims looking to make money and shipped there by China who wants to weaken Islam? Are they dissidents Korea wants to get rid of by forced conscription? Are all Muslim hating nations sending their Muslims there covertly on both sides to die in a fake war of "killing infidels"?

The 'allegedly Jewish' Kaganovich lived to 97 in USSR until 1991, after helping kill 5-9 million Ukrainians (20+%), 23% of Volga Russians, 30% of Kazakhs during the Famines and Jews are not gone, they & their ideas are still in power in 150 nations, USSR (Jewistan) never vanished: look at Russia, EU, Brazil, Mexico, 2 billion Christian slaves, USA: they're Jewish colonies, all worship the 1500 Jewish quotes condoning genocide, violence, are are lied to and brainwashed to believe fake miracles of Jewish Jesus, fake miracles of Eucharist, of incorruptible saints (happens often in certain conditions to ANYONE), of Italian etc saints, of pastors preaching BS/lies from grandiose temples/churches, politicians faking their "religious beliefs" while 50 million Americans and 500 million others live in terrible conditions instead of single family houses (let every house be a temple of God, every person a pastor) for all. God lives to a trillion to the power of a trillion repeated a trillion times, so for God giving everyone a trillion years is like a smile, but these pastors, conmen and liars don't want us to even live to 5000, let alone a trillion. Any prayer about living to a trillion? NONE. All are to be slaves of Mohamed (and rituals other invented) and Jesus, Quran and Bible, some cave age texts that reveal Christianity & Islam are 95% Judaism. If Jesus, Moses, Mohamed were prophets (you will surely discover they were not, if you read these 70 pages), then all workers and peasants of the world are prophets too, the prophets of Immortality for All, Eternal Universal Peace (0 wars for Eternity*),* of global liberation from lies and short lives of 80 years, towards the freedom of trillion year lifespans, and far more importantly, prophets of gentle tender soft nurturing graceful universal loving kindness (verses 8-40, world's shortest "scripture"), which is not the energy of those scriptures. Aristocrats enslave the masses by creating ever new wars (Christian-Muslim duped by Jews with 2 fake religions), riots (the spy agencies serving the aristocracy incite people to riot, so they can arrest them) and chaos, that's why we have eternal wars and why immortality capitalism will end the reign of aristocratic terror and war. Chaos, financial or war related, allows looting of the masses, governments on a cosmic scale by the ever glorious BANKs, which may one day be dissolved into one bank of the PEOPLE, not aristocrats. In 2022-2023, cities that used to have 5-40% Jews sometimes got hit by Russia, reminding us of the history of the Greek-Jew, Russian-Jew, Ukrainian-Jew fights in Odesa, the British Jew-Greek fights. Is the war a cover for attacking the mafia groups businesses/houses, the housing of Ukraine spies? For 100 years Jews were the largest ethnic group in Odesa. In 1500s Jews arrived as traders (as always the business guys, or tax collectors for Polish nobility, hence the tensions with Ukraine), translators with more moving in 1775 from Russia after Russia annexed Zaporizhia. USA pulled out of Kabul. There was a 'big fight' June 2022-3 in Bakhmut (Ukraine) (some Jews lived there), both sound like Baku, Azeri capital (huge minority in Iran that fuels protests) that setup a new electricity route signed in Bucharest by EU Commission Chief and leaders of Georgia, Romania, Azerbaijan, Hungary (the so caled atrocities in Bucha) - reminds us of Mecca Kaba, Cuba, cube.

Ukraine is allegedly trying to get all the Romanian, Slovak, Hungarian, etc minorities to enroll in fighting Russians, so they get exterminated. Germany is trying to get illegal Muslim migrants who committed crimes in Germany to fight in Ukraine, forcing them to go to the frontlines or face deportation. So, there you go, another reason for a staged war of bombing empty buildings. Russia is arresting illegal migrants and sending them to the frontlines. A population shift that could be one of the 30 reasons for war is not only wanting Jews moved to Israel, but wanting to diminish legal and illegal immigration to Russia/EU. After all, nobody wants to immigrate into a war zone and if French and German armies fake a war with Russia and all NATO does, bombing empty buildings, reporting fake deaths, everyone gets scared and they don't want to immigrate there, and the existing immigrants move back to their own countries. Thus Russia made 40 threats already about nuclear war with NATO, and UK told citizens WW3 in 5 years possible, while several nations in EU introduced conscription again after 30 years. This high level of concerted fakery is sure to scare all would be immigrants. This fake war enables French and German battalions to use immigrants (5 million Arabs, 5 million Turks) as cannon fodder on the most danagerous frontlines, suffering all casualties via immigrants from Africa and Asia. Russia got 15 million Muslims, Germany/France another 10 million, so they can fight each other on the frontlines in Ukraine for 50 years of war. Deaths from Moscow region (13 million people) were 13 times smaller than those from Mongol Buratya republic (1 milion people), even though Moscow has 13 times more people. So, the death rate of Buratyans vs Russians is 170 times higher, showing how the war is fake, a convenient way to kill off minorities, see another video of minorities Russia exterminates via this fake war. Mongols killed Russians, Chinese, Ukrainians or 10% of humanity (about 800 million equivalent today) before, so it's revenge perhaps or preemptive action. Those who love fighting can fight. After all, this ensures the higher security of France, Germany and Russia, who want all those zealous for war to fight each other, but not the French, Germans or Russians. France already said in 2024 they will send troops to Ukraine and Russia recruits a lot of minorities (allegedly even Africans) to fight the eternal Ukraine war: already Tatar Muslims joined the fight against Russia, central Asian Muslims joined the fight against Ukraine, dying like fools thinking they fight the "depraved West" or "oppressive Russia", while actually fighting other fooled Muslims themselves? Mohamed has fooled all to die for a fake text, the plagiarized modified Bible called the Quran. Thus, once the word spreads out, every African and Asian decides staying home is better than losing limbs or dying at 25 for a fake war nobody really benefits from except weapon selling companies. In the army, people are chained dogs who go where the boss sends them to: certain death or not. A battalion can have 100 people, and the minorities can simply be sent for the most deadly roles. Wars are caused by one or more problems countries face and this could be one of 15 reasons. Since 1900, palace dwelling aristocrats wanted to slow population growth, so war and fake pandemics were ways they invented to slow these fast population growths. As owners of governments and armies, bankers thought, killing 80 million in WW2 and 100 million in other genocides was a good idea, so today, we experience the gift of the Bankers to the World. They want more fake or real wars to scare people from having kids and to slow population growth. As you read this chapter, you can see how nations can go to fake war for 10 reasons not just one.

Other examples of population shifts can be caused by 'bad type of' Jews or other minorities covertly ruling certain countries, in order to achieve certain goals*: bring in a lot of Muslims in Christians nations (already done in Germany and France) to start fights among the 2 religions and dominate both. Bring certain immigrant groups in Sweden and Nordic countries to destroy existing religions as the protocols of the Zion Elders explain and start daily violent scenes on TV, between 2 religions or denominations, so all are eager to accept the Zion Elder as the ruler of the entire planet. By instigating inter-religious, inter-racial, inter-ethnic violence, the new national or world order can be brought about. You see these hypocritical royal families and governments of Europe, taking part in nonsensical rituals to keep Europeans as abysmal in IQ as a rock,☺☺☺ pretending to be European or patriotic, but actually promoting a foreign text, the Bible, from Israel, full of 1400 violentquotes and calls to genocide. Japan got a lot of homeless, and the royal family of Japan seems to care little. Are all EU and Russia governments Jewish, Machiavellian politicians or just role playing to have Israel visits of pilgrimage as a reason for their military base in Israel? Check out 15 year prison sentence in Thailand for insulting the royal family. In the British empire it may be 15 years of torture, for exposing royal family secretly or indirectly condoned genocides via lack of policies to stop killings and torture for 1000 years. Check out some less known UK facts (policies UK uses today too for managing former and new colonies covertly), while recalling some policies were started with the suggestion of an overt or covert Jew, or with his assistance, as with Kaganovich, in the Soviet Empire, who co-killed 5 million Ukrainians. Do you notice how none of these governments talk about end of torture when they torture millions of people? They're the ultimate hypocrites. How can Britain kill people in their own country? How can it torture them? Then talk about defending democracy and fighting dictators? The number one duty of all governments is to end all wars (which are mass killings), then all killings (individual), then all torture/violent crime. The Europeans are too ☺abysmal in IQ☺ to realize that and like in World War 2 created to make Israel great again, they get slaughtered in this new war over Ukraine that the same bankers are planning out perhaps, so now the great slaughter of more workers will ensue and Muslims too. Some Jews love to pretend to be Christian and Muslim, to keep gentiles as low IQ as possible, enslaved in the most nonsensical religions, while the 'bad type of' Jews control all spy, military and strategic fields. Quran is the Bible rewritten with a few Jewish ideas added and some local Arab tribe ones, a foreign text that doesn't belong to any Muslim nation. But the clever bad type of Jews/others promote it openly when using Jews/others (Brits, etc) who pretend to be Muslim Arabs or Asians, while in public they denounce Islam if they're publicly overtly Jews or other ethnicities. Spies use religion to keep nations primitive. This double game ends up in the global enslavement of 4.3 billion people who're fooled to follow, deify, worship an Israeli fake violent text as the Word of God (recall that spies from Greece, Italy, Roman empire, etc, could have also written those stories to make Jews look bad) and a rewriting of that, the Quran. What if the world decided they had enough of the scam about fake miracles, and they decide a simpler shorter scripture or ethical guideline, more like Immortalist Anthem, is enough for all to live to 1 trillion years old? Why have so many Jewish banks, do we really need 30000 banks today, and 200 currencies, or just one? These blood sucker parasites just lend us money and keep us in the stone age, as all jobs are bank teller. We have that many banks for the benefit of the aristocrat oppressors who drain our life force and destroy our planet. These hyenas also torture to death anyone who tries to create a more humane system of government in any nation. Why do you think they torture me? Because I expose the criminal American government genocides against its citizens and foreign citizens. Stalin took part in a bank robbery to gain funds for the 1917 overthrow of the aristocratic terror reign, but we don't need to do that, we can simply vote for the Immortalist Party to create 1 bank in all USA, one in EU, one in China, one in Africa, one in South America, later one for all Americas and finally, one for the entire planet some day, to free all workers from the bloodsuckers whose main jobs is speculation, creating inflation, attacks on currencies, economic crises, coups, creating thousands of fake political parties (that do Parliament fist fights, runs, head falls and thus promote societal division and increase violent crime via their violent vibes) doing nothing except more of the same aristocratic terror of 25 millennia, fraud, stock market trading, money lending, etc. Let's read the Credit Score and recall with one world government we can set all prices to be the same and Eternal, changed only when we discover some products contribute to lifespan more, so their price goes up if in short supply. Why do we need prices to change 1 billion times a year in 200 nations? It's insanity. Let's keep them more constant and eliminate aristocratic predatory economics. All have a job, we have 11 companies on our entire planet. After the Feb 24 2022 Ukraine invasion, which is the war against some aristocrats too, Russia started to nationalize many companies started by mafioso from the aristocratic clans. The war targeted certain aristocratic businesses too, causing more centralization as it happens during wars. Why not simply question everything, read the 70 pages of quotes and ask: was Mohamed an aristocrat and Jewish like Jesus? Why do we need 7000 languages if we're all workers trying to live better lives? Let's choose or create one and bring it about, in 5 steps. We, the workers of the world, can quickly end the games of all aristocratic clans and free ourselves from their scams. Being anti-Bible (anti-Torah), anti-Quran, anti-violent texts of any source and type, doesn't mean being antisemitic: its just being against billions of books today who encourage violence, even Mahabharata and Book of Mormon, etc. It's about time 8 billion people protest the publishing of violent text of any type and have no fear to criticize the monster quotes in the unholy Bible and unholy Quran, unholy Torah.

11.5. fake war to 1. make prices of X, Y, Z to go up to make $ thru speculation, or 2. enable Russia and/or NATO ruling military 'crime' (war is violent crime on a gigantic scale, each bullet or shell used is 1 violent crime; they never talk of World Peace in 3 months*)* families to co-destroy all or part of Ukraine mafia that they don't like/control: Odesa gangs, ojp, mogi, initiative, the highest crime on map happens in Russian occupied areas where war occurs, coincidence? or 3. undermine 1 or more countries or 4. get more 'bad' countries to covertly support the fake war to get weaker or 5. to exterminate one's own minority (or violent prisoners sent to die in Ukraine: CNBC & UA) soldiers: see video on mercenaries, regular minority soldiers, or naturalized Russian citizens from Central Asia, etc or volunteers not knowing it's fake, or even regular army units made of dissidents countries want to kill after giving big cash. If you research, you see NATO is a callous cruelty obsessed 'gangster' ruled alliance who tortures millions, has no ethics, just like others, see the horrific sports legal in NATO nations. They only care about tanks, not about bad housing (Slovakia, US, France), evil sports in EU, US (slap & UFC). If US changes, NATO may eliminate US flesh eating drugs, (if CIA changes) bad music, cruel sports.

11.6. fake war to do more shifts of people within the country (news of 2 million Ukrainians moved to Russia Far East) or wider area to change ethnic balance like USSR did. Below you will see 100s of ways to fake videos. Yearly, 80,000 people get amputated in USA due to car crashes. Likewise, in Ukraine, car crashes happen too, so they do have 12000 there too. They can take people from car crash peacetime events showing them as victims of explosions in a staged war. Fake or real? However, the mines in the fields are reported to cause injuries, as in other conflict zones. Is this video true or fake, did they stage the wound etc with paints and creative methods? People wonder why so little stuff showing live people being killed is shown, everything is blurry.

11.7. fake war to get refugees that are cheap labor (Ukrainians) or spies for guest (origin, Ukraine) country (pretending to be Jews or another group sometimes so they immigrate to certain nations as spies) or 'folks that could become spies for host country (Germany, France, Romania, Poland, etc) (when they return to origin (Ukraine, etc) country under same or new fake identity (different location, new age and appearance (wig or much shorter/longer hair, fake boobs, or even country) after training as German spy in Ukraine) or 3rd country later' (same few videos recycled, same fake info, in an average or angry tone, to contaminate the public with negative emotion for better "mind control, enslavement", demonizing others instead of focusing on our common humanity and peaceful methods to bring peace, focus to keep 900 languages, religions fighting each other☺☺☺, and repeat same news on 1000s of stations, translate them, waste life translating, when we could have one language and World Peace and work on tech of longevity instead of robotically repeat same fake news, why not have amazing AI read news in 1000 times better tone or have 50 TV stations only with true news and 1000 times better tone)

4.1.9.13. ►►►► fake videos (AI can generate them)/pics of missile or explosion but never real people dying in real battles filmed by video like cops have video of interaction (video camera worn by some soldiers or why not install 90,000 (or at least 700) CCTV cameras nearby on major roads into major cities that any tank would use, let the whole world see Live Feed in real time, how the invading (can be the country that is 'invaded using tanks to claim an invasion takes place when none takes place even.') evil army is coming to kill' into a city that is so 'savagely attacked by the fictitious "enemy"' to show the world how the 'evil guys who attack city are doing the evil things' instead of fake pic and videos of empty tanks; plus show the attack on moving tank with real people in it, not manequins in a remotely controlled tank). THE GENERAL RULE IS SIMPLE: unless confirmed by 50 sources (satellite data, people on the ground, videos on the ground, drones on the ground, spy camera hacked on the ground, hacked chat online, hacked radio military transmissions, etc), any video online of alleged recent wars or even historical war or any videos from 1800s or 1900s (created now to appear old) is best considered

100% fake or if real (the narrative of what it represents can be 50-100% fake, as no evidence exists from the video of all the claims made), typical of CNN Ukraine videos), using reverse play, empty tanks, pic in fast motion, etc, since we live in a world of maximum lies, deception. Even CNN stuff like 'teens attacked a lady' can be 100% fake, reverse play, seems 2 min, but it took 2 hours to shoot and make pics, merge it etc. Don't trust anything on youtube just because it seems real, youtube is full of lies. Storage tank fires happen at refineries sometimes, refinery fires 100 times a year in USA, so what if some fires in Russia, etc are just normal and they make a fake news that a drone caused it, or a fire that is easily controlled and extinguised later, after the big video is made to create false flag, fake war narratives, disinfo? They often report only fake claims "a damaged empty vehicle, tank, aircraft was result of a real fight", not a staged war where they know what, when, where will hit and empty the area, vehicle, tank on highway, empty the house, power station (hence they never show much, so CNN says 'we actually can't take you to the scene of these attacks' on power stations since it 'requires special access', notice how he's faking his tone to make it sound like it's a huge emergency etc, and speaks fast in a fake way making fake rapid gestures, or show 2-10 houses only and then say 700,000 are the same without any evidence) condo complex or even entire street or city area for huge fakery, (or fake reports of huge craft etc shot down, without even a picture of the craft and dead bodies, no pic of the 100s dead, etc, recall always that fake video is 900 times harder than fake pics, videos of dying and blown to pieces tanks, people*, etc, with correct time and location are* 70,000 times harder☺☺☺ to fake than an empty tank they blow up and take a pic or video of afterwards. We're not talking about fake 1-5 year old videos (see examples) from other countries or cities that are sometimes shared on CNN (as PBS explains), youtube, facebook, major networks. Some can be 7 years old even, or explosions that are not even from a war. They show it as a video from a current war zone, even Army videos can be faked with many pics in fast sequence, being from another war (if you pull fist away fast from face, and face too with the fist and someone plays it reverse, it looks to the untrained fool that the video shows someone being punched and the first causing the face to move as a 'result of the 'impact' that never happened') CIA is so good at taking other pics, making pics, using AI, etc, that they can create a video or photos of a person doing anything, even any sexual position with any person on the planet, and the average person is so credulous, they believe all the Congress and media liars who claim a pic is real, when they play their "enemies games" in politics to deceive the Americans, the planet, instead of solving the urgent needs of mankind: decent sleep, quiet cities and peaceful music. The fake news agencies reported on Dec 29th 2023, that Russia launched 158 missiles on Ukraine targets (biggest attack) and 40 people died, and the next day, the Russian fake news claimed 21 people died in the revenge shelling of Belgorod by Ukraine. However, when you search online for the "evidence" of the "huge strikes", you find nothing, just stuff that anyone can easily stage, people paid to lie on ground face down, glass or gas station or oil tanker set on fire to show a fireball too for the mass media, or use a year old video perhaps. Soon, every grandma will believe WW3 is next day. A lot of wars are partially fake with each side exaggerating damage? Even war preparation can be a fake staging for a war where only some battles are real.

Say media shows a video of a missile coming towards a hospital or condo complex, but they don't show the actual hit since that would reveal it was explosives that caused the damage. Instead, they show a fictional missile that appears via video editing, as the hit building is behind a building in a video, in order to hide the fact the explosion is using dynamite, that explodes the building section they emptied before on July 8th 2024. Ukraine says it's direct hit by KH-101, Russia says it's antimissile interceptor missile AIM-120 or MIM104 hitting by accident 20% of a 2 story building where dialysis is done for kids. Odd how someone "just happens" to take a video from the wrong angle only. These explosions and attacks happen before each NATO gathering, to justify more escalation? Could be false flag too. Ukraine can attack with prepositioned explosives its own empty building and then blame it on Russia, run the most amazing staged videos with fake wounds and fake panic... to justify 10 million Ukraine-Russia spies going to 150 nations in the eternal conflict (to escape draft or etc) and to justify rebuilding much needed infrastructure, using Western money, like dilapidated hospitals and other facilities needing to be refurbished anyway. This was the Sept 11 2001 attack too, CIA put endless explosives and then it brought buildings down instantly, while a normal airplane hit may not do it on Twin Centers and nearby CIA Building 7. It's a way to make enemy attack appear bigger. The US taxpayers happily pay for endless wars and repair of hospitals, etc, but they have no idea what goes on. News are 90% fake, usually, so relax. You can't know from easy to fake videos which attacks were missiles hitting, which were explosions of empty buildings and which were missiles from Ukraine itself, with Jewish, Russian spies within military terrorizing local Ukrainians. Either way, you need 9000 satellites to see what happens. It's a huge number of possibilities and the fake news media is only presenting one scenario for the masses who're expected to believe it.

Thousands of terror attacks are actually fake, staged and nobody dies, it's a way for governments to pass tougher laws and gain popular support for tougher measures. One such example is the ISIS attack on 1-1-2025 and the Cybertruck explosion, both done by US military soldiers stationed at Fort Liberty, see how in these videos they never show the actual people being killed, only some other irrelevant phony video from before or after the actual impact or killing (truck explodes but person being killed is not shown). While videos can be fake, they can be real explosion videos, but presented as a real, not staged, war: note in this video how the bridge sustained only minimal damage 7-17-23, opened hours later on 7-18-23 (one way, Russia to Ukraine, so KGB can send weapons), as if KGB blew metal connectors to cause minimal damage: a real war attack would do 9000 times more damage with 100 HIMARS that would obliterate to pieces 4 miles of the 12 of the bridge, so repair would close it 35 months. All these bridge attacks are paltry and minimal compared to HIMARS power. Professor explained 10 reasons why Ukraine didn't fully destroy the bridge yet, though the real reason may be that Zelensky is a comedian and the war a comedy: see how 'Ukraine attacked same skyscraper in Moscow twice in 2 days', could it be KGB false flag? Instead, bridge damage was a little snap that is so easy to fix, making war suspect. This then gave Russia an excuse to stop the grain deal hours later, grain deal which Russia claims is used by Ukraine to restock with military cargo, underwater drones via grain ships to attack its Kerch bridge to Crimea: the bridge is used for military cargo. Effective 7-21-2023, both Russia and Ukraine warned they would attack any civilian ship going to the coasts of Ukraine/Russia due to being suspected of carrying weapons, so grain exports may decrease by 2% globally in the short term, wheat price rose from 648 on 7-17 to 749 on 7-20, dropped, rose to 760 on 7-24 after the closest attack (15 drones) to NATO borders (200 meters) ever by Russia: the Reni attack. (2 min video, Reni is 50% Romanian demographically, having been part of Romania for centuries). Oddly, Aug 3, price dived to 628, lower than before July 17, even if they attacked again grain silos 200 m from NATO border. The July 17 Crimea bridge attack seems like a staged "attack", more drama created to make it ever more real, with the new fake blockade. Blockade was fake, since later, grain ships went to some Ukraine coast ports 200m from NATO border, with 4 NATO aircraft protecting the 3 ships (more ships each day). CNN spent 4 minutes to show a fake blurry video that hides the alleged Aug 4 2023 impact of a drone on a ship and shows no actual damage to any ship: this is typical of 100s of reports about Ukraine where they show "drone coming" (pre or after 'explosion image or fake footage') but not the impact (always blurry) or any evidence the alleged ship was damaged or damaged a lot in a real (not false flag, controlled explosion with everything designed to appear a big flash (or fake video), but do minimal/0 damage) event; the CNN reporter tone suggests he knows it's all made up, so he artificially makes it sound so 'dramatic', like a perfect actor. Some videos seem genuine, but was a missile (video) hitting an emptied building? Any fake pictures?

It also seems like Putin is simply too happy in public and events for this to be a real war. The war could be real though, if NATO makes attacks minimal to avoid nuclear war. NATO may aim for a slow change in Russian internal forces that leads to withdrawal. However, it may also be a fake war with Russia to get others into the fight, who may be fooled it's "real". A classic trap to get 22 nations (not NATO or Russia, but others) lose 3 decades of development by fighting countries never wanting a fight. See how comical☺ it is: the alleged 'real' attack on some bridge with "12 missiles" only makes a tiny hole in the center, so that traffic both ways is undisturbed. Image not shown on US networks. US folks think USA really gave them 50$ billion worth of stuff and they fired it all, is it a joke to make it seem a real war? They come up with "10 million shells were used" or wild numbers. Proof? CNN shows a video of a Ukraine guy or stuffed (with foam or paper) uniform that allegedly decomposed and smells so bad, so a 10 min video shows 5 second of what could be fake: video is about dead bodies in title, but only 1% of it shows bodies, and some feet too. Mostly words we're to believe + 0 unfakable evidence, typical news today, 90% fake: empty plane crashing? ☺☺☺ Rarely, TV shows missiles hitting a target, but never the attack/'damaged ship/target' up close, it's always from 1-2 km away a camera "just" happened to see the 'oil explode' (Russia has oil), which makes it look like some are weapon tests or fake oil (or old tanks, ships that need to be decommissioned anyway) drum explosions. When they show anything up close, we're lied to that the target "was the newest ship or had "3 billion worth of weapons or some other fantastical claim" we're to swallow. This is how disinformation works to deceive enemies and fake wars. Why fake the war? 100s of reasons for a fake war. Skeptics say it's all real and it's hard to have cameras near military installations, but drones have cameras and can record the video and transmit the info right before impact (to avoid radio signal interception by Russians) to show us the 'real war'. Critics argue that Ukraine doesn't want Russians to know the Ukraine drone video transmission can't be detected, nor the drones accompanying the hitting drone that takes footage of the damage past the explosion. Either way, fake or real, it's a total waste of time. We want longevity.

4.1.9.14. ►►►► fake video of enemy attacks, see Ukrainians allegedly killed/injured in a S-300 "missile attack" Zelensky shared on twitter, and shown by TV stations as a savage attack on a market (possibly explosives inside those empty buildings). The dramatic bleeding wounds video could have used Hollywood glue on hand/leg huge hand/leg/torso prosthetic with a small pump hidden to make fake blood come out: see how easy is to make fake bleeding wounds, to lower the guard of host nations who welcome with open arms Ukrainians, Russians as refugees (when they're mere spies). What do You think, is the war partially fake, why do they fake casualties then? Read more to understand… why there is never a really big explosion in Ukraine war so far like the Tianjin one in China. They can even use AI to make a real-life like video of a foreign leader saying something they never said (or remote control them to say bad things) and allow only fake AI videos they upload to foreign media sites (fake copies of the sites), etc to be displayed, thus creating pretexts for wars. A group of many nations can be deceived to go to war for something that never happened) or fake wars can use mercenaries or 'international volunteers' to 'get rid of them' (so don't sign up to fight in any conflict as a volunteer, since they may just want to kill any volunteer for their false flags and other dirty stuff, cannon fodder for a cause wholly different than stated, and violence never accomplished anything in the long term). They can also remotely control planes to fall into an area, after pilots ejected to pretend it was an accident of training or enemy downing a plane, or make fake pics, videos of the explosion, ejection using other videos merged, etc, AI, while explosion is not from an aircraft. DW has more on fake stuff, though looking at made up or staged photos, videos, etc a novice can't tell how it's done, since it requires very advanced video and picture analysis tools that only superpowers have sometimes, can you tell if red is blood or a colorful solution that mimics blood perfectly appearance wise? Not to mention, you need 3000 satellites to see where a missile came from, or if it was an explosion done by explosives etc, to see which side fired it and if they knew or tried to intercept it, signaling they didn't make a deal to let it go on an empty building. So, while not all is true, not everything can be fake, since we see demolished buildings. Oddly, Russia is building new condos in Mariopol, as if the whole war was a demolish and build project presented as a war (fake war), for buildings that were simply not safe to live in anymore. The most curious thing is not how/if they fake it for any given news, since that we can never know, but how all these "dedicated to truth" TV-radio stations never talk about World Peace in 3 months, 0 Violent Crime in 3 years, getting all to wish & act for making true this: "May all live to a trillion years in ~~Eternal Universal Peace & Bliss~~☺☺☺". Just saying the obvious thing that all sides fake stuff, which begs the question: what is the agenda, Immortality for All or else, dedicated to the truth of long life for all or just subjugating the enslaved workers?

If you gently listen to the tone on Russian TV (part of video at the bottom of this page, other nuke war threat videos on youtube, demonizing UK, bombing USA/UK) etc and other TV stations, how far it is from eterni, that is the telling sign that this is historical inertia repeating itself, the same old stuff of all wars before: the global institutionalized extermination of the qualities,☺☺☺ tones needed for peace: gentle tender soft nurturing graceful universal loving kindness. That's why, until World Peace exists and 0 violent crime too, I don't trust anything said on TV-radio, the tone is so bad (all politicians too) and far from eterni in all news, it's obviously not 100% truth: this is because the entire planet is under the terror reign of the military-industrial complex: they force every politician, celebrity, public speaker, thru their control of all culture, music, and training of politicians, etc to speak in the historical inertia military way, some 100%, others 10%, without peaceful instrumental music in the background to elevate tone, without World Peace in 3 months posters and goals, without words like gentle tender soft nurturing grace every few sentences as our planet needs: it is a reign of sheer terror, but most people don't know who rules the planet, it's this type of historical inertia tone (10 seconds of the general speaking) we hear often in military commands. Notice how he tries to speak ultra fast and threatening, as if role playing, to intimidate and scare. Love of truth means no torture, no torture means a chance to develop eterni tone and not be coerced to say lies for a paycheck or being used as a tortured slave to say fake stuff (without knowing it's fake). Likewise, many don't trust anything from celebrities either, since it lacks the tone of 100% truth, that requires an entire civilization of decent music, ethics, which doesn't exist on Earth, but that may change at we make World Peace in 3 months the goal and everyone tries to speak with eterni tone. ☺☺☺

4.1.9.15. ►►►► fake attacks (false flag): to get to the next fake thing, skip next 10 pages that deal with Ukraine war. False flag can aim to get neutral countries to join one side or get more recruits☺☺☺ to fight as cannon fodder or to increase their own nation recruitment rate if they genuinely believe in the war instead of "depopulation and destroying the country the generals claim to work for (so soldiers believe and fight heroically to destroy thus 1-2 warring countries on the list of countries 'to be enslaved by 3rd country the generals actually work for (consciously, or, unconsciously if remotely controlled), a 3rd country sometimes officially not even part of the conflict, to best hide their crimes against humanity' ". Tanks can be produced for this Hollywood style video at 4% of real tank cost, i.e. just the outside chasis with some cheap chairs, etc, etc – or old tanks, transport tank from junk yard, paint it to make it look newer since after burning you can't tell well how new it was; this is what cops do all the time, they drive as undercover cops in already dented cars and bump into each other or someone they want to 'inspire to drive nicer or torture' and create a fake accident; fake accidents can inspire people to drive safely, as people see it in the news or street and prevent accidents, so fake wars (in the opinion of those creating them) also achieve, reportedly*, sort of a similar effect; many unfortunately think* it is better to have fake bad events where no killings or anything bad happens, just cops role playing being bad guys or protesters (how many in the news? Almost 100% for anything with fake deaths etc?) than real bad events*), etc*. Fake war (inflate refuge number 2-10 fold, 0 dead or injured, just fake videos) between A and B, could be so that supporters of B gain more members in their alliance, to thus deter A1 from invading B1 (a friend of B's supporters), because A1 is ally of A (A pretends to be A1 ally) who is busy invading/ fighting B; since A is busy, A won't be able to help A1 if invasion of B1 gets out of luck and A1 needs help from A. If the outcome of fake war is that A fails to annex B, it will dissuade A1 from invading B1, due to strong B allies.☺☺☺ Fake war thus can be used to delay/prevent war, but it's bad versus the ideal ways, since it pollutes collective mind with negative emotion and ideas that later create some war, so it can be in the end as bad as real war in the long term thru side effects, like 'bad' role playing is. Hence, believe nothing until confirmed by 50 sources, because AI software can take any building and street video and show damaged versions of it, damaged military vehicles, etc and present it as real on TV too. They make some news about 1200 towns have no electricity Oct 18 2022, due to bombing, but what is the evidence of that? The guys at all new agencies globally show the same one missile hitting something and nothing else, some are relaxed and casual as if nothing happened, others role play they're so stressed and it's so real. Ukraine can simply turn off electricity a few hours to make satellite pics show dark, even if no damage to the plant and then say they worked 24 hours to restore it, in order to increase recruits for war and/or fake the damage extent. Nothing is 100% what it seems. They say "the town is totally destroyed on day 10 of invasion", yet show only 4 damaged buildings, people moving around collapsed bridge – assuming we trust the story, see BBC on fake news. Even without AI, one can take many pics, and overlay images (add some smoke to some satellite pics and say it's real, even if nothing happened) and edit them, and create fake video of a strike on a building that never took place, even smoke (different pic, is it from tires or a strike?) coming out of a moving tank, static building – like creating movies. The Western media said in Feb 2022 Putin uses a long table with all, but with Brazil/Israel Presidents he did not, days after he used long table with German, French, etc Presidents, see this video – so the media makes stuff up always as we all know.☺☺☺

Feb 24th, Ukraine invasion day, is Estonia's independence day, one day after Soviet Army day (renamed Fatherland Defence day, Feb 23rd), 2-23 is Feb 23, 322, as in Skull and Bones secret society of Bavarian Illuminati, that Presidents, of both parties and candidates are members of sometimes, you know, 322, March 22nd, New Iranian Year, Stamp Act 3-22-1765, the start of the American Revolution due to British tax law, etc – skull is stuff of many militaries, due to their dedication to killing. In 2000 Putin was even talking about joining NATO and EU, is he a CIA-KGB double agent? On Normandy invasion day, June 6th 2023, a big dam in Ukraine was detonated between 2 and 3 am, and we already know that in USA many hydro plants are demolished, since solar, wind, etc are better and don't create issues that dams create (USA removed 900 dams in 1990-2015). So, while it may seem like a bad thing, it may be a good thing (fish habitat, improve water quality, etc) done to also make the war seem real, raise food prices perhaps, make all want World Peace in 3 months, since EU-NATO-Russia can fix damaged houses. Is the war fake? It could be partially fake (but that's true for any war, what goes on is always very different than the news), even the so called 'massive aid and broken equipment'. Watch carefully how relaxed and happy Putin and Zelensky are 1-1.5 years after the war, as if it's all a staged operation, all acting. Don't stress and focus on peace in 3 months, the cost may be far less? I've lived in California many years and 2023 has been SO cold, is climate change real everywhere? They say it's due to atmospheric rivers, etc, some areas can get cooler. In times of war, all sides try to inflate and deflate numbers and create false flags and make the other look bad. While a war is real in a sense, it can also be very fake in another sense, the reasons, some of the events, etc. See Ukraine war video, Marinka city gone, Mariupol damage, useless war and relocation of civilians. These 3 videos are extremely telling: this same Mariupol coast area is the only picture and video appearing in 100s of news articles, bigger videos showing many high rise buildings as of April 2022. The rest of damage is just 1-5+ small houses (except one Mariupol area with 30 houses near each other destroyed, maybe Russians knew who lived there and they were on the 'blacklist' to be eliminated), single buildings and tanks, but we have no way to verify claims in videos by people without actual footage of what happened – were houses, tanks empty? The so called "80% houses destroyed in this and that city" are never shown, they only show a few houses which seem like 1-10% max (Maxar only shows satellite pics of a few buildings destroyed, not the whole town), it's nothing like Dresden, Hamburg in WW2. Videos faked?☺☺☺ Like with fake miracles, people can be paid to say stuff by either side. 2 countries (or alliances, NATO and CIS) can agree to fake a war, if the damage of buildings is far less than $ they get via the result: increased security, unlimited advertising about Ukraine/Russia, more money from oil (troops near Ukraine for 1 month in April 2021, then again nonstop since Nov 2021, so prices went up from there for many commodities related to war: food, metals, energy), more expensive electric car metals (see year on year, yoy metals, oil, gas commodity charts) so Russia can delay EV transition (Lithium up 3.7 times, nickel 2 times – Russia major suplier) and sell more oil, wheat, or have 400,000 spies settling in other countries under the guise of refugees? KGB wouldn't need conscious spies, they could remotely control Ukrainians to do what KGB needs. They got some easy to fake videos about Ukraine 'war' amputees, which could have been injured in normal car accidents or construction, paid to lie to make the war seem real.

Russians who fled Russia after the Sept 21 2022 1st post WWII reservist mobilization may not all be dissidents or refugees, but also spies fearing getting caught or spies for Russia or minorities fleeing forced military service as a method of extermination, etc; is the mobilization a trick to get dissidents and minorities out, plus more Russian spies? It's odd how this happened on World Peace day, 2 days after the funeral of the allegedly dead UK Queen (she 'died' 2 days after swearing in the new prime minister, TRUSS who claimed to be for monarchy abolition, some fake pic showing weakness provided 'evidence' she was 'ill or ready to die' at 96, like her 3rd cousin Mike, who 'died' at 96, the last alive world leader who was king during WWII); equally suspect is Romania (NATO nation with the largest NATO border with Ukraine) got a reportedly German (Russians are afraid of Germans, since WWII) President on Dec 21 2014, who is still president until Dec 2024, after Ukraine 2014 invasion and in Oct 2021, Romania got the first general (military guy) as prime minister since WWII, as if NATO knew the exact day of Putin's 'staged?' invasion and prepared for it since 2014, did NATO mind control Russia to invade? On 12-31-2022, Pope Benedict died or staged it, 100 years after the 12-30 founding of the USSR. Did NATO and Russia decide to split Ukraine, since Eastern Ukraine was always part of Russia before Lenin communists gave it to Ukraine in 1917? 0.5 million Russians left Russia by Oct 1st 2022, to avoid the draft, etc. Lots of spies? Lavrov said annexed areas will come under nuclear protection. Can a country or group of nations stage a fake nuclear attack, control all media and claim an attack happened, when none did, and remotely control visitors with radiation meters to show high readings when no radiation exists? Can they even make fake videos of foreign leaders saying stuff they never said? Yes, if they control all media. What is going on? Isn't it suspect Kiev was not taken (they could have flown 3000 aircraft daily and launch a million missiles) and Kharkiv province was overtaken by Ukraine in 10 days in September, with Putin inaugurating Europe's tallest ferris wheel at Prospekt Mira, 119, Moscow, 129223 (hidden observation post and radar in case of war?) just before 9-11-2022 as Russians retreated above ground forces from Kharkiv? Did Russians build 9000 tunnels under Ukraine (can do it slowly with no noise, so no war needed, to extend them under EU, then, reach Berlin in 15 min with vacuum train 4000 mph) by September 2022, so then they retreated after installing 10 trillion listening devices and cameras, plus mind control devices in left over weapons? Or will Russia collapse in 5 years, as Ukraine defense minister predicted in July 2022? Pro-peace Russians attacked Russia in 2023 with the Russian flag where the red is replaced by white, since red is linked to violence, blood, communism. Does the formal end of an 'empire' lead to the real end of it always, if they remotely covertly control the former colonies? Can people underestimate the enemy? Are the dead those conscripts or soldiers Kremlin wanted killed anyway? How many died and how many are fake deaths? What happens underground in a war, where people can't see from satellite?

Do we really☺☺☺ know who controls and fakes being really low tech, being on the losing side in a cold or hot war? Can sometimes a country that lost revert the outcome or actually win by remotely controlling the other to believe they won, using underground tunnels built during the fake war, which enable mind control? During 24-7 explosions of conventional war, seismic waves are harder to detect from ultra fast tunnel building or small nuke tests. I'm not saying this is what happens here or that a third country controls both Russia and Ukraine, only that it can happen in other wars, never believe anything without proof, only superpower generals or obe can verify if a war, like Ukraine, is fake 10-100%, as they got 900+ satellites, etc. ☺☺☺ Equally suspect is the fact the dead are only showed briefly with blur, so you can't tell if they fail to hold their breath. Anyone can hold breath 10 seconds while they take a pic without blur and pretend to be dead. They cover them in plastic or tarp in 'real?' train station attacks (false flags?) that show no evidence besides a smoke and some people running as in a 'staged?' blurred video on CNN. It could be planned (per CBS, Ukraine+Russia planning it, so nobody dies), real or unprecise bomb attack too, responding to nearby artillery, though it has the signature of false flag or else. In 2001 NY 911 planes were remotely controlled to hit exactly, etc and explosives to go off on impact, etc, so in 2022, we have remotely controlled helicopters, tanks, etc that can appear blowing up with people inside and also, record video of soldiers coming out of tank first, then create a video of smoke and even hit it with none inside and play old video of them coming out and superimpose it on smoke and you get amazing effects of 'real hit'. Plus video editing (DW hints subtly that a lot of stuff is fake, as they cover Russian propaganda that may have truth to it) using pics of mangled bodies from other wars, etc, deception has no end. Maxar tech purports to show real, not edited or faked satellite pics, but all countries are military dictatorships, i.e. nothing can be done, felt, thought, imagined without known or unknown remote control or approval of the military. They bomb 4 empty hospitals/stores (just outer rooms sometimes, after removing equipment to other areas) and then they say 300 were bombed, without any evidence. Don't just believe what they say, since Ukraine troops would not put artillery, military trucks in all hospitals, grocery stores (Retroville, etc), they need hospitals, so they can't do 500 false flags. In every war, deceit is rampant by both sides, to make public enlist in military due to rage. If the war is even real, it may be fake like all elections are.☺☺☺ The Finnish-Soviet war was on an 830 mile border, in super cold weather, no satellite to verify anything, was it real? Eerily similar to Ukraine war, with Russians failing. You would need 20,000 spies to watch every forest to see if deaths took place and how many, etc; the more remote and cold the weather it is, the harder it is to verify a war is real, since you need suplies for people who're spies in 1940, and spies can't be seen by either of the armies faking it (no satellites in 1940, etc). Finland lost 9% of their land in exchange (very subtle) for some Fins settling in nearby Karelia, etc, Russia? The general in Finland, Mannerheim, was the same from Tsar times, so Stalin (reportedly Georgian and anti-Tsar on paper) wanted him out. In WWII, US sent 1000 aircraft at once for raids over some cities, so here we go, 80 years later, and Russia by day 64 launched only 1900 missiles per CNN, when that could be launched by airplanes on day one alone to finish off Ukraine military in 7 days with an all out air, sea and land missile barrage the world has never seen, not even in the 1991 Gulf War. Russia got 4000 airplanes, yet it didn't, even though Russia knows Ukraine military facilities better than anyone. ☺☺☺ They said they want to demilitarize Ukraine. A joke? See deception in wars, fake inflatable tanks, fake artillery, etc. Add to that claims of Chechens and Mongolians in the Russian army shooting each other. Ukraine recruits Muslims to fight. Russia recruits people from all over looking to fight. Either way, the idea is that wars can have various degrees of fakery in them, but they're all tragic even if all deaths would be fake, since they cause untold property damage and stress in those thinking it's real.

It may be news to some that the Soviet labor camps were not fake, and they led to millions of dead, just like the Holocaust that everyone hears about; some links for the curious: genocide of Baltics and Europeans, Poles, 5 million Ukrainians, many others. Is Ukraine war fake as many suggest? CNN claims Russians are doing in 2022 the same things Stalin did in his reign, deporting Ukrainians to the far East of Russia, including Sakhalin island (oil exporting island needs workers?). Is the CNN report of grain theft in Ukraine real, a repeat of genocide by starvation in 1932 of 5 million? Or this report of Stalin gulag island? What do you think? CNN says 300 bridges were war damaged in Ukraine as of May 8, and 50 are under reconstruction; were they overdue for refurbish and they decided to blow them up to renovate them? Like a secret deal, Ukraine-Russia to blow up empty (of people, valuable stuff) bridges, hospitals, schools, which need renovation after 70 years of neglect, and then they renovate them and make a big fake war news drama to increase wheat prices needed for renovation money.☺☺☺ All gas flows they allegedly stop are impossible to verify, they can be fake, same for gas leaks, etc, all can be staged. It can be a way to get more people save the planet from global warming via electric cars, which are cheaper to drive than gas ones, so they manufacture various crises to cause inflation that causes people to buy what saves money. On 9-30-2022, three times 9, inverted 6, 666, the alleged 'Satan' number, Putin annexed 18% of Ukraine (10-12-2022, UN resolution condemned this annexation; 143 for, 5 against, 35 abstained, 10 did not vote), claimed to defend 'religion' (which gave us endless horrific genocide quotes and genocides from some 'religions' he's so actively promoting as "great savior" of human quantum entanglement field, to be popular among the ignorant non-Russian slaves in Russia, see video on Gulag & 'religious' Tsars), when they blew up endless churches in USSR times, closing 95% of churches, he called the West "Satanist" in a comical address accusing UK, USA of doing the same things Russia itself did (Russians still torture people in jails, see another one, girls beaten in 2022 by policeman for just saying 'no to war'), against 50 ethnicities, in a seemingly staged speech, planned years before.

While pretending to be a "Christian and abiding by non-killing commandment 5", Putin is in some videos inciting people to killing (to make war seem real? Can anyone trust Putin jokes?), never talks of a world of nonkilling, when he knows there are trillions of ways to peace without violence: 1. encouraging Russians to kill innocent civilians (in any war that happens) after Ukraine invasion by shooting at a training place to encourage more to enlist, tempting people to do evil, causing endless nations to stockpile weapons and prepare for war, raising global anxiety and canceling beautiful dreams of millions, is that "Satanist" or Christian?) 2. testing a weapon and loving weapons of killing, not being repulsed by them, just like unethical US legislators glorify killing and weapons on social media, committing an act of global quantum field degradation and hidden atrocity, all too common in too many nations, with police and spy agencies creating fake mass shootings, violence, etc. Why isn't Putin talking of non-lethal non-injuring nonviolent methods of solving disputes or of 'conflict' if Peace is not yet possible. Why not create a World of Peace in 3 months and 0 violence in 10 years, 0 jails in 30 years? Why not make music about it, concerts, demonstrations, dances, National Holidays to amplify that instead of mass murder vibe of war? The official story is that Putin's father lost his foot and ankle during WW2 during the Nazi (who controlled them?) genocide of Petersburg (0.6 million civilians killed by starvation, if USSR figures are not fake) and his mom barely survived due to bigger ration from a wounded husband soldier, so ☺☺☺why not end all wars☺☺☺, (not just those that destroy Russia) including the wars that used Russian bombs to flatten entire Syria cities too, and flatten houses and neighborhoods in Ukraine now? Putin forgot to mention USSR (where Jews had a lot of power at first) approved training Germans to fly airplanes and to thus kill millions of Russians, due to a Russian tradition of genocides (Holodomor, reportedly 5 million Ukrainians by starvation) and invasions of neighbors – greedy USSR split Poland into 2 with Germany and used violence and murder to take over Poland destroying the human quantum field, well before Germany attacked Russia; USSR gave ultimatum to Romania and others to take more land (Romania gave it away, to avoid war with USSR), as they did for 900 years, so these actions need to stop if we want Peace in 3 months; we need to forgive, forget and focus on Peace in 3 months globally, end all revenge desires; this German invasion of USSR was due possibly to a secret USSR plan to provoke or incite, encourage (thru spies disguised as Nazis) Germany to attack (like US provoked Japan in the (see video on all war 'provocations' that didn't stop Japan from becoming 10 times bigger and spreading so thin its military) hypothesis of "Pearl Harbor attack plan was known to US, like with 100s of incidents, dead were possibly far less: see 911 staged attack when the US military remote controlled planes, demolished building 7 that was not hit, etc?"), so that USSR can use Germans to kill 2 million USSR Jews, many Russians, and then USSR take land post WW2 from Romania, Finland, Poland, Germany, Baltics.

This was a typical technique used by big Powers, provoke a weaker nation (Germany was ultra weak after WW1 defeat) via a puppet Nazi regime to attack, so USSR can fight a defensive war (they are confident to win due to secret deals with USA, Britain, France (check out their Algeria actions) behind closed doors and USA having nukes before 1939? Did you read the stuff 8 pages prior on US-Russia global games?) and take a lot of land in a 'justified way'. Why be told only one side of the story? Let's hear both? Add to the ever more complex scenario, the Jews, Italians, etc in the Catholic, Anglican, Protestant, Orthodox Churches, Islamic mosques, armies of USA, USSR, Nazis (half Jews, quarter Jews were allowed to join the German army, so they could have let some Jews escape, especially those who loved Nazism (minus antisemitism) to create a Nazi Israel, unknown number, does anyone know the real Holocaust number?), France, UK, etc all plotting perhaps to create Israel, etc and change official stories here and there to hide when the genocide included Gentiles and Jews co-perpetrated it, as explained in the Jewish Pale area of USSR Kaganovich story of the language section. As you can imagine, everything becomes very complex, because each nation acts in its own interest while it can, though individuals can act in the species interest more, when they have any brains left. It's no longer 1938, we have a lot more weapons now. Putin invaded and caused a big shift into the quantum field, even if the war is sort of faked, that will in the end lead to Russia's weakening, though that may take many decades: pure terrorism of the entire planet thru the invasion and associated real or fake war footage will have "gentle tender soft healing" physics laws consequences due to the destruction of the human species quantum field, by amplifying negative emotions, thoughts, etc, just like Syria, Iraq war, etc; thus, the whole humanity will eventually unite against ALL WHO OPPOSE Permanent World Peace IN 3 MONTHS or sooner, on a hypermind nonphysical astral and even genetic level, since our species senses that war is no longer acceptable, the daily terrorism of the public via war images by any generals or imagined or real war starters like some fiction Zion Elders is no longer acceptable, nor is any reason for any war acceptable, nor is any violence and torture acceptable, nor is the global brainwashing of the masses that violent quotes are the word of God, given the risks for ending the species, the entire humanity will unite against any country starting wars directly or indirectly via proxy. Where there is a will, there is a way, so if we want peace we can find a way, even some UN planetary army to defend the human quantum field from torture, violence and war and gradually replace all armies.☺☺☺

Humanity has been deceived by the same liars forever, always saying this 'war is just', when war did nothing but enslave the entire human species in an eternal hell of violence, the same parasitic vampires have fooled humanity forever, the parasites come from all major ethnic groups, from all religions, from all walks of life, and become generals who then torture the entire human race. The day when the entire humanity can end the global oppression, of the human species by a few generals, is here; it is a simple endeavor of planetary healing: 8 billion meditators against about 800 fearful folks; 8 billion souls for peace against 800 lost souls and their 80,000 "not so gentle soft healing kind" subordinates who torture millions per 'training instructions and protocols'; let's pacify, using the radiant Light of God, or the Radiant energy of peaceful vibes if you're atheist, the lost souls and free all cities from torture, violence, jails and wars within 20 years☺☺☺, from wars within 3 months; humanity can unite and say ENOUGH IS ENOUGH, direct the former passion in all past wars towards meditation for Peace in 3 months; let us breathe in the Light of Eternal Universal Peace on all planets, and breathe it out to all humans in the universe..., especially on Earth, and bring it on; why can't the youth and everyone globally become as excited about Peace as the most excited people on Earth are today about their stuff? We're stronger than a few generals, we're 8 billion, we can end ALL WARS FOREVER in 3 weeks if we unite in peaceful meditations, peaceful songs and use the energy in sports for peace too. We certainly can bring peace, permanent World Peace, Russia-Ukraine war can end in weeks, the genius of the human quantum field will find a peaceful solution. Humanity is under attack by a parasitic 'alien force' who deceives humanity forever that this is 'the last war' or a 'just war'; thus, we humans have the right to self-defense against vampires, 'satanists', and our souls are mightier than all things man created, including the phony fake violence based ideologies or fake religions based on fake miracles to conquer continents and other religions of violence. Why do they need more land for? There are millions of empty planets waiting to be colonized, why destroy humans over a few miles? Our souls can bring peace peacefully just by meditation and breathing alone, pure thought energy, visualizing everyone like a shimmering Immortal of peace who wants peace and manifesting this vision, we don't need simulated cannibalism rituals, Jesus from Heaven or anything to manifest peace and free our planet from violence, we're the masters of our destiny. What is this 'alien force'? It may just be 100% our collective historical inertial propensity to repeat the past and not be interested in evolving towards peace. This plain selfish attitude of "torturing and scapegoating" generously helped by ideas like "sports and violent or restless uneterni music are more important than cities of millions of people being leveled" manifests itself as 'vampire generals' who keep humanity in a state of mad war reflective of their paranoia that was created by our collective lack of focused thought on peace, as the global military dictators don't allow any thought of permanent peace in

3 months, so far, on TV-radio: they're the most paranoid people around, who hold humanity hostage. These generals are symbols of our collective lack of compassion for those in war zones or those tortured by violent crime or even in jails (or houses turned into concentration camps or torture cells via hidden gadgets, or chemical torture in "mental health clinics" like Kazakh ones).

In other words, we humanity create the bad generals, thru our collective selfish choices, the entire humanity creates the bad guys who give us all hell of eternal war. Please don't love sports more than peace, because this allows eternal war to happen. Yet, it seems sensible to ☺☺ lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ not underestimate your inner soul ability to bring World Peace in 3 months and liberate humanity from the oppressive gangsters. As each person becomes kinder, the gang loses its power over us. We need to tell all people to refuse to fight, in all volunteer or mandatory armies, in all nations, to not obey their diabolical commands to kill, torture, harass other people in the name of "country, resource looting, Nazi or communist ideology, or religions of plundering and burning cities", and instead choose to protect and love the human quantum field, not to destroy it; we can't allow 800 generals to destroy the entire humanity, we defend our planet, against any alien force trying to destroy all humans via 800 clueless souls and their 90,000 puppet subordinates. Without war, we have 100 times more resources to go after violent crimes and the smaller gangs and causes of violent crime and jails. It so often happens that only 1 out of 8 billion can do something unique well, so it may just be you who does World Peace bringing in 3 months on any planet well. We, the people of the world, fed up with the Satanist Bible quotes and daily human sacrifice by US & other satanists in wars, fed up with the daily glorification of genocide via fake scriptures full of violent quotes, fed up with daily simulation of cannibalistic "eating blood and body of other humans", We the People, can demand real change towards Peace not cannibalism via wars, not change via violent protests or revolutions created by these vampires to create more bloodshed without any real change, but via peaceful changes and even silent meditations, in the privacy of our soul (so as to not invite retaliation from the vampire torturers of all humans). Does anyone really know all the shenanigans going on and why USA supported German war industry so much in the 1930s?

We can't end only some wars, but ALL WARS, AND NOT IN 3 BILLION YEARS, but IN 3 weeks or MONTHS INSTEAD. Putin bragged Russia is the inheritor and continuation of the Mongol empire (and their cruelty), how can that be something to be proud of? In 1200s, the Mongols wiped out entire cities and nations, killing millions, including in Ukraine. It took Ukraine centuries to rebuild, today the same is happening slowly. While UK, France attacked China etc, China also killed millions in the cultural revolution and during the Korea war of 1950-53, a real genocide. China enslaved the Vietnamese and Koreans too during some older wars, though the Chinese tribute (gifts back to Vietnam and Korea) were bigger than what they received, so it was more like formality and not real slavery; we can't just pretend only 1 nation does evil, see Chinese torture and Tibet alleged torture centers (demolition of newly built tall statues used to spy on the Chinese movements like Muslims used minarets to do the same in Xinjiang, and of 'religious' buildings used to grow resistance) and Sichuan alleged events, (they could explain to people why a certain religion is full of fantasy or lies, but not torture the low IQ believers who don't realize most people are online today and can see the qualities via the margins of the screen, new music, etc, without need to waste materials to build churches, 200 ft Buddha or Jesus statues, 70 ft minarets, while others are homeless), Arab/Berber/Jewish Greek pirates. China was far nicer than the Mongols. Let us liberate all humans from torture, cruelty, war and jails and bring ~~ Eternal Universal Peace ~~. Putin scoffed at the idea of 3 parents, which improves offspring when mom mitochondria have issues; as tech advances and we become Immortal, we shapeshift and can materialize offspring by precipitating rays, so a child can have 300 parents who're energy-physical hybrid beings; while it's true that gender change and all this role play about gender (all transgender people are fakes for the most part, look at the breasts of this guy pretending to be a woman, to make a point about the transgender people, nobody can verify their surgery, genitals and fake boobs) is, in the opinion of many, unethical (always, see why and especially) when we don't have even World Peace, end of hunger, end of violence, prisons, etc and people need real healthcare, not draining doctor resources with gender changes which ought to be illegal until all live to 120 on average due to shortage of doctors and facilities. Putin ignores that most of the transgender people are probably faking their desire to change gender to get attention or create spy covers maybe. While we're short-lived and so backward, gender change and role play is useless, unless one if born with both genders to some degree and it's science proven doing some surgery increases lifespan due to less hormone imbalance; otherwise, it's pure insanity and a waste of medical resources, given how many people die of countless diseases so much cheaper and easier to treat than gender change, a lack of compassion for others suffering from real disease, being male or female is not a disease.☺☺☺ Putin is role playing as the big US-West enemy, to get more support from the others, while ignoring in his 9-30 speech the bad things others did like China, Japan, Germany.

Putin allows ic3peak band to promote 'satanic' imagery, see Russian 'spiritual music' for all: 1, 2, 3, etc. This KGB created band makes the most disgusting videos, all filled with weapons and blood, pure 'satanism'. Satan doesn't even exist in science (it may exist as bad aliens though, who keep humanity in eternal war), it's a word they use to scare people into following their rituals or "kill all infidels" 'religions' they made up to conquer new lands? Russia terrorized the entire planet since Feb 2022 to annex some land, while filling the global news with the most evil energies in 80 years of nuclear holocaust and humanity's end. Check out the torture of Ukrainians. Not all the 1 million Russians who "ran away from Russia" are refugees. Many (a HUGE %) ARE KGB agents using hidden torture devices, given to them by agents on the ground in the host country (Mossad, KGB, etc, if they're Russia looking Jews or brainwashed minorities, some may be even East Asian looking too or Viet, Chinese, Siberians who pose as Koreans, Japanese but are PLA agents) or by Moscow KGB in their suitcases: their goal is to make Russia and Israel great again via Syria & Ukraine ruins, take over Syria to make Israel 70 times bigger, so the "Holy Word" is spread everywhere. They can even be spies of 100 other nations using same subhuman KGB tactics. Some of these South-Central America, Russia, Asia, Africa, Europe, etc 'immigrants' are brutal hardened serial killers that make Hitler look like an Angel. They infiltrate USA as "gay refugees" etc and other types, destroy Hollywood, advocate for no border wall, so they can bring in another 1 million serial killers (via illegals) who eliminate Peace Lovers in a KGB/Mossad style via slow murder and torture millions of Americans who want a Country of Immortality for All, not just Jews or Russians or 'Country X they spy for' pretending to be Hispanic, British, American ancestry local or immigrant. They're not gays, they just touch, hug or pat and kiss in public to deceive naive Americans; 'being gay' is their spy cover. Just like USA creates terror groups like Taliban, Al Qaeda, ISIS, etc to justify military intervention due to "terror events CIA pays to create", Russia and other powers create "bad music, gay movements, fake mass shootings, bad movies" to justify depicting the West or a target group or nation as "decadent, Nazi, gay obsessed, lust focused, violent, etc" so Russia, etc got a pretext to mobilize Russians, etc to fight the "bad guys they created by remote control or by using Russian spies pretending to be Westerners". It's false flagging "cultural movements", not a one time event, but a series of events, 1000s over 10 years, a form of conquest or subjugation of an 'inferior group' via "invented pretext and culture they didn't even originate." For example, USA may create gangs in Mexico, and use that as a pretext to invade Mexico because "the gangs kill our people". They can create 1000 fake videos of drugs killing people, etc. Naive people, who believe everything as true, will believe it. WW 1 & 2 were also created by big powers using many false flags and fueling the rise of Nazism, to have then a pretext to fight Germany and shrink its land by 33%. They create Nazism using foreign spies and have those guys behave like insane people shouting all day, then they rally the entire world against them to totally wipe them out. Same strategy Russia used, they trained Germans to fly airplanes and rebuild their Air Force, read the World Peace Chapter too to understand the tricks. In 2023 it is as if the same trick is used on USA, who is in many ways like Nazi Germany: everyone shouts and speaks on TV with a tone so removed from gentle tender soft nurturing graceful serene universal loving kindness, that it doesn't make US any different than the other nations, who repeat ad nauseam the same patterns of last million years. Take a look at music lyrics, the vibe, where is the compassion for the animals tortured to death? They want God to have compassion for them, what about using science to stop the bloodshed? Never is such a song popular, since almost all singers are mind slaves of the Military Bloodshed Lovers, without them realizing it. The more artillery like a song sounds, the more popular it becomes, as it gets people ready for the next war of bloodshed.

Some of these "gays" are simply minorities who use that as a pretext to escape the military draft perhaps, while pretending to be Russian to do their CIA assigned job, now that they're in USA. Some may be even local or non-Russians claiming to be Russians to appear as KGB spies, but being CIA ones doing counterintelligence to catch other spies: notice the name Maxim, maxillary, for teeth torture. Behind their sweet facade is often a cruel animal who has not achieved even the stage of 500 mammal species who don't kill and torture their own. Don't be naive, many countries use refugees to try to destroy the "host country". Look at Russian history, Muscovites have thru terror, torture and genocide expanded their country 20 times, that historical inertia is not all vanished, so we need to be careful. If you know neuroscience, you will understand these torture reports are not made up, as the 3 tones indicate character and USSR (Russia today) military culture of anti-immortalism: 1. hymn, 2. defense minister, 3. Putin (the Putin you rarely see, but fully understand from these leveled Ukraine (like Syria before) towns). A person who doesn't allow torture, who is ultra kind doesn't speak or sing like these 3, not in public at least as that contaminates the whole planet. Sadly, we often see these tones in most militaries during training and sometimes on TV police reports when it's not angry of course, just quite aggressive and random, unworthy of TV, unfiltered, not infused with kindness, gentleness, nurturing grace as anyone talking on TV ought to be in a world of civil humans aiming for ~~ Eternal Universal Peace ~~ in 3 months. ☺☺. These tones collapse the vibe of universal kindness and makes peace harder to achieve. Let us pray, wish and hope that everyone calms down and embraces immortalism virtue in military and police, ends torture. Annexing could have been achieved in 2020s by kindness and dialog,☺☺☺ without any violence, using positive methods, like, hey, if you give us a little land we give you '20 trillion dollars, all Ukrainians can go to Russia without visa for 50 years, gain permanent residence and immortality techs when discovered for free'.

Countries need be radically honest and end all torture, then wars will cease. All nations, not just one. Torture is doing as much damage as killing people sometimes, since 10 tortured a lot can shrink lifespan by 4 years each, as if they killed 1 taking 40 years off his life. Thus, before talking about PEACE, all countries need to stop torture, violence. This book provides 1 of 1 billion ways to achieve that by banning all violent content in all movies and music globally via international agreement, like carbon emissions, violence emissions. No music ought to be allowed, unless it is eterni in rhythm, melody & lyrics, World Peace in 3 months focused so we become human the 1st time in history. The planetary quantum field notices how in his speeches, Putin never talks about World Peace in 3 months and how to get there, only about stuff that helps fuel more wars so Russia gets bigger; the suffering of humanity in wars is not important, only fanning the flames of conflict when it serves expansionist goals; we, humanity, notice the lack of talking about World Peace in 3 months all day and the lack of talking on how to end Russia or anyone being exporter of weapons that damage all, Russia being 2nd biggest exporter of death causing weapons, true

'satanism'; a civilized nation exports only life.☺☺☺ The human species collective intelligence has a way of balancing things out over the centuries; perhaps, it is better to run away if in Russia, as things may only get worse. Russia could withdraw or support and talk all day about World Peace in 3 months, but they seemingly want eternal war, so the West needs to talk about peace, and create a global alliance for ending all wars in 3 months, all torture, all interhuman conflict. Even if Putin, Zelensky, EU made a secret deal with US to split Ukraine for a while to test new weapons etc, secretly before the semi-fake war broke the public won't know about it, as with Yalta that divided Europe in 2 camps, until 50 years later, the public gets only terror in the news and refugees, inflation, total lowering of threshold to violence, complete collapse of moral standards ('if they can do that, then we will do this'), total removal of incentives to do scientific innovation knowing military will use it to torture/bomb first and humanity will get it 3 centuries later so enemies can't get it covertly. At least, they got more earthlings wanting World Peace in 3 months. Ukraine decided to apply for NATO on the same day of the fake Putin speech, after EU's largest land grab since WWII, which may be good, we need 1 alliance to bring World Peace in 3 months, will NATO be it (Nurturing Alliance of Eternal Universal Tranquility & Oneness) or rename itself Immortality for All, World Peace or Immortals Alliance? Or is that naive?☺☺

4.1.9.16. ►►►► fake 'volunteer' army: all are brainwashed via gadgets to ask to enlist to make it appear they made the choice, or tortured or sleep deprived if lies, brainwash fail to convince folks to enlist until the recruiter gets bored and leaves folks alone after trying for years or decades, since after poor sleep folks are more suggestible and easier to brainwash that 'war is needed' and they 'know' your tone can't do more good for human species long-term than 2 million soldiers and 300 generals (who all ignore their tone) combined), fake dive of currencies (gov gives some extra cash to people or lowers prices, to minimize effects, or prints reserve currency, etc), fake sanctions anyone can bypass in many ways (just be self-sufficient or do undetectable trade, though Russia's trade is detectable and back to normal, only 8% of EU firms left Russia after 17 months of fake war), fake moves of stock market (all controlled by spy agency, read the 1st paragraph of the credit score section), fake articles (disinfo) like saying it takes 3 years to produce a missile or gadget, when they can do it in 8 hours in a factory that is 50 years ahead of the other countries (sort of like 'we discovered this weapon in 2010', but really, it was 1960), fake military service ('aristocrats' [the group who knows how the whole scam works] can't die, get injured, they only plan wars from the comfort of their plush offices, while lower 'aristocrats' go on the least dangerous missions where a bruise is all they can get),

4.1.9.17. ►►►► fake life history: similar to fake biography in books, fake wikipedia bio of many civilians (or world leaders, whose early life is so secret, only part of the public story is true: biography seems fake*, oddly, the father of many leaders were shoe makers, the leg shape of Italy: aristocrats or spies can make a* fake bio to pretend they were some poor peasant, or rich aristocrat), and background presented to the fake media to elicit☺☺☺ more army 'volunteers' cannon fodder or 'to be exterminated/medically experimented with' via 'war casualty' for the dangerous missions. Spy agencies, militaries worldwide can even use posts (videos, pics) by so called "social media celebrities" (nobody has ever heard of) who're paid soldiers in disguise. If you watch the lyrics, tone, etc, you will realize how many are conscious willing spy agency/military torturers (meaning not remotely controlled without their knowledge), due to the lack of eterni tone in their public speech which requires total independence from the cabal of global terror), who support war, torture and stuff most would least suspect: not just wanna be celebrities, but even some that everyone knows about. Many celebrities are openly promoting military images in music videos, being pro-killing pro-war 100% openly, but because of the ubiquitous violence on our planet, that thing is not even noticed as odd. Militaries makes instant celebrities out of nobody by using fake bots on their accounts to inflate the social media numbers 5000 fold. These soulless ghost mind slave with zero free will are brainwashed by the spy agencies/militaries, artificial war loving personality, like that programmed killer Manchurian Candidate guy story*, robotic people (see* CIA brainwashing disinfo movie, that probably hides their true present *methods more enhanced by high tech, wireless tech). N*obody has heard of these celebrities, who just came out of a military conflict or spy agency/cop job and now got a new cover as 'celebrity', post pics or videos (with threatening yelling tone, or sarcastic sadist one sometimes to let you know beyond any doubt they know what happened to your toes, eyes, heart, feet) related to their legs, hands, heart, eyes, etc, whatever areas of someone's body that the spy agency, military tortures in 1000s of people whom they directed that week to stumble upon that social media profile. All celebrities are:

4.1.9.18. ►►►► fake celebrities (spies, soldiers using 'model, singer, actor, sports' as cover): they do something different than what they say (when you read Wikipedia biography of a celebrity, 80% is pretty fake, i.e. what they did and the purpose of it is 100% different: say they 'spent 4 years studying literature, history, drama, theater or music', it was more like CIA stuff or some other skill of acting as someone else). All youtubers with lots of followers or anyone in any nation on any internet site are all spy agency, military, cops by the way, you can't be a celebrity without being that. Everything is staged in all nations. Rarely, they can be some fool spies are handling to dupe millions of low IQ fools. People see someone as a model, actress or whatever, but they never have eterni tone and World Peace in 3 months vibe, only spy-military vibe. What if all models are spies? All actors? All sports celebrities? Anyone who travels outside USA as a celebrity? They are, why do you think they travel for? That's their spy cover. Have you ever thought of it? Now you know it. Welcome to the world of reality.☺☺☺ Maybe that explains why we got so much violence in movies, don't you think? Look what a depraved music in USA. Only a military mind can create Hollywood content (see 1st 7 movies), since Hollywood is 100% a subsidiary of the Jewish controlled US military. They go to other countries to convert them to our depraved violent culture, so they use the cover of actor, singer or model. Why don't they live in such San Francisco bunk beds? The tech worker slaves live in them, with no oxygenation, extremely poor air quality, while endless buildings sit empty due to stone age rules that don't allow conversion to residential of the half downtown stores closed 2019-2023. Wait, crime is driven by the mansion dwelling singers, movie producers, actors too. See the mansions. It's 1700s all over again, except slaves now are of all races. Wait, does this seem like all out war against the worker class? Jails too. Hey, what about centralization and efficiency, so all workers get a decent condo at least in the short-term and all get houses in the long term (taking down tall buildings will take time)? They try to catch drug lords etc, so they make bad lyrics music, but that is only one way to end drug gangs… or other crimes, so the side effects are often worse than the benefits: for each bad guy they catch, they create 3 or even 50 bad guys, the spy agency simply exterminates, under the cover of "catching bad folks". Celebrities can be poor folks given a fake personality of a "rich actor, model, singer, etc or businessman" who is going to other countries to promote our filif fruit fly IQ☺☺☺ culture. Well, they got some freedom to buy some stuff others may not have on 10-900 times lower income, but since every choice is remotely controllable, their freedom is fictional. This spy agency violence can ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ end fast, once the people of the world vote for immortalism, so instead of using "violent thuggish content" promoters to exchange info among spy agencies, we exchange longevity info with all via Immortality for All scientists and gentle tender soft nurturing graceful serene universal loving kind honest eterni music singers and use those people as "spy info exchangers". Why pollute the internet with music that perpetuates war? And movies? Eternal Altruism Inc can end the 'aristocracy' of actors, singers, sportsmen, models who terrorize the human quantum field… without even realizing, since War Dept will be replaced by Eternium. The real 'aristocrats' in every nation are the spy agency and military who use these "positions" of "celebrities", CEOs of 3 million bigger businesses, etc to do their aristocratic work: at gunpoint their way is imposed on all, so it's not "they are 100% fake aristocrats", they're to some extent, partaking of the crazy system, supporting it too sometimes.

Tons of models (d moles, the spies) would appear regular (not gorgeous) without the makeup, skilled photoshop photographers, stylish clothing, if they just walked around town. The more important thing though is not that they're not more beautiful than average sometimes, but that they're often, due to brainwashing since birth, pure evil, the ultimate psychos, terrorists, gunmen/women, Nazi officers like daily beaters (using microwaves, lasers, tasers) and torturers, and serial killers, like the very top of each military itself who set the tone for everything. People forget some of the deadliest spies, who contributed to thousands of deaths, were sweet talking ladies, who seemed "nice and hot" due to hiding their nature perfectly. A model, actor or singer

(or a 100 other professions) can seem a nice lady/guy to the naive not knowing what to look for (tone of speech in public interactions, movies, SONGS, it reveals EVERYTHING), but a devilish torturer and serial killer can hide behind the sometimes "hot look", a "gentle pastor", etc. These people spend decades to perfect their ability to present the opposite of what they are, to not arouse any suspicion. They can be aristocrats and fully conscious beastly hyenas fully aware of the torture they do. Not torture thru music only, but a LOT more than that. Like Osama Bin Laden, just hiding it, so well, like Jesus, the blood drinker, miracle faker, and the Zion Elders. Satan presents itself as an angel of light, beautiful, attractive, but behind, he or she's loaded with guns, tortures, is like a crocodile versus a future 800 year old human (verses 8-40 of Immortalist Anthem) and uses the most violent music, movies, tone in movies to destroy the entire planet, either by co-creating it or promoting it on social media; he has no concept of eterni ethics. Other fakes include fake CEOs: they're spies/cops part or full time, for all big companies and even for 50-500 employees companies in more sensitive fields, which are really most these days (janitors can be remotely controlled, as their business is pretty simple, though janitors, cleaners, can be spies who place listening devices), fake priests (informants, spies). Vatican hires foreigners as priests, cardinals, bishops, they're all spies. Every church, mosque, temple anywhere is a spy base for the country of origin or even another country that setup the denomination in the "origin" country thru their spies. We live in a society of such dishonesty and deception, that World Peace is difficult, as no country trusts other countries and 'everything' is pure lies, Jesus too. Once the whole scam is exposed, people will want to achieve World Peace in 3 months more. Now, imagine, if locals are so evil and such liars, what can be those seeking asylum, illegal entry or "scientist" on J-1 visa, priest, etc: not all are what they claim to be, so they too can be loaded with exotic weapons and be serial killers. So, not all rich people are "rich", some are gov spies who use their 250 lineage of 9 generations of spies (from Britain, who joined USA, etc) to play the rich game, since it's more fun or better for some special mission of catching foreign spies. However, not every "fake rich" is poor, some are descendants of the British aristocracy and others (George Washington friends, imperial supporters from various empires etc) who simply created the army and all spy agencies to perpetuate their control, i.e. *they fake they're "poor faking being rich"*, if you can believe that. Housing will make it clear to you: not all rich people are fake, some are rich and want to maintain aristocracy, due to not caring about longevity or 500 year lifespans, since it "takes too long" in their 0 IQ brains for us to reach it "anyway", so why bother trying (if it may only happen after he dies in all likelihood per his models of human evolution, no soul exists), just buy big houses and big cars and die at 90. People want fairness, immortality capitalism, so it will definitely come one day. It's a little complex, not so black and white, but a billion shades of grey too. The real aristocrats need the 'fake aristocrats' used to destroy various groups or all groups of workers. "Smart" system, check out the "music" they give the workers to completely destroy them. The celebrities are effectively tools of the US government (like they're in other nations), who're to a great degree fully conscious CIA agents, etc willing to be complicit in the genocides of global torture by the US government, complicit in the half a trillion violent assaults US government does on millions of people each year, sometimes 15348 a year against one person using various devices. Their music reveals this fact to anyone who still has a functioning brain after RF blasts by US terrorists. Listening to their depraved music/movies is an act of genocide in of itself, as is supporting them. This only confirms what tens of thousands of pastors say to church goers every year: "avoid celebrities and their music, etc, because they're evil or their music infernal", etc. The pastors know celebrities are making that music up to be silly on purpose, to catch bad guys too, besides social engineering wanted by whatever spy or cop agency. In China, online grandmas put a beauty filter to look 35 years younger and wholly different, to sell stuff. Daniel Tammet claims to have good memory, though possibly 100% youtube publicized savants are fake spies using that 'savant' as a cover to pretend they're only into numbers of whatever they're good at, like some claim many had skills develop after a brain hit (new connections after brain trauma).

4.1.9.19. ►►►► fake religions: to take over political, financial power over time, as politics and religion were highly fused in ancient times; to enslave, vampirize an area or country (or use for many purposes beyond prositution, human trafficking, Mengele experiments, organ harvesting without people even knowing it happened during a fake 'medical procedure' (we don't know what stories of torture or harvesting are true though on wikipedia, just giving an example, since Chinese say they always ask for 'written consent', yet getting someone tired, injected with some drug to sleep and feel nothing, using gadgets to mimic inner voice to implant a thought (or dream) as one's own and forced confession (torture until you lie you did something you never did, so they produce a fake tape) type sleep deprivation work well to create consents). This slavery is made easier by fake religions teaching "accept suffering and abuse like Jesus or etc, don't fight back, don't use any means to defend your life, longevity, etc, be a cattle (guinea pig?) or slave", don't use even nonviolent defense that requires way higher IQ than typical soldiers, very high level of education, not brainwashing we see in many anti-tech (no electricity, phones, cars, etc) "chariots that damage the brain like concusions do due to poor suspension vs cars" anti- science religious denominations, though some cults may be fake with all/many faking it to use that 'identity, low IQ, way of life, beliefs' as spy cover); they can use 100s of denomination or pop culture fake 'teachings', fake 'truths' to enslave, such as "do not lend with interest, so others can have no competition when creating banks and lending with interest, making huge profits with little work, so they have time to start wars" etc and other predatory parasitic tricks; any/all clergy of an organization or denomination can be spies who pretend God chose them as intermediates to God's Grace and truth, the ONLY truth or best, no thinking allowed, just BELIEF without any evidence confirmed by 50 sources for maximum accuracy; confession to gather info and use it against locals, etc) based on faked miracles, spiritual apparitions (that didn't occur, all lies by paid 'witnesses', Mary, Buddha, Krishna, Jesus, angels, to loot/enslave people or 'apparitions' happening due to folks being a naive robot believing holograms/sounds made with lasers, hidden tech are spirits, ☺☺☺or 'apparitions' made up to pretend one is gullible or a believer in a religion common somewhere, to blend in, avoid being killed or discriminated against, or reduce violence by creating fake myths violent gullible people believe in, or provide cover for espionage as done for millennia thru 'religious entities', 'temples' etc) and/or events, tons of fear-guilt (original and/or other sins, fixed only by one organization, denomination, guru or messiah) for maximum manipulation, sleep disturbing (see #6 method),

4.1.9.20. ►►►► fake inferiority complex: pretending they can do what lay people can't to make you feel inferior and to manipulate you since you trust people who 'do such amazing things and listen to them', such as astral travel, talking to spirits, read minds (they got info from elsewhere or implanted the thought themselves via gadgets, silent sound etc), visiting Heaven)

4.1.9.21. ►►►► fake health issue: back pain they create, then they have you go to some fake healer and it disappears, since they stopped causing it with a gadget, not because of the fake healer): just another way to mind control; they can cause also real health issues, by their weapons and suggestions of drops, etc like (dry/red eyes, etc),

4.1.9.22. ►►►► fake medical device or company: or with some real healing function too (using synthetic "telepathy" without engineers knowing where ideas came from and the dual use hackability of the devices) with dual/extra purposes than stated, turned on remotely to "kill/damage" people, changing medical scan pics/results of medical/etc devices, the operation of devices so it harms not heals, parameter changes to make device useless or map, damage eyes, brain for better mind control, using "healing an issue they created via secret means" as a cover for more damage/mind control (posing as saviors, helpers to win trust/manipulate), shipping look alikes or replacing them at USPS/UPS by spies to give fake medical data, twitching of an body area at night to disturb sleep, overflowing mind with ideas for irregular sleep hours for mind control, or slight pain or dryness of any area, eyes, anus, dream harassment using gadgets), or sending people to pretend they're healers to relieve the discomfort (the gadget is turned off, after a few years/days of turning it on now and then, so sensation disappears to fake/simulate a healing miracle☺☺☺ of a "natural" (not man made) issue), swapping babies at birth so real parent is hidden (women under anesthesia often times, they can't see),

4.1.9.23. ►►►► fake rituals (wafer, baptism, etc) for "lowest IQ, science ignorance, fastest manipulation thru simple beliefs (when reality is so complex)", religious mandatory beliefs repeated at each service "we believe in..." (no thinking, no debate, meditation or questions allowed during service in some denominations, everything is pre-written and some of it cult-like) that stifle "critical thinking, questioning everything, scientific progress, believing nothing without evidence, and independent thinking" that have to be repeated (brainwashing) in order to create easier mass manipulation, fake denominations, fake books (written by spies/soldiers) about spiritual topics etc, fake organizations (some spiritual nonsense, where they stage events, have people fake their 'leg issue', see details on confirming torture), fake churches, all created by spies to further economic/political goals, casinos and strip clubs instead of Immortality Science Parks, gambling, fake lotteries (top ten jackpots were won by people from blue or purple states, except TN, the only time a republican state won and even then it was a third of the jackpot), violent anthems and glorification of killing for easy use of buffer or puppet country as cannon fodder, weird education policies that weaken the civilization, liquor or vape stores to undermine brain function and strong tech building, movie theatres to see violent movies full of negative emotions, comedies to keep people distracted with lies, music lyrics/styles/tones without any aim (that stagnate society or weaken its morality, higher hypothesis thinking and eterni tone capacity), cultural trends that weaken the civilization.

4.1.9.24. ►►►► fake TV debates: As a sarcastic uneterni tone TV host said "most TV talk is 'stupid' & irrelevant, paving the way for a one party state", which could happily be Immortality or Eternity Party, since elections are fake anyway. Or 2 longevity parties, Democrats and Reps renamed or pro-longevity for more IQ if people see a debate, though debate can be within the same party over what policy to implement to help all live to 9000, instead of only some CEOs or etc. The issues are not even the TV host mentioned, it's mainly the lack of World Peace in 3 months focus, and from that all else comes, since without ending war, torture, violence, no real progress is made and all talk of human rights and democracy is a mere scam and fraud. The issue is the TV host is part of the global terror system, whether he realizes or not. The main issue is that 0.1% of TV & music tones globally are eterni, meaning happy gentle tender soft nurturing graceful serene universal loving kind honest (with a real conscious effort to filter all aggression out, leaving only the gentlest healing tone, as confirmed by MRI of emotional brain centers) less sarcastic and that reflects our ethics and degree of aggression and propensity to dishonesty, war and torture. This real issue is never talked about, since the TV guys who say "TV programs don't talk about important stuff" don't use very gentle tones either. All TV show hosts (the fake lefties or right wing making millions while others get by on 20k a year, pure parasites), presenters, singers, etc globally, journalists, etc are spies of the country, and they stage these debates, shows to inform the public and sometimes polarize people so they feel they made this or that choice and voted. It's all one entertainment show sort of, of kids pretending they want to bring Immortality for All, Longevity for all, but behind the scenes planning the next big war. Americans, wake up, all the left and right pundits, Talk show hosts, etc are all spies, soldiers who're just role playing, the so called belief in elections is just a way to console the public. We got 0 World Peace in 3 months talk on TV, none, but endless RITUALS FOR ALL. They don't debate about how to bring 0 torture, 0 violence, 0 jails (healing centers instead) in 10 years, they don't stop all mental games, role playing and get to the real task of decent healthcare for all, meaning decent housing, food, sleep, preventive medicine, biomarker gadgets.

4.1.9.25. ►►►► fake elections: the 25th tool used by the ancient spies are fake elections, since the times of Greeks. They know who wins, since generals, intelligence agencies decide that months or years before. The solution to the fake elections, is explained in the last 3 pages of this section: ELECT POLICIES, not liars, i.e. People Can Elect what Policies to Help Bring Immortlity for All are to be Implemented by WHOEVER PASSES THE KNOWLEDGE TEST for that Position, the masses of low-average IQ can't choose the PEOPLE. You can't have "IQ 70 decide who is 'IQ 180 vs 150' for a job", it cannot be done. A test of job knowledge does. IMMORTALITY IS KNOWLEDGE, for example: will we choose tho focus next 2 years on Replacing all Carpets with LVP to improve indoor air quality, Mitochondrial Immortality and Sirtuin 6 gene editing to improve everyone's lifespan, or on the inhibition of mTORC1 binding to delay aging, do we focus on boron beam jets to achieve molecular changes without nanobots or on nanobots – that's the stuff on TV, not these munching gorillas full of makeup, of rodent IQ making millions a yr by keeping everyone stupid like a snail☺☺☺☺☺☺☺. The election is all the SCIENTIFIC DISCUSSION OF SAID TECHNOLOGIES and their impact on lifespan, nobody can be a News Presenter unless they are a STEM College Professor or a STEM Inventor, Engineer, Scientist with a lot of inventions or papers: we reduce TV-radio programs 50 fold at least to cut thru the rat IQ stuff, redundant garbage that makes everyone stupid like cabbage itself☺☺☺☺☺☺☺. We end the hooligan control of all media. We bring media to the Immortalist Standards. No more demonic violent music, movies and crap. Death penalty for any violent crime. Any educational test and any job test is multiple choice like SAT 2 (even audio if measuring communication skills, what is appropriate response or tone), with no possibility of "subjective interpretation, racism, sexism or any bullshit", no screen sharing allowed on the days of the national exams (1st Monday of every 3 weeks), one's IP has to show and a software prevents any sharing, so no subject expert can allow his best pal to copy answers and get fake grades – exams may occur within the school with no devices allowed, so one can't use AI on phones or tablets to get answers, though the gov can use the universal online system to block all internet access (except the exam site) to all devices within 30 ft so no AI cheating is possible. Every student, candidate searched to be free of e-devices. Immortalism means we have one government not 20000, 11 companies not 33 million, one salary for all Americans from janitor to CEO and President (out of which a given amount can only be used for food, shelter, healthcare, etc separate so none can buy wine, makeup, etc and have no $ left for basic needs as then they engage in theft) and positions are given to those who have the highest score at the position exam, and if equal score, the guy with higher Immortality Credit Score, no election of corrupt "turkey IQ" folks, only filtering out Morons by TESTS. No more "tomato IQ" folks admitted because of extracurricular activities or "prior experience". No more teachers grading anything, everything computerized 100.00% objective, even in language classes, the AI evaluates grammar, etc. That way nobody gives grades to favor one's gender, political belief, looks or whatever. Everything tested, the so called "amazing past experience" on a resume too. No more human bias possible. 99.9% gov officials today would fail the 20 hour test, 4 tests of 5 hours, exhausting ones, because almost none of them know STEM, only bullshit "political science, civil admin and pathetic useless deception, talking BS skills" instead of STEM skills for building the anthem Civilization of Immortals. We poison all kids with majors in stupid subjects like "political science", "economics" "civil admin", "art history", "cultural history of X" (no culture exists, when violent crime exists, studying those savages is a waste of time), etc. Below, logical☺☺☺ gentle kind arguments in favor of ending political parties are presented. No more parties, everyone proposes Policies to focus on to Add the Maximum Billions of Lifespan Years to the 0.4 billion Americans in the next 4 years, all proposals must show the math and lifespan years calculations by each policy. Electing People is STUPID, it creates Personality Cults, makes all everyone focus on appearance and the most stupid things about a candidate. How can people behave like 3 year olds to focus on such irrelevant details without actually having a real test to measure the alleged skills? The Rich control both candidates and the election system is designed to keep the masses as stupid as possible focused on trivial stuff so the rich steal trillions.

Check out a video about Joe Biden June 2024 visit to Italy, and interacting with Italy's prime minister. Biden is a symbol of America's covert rulers, who want America to appear weak (watch Biden ultra slow walk) and to enlighten the Americans that presidents choose nothing, they're mere puppets, watch Biden freeze among dancers, during debate, with NYT calling for Biden to quit, and House Speaker invoking the 25th amendment to call for his removal as President due to inability to perform, with 60% of voters calling for the 81 year old Biden to be replaced with a new candidate, Hollywood donors calling for him to step down. Then he said he was a black woman and elected statewide as a kid. Finally, another comic one just before the hilarious ignoring of reporters. He says he has been in battles all over the world. Biden calls Zelensky "President Putin" and then Harris Trump, and correctly stated that he needs more sleep and ending appointments at 8 pm, maybe try going to bed at 9 pm like George Bush. The epidemic of chronic diseases that shortens lifespan 5-10 years is often due to poor irregular sleep alone, it's known Alzheimer is 30 times more likely if you sleep little and irregular hours. Learn something from these videos, go to bed at 10 and sleep in darkness, wake up daily at 8 or so. Focus on doing quality things, not quantity of trashy things. Better sleep more and do in 1 hour more and higher quality cognitive work than 3 hours of zombie state slow work. Us military younger much faster people rule nuclear and other responses, Biden is ceremonial, like kings are. Slow old people as leaders is a classic ploy to dupe America's enemies, but choosing someone who is older and much slower (watch 1 min), who evoke compassion, laughter and less anger during meetings with officials. Check out another slow Biden one. Who is the real Commander in Chief? KGB? Don't Americans realize USA is on the verge of collapse or dramatic change? How can we have Presidents like Biden who even in 2020 was half dead? We need younger more alive energetic, non-tortured, well slept, rejuvenated presidents who inspire the nation, not zombies. It's a sign USA is run by sadistic men who want to destroy mentally every American by entraining them with the brainwaves of death and senility. There must be a 50 year max age for any candidate, since people are cooked by age 60. You want a President who can articulate some eterni tone and be rather quick, youthful and alive. First of all, most voters are not 78-81 like Trump and Biden, candidates ought to have, on average, the same age as the average age of the voter, so in their 30s or 40s usually, sometimes in their 20s, but less than 50. Even worldwide, the average world leader is 62, which is a lot younger than 79.5 for the 78-81 2024 duo. Many professions require people to retire at 65, like airline pilots where you need to be ultra fast and agile mentally, very healthy neurally, so how much healthier and agile and functional ought the brain of a nation pilot who flies the nation in the space of the galaxy and history? A lot more than 65 year olds. Democracy means to REPRESENT THE VOTER, HIS AVERAGE AGE, not Old Aristocrats killing millions. That's why we have an 8 year term limit, so we give a chance to younger people. The US constitution is outdated, it needs to state a President needs to be minimum 25 and maximum 45 at the first or second inauguration. Same for Vice President and House-Senate Speakers, governors, senators, representatives. These are important jobs, even if largely ceremonial (100 advisors and spies decide what will be done and the official is the public interface who speaks). Advisors, covert or overt, public or unknown, can be older. But those who speak to the public, TV-radio ought to have the most eterni youthful tones, appearance has to be healthy (not overweight), alive, to rejuvenate a nation. How about old people becoming humbler, helping create an immortalist nation of Immortals (in the long run, in the short run living to 125), to lead from behind like a true Tao Te Ching sage? Tenderly gently kindly☺☺ please stop being power addicts, let the young lead us into an age of gentle nurturing kindness away from this banditry on TV.☺☺☺

YOUNG PEOPLE SOUND MORE eterni TO OUR EARS, when they try to, due to better control over the vocal chords and the brain, which is bigger (brains start to shrink at age 25 or so). Immortalists deify Eternal Youth attained by slowing aging 1 trillion fold. THE EAR INCIDENT: some people claimed that 1 day before France's July 14th 1789 French Revolution national holiday, July 13th 2024, Trump made a deal for Secret Service Agents, who cover Trump behind the podium after the fake shooting, to hide a little pouch with red paint and put some on his ear or have a dart of paint be shot to his ear by someone in the back (all videos hide that vantage point, to hide how the paint gets there), so when the gunshot noise is heard, he's placing his hand over the ear, takes cover and secret service folks pour paint on his ear (that's why all 7 agents cover him so well 'against bullets that they knew never would come, since the Secret Service saw the 'shooter' on the roof 20 minutes before the 'shooter' allegedly fired at Trump's podium' 8 times and then was shot dead 26 seconds after', so nobody sees how Trump or agents put fake blood on the ear), and they claim the bullet barely touched his ear. The next few pages have many videos explaining why this, like all elections, was a fake event, since various cops saw the shooter as a suspicious person 50 minutes before "Trump's ear was 'hit'": how come the Secret Service only "shot dead" the "shooter" only seconds after the 'fake shooting of Trump', and not 10-20 minutes before if they saw him on that roof 20 minutes prior, not sending anyone to remove him? Only ☺abysmal IQ☺ people shoot leaders, officials, etc, because the country is run by the military (who never take part in rallies and are not the official 'military leaders') covertly, thru many layers of people, the civilians and public spy agency/military officials are mere robotic puppets who make no decision and whose words and ideas are written into their brains via synthetic telepathy. France has the biggest nuclear arsenal in the EU, the biggest nuclear power plant network of any EU nation, so it is not a coincidence that the French national holiday was chosen for the "shooting" of Trump, since France invaded Moscow in 1812 and NATO (TONA, TONE, HEAR, EAR) could go to war with Russia over Ukraine, as Russia is claiming they're recruiting 1000 soldiers daily in 2024, this staged attack is Trump's way to tell Americans that indeed, aristocrats will stage a Russia-NATO war to kill millions of workers and we need be ready to 'Fight, Fight, Fight' as he chanted after the fake shooting. WW3 would only happen if aristocrats can dupe the masses into fighting, so the rich maintain the terror of 25 millennia. Trump wants the workers to Fight so the Rich make interest on weapon loans and subjugation of workers who produce weapons, fix infrastructure and worker bodies that wars destroy. Do we need to Fight wars? CNN shows the 'shooting' events we saw in videos happened around 18:12 or 6:12 pm, like June 6 Russia national holiday, like 1812 invasion of Moscow. This fake shooting may be staged to deceivingly appear as a veiled threat to Putin (if Trump is a Russian spy pretending to be anti-Putin), since 2 days later he announced his running mate, Vice President to be JD Vance, like Jedi (Star Wars) Vance, a former Marine who, as google search shows on the right, on Wikipedia snapshot, received the Audie Award for Nonfiction, again Audible, Tone, Ear, etc, in a veiled threat to China's support of Putin, since Au (symbol for Gold or Yellow Chinese) Die is like Australia and Die over South China Sea Navy battles. Trump could also be a Nazi, Brit, Russian or Jewish spy, who put on a fake cover of 'billionaire' and 'local aristocrat', to end aristocracy or to turn USA into a Russian Empire colony or British colony in the hands of foreign aristocrats. 2 months later, Ryan Routh of Hawaii didn't shoot Trump, but was caught with some rifle near Trump West Palm Beach estate, and this 'wanna be shooter' (FBI cop role playing) is into housing for all Hawaiians, volunteered for Ukraine, in another fake "incident" FBI created to wake Americans to the reality of the fake Ukraine war where condos are demolished to make space for single family homes for all: note how in this fake war, no evidence is shown of actual dead people after a strike of tobacco/alcohol factory, depraved stinky hotel, and stinky dilapidated apartment complex that needs to be razed and people housed in single family homes instead using the space taken from useless businesses. Trump is choosing to kill Americans with smog from USPS gas cars by talking of blocking 100% EVs for USPS in 2030, since he's a Russian oil sales spy, who caters to Big Oil Mafia in Russia, USA, etc.

From the videos it is clear that the red 'blood' appears only after Trump is standing up again: the agents jump near where Trump is taking cover and obviously spread red paint on Trump ear and face to make it appear like a shooting (gel pack as 100s of people said online), the podium hides the moves of the agents and their sleight of hand so familiar to Jesus the Jewish con. Trump promotes violent crime via alcohol, by hiding alcohol report. Republicans are pure evil, like the Democrats. Oddly, "Joe Biden, You're fired" poster is right next to Trump in the video: watch. Everything is staged so well, to make people support Russian KGB asset Trump superman nature, like Jewish Nazis did with Hitler. Trump may be a Jewish Nazi, "exterminate all gentiles who refuse to be slaves" type of Jew, since he accepted the nomination in his lies full shouting speech at the Republican National Convention on July 18 2024, July 18 is when Hitler published Mein Kampf in 1925. His tax bill adds 6 trillion to national debt over 10 years, while this benefits only the parasitic 50% who spend 1.4 trillion a year already in demonic activities, the entitled "mostly selfish pigs" who make more than 35K in income, with the poor getting 0.8% of income boost, vs 4.4. for those making 440-1000K, and the poor 50% also losing much of food and healthcare benefits ending with paying more than before the bill: it is a genocidal bill of exterminating the poorest 50% in typical criminal Republican style. Oddly, some speculate our Jewish Secretary of State Blinken was replaced by Marco Rubio, who is allegedly Jewish per one comment with 32 likes (the most): Jews having fun slaughtering gentiles via wars on every continent, like Jewish Kissinger in Southeast Asia and 120 million via communism. Jews in Russia want Russians to die in a useless war, Putin gov is Jew controlled, too much of what Russia's strategy is from the evil Old Testament. Russians are too naive to realize the war only helps the Jews, who control Zelensky the Jew too. Russians need to unite and demand Peace now. The govs we have in most nations are not serious about ending violence and war now at all costs, they're just aristocratic terrorists who sit in offices and don't go on frontlines to die in useless wars of greed. US would not spend 1.4 trillion/year in nonsense, if it had any ethics and wanted to bring 0 violent crime and World Peace in 5 years and made that the goal via 22 hours a day on all radio-TV dedicated to that. We don't have and never had a real President, of real substance (only puppets of rich aristocrats), since from the get go, George Washington, British General, was all about war, espionage, so it went that way. A real President challenges world citizens to spend 25 hrs/week to Bring World Peace in 3 years and 0 violent crime in 5-10 years, encourages all world citizens to give up their infernal lifestyles of selfish 0 IQ, so as to bring a civil world where no human dies due to violence before their natural years, and later the ultra kind Spiritual World of Immortality for All. ☺☺☺ The Cuban 'Jew' Marco Rubio interned for a Jewish Congress lady. Trump's son in law, Jared is a Jew involved in Judaism at Harvard, while Trump's daughter converted to Judaism prior to her marriage to a Jew. CNN analysts found at least 22 big lies in his acceptance speech. Trump's health secretary wants seniors to eat deadly foods, with high salt, sugar and fat levels, that cause strokes and heart attacks: Republican love.

Trump claimed his hand was full of blood from the ear, but pics show no blood at all, indicating the fake blood was placed while he lowered himself under the secret service agents to make himself look protected by God. 13 days later, Trump ear looked as if no bullet hit it, so most people online believe everything was a scam to boost his approval rating. Any little red or anything above ear, can be easily made with help from FBI and special injury mimicking red paste or tricks Hollywood uses in movies. Those believing it was real never watched the 10000 youtubes about how Hollywood fakes injuries in movies. Jew Lie 666, July 18. 6+6+6=18. Jewish flag is 6 pointed star, 2 triangles, 666, the mythical mark of Satan. The wealthy irreligious Zionist US-British-German Jews who puppeteered Hitler since birth, wrote Mein Kampf using him and his 2 helpers and financed WW1 (Ottoman Empire ended, to make preIsrael free) & 2, even Nazism to create Israel. Got it? The 'bad type of' Jews wanted as many 'low IQ' Germans dead (8 million died) while Germans kill as many Russians in WWII (27 million) as possible. Banks start gentile-gentile wars, to dominate both parties well and bring eternal mayhem. That's why the first move of immortalists will be ending all banks. With 20000 Jewish, etc US banks in 1930s, it was easy to con the cannon fodder 460000 American soldiers, so 80 million died in WW2 to create Israel in 1948. The rich banker Jews didn't care if 6 million religious poor Jews died, just as the aristocratic Russians killed millions of serfs they worked to death in the 1700s. Some may have escaped to Israel aided by Jewish Nazis who pretended to be German, where is the evidence 6 million died anyway? What if it was only 0.3 million? Some Jews, who love green, are arguably the greatest Nazis, the superior ones, entitled to wiping out all non-Jews: Deu 20:10-17: all non-Jews can be exterminated per the unholy evil Bible. Read the values of the 'bad less educated type of Jew' here. Protect your nation from these 'bad types of any ethnic group'.☺☺ I love all humans, even Jews, all nations can be brainwashed to be violent via violent scriptures or informed, educated, healed, uplifted via the Immortalist Anthem. Oddly, at the last minutes of the Republican convention, instead of poor folks coming on stage, a Trump clan of aristocrats, his family, came to con us. Why can't poor people get a nice house☺☺☺ built by volunteers of Immortality Building Inc or Habitat.org, come on stage, show house video, explain how sports are evil not good as Trump says? Because Re-pub-licans don't care, except to cremate us in human sacrifice rituals called wars as Bibles say, they tell us that they're Americans, but many are Jews. If elected, Trump said "no need to vote anymore in 4 years", as he will change USA, to vote every 5 years? Or become a system with no parties since they're all fake? Why do we have parties? We don't need parties: we elect policies that help all live to a billion years old.

The internet is full of thousands of posts saying this was a fake "assassination attempt" where he victoriously says (watch the 2 min of the 'shooting') "Fight, Fight, Fight", to make Americans support his policies if elected in the fake election. Watch 2 min of Trump gaffes. Everyone told cops about a gunman on the roof, yet they ignored them, knowing it's fake and nobody will die, only noise will happen. Watch his ear after the shooting. Watch it again, and see no damage and FBI chief tried to tell Americans the shooting was fake, albeit in a very subtle way. They had 50 minutes to catch the shooter and they didn't. Why? And how could he hide his rifle in the backpack for 50 minutes? Now, keep in mind no video exists of the nonbreathing (after he was 'killed') alleged dead shooter or the dead nonbreathing (after death) rally guy who was "miraculously" between the shooter and Trump and "helped Trump escape death". Why? Because the shooter was an artifice, he didn't die, nor did anyone. It was a mere fraud the CIA did on the American psyche. Some disinfo agent is shown saying "I saw the guy dying between Trump and the bullets", but no video is ever given. Are you so naive to trust spies? You can see the secret service on the (much closer to Trump) other roof, allegedly "shooting the shooter later (though no such sounds are heard 15-26 seconds after first shot as secret Service testified in Congress)", though it's not clear if Trump was told to cover his ear when he hears the gunshot to make all believe the shooter really hit him; however, his ear appears to have been pierced (take a look at the real or CIA doctored picture, we will see how it is after blood is cleaned and he speaks in public, they will say they used "tissue engineering to heal his ear and make it look normal again as if no bullet touched it". If Trump would have ever showed with a hole (he did not, as we see July 26 pic, 13 days later, there is no injury at all) where the bullet pierced as his tweet claimed, or etc, it's very possible the FBI could have made a hole (like guys with a huge ear hole in ear lobe and a ring) before the shooting, then covered the hole (upper side of ear) with a skin looking material that was removed once he lowered down on the podium, then FBI could have sprayed the surgery hole in red paint, to make people believe in him, "the hero whom 'God' saved". FBI let the "shooter" come 130 meters from Trump, which was intentional, as protocol requires the Secret Service to secure all buildings within 1000 meters. His rifle was not going to even work, if this guy was really intended to shoot, not just pretend so. He could not have climbed the building without FBI knowing, dozens of people saw him 3-4 minutes before the shooting (watch the video down this page of people seeing him crawl, how come the Secret Service didn't see him and secure that building a mere 120 meters from Trump? They saw him but wanted the 'fake shooting' to take place to terrorize and deceive Americans and make Trump appear as a victim to increase his hero image? Or simply to show how fakery works? How Ukraine war is fake? The 'shooter' was let in there to make it appear real, he didn't shoot, those are fake sounds made by others to make it appear so, the 'shooter' is alive and making jokes again. He got a new identity as FBI agents get 30 identities for 30 missions, see 'shooter' 1 hour before the shooting doing things that would attract anyone's attention, especially with his collapsible rifle in the backpack. Reports indicate a cop saw the shooter 106 minutes before the shooting and reported the sighting. Odd how they took no action. Even 3 min before shooting, the guy is seen on the roof walking and etc. The fact this was a fake shooting is obvious in the way Trump appeared after the shooting in public, with a big white thing covering his ear, to hide the fact his ear is perfectly normal and the pictures with blood (that showed some damage) distributed online were CIA modified pictures. It's obviously a fake shooting, fake election, just gun noise, CIA sleight of hand, pre-rally hole FBI made in his ear, if any hole ever will show up (they will say they grafted some skin from a skin growing lab using his stem cells and fixed it). Watch this 11 second video to see how Trump says "if you wanna see something...take a look" (and right above him in the video, the cops look at the shooter and shoot him).

In some less circulated CNN videos, we see Trump saying before the shots "and look what happened to our country, probably 20 million people, and you know that's a little bit..." and you can see the huge billboard "Illegal immigration into the US" and also the staging of the "injured/dead and use of red paint to make blood appear, all like in a movie set" the huge spike of illegals under Biden, when Jews, KGB Russians, Arabs, Muslims, Ukrainians, Indians (claiming to be Latinos) etc came, at the rally on CNN (20 million illegals entered under Biden, Jews, Russians, Iranians, Chinese, etc all America's archenemies trained to kill, terrorize, take over, not the Latinos). This shows how perfectly the KGB, CIA, etc control the President and what goes on around him, his every word is typed on a computer by an FBI agent: the president is simply a VOCALIZER. Trump won't deport anyone, he said before being elected that he will end war in Afghanistan, deport all illegals, build border wall all the way and he did not. All deported people come back 5 times, no matter whom you vote. Republican and Democrats are the same people, who Cremate Care Each Year, no change no matter whom you vote, they con everyone, except the palatial aristocrats of course. So, the only chance for real change is the Immortalist Party. The Care girl they burn is the worker class, we're the human sacrifice victims of the aristocrats. A guy claims he saw the shooter, alerted police (for 3 minutes per some sites), but cops did nothing, as reported by BBC, etc, fueling theories that cops knew it is all fake (or wanted Trump dead because he criticized FBI, CIA, etc) and let the 'shooter' (an FBI cop who was trained to act like a real shooter) make gun noise by shooting in the air, hurting none? This was staged on purpose to appear with red paint ear or to injure the ear, because it relates to the TONE of speech, which create Eternal War or Universal Peace. The Secretary of State, Antony Blinken, Aussie PM Anthony Albanese, relate to TONE, NATO, tony, and looking, seeing, blinking, a 'Jew' who studied in France too, where National Rally 'fake Nazi' party won the first round. Rallies (like rock, rap, metal concerts) are the most dangerous events that not only endanger presidents, but ignite thermonuclear weapons in the quantum space of human psyche by the detonation of infernal yelling tones that are the basis for future thermonuclear wars. A real president needs no rallies, which are a grave sin when 600000 Americans are homeless and could be helped by taking all rally goers to Immortality Building Inc volunteering activities of the Immortalist Youth. Not by accident, the Russian ambassador to USA is named Anatoly Antonov, both words contain TONA, NATO, like in TONE. Rally microphones are low quality, poor in amplifying, so speakers yell and reduce eterni quality. Hence immortalists are against rallies. We got youtube, politicians can record something in an indoor setting, free from guns or noise.

Trump was supposed to attend a UFC event on 7-14-2024, according to NBC news and others, but did not manage to, since God didn't approve of UFC perhaps. The President of UFC, 'skinhead Nazi like haircut' Mr. White, who slapped his violent 'thug' wife in public twice in response to her first slap, promoted a slapping competition where the ears of people are completely destroyed (see picture and video of the ultra swollen face of Las Vegas sports approved (by his presence) by Republican Governor Arnold S who relishes seeing America being totally destroyed, like a true Austrian Nazi). Trump and Mr. White are seen walking together, as Trump lends support to the cannibal UFC sports. Not by accident, on July 13 2024, the Royal Blood UK rock band concert was stopped by a weather engineering event done by NATO or someone, since God didn't approve of Rock perhaps, nor of other cannibal violent music styles. Boxing, slapping, etc are 'flea IQ evil' sports where the human quantum field destroyed, and all decent people ought to shun such displays of chimp cannibalism (boxing is pure cannibalism of the ability to produce the most eterni tones). Sadly, French President boxing images and Putin boxing and martial arts videos sink France and Russia into the abyss ever deeper, in an act of blatant brainwashing of peaceful peoples to adore truly mean sports, which Immortalist Anthem finds grotesque, inhuman, evil and horrific. Trump promoted sports via tweets for 4 years, while 50 million live in terrible housing, that could be renovated with the energy wasted in those useless selfish depraved sports. Trump haters say Trump got what he promoted, violent sports, violent gun/rifle ownership for all, but it was staged, his ear damage was done under anesthesia before the shooting, nobody died. Sadly, more ammunition vending machines are popping up in grocery stores, in a sign that civil war may happen one day between Demon-crats and Re-pub-licans or WW3 may be around the corner, so USA is stocking all cities with ammunition for guerrilla warfare in case China or etc invades. It may be time for peace loving Demon-crats to move to Australia, where nobody is allowed to carry guns and gun homicides are 40 times lower.

44 nations have a gun homicide rate 50 times lower than USA. The news are mostly fake, trying to help people discern fake news from real news, to evolve their intelligence, critical thinking skills, ability to discern truth in a pile of rubbish and lies: example: USA had "600 mass shootings" in 2023, do you really believe all are real? What if 50-90% are fake? Trump forgot 600K are homeless, yet he promoted sportsmen, not Habitat for Humanity Democrat Jimmy Carter promoted. The UFC promoted slapping sport that immortalists would ban instantly once elected, is the epitome of everything that is wrong with USA: 400000 pastors telling us lies that the word of God is slave beating (Exodus 21:20-1), kid beating (many beating calls), slave taking (Lev 25:44-6) quotes, plus 1450 quotes that encourage genocide, cruelty, mass rape, theft.

The Trump folks will build 10 new towers in India, to make more cash via more subjugation of the poor, many media articles talk about the 6 towers and then expand to 10. Trump coin went down in value 90%, but Trump made 3 billion from that, with Trump admin not going after those who donate to his fund. While Americans get fake shootings to boost votes and appear a hero, he builds more hotels that Indians don't need. The shooter (an FBI cop who faked his 'death'?) was given by FBI a fake name Thomas Matthew (big Jewish nose) Crooks, because Jesus had 12 disciples, 2 being Matthew (a Jewish tax collector) and Thomas (a Jew who doubted Jesus 'resurrection')). His classmates described him as a loner who liked to wear hunting outfits. Media articles said he was 130 yards from Trump, then it became 150 yards, in new article, then 150 meters or 164 yards, so ignore these differences. Since FBI views the 12 disciples as CROOKS, who staged all miracles with Jesus help, the shooting is so well designed as a sleight of hand, to remind people of critical thinking. Oddly, when I was in Los Angeles, 2 of the longest residing people involved in torturing me were named Matthew and Thomas, indicating FBI-CIA use these fake names for Jewish or gentile serial killers and torturers they hire. Note how weird this guy looks in a picture, as if he's a little out there? Crooks speech can be seen and heard. During the shooting, he was wearing a grey T-shirt, as you can see from the videos on CNN, etc, with a German Nazi like eagle symbol of the Luftwaffe. Luftwaffe is a 1935, like F35 aircraft, founded Air Force, of Nazi Germany, that had 3.4 million pilots and staff over 11 years. Crooks is like Roosk, Russky, Russia, Russian Jewish communists the Nazis fought. He used a collapsible stock, so the rifle would not be seen when placed in his backpack. This is most likely a way to stage a fake intimidation of Putin (a threat Putin is a target of CIA operatives) with 1812 invasion of Moscow by France, by saying France, Germany, USA all united against Russia: fake shooting at 18:12, which is 6:12 pm, with June 12 being Russia's national holiday. All so people think NATO-Russia war is real, but the espionage 100+ pages section explains it's more complex than that, read the fake Ukraine-Russia war section of 30 pages. Elon Musk claims Trump was named in Epstein files (as visitor to the alleged "pedophile ring" island? Is that "pedo" true or is that island pedo story a cover for other aristocratic plots far darker than that: enslavement of the working class?). Trump didn't fake this to 'win elections' as some wrote online, since elections are all staged and military always rules in each nation, regardless of who is at the 'civilian' helm in their one party or multi-party system. They faked it in order to terrorize the American people or to make people aware of TONE of speech maybe (that needs be kinder to reach World Peace) that our EARS hear (in a rather brutal terror filled sick way that no decent person would use), and even possibly to fake that he tries to "intimidate and give a veiled threat to Putin" to hide that he's a Russian or even German spy. 'Matthew', the shooter, is alive, as many said on the Internet already, like with other "shootings", they never showed a live video of his dead unbreathing for 10 minutes body, like in other fake shootings where at least they show someone holding their breath for 3 seconds to appear dead, if anything shown at all, and nobody died, the 'dead' all got a new FBI job and new identity as with 100s of fake shootings and fake deaths of 'actors' and etc. People are not demanding any proof because the aristocratic criminals running our educational system raise low IQ folks with no critical thinking skills: where is the evidence for any claim? People are so credulous and naive, they believe the media 100%. Demand real proof, real video of Matthew corpse, etc, don't be fooled by Machiavellian bloodsuckers. Matthew was even able to fly drones above the venue multiple times and a video of him on the roof gets blurry after a while to hide that he was not shot, that he didn't die 26 seconds later as claimed, that he was still breathing. It's a pure scam of a shooting, like all thousands of lies Trump says. Americans get lies and millions tortured by the same Trump liar and his team. Most Earth sports are a glorification of the destruction of the workers' brains, intelligence, empathy and of the workers'' rights to a decent single family house for all that would be built out of sports facilities, the workers rights to freedom from jails and violent crime. Slapping, boxing, UFC, martial arts are pure violent crime competitions that Trump supports. Anyone is better than Trump, especially immortalists. UFC is a martial arts 'violent crime against the workers' competition that has no place in a nation of kind mortals or "wanna be 500 year old Immortals". We need to ban all martial arts, if we want a kind nurturing world of Immortalist Anthem.

The most important thing in a civilization is arguably its eterni tone of speech, the sound we create that others hear with the ear, which, can be far more eterni when we have a younger president or 20-30 years old speakers for the main politicians and president, the gentle tender soft kind nurturing emotion felt for all in the audience which relates to the intent for ALL (to live to a billion and NOT to be killing some), and not easily conveyed thru one sentence alone. This tone is present in its free for all education, the basis for all ethics and development. So, naturally, we ought to regulate the biggest university and classroom there is, national TV-radio, in order to create the Immortality for All civilization all nations look up to. Rallies are outdated, we got youtube, why waste so much effort with traffic jams and such, when all that wasted fuel could have transported materials to renovate houses, build better housing, demolish NRA (national rifle association), strip clubs, liquor stores, vape stores, gun stores, to build more housing and even medical facilities for 100000 yearly victims of Rifles, Guns Trump promotes, etc. The incredibly low filif snail IQ☺☺☺ of Trump is so obvious, when you look at where he holds his rallies, and see how many drones can be hidden in nearby trees, passing cars or areas to fly towards those buildings, hide somewhere and then shoot, to kill anyone even 4 months later, not to mention the area is not cordoned off to prevent anyone with a gun from entering, etc. The secret service protocol is catastrophic, as media reported, like the border of USA, they got rallies that are not gated by electrical fence, 100% opaque 8 ft of fence and metal detector scanning of anyone entering the gated area and all nearby trees, tall buildings secured, sealed, inspected, etc. Trump says something about Any President ought to be in an area that in indoors and inspects with metal detector anyone entering and anyone near the gated building. Thanks to Republican policies, 32000 Americans die yearly in gun shootings or suicides, which means about 3 million dead since USA was founded. This holocaust of the American people is never mentioned by Re-pub-licans. First of all, we got thermonukes which are powerful and guns are useless in today's era. Besides, police stations or army units can distribute 300 million guns during WW3 in case of a need to mount an attack on invading armies via guerrilla warfare and teach all how to shoot fast. To kill another 3 million Americans because "we may need guns" some day, is simply insane. Don't vote Republican, vote the Immortalist Party. We want to inspire the youth, the future of our nation, not move every citizen into depression and hopelessness about the future of this country when they hear Trump yell or lie or Biden yell and make gaffes in so many speeches. Demon-crats need a new candidate in 2024, not Biden. That is why monarchy (UK and Australia have many pro-republic groups wanting to end monarchy), Vatican (75+ people whose brain is at 20% ability of a 20 year old) and democracy are incompatible, as is allowing old priests, clergy on TV regularly to destroy the human quantum field, brainwaves of the rest with their tone and 1st century lies of fake miracles. Humans are animals who unconsciously, without intent or awareness, imitate the brainwaves and tones, ethics, emotions, intents (evil, unhealthy, destructive or healing, wonderful, amazing) of those we see, hear, their body language, quantum signature, biological entropy, aliveness and health. How do we look different than the Mexican violent cartels, if we yell in political discourse?

Trump's Vice President Candidate is a little like Trump in speech tone, with Trump's evil promotion of violent sports, UFC, since Vance promotes staying in marriages that involve violence and a lot of violent behaviors that make Trump look, relatively speaking, like a "saint". Vance real name is James Donald Bowman and many say Bowman, the anglicized form of the typical Jewish Baumann/Bauman, a typical Ashkenazi Jewish last name, is actually changed because, per some theories, "he wants to hide he's a Jew". Jews are married to almost every important US official it seems. Why prevent violence via universally free education with decent content and 900 nice scripture alternatives, when you can promote *Bible family violence (*read the quotes below when UFC & Trump are mentioned) simply because it's a Jewish Bible? For JD Vance, violence is not to disappear, those being violent not to get lifetime labor or death penalty, (instant divorce due to the danger to society, kids, spouse, there will always be immortalist online kind recordings to replace a violent parent). Violence is, per the 'holy' Republican Party VP candidate, "something to be celebrated, encouraged" like in Jewish Nazism ("Jews are the superior race, so genocides against all the rest are God's Will: Deut 20:10-17"), in line with the evil Bible 1450 quotes of mass rape, cruelty, mass theft, genocides of any nation one wants, violent quotes they brainwash Americans are the 'Word of God'. As long as gentiles are the victims and Jews posing as 'Whites, Arabs, Hispanics' the perpetrators, "violence is Sacred"? How can any moral government, king or queen allow a murder rape cult that says in the holy Jewish scripture called Torah (part of the unholy Bible) "You can kill all nations you want ("God gives to you"), because you're the chosen one, so go ahead kill, mass rape and loot all nations you want, God is with you" to get the status of religion and oddly, pastors to claim such quotes are God's Word? The people's abysmal IQ, credulity, naivety can't be greater, they have been duped by Jews and Italians for 2 millennia. So, if the Chinese think God gave them all nations, as anyone could according to the Bible if they take the word literally as meant for them (not just Jews) or any convert to the evil religion, they can be true Christians and wipe out all nations with a quantum weapon, except a few people in a capsule? Well, America taught them how to wipe out America, due to the filif donkey IQ☺☺☺ of our leaders, so nobody ought to be surprised if everyone in US dies one day due to a weapon that kills all folks, animals, modifies all matter. The sooner we get the chains of slavery (Lev 25:44-6, Exodus 21:20-1) to the Jewish Bible off our necks, the faster the World can reach Eternal World Peace.

When people read the Bible quotes pastors hide from people, they realize that it would be a lot more productive to make every house a peaceful abode of kindness, than to build millions of brainwashing centers. Is that what America fights for, the "religion" they defend?, the religion of "You can exterminate all nations, God is with you"? Is that how we practice ethics, build 400000 churches in America to preach "You can kill all nations, mass rape, mass loot them, you're the chosen disciples"? Is America a concentration camp where Jews destroy everyone's intellect and turn them into serial killers and rapists using filif worm IQ pastors who repeat like parrots stuff the seminary told them? Is that what people died for in the American revolution? How come we didn't write on ethics.gov 340 million American kind positive scriptures (anyone can create something better than the Bible), more like Immortalist Anthem, and all are shoved the Bible at gunpoint in Sunday school, being lied to and not being shown the 1400 bad quotes? Has freedom completely died in America? Are we USSR? Is any American still having any functional neurons to believe in Jesus now? Are we mere puppets of Israel? We sense a very 'universally kind' vibe that is nothing too surprising, given the mock or real human sacrifice at mostly Republican attended "burning sacrifice of Care" that happens every year in Northern California, since after all America is SECOND to human sacrifice Bible quotes and simulation, Democrat habitat.org house building like peaceful Jimmy Carter is too kind and unsatanic to be worthy of Republican satanists. Bohemian Club is mostly Re-pub-licans who support war, which is human sacrifice. 2700 rich men gather in July each year, even Al Gore is said to have gone there, lots of Lamborghini and black SUVs (see the Al Gore SUVs 30 seconds later). Why did the government harass Alex Jones, of infowars.com for posting videos about the Bohemian Grove Jewish Molek (Baal, Satan deity) Republican cult of Genocide, Murder Simulation? Some Republicans and Democrats want homeless ladies and kids probably in order to have a rich supply of human sacrifice victims (like this guy kills homeless ladies in hotels), now you know why they want minimum pay 50000 times lower than max pay and 15 million empty housing units for 0.6 million homeless in USA: helpless people ask for help and they can kill them to steal organs or do rituals. This is why we can't allow these people to win elections and why we need the Immortalist Party. Republicans give guns to everyone, so they shoot everyone and gun homicide rate is 200 times higher than other nations. The evil ones even used the criminal court system to have Alex Jones pay 1 billion simply for expressing his opinions about the fake shootings Satanists create to terrorize the populace and keep everyone in a state of fear and ☺abysmal IQ ☺: why give guns to everyone then? CNN (Sin) and Foxnews (Falsenews) and everyone else, never cover the demonic activities of Republican frauds who claim to be Christian. CNN, Foxnews = Satanists? Everything they do is hypnotize the American people into a trance state where violence imagery and tone rule, not a kind tone? Why are all they swearing on a Bible that deifies human sacrifice and genocide? 100000 churches simulate cannibalism in every Eucharist ritual 365 days a year and nobody complains about that 10 minute ritual, yet 0 violent crime, Eternal World Peace in 3 months don't get even 1 second in any church. Jewish Jesus is so "good". Child burning, Jesus eating are like rituals of Canaan Jews who were burning babies alive, we see it in endless wars. How come the Demon-crats never talk of Eternal World Peace in 3 months either? Are they Canaan Jews too? The Jewish Rothschild Banking family is allegedly the one who created Israel. If gentiles die in wars, that's fine? Why is the state even giving status of religion to a cult of cannibalism simulation and fraud based miracles for which 0 unfakable scientific evidence exists? The Machiavellian rich always used religion to fool the enslaved masses, to suck the last blood drop out of them, using the divide and conquer via 2 political blocs of the working class, to control them both, from behind, with the deep state run by the mafia of rich gangsters. The violent psychopathic rich who own US have no mercy, they torture the poor by the tens of millions. These cannibals don't understand equal rights, universal kindness, only elitism. They only create a 2 track USA: slaves and the rich using phony arguments like "freedom of religion". The parasites, traitors, spies, who want to keep USA backwards, always want “power given to the states”, so we have 50000 education systems, huge inefficiency and eternal fights, getting nothing done except fake shootings and the like: meaning lies and junk for the enslaved masses and ARISTOCRAT education for the vampires. All talk of democracy is pure fraud without equal education access, to the same course content. In some nations centralization of education is far stronger than the US. Honest people know a religion is fraud, when no evidence exists. With chemistry you know it works, you mix HCl and NaOH and it always gives the same result: NaCl and H_2O. Fraud never gives same result, not even once, let alone trillions of times: we got 200 million denominations, sort of like hey, HCl plus NaOH give 200 million combos of products depending on your whim. Let’s focus on ethics not donations.

Blatant lies to the American public and staging fake shootings (not just against Trump, but other shootings too) to terrorize the populace (gentiles) and make people love Trump are encouraged, like foreign manipulators did with Hitler during Nazism in order to destroy Germany and turn all into cannon fodder puppets ready to attack many nations and mainly USSR, the enemy of the aristocrats, royals worried that their reign of 25 millennia of terror would come to an end if workers ended aristocracy. The court proceedings against Trump are staged, to build his image as the superman who defies all obstacles, to gain people’s unflinching trust as Trump fully destroys USA like Hitler destroyed Germany, Trump is not worried about the court proceedings at all, he knows he will never be affected or arrested, they're a total farce, where actually nothing is happening except creating the illusion of some fairness, so the enslaved masses believe it’s all good and fair. People finally realize the courts and all simply are a distraction and scam to make people believe fairness exists, when it doesn’t until these things come true. At the Republican convention 2 days later, Trump was as happy as ever, showing the shooting had no impact on him, since it was all a scam anyway, a fraud he happily forced on Americans, to traumatize them, raise their anxiety, make them not trust the Secret Service, the government, only the Fuhrer, Hitler (who wanted every soldier to swear allegiance to him) like Trump, manipulate public opinion in his favor thru pure fraud, just like the Nazis. He's destroying USA, though he may believe he's protecting it. That’s why many want to move to New Zealand, a safer country where no cops wear guns, one of the only 6 nations in the world with more than 5 million people, where cops never shoot people. Others want to move to Australia, where gun deaths are 40 times lower, and only 6% of households have guns, vs 42% in USA. Everything Trump did in 4 years was to help America’s enemies, it didn’t help USA, his promotion of small business and sports lower American IQ, competitiveness, lowered research jobs potential 20 fold in many strategic areas and kept us like violent savages. He's a traitor of the USA who panders only to the rich, the 4500 banks and their interests, a master deceiver, just like Biden, who does nothing to change anything in USA in a real way, to bring true democracy. Why do we need the stock market for? For the rich to loot everyone? Why do we need realtor middle men? For the Jew and aristocrat to make profits of every house sale, why not have housing.gov to buy sell houses in 2 days? The Republican and Democrat Parties are mere tools of the rich and their 25 millennia long terror. US needs to be self-sufficient, bring all jobs back home, no more profits for aristocrats using cheap foreign labor, bring all manufacturing home to make safe products not stuff full of weapons, bioweapons, poisons and spyware, the rich only perpetuate American dependency on other nations, thru their infinite greed. We need to produce all that we need inside USA and stop imports from any nation that allows slapping, spanking (causes aggression & anti-social behavior), shoving, punching, boxing or has any violent crime. Only then 250 years of genocides done by the rich gangsters who manipulated us will end and we will be the living example of gentleness that Immortalist Anthem uses to bring Eternal Universal Peace. Need a vacation? We discover 500 planets to go to, let the chimps do wars if that's their free will, why waste time managing others while our nation is sick. We don't need anyone's land, resources, religions, keep the Bible in Israel, EU, America, Asia don't need it.

We BECOME WHAT We FOCUS UPON.☺☺☺ If we as a society focus on saving 5% on grocery items, that's what we achieve and we surely see that in TV content, everything is about saving 5$. If we focus on living to 5 thousand, then it's a different content than today's GARBAGE. How do you become when you listen to Scandinavian heavy metal music (originated in the US-UK in the 1960s, in order to undermine other nations?), where that style of music is 10 times more popular? Very agitated, lacking tranquility, violent, like Nazis they helped finance (Nazis said 'blonde hair, blue eye 'is superior, because that's what those heavy metal guys looked like) in Germany, with the help of other machos on US, UK, France, or Jews who wanted Israel created as a result of Nazi policies etc. All nations need to gently wake up, it is British blowing by gun culture and wipe out by genocide that brought Heavy Metal to you.☺☺☺ If TV shows us half dead people all the time, whose violent tone is horrific versus the most eternitone, as they have done since 1960, our nation dies slowly, do YOU UNDERSTAND THAT? 1960 was when 45 million Americans got a TV, and when America started to decline as BIG ARISTOCRATIC PIG parasites used TV to drastically lower the average IQ of everyone and the obesity rate started to rise, becoming 4 times bigger today. Do you agree we need to regulate TV and keep ages under 50 mostly and tones of the most youthful quality and gentlest kindest tone and intelligence to educate and prevent violent crime before negative violent emotion is imitated by viewers? We need to reverse aging, to slow aging, to keep everyone speak and act like the healthiest 25 year old, so how do you do that with average TV age 60, or even 70 for some programs? If we kindly want to live long, we do a favor and service to the older by helping the old to entrain with that YOUNGER energy, but also a gentle tender soft nurturing Younger energy, not aggressive. This in turn helps Violent Old Brains of the Era of Insanity to become more alert, live longer, and give the young more optimism about making it intact to the age of 500. Are we retarded as a nation or what is going on? We misuse the technology of mass media, to bring war and violence, thuggery and theft. Studies show if you see old people all the time, you become like them, slow, and sick, as your quantum energy becomes like their biological chaos and entropy of death. It's a hybrid warfare against the American people by the same aristocratic old 'bastards' who have sucked this nation dry since day one. To keep slaves sedated, ☺low IQ☺ and violent, thus easy to instigate against one another, (divide and conquer with fake political parties, instead of one nation of Immortality for All) they give us this complete TRASH as TV-radio content, so their reign of terror continues unabated. Granted, some people at 70 have the biological age of some at 30, due to them being aristocrats who kill and torture millions of 30 year olds, but we kindly can bring a world where old men military terrorists don't run covertly all our media, elections, TV-radio. It's not just the chronological age under 50 that matters for Presidents and top 100 officials, but the biological age, kindness of their vocal tone, etc.

The leader of an immortalist nation has to be young or under 50, angelic, gentle, tender, with a very big and thus young brain (brain shrinks after age 30 a lot, especially on a junk diet) and the most eterni tone you can find (top 0.01% of tones and immortality credit scores). America's total moral collapse (i.e total control by the military gangsters programming all to be violent) is evident in the fact nobody even said anything about Trump and Biden being candidates, given their 100% noneterni tone of speech and pathological violence of their tone in endless rallies, yellings. In an immortalist society, Biden and Trump would owe the government already 500 trillion dollars in fines each for their yelling in public, which incites people to violent crime and war. The bad apples within spy agencies chose Biden as President and exhausted him until he fell and others laughed it off, making USA look like a bunch of idiots for choosing a half dead guy to be President, setting impossible schedules, so he's tired all the time, easy to dupe, etc. This is what spies worldwide does to targets in order to take over other governments. Spies/generals don't play lottery with the policies and who will be diplomat etc, they need to know ahead of time what will happen and can't allow foreign countries to try to interfere with the 'real' elections (it doesn't matter if you have free or fake elections, if military or spies train or control remotely with brain gadgets both parties candidates anyway, people can choose anyone, if military or freemasons control both parties, it makes no difference whom people choose, but fake news always will say 'foreign elections interference', 'voting rights protests' to make masses believe they choose the candidates. The masses spend 2 trillion/year on crap, not caring at all about zero violent crime and ending jails, they're busy with low IQ hobbies,☺☺☺ so it's understandable why they fake elections, the people are not serious about ending listening to infernal violent music and aristocratic parasitic behavior (which manifest itself in all social classes), and would rebel if you took away their demonic music. Unless people become honest, realize religions are fake, most music violent and nations useless, no honest elections will exist.

Many complain about governments, but they're just as evil when you realize what crap they do.

The military chooses the candidates today. It always did. Once you realize that we could have candidates from one Immortalist Party only, with different platforms on how to give everyone a healthy 200 to 90000 year lifespan, etc, there is no need of 2-20 political parties (who fight so much, watch 1 min, and divide society, increase violent crime by subtle instigation), since the main thing is efficiency to do more research, so all get better housing, healthcare via innovation. Who needs political parties? In USA, it may be the Russia, UK spies who put on a phony appearance of 'patriots' and act busy 'serving Americans' by changing the maps of their districts, since after all, instead of border scanners, real border wall, to detect weapons, drugs, etc shipped, we waste all time with 20 million books on "how to flip homes (illegal in any advanced civilization) or rip others off or trade stocks or become millionaire in 2 months or years", 2000 TV-radio shows on the same, 4000 useless reality TV shows to keep people distracted from the genocide going on against them, daily news on efforts to 'redraw political districts to win fake elections, voter registration scandals to fool people elections are real', 'undo the laws passed by previous administrations 10 times in 30 years', etc. Why waste so much time with political parties, just help all have decent homes, food and basic needs met. Parties were invented by aristocrats posing as peasants, workers, etc to fool peasants, workers that now they got a voice and power via the 'Peasants Party' or 'Workers Party'☺☺☺, parties that actually phony aristocrats controlled from the start, just like Re-pub-licans and Demon-crats have always been aristocrat controlled. We don't let a janitor, artist or painter decide how to proceed when an issue exists at a nuclear power plant, we ask a PhD who worked on that plant for 20+ years. So, we don't just go in the market and ask janitors, "Do we need to switch on button 402 or button 503 to get the main control panel of the power station working?" Please, ALL janitors, people without any physics knowledge, all vote won which button to press to avoid explosion, and get back to me, we decide what is best based on your IGNORANT OPINION and the whole plant explodes, killing 20 million if a fusion power plant in a big metro area. Likewise, the average Joe can't understand how complex the decision making is, given 50000 threats and groups, gangs, 40 million dormant spies, etc that operate in 200 nations and what is best. It's just not possible, if cops tell criminals all their methods and info, the criminals would never be caught, if politicians told everyone how it works and what their next decision will be, next candidate, the enemies will have info to destroy us, block our moves, our intent or hidden long-term plan. The government can take into account what people want for big issues, via online surveys, reviews.gov and other methods, and allow for policies that make it true, but they can't really explain why and how in detail, as enemies of World Peace would get that info to create war. If we're immortalists, all politicians will simply talk and present ways to give trillion year lifespans to all, and 150 in the short run. We don't need a politicians class or profession really, just basic courses in helping all live to 50000 years old in a nation, taken by science and engineering majors. We have enormous resources wasted with political science departments worldwide, when the immortalism science is nowhere to be found, how do you bring all citizens to immortal lifespans? Why do universities have these useless political science departments? Don't you realize how ☺abysmal in IQ☺ we're as a nation? We can't even create a scanner on mass scale to scan every container or package entering USA for drugs, weapons, etc. We need Immortality for All departments where physicists and chemists develop quantum viral weapons to kill all viruses and bacteria within a radius of 500 miles, even underground 500 miles, to prevent 1 billion yearly flu infections, and another billion of many other far worse diseases.

Check out the fake Singapore democracy, which is how elections work in many countries with a similar 1 party takes all system. Today, 198 world governments at least are 100% controlled by the militaries, elections are fake. The physics is simple, see chapter 13 too: the human superorganism has learned to detect evil and will help the peaceful☺☺☺ guys bring freedom back, via replacing military with Eternium. 911 was 80% inside job, false flag sort of, if they remotely control the whole thing to make it appear Saudis chose it, FBI facilitated flight training in Florida, etc, like they trained Taliban and Muslims against USSR in 1980s, Israel removed embassy 2 weeks before 9-11-2001 hit, owner got insurance before, 100s of websites explain the controlled demolition, remote control of airplanes to make sure 'hijackers don't make mistakes', etc, everyone connected knew, generals allowed it, they don't care about US citizens dying, more about human sacrifices via eternal war. The New American century ideas (supported by a doctrine of a military guy Deputy Defense Secretary) explained the need for an event... in Central Asia, then 9-11-2001 WTC came. See more at the PNAC. Cruel generals run the entire USA, the Congress, Courts, elections, every person you see in the media, by remote control of those people, who're often also trained to be spies since childhood. They think the masses can't know classified info and vote with complete knowledge, since if they had all classified info the enemies will also see it, so all elections are 'fake' (Dems and Re-pub-licans role play they're enemies, they both work for the USA), but democracy can still exist in 1-80% form with partially or fully fake elections, since those who do it can work for the people (if true patriots, not cruel generals making eternal wars, 80% if the smartest and kindest use the best resources to help all, instead of the most illiterate, selfish and clueless deciding too much for the country and taking the country in the wrong direction, when any field requires PhD level knowledge and is so complex the average person with only high school could never have time to understand).

All world governments fake their elections to protect national secrets; since many times they only need bump one guy 1% to win a seat for a position, they need minimal changes in local elections. They leave nothing to chance in their perfect acting, every seemingly disorganized event in the news, every riot, fake disaster of any sort, is as planned as every step in making a

Tesla car: train crash, violence, 'fire due to dry vegetation and strong wind' – when it was arson preplanned (no dead people, # dead fake, people got new identities and new job, faked their death, no sirens went off (they got them tested monthly on every island) fire started at 6:37 reportedly, 6:30 is like 666, on August 8th 2023, 8-8 the Nazi symbol, Josh Green, 'Jewish' governor) to rebuild more fire proof buildings to increase WW3 preparedness in case of China attack with incendiary cluster bombs or future wildfires or simply renovate old buildings or allow rich to buy more land, how easy is to create strong winds using weather engineering? Or light a fire, knowing wind will be strong as they told Maui people Aug 7 etc. Media is making any storm the storm of 2000 years, any drought/fire the same, they can inflate casualties 100 fold, make climate change the reality, to hide weather engineering and weather wars. True spy engineering, so more like rocket science, hence the thing is not left to "average Joes" to decide, like in the 1984 novel. COVID19 planned too. Everything is different than the news present it as; this is because the competition between spy agencies over millennia got so high, everything has to be done with such a scientific rigor and precision, no mistake can be made, like in building a spacecraft. With brain writing gadgets, every voter can even be suggested to vote one way and thus an election can be 'real' and results reflect actual vote, but votes are not free, since their brains were influenced in covert ways: simpler yet, they just fake the results. George Washington was a spy, he created USA; so were all the other presidents; they talk in secret codes, metaphors and subtle ways. Presidents (& officials, anyone important to national security, etc) worldwide are spies, know who wins before elections start, the acceptance speech is pre made, that's why they're so relaxed and confident. So no, they're not businessmen or etc, they're all like Putin: spies, agents of the local spy agency. As long as a government really listens to the people and works to give trillion year lifespan to all, secrecy is fine with many, I too believed elections are real at times, but now it's clear they're fake. This is why it's a little odd that they criticize a nation for "less free elections", because they could criticize themselves for not having World Peace in 3 months as the main goal of all political talk. Big empires can loot a lot more when there is eternal war and chaos, riots, so we see that daily? The whole system runs on terror, as the torture section explains how they turn people into obedient slave robots who then become their politicians and officials to puppet. People think it's easy to replace the system overnight with a better☺☺☺ one, which is truly possible if people hold a positive attitude, focus on the 11 companies and 3 agencies and the implementation of state/city gov dissolution, etc.

It's a complex situation: ☺☺☺only peaceful changes☺☺ will lead to a peaceful better outcome. The advent of World Peace in 3 months, and 0 (from 10 billion incidents a year) violent crime in 7 to 30 years, may be humanity's last chance to not go extinct in 10 seconds soon. Because of this, all things that were secret for millennia now are coming into the Light of Truth, before we all disappear. This is the moment when each soul makes a choice: peace or war, kindness or torture, WP3 or WW3, World Peace in 3 months or WW3. It sounds low IQ perhaps, but the idea is without WP3 we may get into WW3 soon. Without permanent WP3 we will have WW3, so the only way to avert it is working on WP3 and eventually it manifests. The top hidden generals (modern day aristocracy) don't care, as only slaves fight their wars of greed. Without understanding the issue, no solution can exist. Having 1 party of Immortality for All or 10 parties makes no difference, since the same spies role playing as politicians of 1 or 10 parties decide the policies behind the scenes, so foreign spies can't know what will be chosen. The main thing is to reach WP3 and maintain it 4 trillion years. The rich don't care, except to enrich their pockets while 80 million die, like in WW2. They financed all sides of the conflict... And yes, Stalin was not so poor, he had all kinds of luxuries and was very out of touch, so he expanded the lands, deported tons of Poles, tortured so many and all kinds of stuff: aristocrats can disguise as communists or workers' rights defenders. A true communist never tortures a worker/person of any nation, much less deport millions to expand a nation at the expense of another that didn't attack. Kazakhstan was 80% Kazakh, the it became 30% Kazakh, 50% Russian in 1950s thru deportations, genocide. The 20 million people killed for not being 'communist enough' was simply ethnic cleaning via mass movements to ensure Russian majority in many areas: Nazism in disguise. Communism was more of a scam, more of a cover for Russia's expansion. Romania made Malaxa C1 (like CIA) its first car in 1945 and then the USSR stole the factory and moved it to USSR, so, without the knowledge, Romania fell behind, making its 2nd car on 8-20-1968. Brezhnev really liked the C1 and wanted it in Russia. Russia did similar stuff in other East nations. The USSR took over many factories creating joint Russian-Romanian ones until late 1950s when Romania kicked the Russians out and Soviet troops were kicked out in 1958 too.

The actual choice and/or the reason behind a decision politicians make, is always not apparent, it's camouflaged in phony terms of various laws, rules and vague statements, for the enemy to have no clue; the law implementation can be 0% or 50% too, depending on various factors, so it's far more complex, people think a law guarantees something, it doesn't. While individual nations can choose some privacy, we need to all work for WP3. It makes more sense to have one law everywhere, instead of so many thousands for every little county and city on issues that are not related to local weather, building requirements: centralization saves time and gives more choice (live to 200, etc) paradoxically. What about a new culture of eternal life for all, new sports and a new food culture based on science, not taste and appearance? People without a science degree, who have not read 400 papers on PubMed about 1 single nutrient alone, don't quite realize how complex reality is in politics too, they think it's much simpler than the ultra complex biochemistry. It's not. We're like a superorganism. One little change in diet causes trillions of changes in the body, so it is with the system, you can't suddenly change everything, this spy stuff is older than the Roman empire from millennia ago. The clever religion inventors have been at it for longer than Christianity. People can decide in Immortality Eternity, etc City Centers perhaps how to increase lifespan best, and make public only what can't be used by enemies to destroy US, if World Peace is not there yet. So, may all understand open government is impossible when there has not been World Peace and 0 violent crime (instead of 10 billion incidents a year globally) for a few years. Thus, for true democracy to arise, we need World Peace and 0 violence first, are people willing to work for that, to listen to peaceful music with World Peace in 3 months lyrics always until we reach it in a few months or years? and lyrics that define 0 violent crime, etc kindness for all? It's easy to think that a solution exists and in 2 days it can manifest a 10 billion fold reduction in violent crime, but in real life you see it requires a huge effort by all☺☺☺ human beings alive. Scapegoats changing only won't solve anything. Things are so complex, that this book (for 4th graders) only touches on 0.001% of the issues.

This 'divide and conquer' concept is millennia old, to create 2 opposing sides (Demon-crats and Re-pub-licans) and control both, even the clueless remotely controlled Hitler explained (Ctrl+F 'Hitler' to find it in this book) in Mein Kampf that Jews controlled all media in pre-Hitler Germany, both the soft uplifting talking 'Democrat like' 'Jew' (or any minority controlling a nation) at the head of one party and the vulgar antisemitic newspapers and more antisemitic talking 'Republican like' Jew at the head of the opposite party; sort of like Jews or the same guys can control both communist, Islamic, Christian, capitalist regimes while role playing being enemies. Nations noticed this and took over their elections processes to prevent enslavement; when a nation influences another, they control the spy agency, not hack their voting machines. In many states and cities, the same party wins, so FBI has no need to fake anything, any brain suggesting at home via computers or at voting booths; so one party or 10 party systems are very much alike, with arguably more open debate, public engagement and critical thinking with a multiparty system, alike since they 1 or multiparty are military dictatorships sort of, i.e. survival is # 1 priority, so military controls all public beliefs (they brainwash all that World Peace in 3 months is impossible), personas remotely and government, courts, etc in all countries (so the freedom in a country depends on military ethics overall), so it's better to not waste time fretting about who wins, they already decided many years before; it's better to work for trillion year lifespans ☺☺☺instead, but feel free to vote and debate if you disbelieve me. People are shocked to discover this, but the masses are equally dishonest: they're not serious about World Peace in 3 months via serene music... They claim to love all humanity, but they're violent or support genocide of innocent people, which war is. This shows that it's better to have a more honest political system with immortality parties, so we all talk about Immortality for All, instead of nonsense. Politics debate can raise IQ even with faked elections, as long as no shouting, though real change doesn't come from multi-party system, but from true science, education, gentle tender soft healing nurturing universal altruistic loving kindness. If we have only one

Party, the Immortalist Party for example, representatives skill get voted based on issues they represent, on policies they plan to implement for achieving trillion year lifespans for all, or, in more realistic terms, decent healthcare, food, shelter, air/water/transport quality for all. If all citizens submit ideas to the local rep of the Parties or Party, these are discussed on reviews.gov and on TV, being evaluated and those with good ideas can be invited to become reps. Some don't realize it's not the number of Parties, but whether real democracy/altruism exist. ☺☺☺

Therefore, in order to create more fair elections, more informed electorate about the POLICIES chosen (candidates today change what policies they will implement every 3 weeks, so elections are meaningless, since you never know what they will do, WE ELECT LIARS TODAY), in order to prevent enormous national resources spent with election brainwashing, hate and attacks, national division, the immortalists propose electing POLICIES or Plans of maximum healthy lifespan increase for ALL, not electing political parties (political parties are not even needed, they're a total waste of time to create national division) or individual candidates. The people will choose the best people for that national change of direction, advertize for jobs to implement that policy, choose the people most qualified for that job, etc. Immortalists propose choosing centralization for maximum efficiency: all state and local governments will disappear to do away with limitless kingdoms, aristocratic mini classes, clans and mafias. Why have 33 million companies regulated by 20000 city governments in 20000 different ways? This wastes trillions of dollars and 50 million jobs in redundant professions and jobs that could be used to bring instant World Peace and global 0 violent crime in 20 years. Can we have 11 companies that are government agencies too sort of and remove the bureaucracy of 20000 governments and 33 million companies? This way we get things done, innovation rise 200 fold, so all can live to 500 in happiness and bliss. Every local office will be federal and a perfect replica of every other federal office, same exact training, since Immortality for All Centers in every city, one of the 11 companies, etc will give locals all that is needed and housing.gov etc issue all permits, etc, electronic car titles/registrations (no more physical ones), firefighters are all one department, federal with one training, as well as all cops one national police department. It will be easy, all local offices get relabeled offices of the federal government and the procedures change as one national training and SOP (standard operating procedure) exists for everything released locally, if needed. Too much attention seeking and banditry, ego adulation and guru worship with all these governors, officials and etc appearing in the news and making a big show of it. This is unethical. It's also not secure. The top federal officials in the 'state or town office' of the remapped USA (8 states not 50, see details here) are top secret and nobody needs to know who they are. It's how it is today too, the public personas are mere puppets of the real rulers anyway. The real rulers in any nation are spies, soldiers, etc, the intelligence complex. This way, we protect our village, town, state, federal officials from foreign attacks. Let all do their job quietly, efficiently and ONE Immortality for All LAW FOR THE ENTIRE NATION, with people going to the local or regional federal office to take care of things. There can't be 50 different versions of a law for 50 states. We have no time for that, humanity may disappear soon, now is the moment of Eternal Universal Peace, not phony arguments over trivial differences. We need have elections of what policies to have implemented to increase people's lifespan the most, not elections of individual candidates. The people who will implement those policies don't change every 2 years as in this filif hen IQ☺☺☺ system of eternal political campaigns that accomplish nothing except waste time. The purpose is to bring ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ and 1 trillion times lower real (not reported, reported crimes are 100 times lower at least) violent crime *(main criminals are local and foreign spies, police and military, as explained here, they cause the crime thru the criminal aristocratic terror system, education that is not universal, free, proper tone, proper content, bad media, inciting people to violence, etc)*, and help all triple lifespan, not to WIN ELECTIONS. It's the policies, not the messenger that matters. As long as the 4500 criminal banks exist, instead of only one, the People's Bank, Immortality for All Bank, stock market, casinos, vape stores, alcohol sales, fake elections have no meaning. We want REAL CHANGE. ☺☺

Think about it, if you can see where the brain or heart of a person/nation is and you aim for it, you can kill that person or nation in one shot. That's why people use dark tint car windows sometimes, so nobody can see where the target is. If you don't and you only shoot a toe, then, that person survives. Likewise, if a nation displays its heart and brain and tells everyone who the important people are, they will attract the most incredible weapon systems that don't even need to exist in our country, to attack the "brain" or "heart" of the nation and destroy it. Therefore, secrecy is needed. We aren't that ☺abysmal in IQ☺ to tell serial killers in other nations how immortalists make their decisions and who our top leaders are, as they would target those to destroy our nation from 4000 miles away via weapons people don't even know exist. A few diplomatic people and top officials can exist, for the sake of interacting with other nations, but those are mere interface and not the real leaders. Just choose the policy that increases the healthy lifespan years of the entire nation by the largest amount: 2 year for 350 million, not 10 years for 1 million aristocrats, since that's 700 million lifespan years, not 10 million. Why? Because when 350 million achieve 1 year longer, they will create more inventions that will soon give all 350 million, including the 1 million aristocrats, lifespan of 50 years longer, not just 10. It's the power of the nation to innovate. The Immortality Credit Score (whoever scores highest contributes the most to human lifespan increase of the entire nation and human species and is thus worthiest of elected office, not who gets most money from gangster aristocrats to brainwash the slaves with fake TV ads) determines who is invited among 350 million to become director of a certain office or whatever: elections choose policies, not people who will implement those policies. The part of policies that are safe to share with foreign nations who may not be immortalist yet. Then, they will take a small exam and out of 500 invited, one is selected to be top person and then others for other functions. We already discussed how all elections are fake in all nations and how people are being lied to that they choose candidates. People choose nothing, all candidates are being prepared for decades with or without their knowing by the local spy agency via training to be a spy and become an official later, using the cover of "a politician, engineer, doctor, economist, chemist, etc". The ideal of 'free elections' and all these things is not possible in a world of eternal sabotage and eternal war, any information about leaders and such is used by the enemy to destroy the nation, to corrupt the top officials, to target the top officials with quantum, microwave, infrasound, ultrasound, psychotronic weapons, ESP weapons, etc. Most people don't understand the world is in a state of perpetual war, sabotage, and violence, behind the scenes, while seemingly peaceful, except 5 areas of "active war". No, war is everywhere. And it will be until ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ becomes reality and violent crime goes down 1 billion fold. Thus, for the sake of national security, we can't waste time to have 2 sets of leaders: the front people who choose nothing and lie to the people that they're in charge and the real leaders behind the scenes who're today 100% hidden from public view. Are people so filif bulldog IQ☺☺☺ to believe that the front people are the real leaders, or that the presidents or governors choose anything? They're mere puppets and front men, like a front company for CIA stuff. They choose nothing, they're an interface between the hidden government within the spy agencies and the people, mere PR (public relations) people for public view and confusing foreign enemy spy agencies. We're focused too much on talk and nothing gets done. It's like that in all nations.

We can ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ argue that there is often a little too much crap on radio and TV in shouting tones. It is, perhaps, time to become one family, one country with infinite efficiency and 0 waste, so we can discover how to prevent the 10 second end of humanity fast. All education centralized and free from kindergarten to PhD, with 100 times more critical thinking, research. It's not wise for states, cities, agencies, etc to display pictures of who certain employees and officials are. Due to the enemy being able to destroy our country's brain and heart. People are naive. For these reasons, when the Immortalist Party selects candidates who know the native language and English, to promote science of longevity awareness, since most longevity papers are in English, to uplift the English speaking population (1.5 billion) out of the 'satanic violence' trance militaries have gotten them into, the speakers who're used for TV programs may remain top secret and an AI may be shown, not the real person, to prevent quantum attacks on those people who try to destroy the nation by the vocal sound, as the CIA criminals who attack the throat of others, their brain, heart, etc. Did you know the British parliament House of Lords is not elected? Check out one aristocrat family today. Is Britain a democracy? See the results, train travel for example. In 2019, for the same money, in UK you got a free ticket on one route, in Germany free ticket on all routes for a year. Trains are used by the poorer people, so it's neglected. Do you wonder why the US, a UK colony, has such good train travel too? Maybe our elections are fake too, like the House of Lords, in a covert way that is. For 100 years America's second most spoken foreign language was German (due to Germans immigrating), but after the 2 world wars by Jewish Bankers and others for creating Israel, German was banned from US schools, while 80% of American penises were trimmed per Jewish rituals of circumcision, things that happen at rates of 0.1-0.3%☺☺☺ in many EU nations.

For 100+ years, Germans were the most common or 2nd most common ancestry, explaining some of the differences from Britain and the vast support among some companies for doing business with Germany and supporting the Nazis from behind the scenes, which was fine for US Brits, as it provided the environment for ending Germany's power in Europe for a while. Like it or not, much of the shouting of Hitler-like tone is present in many churches today, due to the lack of emphasis on gentle tender soft loving kindness and nurturing healing graceful compassion in the German and British cultures (50% of ancestry of USA people) of 20th century and before, thanks in part to the national takeover of these cultures by the Jewish Bible with its violence. The reason USA is such a Nazi state (fascist, Demon-crats being just as right wing as Re-pub-licans, just covertly, while publicly they claim to be left wing) is in part due to the 25% of Americans having German ancestry and working as one to keep it that way, with ample support from fellow Nazi Brits and Nazi Jews (Jewish race supremacists). It's the Anglo-Saxon alliance for world domination. It's that typical disdain of brainwashed Nazi German officers torturing non-Germans or non-Nazi Germans to death in camps for not saying Hello or saluting the "superior race German Nazi officers" who were well fed and laughing while killing millions. The Nazis were damaging babies with a dagger in gnat IQ rituals. Apparently, Russians were also taking part in torture of Germans, after they won. I'm not advocating for German language (illogical to conjugate so much, English is much simpler grammar, so it won). I'm all for English or one world co-created or co-adopted language. I'm gently presenting some reasons for WW1 and 2, some of the dynamics of Israel creation (Jews infiltrate gentile governments to promote their interests just like other nations, this is a fact true for all nations and Jews too, not an antisemitic sentence), by ending Turkish empire in WW1 and then the Holocaust leading to all moving to Israel, Israel spies taking over USA mega churches, health policies and promoting national circumcision and Jewish Jesus as savior. The UK (and EU/Russia governments which all seem Mossad puppets) infiltration by Jews is very deep too, hence UK is an ardent supporter of the fake unholy Bible spreading. To gently prevent the 10 second end of humanity, we can argue perhaps, in a very tender way, that we urgently need to end torture, cruelty, as in "circumcision, wars, and having 7000 languages", so we all hope humanity will take the best out of every system and bring Immortality for All. The language we speak is irrelevant, it's all whether we live in Eternal Universal Peace to the age of 1 billion each. To keep the gentile a silly subservient rat filif IQ☺☺ animal, the bad type of Jew will put on a mask of being Christian pastor and patriotic American and bring slowly his 'religion' at the forefront, turn all music into the like of these quotes too and the tone of all music too. He will slowly infiltrate the military too and turn it into a Jewish violent quotes via lyrics spreader. The 'Battle Hymn of the Republic' is the evil, anger magnifying, merciless crushing cruelty deifying, diametrical opposite of civilized songs like "We ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺ work to bring Eternal Universal Peace, and Immortality for All with a grace and healing softness, compassion for all humans a trillion times greater than that of the most loving mom for her only infant baby" and other Immortalist Anthem ideas and lyrics free from any violent word or negative emotion. The pride and aggressive tone of military music and civilian music of US brainwashed military ensures USA's rapid downfall, as "it needs to fall, for Greater Israel to become # 1 as Israeli soldiers wear on their uniforms. (David's empire did not exist) The military, spy agencies in 100 nations have become more of a fanatical Jewish violence spreader, than a supporter of Peace and is a far cry from the ideal military that doesn't exist anywhere on Earth. It's perhaps time to replace them with Eternium and the Immortality Nurturing Agency. "0 IQ gentiles, kill each other, 100 million dead in 2 world wars, to create Israel, Jewish banks will finance the wars". Why do we need 4500 banks in USA? More wars to make Great Israel? Germans were too low IQ to realize the government was to a great extent, Jewish/British controlled. The Christian church is promoting Judaism in disguise? Are Christian Churches merely outposts of Mossad in disguise promoting Jewish supremacy? Why is our military promoting Christianity, the violent Bible thru such violent songs? Why was the first Pope Jewish and were the others secret Jews too more often than not? People of the world, too naive and busy to question the wafer ritual, do it with zealous joy. Why? Given the Nazi officers entrance into the US military after WW2, when Nazis were recruited to develop weapons, makes us wonder if some of Nazi vibe mixed in with Jewish Nazism ideas (Jews are superior) and the Bible violent quotes, to give us the "eternal war" vibe today that is so antithetical to immortalism and Eternal Universal Peace. To create a lasting peace, we need to learn from the mistakes of the past and realize there are better trillions of ways, that involve no war, violence.

4.1.9.26. ►►►► fake ideologies: communism (a little about it here), nazism etc) to create proxies or fake governments to invade, loot or take over all state or private companies, controlled fake opposition (fake parties playing enemies, control all, or fake dissidents criticizing the one party system, etc) and fake animosity, social engineering programs, fake mafia, terror groups or gangs, fake corporations, bought academia, weak food industries, weaponizing everything for their antilongevity anti Immortality purposes. Even gay and abortion rights can be distorted and used to depopulate a group (fewer kids over time) or nation and take over a country; frequent abortion can cause health weakness, cancer; excessive sex can cause health problems too and also steer society towards romance (everyone seeks a one night stand or new affairs) instead of the eterni music vibes of universal loving kindness and advanced science of living to 150 or 900 later and defending oneself against evil influences (music, media, TV, etc, "Sex and the City" ☺☺☺) seeking Civilization of Immortals destruction or weakening; all useful to death worshipping country; any religion, idea, science study etc can be faked or weaponized to undermine a group within a Civilization of Immortals or the entire civilization.

4.1.9.27. ►►►► fake versions of historical "events" thru history book writing, inflate or deflate 2 to 900,000+ times the casualties in selective conflict zones of a wider regional or world war (pick and choose what fits their interest, that way they can play victim to be treated ultra nice wherever they go, nobody could verify, no satellites until recently, even today, they can bomb empty buildings to deceive satellites and fake war among 2 countries to deceive a 3rd country, so the two can take over 3rd country via a proxy, new ideology, "militia" or "popular revolt"; in old times you needed 1-5 months to go verify by foot or horse in every village damaged of the area if a battle took place as described in a report (to give time for a country to undermine another by fake reports); hence today war is sneakier and more covert (hard to verify) with COVID19 (or any "unknown time: past, present, future" lab created hybrid (partially fake depends on location) swine, bird flu, HIV, Spanish Flu like epidemics as cover for mass preparedness in case of a really scary epidemic (Dr. Greger made videos about such scenarios) or a biological world war, immunization against potential bioweapons of world war 3 said country may defend against (if another country started it) or may use against others not immunized to lower IQ, brain damage, weaken health, or exterminate) from labs (hence US says China released it, and viceversa, who used telepathy gadgets on who), because what happens can't be verified by satellite, which deaths are fake, who released the virus to weaken their enemies or do selective extermination of anybody unwanted, do selective chemical, EMF (like weapons can cause leg twitches, heart rate rise, same can be done with interfering with breathing, body temp or coughing to simulate any symptom of any disease, to manipulate people) or bioweapon or infertility☺☺☺ vaccine testing (no worries about permanent damage in 1-2 billion people, 10 year shorter lifespan or lower IQ for control, etc) on "disposable citizens of various countries" while telling them lies that they got COVID19, or other diseases they planted in products (refining the lethality of various weapons by testing them, creating 300 versions of COVID19 for various uses, RNA viruses mutate, so there are 1000s of COVID19 versions), medicines, foods, eyedrops, COVID19 swabs/tests, vitamins shipped via mail, products, foods they placed on shelf after they brain controlled you to go to that store offline or online and pick up that product etc.

4.1.9.28. ►►►► fake vaccine development dates: i.e. plan a pandemic 15 years early (a group of countries, maybe also to lower emissions or slow population growth, among other goals mentioned here), then claim vaccines were developed in months, fake export of vaccine, yet it is not be the same or as effective against a bioweapon or lab made fake pandemic, fake=unnatural or lab made, etc or fake import of vaccines and say you administer it to your people, but make a look alike and place your own vaccine in it to deceive the exporting nation; fake studies about side effects, to simulate a really spontaneous (when some don't always work, so then few use those) development of vaccines and hide it was planned for decades. If you got a belly or want to not crush internal organs when sitting, try wear an elastic belt, 24-7, like me, so you can breathe easily and not think that you got COVID19. A nation can easily assign deaths from other causes to the virus, just as they plan Covid19 for years as they did. None knows which old times (or virus or sonar-microwave today) battles or labor camps had real or fake casualties.

4.1.9.29. ►►►► fake history of religions, wars and countries: (to go to 25. fake miracles, click here, since next 5 pages deal with some general ideas about religious brainwashing) They make fake videos: tons of photoshopped pics put together at high speed, fake sound added using AI to reconstruct some old accent voice, to create a fake video of some old or newer battle.. Some of the methods are described in the section on nonkilling. With photoshop for fake photos, see example, fake papyrus paper, fake stone inscriptions made after the fact, fake carbon dating, fake deaths, birthdates, so people worship a "killed" (still alive) person more, fake witnesses telling lies, fake old books creation, forged books, fake "physical evidence", historical naratives created about non-existent fake history events, video editing, control of media for eons, unethical people/spies can, today, as in ancient times, create any fantasy they want and call it fact or "science fact", even have people worship fictious beings they create. Religions are almost never (except a few subdenominations, CTA, MTA, Ter, Turing, CPL, unknown to 99.99% of people, appearing recently only due to science discoveries) about empowering or freeing people with a happy life of a trillion years old in this world (a trillion years is not Immortality anyway), but always about soul Immortality only. It's also not much about freedom in general, not just freedom to live to 2,000 or later, a trillion: you have to do endless rituals, obey ☺☺☺ the guru or clergy at all costs no matter how wrong he is, etc, except for a few religions. The benefits of the religions that came to be are explained in the next few pages too *(*since not all people involved had ulterior mass control motives or aware of how much good their little trick would lead to), but here are the downsides: it is not about housing the homeless by ending the huge list of useless stores, etc things here that use materials. It's often about begging, renouncing all wealth, all thinking, obeying the clergy, giving all cash to the religion founders or institution, afterlife payments (to avoid purgatory), guilt, antiscience, everything to mind control and keep people clueless, short-lived, "enslaved in low IQ" and the homeless as homeless as before too overall. Critics say religious charities help the poor, sick, things that any humanitarian group can do too, they say Neolithic people could have never imagined we could live to 9 million, which is true. So why don't religions change themselves today to free the people?

Our species created religions in its quest for hapiness and understanding, so as we evolve, they will morph into more freeing expressions of deeper knowledge. We have given up massive coal plants, centralized power generation, and allowed distributed off-grid/on-grid solar to slowly emerge, why not move to the open source era of democratizing religion too, not just energy? With youtube, a phone to record a song or online venues, people can create, individually, content far superior in tone (and sometimes even content) to many clergy if serious about it, since clergy is so busy and part of the historical inertia, they have no idea what tone they use during sermons. Is it that gentle tender serenity bringing soft nurturing and healing? Clergy often repeat the ☺☺☺ same "15 min Eucharist" 365 days a year, not knowing with a prerecording, they would make something 300 times higher quality in tone and play it for 30 years or find a version on youtube with 100 times better tone on the day's topic. A light went on in the soul or mind of humanity with the printing press, which democratized knowledge and education somewhat, and then 5 centuries later, Internet appeared, allowing everyone to have a printing press of their own ideas, write a book and publish it online, etc, youtube appeared, allowing the billion fold increase in innovation and free thought, making helpful videos for others who google a "how to do this" topic on youtube, etc, and the most healing tones to reach the most eterni starved ears *that have not heard it for millennia, as TV-radio has almost none of it usually (*in many areas, TV-radio has not even 0.01% of an eterni tone song like Enya's gentlest songs) and it's only present in very few places of worship; this could spark something greater than the renaissance and industrial revolution, a silent discreet transformation that brings technologies we only dream of. Who controls religious institutions, the "free" media and who engineers our cultures? What is their motive, intent? What about addressing the real causes of the conditions (culture? of death, *anti-Immortality?)* their charities focus on (often insincerely, as a cover or to do what everyone does)? There are many selfless, sincere low level people who don't know the big picture of social engineering via religion, etc; but religions also maintain ignorance and war by the very theologies that antagonize groups of people; war shortens lifespan, ignorance shortens "lifespan and ability to understand God". Lies repeated 100s of times become "facts", as with fake news today. Can we think before accepting as true rituals and miracle stories so common in all major religions? Was it all spirituality or some dirty politics, psychological warfare and spies mixed in with it? Why did some teach so much about poverty (Christianity) and begging (Buddha was a rich son of a king, one way to maintain and expand wealth is to teach poverty and begging, and expand a religion over many countries)? "Why was Islam so focused on taking others' property (theft) in pillaging via wars, tax on infidels, etc?" is a question found in many religion critical analysis texts. Christianity, oddly focuses on this Jesus who died and was tortured, so if people love Jesus, they're conditioned to emulate Jesus, welcome death and torture, as if some military strategist needing useful 'low IQ folk' "cannon fodder", wanted to create more "kamikaze" soldiers, since the guy creating it wasn't really into World Peace without war, violence, threat, torture, intimidation and nice speech.

Jesus or the gospel editor says "I have not come to bring peace on earth, but a sword" (Matthew 10:34-8). How peaceful is that or his attacks on many people in New Testament, when Infinite Love☺☺☺ would display the most evolved gentle tender soft loving kindness and nurturing healing graceful compassion for nanobaby souls? I read many book excerpts and articles where scholars are asking many questions, such as: was any religion founded by rich people who paid some to create fictions, to maintain their control or expand their empires of wealth? Conspiracy theories abound about motives of many religions and denominations that are odd, the founders or editers of the religion scriptures or spiritual philosophies seem often more concerned with people giving money to the organized religious entity, gurus and others (than with the people living to 500 in peace and harmony) in exchange for "eternal paradise" for which proof is weak. Why bring paradise on Earth, expand health and lifespan for all, when you can just beg and/or give money to the group? Like those "end of the world" cults where guru says "sell everything and give all cash to guru", because in 5 years the world ends. "End times are near, baby, so better give all cash to us; sacrifice all your wealth and time for us, like Jesus did (did he?) sacrifice himself, for we'll sure save you from a long life, and shorten your lifespan so you go to eternal lifespan faster; we won't do research to figure out how both of us live much longer without your monetary and time sacrifice, but you first give all to the guru/temple and nothing to science of long and happy life, so we both remain clueless; why would clergy sacrifice their time, change the service structure and sacrifice attachments to tradition in service to truth finding and science of this universe and others, make use of empty space better (use church space for huge lifespan tripling science lectures too, etc), give kids a science education so they can triple lifespan to find out God's mysteries 3 times better, when they can ask parishioners to sacrifice their money and time to the organized group?". "We'll even build gigantic buildings that sit empty much of the time, while many are homeless and live 10-30 years shorter as a result. We'll also build casinos and organize field trips of kids to casinos, as part of church activities, since casinos triple human lifespan thru gambling, for those who didn't know it."

They create a religion about fighting some "bad guys", and they can control both the good and bad guys, like with the political parties the same guys control in order to create maximum division among the enslaved worker class. No critical thinking allowed, accept the dogmas of the organized entity or gurus, they know best. No wonder that many, like Martin Luther etc, started their own denominations, as they got a little frustrated with the monetary and other aspects of it, that were controversial at the time (money shortens purgatory); while Luther had valid points, I disagree that we're 'saved by grace, not works', since this idea is antithetical to learning and motivation to evolve. We only learn well by doing, by works, not by imagining we're doing it. We can imagine we can run a nuclear power plant all we want, but when put in a situation to run it, without training first by "doing, by works", we would be a "disaster" who blows the plant up or planet up if a huge fusion reactor. Incidentally, Protestantism, while leading to many progressive denominations (anti-"war, ritual, Eucharist, baptism" Quakers, spiritualists, vegan Adventists) and changes that raise IQ, fluid intelligence,☺☺☺ literacy (Bible translated in local languages, etc) and some freedom of thought, also led to "reportedly" (true or fake?) 20 million dead in Catholic-Protestant wars. Is it because "God's grace" and "IQ by standard definition" are not enough? Do we need to practice and train on how to do a real reformation (some ideas here), without any violence and then do it, when one has achieved that Godly skill, depending on an IQ way higher than available in 1500s? Has anyone learned how to be a world chess champion or athlete or etc by imagining it and believing they can do it, that God's Grace alone is sufficient? No.☺☺☺ It was all depending on their effort mainly, with God's Grace maybe giving them ideas on how to direct efforts better. In my worldview, Catholics, Orthodox and 99.9% Protestants (except some spiritualists) are almost identical, they all ignore eterni tone, especially mainstream Protestants who yell a lot more as pastors, they all focus on Grace, not works (especially Protestants), on unproven belief or ritual (especially Catholics/Orthodox), not hypothesizing, questioning, discovering. But these problems are present (more or less) in all the other religions too (which may have other issues), this was just comparing the Christian groups. As free thinkers, we're always free to ask, question, ponder and formulate our own opinions. It doesn't mean some military guy didn't have good noble intentions of harmony, social order, kindness, if they were involved initially or later in the religion creation, recreation, change; it just helps to realize that the stories told may not be factual and the cocreators' agendas were not always nice for all involved.

When we read texts written by believers of various religions and philosophies, their critical analysis of the other belief systems, we see religions more objectively, with nuances we never noticed before. There are a few good and mostly bad things in the historical process that came out of many religions, including the religions mentioned above, some very nice gentle music in more eterni tones (Gregorian chants, etc), etc that inspire us to imagine trillions of ways to peace without war, lies, torture, intimidation, etc, but with healing grace and without causing pain to anyone. We can't use some imperfections to dismiss everything as "not useful": for example out of Protestantism came the freedom from having to pray to endless saints and do endless rituals (no water baptism, communion in Quakers, just personal relationship with God), out of the Buddhism and non-guru zealous Hindu philosophies (many pre-Buddhist sects who were into breathing) came a renewed focus on freedom from guru☺☺☺ worship, freedom from desire, focus on being happy regardless of having a teddy bear, pet or "spouse" to massage and love, being happy in the Infinite Eternal Massage of the Infinite Spirit we experience 24-7 when breathing. This certainly was not about enslaving anyone, but freeing people from many forms of hidden oppression, or even, in modern times, from the drudgery of being enslaved by endless for profit businesses who brainwash us that bliss is only possible if we buy their products or if we do this and that activity or have this or that many pets, toys, girlfriends, and sexual activities, when nothing could be further from the truth: we don't need objects, kissing, hugging, sports to be happy, nor tasty foods – we only need recall universal loving kindness breathing (the giant universe size teddy bear who hugs us 24-7, the Living Pranic Oxygen Field of "God") and the infinite benefits of gentle music and right speech (back then it was about content of speech only, i.e. kind speech), i.e. eterni tone (vocal, inner, intent, emotion and content) speech in the modern era of neuroscience when we know how key the tone is to everything we do; one could say in the most loving tone "religion x or denomination y was created by spy agency z to weaken or enslave a few countries and keep those people backwards, perhaps due to their fears, fears which in the light of universal compassion are understandable and no reason to get angry; as a result, spy agency w changed the religion x or denomination y to provide more freedom and progress; we can however, hope and work for a peaceful win-win where religions or spiritual philosophies about physical and spiritual Immortality free all countries and enable average human lifespan to rise to 500 and later a million, eventually a trillion." The tone can make a difference between night and day, even though content is very similar. Atheists often say "Where is the real hardcore proof Jesus, Buddha, etc existed at all or as depicted, outside of edited/made up texts?", so we then become more expansive in our perception of complexities of human beliefs and religion creation adventures. But then, the only easy to verify teaching in these spiritual or religious movements is the more universal stuff like kindness gentle tender softness, which is pure physics, action force equals reaction force, as in classical mechanics, Newton's third law or common sense stuff like kind tone of speech, doing what is best for our collective longevity, so all live to 500 without war, lies, torture, violence, etc.

Our Father who*'re* in Heaven, give us our daily bread, ☺☺☺ with gluten, phytic acid in unsoaked grains used to make bread for endless illness, and dry heat AGEs to bring disease and less optimal brain function (which often leads to wars)? Why not give us our daily eterni food to make us smarter, healthier and longer lived, more able to bring peace without war (no Armagedon, thanks) and heavenly earth faster? Table 1 shows some breads and bakeries have 50 times more AGEs than other breads, or cereal products, so one can be mindful not to eat "brain damaging" stuff, as then "war" becomes the only way to peace in all universes at all times, even when evidence points to the contrary. Perhaps religions will update the prayers to say some of the: "Our Source (no gender) of Immortality for All, who is in Heaven, give us our daily eterni food, so no animals with Immortality knowledge are killed, so no mice, squirrels are killed by growing wheat for the Jesus bread whose gluten gives many amputations, diabetes, blindness, smaller brain due to high sugar, and heart failure, Jesus/Yahweh bread giving death and illness via phytates, give us eterni food free from suffering of any animal or plant, so all have healthy WHR to make it to 150 and discover the knowledge of living to 4000, then a *tri*llion years old (to praise the *Tri*nity), to grant the freedom to choose living to a trillion to all humans interested, to have time to better develop honesty (no faked miracles), true virtues and qualities of a would be Immortal, worthy of being in your presence of infinite nurturing healing gentle tender soft loving kindness, learning by doing, (like MIT motto "learn by doing",) eternally (a *tri*llion years sounds pretty eternal) learning by building a Civilization of Immortals in ever more dimensions. For your Glory is Infinite, you Live for *Tri*llions of Octillions of ages, and a *tri*llion years is just a nanonanosecond, giving us a *tri*llion years lifespan is so easy for You, so Lord, have mercy on us, help us think, formulate hypotheses and live in permanent world and intergalactic peace (with no war and end times gloomy prophecies, for we want to live in peace,) in many galaxies (not be enslaved on this tiny planet in 80 year lifespan lives), praising you forever, from a *tri*llion planets with billions of people each, not just one (space travel needs long lifespan)." It's odd how selfish people have become today, with nobody caring when people become obese, it ought to be a stop of all church activities, club activities and the entire community ought to help that guy return to normal BMI of 22 instead of 30. He could get 1 month off to learn better sleep (one main reason for weight gain), lower fat nutrition, etc at a clinic to get rid of weight when he's even BMI 25, which today, sadly, is thought of as "healthy". Nobody cares about health, only about shouting like mental institution escapees at churches, while the sick and fat sit 3 feet away, silently crying for help from the cruel pompous☺ soulless "disciples of Jesus". In every Mass they pray for Pope, Bishops, Pastors, so they could say "when billions of people use service time to learn about longevity sciences, Pope/pastors will live longer and healthier than ever before, so our prayers come true by action, not verbal invocation only, as we got millions of times more quality nutrition studies, citizen science projects that help us discover what works. When trillions of planets have longevity scientists, Pope can live even longer". This transforms all religions into a Universal Immortalist Church of Ever Questioning Hypothesis Formulating and Testing Collective of Free Thinkers, Altruists and Scientist Heroes. Jesus allegedly said "What I have done you will also do and much more", so then, the ones after him would be greater saints than him, doing more, so the church is not his but God's. Jesus' life is all stories, no real proof. ☺

4.1.9.30. ►►►► fake miracles: a long discussion of 30 pages to help believers understand how bandit "clergy" get filthy rich (turning USA into an Italian slave colony, see 500 Italian genocides here) via fake religion and theft of taxpayer funds, how the 1450 Bible violent genocide quotes are sold as 'Word of God', how sadistic (who kill 6000 slaves in one day) Italian emperors covertly created sadism and fake miracles filled (God tortures his "only" special son to save the rest of his 'lower level' kids) Christianity (with help from Jews who took over the Empire covertly for a while?) in order to take over continents using spy bases called "churches" or mosques, synagogues, temples for other religions used for similar aims (Vatican (Jews?) ran spies since the Roman era). For Islam fraudulent "religion", ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ visit the Quran "miracles" section & Bible-Torah genocidal quotes section. Priests are often Mossad killers (see video), avoid them, don't even talk to priests or confess, don't receive Holy water, Eucharist or oil blessing as these can kill people via transdermal absorption (that's how spies kill people slowly so it appears natural, they irradiate the heart of the victim confessing, victim visits a doctor and then thinks he might be dying, then Mossad priest poisons him to die within 3 days via some ritual). God knows your sins, Catholics invented confession to spy on all nations. The validity of Tibetan miracles is clear in this debate style. Researcher explains via video how Jesus & other military spies (who pretend to be clergy) and today's gurus faked materializations of: amrit, bread, wine, ash, egg (skeptics can do it too, see all Sai tricks in one 9 min clip), jewelry. To fully understand Jesus tricks please watch these videos: 1). Jesus walks on water video here 2). Jesus levitates himself 3-8 inches by misdirection or Jesus levitates small objects by strings or this Chris Angel fake levitation 3). Chris Angel illusionist video "cuts people in two and rejoins them thru God powers lol", clip takes 10 hours, but is shown as taking 50 seconds, that's how youtube frauds make "miracles" seem real 4). Jesus multiplies, teleports, materializes small objects 5). Jesus mutiplies fish and bread 6). Jesus teleports himself 7). Jesus teleports objects. 3 youtube channels with Jesus "miracles" explained in detail are Magic (729 videos), ire (60+ videos), facto (80 videos, see Hollywood effects too). For tricks that are not explained, see Chris. You can replace Jesus with any other saint who used tricks and not hear say made up stories. Search youtube for David Blaine and other magicians to see how Jesus could have done it, beside paid scammers who spread lies about witnessing what never happened. Jesus went to India and learned all their tricks there, those guys did those for 100s of years before Jesus. Jewelry faking is common among 'Protestant' 'pastors' today who buy cheap $1 'diamonds' and stones and claim to be really precipitated by angels☺. Other "pastors" build huge PALACES (see video) using church donations and then get arrested in a multi-state $50 million human traffic FBI case, have tax breaks no American gets even after making 800K/yr, multiple private jets, 10 million mansion for Benny Hinn ministries pastor of fraud and prosperity gospel (the more money you give him, the more you will make in 5 trillion years, yeah, yeah, see Senate investigation), thefts of 570K by church secretaries in Florida, multimillion mansion and private jet like anti-Christian bias Trump pastor who works to defend the looting of Americans by Trump appointed Christian pastors telling church goers that their dream will die if they don't give her 100000$ in a typical gangster like extortion, government so efficient by Trump that he has money for anti-Christian bias office led by a thief (Jewish? Nazi?) who extorts naive Americans, see Trump dancing with her and her claiming where she walks God does in a tone that is as far removed from God and eterni tone as many similar "clergy" (demon tones: pastor, rabbi, Buddhist monk, imam, Hindu preacher) and closer to Hitler than God, watch how these fake clergy waste time and money on makeup and long eyelashes (known to cause dry eyes), like many White House press secretaries whose appearance is more important than the eterni tone, $10 million mansions and their own airports, are worth now $1 billion and are followed by 10 luxury cars when driving, get 250K/yr USA housing allowance etc, using donations to get rich. In USA, lots of pastors commit fraud using churches, like the Texas one who took a pic with Joel Osteen millionaire pastor of abundance and stole tens of millions of dollars. See BBC video too on staged materializations – some of the personal life BBC claims about these modern day fakers may be fake, to provide cover for spy activities, but the faking of miracles is real. All they need is people paid to claim a miracle happened, see cultnews.com. Vatican liars are only interested in subjugating the planet, just as the Italian Empire killing everyone left and right to expand the empire by genocide, in Phillipines the evil Catholic church doesn't excommunicate anyone who practices or supports the practice of crucifiction, since that makes people as ☺abysmal IQ☺ as possible and enhances the looting and subjugation of the Filipinos by the Italian Vatican mafia. God could easily grant 150 or 200 year lifespan☺☺☺ or 0 aging for 20 years to people who visit fake Marian apparition, Eucharist miracle (Vatican spies (recruited from its 1 billion brainwashed 'believers') are engaged in a continuous support of the eternal fraud to maintain alleged miracles of hosts etc: they lie that the hosts are same as many centuries ago (they replace them)), Buddhist miracle (such as Buddha starving to death almost, damaging his brain*, and* monks starving to death for 800 years to reach 'enlightenment'), showing religion was possibly created by spies (Buddha, son of a King, pretended to starve to conquer nearby kingdoms by religion) who wanted mass starvation for mind control and easy conquering of newly Buddhist lands) etc shrines and fake Protestant yelling pastors like Peter Popoff & many others with a "loving tone of speech", but God never does anything unfakable, only easy tricks, easy to fake miracles, like the 9000+ fake clairvoyants using hidden mics from CIA, FBI (who support these fake pastors who show how all Christianity was faked, in order to make the public less gulible, more aware of foreign methods of deception) and other stuff to pretend they're clairvoyant, some appear on many popular shows that some believe are real. If you want to lower your IQ, then definitely read the Bible, Quran all day and memorize it, it's the surest way to lose several points. Jews know memorizing the Quran makes people the lowest IQ on Earth, so they pose as imams and tell Muslims to memorize it. They know how to loot. The rapture belief of Evangelicals is proofless and made up in the 1830s by a British fruit fly IQ guy. The Plymouth Brethren from Ireland spread this garbage and since then people sold houses, quit jobs each time a fraud claimed rapture could come in 5 to 140 days, most recently 9-23-2025. ☺☺☺ Kindly stop donating to criminal pastors who hit their wives and rape 100 church goers. Christianity was made up by Paul apparently, a clever Jew who tried to take over the planet with a "gentile friendly" religion using the cover of "a new religion doing away with Judaism" but keeping the old scripture as part of Bible (the violent garbage of Tanakh or Old Testament that contradicts the New Testament) and the quotes that affirm Jesus didn't come to nullify the Old Religion or Jewish laws. Every miracle staged, made up to spread Judaism under the cover of a new "religion". You got it? One big scam.☺☺☺ Churches, mosques, synagogues, Gita based Temples, Sikh/Buddha Temples, Confucius/Taoist Temples/Institutes, etc need to register as foreign agents of Israel, Saudi Arabia, China, Italy, Germany (Lutheran), India, UK, etc the originators of major denominations who simply promote the Jewish agenda that created the 3 Abrahamic religions or other sick agendas. An entity with calls for genocide, mass rape, looting, arson in its 'scripture' is NOT a Religion☺☺☺☺, but a Military Unjust War Base on US soil, approved by a Traitor Gov who peddles to Foreign Despots who aim to keep Americans stupid, clueless about who and why they invented these "religions". Even Analects and Tao Te Ching are evil. Take US back from the "clergy of God" who say calls for "genocide, kid beating, slave beating, mass rape, human sacrifice, arson" is the Word of God. These are frauds, not men of God. We don't need cannibal ethics in US, we can create centralized education with 1 ethics video, quiz from age 0 to 18, that build ethics knowledge a million times deeper than religion junk scriptures of millennia ago when people's understanding of infinity was null. ☺☺☺

Youtube has 100s of channels, like @PJBibleTV & @Sarcastic which explain how religions (Islam, Christianity, etc) are created by empires or aristocratic clans, tribes, etc for political purposes (even Moses was fake as this video explains even better). I'm not alone, there are 100s of skeptics on youtube who make videos about avoiding debt by no longer buying $1.4 trillion worth of lethal useless products that genocidal aristocrats sell to extort us and get everyone in debt via the banking and debt system they created to con all USA, about being a minimalist and saving your money from these clergy 'parasitic aristocrats in disguise' predators, such as this video about a starving lady who gives 10% to church. Facebook has many buy nothing groups and youtube has thousands of users who teach minimalism and buying only stuff you absolutely need, food, cheap/used clothes, cheap shoes, etc to avoid debt that aristocrats use to destroy you/USA. Avoid any religion related expenses, this is a given for this movement to take USA back from the gangsters, the aristocracy that enslaves the 90% with trash products to keep all filif IQ. See why the Jesus cult and miracles may be fictional, a tool for people to get young boys for sex and blood, with many saying evidence of Jesus is nonexistent, except for made up 'proofs' and artifacts. Careful analysis of the Bible, when people married young, and apostoles were not married, indicates Jesus 12 disciples (well, the Bible can't even get right their names, Gospels don't agree) may have been 15 years old or even 13 (Matthew 19:14), and chosen for a fresh supply of blood and sexual favors, like we see priests having sex with young boys, since after the cannibal simulation of "drink my blood and eat my flesh" Jesus was arrested and someone escaped and ran naked, since in those times people wore a one piece quite often, and the guy running may have been a boy caught (Mark 14:51-2) in the act of sex or blood letting as instructed by Jesus the 33 year old vampire guy telling 13 year olds how to do rituals simulating cannibalism. Another Jew, Baruch Spinoza, a Jesus apologetic, invented a different story based on another set of "forged documents": "Jesus had 6 brothers, one of them being Thomas, his twin and Thomas was crucified, while Jesus was the naked young guy running away and Jesus continued the scam Christianity". Spinoza, being a crafty myth creator himself, made up the lie that Jesus went to Tibet and studied 18 years how to do miracles, when in fact all miracles were staged: Spinoza's proof were fictional forged documents he "found", that nobody else can see. Every year a new Jew discovers more forged tablets, docs, Gospels to prove the Superiority of Jews and how God incarnated as a Jew. There are at least 100 Jews and 900 Catholics, etc who always find more stuff, more archeological stuff to prop up the crumbling religion with new lies. This is not surprising, since Jewish elites may have wanted to emulate Solomon (Kings 11:4-5: Solomon worships Molek god Jews sacrificed babies to, had slaves (1 Kings 9:21-2) & 1000 'wives' (Kings 11:3) and wanted 50 young boys and girls for their personal harem, as the Jewish Quran (who deifies child sex slaves) could have granted faithful Jews posing as Muslims, who're to emulate the "most perfect man in history Mohamed" who took endless child girl slaves and who killed people and then raped next day their wives. The Jesus events were staged (paid witnesses, sleight of hand, etc) or made up (write story about nonevents), about 300 years before Constantine (the Roman emperor controlled by Jewish finance, like Biden US Emperor in 2024 USA) officially converting the empire to Christianity to hide the imperial (and possible Jewish control of the Roman empire and their historical revisionism) involvement in the creation of the fake religion (to hide it, they also staged fake killings of Christians by the empire, who later became 'saints', by pretending to be against Christianity), by those looking to centralize power and, possibly (but less likely), give vampiric elites a fresh supply of young blood to drink or little boys/girls for sexual fantasies. The Italian Vatican Jews made up the confession of sins requirement to spy on gentiles, use info they get to blackmail people, the kid molestation was a way to mind control locals whose sexual acts would be used to blackmail locals (if you don't obey, the priest will tell the public the gentile sucked his penis) as they became adults, if they didn't let Jews take over their country. ☺☺☺ The Gospel is a made up text, using old cliches, for example the "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven" Mk 10:25 is a proverb (elephant instead of camel) that existed in Persia for 900 years before Jesus, the 400 BC Babylonian Talmud has the idiom too, except it's an elephant, since Babylon was in Iraq, under the sphere of influence of Iran. Jesus used a Persian idiom (for an impossibility), he was too low in IQ to come up with original stuff, he copied Persian/Talmud (Ctrl+F elephant). The Gospel is rubbish with fictional stories for people of 3rd grader IQ, his goal is to guilt trip the rich, and tell them they go to hell unless they give all money to Jesus and his gang of Jewish thieves posing as Popes, clergy who try take over the nations in exchange for "spiritual insights". Clever. Every Gospel quote has a hidden motive not apparent initially to the gullible faithful gentile: the goal is not liberation at all, but total enslavement of all nations on Earth with a filif rat IQ cult. Some claim Catholics are the good guys, Italians are nice, but in the EU, 24 nations banned parental violence against their kids (slaps, spanks, etc), with the last 3 legalizing beatings in 2026 being Catholic: Italy 59 million people (genocidal conqueror of 50 nations), Slovakia 5 million, Belgium 12 million. The first nations to ban slaps in Europe/World were Protestant, Orthodox, not Catholic. Sweden 1979, Germany 2000, Romania/Ukraine 2004, Brazil/Argentina/Bolivia 2014, France 2019, Japan 2020. Catholics, in the Italian tradition of genocide by torture via Inquisition, were the last ones to do it in the EU. US, Australia, Canada, England didn't, as they're like India, China, Russia and most Muslim nations (except 4 former communist Muslim nations, Kosovo, Albania, Turkmenistan, Tajikistan who realized Islam is BS and Tunisia, the most secular Muslim nation): "beat the crap out of everyone who disagrees with you, the only way is violence", which is illogical, because even the mortal aliens know a trillion ways to an outcome free from violence, not just God. The US lives in the Jungle Parallel World of "We need 280 times more guns per capita than Singapore to have 280 times more gun homicides". Millions were killed by guns, but "Bible & miracle believing" Republicans won't budge, as their demonic God mandates smashing kids against rocks and using rods to beat the crap out of kids. This, they say, is the God we must worship folks, "vote Republican please".☺☺

The 10% Jews in Rome may have infiltrated the Roman empire to spread Torah (Old Testament) globally via the Bible, via making Jesus cult the religion in 325, so that people are conditioned to view Jews as Gods, since God's only special son came as a Jew. This makes enslaving everyone so much easier, as the brain is used to having a Jewish boss, Jesus. Now all they need is to have main celebrities in every field be Jews and everyone will take their word as if coming from God, "obey the Jewish master" becomes the mantra of every culture. He's your parasite realtor, parasite banker, parasite CEO, parasite priest, bishop, parasite Pope, parasite Jesus son of God, everything. Crypto Jews may have been even Roman Emperors and many "Italian" Popes (hence Kabbalah special green color is in the Italian flag and US dollars), just as USA is run by Jews today, with 80% of males being circumcised via parent brainwashing against their will and Jews, 2% of population, being 9-85% of aristocrats in many fields. USA Jews/capita are 9 times the EU, so circumcision in many EU nations is only 0.1-0.3%, Muslims only. The fanatical more dishonest type of right wing ultra Orthodox Jew, will pretend he's an atheist science geek Democrat or Christian Republican, use a fake pretense of pro-science, publish fake science papers, and then change the law to have circumcision covered and recommended, takes over health policy to impose his Penis Stabbing (circumcision) on all Americans, even if evidence exists that it does more harm than good. While claiming to be European and hiding his Jewishness, he's a Jew in religion. Muslims often use similar techniques to promote the violent ritual of circumcision. Just like the ultimate lovey-dovey hippies or pastors during daytime, can be in secret hard core serial killers who eliminate people at night or torture people, causing endless injuries. In 1780s Jews wanted to ban English and impose Hebrew as the only language. The same way, crafty rabbi Jesus can use fellow Jews to stage all healings and miracles, to invent Christianity to brainwash gentiles to publish the Torah (80% of the Bible), which is not their scripture (Gospel) and spread it worldwide. A lie about alleged miracles repeated in 2000000 fake books and inscriptions can become 'accepted fact', a genocide calls scam can become a religion, more on that in the 82+ pages quotes section. In Canada, people had enough "genocide cells" (terror cells spreading violence under the guise of religion), so they burned 33 churches in 2 years. Did the Red Sea part? Not really, it was natural. ☺Near 0 IQ☺ folks think it was real. Real when no Egyptian inscriptions talk of it? Like the Shroud of Turin fake? Talmud talks of sex with 3 year olds and Tiberius was a pedophile Roman Emperor who died or was killed around 27 AD, was Tiberius Jewish or controlled by Jews who wanted Rome to fall by having this guy distracted with boys?

The Hindu, Taoist, Buddhist scriptures had cases of miracles (for example: physical flying) that the Conmen of the Universe, the Italian Jewish Evil Roman Empire Jesus cult Inventors, didn't read when they invented the Jesus Cult, so the "God Jesus did not visibly physically fly" in the Bible, only levitated 1 foot above the water once. Jesus did no miracles, everything was made up by soldiers of the Imperial Expansion Department via 'Religion'. Over time, as they could not Deceive Every Nation too Fast, as their Only Goal was the Violent Subjugation of All via all Deception Possible and War as shown in the Roman Empire History, they decided to create Endless New Saints and Miracles, each Wilder than the Next, to make It Seem like theirs is the True and Mightiest GOD of them all. This would enable locals to convert and then the Mafia to use Clergy (Spies) to take political power gradually, enslave the locals. When trading and using missionaries to enslave all nations, 'Clergy' read about these New Miracles, such as Physical Flying, so then, they decided to create out of thin Air New Saints who Fly a LOT… in the 17th century, to make the other religions seem inferior, as they only had a few cases of flight per person. So, Cupertino was invented, world's first saint or sage who flew physically dozens of times at least, to fool all Asia, etc. Gently understand this was a Competition for Who Can Be More Deceiving, we don't have Clergy, but Hybrid Warfare of Extermination via Deceptive 'Religion', Clergy is a cover for soldiers of the Italy-Israel-etc Empire. So, when you hear a guy claim he's Gentile and promotes the Bible, ask yourself: WHY would a Gentile promote a Bible that is 80% the Jewish Torah which calls for extermination of any gentile Jews want exterminated? Think again, is he a CRYPTO-JEW or simply lower IQ than he realizes? Asia had physical flying miracles by the dozens for 2 millennia before the Catholics finally decided to have them in the 1600s. So why did GOD suddenly STOP Jesus the Biggest GOD of All, or Christians "saints" from FLYING for 1600 years while in Asia they flew? Because NONE WERE REAL, but hear say, manipulation, made up stories. Gently Think, Question. Mohamed, etc didn't read these Asia scriptures, so they didn't have physical, only spiritual flying in the Quran made up. You really need to read the other religious texts to broaden your horizons and understand their history and miracles, to better understand the Evil of the Italian Empire, so evident in the Mussolini tone and 1940s genocide actions, the 8 century long Inquisition, etc, Italian music. These are greedy bastards, out to kill to steal, nothing more, wake up from the brainwashing. ☺

The reason the Italian emperors created Christianity, is to better enslave the working class sheep, as Machiavelli explains the way monarchies operate: the kings act as if they're good, but behind the scenes are pure evil. These videos explain clearly, the ruler, king or deep state of aristocratic families, incites one group against the other, so it creates artificial divisions: black/white, LGBT/ straight, left/right political bloc, and 50+ other divisions, all to dupe the workers who need zero parasitic politicians who can't even make sure everyone has shelter in USA. They're masters at creating fake protests about divisive issues to distract WORKERS from the aristocrats' grand THEFT of Trillions: gay rights, abortion (total nonsense, since meditation makes you 1 million times happier than sex*, so then you have sex for pro-creation only),* while there is never any protest about aristocrats who live in palaces, earn 50000 times more than minimum wage. They create division, fake division, between nonsense: republicans max wage 50000x the min wage, Dems max wage 5000x, so debate is between super evil and evil, while not presenting the FREEDOM OPTION: max wage 3x the min wage and eventually equal with only difference being products one can buy and management positions one can apply for. Same with fake debate about abortion or gay rights: sex 365 times a day with no condom and aborting or sex 365 times a year without condom and not aborting, while not presenting the third option: no sex outside pro-creation. Another example: fake Catholic faith vs fake Protestant faith, with no 3rd option: realizing Jesus cult is a scam. The demonic ruthless infinitely bestial greedy rich (Jew or gentile) simply fuel both sides of the Conflict: to imprison them into believing Jesus is real, while they don't believe in him at all, but claim to believe to deceive the enslaved. The wars fueled by Parasitic Jews, Italians, for example Catholic vs Protestant wars, led to 20 million workers dead and they made BIG MONEY. They still do. Genocide is their SPORT, Daily HOBBY & RELIGION. Masters of infernal deception, parasitic vampires, like the super evil Italian emperors of eternal genocide, they dupe most people with fake religions. You see them and their faces daily in many countries, even 'democratic'. They're Professional Liars, Frauds & Conmen. The rich manipulate the 95% to create fake nonsense debates/conflicts between 2 choices: pure evil or 100% slavery vs evil or 90-99% slavery, while the 100% freedom is not an option. It's a strategy, demonic indeed, to create consent to be a slave who thinks oneself being a free (ignore the idea of using violence in this 1 min sarcastic video) citizen who "chooses a political party" or lifestyle in the so called "free" (fake) elections. Free humans know to achieve any outcome exist 1 trillion nonviolent honest (no fake miracles of Italian or Jewish parasites) even happy ways for all humanity, meaning no pain for anyone, it's just most people are too lazy, tired, angry, cruel or selfish to make the huge self-sacrifice and effort to kindly discover them, so they resort to fake religions and lies, war. The King/royal family (and other leaders, religious or military, political) are the ultimate parasites, who role plays being gentle selfless kind as much as possible, while using political parties to divide society and all its groups. They talk of peace, nonviolence and human rights, but behind the scenes they engage in planning and inciting wars, torture on a planetary scale, etc. What concerns the Machiavellian rulers, kings, deep state is power over a nation, not what is right for the human quantum field☺☺☺: the end of cruelty, exploitation, subjugation, violence, war, killings, torture. When was the last time a King/leader said, "I want ALL citizens to have the same TRILLION YEAR lifespan Immortals, for them to live in the same square footage house & salary like me"? Never, a real king never existed, due to our bad scriptures that don't even define it: the real ruler loves the worst citizen a trillion times more than the most loving mom loved her suckling baby. Ethics begins when all salaries are the same… yet this is not evident for the brainwashed. Let the ones who have highest score access better health products and management roles. Thus, all pay 0 taxes, freedom, the 3rd option, not the scam of debate of "rich pay 10% tax vs 20% tax". Ethics is to feel & act as if all citizens are your beloved suckling babies, a Family of shapeshifting shimmering Immortals for whom you deeply care & strive to help evolve to Eternal Immortality.

The difference between Immortalism and Christianity is like the difference between day & night, between the infinite energy (Eternal Life) of the furthest above purple light (purple is the highest energy visible light, purple chakra, crown connects to God, so the Immortalist Flag is light purple, or lavender, the highest energy color you see before it becomes invisible UV, so this book font is purple mostly too) & the 0 energy (death) of the furthest below red light (red is the lowest energy visible light, a symbol of death, 'demons' are red, sexual chakra is animalism, aggression, anger, etc): immortalism gives all the right to Eternal Life in this world, while Christianity talks about afterlife immortality only, which allows the emperor or king to deceive everyone, shorten everyone's lifespan thru fake companies aristocrats control, and steal everything as aristocrats controlled by the royal families do. Likewise, immortalism is different than demonic Jewish communism (flag of USSR, China, where death reigned, as all had 1 or 0 kids after a while), which deifies violence like the infernal violent Torah (Old Testament of Mass Rape, Genocide). The super evil Machiavelli said it's OK to be cruel, to divide, to designate others to do the cruel acts, as long as the king scheming it all appears good. This is purely diabolical. The very essence of Immortalism is the end of cruelty, of violent crime/dishonesty that Machiavelli legitimizes. Machiavelli was not writing a new book, but the oral and written tradition of the Torah, of Italian Jewish emperors, so evidently seen in the Old Testament, where in one page it says don't kill or want someone's life, then in 50 pages it says to kill entire nations or any nation God gives to Jews. We see the Bible destroyed the minds of Europe and the West completely, by not removing this 'oral' tradition predating the cannibalistic Torah, the genocidal cannibal chimp tradition. The nation or alliance using Machiavelli cruel methods and torture, will be destroyed by the human quantum field in an act of self-defense, since bad nations can kill the whole human quantum field. 10 billion people and the quantum field is way smarter than a Machiavelli/emperor psychopath. The evil religion empires fall in 1-25 centuries, so rulers don't care, they want to keep power for 50 years using evil methods, such as taking over the world with forged miracles as the Christian church did. The Machiavellian Emperor☺☺☺ said "look at existing (stories people made up to explain reality) religions (everything in Christianity is copied, not new, stolen from pre existing religions) and create a cult, a religion to replace all 300 cults today, one that would centralize power, facilitate easy cannon fodder, infinite resistance to pain in sacrifice to the imperial army and our expansion" so the torture based Jesus cult was made, the mythical Jesus hero is being tortured a lot, so these working class filif nematode worm IQ☺☺☺ slaves sacrifice themselves, live shorter, so the rich have parties, live long ordering endless wars of plunder. Lies, cruelty, fake miracles lead to wars that can end species in seconds, so the human information field will destroy all dishonest, violent, torturing, thieving governments or even nations that have become so due to brainwashing. This effortless complete destruction happens always, without us doing anything cruel, violent or war like. Relax a little. Try to be good: help the kindest first and the most, so they rule each nation. Because with free centralized education, all egoism will disappear, all shouts/wars vanish. We're one family of genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortals who're discovering the angel within. Cruelty, deception are learned, and so can honest gentle tender soft healing nurturing graceful loving kindness be learned, lived by all via one education.gov system free of Italian and Jewish mafia schools. To this end, we sign the honest Declaration of Independence of US from Italy/Jews. After 2 millennia of evil Christianity, Vatican fakery, all Italy, the most Catholic nation, did was massacre Ethiopians in 1930s. So much proof for the "miracles" (genocides) of "god" (Mussolini, 'Christian emperors' + killer popes). The 3rd page of the quotes lists genocides Jesus did thru Christians.

Mohamed and Jesus did no miracles, it was all made up for imperial theft needs. Replacing 800 Roman Gods with one and then saying Emperor is the representative of that God on Earth, gives emperors a greater ability to centralize power in the empire. Roman Emperors saw the divinely appointed concept in other civilizations where kings were divine beings, so he agreed to make up his own cult to boost his hypnotic control over the masses of uneducated folks who would fall for Jesus. This is why British king is the also head of the made up Anglican Church, he's God's rep for the British masses, 99% of whom live on 30% of the UK land, as chained slaves of the Royal Family. 70% of land is owned by the 1% Royal family friends, the aristocratic spy-military machine. They're not pious people, but simply pragmatic ruthless Roman emperor rulers who think of the best way to grow, maintain power and increase the imperial domain, like the British empire did too. The poor masses were incredibly naive and didn't realize what pathological liars the clergy were. The Vatican is simply the military espionage arm of the Italian state: generate miracles to win. Horoscopes and psychics are also fake and used by people who're naive and unaware that the Vatican espionage unit and many spy agencies invent endless miracles and that genuine mind reading and ESP are 1 billion times less common and less precise. The mind reading was reading what the spy agency told the priest or what was implanted into their mind by a computer. So, folks, please don't waste money with psychics, they're all spies, undercover cops or frauds. Horoscope services ought to be banned, as well as psychics, in order to enable all to get good sleep, single family housing and be a free citizen able to decide one's fate and develop one's ESP alone, without being milked of money by parasitic vampiric charlatans who prey on naive folks. We got a whole industry of criminal aristocratic leeches who make a living by spreading pure lies, this is truly a sad reality, none of these criminals promote the end of war in 3 months, they only tell people what they want to hear in order to donate the most money to the con artist psychic. These psychics lower people's IQ, brainwashing the victim that they're in contact with their deceased relatives, or some specific deity or angel, who came to tell them 'I love you'. The 0 IQ spirits could not tell the victim anything that could not be learned from a spy agency the psychic is working for, something intimate only they knew, that no camera could see. This lack of genuine info is a further proof the psychic is a fraud who channels a police coworker. Too much fraud means Immortalists create happy.gov for anyone lonely to call and get help, even meeting at a happiness center within the nearest City Immortality Center to learn to be happy via meditation, good sleep. Via weekly stress biomarker monitoring they'll know when people are suicidal years or months before it may happen, so we go from 0.7 million suicides a year on Earth to 0 as immortalism gentle tender honest genuine kindness spreads globally.

Can we ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ honestly really think, God, in Her/His Wisdom, would actually create so many 'real' miracles, but not materialize 2 mg of neurochemicals to stop Popes, kings, clergy, bankers from making wars that kill millions (Catholic Italian Napoleon invaded Russia killing by that 1 million total)? God (Jesus etc) allegedly performed endless miracles we're told are facts, such as Eucharistic, healing, etc, but never made World Peace in 3 months part of the liturgy of any religion. The alleged God flowing so 'perfectly thru the 'only' representatives of God on Earth blessing us with wafers', never put these 3 into liturgy: 1. the end of cruelty, war, violence in 1 or 20 years (endless during medieval times and even today via violence due to media, music, movies, literature; Jesus himself was violent in the temple, throwing the tables of traders, setting up a bad example and creating a more violent scripture than Tao Te Ching, Dhammapada, etc), 2. the removal of all violence from scriptures☺☺, 3. the elimination of Inquisition torture before it even started. May we gently ask: what spirituality is this when we have killing, violence, torture on Earth still? Or when fake pastors use cults to starve people and harvest their organs? How come this predator Jesus could not use his materialization powers to make all angry people become peaceful within 500 miles of his residence, slow aging and live to 3000 years old, the only person doing so and cause 0 violent crime within 500 miles of his Jerusalem residence? Don't you see the Jewish liars scamming you?

Honestly, how much of a chemistry book (theories about matter) from Jesus time is true today? Maybe 0.001%, since they didn't know the elements for almost 2 millennia. Honestly, how much of a God/ethics book (theories about God) from Jesus time is true today? Maybe 0.001%. The color of rusted iron would be the same red then and now, so 0.001% in a text on matter may remain valid. Can we please use our critical thinking and realize beliefs we got brainwashed with by the filif tapeworm IQ☺☺☺ pastor could be completely false? Why is Europe, North/South America a colony of Israeli cave men religion? Are we that abysmal in IQ to not create our own interpretation of God or 9 page "scripture" poem draft (see my version) in 350 million versions in USA alone? We got a God given free will to happily grow beyond Israel and Italian made up staged miracles, for we're made of star dust, coming from the stars, not from Israel, and aliens don't need our filif illogical comical☺ Old Testament to be saved from stuff, but it is us who most likely need to become Holy like many aliens have probably become trillions of years ago… of course, as statistics teaches. If one event happened in an infinity of events, an infinite variation of that event happened too, and one of them is people like us who live now to a trillion years old. Clergy preach useless stuff, being mind controlled (with their knowledge usually) by the military/spy agencies, when the important stuff, the end of violence/war, is not preached. True to the Bible ethics and quotes of eternal violence, World Peace in 3 months is forbidden as topic in all churches and American spirituality is practically a farce, a nonexistent paper house leading to civilization collapse.☺☺☺ Americans' big egos are well fed by the FBI agent pastors (they need a job or mansions too, some are sort of victims of brainwashing, so we can't blame them) who make the church goers feel good about their spending of $1 trillion yearly on smoking (109 billion), alcohol (409 billion in 2024), gambling (172 billion), demonic selfish evil sports, jewelry (85 billion), violent movies, violent music, etc, and a trillion on torturing others via the military industrial complex, while no discussion is allowed anywhere about Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months and 0 violent crime, 0 jails in 10-20 years. The empire is not maintained via good will, loving cooperation and win-win for Immortality for All, but thru heavy bloodshed, torture and genocide hidden from the public 1 trillion times better than the Holocaust. Brainwashed to accept violence as normal since childhood via scenes on TV and scriptural 'words of God', like many other nations, Americans become sponsors of terror in a subtle indirect form. Most terror groups are financed by spies/militaries to justify military aggression. What is there to preach when your church goers spend half a trillion more on useless stuff that destroys the world and shortens the lifespan of others, instead of World Peace in 3 months to stop the gravest sin: war, multiple killings, genocide for aristocratic profits. Nobody ever talks about World Peace in 3 months☺☺☺, Eternal One, since it's against the brainwashing of the church who says Peace comes only after Jesus lands back on Earth. The main or 90% of focus in a world of immense violence (a lot of it unreported and covert, done by the government torturers in many nations) needs to be World Peace, since without an end of war and violence, no civilization, ethics, spirituality can develop, only lies. The pastors are doing a great job at spying (or facilitating FBI spying) on all naive folks going to listen to their jokes and sweet words, cleverly avoiding sentences like "The gravest sin is killing and this is the sin the government is leading all Americans into temptation to do by the eternal war doctrine of the Militaries. As followers of God, we need to end all murder now, meaning all war, and all torture, since 10 people tortured with 7 years removed from life is like killing 2 people aged 40... So wake up from the evil trance and support World Peace in 3 months. The only freedom of religion Worldwide is that of the Military Men's eternal bombing, war, killing for whatever purposes, violence, disguised as 30 religions and 5000 cults. Gently focus all your spare time now on World Peace in 3 months and give up your "aristocrat created" addictions. Gently kindly stop the murder now. Every act of smoking is pure murder, every vape store a demonic temple, every liquor store a paramilitary terrorist organization, every grocery store who sells alcohol a terrorist entity, every alcohol drinking is pure murder, every violent music listening is pure murder, every gambling is murder, every act of sex (outside of trying to conceive a baby) is pure murder too (including masturbation), every 'modern' chimp sport is murder, wake up Americans, from the "evil" trance the aristocratic parasites have gotten you into, understand the context and see what all these do to this planet of war: bring more war. The aristocrats with great PhDs in Bible scholarship program you that the Bible violence is holy in that "context", but forget to tell you that all the activities of the pastors are murders, in the world context, the alcohol addicted pastors. It's murder for it takes all our time away from bringing the end of murder by war, even those pets who take us away from compassionately caring about the bombed in all nations.

Buying a pet (unless a service dog or police dog) is like saying, "God, my ego is so big, I really need this useless pet, alcohol, tobacco, but ending the murder of people is on number half a trillion of my priority list: domesticated wolves first, domesticated tigers first, people are number 0.5 trillion". Everywhere you go, pet stores, not one single Eternal World Peace store☺☺☺, everywhere you go Wine and Spirits, Liquors at Walmart and the supermarkets, what a selfless act. What a culture of thugs and gluttons who don't care at all about others. Where is the commandment to not kill? Nowhere, it's all a farce, to subjugate the other nations by "freedom of religion" empty talk. See how many trillions USA spends every decade on useless stuff and none of that money, energy, time goes to ending bombing and war, the depravity of the average American brainwashed by the aristocratic monsters is beyond understanding. All nations toil to export the best to USA and what do they do? The Americans have no idea how other people see them. Where is the outrage of these pastors, at the criminal government running the USA and the criminals to say that text of violence is the word of God? When did a US President say, from today, we will no longer kill anyone unless they invade our country? Or "today is the start of World Peace in 3 months, the world of nonkilling, we work with all to end all violence, torture immediately and make the alliance of Nonkilling, nontorture, nonsuffering". Never, they say they want peace and behind the scenes, they torture tens of millions inciting the flames of eternal wars of genocide. When did they say "let us have a gentle eterni tone and live it, not shouting like Eisenhower and teaching the entire world by living example to bomb, loot and invade other nations, then accusing them of violence, while they did the same thing? Almost all nations had bad "heroes" who used war to try enlarge land holdings, due to the chimp nature of former eras when people didn't understand laziness and infinity. Don't people see how nations imitate the big powers? Americans are brainwashed all is good and all they ever did was noble and the evil guys are some 'dictators', that CIA helped create or KGB, etc perhaps. No self-analysis, no remorse, just the same hooligan music and eternal bombing of all, same tone of speech. The so called places of worship are a mere joke, where is the compassion for the killed, the innocent civilians dying daily at the hands of "evil" violent Bible culture oppressing the planet? Where is the urgency to stop the endless violence fueled by macho music worldwide? So, God is too busy with useless miracles, instead of telling people how to bring World Peace in 3 months…☺☺☺ and thus be able to end 100 billion violent crimes yearly on Earth. The Vatican, and dozens of other churches and organized religion entities, made up a lot of miracles or promoted the hallucinations of many, in order to get followers, but this doesn't make them true. We can argue that God wants to end violence, the terror of many who buy endless weapons, pets, etc to defend themselves against others, and bring Peace first and not to appear as Mary or Jesus to anyone or precipitate jewelry. Who cares about crystals in your ears? About jewelry pastors allege Jesus or angels precipitated or cures that never happened? Living to 7000000 is more useful than wearing rocks 90 years, you can be happy for a long time. God wants to give bliss to all, to free all from torture and beatings [deified in the Bible/Torah (kids, workers, sex slaves) or Quran (sex slaves, mutilated infidels, kids, wives) supported by criminal politicians] at the hands of 100+ governments of terror on Earth who're like hypnotized addicts of violent scriptures. The less aware churches (Catholic etc) focuses on repetitive brainwashing of the psychotic torture of Jesus and numbs all brains against any idea that Peace would be possible, that the end of human sacrifice by war deified in the Bible is possible in 3 months, thereby sabotaging the human species. So, some paranoid people think the torture obsessed human sacrifice in Bible quotes churches are Satanists posing as Christians. But they're not maybe, just simply herd mentality historical inertia confirmation bias of torture and kid or spouse beatings, passed down over millennia of torture by psychotic bloodlines. We got abundance pastors teaching "give all cash to our church, God will bless you, Amway (MLM direct door to door sales) style Ponzi scheme, they give and the pastor builds airports and brainwashing centers, while the people falling for his lies live shorter. So what kind of abundance Gospel is that? Just conmen.

We need one language we create or adopt by the happy real free will, without torture, of all people, one culture of longevity and Immortality for All, 0 violence, 0 jails, caring for all. We need to forgive and forget, but also bring Peace instantly, not wait eons for Jesus to come, since he never will. The grotesque culture of eternal bombing for resource theft under the pretext of 'humanitarian actions', reflects perfectly the consumerist reality of stuffing oneself with stimulants under the direction of the profiteering genocidal palatial aristocrats whose 4500 American banks make sure everyone is drugged, drunk, full of second hand smoke and unable to think and feel compassion for innocent civilians bombed to death... in the name of the 'Word of God' they never read, with 1500 horrific quotes from "Satan himself". To further deceive the enslaved workers by their gigantic lies, they bombard everyone with the most useless ads for products they don't need, while a world of Eternal Universal Peace and infinite grace for all (no violence), is nowhere advertised on the 'filif mosquito IQ☺☺☺, useless info, pure lies, mere evil' enriched TV and violent music, movies, etc. If alcohol is not enough, they got coffee and tea stimulants, to help cause 400 million miscarriages, failed conceptions and abortions and cancers coming from those, as well as other problems with birth defects and human quantum field destruction via entanglement of damaged fetuses with the rest of fetuses.

What God of true compassion is so preoccupied with turning water into alcohol that leads to a Holocaust (6 million dead) every 2 years, to violence and not with World Peace in 3 months and stopping all useless activities until we achieve nonkilling, making all music dedicated to peace in 3 months, 0 violence in 10 years, 0 jails in 30 years (healing centers for violent crime only, heal don't punish, be like God, not satan) and gentle tender soft healing nurturing universal loving kindness until we reach in 5 years the nonviolent human stage? The Son of '$_{g}$od'?, or perhaps, an angry alcohol addicted guy, Jesus, who wasn't even able to ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ levitate a table of the temple merchants and take it out of the temple in a true miracle of God, and reply with kindness to their bad trade of animals for sacrifice and turning the temple into a marketplace of low vibration. Jesus was not able to turn the other cheek as he preached, getting very angry with the temple traders, etc; Jesus was not able to levitate himself and walk on water as the liar scribe pretended, so Jesus could not levitate a lighter table either, so Jesus got violent, angry, setting a Demonic Example for His Disciples to Follow, and threw the tables, taught people to be violent: this is the role model for our civilization? We worship such a guy? We're smart enough to know the real God knows a trillion ways to elevating the vibe in a temple and to bring World Peace without any violence and war. Are clergy kidding us, these "representatives of the God of Violence" receive tax free status in USA to teach VIOLENCE? Jesus had such a short temper, nothing like a Godly being of cosmic powers. Clergy tell us to worship such a violent liar? Why do we worship violence? We can easily argue that the solution to violent crime, like a slap on the face some Jews are so fond of, and like Jesus recommends us to turn the other cheek once slapped, is not to let the abuse continue. Jesus suggestion invites more Jewish abuse of Gentile faces. Isn't it odd that some Jews support slapping competitions for gentiles to destroy gentiles, see this poor guy's screwed face at the USA Las Vegas, American Christian values for the Planet, Republican style, see how the "Christian" Republican California Governor supports this Slap "Sport" by watching it in person, must be a Jesus influence that calls on actors to make blood filled movies about Jesus to glorify torture, lower USA average IQ further, turn the other cheek forever, as Jesus said, let Jews abuse you until nothing is left of your culture except violence and bloodshed in all movies. When will Americans say "enough is enough" to this demonic Hollywood? We can create our own scripture in US, no need of Israeli Bible.

We can easily argue that the solution to violent crime, like a slap on the face some Jews like Jesus are so preoccupied with, like Rabbis punching kids when they report being abused by Rabbis today are, is not encouraging the victim to repeat the slap by turning the other cheek, as that further damages the human quantum field, something of no importance to 'Jesus the God'. Instead of uplifting scripture like Immortalist Anthem, or Dhammapada, free from violent acts, all we get from "God's self-proclaimed Only Begotten son" is a lot of imagery of violent actions, eye plucking, hand cutting, sword bringing, table turning, pushing people, imposed on 7 continents at gunpoint thru genocide or claims of fake miracles peddled to naive populations. We immortalists focus on preventing violence by the most amazing free education for all focusing on gentleness and nonviolence, we encourage lifetime healing center educational labor for any slap, physical slap or nonphysical done via torture with hidden gadgets by psychopathic cops, spies, soldiers worldwide. The existence of nuclear weapons prevented US or Russia from attacking each other. Likewise, the existence of $5000 to $1 billion fines for nonviolent crimes and happy healing center lifetime labor for violent ones (more menial and extra fines if more violence), deters people from engaging in crime and no jails need exist anymore. Jesus offers no solution, no plan to end the spanking (causes aggression & anti-social behavior)/slapping, the beating of kids with rods that Jesus applauds in Mat 5:17-9 and in other quotes that clarify Jesus supports the Old Testament's "genocide, mass rape, human sacrifice, arson, kid beating, slave beating" laws the genocidal Jesus came to reaffirm with bloodshed and 1 billion dead due to alcohol. Immortalists don't want to bore you with how you convey a violent criminal to do more violent crimes like Jesus does, they're amazed the "ONLY" begotten son of God didn't talk about how people could live to a nanosecond of God's youngest 'angel', i.e. a trillion to the power of a trillion years. If God can give people an eternal life by Jesus wafers, why can't God give us an almost infinitely small fraction of an 'angel's nanosecond', the lifespan of a 4 billion years old stone on Earth at least? Instead, this 'special son' is busy telling people how to encourage being slapped or abused by others. It's a reflection of the primitive 1st century. Why be stuck in that mindset? He meant to be kind perhaps or wanted people to put up with abuse by clergy planning world domination via fake miracles, but, hey a God can bring not only World Peace in 3 minutes, but give anyone alive 500000 years extra by a mere wish. Poor Godly Jesus, could not give anyone 500 years extra even, since all resurrections were fake☺☺☺. Immortalists have a real plan to bring Eternal Universal Peace in 3 months once immortalists and allies are in power in all nations, and end all slaps and violent crime within 2 decades, unlike Jesus Mat 10:34 plan to bring a sword. The plan is the most angelic tone of emotion, speech free education for all that gives equal 1. opportunity, 2. emotion to emulate, 3. knowledge to all, a new culture free from the Bible violence, the "take slaves or beat slaves" quotes, a culture free from the Gospel violence reminding us of the Zion Protocols of the media who claims to educate us about bad guys, but recreates in human subconscious (it's done to program tired people, to implant ideas, to control, instigate and create more jailed people) more of the same for deeper slavery of the worker class, as explained in minute detail here. The media never has any report of something in eterni tone about someone practicing universal gentle tender soft nurturing loving kindness, deep gentleness (not killing insects if not needed, etc), going out of the way to design products without sharp edges for example (that workers can bump into when tired), or replace palace dwelling aristocrats of 1000 parasitic companies with one of much higher quality, kindness, service to all workers. The Bible, simply put, ruins the vibe of decent scriptures or anthems.

The water into wine 'miracle' is ultra easy,☺☺☺ just prepare a container with red or purple dye, pour transparent wine/(liquor diluted with honey water, and then shake and people believe it, distract like magicians and then it will turn red, while people get distracted and not notice the shaking of the dye) and then it turns red in 1 minute, the "water into wine" miracle, pay people to pretend 'they died or had diseases' and then make a show saying "I am cured" like dozens of "pastors"/gurus were caught doing last 100 years, see the quotes pastors don't mention. They also can use a beige cup where the color of water versus slightly yellow wine can't be distinguished, so a fake conman tastes it and says "it's water", and then Jesus waves his hand and "turns it into wine", guy "clueless" tastes it, and it's wine and he believes it's a miracle now, everyone fakes their surprise to make the "clueless" guy who tasted it believe it was real, then he goes to share miracle and everyone he encounters are these conmen who say "we believe it, etc" and go spread the rumor and soon, the whole world believes in a lie. 3 million die yearly due to alcohol use, 1 million die in car accidents yearly in which half are drunk, so why would the God of the Universe promote it, be OK with it, if other foods provide 100 times more antioxidants (benefits) without the issues, when God knows man is so prone to get addicted to it and ruin the World Peace, by leading millions of spouses to beat their spouse when drunk, ruining millions of families? When others are left homeless by USA bombs, when teachers, engineers sleep in cars in USA, they build gigantic temples on huge yards with 10% of income required donations, while others are overcrowded, sleep poorly, get angry as a result, contributing to wars by emotional contagion. Who needs their Temples if everyone has a temple, their single family house? Online temples, churches, etc are fine today. We got online access. The bringing to life of Lazarus who "died" is a scam used by Jesus/others, rabbis pay a guy to pretend he's dead, then Jesus revives him and tells the story. Pure garbage trick by gnat IQ ☺☺ folks. Why are we so 'naive or required' to believe a scribe says the true words of Jesus and God needs a wine ritual in the memory of Jesus 10-15 min of each weekday 30 min Mass and wants us for 2 millennia to simulate cannibalism and drink his blood and eat his body as bread and wine Eucharist? Oh, and some allegedly "bishops, nuns, etc" Catholics made up 100+ prayers (see youtube on the side) with blood imagery for total brainwashing like chaplet, shoulder, tears of blood, novena, litany of blood, blood covering all night (watch how useless and clever is the brainwashing that you need his blood, the brainwashing about suffering, his torture, or supposed torture if he was crucified, scourging and all these torture images poured into people's minds to desensitize them to "God's" infinite cruelty (the fake God, imagined by the military inventors of this fake religion) so that the torture of the believer's slavery as cannon fodder in useless evil unethical wars of Roman conquest seems nice compared to what Jesus had to endure, when no evidence even exists Jesus was crucified or ascended, besides fakable back dated texts or made up books paid by Roman military etc. While it seems very selfless, etc, it has a devilish aspect to it that goes unnoticed for those inside the cult: God is light, infinite energy, has a body of light or energy unseen, same for any 'son of God' and God can bless us directly, no need of wafer to symbolize Jesus body, wine to symbolize Jesus blood. Why not choose cow dung or horse feces ☺☺☺ to symbolize Jesus feces and serve cow/horse/dog/cat/chicken feces at Mass, since the dead body had a lot of feces in it, as anyone does and it has cosmic (comic perhaps?) properties per Christian belief. We can see how filif comical☺ it gets when we focus on physical parts of his body, why not make a prayer to be blessed by the feces of Jesus to wash our sins? Why wine, because it's red like blood? Were the initial disciples or Jesus vampires, obsessed with drinking blood and simulating it? What is the real truth? Or the Popes, why so much blood focus? Something is suspicious. See CIA doc (disinfo) and this possibly fake video, but obviously believe nothing until confirmed by 50 unfakable sources, since spies make up 1 million books/videos every decade to spread nonsense, as the IQ of people was ultra low millennia ago when they made up the 'Holy' Gospel, recall primates believed that chicken would cause rain if offered to God, so don't be too eager to believe the fiction in the 'Holy' Bible.

Plus, the 'controlled by who (Jews like 1917?)' KGB, while originally was against the Italian spies created church, has apparently decided it is a good cover for training 'Russians' into the craft of role playing, so they 'revived the worship of Jewish Jesus and Israel faith' and got more spies use the cover of priest, to raise less suspicions when they go overseas and pretend to be 'of the same religion as those locals fooled by the Vatican or other Protestant myth creators', or to keep Russians lower in IQ than ever? Back to wine, why not drink holy water that we blessed with the bliss, kindness of God by conscious breathing of God's Light blessing the water or bless our body/soul without any water?☺☺☺ Why did Jesus not say 'My fellow seekers of communion with God's infinite loving kindness, in memory of God, (not me ever, forget about me and remove these words about me), please breathe deeply the Light Eternal of Compassionate God and breathe it out, feeling God's Bliss and say "May all our actions next 2 years bring World Peace and the end of all violence and torture, for then the true mysteries of God shall begin to unfold"'? Was it because the military spy creating the religion didn't really believe in peace? Jesus said Matthew 10:34 "I came not to bring peace, but a sword". Why not question these stories? To be a true seeker of God is to seek unfakable proof of scripture words and claims of miracles and not be so naive. Maybe they knew when inventing the religion, people who're semi-drunk provide spies with more intelligence, are easier to dupe (lowers awareness, brain omega-3) and manipulate by spies, so they made up a wine miracle to get more people addicted to alcohol and enable takeover of continents faster via fake religion? Also, priests get to drink wine after giving 'Eucharist', so they're more likely to sign up to tell the tall tales about the wine, etc 'miracles' early on, due to perks such as nice wine. Simpler yet than faking miracles is to fabricate Jesus, scriptures, since it's more economical. See why Jesus was fictional being.☺☺☺ Are you so naive to believe myths about the 12 disciples, miracles, martyrdom written about 50-400 years after their death? What if it's all fan fiction created to make the Jesus story more real for the ☺low IQ chimps☺ of those times? Recall FBI stages 1000s of deaths/year for their agents who get a new assignment. Why would the Roman spies not do the same? ☺☺☺ God created endless animals, plants living to 200+ years, some even 4000, or 250000, but Jesus, poor fraudster, could not make even 1 person live to 200.☺☺ His power being fictional, Jesus couldn't even make a man live longer than a turtle. If Jesus the con couldn't make us live to 200 years, why believe he can make us live to 200 trillion in the afterlife, after all, he claimed he's the 2nd to God almighty one. Think. You need to measure, detect a spiritual body in some other dimension for a trillion years, to know it's still there, alive and well, having fun, before you can claim that indeed, eating that wafer or doing that 0 IQ ritual will give you a trillion infinities lifespan in some dimension. That wafer doesn't help you live even to 150 here in 2024, let alone a trillion in another world. So, have you measured something a trillion years yet to make that claim? No, so what about being honest then? The gravest sin is being a liar to yourself and the world. Look at the clueless folks in Malawi who live to 55, they do rituals Vatican, Hindu, Muslim liars tell them to, yet live to 55 only, while people who apply science, truth, live to 110, like some college professors. So, what is true, Christian, Islam, Judaism, Hindu nonsense or science? If wafers or rituals were so powerful, how come nobody in those areas lives to 110??? Don't be fooled.☺☺☺

Same thing with non-Christian miracles, they got so many improbable miracles in many religions which were fake or people being naive in believing a story changed during oral transmission; even Islam has a miracle based on some verse in Quran that Mohamed had a physical or spiritual journey (Quran doesn't say if physical) to a far away place, but it doesn't say which place; then, someone, keen on creating conflict or on making it sound miraculous, added on other texts, not Quran, that the place was Jerusalem, hence they got this conflict now with the mosque in Jerusalem, all from some naive belief in a text that anyone can invent and pretend to be the true explanation of the Quran vague verse, and really, how can anyone intelligent believe everything in Quran as real, given these quotes. How can anyone believe any of the Bible miracles given these 1000+ bad quotes and the videos and methods on how to fake it above. By now, you realize the Jesus religion is as logical as these Australian rituals for spirits.

It seems the whole Christianity was made up by Roman spy soldiers subcontracted by bored empire aristocrats who wanted a new clever way to scam everyone out of their hard earned labor products, by spreading worldwide the new religion. Romans wanted Jew-Jew fights, so the Jesus faction fights the old faction, you see Jesus getting violent in the temple, saying he came to bring division, a 'sword', throwing the tables of traders, etc, Jesus never criticized Romans, which is very odd given that ☺☺☺ the Jesus age was of utmost cruelty (see video) and subjugation of 10-20% of Romans (foreigners mostly) via slavery; Romans, like others did too, crucified endless people they did not have to, in 50 BC lining 6000 crucified people on an alley for miles, plus 38 AD we had typical power fights of imperial psychos; this was the energy in Rome for centuries, Popes ordering huge invasions*, etc, since 753 BC Romans* sacrificed pregnant animals (animals in public like Jews sacrificing animals in Talmud (Ctrl+F blood, bled) instructions, what else did Romans do in secret*?* Mexico got a Jewish President in 2024, and Mexico has animal sacrifice markets where puppies, cats, goats, birds, parrots are sold, and also a market where they sell human organs, etc. Animal sacrifice is found in many scriptures, like Vedas, etc. Given that researchers found Sardinia, Sicily Italy areas were sacrificing babies when Phoenicians were there and Italians and Jews who made up Christianity got inspired) in urban Parilia celebrations that mixed Fordicia with Parilia on April 21st, the legend date of Rome founding; imagine what religion Rome attracted or made in 300 AD when Christianity was adopted*, a made up one, where Popes require 15 min of every 30 min of a weekday Mass to be about* eating the blood and body of Jesus, again sacrifice and 0 min about the 5 Bible quotes that are ultra gentle about the infinite gentle kind tenderness, eterni tone, peacefulness, nurturing compassion, end of all torture, end of all jails, end of all punishment *(*scapegoating, offer healing to the 5 million involved), end of all violent quotes (meaning pastors lobby for the editing of all scriptures) needed to bring God's kingdom of Love, not cannibalism simulations, 0 min about World Peace in 3 months, 0 min to ultra gentleness methods of World Peace, ideas of the 1st page of this poem? What has religion to do with simulating cannibalism? What ethical society focuses on that instead of giving decent trillion year lifespan to its citizens?). In this context of subjugation and cruelty, diabolical system of society when 1000s of people in Judea alone were crucified reportedly before Jesus, can we really expect honesty and believe the alleged miracles were genuine, given these horrific quotes that lack any love and vibe of honest scribes who were "not Roman military spies framing others by creating retro dated 'scriptural texts' to enhance Middle East domination by war inciting"? Nothing is so easy, with millions of actors, agendas.

Can anyone know really which faction of Rome army spies created or changed, influenced later Christianity (see next pages how all miracles can be faked☺☺☺), which other spy groups in other cities created later denominations, Islam, Buddhism, etc even? For what undeclared purpose? The faction was maybe Italian, and/or the reportedly 10% of Jews in Rome, many other groups; many claims about Jesus events are from a so called Jewish writer Josephus, today spy agencies write 900000 disinfo books, so what did Romans do, who controls 'national leaders, armies and spy agencies' - is it always the majority? did Germans, with inflation 1 billion % in 1922, many in debt, chaos really control the Nazi/Hitler rise or was it also financed by outside powers who were already planning the next World War and the Germany defeat, due to 1922 German refusal to pay WW I reparations (WWI co-caused by Germans led to 20 million dead) to France and Israel not being formed yet? Everything is way more complex than it seems first. Nobody can know exactly the correct answers? It's easier to centralize imperial power and expand Roman influence in the Middle East and Arab areas with one God, some Middle East guy Jesus (maybe Italian guy posing as Jew, freed and then shows up again to tell his story, if not all made up), than with 30 deities of pagans, it allowed Rome to expand influence in all new Christian Middle East and Europe; having seen the amazing success of Italian made up miracles, Arabs or Arab looking spies decided to take religion (meaning political power back then) into their hands and made up Islam, to expand their own influence and convert many Christian lands to Islam and others too? Can we easily believe, that only via Jesus we go to Heaven, John 14:6 if this gives Roman Emperors (or whoever controls them or Vatican*) infinite power over the religious, and thus* political life of entire continents? Was that scribe paid by someone? ☺☺☺ In our 'free country (colony of Jewish Banks)', the Jews have taken over and impose at gunpoint the '10 commandments and 1400 violent quotes of violence and killing and genocide, theft that contradict the 10 commandments' in every single public school in Louisiana, in order to commit genocide against the 33% blacks of Louisiana by keeping them ignorant, lowest IQ possible and science illiterate with organized religion. This is a classic technique Brits, Jews and others use against those they want 'eliminated' or reduced to filif bed bug IQ☺☺☺ short lived slaves. This is like in North Korea, where every classroom has to have the portrait of the dictator, except here are the lies of Moses, who contradicts by his calls to genocide, mass rape and mass theft and killing of 3000 fellow Jews everything he says in the 10 commandments.

The Catholic Church was accused over the centuries of being the largest spy network worldwide and it may very well be; thus, they could easily fake any miracle, bilocation, as people from far away would say what happens there and be paid to say stuff. They also most likely faked stigmata, living 'without' eating for 52 years ('saint' Louise Lateau, 'saint' Maria Furtner and many today like jokers Oberom, Fong, Akahi, Jasmuheen, Monfort, Jericho, Elitom, Ray, Mony, Camila, Kirby others supreme master TV made videos about, they're all lying they live on chi with no food or say "they eat 'very little', or 'once a week or twice', 'mostly energy'), mind reading (they knew everything from their informants and others making confessions (created to collect intelligence), so all Padre Pio miracles were made up (opinion of most scientists), even his and other saints' stigmata, use some red dye, etc), teleportation (Joseph Cupertino made up levitation story, see how the experts create myths and fake biographies of saints, using special effects, music, staged events, many other teleportation stories, people confusing what time the person was in their and the other location or making it up, by paid folks etc), materialization' experiences of 'saints'. Today, 100s of people also made youtube videos about amazing memory (they just fake it all, use silent sound☺☺☺ or audible to tell them the pi numbers), talking to spirits, reading the minds of other people or leopards, animals (Claudia, Dexter, Yaya, Simonne, Sonya, Carol, Andrea, Amelia, Billie, Caren, Mary, Kim watch how they stage it, body language, etc): mind reading is easy, since gadgets can write others' brains (like animals use certain waves to communicate, dolphins sound calls, etc, humans also can receive stuff via waves, and confuse it as their own thought), tell them in inner voice sound what the answer to a question is, so 'the mind reader' reads what he/others already wrote/beamed as a sound thought in the 'person being read's mind') etc and it's possible they forgot where the animal knew about something or whatever, they don't know who writes their brains and animals at the same time, or they just make it up to increase donations to their cause, like the Vatican 'apparently' did for 2 millennia? Look at another fake video about 'telepathy' and beaming answers into mind, unless they agreed what face to make and what to say before the event. ☺☺☺

It is extremely likely, 100% likely in my/others opinion, that the Vatican and other *Christian groups, and non-*Christians faked endless☺☺☺ miracles (they still do via 100s of fake staged apparitions, using tech and/or paid actors?) of so called saints, to increase conversion and create new spies*, the Catholic church being the richest landowner in Europe*. Oprah show investigated John of God, who claimed to be a healer (but was arrested in 2018, search youtube for "john of god surgeries" to see more videos, be aware that videos can be faked, so not sure which ones are genuine, since spies can fake anything, could be he's an illusionist*, like James* Randi fakes his

"psychic surgery", and John of God retired (faked his arrest, being a spy himself?) and all videos are magic tricks and were the disciples going for the fake staged scam surgeries, or that he's mind controlled), and was visited by many Presidents, etc who reportedly believed in his 'miraculous healings'. All who're not aware of stage magic and other tricks are easy to dupe, though Presidents know it's fake, it's all politics to appear religious. It may be all who said they were healed were paid, had placebo due to telepathy gadgets used by spies, or had strong remote mind control suggestions that healing took place, accompanied by removal of the twitches, heart harassing, or other harassment the spy agency did on someone to have them go to John of God, Marian apparition sites other fake stuff and then no longer be harassed, so the guy thinks it was God, not the spies, who removed the 'issue' the spies created for mind control. This is how they get millions to come to Marian sites, some believe in their healing, due to not experiencing the other forms of brain influencing gadget applications spy agencies use for torture or for creating fake coincidences by staging outer events to match brain suggestions.

If Jesus was the Son of God, he would at least have some basic ability to fill people with love, bliss, so they would feel so good in his presence, but no, a few dozen guys around him would get all enraged and mad, and God's "ONLY Son" can't pacify even 20 people, and make them ecstatic, when one day with tech we will be able to do that for 5 billion? Perhaps we will soon be closer to God than Jesus then. What kind of Son of 'god' is that, totally powerless? If Jesus can materialize 5000 loaves of bread, meaning about 2.5 billion mg of matter (1 loaf about 500 g), Jesus can do much simpler miracles, 1000 times simpler, requiring materializing only 2.5 million ☺☺☺ mg of matter: 1 mg of a substance in the brains of 2.5 million people would make them so tranquil and ecstatic for hours, inside the brains of 2.5 million people around Jesus when they come nearby, to move them into divine ecstatic states; but not all 2.5 million at the same time same day, just 900 at a time maybe if that's the max around him, so a LOT easier to materialize out of air; instead, God's "only son" loses his temper often and uses foul language (people do that when angry and unable to use the 'Godman' powers to cancel the pain, in order to warn people of the clergy predators in language people of the times could easily understand), frustrated by his total incapacity to induce happiness in others, when he could behave like the most angelic human that ever existed (or like an infinitely loving trillion year old Immortal whose angelic love and quality is unchanging, since any human is like a 3 second old baby soul) and reply in the most angelic tone on youtube, and words, to the most horrific tone and insults launched at him; so we see, he's human and powerless, but military spies needed a God man to create a unitary religion to consolidate Roman empire power in the emperor, they needed some far out miracles made up, to have everyone submit to the mythical being whom the emperor or clergy represent. This 2.5 mg transformation of brains could have included also all leaders of all nations then, so there could have been World Peace, during his lifetime; it was not so, since God, in his 'kindness' chose to ignore the prayers of the people for peace. Likewise, the Vatican liars made up endless miracles of materialization, Eucharist and brainwashed nations for millennia that they're facts: if St Frances of Rome materialized 'materialized wine, corn out of air' (Ctrl+F corn, 2nd),☺ for the poor, why didn't God use the same matter conversion of 2.5 or even 250 mg of chemical in every brain of the top 100 leaders, to prevent the murder of millions of poor in her lifetime due to the decisions of 100 thugs at the top of 20 governments, all greedy for land, power? If all the other saints could materialize things per Catholic fake stories, how come they could not use the powers to prevent endless genocides by 900 dictators last 2 millennia? So many millions of mg materialized that it would have been 2000 years of 0 war and 0 violent crime, since all leaders would have talked about the first goal of the nation: WORLD PEACE in 3 months and 0 violent crime in 5-10 years. It was all pure fraud to increase Catholic church land holdings, setup new churches to loot various nations. All these fake saints were spies, paid to lie. They could have said "behold the glory of Jesus, now, all wars shall cease in Western Europe as God's rays precipitate in the head of the leaders the Elixir of Peace, as Jesus materialized loaves of bread, so will Peace manifest in Europe for 100 years, thanks to the prayers of the faithful, such amazing powerful prayers indeed." If those greedy popes would have prayed so together with those fake saints materializing things, Eucharist matter changes by Jesus or God that could have changed brains of the main leaders too, 20 million people would not have died during the protestant reformation when people realized the Bible is a scam. Today, the Italian mafia kills people who expose the fraud of 2 millennia, aided by MI6 and others. It's a slow kill, the CIA helps them too, to promote, what is arguably, world's most violent scripture. ☺☺☺

The freedom of 'religion' is used to promote the most violent text on Earth. St Francis de Paola, the Pope would make us believe, brought to life cooked, eaten animals (bones left only), made a river appear. So instead of answering the prayer for peace, God sadistically let millions get slaughtered, but 2000 people got to see a miracle that never happened? Or sometimes 2 people? It's odd how cruel this God is, 50 million faithfully prayed to him in monastic places and everywhere, monks allegedly prayed (or some even preyed on gullible church goers?) for 40 hours weekly sometimes, wasting their time instead of bringing an immortalist government and World Peace in 3 months, yet this fake "God" could not do 1 single miracle of brain matter materialization or conversion, choosing to turn only bread into flesh (of chicken a bishop placed there☺☺☺) or wine into blood (a chef placed there to fool the naive masses☺☺☺). This is the "love" of the Bible God. Why is turning wine into blood more valuable than saving the life of those folks, and preventing the shedding of endless blood in wars? This Bible "God" is hungry for blood apparently, he's obsessed with blood and blood spilling, so wars are OK and "God's" eternal gift to his disciples. A God indeed or a devil? ☺ US taxpayer money helps Catholic schools, churches to teach lies Eternia or Eternity Capitalism abhor. A book of saint fake miracles reveals the Vatican lies. The same endless lies are spread by 100s of pastors who claim many Protestant fake miracles are facts. Not talking about small self-healing a little pain due to placebo or spy agency gadget, but typical fraud today with objects materializing out of thin air. Initially Roman Emperors (or Jews controlling emperors) fought Christianity, in order to make the gullible masses believe (maybe some executions were faked to draw attention and increase followers of Jesus) it was natural, to hide the fact their Master plan is to use Jesus to spread Roman/Jewish empire on all continents via puppet republics, kingdoms, empires: deny, suppress Christians on paper or in reality, etc to hide the fact Romans finance and create the religion and many of opposing anti-Catholic denominations even later: find some criminals to torture and tell public the public execution is of a Christian, or just torture Christians anyway, since the religion is fake anyway and power didn't care about the torture of Christians as they killed millions of all kinds of people of all religions to expand the Roman empire; regardless of what the timeline was, the faction within Rome that embraced Jesus won the Roman throne in 300 AD or even 20 AD (307 the emperor officially let the world know empire religion is now Jesus, though Popes were in Rome since the 1st century, see Pope list), as the Emperor realized the huge advantages of one God over having many religions and many deities: more power, easier to control; recall the cruelty of medieval ages, how kings killed millions to expand their power, empire, kingdom, starting wars like savages, not caring about the dead as they didn't fight on the frontlines: so it's only 1% of the cruelty of genocidal wars to torture thousands to death for not believing in a made up fiction that supports their power over the enslaved masses. The powerful Portuguese, Spanish, French, etc monarchs, some loving to watch animal cruelty in bullfights, etc had all vested interests in using Inquisition killings, torture to expand mind control and gullibility of people, kill opponents or free thinkers who helped people question the brainwashing imposed by force. While others starve due to war, violent crime, Spain wastes tomatoes on fights.☺☺☺

The baptism of many kings didn't stop such kings from starting wars of looting and genocide that killed millions of Christians; so how is baptism so essential? People forget the printing press appeared in the 1500s, so until then less than 0.01% had access to many books, except a few in Latin at the church (local language Bibles appeared only after 1500 in most places, people just trusted the service in Latin said logical things*)*, the lowest IQ fake miracles books, 99.5% of Europeans being of an ☺abysmal IQ☺ we can't even comprehend (like the Aztecs in America): "At the end of the Middle Ages (1500), the ability to write (your own name, not complex stuff) was restricted to less than 10% of men and hardly any women possessed it". Many sources indicate 2% of females and 10% of males (others say 30%) could read in many 'advanced at the time' countries in 1500, but how much did they read if so few libraries (10 or 1 library only in an entire less advanced country) existed and no Internet? The Inquisition started in 1184 in France, and Catholic Italian Napoleon who met the Pope and made a deal with World's Holiest Person on Earth, the Pope (per Catholics) who was unable to touch Napoleon☺☺☺ and prevent 1 million dead in Russia's invasion (and many more in other useless wars), having fooled the French he was for France and having reversed the freedom of thought policies of the French revolution by making a deal with the Pope to restore its influence in France and restoring the brainwashing that the French Revolution stopped (Napoleon blocked the separation of church and state, via Concordat), had no worries that 0.3 million of his French soldiers died in a few months in his genocidal useless 'fun' adventure to conquer Russia, so, as his failing invasion was killing thousands daily and tens of thousands weekly, he forged ahead without any compassion, when it seemed quite obvious he would lose, as he was totally behind the frontlines, defended by the very best of his 0.5 million army, and many kings never even bothered to be close to a battle or present at all. Isn't it odd how people deify these kings and etc that killed millions, many French don't even know Napoleon was Italian and fought French troops as a kid as did some in his family, so his disdain for French soldiers and selling Louisiana to USA is of no surprise: he probably wanted to weaken France as much as possible to free Corsica. We're not even talking of the tremendous destruction that happened to Russian lands and 0.21 million Russian soldiers dead, for a total of 1 million civilian and military deaths. ☺☺☺

It's obvious to any skeptic it was all made up, they had similar religions before; the "Son of God" could not even bring World Peace in 3 months on our planet, which is quite easy for anyone supervising entire universes, or even this galaxy sector alone, and will be easy for humans to achieve some day even this century, if all nations are serious and legalize only peaceful gentle healing music. This doesn't mean God doesn't exist, God may just choose to hide his existence to test people's real character and make only smaller 'miracles' in cases where nobody would share them with anyone else, to keep God's existence secret. If people believe God exists, they behave out of fear and of self-interest to be on good terms with a powerful guy, so God has no interest in making his existence known in any clear unambiguous way, but charlatans, who want to make money and enslave others or even continents, can definitely claim endless powers, miracles, etc. God doesn't torture, the only people who love torture are spy agency torturers and some who lie that they're the only true representatives of God on Earth, or only ones truly connected to God, with right to kill and torture others for not believing fake miracles and 'creeds'. God is, at least in the view of millions of people, antiwar, antikilling, antitorture. ☺☺☺ Religions, denominations that focus on the suffering and torture (example: Jesus being tortured on the cross, etc, or very 'pain sensitivity decreasing' rituals (epiphany that causes strokes since the low IQ losers posing as theologians and pastors often lead people to hell and death by stroke or permanent paralysis and loss of speech), or not so peaceful ones in other religions) were useful to ancient emperors, since they increased short-term resilience of slave labor peasants in producing food for useful 'low IQ' cannon fodder soldiers (who're called to emulate the fictional

Jesus and endure the slavery and torture of aristocrats making them work 12 hours a day, 365 days a year, and the torture of war and genocide against innocents. The rich guy hires priests to increase slave morale: suffer baby, suffer, in the name of Jesus whom you're to follow, work till you collapse and die. Slaves expand the wealth of the emperor, by invading and mass murdering people in new nations – however, even slightly violent (in some scripture quotes at least) ideology or religion leads to total empire collapse, as shown in the immortalist soldier paragraph and the speech before World Peace arrives in 1 year or sooner: violence makes leaders and people who're insensitive lacking empathy and alternative thinking, which prevent their brains from discovering the ways of peace. We need to remove violence from all scriptures (name calling various people, who could have been 2 day old nanobaby souls, that an infinitely kind God loves too) to create more peace or create new 5 page scriptures.☺☺☺

The politicians who lied, claimed to believe in Jesus, Eucharistic miracles, Marian apparitions, fake religions (invented to expand empires and rarely for peace perhaps in some who thought fake miracles inspire thugs to behave), delayed long lifespan for all. The intent of religion spy creators is mixed: millions of spies co-created religions, not all intent was peace thru peaceful methods. Yet, some good things emerged too from many religions, besides the extremely bad Bible, Torah, Quran quotes that led to genocides, brainwashing, stunting intellect development, free thought, hypothesis formulation, thinking, scientific progress, etc; people will keep the good (gentle music styles that uplift, writings on different feminine (that are most lacking in our world) and other qualities in many religions, etc to develop to be like an Immortal or angel, etc). A more useful approach to spirituality, is maybe a balanced yin-yang one, that is discerning hypothesis formulation/testing, gentle tender kind soft nurturing empathy focused, instead of on lies, suffering, torture (14 stations of the cross), fake miracles. ~*~Gently~*~ question everything politicians say, like 'the leader' setup 150 centers to promote religion X, the guy may not believe at all in religion X and use those as his spy network building stations. This is like when conmen leaders claim to deport 'country Y citizens', but secretly allow them back in under new identities of a different country, as investors, etc that build bigger houses elsewhere; they can sneak in anyway sometimes, as they bribe the spy agency, leader can't check all. ☺☺☺ Given the novelty of the religion, the comforting lie that the peasants etc may also get their diseases cured, like in the staged miracles of people faking having been cured and enjoy a nice heaven or get higher crop yields (invent a lie that a peasant prayed and it started to rain, not reporting the other million who prayed same thing and it did NOT rain, then a million other gullible people repeat the stories of invented miracles), belief spread fast. Add genuine mind heals body miracles or statistical remissions that happen being reported, while the 10,000 times more frequent cases of unanswered prayers never reported, and the illusion of an amazing thing for uneducated is so strong, that it is irresistible for low IQ folks. Clever men, used guilt of original sin, and other psychological tricks and lies in other religions, to make people dependent on spies disguised as clergy, give their wealth to clergy or organized religion in the hopes of a nicer afterlife, clergy who took over continents, as religion and politics merged. ☺☺☺ People noticed it and then 100s of groups (40+ orthodox, 300+ Buddhist, protestant etc denominations) split from the original group to gain national independence from the "overly political-military-religion" (what some atheists or agnostics or spiritual people may call a 'scam', partially sometimes due to the tone of some pastors being not like eterni tone pastors or like this tranquility youtube I made or this angel of light one) that is not pure spirituality wanting a world of peace and nonkilling nonviolence first, but a mix of lies, fake miracles, agendas and politics (denominations made up to sow division and create wars). Then some played along with part of the fiction when they made their own national denomination the local spy agency could control, since the reformation could only be minimal (to avoid 100% rejection by the gullible public, who was exposed to liturgy in Latin, never read the Bible in local language, to see the bad quotes, not just the nice stuff) and used it to bring the ideas of compassion and kindness, as well some nicer gentler music tone too sometimes. However, atheist ideologies became equally violent at times, using other tricks to fool the masses into being cannon fodder and useful 'low IQ' people. ☺☺☺

Can people be honest and create a more realistic 'spirituality or ethics or philosophy or culture'? Religion places of worship acted as a social meeting places, places to get solace, support from others, etc and also as fortresses in old times, and thus it played a huge role for the survival of a country. With time, more social places emerged, universities (Bologna in 1088, Oxford in 1096) so the influence of religion diminished. Ethics, spirituality or religion if ultra progressive, immortalist can benefit society or even speed tech progress 100 times more than an atheist 'have fun, smoke pot' culture, even if God is defined as 'possible immortal aliens who may not know about us much, as we don't know about all bacteria in the big universe'. However, if dogmatic, brainwashing people, it slows the progress of civilization. The 2019 Pew survey found % of religion unaffiliated were: Czech 72, Netherlands 48, Estonia 45, Belgium 38, Norway 43, Sweden 42, Denmark 30, Spain 30, France 28 (US 28% in 2020 Pew) have no religion affiliation, due to the wild claims of present religions or forcing "I believe Jesus did this and that" in every service... in East Germany, half don't even believe in God. Religion will probably be replaced over time with civic ethics education, social immortalist☺☺☺ groups, clubs, universities, immortality parks, meetups and continuing education credits on the benefits of eterni tone for career development, longevity, etc, benefits of gentler music for better driving and family harmony, value of kindness, etc for reaching much longer lifespans. God allegedly (God is dog rewritten, allegedly is all legs God, a 4 leg dog, 0 hands vs 2-2 for humans) looked like a dog in the past: Anubis, the Egyptian dog God has a cross like thing in his hand (looking like a guy being crucified too), and some scholars say spies created Christianity thru forged books and claims using ideas from preexisting religions well known to trading merchant Jewish and other spies…, thru staged events or records of events made up in stone or text, like some cult of Anubis, later called Osiris who came back to life. Back in the day, the dog of a pharaoh may have hanged around his tomb, so he decided God (Anubis) looks like a dog perhaps. On planets where people see small tiny things well, by refocusing, they may see dust mites around a tomb and think the God of afterlife, Osiris Anubis looks like a mite pic. Then they worship that icon with many legs, make temples with the icons sitting in the empty temple, while people are homeless. Well, according to the logic of more primitive people, who can't understand God is a formless genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortal universal field. Bored Italians, Greeks or even Jews trying to unify their many provinces with many religions, may have invented an Egyptian and Zoroaster like religion to gain followers to enable Roman, Jewish or Greek empire expansion. It had to be a religion with ideas and beliefs from the areas they control to make an easy sell. Zoroaster made up a religion so similar, so maybe Romans mixed it with Osiris and other religious ideas to make up Jesus religion? Now, you know some of the inspiration for the amazing resurrection that never happened: greed for power.☺☺☺ Oddly, besides icons, Catholics love medals, crosses, scapulars, holy images, etc that are symbols of the apparitions and miracles of those saints, but nobody has any real unfakable evidence any miracle happened: did priests, bishops tell priests, lay people, kids, etc to fake the apparitions, pretend Mary told them to say this and that prayer of the rosary etc 3 times a week etc? The Catholic Church was and may still be, thru front companies, trusts, etc the biggest landowner in Europe, so the need to prevent losing followers became so great, that they may have invented ever new apparitions and miracles with each passing decade since competing churches appeared. If you count all items they sell at Catholic stores that are supposed to help you, you may need to wear 500 items to get fully blessed in the most comprehensive way possible☺☺☺ So Catholics rely on objects to connect to God, when God doesn't need matter to bless people. Do you think they have been fooled? Recall that aliens may look different, so how can an image of a human (dust mite odd appearance to them perhaps) help them if it's scary? Will wearing pics of dust mites help you? Will wearing a cross, a symbol of torture/killing of a dust mite, help you live to a trillion? Do you think a little wafer or saying "I accept Jesus" gives you eternal life? Is eternal life so cheap, so easy to get? Think how hard it is for us to create 80 year life, what about eternal?

Last 3 pages: How Jews used the Jesus fake miracles to take over 4 billion people's minds:

Osina (or Sonia, like mo SIA, no CIA, like sonic or eterni tone, and INA, Immortality Nurturing Agency), is a new ICBM Russia announced after the fake killing of nuclear forces head. Synagogue is also Osyna-EU-Go, a covert threat to Jews running the EU. Jews run the USA even more than EU: in the US Jews brainwashed 80% to circumcise via takeover of health policy and Republican/Democratic party, while in many EU nations only 0.1%, the Muslims, circumcise, since USA got 9 times more Jews/capita than EU, so here in USA feudalism rules even more than in EU (which is more socialist), Jews live in palaces often, while gentiles are their slaves. It's no wonder that the clever Jew can impose a non-Christian habit on a Christian population, he has been engaged in fake religion building ever since Jesus, to make Christians more like Jews. Some liberal Jews promote gay rights (osina is aspen tree in Russian, ass-penis is gay sex, promoted by some types of Jews or even gentiles to destroy other nations) and things Putin calls satanic. A 01-30-1939 speech by Hitler mentions the bad Old Testament Jewish Torah quotes, killing of all Jews in Europe, the Jewish covert takeover of Germany (stock market Jewish takeover covered in his 1921 Bolshevik and other speeches, media, politics, banks to cause WW1 to create Israel after Turkish occupation of Israel wiped out, etc), and other nations thruout history, just like it happened in Rome (takeover by crypto Jews) when the Jewish Jesus cult appeared as the One Jewish religion to replace all others, like it happens today in USA and the entire West taken over by the Jewish Jesus cult and the Muslim world taken over by the Jewish Quran cult, 4 billion people total for the 2 Jewish religions. The speech was complaining about US, UK, France mistreating Germany, but it was Germany who started WWI via Jewish-British-US-French banker manipulation and lack of non-killing ethics due to a Jewish Religion of Eternal Genocide made Manifest via Christianity, Judaism reformed, and Germany killed millions in the fight, so they got what they deserved in WWI for being so silly to be duped by bankers and the Bible and Jewish clergy to kill to expand colonies or lands obtained via genocidal wars. One thing stands out as true: the Jews stuff, not having a nation they were less loyal before 1948 and more internationalist, like his 7-28-1922 speech on Jewish infiltration of royals and aristocracy complained of Jewish parasitic aristocrats who build palaces by gentile slave labor, Jews converting much of aristocracy (which today means spies (all politicians are that), military families running companies, institutes, policies) and royal families to covert Judaism (Mossad), while pretending to be Christian to keep the masses of low IQ gentiles docile and brain dead. Even today in USA you see alleged gentiles (who're crypto Jews hiding their Jewishness) or real gentiles marrying to official overt Jews or fake Jews. Hitler should have never invaded any nation, and limit himself to deporting Jews to Palestine if he didn't like their promotion of the Old Testament violence and doing bad things.

People who didn't study world religions, history of ethics, codes of conduct (10 commandments like), philosophical thought, don't understand that the Bible has nothing original. Everything in the Bible was already in other cultures (Osiris, Zoroaster, sacrifice, death, resurrection, immortality), even the fake miracles, how to stage miracles (common in India), gain followers, ideas of spiritual immortality, disappearing into a cloud or ascension, etc, physical immortality, resurrection, etc. The Jewish spell over the 4 billion Muslims and Christians ceases fast once you realize the Bible-Quran are recycled stuff sold as an amazing "original" thing with Israel inventing new "findings to confirm the fictitious stories of the Bible used to take over the planet". People are too naive and silly to realize all carbon dating, stones, tablets, etc can be forged and based on fictional stories the ancient spy agencies disseminated, with the same fervor FBI-CIA publish millions of fake books today and Jewish communists in Russia made stuff up at times in order to torture and kill gentiles by the millions during the 1917 to 1991. Hitler was pissed Jews ran Germany to a great extent, even if only 1% of population, a situation wholly similar to NATO-Australia-EU-Muslim world today, where 14.5 billion dollars of US taxpayers went to the most evil and degrading Zion Elders style musicians and actors, while millions of Americans live paycheck to paycheck and sustain the nation (that Jews vampirize, and also torture via the Jewish employees of spy/miliary agencies). See more on US taxpayer money use for bad music. Not even 1 out of 10000 musicians meets the eterni culture standards for lyrics and tone. All is pure Jewish Bible like garbage. The lie that this music helps catch gangsters is a cover for aristocratic enslavement of nations. Jews contribute, but they also vampirize: if you read the 11 companies you understand the vampirism so well. Jews were kicked out of Germany and some went to USA to do the same things: promote genocidal quotes and violent ideas. Jews run USA in 2024 to a great extent, just as Jews (10% of Rome back then) ran the Roman Empire in the 300s☺☺☺ when Jews made the Jewish Jesus fake miracles cult the empire religion, just as in 1933, 50% of Berlin MDs were Jewish, that's why today billions are brainwashed/deceived into the Jewish Jesus cult, to love the Bible, even if it is evil, it's an abuse relationship, where the victim can't escape the prison, its forced marriage to the evil Bible. Many politicians who claim to be "non-Jews (Western Europeans)" are Jews who live the Zion Elders ideals easily seen in their adventures and music/sports they praise, look at these criminals who're loyal to Israel 100 times more than to USA. Gentiles are mere cannon fodder (like 470000 USA soldiers who died in WW2 to create Israel, WW1& 2 planned by world Jewish bankers to create Israel, since Israel was under Turkish rule in 1516-1917 and Hitler's shouting against Jews and threats would force many to go to Palestine and create Israel) to be used by the US Jewish Bankers to make Israel bigger or gentile aristocratic palaces bigger. Like in USSR, when Jews exterminated gentiles by the millions, Jews do the same in USA as much as Brits/Irish allow it, though the methods are far more covert. Anyone with any intelligence who criticizes the Jewish Supremacy, meaning Christianity, Israel's "right" to become 50 times bigger, etc, is exterminated, slowly, methodically, with the Jews within spy/military agencies. To make Israel 35 to 100 times bigger by wholesale extermination of Arabs like Gaza 2024, they milk USA☺☺☺ as much as possible and promote Israel, Jewish Son of God Jesus via Christian churches as much as possible. They manipulate US foreign policy to benefit Israel and harm USA: oil wars instead of electric cars in 1920s-1970s. USA interest is Eternal World Peace, not Bible psychopathy. Jews run USA, they pose as Grand Ayatollahs of Jesus the Con Cult, parasitic grand standing predators of various mega churches who lie to everyone, making millions off the gullible believers. Cleverly deceiving the gentile by posing as gentile pastor, they amass millions of dollars by mere fraud, buy airplanes, palaces, etc. Their real god is money, Jesus is just a means to get it from the naive masses, too tired (from working as slaves to build aristocrat palaces) to think and question. Israel, UK, other evil regimes without non-killing ethics want endless Arab-Arab, Arab-Persian wars, in order to dominate the area via murder. ☺☺☺

Christianity is based on a fake death, the fake death of Jesus. It's a fraud. It's a made up story, with fake miracles the fraudulent rabbi Jesus staged with his con artist friends. Let's say he died, OK, do you really believe he resurrected and lived as a spirit? That his body became energy? No evidence exists for any miracle to begin with, and all evidence points to Jesus being a drunkard and low IQ, if he was real, not a fictional character spies made up: no smart person says he's the only son of God or etc, even if he is, because unless you can materialize mountains and turn corpses into young people instantly or do stuff that nobody can fake, you're not God, or even advanced alien, but just a lowest IQ fraud. All Jesus miracles can be faked as shown above in the 8 videos. Not one instance of a miracle of him precipitating something made of exotic materials and combos that future generations can see and not understand how it was built, like a pyramid made of 50 metals impossible to separate in that time, with 50 sheets, of these monoatomic layer, or something our science can't produce, a scientific impossibility with a sign written on it: humans won't get this tech until year 9,456,329. Or bless one guy in a coffin so his body never ages and he lives to be 5000 years old and tell us what Jesus did for 5 millennia. None of it, all his miracles are cheap tricks Jewish charlatans could easily fake as one team to conquer the world by fraud: take his staged fraudulent death, reports indicate he didn't die and was rescued immediately or even the story of crucifixion made up, meaning he was supposed to be killed, but at the last minute Jews did not, then Jesus appeared and claimed he rose from the dead. 3rd grader scams like that convince 4 year olds, not intelligent people. However, the tide is turning, after 2000 years of Jewish terror and Jews trying to outlaw English, make Hebrew official language in 1780s, we realize the CEOs, academia (Ivy League grads too), doctors, lawyers, spies, higher ranking military, Wall St traders, insurance agents, realtors, bankers, politicians are 9-45% Jewish, while Jews are 2% of USA. Why is Intel building chip plants in Israel instead of US or East Europe to help them switch to English? Because Intel is run by Jews, like many companies? Why are billions of taxpayer $ going to pay pastors to repeat same garbage billions of times a year, when ethics.gov could explain the basic ethics of the Immortalist Anthem and the rest of time these clergy and other staff would do kind acts like build, maintain single family homes for all?

So, naturally, the USA will gently kindly Awaken and gracefully take America back from Bible violence and Jewish (well, the Jews who're for criminal capitalism: 5000 the wage for a Jewish CEO vs average gentile worker, not the Jewish communists) feudalism (see Jewish and gentile aristocrat mansions). The masses will wake up, end the Jewish & British aristocracy and their genocides. We will declare our independence from Jewish terrorists and (not just Jewish) clergy terrorists. In Canada, 33 churches (genocide cells) were burned in 2 years, 2021-2023, by concerned citizens. Some are too tired to read the genocide calls in the Bible to realize churches are genocide cells. Others are too tired to read the genocide calls in the Quran to see mosques are genocide cells. The parasite type of Jew, Brit, etc presents himself as a gentile, Arab, as God's only representative, as pastor or imam, so as God on Earth, while brainwashing the gentile that nobody should be God (since only 1 God exists) or play God, which is a function that only Jews (disguised as cardinals, Popes, etc) can fulfill for the maximum IQ lowering of gentiles, for best vampirism. Obey the ☺abysmal IQ☺ religion clergy, the Jews, and they will con you forever. In communism, whoever is not praising the Jewish leaders is exterminated. They steal all land, people, labor, resources and you get the ultimate trash: Bible and Quran… Having seen the Jewish methods, others do it too now. No matter if atheism or religion is used to rule gentiles, he's the same terror loving one who tortures to death his critics. He hides his Jewishness Italian-ness, etc 100%, he knows how to use God to enslave all. His church and organized religions are a tool to make you feel powerless, dependent upon his infinite wisdom, easy to dupe and exploit, vulnerable and lacking any confidence in your eternal connection to God. He poses as God, as Satan does in mythology. He shuts God, replaces God. He makes a mockery of the human quantum field, replacing kindness with depravity and violence. He takes your peaceful culture and replaces it with an infernal depraved lyrics music "culture". He does everything to destroy your nation, culture from within, like a virus, until all are slaves. Why do you think the Vatican promoted the Jewish Torah as 80% of the Christian scripture? They were Jews, Peter the fraud, the rock of the fraudulent church, was a Jew and first pope of lies. ☺☺☺

4.1.10. Turn every restaurant into a mini Immortality University and Research Center☺☺☺

Introduction: turning the restaurant in every house (the kitchen) into the abode of ethics/spirit:

The immortalists got 11 companies and one of them makes all food, Eterni Food Inc, so everyone gets a powder sent home by the post office from this company, with 50000 custom amounts of the 50000 important daily nutrients, personalized for gender, age, DNA, health issues and 1000 values for last week (most recent if you didn't go last week) biomarker measurements for maximum lifespan and they dissolve it in water and drink within 1 hour. Every city has the Immortality Park area near city hall and other shopping areas, where free biomarker monitoring stations exist for citizens (not illegals) and everyone visits weekly to prevent issues 35 years before they manifest. The formula can be updated weekly as your biomarkers change. You get fresh food produced within 72 hours of consumption. Currently the gangsters running America only allow most to visit a medical place once a decade if that for a lousy physical checking nothing. To prepare for this new era, we're shrinking out kitchens, as the new era will have 0 kitchens. The first step towards transcending the national and global gluttony epidemic leading to obesity or weight gain is the change in the house building culture, to reduce kitchen size by 50-75% (make it 2-4 times smaller) allowing only a space for fridge, food processor (smoothies) and a pressure cooker that can cook under water every meal in a healthy way that increases lifespan by 10 years. After that, we have space to shrink dining 20% and living 30-60% too and make space for the most soundproof room called eterni room or relaxation/nap/guest sleep/meditation room, where people can relax, record nice eterni tone songs, learn to intone in an eterni tone, record something to deflate a tense situation, a nice little song and play it instead of speaking, as eterni vibe is better in music, meditate or practice happy breathing and close door with a don't disturb sign to avoid the stress of the other rooms of the house where kids are or spouse is, yelling each time you come in as she's angry about not buying her the expensive makeup or funny toy if a spoiled kid who has not watched a compassion virtue movie recently (but can watch with you in the spiritual room, so he can become less angry). One problem on Earth is dysfunctional families that lead to war in the world at large as that negative vibe soon contaminates every human relationship, vibe also coming from the mentally insane hyper violent Bible, Torah, Quran, Mahabharata, etc and the sick cultures they create. One way to solve the problem is to create a space for people to relax away from the currently unethical, unspiritual, uneterni, angry, annoying, tiringly needy or aggressive family member, or even crazy pets, so one can recharge and find a healthy positive (deescalatory) way to respond to the "selfish mean or etc vibe". A true democracy is one in which everyone can be a pastor, and every home can be a temple, and there is no need of intermediates between people and God, who use religion to start wars, lower IQ and enslave entire continents while making 700000 people in USA homeless. So, since we want to give all decent single family homes, we don't need that many churches, mosques and temples, or any, since we make our city hall and recording areas there for group singing and the Biomarker areas, etc so beautiful, that every place of worship today would appear ugly by comparison and we can make the meditative room or Immortality for All room also more amazing & beautiful than all places of worship today, using the mass production capacity of Immortality Building Inc, world's most advanced, largest construction, maintenance company on Earth. This will give us 10 million new eterni voices, many of them much better than the crap we got today, beautiful immortalist songs and bring a new vibe in USA, instead of the 'boring violent' vibe today when all music is rat IQ lyrics or uneterni tone.

Eterni food Research Center containing Restaurants that sell eterni food (rest, meditate, elevate) without bars and alcoholic drinks would get exempt from the taxes of section 4.7. because they help kids/adults get associate or college degree part-time in lifespan doubling nutrition biochemistry and to discover new longevity giving food items, meditate, breathe slower, attain happiness other than "food taste or drinks or smoking", diminish crime as instead of doing silly things, they go to these centers that become like the extra 100 libraries in town, leading to a society of deep immortalist thinkers (thinking about how to help everyone live to 500) and science paper readers instead of so many "eaters of random plants and animals as a million years ago, smokers, weed users, violent music listeners, overweight people due to addiction to food taste, texture, smell and no meditation bliss". In our era, we walk into a typical restaurant (or college or company eatery, so called "high tech college or university" like Harvard, MIT, etc) and we see the same thing pretty much: 1. often times young people wasting their lives during off peak (peak is noon-2 pm or 5-7 pm) hours in a mostly empty restaurant with plenty of space and staff to create an eterni Food Research Center in a corner/section of the restaurant (their ultra boring jobs replaced with something far more high tech that doubles lifespan instead of shortening it), 2. selling sodas (the most unhealthy thing to drink, except for a few "Jamba Juice like" restaurants (better than Jamba which sadly, adds sugar or toxic artificial sweeteners to increse sales and addiction) that offer smoothies with greens and berries), fries, rice, burgers (pork, beef), hot dogs, sandwiches and tacos, maybe some veggies and beans in some restaurants. Everything sold is ultra high in salt (to raise blood pressure, half American adults hypertensive), saturated fat, cholesterol, ω6 to 3 ratio of 20:1 (instead of 1:1) that drives inflammation and faster aging, oxidized cholesterol (up to 100 times more toxic than cholesterol) and oxidized fats to shorten our lifespan dramatically AGEs driven system wide inflammation from so much frying and oxygen rich cooking (instead of water). For the most part they're not vegan, except for a few tacos (request vegan, no dairy) or Beyond Meat (Carl Jr), Impossible burgers (Burger King), Ultra Healthy (compared to Beyond Meat or Impossible Burgers) Vegan Burgers of Small Restaurants, or healthier fake meat products that got 30% of saturated fat in the Impossible Burger/Beyond Meat or analog meat products, half the salt too.

Imagine the tech colleges and inspired by tech food chains (maybe McDonalds etc) taking more initiative to turn every eatery into the most amazing beautiful Disney Like Learning Environment, with tons of glitter, colors, shimmering lights, with the walls displaying via fixed images (posters very colorful like chemistry textbooks that make carbons, hydrogens, nitrogens each of a color, kids like colorful stuff so they can learn about what they eat) or moving holograms via projectors or other tech hundreds of chemical formulas and nutrition science discoveries that inform the restaurant goer about the latest discoveries about the carotenoids (lycopene, α and β-carotene, lutein and zeaxanthin, β-cryptoxanthin), vitamins, polyphenols, ω3s, etc and high in the brains, organs, blood in those with longer healthy lifespan. Imagine the walls, chairs, tables being filled with images of healthy Eterni Foods, nutrients, fruits and veggies used to make the sold foods, with tons of purple/blue (these things in nature are highest in polyphenols, purple grapes healthier than green ones, same for cabbage, onion, etc*; A big flashing sign can ask* "Did you eat your purples today? that's where polyphenols are", try the Purple Immortalist Burger with purple cabbage, purple onion, purple kale, purplish blueberries and vegan protein high in ω3 and vegan algal DHA; it can actually be purple due to all these purple things, the burger, the covering, the outside, the "bread"), lavenders, oranges (carotenoids), greens (people need more leafy greens nutrients) ☺☺☺ that are almost absent in today's restaurants where all is reds, burgundy, beige, off-white, browns and greys (a little white and black too). Yellow peppers have more vitamin C than anything out there, yet there is so little blue-green, yellow or gold in restaurants. Imagine the most colorful Disney like place (to make kids love biochemistry of 900 year lifespans and have them see big colorful neon lights "Let us eat to Live to 900, thru hypothesis formulation and testing" at they enter the restaurant) with wonderful designs mass produced to create tap on screens, tap on the table screen or on a wall near the table while seated to hear a lecture on a vitamin or McDonalds eterni food you selected) that teach people biochemistry. ☺☺ We select carbs, proteins, fibers and then get a lesson on carbs etc, so each time we eat out we learn something about nutrition studies, biochemistry, quantum chemistry simulations. We become citizen scientists who bring a billion new nutrition studies to build knowledge, because the screens invite us to enroll into a nutrition study to help all to live to 4000, and we can choose to eat only Eterni Foods that measure all food and nutrient intake, scan it with the phone and send data, getting thus Eterni foods at a discount and learning more from National University professors because we generate data and have the self-discipline to eat everything measured and create solid nutrition studies (for better estimation and calculation of a million confounding factors in this and future centuries that analyze this data), not "estimated nutrient intake" studies of today. To avoid cheating and eating extra or less, the financial perks would be zero, people would have to agree to be video taped. People also realize the AI won't give them the best scientific data if they cheat and the free biomarkers analysis and AI/company expert suggestions for new eterni personalized nutrition (based on available products at "Eterni Food Inc"☺☺) after a year will be useless, so self-interest in getting best advice based on data would motivate people to not cheat and indeed eat only Eterni Foods and scanning them before or after eating them entirely, with 0 left overs.

As McDonalds has a blood pressure meter, people with high pressure will be recommended Purple High Fiber low sodium "Lower Pressure Immortalion", a new product, that is not a burger or a taco, but an eternion designed to take us away from historical inertia and into the high tech future of Knowledge Based eating, instead of the historical inertia of taste based eating. Immortalions can be of 900+ types, colors, textures and shapes, each serving a purpose of Life Extension, so some can be more smoothie like, others more taco like, burger or salad like. As the AI camera of the future measures 50 biomarkers by scanning their body while they enter the restaurant (high tech of the future), it will recommend a new Immortalion that day, personalized for them that day. For those who enroll in certain studies and/or volunteer with the Restaurant eterni food Library/Citizen Science Center, the company can offer some free medical exams, like a simple 2 min scan of retina to see blue light damage due to nutritional deficiency of lutein in their diet, and other retinal or other damage due to other deficiencies in their diet. A mega Nutrition Conglomerate can create 5 food companies, like we have Taco Bell, McDonalds, each testing a different set of nutrition hypotheses thru different products, but allowing us to see the AI models and why certain food exist in each different company. But Eterni Food Inc can create so many entries, they don't need 5 separate companies. ☺☺☺ Or if we just have Amazon.com or food.gov ship powders with 50,000 phytonutrients from 50000 plants, as immortality capitalism section explains, we got more space for universities, and single family housing for all.

It goes without saying that in a Civilization of Immortals, or of Peace and "semi-Immortals" who live to 900, where violence is unheard of, people would have renamed all restaurants and foods in a way that removes any connotation of eating animals. ☺ We have today a few companies that create fake shrimp, meats, hot dogs, but once everything is vegan and eterni, these names can be changed from "Chicken "body parts"" (how weird to order some chicken legs or whatever) names to "Immortality Elixir" or "Mitochondrial Boost Immortalion". Would you think it's fair or kind for an alien to raise humans on a farm and eat human "body parts" for dinner? It shocks me how in our "advanced culture and civilization" people have no problem to eat foods called like human body parts, except that the animal is in front of the body part name. It's like the Halloween depiction of body parts that is legal, except in some nations or areas of Russia. What kind of universal loving kindness/spirituality is that? Just because we did it for a few millennia, doesn't mean we have to continue doing it. Names like " Gentleness Immortali", "Compassion Polyphenol Immortalion" (Immortali if Immortalion too long) seem way better names. The food doesn't have to appear or taste like their meat counterparts from our stone age infancy of a civilization. But as a trillion year old Immortal would have compassion for 2 day old human mortals and their infant civilization, one can't expect change to occur instantly, so names like "Fishbone", "Rib Nest BBQ" and "KF(fried)C(hicken)" still exist (burned animals). See more on veganism Bible ideas here. Due to the power of historical inertia and present knowledge (limited), people eat meat. Economics due to the advances in physics and chemistry will make Eterni foods 900 times cheaper and greener, so then people will no longer eat animals or have agriculture, not necessarily because of a higher level of universal kindness. This will diminish human cruelty, conflicts, bring a higher level of kindness, which will fuel more knowledge discovery, leading to more kindness. The desire to eat animals is 'low IQ' if you think about it, since if humans go into space and find a planet, they might see some "animals" without "visible gadgets or technology", who're 500 million years ahead of humans and want to eat them. Just because something appears low IQ it doesn't ncessarily mean it is or it can be lunch. No wonder such aliens don't have any interest in making contact with humans. ☺ The beings might not just have no “gadgets, buildings, visible tech (all quadrillion times smaller than electrons, so invisible)”, but they might have knowledge of the universe that we don’t have, not to mention the ability to stop 1,000 planets from eating (or even finding) them. ☺☺☺

But take this, what if God gave some knowledge of the universe to other species that is different than the knowledge we received? What if we would need a billion years to get it without them, as they would need a billion to get our knowledge. If God wanted us to evolve spiritually from cuel to kinder, God would withhold some knowledge from us until we're all vegan, and eventually eterni (no plants eaten). If some aliens with different knowledge than ours can't defend themselves from being eaten (due to never investing in defense), we try to eat one of them (the rest then know about it, since they're all telepathic and withhold all knowledge from us and we can't get it without their help, once a human attempted to eat one, all the other become invisible) and miss on the knowledge of the universe they have (maybe even knowledge of Immortality), remaining very primitive for a billion years. We may still not be able to eat them, they may dematerialize to avoid fighting (it’s a death of their body, but they move to another dimension) or due to God wanting to show humans a way to avoid conflict, become invisible by dematerialization. ☺☺The species dematerializing doesn’t mean they or God can't create the illusion in the human mind (or even collective illusion) that humans ate some “animals”, so as to not interfere with their spiritual evolution and unintentionally “cause or force” a conversion to veganism or Immortalism (eternism) by virtue of “dazzling show of ability”. Since God doesn’t want the aliens to be eaten, God withholds knowledge from us earthling humans (that would enable us to find the aliens with the knowledge, maybe their solar system or planet is enveloped by some energy field that makes it invisible) until we evolve to a higher level of ☺ eterni tone of speech and intent, behavior (Chapter 8 like in past tense of “eat”), because we have not achieved their level of Grace yet due to a different evolutionary path (wish well to all living breathing beings, don't inflict pain on anyone who has not attacked you, like a bear or lion attack on Earth). That is if eating them was even possible to do so, as it may be with some nondematerializing species (people may not realize the “animals” live to 90,000 before they try to eat them) who don’t invest in defense tech or think about it, having evolved in a perfect environment as Immortals, without the hostility from nature our species experienced, so being far less fighty, the equivalent to the most angelic human times a trillion.

God could create a species on this hidden planet that, exactly as we perceive visible photons with our eyes, could perceive, in addition to visible light, with different organs or a third eye (made of different matter invisible undetectable to us, not necessarily visible to humans organ) different particles, way smaller than neutrinos, some undiscovered by us. When we do hands on healing, we emit infrared rays and this can be seen by IR camera. Imagine them emitting something else during hands on healing or operating their extra organ (not ears or eyes, but something else that produces these rays and are perceived by this or another organ, say they move their ear or hand like like organ in a unique way and then a huge ray comes out of this subatomic particle that can do wonders we never dreamed of when used and manipulated in complex ways they alone know; they can have an extra set of hands so to speak that are made of this invisible matter alowing them to create objects type at their computers, etc while the rest of the body relaxes, so you would look at a still lovely piglet, but he's doing quantum mechanics earthlings only dream of), unknown to us or any of our cameras, having a memory capacity a billion times bigger, so then if they learn how to create various transmutations and changes in their environment, biology thru focusing of these (unseen by our tech) rays of undiscovered particles, they can build an Immortality knowledge (discover how to use these rays to delay aging a million years, how to build gadgets and things that to us are invisible and to any of our tech) that is SO DIFFERENT, we can't even imagine it, let alone how they store the knowledge in the "nature around" (invisible libraries, gadgets sort of, since when they write they don't use paper, flash drives, computers, but materials, "books, computers" made of this invisible stuff, and don't use necessarily the hands to write, but a subtle focusing of this extra organ, so humans can't have a clue of where the organ is maybe, when it is used, etc... or HOW INTELLIGENT AND LEARNED these "low IQ animals" are, they're like people with 50,000 PhDs, yet appear animals to an outsider) and use this knowledge to sustain their civilization that seems just "animals roaming without any technology", yet living to 1 million years old maybe each. Why would they not build things of normal matter around them? Perhaps because the things they create with their organ are far more alive☺☺☺ and exciting and having many colors and shimmers more than anything in nature, in their perception, not to mention manipulating it with this organ is a lot easier. The memory banks of brain can be using this unknown matter (enabling them to store quadrillions times more stuff and recall it) and their tlepathy can be based on these particles too or other unknown principles, so they don't emit sounds to communicate like humans do, having the most "encrypted" communication from the human point of view, undetectable by human tech. The invisible things they can build with their "minds or organs directed by imagination slightly, not necessarily by hands" can offer them ideal temperature, shielding from certain things, or even, odd as it sounds, the ability to go without eating for decades at a time, hybernation period of study and moving very little.☺☺☺

Other species like them may even discover how to totally replace the need to eat after they grow to adult size, totally altering their biochemistry in the weirdest way we can't even imagine, sort of like moving from biofuel cars to electric cars, electricity as fuel, in their case perhaps something we don't even know exists. A nondematerializing species may be able to withhold their knowledge and/or learn ultra fast how to divert humans [always fighting, always changing priorities and which star system to visit first] via mothership crashes due to gamma or unknown particle ray burst or something God does, from their system thru "natural events they can cause due to their special knowledge humans have no idea the 'animals' possess" if one attempt is made to eat, enslave, do painful animal experiments on or torture one of their species. The aliens could learn some things a quadrillion times faster than humans, due to their knowledge, and immediately render human attempts to visit their solar system futile. Do bacteria mind control and build humans or we control bacteria? We don't know what we don't know, a "low IQ" bacteria or animal species may have knowledge humans won't find for eons, just as humans have other knowledge of physics the other aliens won't discover for eons. This is like the primitive men fighting analogy: "they fought with spears for millennia, so they continued doing that when they could have been off-planet by then"; another analogy is "they ate meat for millennia, so they continued doing that, when they could have discovered amazing new worlds, secrets of living to 90,000 years old from 'silly animals without tech' from planet z."

4.2. IMMORTALITY OUTREACH (can use anonymous aliases, fictional names, Tor browser, or wigs, disguises in real life for highest security)

4.2.1. Outreach to colleges by students 4.2.2. Outreach to cities for Immortality Parks/Centers

4.2.1. Any student at a university can request to meet with the University President, Provost (the person in charge of academics) and Chancellor (very involved with academics), Science School Dean, Professors to make suggestions for the creation of an Immortality School, Immortality Program like MIT-Harvard-Tufts or Caltech-USC-UCLA or Stanford-Berkeley School of Immortality or Life Extension Center or Lifespan Tripling Institute or Joint Longevity Immortality Program (major at the 2-3 schools). For example, every major university has a web contact form where one can request an appointment with these top university officials. The Stanford Longevity Center was started by 2 faculty members, so a student who has a good idea can pass it to their favorite faculty member, and if there is a good relationship between the two, the student can help the professor to set up the University Life Extension, Immortality, Lifespan Doubling Center, etc. Then another student might create an Immortality University based on the Immortality Civilization course created by faculty and students, or a student might become a CEO and donate $100 million to a University taking the Immortality School or Center to a much higher level, 7 decades down the road, the ripple effect can be huge even from something as tiny as an Immortality Course, Club or Minor. MIT & Harvard created broadinstitute.org for biomedicine in 2004, with 3,000 scientists now, the Broad family donated $800 million to this Institute. Harvard and other Presidents, Provosts, Chancellors, have office hours with students and in those 15 minutes, the students could present their view on these Immortality or living to 150-500 issues, almost like in the draft letter presented below. Harvard President meets students ► harvard.edu/president/contact, MIT President meets students for 15 minutes by appointment. Students can find out the dean, provost, president, chancellor office hours, and setup a visit to propose creating an Immortality Course, etc. ☺☺☺ Students can easily create Longevity, Immortality Clubs too or write to whitehouse.gov/contact/. Some universities have 1000+ student clubs, setting an Immortality or "living to 200" one is easy. For those who want to engage in Immortality-Longevity Outreach in their spare time use any studies, ideas in this book to make PDFs you send to fellow students, peers, science, engineering clubs, related life science and engineering fields, University staff, high/middle/primary school teachers. See pages 2 and 3 of my brochure. Gotprint.com makes business cards, flyers (500 cards for $8.50, cheapest), vistaprint.com (better design options) has 500 cards for $10, 5,000 flyers for $181, see this vegan video about flyer giving, maybe instead of "Helping animals" as in the video, we can say "Tripling human lifespan", "Help stop suffering" (as he says in the vegan video), suffering due to short lives, diseases, "natural" disasters, wars, violence. 4over4.com offers 200 free business cards one time for those who share a social media post (the back of the cards has their website). ☺ We live in a paradise of Life Extension opportunity: free cards, free PDFs to use on the cards.

Ideas for Email Subject/Body: 500 year Lifespan or Life Extension Course, Major, School, etc

Dear President, Professor, Student, Dean,

Thank you very much for your service to the MIT community. Professor Cynthia Kenyon and others extended the lifespan of worms 5-10 times, CRISPR like future techs may do the same for humans. Queen bees live 50 times longer than normal bees due to ONLY different nutrition (miRNAs, etc) that turns on different genes, there is nothing that stops all humans from living 50 times longer via a different nutrition made in high tech food companies. Several trees live 10-80 times longer than others, some rats live 10 times longer. Understanding how these things happen could help triple human lifespan. This is explained in the chapters 11.1.1. and 3 of Civilization of Immortals - 4000+ pages" at happyimmortals.com/book.pdf and below. ☺☺☺.

Since extending lifespan of worms also made more resistant to diseases, aging itself being postponed can mean postponing the onset of endless diseases in humans that are a natural side-effect of aging by 500 or even 2,000 years. The 2015, 2016, 2017 CDC lifespan reports showed lifespan decreased in USA 3 years in a row for the first time in 100 years (1915-1918 Spanish Flu, World War 1 was last time). One way to speed Longevity tech advances might be an Immortality Sciences or 900 year lifespans Sciences and/or Engineering Course (ultra short winter or summer course, some online edX.org course or a normal course) that could be co-designed by faculty, alumni and/or students from one or several departments. Even a 3-hour video course watched by freshmen during Orientation Week would be better than nothing. "Immortality" means a much greater "longevity" (many centuries) than the one (living to 100) conveyed by the word "longevity" of the Stanford Longevity Center started by 2 Stanford Professors. That's why it would be better to create Immortality or "700-year lifespan" or "Indefinite Life Extension" Centers, Clubs, Courses and Immortality Schools, instead of "Longevity" Centers, which dilute the goal a lot. The human body that lives to 80 is like the worker bee or a car that lasts 1 year.

Students with a real passion for "Immortality" or 200-900 year lifespans can spend 10 hrs/week on Immortality research, unpaid undergraduate research in the lab of a faculty member who also does 10 hrs of unpaid research to quadruple human lifespan soon. Professors can invite all students to create an Immortality Club at the university. We need selfless professors to research in a tiny area of his lab what corporations (seeking money, even if it means dead people like with 38,000 dead Americans from Vioxx) and institutes don't give money to research. The planet will move faster from profit seeking,"title, tenure and paper publishing" seeking to happy lives of 400 years. Just like Proposition 71 that established 3 billion fund for university grants into stem cell research in California, we create a fund for university grants into 500 year lifespan research via molecular simulations, gene edits, nutrition, since in worms, living 10 times longer meant less disease, postponing aging diseases 400 years in humans. buckinstitute.org, afar.org, salk.edu give grants for aging research."

In 1900, Americans lived to 47 on average, today to 80 (70% longer than 47), mostly due to lowering child mortality 20 times. In the last 10 years, scientists helped worms live 10 times longer (like 800-year-old humans) and with less disease ► AC 2008;7(1):13-22. Education could help the average American to live to 136 (70% longer than 80) in 2100 or 500 in 2700. To get to the moon or make a polio vaccine, we focused on that as a goal with a deadline. To reach 136 by 2100, a similar goal is needed. In 1900 the average lifespan was 47.3, in 1921 it was 60.9 so the US lifespan increased 13.6 years or 28.8% over a 21 year period. In 1997-2018 US lifespan increased only 2.1 years or 2.6% over a 21 year period, or 11 times less than 28.8%. Why did we get only 2.1 years? Could it be due to a lack of focus on the benefits and ways of multi-century longevity in education, research from 1st grade to PhD? Everything comes from education. If a CEO aims to increase mpg by 3 or lifespan by 3 years, workers do that. But if a CEO sets 30 mpg or 30 years increase as a goal, that is often achieved. Students got to 14,573 mpg. Let's aim to live to 900, not 90. Would you propose the co-creation by interested students and/or faculty of a new free elective or required course named 900 year Lifespan Prioritization, Immortality or Life Extension Ethics, Life Extension or Immortality, maybe a little bit like the Harvard edX bioethics course, to speed up the advent of a Civilization of 150-500 year old "Immortals" who know no violence, prisons, wars, diseases, natural disaster deaths? The course could be even a winter (no internships) or summer break course, or like coursera.org or edx.org courses or youtube. Have you thought about asking others (perhaps a school official sends a letter to the college community to propose a focus on 500 year lifespans) if they want to create an Immortality School (John Smith Immortality School when John Smith gives $100 million for a life science center, maybe Immortality day care, kindergarten, school too), Life Extension Center, Program, Major, Minor, Course, just like 2 professors created a Longevity Center longevity.stanford.edu? Their website says "To inspire change on a grand scale, the Center works with more than 150 Stanford faculty, their students and research staffs, as well as leaders from industries that are poised to distribute innovative products and services to the public, thought leaders who help to shape the ideas that influence cultural change, and policymakers who target important challenges and opportunities for long-lived societies." Think about the primitive nations where people live to 50 on average and how much more advanced we're than them, living to 80. Imagine what an amazing & beautiful America exists (compared to today) when we live to 150. Tesla's 700 patents would triple if lifespan would triple. ☺☺☺

Why Lifespan Tripling or Longevity Ethics, Prioritization? We often have people spend a lifetime to create a food color or flavor, while thousands of kids die of flu. The salary for flu research at a non-profit is lower than the salary for food dye, color, texture research at a Big Food company. A product manager is given $1 million to improve a product and instead of making a lifespan extending product with less NaCl (half American adults are hypertensive and need less NaCl, salt can also be KCl that lowers blood pressure) and more ω3 DHA, EPA in it, he adds a new color that shortens lifespan. This happens because of the separation of "business" education from life sciences as they pertain to the building of a Civilization of 500 year old "Immortals". Many are talking about individual earning potential or profitability if a business, but not Longevity of all humans maximization potential. We have car makers investing billions in new car designs, yet making cars electric to diminish smog that kills slowly is a low priority. We got useless car things, we lack 50$ (when mass produced) UV filtering 99% on all windows to protect skin (9,300 skin cancer deaths/year in US), eyes/body from UV.

Longevity education helps the GDP to grow, as people are healthier and more productive, have higher IQ and innovate more. Chapter 12 of the "Civilization of Immortals" ebook (that contains a few ideas that may be used in the course), available online at happyimmortals.com, explains that those without dietary zinc die at 25 after becoming mentally retarded, mortality was reduced by 27% in 55–81 year olds who received zinc daily ► AN 2013;4(2):176-90, those developing without iodine can have IQ 70 points lower becoming mentally retarded, while low iodine can mean 13.5 points lower IQ ► FHN 2013;7:97, those with temporary infancy low iron got IQ 13 points lower ► Arz 2007;57(6A):426-30, those with half the β-cryptoxanthin in their blood have 52% higher mortality ► IJE 2001;30(1):136-43 (46% higher mortality for half the serum α-carotene ► NR 2011;31(3):178-89), those eating 5.75 mg stilbenes daily got 52% less mortality than those eating no stilbenes ► BMCM 2014;12:77, with 41% lower mortality for those eating more flavonols ► Epid 2013;24(5):726-33, those with homocysteine > 20 had 4.5 times the mortality of those with homocysteine < 9 ► NEJM 1997;337(4):230-6. (homocysteine is brought down by B_{12}, B_9, B_6, especially B_{12} at higher than RDA level, especially among vegans and vegetarians, but senior citizens too), those with > 1.33 mg/day B_6 intake had 49% less heart disease than those with < 0.79 mg/day and those with > 536 µg/day B_9 (folate) intake had 38% less heart disease than those with < 272 µg/day ► Stroke 2010;41(6):1285-9, moms taking multivitamins with B_9 three months before conception gave birth to babies with 24% fewer congenital heart defects compared to those taking vitamins after the 1st month of pregnancy ► AJE 2000;151(9):878-84, those with 0-22.5 nmol/L vitamin D had 90% higher mortality than those with optimal levels of > 75 nmol/L ► AJPH 2014;104(8):e43-50, men in the lowest (< 28.4 µM) compared with the highest (>/= 73.8 µM) serum vitamin C quartile had a 57% higher mortality (25% of Americans don't get enough C) ► AJCN 2000;72(1):139-45, 60% of Americans (91% when excluding vitamin pill intake) are not meeting RDA for vitamin E (34% not meeting vitamin A, 70% vitamin D, 25% vitamin C) ► JN 2011;141(10):1847-54, women taking more vitamin E had 65% lower cardiac mortality ► AJE 1994;139(12):1180-9; those taking 6 to 30 times RDA for vitamin E have more mixed results. Those with highest blood vitamin K marker had 2.7 times less heart disease compared to those with lowest blood vitamin K ► Mat 2014;77(2):137-41, higher K_1 intake (626 µg versus 170 µg) meant 36% lower mortality from all causes, 46% lower cancer mortality, while those who increased K_1 or K_2 intake during the study had about 45% lower mortality than those who didn't ► JN 2014;144(5):743-50, eating 2-7 times more vitamin K than the RDA (120 µg for male, 90 female) always lowers mortality for those not on blood thinning medication, especially since K_1 from most K rich foods is absorbed 5-25%, while K_1 from vitamins is absorbed 90%. A 1% increase in serum DHA and EPA ω3 fatty acids % of total fatty acids meant a 21% drop in all cause mortality for DHA & 20% drop for EPA ► SR 2016;6:28165, those with highest EPA in red blood cells were 8 times less likely to commit suicide compared to those with lowest EPA ► BP 2004;56(7):490-6, low dietary intakes of both B_2 (<1.20 mg/d) and B_3 (<13.5 mg/d) increased heart birth defect risk 2-2.4 times in mothers who did not use vitamin pills in the periconceptional period ► EJN 2008;47(7):357-65, mothers with higher blood B_2 riboflavin levels gave birth to longer infants; the longer infants had higher B_2 at birth ► EJCN 1999;53(1):27-38. Those eating the least lutein had 56% higher mortality compared to those eating the most ► IJE 2001;30(1):136-43, serum choline < 2.5 mmol/L during pregnancy meant 17 times more birth defects compared to serum choline > 3.5 mmol/L ► Epi 2009;20(5):714-9. Those with heart failure with higher CoQ_{10} intake had 44% lower mortality ► JACCHF 2014;2(6):641-9, those not exercising had 50% higher mortality. We see here how many nutrients, when combined, have 10-20 times the effect on mortality compared to exercise or avoiding sitting all day. This makes sense since many centenarians never exercised. We have known for a long time that queen bees live 50 times longer than the rest, due to different nutrition alone, yet no college/middle school requires nutrition classes. Nutrition (Chap 11) is just one side of Longevity. Other contributors to Longevity include: good regular sleep (Chap 4), gentle tender soft tone of speech (Chap 8, tone of speech helps us to regulate our emotions, radiate universal loving kindness often; people judged lower gentler tone as more competent and trustworthy ► PBR 2017;24(3):856-62), gentle tender peaceful music (Chap 7) that prevents conflict among people and nations, conscious breathing (Chap 10, slow breathing induces tranquility in mice, they mapped the neurons involved ► Sci 2017;355(6332):1411-5), lifelong education (Chap 4), meditation or contemplative prayer, smiling (Chap 9, those who smile more live longer ► PS 2010;21(4):542-4), avoiding caffeine overdose (that can make some people sick, irritable or sleep deprived), emotional mastery, brain states 900 times happier than "smoking, orgasm, drugs, alcohol" (Ch 10). Why would smiley people live longer? Besides less cortisol that ages us, they may have better relationships because smiling people are: trusted more ► NN 2002;5(3):277-83, making others who see the smile happier ► Ped 2008;122(1):40-51, remembered more (even if strangers) ► NP 2008;46(9):2310-9, judged as more familiar (even if strangers) ► Mem 2000;8(5):285-92, seen as more attractive, kinder ► PMS 1996;82(3Pt2):1111-21, younger ► PO 2016;11(3):e0152093, more competent, likable, courteous ► OBHDP 2005;96(1):38-55. blog..photo study found people who smile showing their teeth are the most liked, perceived as the most competent. A closed mouth smile makes us appear only half as likable as those who show their teeth. ☺☺☺

Why would listening to gentle music enhance longevity? Chapter 7 explains it in 16 pages, but sound vibrations led to transcriptomic, proteomic, hormonal changes in arabidopsis (cress plant) ► SR 2016;6:33370. Sound at 0.1-1 kHz, 70 dB for 3 h every other day increased the yield of sweet pepper 30%, cucumber 37%, lettuce 20%, spinach 23%, cotton 11%, wheat 17% ► JIA 2014;13(2):335-48, immunity jumped as rice sheath blight disease declined 50%; they found that sound can cut fertilizer/pesticide use by 15-25%; mature weeds can be wiped out with 50% less herbicides as sound makes them penetrate; the sugar content of spinach jumped 38%, spinach vitamins increased too: A 36%, C 42%, B 40%. D. Retallack exposed plants to rock music and in 2 weeks they were almost dead with stems leaning away from the radio, while those exposed to soothing "middle of the road" music thrived with stems leaning 20 degrees towards the radio. "Violent video games stimulate aggression" ► PB 2010;136(2):179-81.☺☺☺ Kids who watch aggression on TV are 3 times more likely to be convicted of criminal behavior by the time they were in their 20s, and are far more likely to abuse their spouses and assault others ► DP 2003;39 (2):201-21 (PM). "There were overall modest but significant effect sizes for exposure to media violence on aggressive behaviors, aggressive thoughts, angry feelings" ► APAM 2006;160(4):348-52. "violent video games increase aggressive behavior in children and young adults... Playing violent video games also decreases prosocial behavior." ► PS 2001;12(5):353-9. Likewise, "gentle tender soft nurturing loving kindness" lacking tone or rhythm music makes us more rushed, aggressive (ruins relationships, shortens lifespan via that), less stable emotionally, less cautious (centenarians are cautious, gentler than average). Some witness so many guns, aggression in the media, movies, music, they don't realize what effect it has on longevity, but a "1967 study showed that simply seeing a gun can increase aggression" ► PSPR 2017:1...9.

As our tech advances, we won't be eating animals or plants, as we already can make protein from air, water and microbes and we'll discover the best combos of natural/new products (which we can make much faster than plants or animals, in minutes or hours, molecular assemblers) that give us 900 year lifespan. We'll eat artificial Eterni Foods (Chapter 11.1), made by future molecular printers without any pain for animals. Our morality suffers when we eat meat, Tesla believed, see Chapter 16.3. Until eterni food era, there are eco/health advantages to being vegan (explained in Chapters 11/12) which lead to vegans living 5-10 years longer: heavy meat eaters have 73 times the risk of dying from diabetes, while those eating moderate amounts of meat have 23 times the risk of dying from diabetes compared to vegans ► CM 2014;19(3):407-17, vegans are the only group with a healthy average BMI (body mass index, nobody who lived past 110 was overweight), have much lower cholesterol (some centenarians had it 111 vs 239 for controls), average blood glucose (which shrinks the brain faster as it increases), heart disease and inflammation, asthma, cancer, kidney issues, long-term vegans are 3 times less likely to get dementia and Alzheimer compared to meat eaters ► NEP 1993;12(1): 28-36, emissions from the production of beef and lamb are 250 times higher than those from legumes, per gram of protein, and pork and poultry are 40 times higher than legumes ► CNN, a forest area the size of Italy was destroyed in 2017 for soy and corn fed to cows, at current rates of deforestation, rainforests will vanish altogether in a century, ocean acidification will wipe out ocean plankton, we may have no oxygen to breathe, beef requires 28 times more land and 11 times more water than chicken and pork.☺☺☺

Because we don't focus on longevity as a planet, when people make a product, a flavor, food color, emissions defeat device, medicine even that shortens lifespan "it doesn't matter". Yet when one shortens the lifespan of 1 billion by 1 day (if a product is sold to 1 billion people), it's as if one shortened the lifespan of humanity by 1 billion days or 1 billion divided by 365 days, by 70 years per life, or 39,139 people by 70 years, or essentially killing 39,139 very young people almost. GM was making TEL (tetraethyl lead $(CH_3CH_2)_4Pb$), yet GM knew it is toxic (dead workers, inventor poisoned, wanted its end, stopped by his boss who wanted to make money) and ethanol, iron carbonyl alternatives exist. Lead industry officials told EPA that lead is "an essential mineral required for optimum growth and development". National Academy of Sciences explains lead in bones is 300 times higher now than 200 years ago. Only in 2009 lead in paint was limited to 90 ppm in the USA (600 ppm in 1978), 100 years after France, Belgium and Austria banned lead in white interior paint. US blood lead dropped 4 times since leaded gasoline was banned. NT 2002;24(6):711-7 found that teens found guilty of crimes had 7 times more lead in their bones. Chapter 12.6 has 40 more studies about the most common sources of lead (candy, pottery, etc). A 0.46 µg/dL elevation in lead in the blood decreases IQ by an estimated 0.38 points. EHP 2007;115(4):643-7 found IQ was 10 points lower for kids exposed to high arsenic; rice is the main vegan source of arsenic. Norway banned mercury from all products in 2008, Sweden in 2009. US allows mercury dental fillings, EU banned them for pregnant women and kids under 15, see Chapter 12.5 for 100+ studies on mercury toxicity. Chapter 5.5. explains some sports can cause brain damage and gentler exercise helps increase lifespan. Exercising past a certain point (7.2 MET) increases ischemic mortality 3 times. The risk of unexpected death due to strenuous exercise is 5 to 7 times higher than moderate exercise ► JER 2016;12(1):42-6. Many runners died within 24 hours of a marathon ► MSSE 1987;19(3):187-94. Chapter 15 explains that ultrasound, affection (touch early on, even first 72 hours of life) for infants, birth modality influence longevity, IQ. JAMA 1992;268(7):882-5 found women who're exposed to either of 3 combos: sauna and hot tub, sauna and fever, or hot tub and fever, are 6.2 times more likely to birth kids with spina bifida birth defects (2.8 times if hot tub only, 1.8 times if fever or sauna only). Epidurals early in labor increased cesarean rate 12 times in this study (25% versus 2.2%) ► AJOG 1993;169(4):851-8. Babies are numb around the mouth more often following epidurals, making breastfeeding hard. A bad birth increases the risk of autism ► Ped 2011;128(2):344-55. Netherlands had 70% births at home in 1970s and the best statistics in the world. AIM 2009;12(5):468-71 (PM) showed water births lead to less complications. Cesarean rate for water birth was 4.4%, versus 38% for air birth ► BMCPC 2014;14:17. ☺☺☺

PTRSBBS 2011;366(1561):9-16 says "Worm lifespan was extended first by 6 and now by 10-fold, and we now know a lot about the underlying mechanism, which involves DAF-16/FOXO's regulation of different types of cell protective and metabolic genes that appear to act cumulatively to affect lifespan... many long-lived mutants are resistant to age-related diseases, including cancer, heart disease and protein-aggregation disease, suggesting the possibility of forestalling multiple diseases all at once by targeting aging itself." A 5-year-old doesn't have the understanding of a 50-year-old, just as a 50-year-old human doesn't have the understanding of a future 500-year-old living to 800 instead of 80. The greatest gift in life is arguably Knowledge itself. It's knowledge that defeated death, that reduced child mortality by 20 times, that made our lives much better now than kings 200 years ago. The core of our soul and of God is arguably Immortality, which can also be thought of as the drive of all civilizations (Immortality Quest Forever Drives Civilization book on Amazon), hence the desire to emulate that Central Nature, Immortality, is there in all of us, and we emulate it by aspiring for a longer lifespan, more "Immortal". People pray "Thy Kingdom ("of Immortality, Peace, etc") come on Earth as it is in Heaven" or Avinu prayer "Help us bring an end to disease, war, and famine". Imagine a University School (or kindergarten, primary, middle school) whose website says under Mission

"Immortality School aims to build the Civilization of Immortals of the future. We aim to eliminate all obstacles to living to 900. These include diseases, wars, hurricanes, tornadoes, earthquakes, tsunamis, droughts, violence. We will prevent tornadoes from forming, tsunamis from hitting the coasts, negative emotion from arising, leading to a huge drop in violence and crime. We aim to eliminate all violence, war, prisons from Earth by 2150 if possible, to cure many diseases, slow aging and bring the average human lifespan (at least in the US where we're located) to 200 by 2300 (no crime too), 500 by 2800, 900 by 3200. Our 1200 year plan is detailed in section "Plan" of our website." The California Institute of Regenerative Medicine was created via a voter proposition, gave stem cell research $3 billion over 10 years. Likewise, California can pass measures to create California Institute for Immortality (or 900 year lifespan) Medicine. The aim of Immortality medicine is to discover nutrition and genetic pathways to postpone all aging diseases by 900 years as seen in longer lived worms who got less sick.☺☺☺

End of ideas for online outreach you can paste, edit in emails, etc.

"Why bother to do Immortality outreach?" a student might ask. Right now, 0 grants for lifespan tripling exist, so for many undergrads or grads, their whole life will mean working as a professor/researcher researching how to make a cheaper catalyst for a company that later may give up on. All that energy spent might lead to better understanding of some chemistry with other related longevity applications, but making a catalyst 10 or 90% cheaper isn't necessarily going to increase our lifespan a lot, although it could increase it a bit indirectly by making cheaper materials used by the lifespan increasing technologies and industries. After all it's up to us: do we want our life spent on whatever or on tripling human lifespan? The more these concepts spread, the more grants to lifespan extension research will show up, from Big Pharma (75% of Pharma world profits, 4% of population to finance CEO PALACES in Mexican Cartel Style Trillion $ Thefts) and Big Food too, since with anti-aging molecular wear prevention we postpone by 90 years several aging diseases at once (heart disease, diabetes, dementia, etc), not just one as with current drugs that focus on curing (not postponing) one single disease. A mitochondrial or endothelial impairment can trigger not just one disease but 7 (stroke, dementia, heart attack, organ failure due to failure of nutrients to reach that organ – i.e. kidney, liver, pancreas, etc disease, diabetes, gastrointestinal problems due to lack of nutrients for gut lining barrier cells, etc), and it's all a molecular process that diet can prevent at times, just as zinc intake triples lifespan from 25 to 75 as shown above. Postponing aging by 200 years is possible, but hard.

We can rename colleges to Stanford Immortality University (people would still refer to it as Stanford), California Institute of Immortality Technology (still informally Caltech), California Institute of Immortality, Calim instead of Caltech, Massachusetts Institute of Immortality Technology MIT. Many colleges are named "Institute of Technology". We're focused on technology in of itself, without having one single university name ending in " Immortality University" or "Institute of Immortality" or "Life Extension". Technology is neutral, it can be used to make life shortening food colors and flavors, useless gadgets that pollute, useless chemicals like ethyl lead that increase lead concentration 100 times in many environments and poison billions, shortening their lifespan. Without a focus on Lifespan Tripling, Life Extension or "Immortality" we're just having this tech for the sake of technology focus. Everything starts with a thought, why not create more Immortality names? For every town, state, etc one could have "Townname Immortality University", "StateName Immortality Institute" or "QualityName Immortality University" as in "Compassion Immortality University" or "Gentleness Immortality University" or " Tenderness Immortality University". In high schools and colleges there are lots of clubs about chess, bridge, card games, various activities that are meant to provide intellectual stimulation. But we can achieve the same intellectual stimulation doing Immortality or Longevity Clubs focusing on stuff more useful for humanity, like many of the ideas presented in Chapter 5.5. An Immortality Nutrition club could create a food company that doesn't sell foods with so much salt (causes hypertension), saturated fat (causes cognitive decline, Alzheimer, heart disease), AGEs (cause free radical formation and increase oxidative stress, increasing the risk of many diseases). Today we got lots of food companies led by people without a strong science background, and our food production is very much stuck in the Paleolithic. We advanced a lot in many fields, but in terms of food, we eat pretty much like 5,000 years ago. Imagine if a future Immortality Club member, after getting his BS or PhD in nutrition or biochemistry or chemical engineering, becomes the CEO of the next McDonalds, hires later 2,000 PhDs to create world's most science of lifespan extension based food company, with more science than the biggest Pharma companies, employing the smartest people around to enable 4000 year lifespan.☺☺☺

4.2.2. Outreach to cities, states to replace CASINOS/STADIUMS with Immortality or Lifespan Doubling Parks, Schools, Businesses & Centers of Learning, Discovery, Knowledge of Living to 90,000 Adventure☺☺☺

Before we ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ explain why gambling is a form of legalized genocide, this paragraph will explain what will replace these destructive anti-life (worse than nuclear blasts) gambling venues or vending machines. As people realize the Torah, Bible, Quran contain thousands (read these 70 pages to be shocked) of pure evil quotes, as moms become disillusioned with the beatings deified in the evil Bible/Torah (kids, workers, sex slaves) or the evil Quran (sex slaves, mutilated infidels, kids, wives), with the child abuse and violence against all, as more churches, mosques, synagogues close down due to clergy child abuse fines of 50 million dollars, as We the People boycott and bankrupt (with help from immortalist government 500$ million fines) all casinos, gambling venues, liquor stores, vape stores, brothels, strip clubs, and endless other useless businesses that prevent people from having a nice single family (their mini temple) home, we have plenty of space for Immortality for All Parks near City Hall of tiniest towns and in the major neighborhoods of cities or bigger towns, where adults, kids and visitors can get free medical care, learn free classes and develop their ethics. These amazing beautiful (eventually 1 million in USA) Immortality for All Centers, accept no donations, are an expression of the intellect of We the People, instead of the diabolical aristocrats, have the most relaxing healing vibe, of such eterni music and quotes, such intelligence stimulating holographic science shows and immersive virtual reality scientific hypotheses discussions on intergalatic soul travel, such eterni art 1000 times more beautiful colorful shimmering shapeshifting and amazing than Disneyland (or any church, synagogue or mosque), and exude the presence of the God of universal gentle tender soft nurturing healing loving kindness and Immortality for All (via the 11 companies and 3 agencies) 1 million times stronger than churches, mosques, etc, as only eterni tones exist in the background music and eterni quotes in all rooms and the meditative soul rest rooms. The stunning indescribable beauty of these simple free for all centers is so shocking that nobody even wants to go to those boring churches, mosques, synagogues, which look, in comparison, like dungeons and prisons of the senses and intellect, like torture cells reflective of the intellect of the "scripture authors", ultra noisy traffic noise concentration camps where everyone repeats, (in the same depressed unhappy tired tone of a slave subjugated by clever fake religion starting palace dwelling aristocrat) same sermon based on same 500+ violent quotes. Kids can simply socialize, learn, play at the 200000 Immortality for All Free Day Care, Kindergarten and Youth Centers we create, adults at the same Immortality for All Centers (city hall, etc), adult area, after we kindly demolish these useless churches, synagogues and mosques that keep everyone gullible, violent, scientifically illiterate, clueless, low IQ and ultra naive. We thank the more decent among clergy for their service, but we want to evolve past orangutan tones (pastor, rabbi), violent baptism (see insane pastor), thug priests slapping babies, unhealthy wood PAHs carcinogenic smog inhalation during rough singing that removed all grace, penis stabbings by clergy ("circumcision"), intellect destruction by Cannibal Simulation Rituals, other violent psychopathy. The Immortalist Youth Centers are where thousands of biomarkers are taught the meaning of, where chemistry and physics flourishes in the 4th grade instead of Bible-Quran-Torah ☺abysmal IQ☺, where all can have free biomarker measurements to prevent aging or disease, amazing holographic lessons, with simmering colors for every letter of a nice holographic 3D quote from the Immortalist Anthem, with, eterni tones (best tones in 10 million 20-30 year olds), of the videos created by the universal free (all grades, college, PhD) education videos for nursery, kindergarten school levels, ethics of no weed-no alcohol-no smoking- no sex outside procreation taught, the ethics of the Immortalist Anthem. Big cities will have more centers, and bigger centers, but 500 people towns, only 1. The Bible, Quran, Torah are not American, they were bought via violence to Asia, Africa, Europe, Americas, USA. Thru fraud, war, faking miracles, Jews/Italians brought the Bible to all nations. Quran emerged as a recycling of Bible plus Arab ideas (people dressed in green in heaven, kiss a black cube), that invaded 200 nations via war. We the natives of 7 continents know where the 3 religions came from: Israel. And equally kindly, we can simply invite them to return to where they came from, as we evolve.

Sadly, the landmarks (or buildings everyone knows and/or notices) of many cities are casinos: 80% of money lost comes from poor families. Gambling is a form of legalized genocide, of legalized grand theft from the ☺abysmal IQ☺ folks told they can win easily via deceptive ads*: it distracts the* poor from working on their lifespan improving and enriches the billionaires, who profit from selling junk products, foods, etc to the poor. 70% of lottery winnings are lost in 5 years (34 states make your name public when you win the jackpot too), as people waste money due to low IQ on useless products that don't support a longevity economy: luxury goods, big useless houses, yachts, fancy cars that kill people with smog, etc, products that are made by rich owned companies selling junk to 0 IQ lottery winners. Raise other taxes and don't find excuse that "casinos" and "lotteries" raise money for Natives or education, since we can raise that money via 100 other ways, way more ethical; it's a scam, since we know what natives or non-natives get with the so called Medical and other services, wait 6 months to see primary care doctor, etc. The tax on luxury items needs be tripled. The "40% goes to education" is a mere SCAM to tax the poor brainwashed to buy tickets. We can simply increase the tax for all to get this "education money" or increase 500% the tax on purchases of useless items by the ultra rich, such as nonelectric cars or even electric priced above 100K (some are 2-4 million), etc... that add 200 times less lifespan years as the purchase of 200 cheap electric cars that take off a lot of smog from the street, and thus increase the lifespan of the rich too a lot, as smog drifts sometimes to their neighborhood, if the rich is not in an area with 5-20 times less smog. Rich people, with a little more concern for the poor, will live longer too, bingo, we won the logic casino. ☺☺ A little compassion helps everyone live longer, rich or poor. The government can't be of the Slave Owners for the Slave Owners, like USA founders slave owners, it has to be a GOVERNMENT OF THE PEOPLE, concerned with the maximum total lifespan years added, not the lifespan years for the 0.1%. As shown in the fakery section, the "rich" are the intelligence community who shape everything on the planet to fake elections, benefit themselves. Washington was a spy, of the rich type, the rich spy on the poor and create new intelligence agencies to maintain their position since 1775 (the pompous Freemason founders), enslave the poor with alcohol, lottery tickets, vape stores, junk food, smog, bad tap water (needs a filter sometimes), weed stores, illegal drugs they control the cartels of, fake education, torturing the poor to death or poisoning them, etc. The bad "0.1%" category comes from a lot of "professions": singers, actors, models, judges, police chiefs, generals, doctors, lawyers, clergy, spiritual teachers, politicians, CEOs, etc. The whole ETERNAL WAR AND VIOLENCE structure falls apart if common folks, cops, soldiers, low level intelligence agents realize the vampires at the top are less powerful than otherwise perceived. Moreover, with centralized efficient education, we don't need money spent on shouting, parrot repetition, redundant duplication; we can build 1 million life extension labs. Let us use money for doubling lifespan, eternal education by INA too. Gently make gambling illegal globally, like in mainland China where casinos are illegal, but loteries are still legal and caused $7 billion wasted by in Jan-March 2023 alone, as people went to buy tickets to feel better. China is too busy with GDP to take care of people's blissfulness, so a lot of Buddhist/Taoist conmen 'clergy', emulate the Christianity ways, encourage Chinese youth to burn incense, depend on buildings. The clergy brainwash us that luck happens if we say some words to a fictional deity at a temple after you paid your donation of course so he can keep the lies going, while temple visitors inhale lifespan shortening chemicals praying to win a lottery ticket or amazing new job, when God, Tao, Buddha is within, not in temples. Build better housing, not temples? Macao still has casinos, due to a 50 year deal on autonomy, with the Portuguese gamblers that leased it in 1557: until 12-20-2049 China can't make gambling illegal in Macao, unless the Portuguese+local vampires agree. Is China taking steps to move people out of that industry and transition Macao to making ethical products or just blaming Portugal?☺

Let's shut down all casinos and state lotteries; how can anyone know if a lottery drawing is even genuine? They're a method to keep enslaved masses in a state of artificial happiness, while masses live 20 years shorter than with an ethical government. Those machines can be changed to give a preset number sequence too. The tickets can be easily made to match the set number by hacking even when random picking (though one can select by hand the preset numbers), so a tech savvy group can loot the country of 100s of billions. We can ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ argue that only a cruel unethical government of 'vampires' allows lotteries, gambling to take place, since these drastically lower the people's average IQ and make them think "no effort is needed to live to 500, and money is everything". Many emperors had a lot of cash, but lived to 60 only. Today, poor people, if lucky and not tortured by psychopathic rich spies, can live to 100. Money means nothing really, one can live to 5 trillion and be low income on another planet. It's the ethics of the civilization, its priorities that lead to long lives or not. Gambling distracts people from making effort to live to 500, to bring World Peace in 3 months, 0 violent crime in 15 years. Demon-crats are disguised Re-pub-licans. We need a real change, Immortality 4 All Party, or Eternal Life Party. Want longer life? Better housing, better education, etc? Stop gambling and drinking, demand immortality capitalism now from the 2 parties. Want to lower the power of the cartel owned local gov? Don't buy alcohol, casino, lottery tickets, support centralization via 11 companies, as the car section explains the end of local/state governments.

Wouldn't it be smarter, compassionately kinder to lovingly create MERIT (Immortality Test passing based) SCHOLARSHIPS for all ages (pass the PhD level or postdoc one) for Immortality, longevity RESEARCH in the labs we build. Let's tax alcohol, cigs, strip clubs, weed/vape stores, stadiums, sports facilities, 4000%. Teach meditation bliss from age 1 in all grades, so people are happy, without cigs, alcohol, weed, etc. Stop the genocide of the poor by the rich who push these on the poor, to keep them in a state of brain fog, jails, malnutrition, and paycheck to paycheck slavery and worship of violent music. Give people real policies, real efficient house building, not lies like gambling and lotteries, etc. Other junk landmarks (another form of lies) besides casinos are stadiums, but landmarks never are an Immortality, Life extension RESEARCH Center or University, etc since these awaken the masses from their sleep of millennia, from their state of eternal slavery and the rich can only loot and vampirize while the masses are in a trance and half awake. A Civilization of Immortals ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ places Education on Longevity and Immortality at its core, not in words, but in actions, policies and actual LANDMARKS TOO. So, in every town and village, the most visible, amazing & beautiful thing would ethically ☺☺☺ be the Immortality Park-Center where the Immortality focused Businesses, Nice Relaxing "Green" (which would have many purple leaves, orange leaves succulents etc to introduce some color, not all boring green) Spaces, Schools and University are located, maybe even the city hall and other departments that are central to any town. If stadiums remain initially, at least use them for some Immortality and longevity events too; but really, with stunning anazingly smelling (best smelling for aromatherapy and most colorful plants) gardens in these Lifespan Tripling, Million Year Lifespan or Immortality Parks, places to walk, stretch, meditate, do aerobic exercise or jog, there is no need for stadiums. They can be like China Town in every city, the Immortality Town, almost like a Shrine and Ode to Hypothesis Formulation and Testing that brings ever more accurate Knowledge of Immortality, the or a (depends on definition) savior of humankind, the bringer of Life Immortal. ☺☺☺

In these parks people can volunteer in physical activities like creating the perfect shape of the pothole filling material that is later transported by drone and attaches itself to the road (the drone takes picture with advanced camera and wirelessly sends what shape the nanomaterial has to take and then the guys 3D print it in the "Physical Exercise as Altrusitic Building of Immortality Civilization Center", with the lab softening the outer centimeter of the perfect fit piece for perfect gluing and then hardening via laser on site and dropping some traffic diverters too). Why do we need Casinos as a Civilization, when they could be easily replaced with Immortality Parks (even Amusement Parks can incorporate living to 50,000 ideas, in fact they dissolve until we get 0 violent crime or focus on making products to achieve zero violent crime, for the most amazingly beautiful and amusing thing is being a human, not an animal engaged in violent crime and jailing people) or Knowledge where people can learn a lot about Immortality, and watch amazing beautiful Immortality related experiments (as we watched amazing chemistry and physics experiments as kids, just more complex now), take part in Immortality basic RESEARCH for a few hours, shop for Immortality nutritional or other products that were approved as safe for humans and showed pigs live 2 times longer with them, sign up for new clinical trials of new nutritional products or whatever therapies for slowing aging or curing diseases, etc? It's immoral to encourage people to waste their savings in gamblings, while the casino owner gets rich. The benefits to the owner karmically are minimal, even if he uses profits for noble GOALS, because of the damage he did that offsets any charity efforts. The Fun of Knowledge, Discovery and Learning is far deeper than the fun at a casino. So, there is really no point in even allowing casinos in a Civilization of Immortals. Another funny thing (or slightly puzzling) is how we got these Universities that are a little more into the Bible or Torah or whatever scripture, the more religious, and yet if you think about the prayers "our Father" ► "Thy Kingdom (of Peace, Immortality, nonviolence no prisons etc) come on Earth as it is in Heaven" there is very little focus on actually getting to manifest that Heaven within a timetable as we did for moon landing. "World Peace in 3 months" is totally different than "World Peace in divine time, maybe 4 billion years". One would think these people would be at the forefront of pushing for Immortality since the scriptures talk about it and 900 year lifespans, etc... but they're not pushing for this Heaven on Earth anymore than the typical university. We can't achieve goals without deadlines: vague "we will do it" GOALS can mean it may take 3 billion years. The 4.3 section has possible ways to address these puzzling contradictions thru university/school missions and goals becoming more timetable oriented. The people from 5,000 years ago were very primitive, misinformed, not yet aware of the physics, chemistry, compared to today, just as we would be compared to humans of year 7,000 who had 5 millennia of science progress. ☺☺☺

These Immortality Centers, Parks, Universities or Learning Areas would facilitate an interest in developing the most futuristic technologies that eliminate all hurricanes, tornadoes, droughts and any injuries in case of earthquakes, fires, etc. Ovoids around people can be invisible force fields that are programmed to not allow any fire in the perimeter (the sensors detect a fire and tell the person to exit), so people can escape. The shield generated by a device or clothing can be automatically triggered to deflect any falling object in case of an earthquake to prevent any injury. If buildings are made of these force fields, they can be programmed to absorb shockwaves from earthquakes and to deflect any falling objects. All ovoids (or spheres or whatever shape will be found best) would receive a signal earthquake started and turn on matter deflection. Additionally, with material science, a lot of objects can be made much lighter (some materials today are very light) to prevent having to use a lot of energy for matter deflection. Until the day of force field building exteriors, a lot of alternatives exist to absorb shockwaves via materials science and prevent any injury. The more people spend time thinking about longevity and avoiding any possible cause of death, the more these will become reality.

Such ovoids or spheres, etc can allow us to fly (cancel gravity), levitate, to set the ambient temperature, purify air, with technologies that are today pure science fiction. Molecular or atomic printers can materialize anything needed, no shopping needed, and no trash needed, as "trash" is dematerialized with the atomic printer that turns it into raw quarks for future needed objects. No more need of trash cans. People will have a lot of time to study longevity and other universes, living ever longer lives, etc. The tiny atomic printers and molecular ones can allow us also to live without eating, by recycling all matter. Instead of classical chemical sysnthesis, imagine having a quark assembly duplicator (atomic printer) that takes raw quarks, assembles them according to a template in any molecular shape we want. A printer takes ink and makes an image, a quark printer takes quarks and prints a molecule or a ton of that molecule as needed. Then agriculture is not needed anymore. We could live to 80,000 or perhaps 80 billion years, longer than stars. By age 10 billion, we might want to become energy beings and live in another universe mostly. Perhaps some physicists would say that this is impossible, since in stars we got some fusion and it's hard to convert hydrogen quark assemblies into other elements, but the universe is way bigger than we know and there might be structures or white or black holes that create matter faster and we can replicate that. Even without atomic printers, agriculture is not needed as chemistry/biochemistry advances. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

4.3. Visas for students and ideas on Immortality Universities/Departments

4.3.1. Introduction 4.3.2. Welcoming new students 4.3.3. Single rooms on campus 4.3.4. Ethics of the Immortals during Orientation Week and 1st semester 4.3.5. Majors and minors 4.3.6. Business Government Law studies 4.3.7. Electric cars, renewable energy, 0% food waste 4.3.8. Ethics courses, law and choosing a field of study (major) at Immortality Universities

4.3.1. Introduction

Imagine if a Civilization of Immortals is creating an instant permanent resident visa category (1 month to get approved, required to become citizen within 1 year and not ravel overseas for 90 years to not reveal research secrets without permission from FBI) for teens who take part in global Science, Engineering Olympiads, Contests maybe even some from the extended national teams, not just the top 5 (physics ipho.org), 4 (computer science ioinformatics.org with results, chemistry ichosc.org, Wikipedia IChO, and iuventa.sk/en/Subpages/ICHO/ICHO.alej, biology ibo-info.org), or 6 (math imo-official.org, results) that make it to the olympiad. In 2024, AI got silver medal at the IMO, showing computers will soon surpass senior college level in math (IMO). ☺☺☺This visa brings them to Immortality Unis (or Immortality Departments or Schools within top universities, just as we got Science, Business or Law Schools at Harvard) or a central Immortality University, the Harvard/MIT of Immortality, to create a powerful synergistic effect of Longevity-Immortality discoveries that take humanity forward. 90% of Habitat for Humanity houses are built by volunteers; likewise it is easy to see how driven college students or even senior high school students can build with some help 5,300 Immortality Departments (nice building) in the 5,300 US colleges. Imagine if half the time spent with sports is dedicated to building these Immortality/Life Extension/Lifespan Tripling Departments. The central national Immortality University (or School at some top Universities) would have a mission statement slightly different than others: "Immortality University (or School at MIT, etc) aims to build the Civilization of 900-year-old "Immortals" of the future. We will prevent tornadoes from forming, tsunamis from hitting the coasts, will eliminate all violence, war, prisons from Earth (America at least) by 2150 if possible, bring the average human lifespan (at least in the US where we're located) to 200 by 2300, 500 by 2800, 900 by 3200. Our 1200 year plan is detailed in section "Plan" of our website. No war means 90,000 aircraft, etc to prevent floods, droughts, fires, etc with techs we have not even imagined yet, so no more natural disaster deaths, as building tech prevents all floods, earthquake deaths and injuries. We don't want to just pray/visualize Heaven arises on Earth, we want to manifest it thru the daily focused actions of 12+ centuries and continue to perfect this Heaven of Immortals forever as lifespan increases more each century, enabling us to teleport, live on cosmic energy without eating some far away day as Tesla predicted, shapeshift like octopus can maybe and translate into other dimensions we build or discover perhaps. We're focused on ||Immortality for All|| to such a degree, on the right to live to 500 to such a degree, that World Peace becomes the most important objective, so all can have a chance to live and die naturally. Thus, we focus on World Peace in 3 months to such a degree that, until World Peace is achieved, our only Student Activity is the World Peace in 1 year (or 3 months if they want it faster) Club (Peace via ||Immortality for All|| ethics), since World Peace is the start of culture, civilization, spirituality and no kind altruistic human being can withstand the pain of anyone being "killed in wars or injured in violent crime or imprisoned for any reason (instead of proper education and prevention, and healing centers☺☺☺ replacing all prisons, eterni music all violent music). We realize that humans may cease to exist if we don't achieve World Peace soon, so we need to save humanity fast. Any extracurricular activity can wait, sports too, but 50 million a year Immortality for All visas and planetary unification can't."

How about playing chess, sports, cards, casino games, etc when millions become homeless and entire cities are wiped out? Does that sound like we care about God's fellow kids or are a kind humanist? With a series of Presidents who aim for 900 year lifespans, etc, this 0 prisons, 0 violence national goal (ever repeated in kindergarten, primary, middle, high schools, colleges by teachers, politicians, governors, etc, as with climate goals talk in all these places today) becomes the ever stronger reality, our Inevitable Destiny and we bring the Kingdom of Heaven, of Peace, Tenderness, Gentleness, Empathy, Compassion, Telepathy, Immortality on Earth☺☺☺. Imagine if instead of saying that "we want to expand human knowledge and offer the best education possible", colleges would have it also included by default in their mission (and all schools) "we want to cure all diseases and slow aging, so human lifespan can be tripled. Only thru living long can we make the fastest progress and advance human knowledge the most. The capacities to discover, to find the truth, to gain wisdom and understanding are inherently linked to the length of lifespan. If Tesla lived to 150, he would have advanced human knowledge a lot more. Perhaps some people say this is a little far out, but people pray for a world of no war, no famine, no disease, the kingdom of Immortality (soul is Immortal)☺☺☺ to come on earth 'as it is in heaven already'. If God is Infinite power and intelligence, God knows how to make it true and can make it true, no matter who may be against it. To achieve something we have to believe it is possible, then visualize it, plan towards it, act as if it already happened (we can still have back up plan in case of a delay), make it true daily. If we as a collective visualize/want such a world, it's possible to achieve it; if we don't even think it's possible soon, we take no actions this life to make it true. All things in our world come from thought. Thoughts become reality. ☺☺☺ We may not achieve 200-year lifespan by a given date, but at least we achieve no violence and 130-year lifespan. When I was 13 I believed I can win an MIT scholarship and then took action to make it true, got Max at SAT 2 (1600), became the only 11th grader in the nation to take part in the international olympiad of my choice. If I didn't first believe it is possible, I would have never tried it and taken actions daily towards the goal. Likewise, if we don't believe we can live to 200 by 2270 and to 4000 by 6200, we're never going to achieve it. No goal, no plan, no actions to get there by a deadline, means no chance to manifest it. With a goal and actions towards it, at least we achieve it one day, maybe with a delay, but without the goal and timetable, it will often take 200 times longer to get to the destination. To get to the moon, we set a plan and took action. To achieve bigger things we set a goal, timetable and take action. It's the same thing.☺☺☺ Immortality University can create a Longevity and Immortality Olympiad too, for kids who're 5-10, 11-20. They design new products, ideas and take tests in Immortality knowledge and skills, such as sciences, telepathy, healing, etc. Lots of high school students aged 14 or 16 create apps or build electric cars; why not build something related to Immortality and living to 900? ☺☺☺

Perhaps a good idea is to give 5-25K to those who need an extra incentive to come; maybe they come if their parents get some money or something if from a poor country and they're kind of on the fence and their parents are against them coming, give parents money to be happy; find all reasons people would not come and establish incentives to overcome those reasons because we need to save the planet from the scourge of disease,war, and rapid aging. The 1 year citizenship (now it takes 15 for many) is conditional on spending 5-8 years at Immortality University to finish PhD or Masters there, citizenship granted after becoming researcher at the Immortality University within 1 year of finishing PhD, Immortality University RESEARCH done as undergrad and grad student being part of the deal for scholarship (most people couldn't afford it anyway as salaries are lower or much lower in those countries). If we change one gene, as shown in Chapter 3, we get worms live 25% longer for each of 2 genes, but with both changed, we get 500% lifespan increase due to synergy. Similarly, having all these researchers into one global place to focus on Immortality☺☺☺ creates a SYNERGY of faster Immortality Civilization building than these guys becoming some chemist, biologist, physicist, computer science guy at random poorly or well-funded funded universities all over. The Civilization would need outreach too, as people don't know about this visa category. Requirements could be totally different from a normal university, they would do more research than at other universities from the first month, way more, like a grad student. Since people preselect major, it's the hardest university to get into, because the tests are much harder than SAT 2 Chemistry, Physics, Biology, Math, for the major one majors in etc. can't use SAT 2 for entrance, as it's too easy. Max (or one mistake) at SAT 2 would be required. It would be the hardest university to get into in the world, maybe 10 times harder than Stanford (4.3% in 2018), MIT, etc. For Chemistry, Math, Physics, Biology, any discipline, the entrance exam would be like the International Olympiads, i.e. much harder than SAT 2. Those who got medals at Olympiads and certain engineering contests would not have to take the exam for that subject of their preselected MAJOR. Maybe there is an Ethics Exam, easy to pass, as these kids learn fast from the reference materials on Immortality Uni website. This Ethics is good to study for a week or more before coming to the university. No University has an Ethics test as part of admissions, so Immortality Ethics, based on booklets on Immortality Uni website, could be added. This test could introduce the student to the trillion possible hypotheses of multidimensional potential consequences of every action, even 50,000 year consequences for the Civilization of Immortals and their individual soul, whatever that civilization may be found to be like by science over the centuries. All will see the enormous impact every action/choice has on humankind's next trillion years.

4.3.2. Welcoming new students to the Immortality Department/University

When people come to Immortality University or Department (which only admits very few a year initially, quality not quantity, medalists mostly or contest winners in various teen competitions, focused on real results on reaching average lifespan of 150 initially, and 900 later), the first thing that happens could be the Immortality University sends the Immortality University Electric Bus to the airport. The Bus is playing Gentle Immortality and World Peace Music (maybe something like Immortalist Anthem). The amazingly beautiful colorful bus, with purple, blue, green, yellow, etc and the Logo of Immortality University will take the people to the Campus for Orientation Week. For the foreign students who came from overseas, this is their first impression of America. The moment they step off the plane they begin to form the first impressions of what may become their lifelong career, working with Immortality University to bring a Civilization of Immortals. So, what kind of impression do we make? That of Immortality University, with the most amazing beautiful Science Formulas and Ethics Quotes filled bus, and words about living 900 years or an Immortal 4500 years old talking to a 400 year old "teen"☺☺☺ of the Immortals civilization saying wise stuff; shimmering flashing LEDs displaying some chromosome region related to longevity, some of the longevity genes and chemical compounds regulating aging, telomeres, the worms living 10 times longer, physics formulas, teleportation experiments, etc. A bus like no other in existence, the unforgettable bus, that only Immortals to become can create, looking 9,000 times more shimmering, glittery than the most colorful hair pins with shining crystals; a bus that can later project movies of scientific experiments in 3D, and explain them. With this dazzling experience, the geeks amazed at the bus built by the older geeks at Immortality Campus pass thru the town and arrive at Infinity Immortality Avenue, a street without a number, because the number is Infinity. Here is where the bus stops and where a path leads to the Entrance into the Immortality University. The surprised geeks walk thru the Immortality Ethics Archway that is the Central Most Visible Part of the Campus as one enters the main building, the most Heaven like and Off-World Area, unlike anything on Earth on any campus, all achieved actually thru very cheap materials and the Infinite Intelligent Creativity of older students who prepared the arrival of their new team members, the team of the Civilization of Immortals. Imagine, when we would enter MIT, on 77 Massachusetts Avenue, there would not be a street there, but a good sized green area (maybe 0.3 by 0.3 miles or bigger, a little park where there are lots of trees and maybe shimmering solar trees that glitter day and night and reflect the Immortal Aliveness of Immortality University, enabling students to relax and practice telepathy walk every day, perhaps like these mymodernmet.com solar trees) with a paved lavender central alley (made of a colorful purple solar panel maybe to produce some electricity, with golden bricks by the side; a lot of campuses have wide paved alleys that could have amazing colorful solar panels overhead to provide protection from harsh UV rays and heat) on the side of which are trees and also these "Immortality Monuments" if we can call them that way, dedicated to the essential Qualities a mortal needs to develop to become a 90,000 year old Immortal. The First very colorful (a little bit like Disneyland) Archway could be about Tenderness (with these letters flashing in neon lights or holograms or whatever, besides some Longevity related science), next one about Altruism, then Gentleness, Eterni Tone, Compassion, Hypothesis Formulation and Testing (before believing without proof), Questioning Everything, Softness,☺☺☺ Grace, Sweetness, Nonviolence, World Peace, Veganism to diminish suffering of animals and make blood spilling by humans unheard of on earth, Focus, Serenity (maybe something about Conscious Breathing inducing tranquility in the brain), Happiness (science of smiling) or related qualities in a way that magnifies with each Archway the awareness of WHAT A QUANTUM LEAP humankind has made via the tireless work of selfless scientists and geeks (things that reduced child mortality 20 times, etc) by each invention or discovery pof science fact the Archway Depicts. This is then a little like a Temple of Eternal Learning, where we learn that we can do much more so we reach 4000 year lifespans. For smart people, making this cheaply is not hard at all, first impression matters, they know neuroscience and how the brain works, so they spend a little time with this, hoping to inspire a Change in Monuments too worldwide.

As each Archway is explored by the New Freshman Group arriving from the airport, they realize each discovery has brought relief from suffering for millions of people who avoided early death and lifelong illness, giving these people hope and a chance to experience the deepest expression of universal loving kindness, compassion, gentleness, tenderness, altruism and abnegation coming from other fellow Immortal souls. With each archway it becomes more evident that science, Engineering, Technology, Math, etc are Arts and Spiritual Paths of liberating humanity from the oppression of ignorance, violence and selfishness. The Serenity Archway is very important as it emphasizes the discovery that ω3 and ω6 ratios in the blood affect human aggressive tendencies, that certain plants die in certain types of music, that animals run away from some types of music, and that music and tone of speech affect our behavior in very drastic ways, taking away or giving us the chance to use energy to relieve suffering thru Immortality RESEARCH or create more suffering thru conflict. Other important Archways are Compassion as a way to channel energies in constructive ways instead of anger, etc. The archway can be designed to give protection from the sun and rain. After this glittery shimmering neon lights amazing & beautiful series of Monuments to Immortality Ethics, Science, Engineering, we enter the building and are shown the soundproof housing (every student gets a room, not 2 students in a room), dining, etc on campus. The existing students (welcoming the new ones) can wear a pin on their shirt that projects a heaven-like hologram above the head saying in purple gold shimmering flashing colors "Welcome to the Land of Immortals,☺☺☺☺ Be Happy for the World is becoming a Paradise and no war will be able to extinguish the indescribable beauty of these resurrectable in 2 days cities, each house, alley with 1000s of shimmering colors" or something positive, colors like those golden or silver hair pins with purple, green, blue, shiny stones one can buy from 1$ stores or reprogrammable MIT discovered ink to temporarily give new colors to materials.

In the 1st century, people had simple minds, you either went to hell or heaven, nowadays they realize there could be trillions of destinations. Likewise, today we wear mostly 3-4 colors (unless we buy on Amazon a 3 color pullover, a white to dye it, or purple sweater, amazing blouse 1 & 2, purple neon tuxedo, magenta puffer jacket, men purple puffer jacket, gold men pants, men blue puffer, shiny lavender puffer jacket, fuchsia coat, purple tuxedo, lavender fleece, fuchsia blazer, orchid coat, lavender jeans shirt (UPF 1000 or 0.1% of UV goes thru, vs 20-50 for most shirts), purple jean shirt (UPF 2500, due to darker shade, prevent skin cancer), lavender gloves (UPF 153 = 100/0.65% tranmittance, UPF 50=100/2, 2% of UV goes thru), hoodies (% indicates cotton): lime gold 1 50% & 2 50%, beige 60%, yellow 60%, purple 1 50% & 2 80%, neon lime yellow 82% (best to be visible if you jog at night etc), aqua blue 100%, fuchsia 50%, orchid 82%, a paper says 80% cotton is much warmer in winter than 60% or 100% cotton, so read % on Amazon and wear the one that keeps you warmest or coolest, 100% is ideal for summer; reverse weave doesn't shrink and is warmer); for more, use search: hoodie jacket or blazer), white shirts, black pants, blue jeans, except the colorful dress (with 100s of individual colorful patterns, objects, etc) of women in some areas of the world that resemble nature's most colorful birds; as people's intelligence goes from simple minded 'one way or highway'☺☺☺☺☺☺☺ (that brings endless wars) to infinitely expanded, their sophisticated appearance has all to do with the tones of light and sound that bring highest lifespan and Immortality for All. People will be able to use real life (not metaverse headset) positive quotes and amazing & beautiful colors to infuse people with awe and wonder and speed the Advent of Ascending Immortality. By face (and later mind) recognition, the AI recognizes you talk with someone who likes purple, lavender, gold, so your holographic attire would change☺☺☺ to something with 5,000 shades of those favorite colors of that person and maybe some of his favorite sounds, tones, smells that you also like to maximize the feeling of wellbeing, same thing for your house when you have a visitor, see above and below. When talking to a group of people, the AI computes what colors mix and attire would bring happiness to maximum amount of people in the audience and that's what your clothes appear as in the hologram, even if everyone is dressed in lavender or their favorite color, simple clothes under the hologram for example, color invisible to others. This increases the fluid intelligence of the people as reality is no longer static and ONLY ONE WAY, like with black/blue suits, white shirts every politician wears or blue jeans everyone wears nowadays, but reality is like 1 trillion ways to World Peace, reflected in the trillion colors combo suits with infinitely complex designs. This way, people's "clothing" can change 500 times daily if you talk to 500 different people to create the perfect healing effect for that mind. This also reminds people of the infinite beauty infinite intelligence creates, the higher the intelligence, the greater the tranquility and beauty, the more complex the beautiful and peaceful designs, thus heaven realms (the world of shapeshifter Immortals) are infinitely more amazing & beautiful than our world. As tech advances, we will become shimmering shapeshifting beings made of other forms of matter or energy, able to change physical body appearance even daily, so as to visit a primitive planet to appear as a local, out of love, to make people comfortable.

The longevity color section explains colors,☺☺☺☺☺☺☺ how we develop color preferences, how lightbulbs, interior colors may affect longevity, based on genome. Similar tech to the ☺ shapeshifting ☺ clothing might be used for ethical development, deeper happiness, stimulating learning: perhaps when we press a button on a small software, our room turns totally different, as if the walls and floor disappear and instead of the room we see a library, or hall of a beautiful Palace or Temple or University of Immortality of our choice, with the walls decorated in the way we want, as we chose the structure in the software (sort of like today in second life we can build structures). And each wall (and upperspace) can have amazing & beautiful writings, quotes, 3D formulas, Immortality scientific facts, research papers on Immortality and Immortality Ethics or if we're more into a relaxing mode, we save this Immortality RESEARCH University Hall, and switch to the Meditative Immortality Temple structure we designed, to enter altered states of consciousness and stimulate the imagination in new ways. What this does is expands fluid inteligence, thickens the neocortex, Strengthens the Ethics of Immortality and the Thoughts of Immortality, the ☺Smiley☺ faces on Immortality Temple Walls, as it Prepares the individual for afterlife, where they design their environment and also for the future century when we live to 70,000 and can shapeshift and materialize everything we need, live on energy, etc. Even if the real wall dimensions are made into shimmering holograms that teach Immortality, infuse the person with positivity, tranquility, music based on facial moods detected by the AI (artificial intelligence), it would be a much closer step to understanding the infinite beauty of infinite intelligence, and what some heavens are like. Even today they have virtual reality tech that can immerse someone in a virtual reality environment that the creators of those goggles created. It cuts the need to always want a bigger house, car, etc and then stimulates one's altruism and wish to use resources to remove all diseases, wars, natural disaster deaths, accidents, violence, contaminated water, crops, areas, smog, electromagnetic pollution, traffic noise, building noise (better tech for sound insulation), etc. Not only that, but the device will also allow a different hologram to show the most shimmering glittery palace with diamonds, pearls, rubies, etc that sparkle like Christmas decorations on the outside of the house, for visitors to enjoy the new hologram, that creates a beautiful "palace" where the house is, enveloping the house, about its size or taller if nobody above. This would be 1 trillion times more beautiful than the best Christmas light show, or any existing palace today. The shimmering words will display lyrics of an Immortality Ethics Poem, of the Immortality poetry, similar to Immortalist Anthem maybe, like those decorations with colors saying JOY or whatever word, and display whatever the owner wants it to display maybe some science formulas, etc for Immortality, so that the neighbors know what Immortality RESEARCH Area he's into and can stop by his house if they want to chat about it. The amazing hologram will play soothing meditative music that helps plants grow faster, people live longer, feel relaxed, loved, peaceful, ready to be in a cosmic bliss state. ☺

No traffic noise, but the most angelic symphonies, each house with its very low volume peculiar music, a wonder to behold and listen to, a simulation of a street in an astral city, a simulation of "Thy Kingdom of Immortality come, on Earth as it is in Heaven". With mass production, this device would cost maybe 80 dollars, perhaps just two or more projectors in 2 (probably diagonal if only 2) or more corners of the house. It would also enable neighbors to post new Immortality ETHICS quotes around each day, to shift it, make a point, teach biochemistry, or anything through its holograms, so people can enjoy (as they walk the neighborhood) the knowledge and amazing insights and work together towards that next longevity target of living to 900 or 500 etc. With amazing smiley faces beaming 24-7 it makes everyone recall smiling, conscious breathing and tranquility, and brings the world of infinite joy, the world of Immortals.☺☺ The IQ of the people, their joy upon seeing such breathtaking beauty will be so greatly stimulated, that it will cause a revolution in Immortality sciences. Even today with smart glasses, we have virtual stuff built over solid physical stuff in virtual reality. This, however, would be without glasses.

4.3.3. On campus single room housing at Immortality Universities

All housing would be on campus in single rooms (to avoid sleep schedule conflicts), no fraternities for alcohol parties, etc. This is a research university, where people do mostly RESEARCH all day, so they need be on campus. It's not like at MIT where they teach freshmen and sophomores things others learned at 14 and you need waste so many resources to teach so many students so many basic things many learn alone from books at the library, internet or youtube videos etc at home. The normal universities use grad students to assist in teaching, since many of these students are like the 18 year old UCLA professor, they can be teaching some classes or most of them to others in areas they know best, record videos of the classes for students who were busy in some research and didn't make it, and also, do a lot of learning on the latest research in the most relavant fields to doubling human lifespan, such as doubling lifespan of rabbits, mice, etc, simulating human being's aging, causes, etc. The best anti-aging and related tech professors have papers, online videos, etc and can be invited to give a one time class, every few years or months for 5 hours. These are self-learners who don't need a lot of babysitting to setup their own research, only a little prompting and thus it reduces the need of a lot of training, staff and full time expensive faculty, especially in the initial stages, which are like those of a start-up, everything small scale. At MIT and other top schools, out of all time and effort spent, less than 0.5% goes to actually human lifespan tripling RESEARCH, possibly something like 0.1% if even that. Perhaps 10-20 undergrads study something related to tripling human lifespan, with maybe 200 out of 5,000 grads studying something related, but not really wholly focused on that, usually part of a grant that is very specific, a new biotech, or something and not focused on doubling or tripling human lifespan. The problem is in life we can't achieve a moon landing if we "research fundamental things in science", we have to aim to research and manifest a "moon landing". Similarly, research for the sake of chemistry, biology RESEARCH, as at current universities, without focus on lifespan doubling, isn't enough to double human lifespan within a reasonable time frame. These things are an obstacle to making real-life extension progress, this type of school where there is no clear goal of lifespan doubling.

That's why a small Immortality University could actually take humanity much closer to doubling human lifespan than all top 20 US schools combined, because here 100% of students do RESEARCH, not just some as at MIT and very few as at other places, and not 10-20 hours a week, but 40+ hours a week. Every undergrad is like a grad student at MIT essentially, just focused on what eliminates the most suffering: ending disease and rapid aging.☺☺☺ The difference is the Immortality undergrads do RESEARCH on lifespan extension chemistry, physics, biology, NOT on flavor chemistry the professor got a grant from some company for. This then makes the progress much faster, far faster than any existing university whose goal has nothing to do with lifespan doubling or extension on their website or actual day to day policy within departments. Some undergrads at Immortality University could study about lifespan extension thru "conflict, violence prevention via neuroscience such as understanding human brain and why negative emotions arise, influence of 0/tiny ethics education, violence ridden media, restless music, poor nutrition, violence filled literature, etc on behavior". Others would study preventing unethical products leading to shorter lives, hurricane, tornado, earthquake death prevention via life sciences too, but they would be a smaller percentage, maybe under 30%, since 70+% would be into delaying aging through preventive medicine methods (like some removed arterial plaque via a healthy vegan diet that would have required bypass surgery, in 5 months, while others eat bad for 30 years and have 5 such surgeries and still got the plaque and hypertension and etc), thru recent life sciences longevity methods, (like methods that made some organisms live much longer, reducing cellular senescense (sort of like Aubrey DeGrey ideas), there are at least 25 methods to make it to 200 one can research), and postponing the typical wear of organs that fail at 80 or 100, etc. The heart disease reversal section has several mind blowing examples of curing heart disease via a low fat high fruit veggies vegan diet alone. If we live to 300, or so, we spend 30 years to get used to being human from a small baby and 270 years to evolve in understanding. With 80 years lives as today, we get only 50 years of evolving understanding after the first 30 years of getting to get a basic idea of what human life is like. This vast difference of 270 vs 50 is 5.4 times longer time to develop understanding☺☺☺ and wisdom, knowledge and qualities of an Immortal, and completely changes the quality of a civilization. It's like instead of completing only primary school, we complete PhD. Immortality University will remove bureaucracy common in Universities, that it may do 90 times more RESEARCH on doubling human lifespan than America's 20 top schools combined. They're into results, driven by superhuman focus and dedication to RESULTS. Another possibility is for 2-3 nearby schools, like Stanford & Berkeley, Caltech & UCLA, MIT, Harvard & Tufts to create "The Harvard-MIT-Tufts Immortality School" as a joint effort, as they have sometimes created joint programs, institutes.

4.3.4. Ethics of the Immortals Course during Orientation Week and first semester

During Orientation Week and the first semester Ethics of Immortals course, students could learn about the scientific studies about the benefits of prayer, meditation, conscious breathing, etc and the physics of consciousness with its similarities to Newton's Third Law of Classical mechanics. This way people can learn that positive thoughts, smiling, conscious breathing, meditation can lead to very deep bliss states and that people who meditate have younger brains, live longer, age slower. Everyone would be given earplugs and eye mask for free if they want them, to meditate and remove all distractions that may exist, the slightest possible noises, etc. ☺☺☺ The University could devise the least polluting wireless network for best meditation. Chapter 12.11 covers RF pollution and the need to replace WiFi and cellular networks with LiFi and wired connections in kindergarten, schools, etc, as done already by smart universities, colleges. France and Israel banned wireless in day care and kindergarten.

Isn't it odd when we go to MIT, many middle schools, high schools, colleges, we're required to take many subjects but not 1 class/course of ethics? We're required to memorize so many things of the past but not one class to imagine or test or hypothesize ways to bring the future world of no war, prisons, crime, violence and disease where we live to 900. How can we bring a world of tender gentle soft nonkilling no prisons no war no disease 200-year lives or 900 and nonviolence if this is NEVER MENTIONED as a goal? We have many people spending their whole life studying 5th or 12th century literature or Paleolithic pottery styles, but we don't have people writing a 8,000 page book of case studies that would clarify what is ethical to do in a Civilization of Immortals in a Mayor, Product Development Manager, Scientist, University President, CEO, Hospital manager, etc situation with concrete examples. How can we create the peaceful future of 150-300 year lifespans if we're focusing hundreds of billions of dollars in education on the past so much, the past of short lives and eternal war? War can become the rehearsal for the ultimate self-destruction of a species; as the technological ability increases, so does self-annihilation risk increase; so then it becomes a matter of life and death to change a planetary culture to one of nonviolence, gentle tender softness to prevent the end of the species, to instill the ethics of nonkilling and nonviolence, even slow killing thru bad products, into every part and parcel of the civilization of the planet. Maybe trillions of aliens had the same fate and blew themselves up, their whole planet, as they failed to move to an Immortals' Ethics before tech became strong enough to wipe everyone out in 1 minute. It's hard to find aliens nearby. Did they blow themselves up without wanting to? Since now each country can see other countries' textbooks and educational materials, it's very easy to create a verifiable International Agreement to teach Life Extension, Immortality, Nonviolence, Help All Hurt None Ethics in all grade levels and colleges. If such an agreement can't be arrived at, then naturally, one country or group of countries can implement it and teach also that the rest of the planet is not following this Immortality Ethics and thus we can't share everything with them, since the "mortal ethics followers" will be far more willing to use killing and destructive methods against us, which puts us nonkilling adherents at a huge disadvantage. It would seem xenophobic to teach "those outside the Nonviolence Alliance or our Country (if the only one with the new ethics) may be pro-war, so ☺☺ lovingly gently don't share anything except Immortality and Nonviolence Ethics mainly". In reality, it would not be xenophobic, but the highest expression of infinite compassion and love for all human beings, as info and knowledge with dual use would not be put into the hands of those much more eager to kill, misuse knowledge and bring about the end of the human species. It would promote the country or countries that maximize the chance of the survival of humankind and guarantee the human right to nonkilling and not being killed in war or gang violence or by disease preventable or by bad product, etc. The other countries will naturally see the advantages over time, as the Immortality Ethics countries people live 2-10 times longer. So, one doesn't need to wait for 15 or 700 years for some big international agreement to do it and reap the benefits, such as the lowest crime and violence in any nation, perhaps 0 violence. It would naturally require a much deeper insularity and protection of one's Immortality, Longevity☺☺☺, Nonviolence and Gentleness educational system, culture and values if one is the only country implementing it at first, to prevent contamination and much higher awareness of how different the rest are, with appropriate measures. The 1st country using nonkilling as a covert or overt strategy helps humanity avoid its end and bring global nonkilling.

Compared to a world of Immortals or 900-year-old humans, where there is no violence, crime and lies and everyone is honest and kind, any country existing today would appear so incredibly bad, almost as if "evil" reigns supreme there (i.e. every country today), "evil" being a result of lack of knowledge of how to manifest the ideal paradise. Today, we may look at the world, pick the worst country, and say evil reigns there. This reflection makes us aware that the pride some have in their own "ruled by good country" acts as some kind of self-congratulatory mechanism to justify not doing more to improve the catastrophic (by the future humans' standards of "evil") situation of the present. That's why perhaps they say that remembering humility is often very useful. If you look at war/violence as a disease to be cured, as we looked at many diseases we cured via a vitamin, vaccine, plumbing or sanitation, it becomes a much more science like adventure of hypothesis formulation and discovery, instead of one based on models that may not be backed by 100% scientific evidence. To discover the spiritual universe we use the same hypothesis creation and testing as with the physical universe, the scientific method is universal in any quest of any type of knowledge. War/violence is a disease like scurvy (lack of vitamin C) or polio that we cured via knowledge. We set real GOALS to eradicate polio by a given date, in our lifetime and we did it. Why can't the same be done with war/violence disease of the human collective? ☺☺☺ The Immortals never get angry; they use healing only, no violence.

One of the things that many have noticed in engineering is that if we have an emergency, and we need to fix a malfunctioning part of a system or power plant, we need rapid assistance from experts who dealt with that issue before or a similar one, otherwise, we have absolutely no way on earth to figure out in 3 days how it happened, if it took people decades of experiments we can't make in 3 days to arrive at that knowledge. So, without their expert knowledge to save the plant from an explosion costing a billion dollars and several years to fix maybe, we're going to get into big trouble. In a similar fashion, in day to day life, we come into situations like these when lack of expert knowledge can lead to the equivalent of the power plant exploding, even if it's less than that in some circumstances. How is this happening? We oftentimes get 0 education in ethics and have no exposure to ethics thru religion that much either, as the global educational systems are not making ethics into a science or course that is absolutely required in every grade level, every college semester, even if 1 hour a week only. So, when a situation arises where the ethics of it is very unclear, due to never thinking about it, never taking a course on it to get "expert knowledge" on how it might be the best way forward, due to the stress of the situation and trying to please people around, many people make "power plant explosion causing" like decisions that lead to catastrophic wars and lifespan shortening consequences as bad as wars, even if they're not wars themselves. Whose fault is it? The power of inertia, and the educational system, that for millennia hasn't really been strong on that. We usually can't learn ethics "expert knowledge" we would get from 20 years of case studies during 12 years of grade levels, 4 in college, 4 at the job at age 26, in 3 days when an emergency arises at age 26, it has to be lifelong. This then sabotages the progress towards much longer happier lives free from crime and disease. For example, a group of people gathers for brainstorming and the boss proposes to a subordinate named the peaceful guy an idea while mentioning it's a little odd, but he's saying anyway "let's invade country a, to get hold of resource b, which we need to produce product c in our civilization to continue prosperous lives". A guy who has taken ethics courses 1 hour every week of his life, from kindergarten to middle age, has a much more complex thought process when it comes to making a decision. He knows, without "expert knowledge", rushed decisions can result in "power plant explosion" or something even worse. So, then, the peaceful guy replies with "I believe we can easily find, thru science and technology, ways to discover product d, a new one, doing same function as product c, requiring no resource b, and export it to others as an alternative to product C everyone uses, grow our economy, not need to spend so much on war and not suffer the physics consequences of such an invasion, the world becoming a more lawless place and the killing of so many people, the turning of world opinion against us, the sending of message to everyone "force is the way to solve issues, war and aggression pays off", the afterlife consequences which could be catastrophic, having to spend 1,000 or 20,000 years to fix what we destroyed in 4 months. In real life to destroy a building that took 10 years to build can take 2 minutes, but to rebuild it takes years, in afterlife corrective actions, similarly we might have to spend 10,000 years in many places, planets, dimensions, systems to fix our mistake of only 1 year duration.

As such, to me it is really risky to engage in war, because while we would have a prosperous life and not need to raise the tax to fund this research, we would do so much more damage, that it becomes far greater than the good we did by having a "prosperous life" with product c. Moreover, product d might even extend lifespan if used compared to product c, exports of product d might make our lives even more prosperous, just like electric cars cut smog and remove the need for wars to take oil". The boss gets a little offended and then threatens whoever doesn't comply with firing from their position. Everyone then refuses to go with the boss plan, having heard the idea of the peaceful guy. They hoped this would change the boss' mind. Then the boss makes a covert threat that whoever doesn't comply will lose job and life too. Then the peaceful guy☺☺☺ starts an exposition on afterlife consequences that can't be proven to be fantasy. He explains that not only will people on the planet overall live shorter long-term as a result and the country be damaged by the force of physics law, action force = reaction force, but that also centuries later it all comes back (everyone will feel threated by the invader country, so they will ramp us their military spending and create war plans to attack the country that never existed before the invasion itself), and the boss may have to spend 10,000 years in a hell of his own creation, a purgatory sort of state where he has to be spirit guide and protector of the people living in the hell conditions created by the wars started by others like him. He would be denied entry in a decent afterlife realm and be told the way to gain entrance is thru this spirit guide work, or be given a chance to reincarnate in the country he destroyed, in the worst circumstances, develop product D in that country and free the world from wars over resource B, then do it over on several planets, as a good way to really learn it, taking about 2,000 years or sometimes 20,000 years. The peaceful guy also explains that he would rather be killed by the boss than start this war, because he knows it would lead to doing things equivalent to murdering 20,000 innocent people. He thought 1 person dying at the hands of the boss, himself the peaceful guy, is much more selfless than 20,000 dying. And this obviously will be good in the afterlife, for those who always save their life while having no qualms if their actions kill many others, may have to rectify their actions, also, 200 centuries, not just 40 years in purgatory or a single reincarnation, if reincarnation is possible, allowed or true. The peaceful guy explains then the reason religions and ethical philosophies of various societies taught nonkilling is that God knew one day people will reach a technology level where it will be possible to kill all humans in 10 seconds. So, unless Immortality Ethics (that perceives any violence against other humans as unthinkable) develops before that stage, the civilization will end in nothingness. None will be left. The peaceful guy explains to the boss that many people might think "i will do it because I'm afraid the boss might kill me" but that there is no way to know in the afterlife he won't be faced with his selfishness and have to spend eons to fix his error. Many people assume God will prevent the end of the species, but they can't know if God or spirits in charge of this area will evaluate people based on what would have happened if there was no intervention to prevent the end. The boss starts to think deeply about it and realizes he can't prove afterlife doesn't exist after all, so he apologizes and goes with the peaceful guy plan. ☺☺☺

This is a little story that depicts the value of ethics education in preventing the end of the human species or, for believers, catastrophic afterlife consequences like inability to move to certain subuniverses and time shifted realities until all damage is fixed, damage which is not always easy to fix (just like in Chernobyl we don't have the knowledge to decontaminate and solve the issue, we just put a shield around it) without knowledge not available at those dimensional levels one has access to, requiring waiting a long time, preventing the soul from learning more things. The peaceful guy continues his exposition explaining how Big Pharma never makes ads about people who reversed hypertension with a vegan low fat diet, or arterial blockages, etc but only ads about using "weapons against some cause of the disease, some medicines" and how arms makers also have no incentive to make ads about achieving World Peace without weapons (medicines for Big Pharma), i.e. by prevention. Medical education emphasizes treating diseases, not so much preventing them. Same thing with our World Peace ☺☺☺☺☺☺education, it's mostly about managing and treating a conflict thru peacekeeping and maybe short intervention and war, but not about preventing all violence in the first place. The peaceful guy then adds that our universe could be a simulated reality where people can have 1 or more lives, and that one's life doesn't have to be at the end of a species to cause it, one can be 1,000 years away and his choices would shift the second life ultra complex simulation to the timeline of end of the species when 1 guy presses a button that ends everything. Thus, a guy from 1,000 years ago could have shifted timeline towards that end more than a guy doing evil in the last 30 years of the species. Because of that, the time-shifted subuniverse consequences for those who have finished the maximum "game" time (maximum lives or years) will be independent of technological level at the time of one's life in that simulated universe/dimension. They pass the test or they fail it. What people often miscalculate is they think the end can't happen in our lifetime, we're not there yet, so we can do anything, etc... but it doesn't matter when or if it happens, rather how one contributes to it as calculated from any "game" point in the relative time of the simulated reality, calculated in the absence of divine intervention.

Because the civilization doesn't teach Immortality or Longevity or nonkilling ethics, when people make a product, a flavor or food color or medicine even that shortens lifespan more than it increases in a few people thru side effects, they think "it doesn't matter", but when one shortens the lifespan of 1 billion by 1 day, it's as if one shortened the lifespan of humanity by 1 billion days or 1 billion divided by 365 days, by 70 years per life, or 39,139 people by 70 years, or essentially killing 39,139 very young people almost. This shows that our decisions actually have consequences that are genocidal sometimes (especially when working for a company selling a product reaching billions or almost 1 billion), even when we never would imagine anything unethical is going on because nobody showed us the math and that it really has a catastrophic impact, far greater than we imagined in this world, and possibly even more so, for the afterlife, since fixing is not always easy to do in the time it takes to do the damage; as we know, to build or rebuild it takes a long time, to destroy just a tiny fraction of the time to build/rebuild. Some engineer or boss may create an emissions defeat device maybe, that will shorten the lifespan of 0.1 billion by 10 days or something, due to extra pollution in the air, and he may not realize it's like killing tens of thousands of people. What some people forget is that the wars don't just kill a few people, but they also shorten lifespan of millions or billions by a certain time (usually far more than a food flavor, etc), which makes the casualties far greater than what we hear, so wars are far more destructive and genocidal than they seem. People think of it as the lesser evil than a bigger war or the bad guys wiping out all progress. Why? No course ever taught it, that we can avoid it, as Longevity, Lifespan, Immortality, giving life only, not death, is not high on the agenda. How do you expect him to think about it? Everyone is flooded by so many things to do at school and in life, they don't have the time to develop a sharp awareness of how bad it is. Without a strong Immortality Ethics☺☺☺ or even basic ethics (with modern life case studies) education weekly at all grade levels, things like these will probably happen all the time for eons to come, and World Peace will be very hard to achieve, or freedom from violence, crime, prisons, etc. Someone has maybe 10 million following him or her on social media, and he posts something... or many posts, the net result being, overall, that those people live 4 days shorter each on average. When you do the math, the 10 million people multiplied by 4 days, 40 million days, divided by 365 days/year by 70 years = 1566 people losing 70 years of their life, most of their life, as if they died at 10 due to the flu or some war. Of course, people do more than post on social media, so they may do other good things that vastly outweigh any social media actions effects. We don't know how to calculate effects as Immortals would, them having lived trillions of billions of years, but it just shows the effect could be far worse than we imagined at times, or far better for good actions. A kind smile ☺☺☺► to lift others (in a store not even at a leaders meeting) out of negative emotions that can lead to violence (10 people see it, then they smile, they're seen by another 15 people, those smile too, and it grows, and it reaches the leaders of the world) could literally, thru a chain reaction, prevent a small war that leads to 5,000 dead or a big war with 5 million dead. This is explained more in the Smile Chapter. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

A real problem in our Civilization is that we waste the entire life of chemists, biologists, physicists researching the least useful things that are not increasing human lifespan, not curing any disease at all. For example, we have these people graduate from Harvard, MIT, etc and then they use their Bachelor, PhD whatever degree to go work for 50 years on making some new food color or flavor. Now, think about it, thousands of kids die of flu yearly globally before the age of 15, and we need a new flavor, when we have already thousands of flavors? What kind of Immortality, Longevity, Intelligent Priority system is that? The purpose of Life has often become

"me getting some new taste while others die of so many diseases or while others have to use daily injections for hemophilia when CRISPR gene therapy might eliminate that". It's lack of altruism. Ethics education at universities within the context of Science Topic Research is absent. The RESEARCH would require a strong focus on tripling human lifespan. It's evident if spirits exist who telepathically give discoveries to Tesla (think about his paranormal events in Chapter 14) and other scientists, they're not going to help Immortality University or Departments more if we do things similar to other Universities/Departments. The Ethics taught in freshman year clearly emphasizes we're not like in those biochemistry courses, where it talks about making a drug be taken daily to increase Pharma Profits, instead of a simple cure that is lifelong. We all know profit trumps kindness and ethics many times, and the goal or end-result (no incentive to move away from it) becomes managing sick people lifelong to maximize profits, not curing disease with one intervention. We need solutions that are cheap, available to all that will change human lifespan quality and quantity. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

4.3.5. Majors and minors at the Immortality Universities/Departments

At Immortality UNIVERSITY majors are not Chemistry, but Immortality Chemistry, not Physics, but Immortality Physics, not Biology but Immortality Biology, Not Materials Science, but Immortality Materials Science. We aren't going to invent a new shade of pink for condoms or makeup or whatever using materials science, but maybe drywall that is soundproof to enable everyone to get better sleep, (deep restful sleep is fundamental to brain function, longevity, health, preventing heart disease, diabetes, immune system weakness) get far less angry when neighbors or housemates or apartment neighbors are making a little noise unintentionally or due to a mini-gathering, etc. About 80% of humanity lives in improper housing, where the sound insulation is extremely poor and inadequate; same for heat/cold insulation (tech promises cheaper safer heat/cold insulation: glass looking cellulose, 5 times less heat transmission, etc). Not to mention the cooling and heating is not always optimized for perfect sleep in many places. Not to mention most of us, live in smoggy areas where particulate matter at 2.5 microns is literally killing us slowly as these gas and diesel techs take years off our ideal lifespan. At Immortality UNIVERSITY all RESEARCH is focused on the URGENT most pressing longevity needs of humanity if we're to live to 150 soon. We're real doers, real helpers. ☺☺☺

To balance technical education (science is an art anyway, as is engineering), they would get a minor or several in one of the topics: Telepathy (can be taught together with meditation and happy altered states in first semester of freshman year, as telepathy is key to scientific discovery), Societal Organization & Laws of the Immortals (no scary faces, no bad words or movies, no insults, no violence in media), Turning Prisons into Healing Educational Halls, Hands on Healing, Remote Healing, Future immobilizing forcefield tech (agitated aggressive people) to avoid killings after guns are banned (Immortals don't kill), Immortals' Ethics, Politics, World Peace Creation without any “nonhealing unkind ungraceful painful or harmful” methods, using Chapter 13 like ideas instead, Longevity, 900-year lifespan by interdiscipinary RESEARCH of many majors, Wormholes, Infinite Softness, Compassion, Tenderness, Infinite Sweetness and Gentleness, Afterlife and prelife Hypotheses, Superluminal Travel, Antigravity, Teleportation, ESP, Super nutrition mixes for 20x lifespan increase, Moving beyond eating animals or plants as an eterni who eats ultra techy stuff that gives us 10-50 times longer lifespan, Moving beyond Agriculture thru Biofactories and Subatomic Assemblers, Living without Eating in some far future as Tesla predicted, Precognition, Astral Travel, Meditation, Prayer, Terraforming Planets, Culture, Telekinetic "sports" in service to other Immortals, Poetry, Music, Art (Immortality Monuments, holograms that teach Immortality Sciences, science and tech are arts, but maybe a little bit of high tech shimmering stuff to simulate wormholes, Immortals of the future, etc) and Movies of the Civilization of Immortals. Another thing about this University is that if a chemistry or physics major wants to study something part-time via telepathy and RESEARCH, they can and then they can create a new course, or 3 which are basis for a New Minor. For example, one guy learns how to enter super-bliss states via conscious breathing one way, and then makes a course about it, since all are geniuses and teaches the others and they get credits for "Broad Immortality EDUCATION" outside of main major, for example, major being "molecular signaling and bioelectric fields for Immortality lifespans". ☺ A guy could create a course "Visions of the Immortals" with others, to present new ideas and inter-disciplinary projects to be explored as ways to 900 year lifespans and this would be a very relaxing way to get exposure to other fields and other ways of perceiving how the future might play out and what the "fun" activities will be in that future. This would help the brightest geniuses create the most inspired future paradigms of the Civilization of Immortals. Over time, majors in some of these disciplines essential to Immortality Civilization may emerge, but perhaps the world doesn't need more people to talk "government and arts" to achieve kindness, nonviolence, gentle tender speech tone, compassion and real longevity knowledge. We need results, the true artists of chemistry, biology, physics and engineering, which enable curing diseases and doubling human lifespan. We need Life Extension Careers, Scientists, Engineers, RESULTS, not "degrees". More than anything, we need RESULTS. If we exercise we may get a lifespan increase of 10%, or maybe more, but with proper longevity science we can get 1,000% lifespan increase. Because of this RESULTS-driven environment, we would set realistic targets like make mice live 4 times longer, rabbits, pigs and monkeys by the date of etc. Without GOALS, we get nowhere. When I was 13, I set my mind to win an MIT scholarship, then acted towards that goal, visualized myself getting it and acted as if that already happened. Same way, to get to 150 year lifespan, we need to have real achievable GOALS. We need to have many paths to that goal and explore them and use them, maybe simulations of humans, like in computational chemistry we discover new catalysts.

We could build a powerful cellular and molecular simulator of human beings, since we can't wait 300 years for a monkey to live 5 times longer. Nutritional mixes that prove rabbits can live 5 times longer, if safe for humans, could be used too, if people want to try them, and are deemed ultra safe after the first clinical trial for 3 years etc. Perhaps the first people who will live to 200 will be some of these selfless volunteers who had the audacity to try something new. Mice & rabbits live 2 years or so, so 5 times longer means we have to wait 10 years. Simulating the aging of a human being (and speeding it up since we can't wait 400 years) at the molecular level as a result of a nutritional intake or medicine intake is something extremely difficult given present technologies and computational resources and knowledge about each cell and its molecular structure. The European Union has spent a billion or so on simulating the brain on a computer based on the limited info we have. ☺ However, when we gather into ONE PLACE world's smartest teens and make them world's smartest Immortality scientists, we will do it. In Chapter 12 there are a few hundred studies showing what devastating lifespan consequences come from lack of proper nutrition. A slightly lower intake of vitamin B_1 or vitamin B_2 for moms can mean fetuses have double the congenital heart defects. Longevity needs to pay attention to the first 21 months of life nutrition much more, from conception to age 1 too. Every freshman at Immortality University would be required to take a nutrition class, to be aware of the science of longevity and what catastrophic effects come from improper nutrition, endless avoidable needless diseases and birth defects. We have these super great professors whom we lose at 65 or 70 due to their total ignorance of nutrition. If they and their parents had more knowledge, they might have lived to 98 and made more discoveries. MIT and all kinds of places require learning about mass murderers of the past in history classes, but no class on Longevity thru Nutrition exists in the required or elective classes for the Humanities and Social Sciences requirement. What kind of Civilization is that? Are we promoting death or life? Where at MIT, Harvard, Caltech are students required to write an essay about the Civilization of 900 year old humans of the future? How can we bring the future if all we study is the old stuff and ways and people are not letting their imagination run wild and create the future faster? We can be instruments helping a global revamp of educational systems to promote Life not death, Prevention not cure, Hypothesis formulation and Testing not blind belief, Tenderness Gentleness not aggressiveness, Forgiveness not revenge, peaceful music not one that agitates emotions and makes us restless, nonkilling and nonviolence instead of war and violence, Compassion not anger, conscious slow breathing for maximum emotional tranquility and smiling not rushing everywhere, etc. Then it will be so much easier to achieve long lifespans, World Peace too.☺☺☺ Imagine how many Immortality Universities and RESEARCH Centers we could have built with the materials used for sports facilities on-off campuses, stadiums. ☺☺☺☺☺☺

We can ask ourselves: is it a good return on investment to spend so much in sports, and exercising when they only increase lifespan by 5-15% (can shorten it too due to Alzheimer from concussions in some sports), and invest so little in nutrition which can lead to 4,000% lifespan increase (see the bee example in Chapter 11.1) and some new CRISPR therapies that could lead to 1,000% lifespan increase, like with the worms living 10 times longer? If we do the math, the answer is clear. Ironically, we spend 30-100 times more on each of the following: smoking, alcohol, illegal drugs, gambling, sports, video games than on lifespan doubling RESEARCH. Why is playing football more important than curing flu so no 7 year old kids die from it? Why can't we teach compassion and chemistry early on and have kids play video games that help science and that help cure the flu, and do fun activities like legos use for building new particle accelerators and new flu RESEARCH centers, in the presence of adults who help them, as a learning of the Virtue of Use of Physical Energy to Help others, instead of having fun oneself, developing more altruism, more compassion? Worms that lived 10 times longer were also far healthier. Longevity RESEARCH can make us live longer and healthier too. The scriptures don't talk about modern sports, but about Immortality a lot. How is bringing the Kingdom of Immortality on Earth as it is in Heaven, the kingdom of no war, famine, disease if we're not focused on it? ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

4.3.6. Business, Government or Law Schools of Immortality Universities

In business schools and economics classes worldwide, they could teach about the advantages of 900 year lifespans. When we live to 80, like today, in the first 18-20 years of life the society has to invest a lot of resources in raising a kid to adult stage without getting any real work done by the kid. Then the worker is trained and achieves a productivity. But if we don't go thru this 25% of lifespan lost as a kid, and we live to 900, we have basically a saving of about 200 years of costs incurred by society. It's much better to have long lived people or workers for a company or university, as we don't need to teach or transfer the knowledge of an expert for 20 years so often. If we want to bring about the future of 900 year lifespans fastest, we definitely would benefit from discussing the advantages of such long lives in every subject taught at high school, university, in every major, to make it everywhere present in our culture too. People may get part-time or full time 5 PhDs in the future, when we live to 900, but they still produce a lot of research papers for society, do a lot of the work for the professor supervising the research, etc. Most research is done by the graduate students and postdocs anyway, as most people know.

People might wonder if it is wise to have a hks.harvard.edu like school of Immortality Government. Why talk of the Government of Immortals in a government major, when we can't even live to 150 yet or 120 on average and we have so little Immortality sciences majors and careers to begin with? It seems premature. Via talking with other majors during minor courses, these students can learn more things, start better companies, create new schools, and become Presidents or leaders without any formal education in " Immortality government"; they can learn some of the existing mortal government ideas from textbooks, etc. Via Telepathy, in the required telepathy class (to achieve better precision, loving kindness and prevent unhealthy telepathy diffusion), they might discover much more amazing & beautiful things than written in any book. Compassion, gentleness, altruism, smiling, telepathy habits in Chapter 16 are all things that one learns in life better than from a book. Naturally, getting more scientists and longevity geeks as Presidents and such would be nice, as it would increase funding for these projects and Immortality Parties, Universities, Schools, Movies, but that President doesn't really need to be a major in "government", he can be a biology, physics or chemistry or engineering major and teach and tweet and talk about his interest in physics of superluminal travel or the chemistry of some telomerase enzyme or something and how this brings the age of Immortals and 150 or 400 year old humans. In a Civilization of Immortals everyone is a citizen scientist testing hypotheses and it's much better if the New Paradigms come from Hypothesis Thinking, from people who understand first hand the big science challenges of achieving and maintaining 900 year lifespans. The world is saturated with schools to create lawyers, artists, politicians, etc when we have ultra few longevity scientists. Because of this, what money the immortalists got, they would use it 100% to focus on longevity science at this University initially most likely.☺☺☺

But if there are enough funds for such a Bigger Expanded Immortality University some day in case the other scenario of National Immortality Unis doesn't manifest, naturally it would expand to other fields, like Business, Government, etc so as to bring Immortality in all aspects of education and teach from new textbooks written at the University by these Telepaths who merge the future and the present and create new curricula. But the major would be Immortality Business, Immortality Government, not Business or Government. They would take all Harvard and other textbooks used and create New Immortality words, ideas filled textbooks, with the values of this Telepathic Civilization of Immortals. The problem today is our world incentivizes profit over longevity in all areas almost. So, the more we get these completely science illiterate managers who have no idea of what life extension RESEARCH is like, the more likely it is as managers they won't make decisions that enhance human lifespan, but that further other goals, be it profit (usually) or appearance or taste of food, etc. Say there is a surplus of 20,000 dollars for a small business, it could be used to buy a nicer looking gasoline car maybe that looks better or to buy an electric car, not as stylish, or to covert existing car to electric and use some money left to help employees live longer by giving them some nutrition video and supplements and a negative ion generator for every work area and employee (for use at home, maybe 3 per employee) to improve health and morale, making a little meditation space to relax and destress at work in a quieter area that is not used much for anything, while providing an online videos/books and/or 900 year "Immortals" library there in the meditation room. Because of this ignorance of life sciences, it's actually much better that start-up founders and executives come from heavy science and engineering who know what "Immortality" and lifespan tripling research are like, who will promote competent science aware people in key positions to speed up RESEARCH and development. Do you think a car executive making cars will prioritize human lifespan by investing in anti-gravity silent transportation? That guy studied "government or management" and has no idea of physics, chemistry, biology many times. For a genius in laser physics or anti-gravity, studying a few "management" books is not that hard, and then we get the best leader, who actually knows the real issues of molecular biology, physics of Immortality, computational chemistry for aging simulations, etc, instead of lawyers or whatever "history major" leading companies and nations (history = same old mortal stuff we have been doing, endless warfare and killing, no cultivation of Infinite Compassion, Forgiveness, Healing, Gentleness, Tenderness, Longevity, etc). A real obstacle to living to 900 is the lack of knowledge in various sciences (World Peace ☺☺☺ creation without violence, part of psychology science, neuroscience, etc) and it doesn't look like we can solve them fast without a new focus.

A change would be helpful if we want a higher speed of innovation. How have we enhanced the GOALS of living to 900 today? This is the question every manager and leader in any organization in any enterprise or governmental agency would ask him/herself in a society with a stronger longevity educational focus. Yet, is that taught in these schools? No. Did we really need a new fancy car design or would it be far more ethical or useful to human lifespan to make it electric so it doesn't shorten the lifespan of people via smog? Where is the ethics of car company or electricity producing executives? We produce electricity with coal or whatever to kill people slowly? Is that ethics? Science illiterate leaders can't understand how destructive these chemicals are for the human lifespan; they don't understand many times profit stays the same or increases when one makes a much more lifespan extending decision instead of the usual lifespan neutral or shortening one; this lack of understanding is because lifespan doubling or extension is not 1 course even, let alone 9 courses, in any business, administration, government education. What business, government school in this world teaches infinite compassion tenderness gentleness, having mercy for the people who suffer from asthma, flu, who die at 7 of flu, etc and whose asthma attacks and flu getting are more likely to happen when business decisions are oriented towards profit or "making fun products" void of compassion? We probably can't build a Civilization of 400-900-year-old "Immortals" without instilling this idea of universal compassion for human suffering (due to disease, malnutrition, aging, natural disasters, wars, violence) and teaching it from kindergarten to college, developing gentle speaking soft healing leaders whose boundless compassion shapes the business and government decisions and take us towards the Age of Eternal Discovery, Learning, Innovation, Hypothesis Thinking and Questioning every model or belief we have. It seems that we need a new approach if we want to live longer and healthier faster. Immortality University, if it ever has majors in Business or Gov, has requirements for Life Extension Ethics, Sciences 80 times stronger than the other top business schools. This would facilitate creating the Leaders of a Civilization of 900 year old "Immortals", with ever longer lifespan, not a civilization of 100 or 80 year old mortals. ☺☺☺

Another much milder (less harmful than selling foods that shorten lifespan) useless (but profitable) business activity example is selling fireworks. 10,000 injuries that were so big, they required emergency room visits, and 11 deaths were reported in 2022 in USA (73% around July 4th), so how can parents, etc promote these things? 100 people died in 2023 due to fireworks used at a wedding. A gardener lost his hand and eye by picking one up by accident, would parents want their kids to have that 'luck'? Fireworks are for the 19th century battles or mining (explosives), not for "entertainment". Australia forbids anyone from launching fireworks in most states except for 1.5 hours in some states, nationally, as all nations ought to do, so you can't buy fireworks yourself like in USA 100000 ultra low IQ folks do to 'enjoy being a 17th century guy' and in the process also terrorize the hard working people who need to sleep well, or to harass the meditative peaceful "World Peace in 3 months" people during days where it is technically illegal to use fireworks (these "0 IQ infantile brain" people do it for many weeks before July 4 or after). USA is the land of hooliganism, where no law is enforced, and hard to, with 20000 kings and queens (city mayors for 20000 cities) creating 20000 rules for fireworks (5 to 10 pm on July 4 only being the most common). More EU nations follow China, Australia in discarding fireworks and using lasers/drones with lights. Nobody can claim to have compassion for humans and light fireworks, much less be an immortalist: you have to be the ultimate selfish person, given how many thousands are injured and how much fertilizer is not made due to fireworks. It makes no sense, another "silly" tradition, or actually a form of subtle violent crime, polluting public air, damaging earfrums of people, damaging arteries and brains, wasting national resources, terrorizing the human quantum field. The fines for lighting any fireworks ought to be $1-90 million. The Immortalist Party will aim for that. When will humans abandon such "fruit fly IQ"☺☺☺ traditions? Check out 2025 German fireworks chaos. Even the government made fireworks in Australia and other nations ought to be eliminated for health reasons and replaced with ideas explained in the pages below. China uses less fireworks, has light shows 5 times each weekend in Shenzhen (no fireworks) and is moving to eco-friendly drone shows, we savages in USA don't get. All we get is violent music and Israel news, circumcision news and wafer rituals. While we sing about the fictional miracles of Jesus, China is building real fast speed trains (thousands of miles already, more than the whole world combined) and amazing train stations. The odd thing is that the media only shows only the worst things about China, since the aristocrats hate the communists, as it would mean their end and the victory of the American people. In Australia playing loud music in a car is fined 200$, swearing in public 700$ (a very smart idea to diminish violent emotional outbursts), yet in America, it's so common to blast loud music with windows open or from boom boxes, in public spaces and force everyone to listen to violent music. Yelling in public ought to be fined too, 900 for each person present, if a concert, then 90 million if 100000 present. Yelling is pre-violent crime. Not to mention, in USA, the violence of the music lyrics is purely demonic and infinite, it's far worse than swearing. Again, blasting music while driving, waking neighbors who nap with wild parties are forms of violent crimes of subtle nature, that need to be fined 50000$ at least, not 200$ like Australia does. As a naturalized American, I got the chance to hear the lawlessness of USA every year, when "not very high perhaps IQ" persons, are allowed to buy fireworks weeks before July 4th and use them illegally for a month or so, against the law before July 4, instead of being allowed nationwide to only buy them July 3rd or 4th via Immortality Nurturing Agency website INA.gov to protect public health, noise levels (only allow then 30 minutes max/day, New Year and July 4, until all cities are quiet after fireworks are nationally banned), with age restriction of 35, etc since it's an atomic explosion simulation polluting human species quantum field. INA is a more nurturing gentle healing tender soft name compared to the classical names like the militaristic police like 'protection' word in EPA environmental protection agency or Immortality Protection Agency; our planet has plenty of macho fanatical violent killing 'protection' energy and vibe and almost 0 nurturing hypothesis thinking nonkilling gentle vibe, so to build Peace a more healing name would help; we nurture Immortality, most of what we do is preventive action, not sudden reaction, so it is slow, gentle, healing, not violent as in war... we don't just protect it, we build it, we take proactive action to build Immortality and protect it centuries ahead by healing eterni speech content, speech emotion thought tone*, action,* eterni culture, eterni financial system*, etc, we don't just drop bombs or jail people (jails exist only in primitive societies) to protect it against some invader... we treat the* cause before it can become a symptom; we treat causes, prevent causes, not treat symtoms like most police and militaries do). Fireworks are an Ode to death, 'satan' if you're religious, anti-World Peace and 0 IQ or 'evil', as they resemble the sound of nuclear war explosions. 2 billion wasted yearly in USA. These people do it, without realizing they harass and wake up from sleep endless people who need to go to work next day; it's like the rock and roll music at 3 AM by MIT students, in the lawless MIT, the number 1 engineering school, where students were painting hallways walls in black and drawing demons in one dormitory, on the floor where the student doing 3 am thing died of nitrous oxide inhalation, after another died of alcohol during 'fraternity rituals'. The culture of violent disregard for others' peace, relaxation, disrespect for others' space, blatant invasion with sick sounds of others' personal space, of thousands at once, is a reflection of US culture, which will mean long-term US will have same fate like aliens, vanished empires, unless the eterni culture takes root.

Unfortunately, other countries imitate us, since we're not evolving. It's like loud music fans today blast it after 9 pm in night clubs harassing people who want to have window open and a

5" 1 watt fan to get fresh air... due to an antilife, not prolife, federal law that can't fine these night clubs 0.2 million $ per violation to shut all bars down after 9 pm, bankrupt them or force them to close at 9 pm, so all go to bed and sleep well to build immortality and peace for all or at least not prevent others from ataining it by sleping well, sleep is number one thing for longevity, so whoever disturbs it would pay huge fines of 4 yearly average salaries per violation; no loud sounds after 9 pm and before 8 am. Likewise, we got music super loud on campus during more normal hours and even after 9 pm until 10 or 11 pm in cities too, in their parties, since there is no culture of peaceful music and meditation, low volume, etc. This type of energy is what leads many students to want to quit college too. Why do people spend billions every year globally on fireworks on New Years Day and other celebrations, when these fumes (like thick smog) are harmful to human lifespan, shortening it? They will blame corrupt officials for subways not having air filters and reducing high pollution (2.5 micron level 70+ times above ground levels), but it would cost less than the fireworks each year: they could use projectors (very cheap now) and decorations, nice music instead; since it would be only 3-5 days, the decorations with "freedom" "Immortality for All" would last longer than Christmas ones, maybe 100 years. The sounds also are not very healthy, sometimes damaging the hearing and potentially the organs thru cymatics. Imagine if instead of these harmful fireworks (green ones contain barium, a toxic metal, many contain perchlorate toxic anion, illegal ones contain lead), we would give earplugs for better sleep to the people in noisy areas on New Years, broadcast amazing & beautiful TV programs about COMPASSION IN ACTION (or holograms of compassionate acts displayed in amazing light shows without using these toxic chemicals), soothing peaceful music☺☺☺ played with the healing tone of a mother singing lullabies about the tender gentle world of the future; or have gigantic sky hologram shows of biophysics or biochemistry experiments that double lifespans of worms, etc, or have kids take part in a celebration of Immortality Knowledge by helping worms or other lifeforms live 2 times longer in the town Immortality park. Fireworks cause "suspended particulates in residential air as high as 300% above the pre-fireworks level" and sometimes above limits levels for cadmium, lead ("Pb (lead) increased 158-fold"), manganese, aluminum, chromium "725 times the EPA benchmark of 0.2 ng/m^3 for Cr"; barium (toxic) increased 20 times, other metals 2-7 times in 2008 fireworks ► PHR 2012;127(4):440-50; if wind blows air can return to normal by 5 am (after the fireworks evening), otherwise, it can linger longer into next day, so wear mask and avoid going outside to prevent inhaling lead, etc, from cheap ("most fireworks products are imported from China" as paper explains) illegal (in their town) fireworks people use. Only 21% of supplements contained stuff listed on the bottle, imagine fireworks. They can have "World Peace in 3 months is possible" colorful decorations (instead of death related Halloween junk other countries banned) posted for 2 months of the year around September 21st International Peace Day and New Year Day and/or around each national holiday where instead of "artillery fire" sounds of fireworks and war sounds we have peace sounds of healing grace, more TV programs about how people celebrate the new year by installing negative ion generators or some air filters or double pane windows for people living in noisy smoggy areas, increasing their lifespan, more romantic songs about creating a world without violence and war together, instead of "he called me and I felt goose bumps" and other banalities that are rather self-centered and don't care about the quarter (or half depending on how you estimate) a billion dead in last 3 millennia of wars and endless genocides. Who cares about Opera and Grandiose Art Museums (Getty Center) if they don't bring World Peace and/or nothing about World Peace and Living to 500 exists in them? Like most people, when I was a teen I listened to some classical music, like Antonio Vivaldi seasons (which has some restlessness inducing passages and which I avoid, like most classical music too, as it's not ultra peaceful, gentle, tender) or the three tenors (Domingo, Pavarotti, Carreras, not the gentlest tone for sure, now I avoid all opera, except gentle soprano of spiritual music which is more eterni than intense soprano) and now I realize we have so many music concerts and not even 1 song is about caring about the half a billion murdered in wars last 2 millennia or World Peace in 3 months.

On the contrary, most music (including a lot of classical music even) brings up the more restless, aggressive, 'overwhelming force, minimal grace and IQ', "gentleness tenderness compassion healing" lacking or antithetical energies that make World Peace an impossible dream. Nonkilling, not using violence to solve disputes or disagreements is the most basic form of being civil or civilized, yet this is not a topic in most music at all and we have not attained even the most basic form of civilization if killings and violence continue unabated. What benefit do we get from art and restless music if half a billion murders will repeat next few millennia? Can we give up our selfishness and aim for something higher than a little high from listening to our "favorite music" and instead create music that makes us more selfless and tender, more World Peace creating and wishing, more "world without anyone wishing harm on anybody creating"? Every country wants to win wars, nobody to make global agreement to end all wars and violence; such a cruel and selfish civilization, and yet few notice this sometimes, except the hard core World Peace fans, the mood and cultural memes are like "let's party while half a billion will die in useless wars next few millennia". ☺☺☺ Why not build 80000 year lifespan centers instead of doing fireworks, why not celebrate life by extending lifespan instead of shortening it? Other examples of anti- Immortality traditions are celebrating God or gratitude to the God of Immortality by killing animals, turkeys at Thanksgiving, pigs or cows around New Year, Christmas, Eid, etc which unlike plants or their fruits, are a lot closer to human consciousness and affect us a lot more.

Imagine if car makers would make all windows UV proof. Most windshields block about 95-99% of UV. For the price of a lunch, one can install 99% UV blocking filter on the driver side window, since most cars block only 65% or so of UV for side windows. This UV causes DNA damage for those traveling a lot, a truck driver had the left side of face where sun hit totally destroyed compared to right one: this is the skin and MGs we will have for 200 or 500 years, this is unacceptable for a civilization of 200-year-old humans. Not to mention skin cancer kills 9,000+ Americans each year. The number of skin cancer cases due to tanning is higher than the number of lung cancer cases due to smoking. In the US alone, 419,254 cases of skin cancer can be attributed to indoor tanning ► JAMA Derm 2014;150(4):390-400. ☺☺ These tanning beds don't even produce vitamin D. Our body has finite antioxidants to fight off *r*eactive *o*xygen *s*pecies (ROS) generated by UV exposure of skin during tanning, sunbathing, outside play; if we get enough D from vitamin or food, we need no UV; the body stores of antioxidants are then wasted, with nothing to defend against ROS produced during normal cellular processes, thereby speeding cellular apoptosis, AGE generation, and onset of diabetes, atherosclerosis, brain shrinking, sperm/uterus ROS produce DNA damage and birth defects, non-skin cancer inside the body; some say "i didn't get skin cancer, sun/tanning is good", but they may have gotten a disease appear 15 years earlier, so instead of living to 115, they died at 100, due to the "invincible I am" illusion; look at 90 year olds, so many have poor eye health, how can you expect anything else with so much UV exposure and so little sunglass, blue light, car window protection? With IR mats and warmth we get benefits of IR, no UV; we can use a UV filter to make a nice transparent tent to bathe in the no-UV sun. Get UV window filter from Amazon for a sunny room to sunbathe in. Tanning/sunbathing may shrink lifespan, if diet D is enough and IR benefits are less than UV damage. Too much heat (IR) also can cause problems, due to heat shock proteins the brain, body have to make in a hot car (hence windows of buildings and cars need block IR in hot climates too to save on electricity used to cool car and dry the eyes) or on the beach, and oxidative stress that can cause eye floaters, dry eyes, faster age related vision loss, hair follicle destruction, and faster aging due to antioxidant depletion; thus, obsessive beach going 10 am - 4 pm, especially around 1 pm when UV/IR are highest, can shrink lifespan by years not 1 week. Wear UPF 50 clothes (jeans usually, see birth defects due to UV/heat section) if required due to job to be in sunny areas during peak UV time. Other people, have the opposite obsession, lighter skin, so they use B_3 creams that also can increase oxidative stress if some ingredients are unsafe. Car makers waste billions on design, without introducing a (car accident lowering per some studies) negative ion generator in the car, or UV protection. In Japan they install negative ion generators with almost every AC unit (even in the US now a lot of air purifiers come with these ion generators) and it would cost probably $10 when mass produced to install one in every car, because car AC produces a lot of positive ions with damaging health effects. The car makers save $50 by not blocking UV via all windows, but spend 10 times more on other far less important items with no impact on longevity. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

If we have no Immortality or Longevity training and education of these managers at Universities, what happens is they become like everyone else, following every trendy thing, without any one-

minded focus on extending human healthy lifespan, or a strong focus on human compassion for those with a debilitating disease (asthma from smog or positive ions). All business and government decisions could prioritize lifespan tripling in a Civilization of "Immortals". A civilization with a much longer lifespan achieves a much higher technological, economic, self-defense, moral capacity. Longevity is then a matter of national security. To prevent skin cancer deaths, all clothing would have UPF rating written on them or all clothes would meet a minimum 50 UPF standard, so people know it shields against the UV well. Immortality educated managers would prioritize UPF over clothing style. Sauna companies warn those who try conceive or are pregnant to not go there, as heat creates birth defects. Farmers, Big Ag, policy makers would work to cultivate the plants with most polyphenols, as the Immortality Test has educated them.

Another area in desperate need for Immortality business education reform is the food industry managers that put food colors known to have very bad side effects, just to "make it easier" to sell due to appearance. They actually might sell more stuff if they were honest and said we didn't add those to extend your lifespan, so color or taste may not be the wildest. People are taught or learn by default (due to human biology) to value taste over the health and longevity enhancing quality of a food. People eat something, they associate that with happiness, as it is habit forming and then each time they eat it they enjoy the good feeling in the brain, much like with alcohol and drug addicts. What people don't realize that eating bad foods that taste good is sort of like drinking a lot of alcohol or using drugs, it's the inability of neocortex to find enough reasons and motivation to give up the lifespan shortening food. French fries eaten 2-3 times a week double the risk of death, while eating boiled potatoes doesn't affect mortality ► AJCN 2017; 106(1):162-7. Many studies showed animals getting cancer from food dyes and many food dyes were banned. Many artificial food colors are toxic, yet they were used before being banned and some are still being used even though evidence suggests they may shorten our lifespan. Food and cosmetic texture is another reason why dubious chemical compounds with adverse longevity effects sometimes are added. This is because when people are taught product development in business schools, there is no focus on human lifespan doubling or increase. The goal is to make "customers happy", so if the customers want the poison, the product managers give it to them. This is the ethics. ☺☺☺ Coke, highly processed foods with lots of polyaromatic compounds, heterocyclic amines, acrylamide, AGEs, and cigarettes are bad for you, but they give it to "customers", so the customers develop diseases and shorter lives by 10 or 15 years. This is the gist of our ethics sometimes, and it's from our schools. A product manager at McDonald's has to satisfy demand, so if people don't demand healthy stuff, he feels he has to sell bad stuff. But ethical managers hire longevity scientists who know the best foods and create healthy products, fund RESEARCH and development to create nutritional products that double or triple lifespan. A CEO who decides to create a Nutritional Longevity or Immortality University to research the most lifespan tripling ingredients by billion $ RESEARCH will be able to create a new image of his company, create products that are healthier, sold in more places compared to competitors who're happy to sell less ideal stuff because "people "want" it"; in the long term, it may enable McDonald's to take market share from the other giants by leaps and bounds.

With an educational system that values health and longevity, the customers will always demand the healthy food or the one that increases or doubles lifespan, not the one with the best color, smell, texture, taste. People then use their purchasing power to prioritize health and shift demand towards healthy products that double lifespan. The guys who invented leaded gasoline said it was safe and suppressed any attempt to RESEARCH the safety (even though there were some studies showing workers dying from it), and it took decades to find the truth for the public. nih.gov/books/NBK236453/ explains lead levels are 300 times or more in human bone than 300 years ago. These are just some examples, but without a strong ethos of Longevity, Healthy Lifespan increase, and "Immortality", it's very difficult to obtain rapid progress in healthy lifespan or extending maximum lifespan to 150 or 200. ☺☺

Because of the above mentioned things, it may be best if people get an education into Longevity and Immortality related sciences and ethics (prioritization), and know real science, engineering, technology, besides some courses in management, Ethics ☺☺☺☺☺ of Immortal Civilizations, Hypothesis Thinking, Not Knowing, Prioritizing Lifespan Extension in all Decisions courses (case studies), if interested in creating a company or leading some government agency locally or whatever, as these leaders will take humanity forward far more than a typical major in economics or business who has no clue about what the real technological obstacle to 900 year lifespan is and is repeating ideas from books centuries old sometimes, expecting something far different, when it can't occur. We can't have vastly different results if we keep doing the same things. Actually, today, we already see this trend worldwide, with more and more managers and executives being the geeks with science majors (not liberal arts or management). Actually in some countries, at some point at least, 8 out of 9 top leaders were scientists or engineers ► gineersnow.com. Hypothesis Thinking and Testing is essential for fast progress in shifting civilization patterns towards maximum Longevity, and we need fasting thinking smart engineers and scientists for that. Even World Peace creation is ultimately an engineering and science problem if you think about it, it is based on undiscovered science ways, trillions of them, to bring World Peace, the end of killing.☺☺☺ Killing and violence are a no-no in Civilizations of Immortals. How can we engineer and design a stronger ethical gentleness tenderness kindness "900 year lifespan-focus" (not profit) foundation for our civilization, via the educational system and culture? The human physical action is scientifically triggered by the subconscious content to a great extent, how can we change subconscious content, the amount of violence in what we see and hear in movies and music, news and history classes? Chapter 5 and Chapter 13 explain how to create more positive subconscious imagery. ☺☺☺ To be admitted to Immortality Business School perhaps one would be a genius in some business, have a business already or non-profit that builds Silence Halls in Hospitals, Schools or Prisons maybe or able to pass a hard test on business, maybe, so he can start Immortality technology corporations and promoting Longevity-Immortality products that use the Immortals' Ethics etc. Ultimately, the Immortals are so smart, as everyone is helping everyone via telepathy in the far future to live longer, so it's natural when people live for thousands of years, monetary system might disappear, but that's far out into the future when subatomic assemblers, teleportation, shapeshifting are all doable.

A Civilization of 900 year "Immortals" is essentially one in which minimum education is 120 years, not 12 as today, so everyone is a science (could be engineering too) genius by today's standards. The Government in Civilizations of Immortals is made of ultra kind, angelic people (who practice the 20 Telepathy habits perhaps often) who're very aware of the science and engineering issues of maintaining longevity, and do the government more like a hobby, because the really hard thing is the science of Immortality, not Governing. To really Govern well in the New Immortality Era, one can't rely on old texts, since the challenges of the future will be very different. The leaders of the future may be very geeky scientists and engineers who understand art is in science and engineering 100% too and have a real understanding of many sciences and challenges of attaining 900 year lifespans and maintaining them. Via Telepathy with Immortals of the future (or present Immortals we call spirits) energy, these geeks can get more insight into government of the future (precognition) than people who go to some formal training at some college, since the telepathy is based on the future, while books of mortal civilizations are based on knowledge about the ways people governed (science/technology books and papers become outdated fast, even ideas in non-science fields get outdated). We have an 18 year old being UCLA math professor, so, here, to ensure nobody gets too bored teaching, lots of young grad students can be substitute professors, so professors can focus more on research of Immortality. The whole point of the university is that the students become university researchers (RESEARCH staff can expand yearly, while student body is small, due to higher admission standards) and also start new kindergartens, Immortality departments at universities, Immortality middle/high schools, companies, non-profits to move the world towards the Civilization of Immortals. This University becomes highly influential in setting up the curriculum for day care, kindergarten, primary, middle, high school, college levels, as it is be the most advanced RESEARCH place in the world, where people are into studying and finding the Truth with a real passion. ☺☺☺

The law or business schools within a college would also do more life sciences and The Vision of The Future classes. Perhaps 80% of students would minor in Ethics of Immortals, with everyone required to take courses in Ethics to get familiar with the 900 year lifespan Vision we want to get at and ways to get there; how can you achieve in 200 years certain goals of no violence, prisons,

(far future no courts), war if you don't discuss them and magnetize them in classrooms? Everyone is talking about "to be a good chemist or whatever, you need to do this, so we teach you", but nobody is talking about TO MANIFEST A WORLD OF NO PRISONS, WAR, VIOLENCE, CRIME, AND 300 year lifespan or 200, we need to do this collectively cooperatively, set up like with climate goals to cut emissions 100% by 2050, plans to cut prisons and violence 100% by 2150, with intermediate targets of 50% cut by 2030, etc. What kind of patriotism or altruism is aiming to become a flavor chemist, when we got so many flavors and we have kids dying of flu because so few study the chemistry of these viruses? STEM related fields could include nutrition chemistry, neuroscience, the science of conflict de-escalation, psychological science, anything that uses the scientific method of hypothesis formulation and testing, etc. So many freshmen are required to take the weirdest classes, and no class in life sciences progress in attempts to triple human lifespan, or nutrition for living to 100 or 150, or legal and business systems of a Civilization of 500-year-old or even 200-year-old humans focused on ever-increasing human well being and lifespan. It seems like the obsession with tradition has made much of the study material of many majors at some colleges totally irrelevant and outdated to the modern era, if you take the compassion stance of learning something to really improve the world rapidly. We have people majoring in public policy, public administration, economics, civil administration, management, etc who're not required to have any deep idea of the Life Sciences, of the miracles done by science today via technology such as sight to blind, hearing to deaf, walking to paralyzed, etc..., who have no understanding of what it takes to double human lifespan, to build a Civilization of "Immortals", etc. These majors are in desperate need for a revamp, based on the latest chemistry, physics, biology lifespan extension RESEARCH. How can we solve today's challenges with 17th, 18th or 19th century texts? Every field of science has a specific language of its own, like physics its own language, chemistry its own, etc and this language is growing in complexity daily, it's almost like learning another language. The most useful polyglot knows well the languages of many fields (epidemiology, molecular biochemistry, nutrition, biology) so he can cure many diseases or double human lifespan. Are we going to cure the flu and provide better tech and living conditions for all, by studying Paleolithic pottery, writing, rarely used languages and art modes, and the endless killings of primitive people from long-gone eras? ☺☺

It has gotten to the point where learning some 3rd or 4th language is far more important than learning the basic languages of biology, chemistry and physics, these 3 are the most fundamental languages to master if one wants to actually move humanity forward. We have tons of translators and people knowing more than 1 language already. Even learning a second language would be totally secondary to chemistry, biology, physics and these could start before the 2nd languages ideally. Basic chemistry, biology, physics, atomic models can be taught even in kindergarten: the most basic things that create interest and show 3-5 year old kids the wonders of science, colorless solutions turning blue or purple, or cool physics experiments to arouse curiosity and the desire to learn and understand. Life Sciences are the languages of compassion in action, of "Immortal" 500 year lifespan Life, of solving all causes of diseases, aging and death. A reason there is so much focus on learning foreign languages is that the local language is rather useless, spoken only by a few million people, thus having very few educational resources and free youtube classes, like khanacademy.org or 100s of other youtube channels covering different subjects or topics. We have hundreds of millions of poor children in rural areas all over 150 nations that have no access to quality free education, since online, there are no extensive quality books/videos to learn basic or complex topics as they exist in the main 5 languages. This is another problem of having 7,000 languages, everyone has to waste so many resources to translate and duplicate videos/books already created by others, since some can't afford education, so going to some library or free WiFi to learn (without teachers) is the only way. Millions of people waste their life as teachers of the main 10 languages, because the local language is one of the 7,000 less used languages. This INCREDIBLE educational and human resource waste could go to teach the languages of life extension, STEM, biochemistry, etc, much better, helping us to reach 900 year lifespan much faster. Having endless languages creates conflict, war, genocide, as we know from history, and global slowing of progress. So it could become priority of all nations, to be compassionate and thus to make English and/or other main languages national official languages (besides the local one), so everyone knows them and the world is more harmonious, science literate, educated and connected. Or create a new language all are fine with, replace everything with that language in 50 years. The paragraph before Immortalist Anthem explains English is very easy, having simple alphabet/writing (26 characters, not thousands), simplest grammar of almost any language (far easier grammar than Spanish, German, French, Latin, Russian) and main language of science. Imagine if textbooks, in the transition period, would have one page in English and another in local language spoken by only 1 to 20 million people. They would know English from kindergarten and primary school well, being able to understand the most complex talks and science papers online not available in 6990 languages, and help eliminate redundancy. Eventually, people will realize that having fewer languages will benefit the whole humanity more, so maybe there will be much fewer in 700 years. People don't even realize much of our educational system globally still operates in the 19th century mindset or earlier. Do we benefit as a society more from learning the language of "chemistry", "biology" and "physics" or from learning the exotic language of some group that barely uses it and is going extinct, or some less used language that only 3% of humanity speaks? Biology, Engineering, Chemistry, Physics are new languages that humanity has created. They're beautiful and amazing, they can give us life and death and things no language can give us. Everyone is told in some colleges "you need a wholesome liberal arts education", but where is the wholesome broad integration of chemistry, compassion for human suffering, nonviolence, biology and physics into all this? Chemistry, Biology, Physics are perhaps the most Liberal Arts, that give us the Freedom to artistically design, in liberty, the molecules and gadgets that reduced 100s of diseases mortality 900 fold and will take human lifespan to 200 years first, 500 later, and even bring World Peace in 3 months. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

4.3.7. Smogless transportation, 100% renewable electricity, 0% food waste enhance longevity

Charging a Tesla costs 9 times less than gas in the UK and Europe, even in the US, electric is way cheaper to drive, repairs are far less frequent as EVs have 40% of the parts of a gas car. Charging at home is far safer than getting almost killed (during carjacking) at gas stations, killed (tried to steal car with 4 kids inside) or killed by being run over multiple times or more cases. Gas stations, convenience stores are 5% of all violent crime locations. Globally, 18% of new car sales worldwide were 100% electric in Aug 2025. Chinese cops directing traffic in smog lived to 43 in 2007, so Republicans are guilty of GENOCIDE for fighting EVs and renewable energy. Reps need be tried in Court and Pay $9 trillion, see evidence below☺☺☺. You can jump directly to the 27 page section on the genocide non electric car smog causes (brain, heart, lung damage, not just wars) and how to stop the genocide with electric cars, solar panels. Huawei unveiled a solid state battery with 1800 mile range that charges in 5 minutes, while Republicans promote fraudulent miracles as fact. The newest gasoline and electric cars that have a lot of connectivity and are more expensive, can have higher microwave power density, etc and are going to destroy your health, so go here to see a multi page discussion on the safest car models and how to measure the RF pollution. Don't think this is a small matter, RF in WiFi devices, cars, internet of things, etc can cause cancer and loss of 50 billion lifespan years for humans, it's GENOCIDE. Check out how Big Oil, etc suppressed electric cars, other techs for decades☺☺☺. Everyone is pushing needlessly ultra connected gas/electric cars with endless antennas, without a thought, in China, US, EU without realizing the catastrophic health consequences. Gas/diesel cars kill many people during fueling even, watch 4 videos. Hilarious how they make fun of electric cars and ignore gas cars have way more fires, plus EV batteries will soon be solid state, meaning 30 times less fires than gas cars. The fully electric cars (not plugin hybrids) % of new car sales went from 32% Jan 2020 to 98.3% Sep 2025 in Norway, showing that soon many nations will become 100% electric: Denmark 82% Apr 2026 vs 13% Apr 2022, Sweden 42% Apr-Jun 2026 (67% incl PHEV), China 45% Aug 2026 (65% incl H/PHEVs). In 2026, US flew world's largest electric airplane.

In 1910, most cars were electric. Due to a blatant disregard for human life, they decided to switch to gasoline and not optimize battery tech to increase range. This disregard for life is evident even today, so we need the Immortalist Party. Democrat policies 2020-2024 have increased solar panel capacity 5 fold in 4 years, in a boost to made in USA efforts. 97% of lithium can be recycled from EVs. Solar and battery storage can power all nations: solar exterior wall nanosolar paint, windows, roads, roofs, car/train/airplane paint. In the 1969 a senator proposed a ban on the sale of gasoline cars starting in 1975 to prevent smog, and it was passed in the Senate, but then the car lobby prevented the House from passing it. Richard Nixon said in 1970 that within 5 years he aims to create a new car that is pollution free, so he was demoted by Big Oil. Most people supported banning gasoline cars, but Big Car and Big Oil won, as elections are fake, policies decided by Big Rich Gangsters. When we say renewable we mean really clean renewable energy, not ethanol from corn or wood pellets that give asthma to people and create toxic compounds for residents or cities burning wood pellets. Sun/wind are renewable, transcontinental (no shipping of coal or gas/oil) daily, a tree takes years to grow. Wind farms are deadly though, since infrasound can shorten human lifespan and blades and pillars can be carried by tornadoes, hurricanes to hit 10 homes and kill 10 people, besides making military unable to detect infrasound of submarines off US coasts, causing radar interference (aircraft can't fly properly, etc to defend USA) and enabling submarines to attack offshore wind and bring down power for 100 million people: if all houses are off-grid, enemy needs 150 million hypersonic missiles to power us down, not 25,000 as with centralized grid: Trump thus canceled offshore wind, solar is enough to power all USA. In 1910s, US removed copper spires from all buildings, because they produced free electricity, or most likely, because of radar interference like wind turbines. The chimneys allegedly "used atmospheric electricity" too, though any tall enough copper will cause radar blur. Fake AI youtube channels claim gov burned the labs of 30 free electricity inventors, but it could be true: humans often use any energy for wars first, so they hid it. 1 country, 1 language, 11 companies for all humans is the only way forward, no rich clans to wage wars among themselves. You see why 900 inventions can't be even made public until we get world Peace, because genocidal types will use it to destroy the planet and use it first to kill, instead of giving everyone trillion year lifespans. You need the ethics of the Immortalist Anthem before any real progress can happen. Too many nations are ruled by suicidal psychopaths who would take down the whole planet if they could, just because "they didn't win the war". Without World Peace no progress is possible. Wood, corn, etc are not renewable per se. Plus one day, no more trees will exist (especially not polar and oak that produce a lot of isoprene), as we replace them with musical (ultra low level music audible and less audible that triples human lifespan) fake trees producing 1000 times more longevity effects for humans than current trees, helping add 9000 times more lifespan years to every city/per million trees, trees producing 100 times more electricity, trapping 100 times more pollutants and produce 100 times more oxygen each, via solar leaves and made of a fire resistant material, so no fires ever occur. The normal trees emit endless pollutants anyway, thousands of them, cause gutter clogging and 20 million jobs lost in landscaping instead of lifespan extension. Gently read the EV color section (why to avoid non-white cars in hot states which can increase risk of battery damage and sudden death via battery fire while driving) and the EV-water 2 page section every car owner needs to read, not just EV owners. Floating solar around the ecuator can provide 5 times the energy used by 10 billion affluent people. Semi trucks can be electrified in minutes by Revoy startup. Even Burkina Faso produces its own EV in 2025, but selfish hyena IQ EQ folks don't want EVs, when many cost only 30K, range 320 miles, or less in 2025, preferring 1st century carcinogenic exhaust and killing people with smog. Nothing screams of cannibal more. Millions of used EVs cost only 9K, ye the animals spend 100k on a deadly gas car. Demons who could have bought 10 used 9K cars and given 9 of them to 9 people to take off so much smog. ☺☺☺

Immortalists support solar, battery storage and water pump storage (during sunlight, you pump water upwards on a hill, at night water comes down to generate electricity), since these things are far less harmful than wind infrasound. In the future wind vanishes almost 100%, as well as storms, tornadoes, droughts, floods, as the entire planet has the same weather via sci-fi tech to make the whole planet eternal day, with no agriculture, no photosynthesis or need of plants, and eternally at 75°F. Today, wind mills can be turned into flying missiles during tornadoes and kill people by landing on houses and killing sleeping people. Until the sci-fi future, we need a technology to produce electricity from wind, that is 1000 times safer, such as some tarp like material nets that are not taller than 20 ft that have the poles placed 3 ft underground and with a 2 ft diameter circular plate at the end, to prevent wind from turning the poles into a flying missile that kills people during tornadoes or storms. This tarp pulls the poles, causes some wires to move into a certain direction, which lifts weights that are heavy balls or flat concrete blocks linked to springs on the ground, thereby producing electricity that is stored in batteries (mechanical force becomes electricity). This way you avoid infrasound and the extreme dangers of wind mills smashing people, houses, buildings. Remember that in this immortalist society not even 1 death by wind mill is acceptable. There are 1 trillion ways to convert wind mechanical energy into electricity, besides wind farms. Just as there are 1 trillion peaceful ways to end all violence and wars on Earth in 5 years, detailed by the Immortalist Anthem and immortalist ideas. All we lack is knowledge, since all we learn in school is economics, banking, memorization of useless facts we forget 3 years later 100%, LGBTQ or the Jesus genocide cult. No inventions. New airloom wind claims to be 10 times cheaper than vertical tall turbines which can kill people during storms or hurricanes as they crash on people, cars, buildings. With airloom tech, or any safer one if this is a scam, much safer for humans, how can any immortalist even give permits for normal turbines anymore? From 2011 to 2021, electric car sales rose from about 1300 to 6.5 million, a 5000 fold increase (14 million in 2023). They got 65 ton electric trucks that can carry around mines 70 ton cargo without refueling. China built 104 new coal fired plants in 2023, 6 times more coal fired plants than the rest of the world combined, so we're a long way from clean air globally or end to warming. China got 93% of Earth coal fired plants built in 2024. EU produced more electricity, 45% of total, from renewables, than from fossil fuels in 2023. USA only 20%. The world is changing so much vs 30 years ago when renewables were 1%. Colorado dealer leases a new electric car for 20$ and in 2024, EVs are growing strongly in market share. Electric cars are far quieter☺☺☺ at low speeds (common in big cities where most live) than oil cars, so, as solar and renewables allow cities to spread (decongest a little, etc) and us to live in forests and other areas without much eco impact, due to anyone being able to be off-grid, it will be nice to have 100% electrics, since traffic noise damages our cells. As we're moving towards electrification of cars, gas deadly stoves, ovens, central heating, water heaters, we introduce transformers and inverters that can bring, if poorly designed, EMF/dirty electricity. ☺☺☺

Fossil fuels are bad because they produce both dirty electricity/EMF in big central power plants (some workers there have shorter lifespans as a result when adjusted for confounding factors) that require transmission lines that generate EMF smog cancers (very high 10-70 V/m at 5-8 ft above ground, walk in your backyard or close to house, stay away from electrical lines, walk only on streets and areas without them if you walk a lot, you never know what they do to your body or reprodutive cells, sperm, eggs under regular street electrical lines and they also produce coal smog, carcinogenic exhaust, acid rain and CO_2. 1 million microgrids are less polluting (1 million times fewer transmission lines) than 1 supergrid that is wiped out in case of natural disasters and shuts off power for 50 million at once, not just 400. Renewables/electrification smartly implemented (low RF transmitters for "smart devices", check with substation every 30 min, not 5 seconds to reduce pollution) can reduce EMF and chemical smog, at the same time. Caltrain electric trains (wired ahead, commuter train) removed lung cancer risk from diesel trains. California fuel cell-electric train (no wires ahead) is smog free too. With our central grids we're changing the EM climate, ruining our health. We can generate power locally as we need it, test all ELECTRICAL DEVICES for EMF production, before sale, transport only small amounts of power just within 100 meters as needed. Kindergarten, primary, middle school science teachers can be empathetic, understand some kids may not like science or the teacher; they can appeal to kids' self-interest and explain, in simple terms, like in the lightbulb section or RF section, the advantages of knowledge of physics, how with can prevent dying at 60 due to EMF smog, cell phones, etc, and how one can live to 120, avoid (when growing up) giving birth to sick kids with birth defects due to EMF smog from lines, appliances, "smart devices", phones, WiFi routers, tablets, game consoles, that detroys sperm producing cells or eggs, be more energetic, be more confident, relaxed (less stressed) due to less gas (link every important concept in science to an amazing application that helps the life of every kid/teen, for example 3rd grade structure of sugars, galactose to sucrose bond in raffinose, with galactosidase humans lack which causes odorless gas; we discovered this enzyme that prevents gas and methods to prevent mouth odor and digestive gas and make life more pleasant, with more friends to hang around; sulfur in vegan protein 3 times lower, less mouth smell), have more fun playing or doing one's favorite sports of building a world of Immortals. A 15 year old doesn't care about living to 120 perhaps or 200, but is interested in being less tired, getting better grades, having fewer headaches, having more who like them (possible when one feels better due to less EMF, one smiles more and can meditate and turn all beings into friends, as all beings like smiley happy people). Teachers can present science in a way that addresses kids' or young adults' needs, immediate, short-term and long-term. Chemistry, civic education teachers can use chemical smog studies, like the one below and ideas like in chapters, 3, 11 and 12: ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

TP 2017;7:e1022 ► "Residing in places with fine PM (particulate matter) exceeding EPA standards (12 µg/m^3, meaning most Southern California) increased the risks for global cognitive decline and all-cause dementia respectively by 81 and 92%, with stronger adverse effects in APOE ε4/4 carriers... we estimate that ~21% of accelerated cognitive decline and all-cause dementia are attributable to residential exposure to high ambient $PM_{2.5}$". JAD 2015;45(3):757-70 found air pollution lowers short-term memory, IQ, brain metabolic ratios in kids also. "Higher levels of long-term exposure to both $PM_{2.5-10}$ and $PM_{2.5}$ were associated with significantly faster cognitive decline" ► AIM 2012;172(3):219-27. Air pollution is linked to cognitive & smell deficits, oxidative stress, neuroinflammation/degeneration including frontal hyperphosphorylated tau and diffuse amyloid plaques in children and young adults ► TP 2008;36(2):289-310. Air pollution impaired memory. Alzheimer Disease (AD) is caused by oxidative stress caused from air pollution ► JEPH 2012:472751. ☺☺☺ "We estimated a 211% risk of increase of AD per increase of 10.91 ppb in O_3 (ozone) over the follow-up period. We found a 138% risk of increase of AD per increase of 4.34 µg/m^3 in $PM_{2.5}$" ► JAD 2015;44(2):573-84 (95,690 people over 65). Perinatal (weeks before/after birth) exposure to polluted air meant 50% more autism in kids (for Cd in air) or 100% more (for diesel smog) ► EHP 2013;121(8):978-84. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Effects of particulate matter PM (generated by coal fired plants, cars, ships) on human health are much stronger when particles get < 2.5 microns ($PM_{2.5}$) or 2.5 µm (micrometers) and penetrate the lungs. Particles between 0.3 and 1 µm enter the lung air sacs, those between 1 and 2 µm enter the lung bronchi. These particles can be HEAVY METALS like lead, arsenic, mercury, cadmium from coal fired plants. In 2011 only 3.5% of 15 year olds in the Los Angeles Metro area had significant lung deficits, compared to 8% of 15 year olds in 1998. In 2025 it was even lower as PM went down. This is a result of ever tightening air regulations in California. With 45% of US electric cars in California, if the electric car trend continues, California will have clean air one day, except for days of wildfires, which are 150/year. For people with lung issues, big California cities (except near beach) are not ideal, unless you choose a clean air small city or air filters in the house and at work. Car smog gets into the lungs and blood, effectively destroying the lungs, brain, heart, every organ. Air pollution is linked to cardiac events. Get an Amazon HEPA purifier, that filters 99.97% of 0.3 micron particles, or pricier IQAir that removes 99.5% of 0.003 micron particles (that make up 90% of air particles). The smallest virus is 0.02 micron. So, 0 COVID. 99.97 refers to the filter efficiency of removal, but air gets on the side too, so real efficiency is lower, see more in this video about the total efficiency. Smog allows COVID19 & viruses to travel further ► SNCCM 2020:1-5. Even gas stoves are far more toxic for indoor air quality than electric ones ► Vox article. The US may ban the gas stoves as 1 in 3 gas stoves in the US causes asthma in a kid in that house. Likewise, electric oil heaters (see 4 pages about them here) are much safer than ceramic, radiant (red hot element), or central heat (using gas or electric furnace, since temp of air chemicals is much lower, so they oxidize less, saving our lungs). Save the planet, buy EVs: 90% of battery capacity is there after 100K miles, batteries outlast cars. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The 'soft spoken' right wing media has brainwashed people to buy no EVs, even if the cheapest EV (26.5K Bolt) is 54% the price of the 2023 average gas car price of 48K, and you get 7.5K tax credit, so 19K (instant rebate as of 2024 for 10 models eligible for 7500$ off at point of sale, no more tax credit that poor people can never take advantage of due to low tax liability, fold car seats down and sleep in it even, with legs almost touching the dashboard if 6'4"), 40% of a gas car, with far less maintenance, no oil chances, 40% of parts of a gas car, so quiet, lung friendly for all. Tesla is now cheaper than gas cars, even the SUV with 300 mile range. While in US, < 1% of cars were electric in 2023, Norway had 84% of new cars 100% electric, 91% electric or plugin hybrids. Most smog is inhaled by the enslaved workers living in "condo or house jails". This is the right wing "practice" of Mk 10:25 "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven". The most hilarious thing is that the (KGB, Arabs?) pastors and pundits claim to be Christian, yet oil cars only undermine Christianity, strengthen Islam. People are indoctrinated to be too selfish of an animal to care about millions of Americans gas car smog kills 10 years early. Objects (big car, etc), pets, money are above millions dying in wars for oil. Why not protect the human quantum field, be kind to all, so that all are kind back? Any war waged by anyone leading to any dead completely destroys the human quantum field. Please embody the universal gentle tender soft nurturing loving kindness in action, not 'gentle' speech. Why do billions of slaves live in such terrible housing? One of the reasons is the callous brutes (made callous temporarily by the right wing media, they will become saints after reading books like this) drive gigantic gas cars, while that oil could have been used to create billions of houses using amazing & beautiful vinyl (or better nonplastic tech) flooring (build in new ways, with new materials, that don't cause health issues like cheap vinyl does, especially during off-gassing) and other products from oil. The safest vinyl floors are those with "0 VOC label" plus the Greenguard Gold by UL label, or 0 VOC with FloorScore by SCS certified label. Vinyl/plastic is recyclable, due to new bacteria that eat plastic Did you know vinyl flooring doesn't get eaten by termites and develop mold like wood can? How do you like these homeless camps? Oil, wood, biomass, with ☺☺☺ happy centralization and high tech discovery from immortality capitalism, can be used to create new materials far superior to the crappy wood/drywall today. Worship science, not profit. Worship people, not big gas cars, worship long lived people, the human quantum field, not pets. A saint is he who thinks about humanity a lot, and acts to help the maximum folks to live longer. Let me ask you this: what if going to church, mosque, synagogue daily can, due to causing inner peace, offset only 1% of the human quantum field damage done by people killed by your gas car? I don't know what the effect is, it depends on the honest 'speech softness' of clergy too. KGB promotes gas cars, since Russia's economy = oil sales profits (50% of budget).

If you go to iqair.com you type any city and it lists current $PM_{2.5}$, however, the yearly average is not listed, but you can easily figure out which areas are polluted since the real time chart shows what each station gives in real time for an area, wind direction: magnify, so use it often before you move somewhere as a renter or etc, to see which streets are cleanest (it gives the 2.5 on the street where station is, click on each number to see street after clicking 'see details' and how many microclimates and pollution zones exist depending on what highway, industry, hills, etc block wind and allow smog to move away from the ocean). California has 19 of US 20 most $PM_{2.5}$ polluted cities, see cleanest cities here. If you google "City name city data crime", the 1st link shows crime. Or if you look at city-data.com and type your city, then Ctrl+F crime and "PM2.5" gives 2018 levels of $PM_{2.5}$ by clicking the $PM_{2.5}$ tab, which are: US average 8.5 $\mu g/m^3$, Mountain View 11.3 (Google), NYC 7.1, Portland 7.2, San Francisco 11.9, Sacramento 12.7, Redding CA 6.1 (in 2013), Miami (Florida) 8.6, Houston 10.0, Seattle 8.3, Washington DC 8.9, Boston 9.2, Chicago 9.3, Beverly Hills 15.2, Gardena 14.4, Lake Elsinore 7.0, Torrance 13.9, Riverside 13.6, San Diego 10.5, Carlsbad 10.4, Malibu 11.6, Camarillo 8.8 (altitude: 177', on weekdays, IQAir shows wind makes all LA County, ultra smoggy on weekdays when wind blows towards Malibu, but Camarillo is not so bad, this IQAir map tells us where radiation cloud moves during a nuke attack on LA in WW3), Moorpark 9.7 (515', crime 5x < US average, 10x < Compton), Murrieta 7.9, Rolling Hills 13.7 (crime 15x < US average, violent crime often 0, but double the Camden, which had 0 violent crime for years, vs 230/100K in Malibu), Rancho Santa Margarita 8.5 (crime rate 70% of Moorpark, 11x< US avg violent crime, 31x< Compton, South Orange County is safe, far from LA Port/downtown and San Diego (5 naval bases, top target) in case of WW3 nuke war, 8-10 $PM_{2.5}$ crime rate 3-10x < most California cities, lowest crime of any CA county with > 400K people; a few cities in Placer County are also ultra low crime, but wind brings radiation to the area often as iqair shows, wind from Bay Area to Sacramento; Ventura 8.8, Oxnard 8.6, ultra nice weather, never need cooling, 1 hour from LA, north are ideal for preventing radiation, even if crime is not lowest, Ventura is safest among most Ventura cities, as it's 12 miles from Port Hueneme 19000 employees military base (any big base can be nuked) as far as wind blowing goes (Oxnard 4 miles), while most cities in Ventura County are at risk from a 1 megaton attack.

50 megaton Tsar Bomba nuke can be seen from 600 miles away when it detonates (the flash) and can partially break windows 560 miles away, mushroom cloud was 60 miles wide, 25 miles at the base, 40 mile high, everything destroyed within 20 miles), Thousand Oaks 9.3 (886', tsunami safe, crime 3x < US, 6x < Malibu for violent), Oxnard 8.6, Ventura 8.9, Santa Barbara 7.9, Los Angeles (LA) 16, San Luis Obispo 6.0, Santa Monica 15.6 (false, since station is 12 miles away), Manhattan Beach 15. The city-data.com number is true, only if it says station is 1-2 miles away and the city has a radius of more than 1-2 miles. Below is all about IQAIR data: Anything on the beach will be more like 2 or 4 during April after 3pm on weekends during the evening, incl Pacific Palisades some areas; Palisades got 1 in one area after 4 pm, though the same area at 11 am is 19, noon 11, 1 pm 7, 2 pm 5, 3 pm 3, so keep windows closed 10 to 2 on weekends. Simply click on the Grand view Bl (Marina Del Rey) PM2.5 graph (scroll down to see AQI graph) to see a typical day (hourly or daily, every 2 days etc) graph, cleanest air is 5-8 pm on weekends, then at 9 it rises as wind stops and dust grows. This is true for less traffic areas. However, for areas with little ocean breeze, high traffic, like Century Park 90067, the values are even thruout the day, with dirtiest air between 4 am and noon, due to temp inversion that traps smog at ground level.

Once the weekday arives, traffic, trucks drive so all hell breaks loose, as the wind (seen on maps) blows Torrance to Malibu, Seal Beach to Glendale (South to North, South to North West), moving smog in areas that in the weekend were clean. At 2 pm, 4-17-2023 Monday, Bel Air Lorien got 39 (46@1pm, 40@12pm), vs central Malibu (PCH) 8 (13-16 7-11am, Hermosa Beach 7 (7.6@ 7am/10@8am/12@9am/13@ 10am/6@3pm), Pacif Palisades 28 (29@1pm, 26@9am) vs 9 Sunday, Hollywood 34 (32-36@ 10am-1pm), Hollywood Hills 33 (30-35@10am-1pm, 20-31 3-6pm), Silver Lake 34 (28-33@8am-1pm, 26@4pm, 19@ 6pm & 25 another street), Gardena 9 (14-15@8am-12pm, 11@1pm, 8@4-6pm), Riverside 41 (45 1pm, 20-25 5am-noon). The rush hour, plus cold air makes mornings the most deadly. It's America's most polluted metro, so it's a good case study to see the smog dynamics. Next day, Tuesday, 4-18-2023, the wind was blowing from the ocean to inland (LAX to downtown, Hermosa to Compton, direction), West to East, instead of South to North, so values for the exact locations linked above were a lot lower @ 2 pm (parathesis underlined value is range for @8am-12pm to compare with Monday): Bel Air 15 (11-21), Malibu 5 (5-14), Hermosa 5 (5-7, 3@3-7pm), Palisade 8 (13-17, 1@4-5pm, 2@6-7pm), Beverly Hills 13 (9-18, 5@4-6pm), Hollywood 16 (12-20, 12@3pm), Hollywood Hills 15 (10-20, 6@4-7pm), Silver Lake 15 (16-22, 6@5-6pm, 7@7, 8@8-19, as sun sets, it rises), Gardena 7 (9-10, 7@3-10pm, station # 2 is 6@ 3-9pm), Riverside 17 (10-20, 18-20@5-7pm), Thousand Oaks 10 (16-19, 3-4@6-8pm), Torrance 6 (8-10, 4@4-7pm, 5@8), Lowest of Torrance 4 (7-9, 3@3-8pm). Santa Barbara was on 4-17: 8.6-11.4@8am-3pm, Newbury Park (near Thousand Oaks) 13.6-15.5@8am-3pm. On 4-18, as the daily tab shows, the average dropped in half from 4-17, as it did in many cities, so Santa Barbara was 6@7am-1 pm, 4-5 2-8pm. The Daily tab indicates Monday 4-

10-2023, had PM 4-5 times higher than this 4-18 tuesday, or 2+ times higher than 4-17 Monday, in almost every LA County city, except the fringe areas (Malibu, Thousand Oaks as those are not getting the heavy smog from other cities). So it can vary a lot if wind doesn't blow much, April 3rd 2023 was 10-20 times less PM than a week later, April 10. This is because the rain stopped, all earth dried, so the dust started to rise. In Idaho, it's no desert like California, so PM is more even, see one village Idaho daily PM chart. Be grateful, in China middle school, PM2.5 is 250+ often, PM_{10} is 1000+, while in the worst China areas (Xinjiang) PM10 is 2800, $PM_{2.5}$ is 500+. ☺☺☺

On 4-19-2023, $PM_{2.5}$ values in LA went down everywhere during the DAY, as it happens usually on Wednesday, since Mondays all trucks and delivery starts again, after weekends, so it tends to lead to high values Monday and Tuesday, as we saw 4-17 high, 4-18 medium, 4-19 low. However, night values in some cities are high even on days with lower values in most Los Angeles metro area. So, on 4-19 we got: Gardena (many trucks) 10-14@1-7am & 8-10@8am-1pm, 7@1pm-7pm, 8-11@8pm-12am, while a city with fewer trucks traveling on highways nearby at night, Thousand Oaks, got 5-6@12am-5am, 7@6-8am, 3-4@10am-5pm (19@11am on 4-18, 5x higher), Paci Palisades (800 Via Paz Av) 5-6@12am-9am, 9@noon, 6@1-9pm, Hermosa (few trucks) got 4-6@12am-5am&10am-8pm, 7-8@6-9am, Torrance 6-10@4-9am, 8-9@10-11am, 3-5@noon-8pm, Riverside 9-10@12am-7am, 12-13@8-9am, 15-21@10am-6pm, SilverLake (inland) 10-21@12am-9am, 10@4-9am, 11@10, 9@11am, 5-6@12-8pm, 8-10@9-10pm. In contrast, Silverlake CCA station gave 5-8 for 24 hours of 4-19, possibly due to microclimate (wind blows unrestricted); some cities, like SilverLake, have hills and valleys which can trap pollution when wind doesn't blow, so it may lead to night spikes. Some anonymous stations give dubious data, that seems hacked and arbitrary, or has huge gaps for 10-20 hours, so choose more reliable stations by organizations, like CCA. On 4-21 the wind was blowing from North East to South west, so the South Bay, Torrance area got a lot of smog they usually never get from the North areas, so they got this time more pollution than the usually far more polluted Northern areas, due to a huge temperature rise and wind direction inversion. However, on 4-23 wind blew from Torrance to Hollywood, which is 2nd most common after Ocean to Inland direction, so we got 7 in Torrance, 10 in Gardena and 18 in Silverlake, 16-20 Hollywood at 9 pm. On 4-27, the air blew from ocean towards Compton, so we got in the same stations as above (parenthesis shows highest 24 hour value) at 1 am: BelAir 29 (63@10 am), SilverLake 36 (43 @11 AM), Beverly Hills 29, Los Angeles 27, (41@noon), Riverside 19 (60@9am), Gardena 15 (22 @5-9 AM), Palisades 14, 1000 Oaks 12 (19@10am), Malibu 12, Torrance 12 (28@11 am), St Barbara 11 (21@2pm,15max@other places), Salinas 9 (13@noon) & Salinas 2 3 (6@2pm), Hermosa 7 (14@11am), Nevada 5 (6@2am) many cities, villages within 30 miles thrice lower, Redding 8 (21@4am, 2@1pm), San Luis Obispo 3 (6@noon), Seattle 2, Boise 1. When a tiny rain happens, like Apr 30, the next day, May 1 at 2am, we got every value super low, unlike any recent 2 am, about half the usual value. The IQAir wind indicator is key to understanding daily differences. The differences change daily, since one night we get 3 mph wind, next night 15 mph wind, so on windy nights, the night PM is < morning rush hour, but on less windy days, the smog stays more local for cities 5-15 miles from the coast. If wind is too high, it may cause Earth dust to increase PM values in dusty areas, canceling the wind effect on lowring local vehicle emissions. Usually, cities between highways get ultra smoggy at night vs the others, more than during the morning on low wind nights. So, gently study those graphs for months to decide how much to have 1 watt fan on at night (use kitchen sink sprayer or, if no sprayer (ideal , since it's small, water saving, doesn't wet the center part as much), the shower head to rinse the fan dust/dirt every month: choose light color, white or sky blue to see the grey dust well), etc, how much to filter. It's all about your health and ultra critical if you don't purify air. Change air purifier or AC central air filter monthly, to prevent mold, dust and bacteria growth if you use those daily as a fan at least to get house air circulated in really nasty cities when temp doesn't need cooling, just whole house filtering of air without opening windows much at all (since AC fan gets some outside air too). Air purifiers and whole house fans dry the air, and spread flu, etc germs from one room to the entire house, so be careful if you got dry eyes, etc to monitor humidity, use humidifier and take logical actions. Nothing is so simple, each change you make brings a new host of problems, like moldy filters due to humidifier, etc... Change filters often if using them or rent a room to a clean air city and drive 1 mile extra to work. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Gently monitor it daily as with weather reports, as PM is far more important than temp for longevity, play with your children outside when PM is low for the week, to protect their lungs, brains. Even after all transport, ships airplanes is electric in 2100 globally and 2060 in USA, we still have wind that takes dust and industry soot, so always shut all car windows in high smog cities, and use AC on medium or warm to filter the air, because it removes 98% of PM and in Beijing in 2007 cops who were outside directing traffic 40h/week died at 43 on average, due to $PM_{2.5}$ that enters blood and destroys ALL ORGANS. While driving and all vents to outside closed, outside air still enters, so refilter for 1 minute every 10 minutes. if you drive a lot, always filter the car air and keep window closed in nasty cities. Make it illegal for car companies to make cars without AC or fan to filter air at least if no AC, as some do in many countries for the cheapest models, because that $100 saved will cost sometimes $50,000 in government health care expenses and degrade the quantum field and drag everyone down, even those with filter in their car, I mean with filter that is replaced every 5000-30000 miles depending if you drive a lot in a cleaner city, or one with 5x higher PM just 30 miles away. AC is important since extreme heat and cold can cause severe health issues in some, especially those driving more. Some old (pre-2000 especially) cars don't have cabin air filters (and some sites claim even some 2020s cars lack them) and car owners don't change them often, every 5000 miles in ultra smoggy cities, so it's important to inspect it (under the glove box, takes 10$ to buy a new one and replace it in 5 min). If the Immortalist Party wins over the Dems and Reps, we will require all weather channels to indicate RF mW/m2 and EF V/m on every street, $PM_{0.3}$, $PM_{2.5}$, PM_{10}, SO_2, NO_2, ozone, give alerts when it's beyond a value so parents don't let kids play there, people don't jog there etc. Ozone/UV is high 11 am-3 pm. All websites are spy operations when really big and in many nations, so IQAir data may be changed to fit a certain perception creation, I saw some stations only appear on map at certain times and are totally off, it drops suddenly 10 times or is always at the same value 24-7 for weeks. Choose $PM_{2.5}$ and daily to see previous days and how smoggy Mondays and Tuesdays are. PM is highest around 10am-noon in most LA, then drop 22% by 1 pm (14.7 to 11.4) within 1 hour in areas closer to the coast, (more inland areas remain smoggy drop only 1% in that same noon to 1 pm frame, while stuff right on the beach drops only 10% noon to 1 pm, since it's already lower, 9 vs 15 7 miles inland, 30 10-15+ miles inland in the unfavorable wind direction). PM drops 50% by 5 pm. Choose hourly to see when to close your windows (8 to 1). If you have no indoor air purifier, keep window closed when PM is high, to live longer. Shut windows before going to work to prevent dust build up. See smog in Beijing.

NO_2, not $PM_{2.5}$, can peak @5:30 in big cities, so avoid jogging, playing outside during 4-7 pm rush hour, unless you live in rural areas with no traffic at rush hour. Tire particles, road dust, etc always exist, even after all cars are electric in 2060, beside the dust fron gardens, factories, etc, sp $PM_{2.5}$ will be useful even 5 centuries from now. PM graphs mirror the AQI (QIA, CIA, Air Quality Index) which is a marker of PM_{10}, O_3 (ozone), CO, NO_2, SO_2 parameters besides $PM_{2.5}$. If you watch it carefully, the AQI is following every rise of the $PM_{2.5}$ graph perfectly. The EPA explains that AQI is calculated for each of the 6 parameters and the AQI on most websites is the highest AQI among all 6, so if ozone is very high, it will make AQI sky high, but PM2.5 may be low. However, in most places in April, when O_3 is not sky high, mild temps, etc, AQI is AQI for $PM_{2.5}$, as PM2.5 is the one with highest AQI, so AQI total=AQI $PM_{2.5}$. E.g. $PM_{2.5}$ 35.9 means AQI 102. If ozone is 0.078 ppm, O_3 AQI is 126, so the total AQI for that station is 126, not 102. O_3 causes asthma. 99% of the time, total AQI is either the ozone or $PM_{2.5}$. AQI 50 means 12 $\mu g/m^3$, if PM is highest AQI. Here is the conversion chart if you got a site that shows only AQI. It's these 2 that kill us the most. So don't use negative ion generators often, if you can't be sure with an exact meter what level of O_3 it creates 4 feet away or 12 feet. It could give you asthma, so when buying air purifiers with built in negative ion generators or UV lamps, recall not all brands may be ozone free and it may do more damage than good if a junk brand. Airnow.gov shows you ozone ppb and PM $\mu g/m^3$ if you click on the circle with the NowCast AQI, which is a different AQI than on most sites (higher value for same ppb). Note that NowCast AQI is useless for hourly data, it's an 8 hour average and it is updated only once a day or so at 11 am, so it will give you that high rush hour morning reading of 15 $\mu g/m^3$, while if you check at the same time on IQAir, you get the hourly AQI, which will be 6 hours later much lower, so maybe 8 µg/m^3. It's confusing to see a 2 fold difference, because they update it less. On hot days you can close windows 10-4 pm. Accuweather is another site, though it gives false numbers, as their AQI uses a weird formula. AQI 59 means 16 µg/m^3, so popular sites can give false data, so go with EPA airnow that gives µg/m^3 and IQAir that gives hourly, not daily EPA updates. The good news is that the IQAir 15 for one area matched the 15.1 for the EPA site. The IQAir app allows you to save 10 favorite locations to access daily or hourly and see trends on ozone, etc. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

All housing needs a timer for window fans, and lower speeds in high smog times, only to resume later, based on such charts, you can set it, so no need of WiFi pollution; the fan needs to stop when it detects high pollution, such as when local factory releases junk at 3 am hoping nobody notices (they do that in Torrance all the time, even in 2023). You sleep but it will still damage your lungs and every organ. Everything needs to maximize health. As you get closer to downtown, the after 3 pm becomes smogier, so UCLA with all cars there is a lot smogier than Palisades. Each location has slightly different smog times. As you click on each number, you see values for the last 24 hours, 12 values, for each 2 hour slot. Torrance Bl, Redondo Beach is 2 at night (no cars, 2 am), Palisades, Los Angeles is 2, Marina Del Rey is 2, Playa Del Rey 1, but in the same city, at the same hour, Los Angeles, in SilverLake it is 14.2. Keep in mind some of these stations may give false data due to malfunction. So don't raise kids in smoggy areas without air purifier in the house. Likewise, in many towns, in one place $PM_{2.5}$ is 10, and then 2-3 miles away in a hill, it is only 0.2 as the smog doesn't reach, so the difference can be 50 fold, depending on streets, winds, stagnation, valleys that trap dust, truck routes, airports etc. So yes, where you live can make a difference, you may live 5 years extra or 15 if genes are one way, due to cleaner air, just living 3 or 4 miles away or using an air purifier. Can you believe that? AQI total index for air quality goes from 45 to 10, quite a drop. As electric cars spread, in cities without industry, these differences will vanish, but now it's really killing people and causing low IQ in kids, poor lung function, etc. You won't believe it until you use this IQAIR, double click once you typed your city and look nearby to see some HUGE differences for nearby towns with altitude changes, etc, it's mind blowing. The city data refers to the yearly average at a given station. Only IQAIR gives a really useful info, since smog changes from one area to another for changing altitude, highway, industry. *You can buy an air PM2.5 meter (A*mazon has many too, try get one that can't be remotely hacked to give you a fake value, analog with arrow instead of digital if possible) and drive by and measure, but websites can help too when you can't drive by so much; so never believe the nonsense on city-data unless station is 1 mile from city center. Big cities have areas with much lower than the worst areas. These are for rough comparing. Los Angeles is high vs Northern California, Ventura and Central California, San Diego and most of the big US cities. Beijing often reached 250 (rarely even 980, 100+ times above US average) in 2018, 10 times the

25 WHO limit for safety. The 2013 Beijing mean was 90. New Delhi got to 900 one day.☺☺☺

Another reason to push electrification of lawn mowers, generators, ships, airplanes, cars is that we need fresh outside air with low ambient CO_2. We can't just install "air filters", as the air gets stuffy, even if it is filtered. Stuffy air lowers mental performance dramatically. As global CO_2 levels increase, we lower our cognitive performance, leading to the risk to blow ourselves up as a species, as our brain no longer functions right. A Harvard study found that "cognitive scores were 61% higher on the Green building day and 101% higher on the two Green+ (high ventilation with outdoor air) building days than on the Conventional building day" ► EHP 2016;124(6): 805-12. This is also explained by Think Progress. Yet another reason for electrification is that electric cars are quieter and noise can increase risk of myocardial infarct by 12% for each 10 dB of noise ► PO 2012;7(6):e39283; this is after adjustment for air pollution, education, lifestyle, airport or railway noise as possible confounding factors. Besides, we save the world from oil wars; Iraq war trillions could have powered all US with wind and solar by 2013. "EVs (electric vehicles) emit only 19.8% (a fifth) of the total heat emitted by CVs (combustion vehicles)" leading to lower heat island effect in cities ► SR 2015;5:9213. 50-80% of oxygen we breathe comes from the plankton in the oceans which can be killed by ocean acidification going on today if we don't stop releasing CO_2 via burning coal-oil-natural gas and driving diesel-gasoline cars. Electric car owners no longer have to change oil (because there is no oil to change) or spark plugs; no more smog check either; electric cars have 60% less parts, so we go for repairs much less; combustion engines are only 15% efficient, electric motors are 90% efficient. With rebates for EVs, we save money, because some EVs (after federal, utilities and state rebates) are cheaper than some of the cheapest gas cars. Driving electric, we bring the end of gas stations that poison the water wells with MTBE or other compounds leading to billions of dollars wasted in cleaning up the well water (example: $0.4 billion settlement). Electricity is cheaper than gasoline by a factor of 2-4.

There are some things car makers don't write in their manual, as that would effectively half the driving range and be bad for marketing. To maintain battery capacity for 5-10 years, one can't charge above 70-80% and one can't drive below 20-30% of range; this would half the actual range of the car if always true (long commute) or if the car had a built in system to prevent that as may occur in the future; because Nissan probably knows that 2011-2014 batteries get 8 bars after 5-6 years (losing 4 bars out of 12), they only offer a 5 year/60K miles warranty on the first generation battery. The second generation battery of newer Leafs comes with an 8 year warranty or 100K miles. Since we're in the beginning of the electric era, car batteries are not as good as they will be 5-10 years from now, i.e. the range of an electric car decreases rapidly if the car is using quick charge (high voltage) mostly, or if it is charged until 100% capacity each time and driven until or past the "low battery" dashboard message. In a test of batteries, charging from 0-10% to 100% allowed 500 cycles, 20% to 100% 1,000 cycles, 10% to 90% 1,500 cycles, 10% to 80% 3,000 cycles, 20% to 80% 3,500 cycles, 10% to 70% 5,500 cycles, 20% to 70% 6,000 cycles before the battery lost 70% capacity. So, always charge EVs after long drives, within 1 hr, not 10 hrs later, since you damage the battery if you let it be <15%, drained, for a long time. Aim to keep battery 30-70% (actually 4–60% gives you the longest range and lifespan of any lithium battery, phone or car) of the time to make it last longest, and to charge in the coolest time of the day on warmer days (10 pm to 9 am), to avoid battery damage by heat. Cycling from 70% to 20% (or even 30%) of EV range is ideal if one wants the battery to last 10-15 years at very good capacity. After charging, allow 1-2 hours to cool the battery before driving ideally. Shade/garage parking is better in very hot climates to avoid routine exposure to 100-120°F weather, which as this graph shows shortens battery life. Table 3 shows lower temp = longer life as long as we talk above 32°F; so it is hard to know if garage parking can shorten battery life in certain warmer (not too hot) climate conditions if (depends from house to house) the average temp inside garage over 1 year is higher than parking outside as long as temp fluctuations which are wider outside don't damage it more than the slightly higher garage average temperature; in cold climates, garage parking is much better as it is warmer and battery wears out faster below freezing. The car battery is at the bottom of the car so it's much cooler than any part of the car, but charging it in the cooler periods of a 24 hour day is better for hot climates, as charging further heats it up. 120V charging, even if much slower, may not prolong the battery capacity if used non-stop over the 240 Level 2 charger that takes 3-6 times shorter (7 hours instead of 21 hours to charge a new 2015 leaf, 3.5 hours if port is 6.6 kw) – but create other problems, some say shorten the battery capacity, because it keeps battery warm 18 hours, instead of just 2-3 hours to charge; this constant heat will damage it. ☺☺☺ Nissan Manual CH-7 recommends against using 120 V regularly, and only when 240V is not available. Since 240 uses less electricity, being more efficient, and takes 2.5-3 times less time, it makes sense to stick to 240 V. I use 240V all the time, Tesla makes a 240V level 2 charger that all EVs, not just Tesla, can use. It's probably among the best out there. Because 240V takes 3 times shorter, it can be done in the coolest time of the day, thus avoiding overheating the battery for a longer time which shortens its life. On the other hand, super-fast charging, damages the battery faster than 240/120 V, especially for earlier 2010s EVs without thermal battery management (Nissan Leaf, etc) present in Tesla (air cooled batteries suck in hot weather, so liquid cooled are better). Home Depot has many 4$ hooks that hold 35 lb, that you can use to leave the charging cable on, so the nozzle doesn't sit on the floor (since a flood could in theory cause a fire, since it remains plugged). For 23$, you can buy a nozzle holder, though that takes more time to insert and can come off the wall stud (locate stud first) due to applying a lot more movement each time you remove and return nozzle to position.

One may need to use an analog or digital socket timer (or a phone timer if charging 3-4 hours during daytime to get 15 miles on 120V) to make sure the charging stops at about 70% of charge

(calculate how many hours it takes and do that to avoid losing many bars on your EV battery) or even 60% if no long drive is needed, and use the car right within 1-2 hours if charged above 60%, avoiding it being very charged and sitting idle for days, especially hot days. The worst thing is a highly charged battery sitting in high heat, that's why consumer electronics are shipped with 30-50% of battery charge, because battery damage is minimal if temperature rises during shipping/storage unexpectedly. The same thing applies to electric cars, we want to only charge above 60%-70% if we really need a long drive, especially in hot climates. The older models of Leaf and other cars allow you to create a charging timer in the settings (Leaf: go to settings, then charging timer, then create timer 1 and select 80%, the timer can prevent charging even above 70% if you can calculate exactly) to specify 100% charge (maximum range) or 80% charge (maximum battery longevity). It takes 10 seconds to switch on 100% charging for a longer once a year trip, but only charge to 100% if you drive it 1-4 hours after the end of charging, so the battery has time to cool (80% to 100% charge takes an hour over 240 V or less if low range car), as having the car sit idle with 100% charge for days wears out the battery faster. Basically, the longest high capacity battery life would be if car is used usually between 40% and 60% charge, according to some and only outside that for rarer longer trips. A study found less capacity loss if using 65%-75%, when compared to 45%-75%, obviously. 40-60% (ideally 45% to 55% since batteries are most stable at 50% charge) is much better than normal use, if people want their 250 mile range car (like Kona has brand new☺☺☺) to still have around that range 3-5 years from now, instead of 125 miles. 30-70% is next best, then 20-70, etc. Chevy Volt allowed only 60% of the actual battery capacity to be used, to avoid this rapid degradation seen in Nissan Leafs whose owners didn't know how damaging it is to fully charge all the time and drive until 10% of range is left only. Driving like the best defensive driver (driving on slower lanes on highways, no acceleration) and using Eco mode (which prevents ultra fast acceleration) will also make the battery last longer. Leaf says 80% charge left after 5 years, in optimal conditions, Tesla says 70% after 7 years if using 90% charge standard mode often. So, to really get a better retaining of capacity you have to charge only between 30-70%. Gas cars can also lose 20-30% of range after 5-7 years, but with EVs it can be 50-60% if very careless. Exercising 4 times daily leads to longer life than doing it all at once, even if same time spent. Eating food/vitamins daily is way healthier than once weekly, if same level ingested. Likewise for batteries, charging 15 miles 7 times is much healthier than charging 105 miles at once. ☺☺☺

WHITE CARS (buy white seat covers) can get 20-30°F cooler than black inside in warm states, prevent battery damage that otherwise would cause death via fires (read below why Tesla is good, plus the 2 pages on water/pothole safety all drivers ought to know to prevent death)

Gas car fires, explosions on roads or while owner lights up his cig or while filling up with gas are 10 times more common/1 million cars than EVs, so this is not about making fun of EVs, but preventing battery fires which can easily kill by distracting while driving and ending up in a fatal accident. Gas cars can have slight leaks of gas that are volatile and then the smallest cig or spark or electrical device making a spark will cause fires. So, EVs are way safer. After driving a long trip in hot weather or even cold one and returning home, let the car cool 3 hours in the garage, before you charge the battery, because fast discharge in hot weather, heats up the battery and can cause it to EXPLODE if an older car you bought from some guy who always discharged the car to 0%, then fast charged it to 100%, damaging it, driving again, repeating on long roadtrips, etc. How can responsible governor legalize darker colors cars in Arizona where 120°F weather is so common? While you may love dark color cars, they can cost you the lives of family members: hot car batteries can ALSO EXPLODE while in your garage as your child (much lighter and thrown much more) approaches the car while charging (see explosion while charging in hot weather) and kill by proximity, like cell phone lithium ion batteries explode when getting hot, so be aware of safety, don't OVERHEAT phones or cars... unless you want to end up like these exploding cars: bus on fire, TESLA EXPLODES 16 TIMES, STAY AWAY from a burning car... Don't drive a lot and the charge from 0 to 100%, and then drive again, in hot weather. Always try to charge 30-80%, half the battery at once, and take some break if hot weather. ☺☺☺

Eternal Travel Inc ought to block cars from going lower than 15% of battery range and more than 95%, to prevent fires, unless it is once a month for 100% charge. Get a long range version and charge more often, minimize risks. Recall how hot the phone gets after your charge it? Same is true for your car battery: so always let it cool before driving in hot weather, to avoid fatal explosions. Why do you think Tesla has glass roofs? In case of an explosion, you might make it alive if you eject thru the roof naturally or using a tool to break it if car is stuck in a ditch and you try escape the fire. Always carry a good tool in your Tesla car glove box to break that roof in case of catastrophe: a sunroof gives you more chances of survival during a crash when doors and windows are blocked by ditch, trucks, cars, or nearby objects, poles, etc or door don't open, but roof is free. In 30 states tornadoes are common (however, tornadoes happen in all states, and you could just end up in a ditch due to its force and only escape route may be roof, or windshield, so have that wrench or small hammer ready to break the Tesla glass roof or gas car windshield before you burn to death, in case doors or door windows are blocked from opening by nearby cars, trees, buildings: after a collision you're weaker and have no power to break stuff, due to being squeezed, so a tool is critical in the are between seats box or glove box, easy to reach in case of cramped after accident worst case scenario: small thin muscleless older or young ladies don't have 15 minutes to break that laminated windshield or roof, they need a tool to do it in 10 seconds and get out before the fire kills or severely injures them: ambulance may not come for 1 hour if in remote areas) and they can swerve cars into another lane and cause horrific accidents and even fly cars 20 meters into the air, so then, if your Tesla flips, you will hit the road with your head if glass gives in. Florida has the most tornadoes per square mile. Tesla owner broke his window to get out during a fire. Gently compute risk based on job and car use during rainy weather prone to tornadoes, watch the tornado car flip videos: car flying, or semi overturned, an 18 wheeler, or another car flips in front of a car. However, most car accidents are not tornado flips, so Tesla does remain much safer. Always charge at home slowly, if possible, fast charging increases fire/battery damage risk due to overheating fast. 3 cars burn in EV charging stations in 3 minutes, starting with some gas EV hybrid car that made the rest catch fire. EV jumps 5 meters into air due to explosion... in China. Check the French bus catching fire, stay away from such fires, they could explode and kill you. Tesla car has some fume, 10 seconds later explodes... in China. Avoid electric motorcycles or even gas ones, they're so dangerous, left leg burned. Your gas or EV car can catch fire hours or days after it sit in the sun, costing $500000 house repairs, fire on road. Spend 18$ on a car cover, to avoid lifelong disability, death, car pileups that kill 5 due to spontaneous battery fires. The solid state batteries of year 2050 will be the only ones on the road, 100 times safer than gas or current lithium, but until then buy a cheap cover. A cheap reflective cover weakens and shreds over time in strong sun, so don't spend more than 20-25$, as a new one is needed every few years. Gas cars have way more fires/1000 cars than EVs. Immortalists love Immortality for All and reducing car fires to ZERO.☺

To avoid overheating the battery during parking at work/home during warm days, try Walmart sedan car cover under 25$ or ebay car cover under 25, 25$ Mocking cheapest 200×75×60, though Mocking is really for no wind areas (4 mph max), as it has only one strap, which sucks, better pay more to get a real Koukou cover with 3 locking straps. SUVs need height 70", width 78, so 41$ SUV 200×79×70 Koukou works (Koukou has sedan sizes too, very nice, thin polyester, 5x lighter than usual, with 3 straps, near the center and wheels making it easy to secure in seconds, unlike most, not heavy like the thick types ultra hard to secure with cloth on the inside that gets ultra moldy, brittle and impossible to wash easily). For mid price sedan covers, try 35$ Kayme, 30$ Amazon Basic, not sure how the Kayme/Amazon straps work, if they got the 3 you need in most USA. Perhaps you need to order something that fits well, maybe return if not, to prevent wind blowing it away. You need hot water if frozen in winter, otherwise it rips easily. Chinese brands for 1000s of products are made by the same big distributor, then resold by 900 tiny companies at 50 prices. Choose silver or UV damage proof white car covers, silver reflects UV better, while white cloth is destroyed by UV in hot climates. Dark silver, blue, red, dark covers heat up the battery, can start car fires in hot climates. On a warm 80°F day, I went into the car that had the reflective above, the half aluminized on top (half is more metallic, water can condense as on a metal car at night): it was way cooler than outside: with the old covers it's hotter inside. A silver reflective one saves $2000 car electricity AC costs because a hot car radiates heat for 5 hrs, lowering EV range. Don't buy Chinese Evs, disable voice commands in a car, as one mishearing by AI can mean DEATH: AI wrongly turned off headlights, crashed into the guardrail. A nearby car can play a voice "stop engine now" if window is open/closed, to cause a crash & run away. ☺

AE 2011;88(12):4343-57 found 2 identical cars exposed to the sun, one black and one silver, over time, become 5-6°C (9-11°F) apart, due to silver reflecting more sunlight (white, light colors too). For those living in warm climates this helps save the battery and keep the car interior cooler. White paints designed to repel 98% of heat will make the difference even higher. A youtube and article also support this idea of 9-20°F degree difference, in extremely hot weather (85-125°F). IR camera taking pic of hood center for black and white cars got 159 for black, 146 for medium dark silver (light grey, so Tesla dark grey 'silver' would be hotter, as hot as black almost), 130 for silver, 112 for white, a 47F black/white difference. You will use so much more AC and lose all money saved by buying dark grey Tesla over time, plus engine parts wear out faster when it gets so hot. A video made by a TV meterologist and his wife shows in 100°F outside metal temp white Tesla reaches 122°F, while black reaches 171°F, the white interior parts are 124, the black ones 164°F, so definitely get white interior and white car, since inside cars, kids can die very fast (their core temp rises 4 times faster) or even older people can suffer damage in hot climates or even in the winter, cars can get to 100°F and kill someone inside. Just paint your car white, if you didn't know these things, for 400$ at a cheap shop and save thousands in electricity bills at charging stations; buy the Amazon white seat covers and you're good to go. Autotrader took 2 identical cars and left them in 95°F weather 2 hours, white interior got 113°F, black 131, while using the AC after 10 min, white car interior reached 84, while black 91. Do you want to be baking at 130°F??? And waste 30% of EV range on AC? Unless you live in a cold state, only white makes sense, since summers reach 100-130°F interior temp if dark colors almost everywhere, even when outside is 85-95°F, which is typical of most states. In hot states, you will use more electricity, which is not renewable, pollutes the air, gives strokes, heart attacks, etc to people via smog from coal, gas plants and generally is an act of pure genocide. So, it's not about what you like, but what kills fewer people depending on the weather and when you drive, these things are computed by Eternal Travel Inc, instead of 3rd grader job car salesmen telling you to buy this or that. White is multicoat paint, while black and blue are not, for Tesla, so white will last longer. While a big kid may not die instantly at 105°F, it may have some damage, especially without cabin overheat protection on in the summer or 4 windows open all the way if outside is only 85°F. Laws ban dark roofs and mandate white roofs in hot states (because AC costs drop 40%), or we mandate the cooler than ambient temperature panels to avoid AC totally, soon they will ban really dark cars in hot states probably, or at least, require a huge label about the risks of dying and how it can be 20-30°F hotter inside, 50°F hotter seats, exterior. One odd thing about USA, is the fact we have 5 types of red: the red of the cars in USA and worldwide, blood red, and 9 others: magenta, orange pink & purplish dark pink, lavender, lilac, orchid, purple (many shades of it, at least 3 very distinct), fuchsia, etc. Yet, they choose only the red color, which is shown to make other drivers more irritated, less rational and angrier. This is truly puzzling, as if satanists who love spilling blood rule the planet. There ought to be a ban on blood red until all bloodshed ends, with the other 9 reds above promoted. We go to churches, see people emulate blood drinking daily in Catholic churches, with the Eucharist, so the obsession with this red is deep. It's the only red on the 'strange' flags of endless nations, as if only bloodshed is their GOAL, as seen from their evil anthem of violence and infernal tone of melody. Compare it with the Immortalist Anthem and the Immortalist Flag. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

To summarize, to protect battery from fires in hot climates (and to extend EV range, prevent dry eyes from AC running) try 1. most heat reflective gloss white wrap on the glass roof, 2. IR blocking clear window tint for windshield and front doors, darker for the other 3 windows 3. white seat covers. 4. wrap or paint car white, wrapping costs half of a good paint job, and allows you to remove the wrap later, in 3 years when you sell your car and still have an amazing & beautiful perfect looking, like new, car, same for white seat covers on top of black, will keep it pristine. Also, the 5000$ off inventory cars that are not white, on tesla.com is a good savings, a white wrap job is only 500$ if you find a good deal or you can do it yourself; this will make the resale value of your Tesla so much higher, as your paint looks new when you take that vinyl off from the glass roof (tell them to cover the roof too like on any metallic car) and the body. 5. reflective aluminized car covers presented above which work fine in climates with light or less rain, since cotton would turn moldy fast if you take it out and store it and it's a little wet due to tiny water traces getting under the aluminum fibers due to the person being in a rush and not realizing water on outer side can get on the inner side when taking the car cover off (especially if light rain exists during this removal process). For climates with a lot of rain a new car cover or piece of white tarp on top of your soft cotton one is needed, since torrential rains would crate mold in any conventional car cover. The cotton interior or polyester types are fine, to avoid car scratching by the tarp, as an interface between the tarp and the car. The best for Florida, Hawaii, etc may be something like white tarp ones (that sell for 500$) that you create yourself for only 50$ using tarp from Home Depot store. Not all have the luxury of a garage. Park in the garage or, if allowed, simply create a temp carport using 4 sticks & a piece of white tarp from the store. Home Depot may not have sun heat reflecting white tarp, so get this 50$ 14 mil thick, 10x20 ft improvised tarp car cover to prevent mold in polyester aluminum, cotton fibers. ☺☺☺

Imagine in 120°F outside weather, the inside temps after 15 min would be even more lethal. Recall at 150°F, hot water can lead to severe burns, as you know, imagine a kid touching a black car that is 171°F. Every week a child dies in a hot car due to the lack of awareness of white (light blue, dark silver won't do, it has to be reflective white or the lightest silver at least, to reflect heat well) vs dark colors. Tesla is the only car that offers cabin overheat protection. Tesla seems brain dead, they made their white Pearl, instead of bright reflective white that saves the battery in California. Anyone can contact Tesla product design? There are specific white paints that absorb 4 times less heat. Bright white means less traffic accidents, as all see you at night better. This translates in 20°F difference between black and white inside, due to black interior leather too, pure hell in warm climates like AZ, warm California areas, Hawaii, etc. 0 IQ companies create car seat covers of all colors that make car interior so HOT. If I had watched this video in 2016, I would have never bought a light blue Nissan Leaf, since the white one was actually cheaper. Light blue will get as hot as that light grey, 34 degrees hotter on hood than white, so you will toast even in 85 so called mild weather without using AC all the time. Try find white seat model Y, etc covers online, 112$ for all 360 covers Tesla 3 seats, avoid non-360 covers, if you made a brainless decision for black interior and black paint car in Arizona, and legal window tint with IR reflective tint to make car and battery cooler. They got white covers for the back seats if you were misled by sales to buy black interior in hot states. States are too busy with duplicating and wasting time, to create laws to protect car buyers and inform them properly about the risks and temperatures. Most stores are run by filif low IQ people in warm states and white is absent.

Dark beige seats will make your car so hot, only now you realize the difference between white and "pastels". It's a joke. Keep wheels narrow if you want the longest range, 4 dB less body destroying noise, higher safety in extreme winter driving, on loose snow and slush. We need Eternal Travel Inc to make longevity based decisions for all car products depending on your state and heat level. Now you understand why we need Immortality Building Inc with federal guidelines depending on how much sun and heat, since we see these 0 IQ builders making hot zone homes non-white, and thus making homeowners use AC 5 times more than they need to, leading to incredible waste for society, in maintenance of AC, dry eyes, mold on vents, noise, etc. Go to Arizona and see how many build houses that are beige, brown and grey, everywhere in hot climates, instead of reflective white that is 25 degrees cooler, leading to so many diseases from AC needless overuse. In cold climates, all houses need to get colorful, blue, darker beige (saw how black car was almost as hot as the light grey car, unbelievable) cobalt blue, purple, lavender, etc to avoid using heaters so much in the winter… and make the cities more colorful with yellow, orange, purple, etc. The best solution is to have some window blinds type of things on house exterior that can be mechanically switched (2 sides, 2 colors, you flip them) to the reflective white or absorbing black or purple or a dark color you like, in the winter, so you reflect heat during oppressive summers and absorb heat during frigid winters, with these things linked to water or some material that warms up the house well with the absorbed heat. However, in the winter, dark colors save your battery as you heat interior less, if the sun is out in your state in the winter, fall, spring when you drive. However, the sun in cold climates is usually far weaker, especially during colder 5 months, in IR intensity, so the effect will be far milder than

Arizona 120F weather, on the battery drainage. The difference becomes even more negligible for states that are mostly overcast year round, like West Virginia, the state with most mountains/total area. In such states white or black makes no difference, except in the summer when it's sunnier and less overcast, so white interior/exterior is still fine, motivates you to keep car cleaner, less infected with junk. Cold states hot cars are far less bearable than a little cold cars that will only get marginally warmer during sunny rides to due to dark interior/exterior, so it all depends on your town, village and what is the summer max, the winter IR intensity (IR is max at noon, drops 10 fold by 5 pm) when you drive, etc. For some cold climates, pastels or white make more sense, as the heat is more annoying than a little cold in the winter you're so used to. You can get warmer clothes in the winter, but you can't drive naked if you want to avoid AC. If you drive at night mostly, before sunrise, early morning or after sunset, then, color has no effect. So having a dark color car won't help as much as a white one in super hot weather. But it does help, so choose wisely. How can that 20F extra heat not damage your car by wear and tear and make you use AC 3 times more, draining your range and wearing battery much faster? In warm climates, interior leather needs to be ideally white or cream, to avoid wasting 25% of battery range with AC that dries eyes. In colder climates, where people run heat more than AC, darker colors (dark blue, etc) make more sense, as this would save battery there by warming the car (except in the summer when it's 85 outside in most "cold climate" USA).☺☺☺

The Best Electric Cars to Buy are the ones with* low Radio Frequency, to prevent cancer, etc

A guy had 3 gas BMW and then he bought a Tesla to discover the superior World of Electric. A popular Electric Car in 2024 is the Tesla Model 3 2024 *L*ong *R*ange (LR) or Model 3 Highland as they call it, (see review here: they changed 50% of the car parts, increased battery capacity from 75 to 78.4 kW, it's a major upgrade vs prior years) which is allowing you to charge at 125 times faster speed*, 250 kWh* (at Tesla superchargers no other car can go to, which have the highest speeds of the 'fast chargers') from 10 to 60%, than the 2012 Nissan Leaf charges at 75% battery, 2 kWh. It's available for ordering at tesla.com. The average speed of charging at 250 kWh chargers is 124 kWh, and at 150 kWh max chargers, it is 100 kWh, reason being that after reaching 50%, chargers slow until you go to 80%, so the same car will take 6 extra minutes to go to 80% at 150 kWh chargers. Thus, the max speed of a charger is not that critical if you want to charge to 80%, but the difference in time is way bigger if you charge from 10% to 50% only, when that slowing doesn't happen. On a charger with 50 kWh maximum, the typical ChaDeMo, a Leaf will charge at an average speed of 10 kWh, so if you buy a Leaf you will wait a LOT longer. The same exact car can take 25 minutes 20 to 80% in Florida warm weather and 200 minutes in Alaska weather, if battery was not preconditioned with a heat pump like Teslas can. These are extreme examples, but they help you understand why youtubers say "this car charged to 80% in 50 min, not 30 minutes", etc. It all depends on several factors, like battery temp, etc. In 2025 all major EV companies will have access to the Tesla supercharger network and you can get another non-Tesla car that has 130-200 kWh on board charger. Tesla says there is 20-50% less vibration in driver seat vs 2023 Model 3 and earlier models due to new suspension tech (read article for details: frequency-dependent damper valves, etc). EPA estimate range is 341, not 358 as 2022 models, since EPA changed their standards to make them more real world like for the combined city-highway estimate (high speed 70 mph highway too maybe, not 60 mph as up to now). The range is basically a little better than old 2022-2023 models due to aerodynamics. 2024 Juniper Model Y may become available in the summer and have all the improvements of Model 3 2024, plus the 7500 point of sale instant rebate Model 3 Long Range doesn't get. The Tesla website said 333 mile EPA range for 2023 LR, while WLTP range is 421 miles (city driving mainly, perfect room temperature, 18" wheel, if 19" wheel, range drops to 390). Model Y 2024 WLTP is 333. WLTP for all cars, including 2024 Model 3 are here. The EV database clearly shows Model 3 Highland LR drives 136 extra km WLTP-TEL (678 km) in perfect conditions vs Model Y LR WLTP-TEL (542 km), due to drag coef 0.219 (2024 model, vs 0.225 earlier) and lighter car, 400 lb lighter. If short on cash, you can buy Model 3 LR older models on tesla.com with listed (for 18" wheel) EPA range: 2018-19 310 miles, 2020 322, 2021 353, 2022 358, 2023 333, 2024 341 (a bump of 9 miles over 2023 due to lower drag coefficient). EPA estimate is for 60 mph mostly, Edmunds tested Tesla and lost 17% on 70 mph test. Can buy 19" and then change it to 18" if nothing 18" is available in your price range. You can't buy a car with better range (353) for 30K and access to fastest biggest least busy charging network in the world. Best deal for range is 2021 3 LR now for those wanting to spend only 30K on a white one, not 48K as on new. The EVDB real world range difference between the two is big 505 km for 3 and 435 km for Y, so 70 km in cold weather on highway conditions being common scenario. This WLTP website shows how useless the EPA estimates were up to Jan 5th 2024 when they changed the numbers, on the Tesla USA website, which made it sound like Model 3 LR and Model Y LR have similar range 333 and 330 miles, when they can't, since one is much heavier, far less aerodynamic, all while having the same 78 kWh battery. If you try buy a Tesla from European countries, by going to Tesla.com/country you get range for smaller wheel 679 km and 565 km (numbers appear lower on the page, under if default smaller wheel chosen), a 114 km WLTP difference, not 3 miles as with EPA estimate. Even for next wheel size, you get 629 and 533 (the numbers on the top of the page when you order LR, Tesla posts max range for the bigger wheel). So, if range during hot-cold weather is a concern, choose Model 3 LR, as range drops in half during high speed highway and extreme temp for all electric cars. If in a dry area with no potholes, you can go with Model 3 LR, to have some decent range in cold weather and have a much nicer ride, as people say it drives nicer than MY 2023, due to the latest improvements. Many can't afford MYLR new since it can cost 17K extra than a 2021 model, since their tax liability is too low to get 7.5K back before 10 years (Tesla doesn't offer instant rebate like many dealers do, the program is one many dealers signed up with), so they can simply order 4 parts for a 2021 old MYLR and have some mechanic install them to get an ASTOUNDING difference between 2021 and 2021 with these 4 parts (same as 2023 MYLR). Cost is 580 parts and 600 install. Tesla ought to update all 2020-2022 for free, for all who ask for it, or for a very low 200$ fee. Are they going to recycle all batteries? Wet states and cold states got a lot of potholes, so model Y with extra ground clearance is useful. ☺☺☺

Edmunds found that the EPA range is highly inaccurate, with real world being between 20% smaller and 60% bigger. It all depends on temperature and how you drive, what speed, if AC is on, brand of car, etc. Rear half windows got acoustic glass too, not just the front half, so the ride is much quieter, 2024 wind noise reduced 30% per Tesla vs old Model 3. Model Y 2024 ranges on tesla.com were downgraded on Jan 5th 2024, due to EPA changes: 310 for LR, not 330, etc, while Model 3 LR remained 333 EPA range. Thus, the 3LR-YLR difference of 23 miles makes more sense, while in 2023 it made no sense to be 330 and 333. On Jan 10th 2024, Tesla again changed the Model 3 LR range to 341, as Highland was launched, so now the difference is 31 miles between LR 3 and Y. So, if you want a longer range EV, 2021 or 2022 little used Model 3 with "353-358" EPA range may be a good deal, which is about "328-333 when it was new" new EPA range. Go to tesla.com, choose a model, inventory, used and you will see EPA estimate in that year for a brand new model, though when you buy a car, the dealer can tell what the dashboard says: 278. The Tesla Model Y 2024 will have 20% more range, new battery AND all the improvements of Highland to basically "crush" all competition for next 3 years, so 373 EPA estimate, per some analysts, from the current 310 range for LR trim plus, 250 kW charging speed for regular trim (from 170 now), enabling all, not just LR trim, to enjoy Supercharger highest speed. Set Tesla to Chill mode not Sport to save tires and range. Avoid potholes, to prevent tire damage. All EVs will switch to Tesla port, and many non-Teslas can use Tesla superchargers starting early 2024, per PC Magazine. See the list of 21 companies who will change to Tesla port in 2025, enabling all to use Tesla supercharger network in 2025, it's the whole EV industry. In the spring 2024, all Ford EVs can change at Tesla using the CCS to Tesla adapter, and in 2025 Ford cars will have Tesla port. All other CCS port cars (like the noisy 2024 Nissan Ariya, with CCS charger, that new makes more noise when driving at 4 mph than my 12 years old Nissan Leaf made, even though that car costs 45-65K vs just 38K new for Leaf) will be able to use Tesla chargers in 2025, in exchange for adoption of Tesla standard in all future cars. Everything will be electrified. This unification of standards is accelerating, with more companies joining monthly that the above article didn't cover. All cars will be EVs, we will have clean air for the first time ever in 120 years. The power of centralist immortalism will sweep the Earth and every industry, enabling all to live to 90000 one day. In 8 states Model Y costs 27-32K new due to state rebates.

EV SAFETY – 45+ pages (1. EV cameras, 2. charging 3. EV water safety 4. EV RF SAFETY):

1. cameras*: use the front camera while driving, if your car has one, to see the above car view of the sides* (the side cameras that come with adaptive cruise control, lane keep etc, on most new cars, go to console on the main screen or to apps, choose camera) and the front, in order to avoid hitting any trees, sidewalk blocks that rub against your tires, objects, people etc. When you enter shopping center as you turn right or left, if new or unsure, look at the camera briefly, since you're 5 mph, and see if you need to be closer or further away from the curve to avoid hitting the sidewalk, pets, people, etc. ☺☺☺

2. charging: some EVs lose some range in winter time, if it's way below freezing, just like gas cars do. In cold temps, you need to precondition the battery, otherwise it won't be able to charge or even start the car at times if your charge is 9%. If you charge an EV to 100% and leave it on in the garage for 1 day at 100% you degrade the battery & lose eventually 50% of range if you do it often. Likewise, if you leave it parked in garage 1 day at 5-15% charge often, you can lose 50% of the range over time. The number one reason EVs lose range is owners have no clue about the 20 to 80% rule, which is to keep car charged between 20% and 80% at all times, not more or less, ideally 40 to 70 actually, for best longevity of range. You can go to 100%, but only if you drive right after charging, or within 20 minutes. You don't want to ruin a 50K Silverado truck battery within weeks. Do these basic things and EV will keep the range. It's a good idea to charge to 100% and then drive right away, at least thrice a year, to load up all cells and keep battery in optimal shape. You don't want to freeze to death in a charging station, in a remote area, unable to charge, always start with high charge in cold winter days for long trips, because conditioning wastes range in cold winters and range can drop in half at 0°F for some cars. Relying on one station, with no other within 50 miles is not smart, always leave more range than it takes to get to 2-3 stations in case one is broken or weak and unable to start your car. A snow storm can mean you end up DEAD by hypothermia without good range, so plan well. This is only a real issue in colder climates, not in warmer states of USA, though snow storms happen in Florida (warmest winters mainland state) too, especially north and central Florida. EVs can be on for far longer than gas cars, using little energy to heat the heats, so they're safer if stuck in traffic due to a crash, for 24 hours, where miles of cars can't move due to snow too. Gas cars waste 85% gas as heat, and you don't get that heat, so you can freeze to death even faster if low on gas. In 2033, solid state batteries will double the range of EVs and gas cars will make no sense anymore. Don't think "God protects you", if you don't plan well, you can die any cold day. Prepare well. EVs have 10 times fewer fires and with solid batteries it will be 100x fewer per million cars, so nobody will want to buy gas cars in 2035, if you're 100 times more likely to be burned to death.

3. floods, hurricanes, rain (8 pages): rain can cause EV fires: in Florida, thigh deep waters often happen in some neighborhoods, see 2024 video. Gas cars need air to burn the gasoline, so during floods the air is shut off and the engine stops. EVs however, need no air, so they can work for longer, until the water shorts the battery if one is too long in the water and too much salt gets into the water due to ocean storm surge (not rain). EV fires burn at 5000°C, vs 1500 for gas and take 10 times the water to put out. However, solid state battery EVs have 100 times fewer fires overall than combustion engine cars, while regular liquid batteries have 10 times fewer fires than gas cars. Choose cars, EVs with AWD, not all AWDs are equal: the 1st EV with Subaru symmetrical AWD is safer than regular AWD during rainy weather than the rest, see a 2nd video on symmetrical AWD. Subaru Solterra, Chevy Blazer/Equinox, Kia EV6, Ioniq 5,6, Kona, Nissan Leaf, Toyota Bz4x, Mustang, got 10000 to 100000 less RF pollution than Teslas. Salt water in flood prone areas (Florida, etc) can cause conductive bridges that short circuit the battery and lead to sudden fires weeks after a flood, leading to burned houses, etc. The 2024 Chevy Silverado truck will charge 3.5 times faster than Subaru Solterra or Toyota bz4x at 350 kWh, qualify for the 7.5K incentive, get 450 mile range vs 222 Solterra. The 6.5" ground clearance late 2025 Equinox EV LT is 27.5K after the 7.5K discount, and you get many other discounts like Costco 1000$, switching to GM 1500$, former Chevy Bolt customer 2500$, etc making it more like 23K with 319 mile range, so it will bankrupt many automakers in the EV field, because in tests (61°F, city 60% highway 40%) Equinox 1LT beat Tesla Long Range by 46 miles, while costing 10000$ LESS. The Equinox EV 2LT is 35.8K after rebate, the cheapest way to get a summer 2024 319 mile range in a new car, outperforming all EVs by a large margin, especially price wise, 27K vs 40-55K for those without 7.5K rebate made outside USA. Everyone will be forced to lower prices to sell even 90 electric cars, and since overnight charging EVs at home means 4 times less money for fuel, or free with some solar panels, nobody will buy gasoline cars that cost way more than 27K. Never drive EVs thru water deeper than 3" (8cm), as you could end up dead due to the car igniting suddenly in your garage and house burning down. This smoke is not to be confused with steam that comes out of the Tesla heat pump while charging the car in very cold weather: Tesla has heat pumps, unlike other EVs, which increase its range during cold weather, warming the battery while charging, etc. It's suicidal to drive any car thru any water higher than the ground clearance of a car,☺☺☺ because mold inside the car will make you sick and you may short out some computer circuits leading to a malfunction during a high speed drive that could kill you too: just stay home, don't go shopping, have food for 10 days if living in flood prone areas like Florida. Florida has the most tornadoes per square mile, so you want to build a dome or get a concrete house, and a concrete garage, not live in a wood frame or mobile home, check out a second map that shows the cities and google maps common streets so you know exactly if you can die on the road or not if you drive in cloudy rainy windy very dark grey sky weather (like in the video, avoid driving in such weather, it could be a sign of tornado forming) when tornadoes can form. A trip to get some food or a snack could kill you later. If you live in a city like these with hurricanes that happen every year or two, pay more attention on flood risk maps for your place before you decide where to park your EV to avoid flooding, always go for no flood zones or houses way higher, on top of a hill, even if man made (West Texas has almost no tornado, 1 in 25 years in 2 counties). Police explains why even 6" of water is so dangerous and yet millions of people do it. Model Y LR has 6.8" ground clearance, which is safer for crossing 3" flood waters than 5.5" Model 3, and for going over potholes or mud like roads. Ground clearance for many EVs (ID4 8.2" Europe, 6.7" USA for AWD, 6.0" for 2WD) is higher for Europe or Asia models, so check before buying. In USA models, a used Audi e-tron Q8 9.8" high ground clearance (at low speeds, air suspension) is higher than Model X highest ground clearance of 9.0" (old models) or 8.1 (2021 or newer), while costing the same: 40K. So, Audi makes a LOT more sense given the much lower RF pollution, and almost 2 extra inches of ground clearance to traverse high waters or muddy areas off-road. On top of that, Tesla customer service is terrible. I wanted to return the mobile connector I ordered (when I didn't realize how bad the RF is and that I won't drive a Tesla ever), and the email I got said I can return it to any Tesla Service Center. I went to the center and the lady claimed it can't be returned there, only via FedEx, so I had to print label and go to FedEx. I asked Tesla several times, many people, how can I remove GPS at a service center to remove RF pollution, microwave genocide, and they said it cancels warranty or if older than 8 years, they don't do it, because it gives screen error message. So, Tesla is not even interested in having people switch to them. The company is not centralized and efficient. Subaru Solterra is 8.3" by default, higher than 8.1" max Model X clearance that is not usable at higher than 15 mph or something speeds. Model X 2023 got an adjustable air suspension (the most comfortable of all Tesla cars) like Rivian, so you can choose 5.7", 6.6", 8.1", the 3 levels. Model X and Model S always had the superior ride quality air suspension, see Model S dimensions and ground clearance of the adjustable suspension here, S levels are 4.6", 5.0", 6.2", so S is low by default. Model 3 2024 has lost 0.1" of ground clearance from older models, in order to boost its range, so 5.4 for long range/standard, 5.2 for performance. Model Y is 6.2 performance, 6.8" the rest. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

With 1100$, you can boost the Y ground clearance by 2 inches, as the video shows. With 15K, you can boost the ground clearance of Y and 3 by 5 inches. Do these upgrades only on cheap cars that are more than 8 years old, since changing so much would void the warranty. Such modified Tesla cars can be used in mud filled areas, flood prone areas, off-road without having to play with the air adjustments, etc, for those not able to spend 71K (after tax rebates) on a 2024 Rivian R1S new car (after 3750 instant rebate from the feds), with 15" ground clearance option (default is 9, but air suspension allows raising it temporarily to 15). Future tech will allow the S to see potholes or other things and raise the height of the car, so it doesn't cause scratching of the car underside. All old models got air suspension, so if you want smoothness and high ground clearance (8.3-9.0" in old models, 9.0" for 2019, 0.1" higher than Ford truck EV), a used Model X that doesn't break (see Model X issues that will disappear over the years, each year each model gets much better, Tesla is a new company) beats all other EVs in price and performance, and got 16 extra ft^3 vs Model Y. EVs are a new tech, so Ford F-150 has some reliability issues too. Rivian too. However, Toyota was also unreliable initially, it took many years to became reliable. So, while S and Y are very reliable, all Tesla models will improve dramatically each year. However, Model Y is far more reliable, having had fewer issues than Model X, so, you can roll Y seats down and use Y to transport a lot of stuff, like you would with a truck. For off-road and Florida like states with frequent floods (or dirt roads), 2017-2022 Model X is the best at 9" ground clearance max, after the 17.4" Cybertruck. Cybertruck is different than most cars and UK banned it, due to pedestrian risks (sharp instead of round corners like EU-UK require), high weight, poor lights for fog and wireless steering. 26K for 2016 models, 40K for 2018. Long Range (high ground clearance, high battery safety) Model X is 257 miles EPA range for 2016 *(P100D with larger battery, but lower ground clearance is 289),* 295 2017-2018, 328 2019, 351 2020, 371 2021, 348 2022, 335 2023. For more useful information about all TESLA cars, see evspecifications.com which says that the Model X maximum ground clearance (3 settings exist, the highest) is: 8.1" 2023, 8.3" 2016, 9.0" 2017 + 2018 + 2019 + 2020 + 2021 + 2022. When calling Tesla, they said 2017-2020 is 9.0", 2021-2023 is 8.1" (highest only applies to < 15 mph speeds or less, high to < 35 mph, medium to < 55 mph, so you get some 7" max at 60 mph if that, way lower than Subaru Solterra 8.3, Chevy Blazer 7.9". Since Tesla Owner's Manual website lists the latest manual as for 2021+ for Model X, it means they changed it to 8.1" max in 2021. Tesla said if battery fails, due to 8 years of warranty being out on your 2016-2018 Model X, the replacement battery is 27K for 90 kWh, 45K for 100 kWh, so better get a 2021 or newer to get 4 years warranty in 2025.

Model Y, weighs the same as 7.9" clearance Chevy Blazer EV and has only 6.8" clearance max, 6.2" for performance trim. You can get a 2024 Blazer (qualifies for 7.5K instant rebate, so it is cheaper brand new than 45K 2023/4 Subaru Solterra, has 57-100 miles extra range depending on trim RWD (324 mile range) or AWD (279 miles), 50% faster charging 150kWh vs 100 kWh, bigger cargo, bigger car for camping than Solterra) or Rivian R2 45K car (2026) instead, all manufacturers will have access to all Tesla chargers in 2025, via an adapter and new models will come with the Tesla NACS standard for all EVs in 2025. Plus 100000 times less microwaves in the back seat, 2000 times less front seat vs Tesla. Anyone with an EV can travel across USA 2700 miles from LA to Miami, New York etc, or in the future, from Moscow to Dublin (2600 miles), without any worry, as there are enough chargers from Electrify America to charge every 150 miles or 55; the location of these chargers is on plugshare.com. 1000S of Americans drove cross country without a problem. While it is charging, you eat, relax, stretch, give body, brain a much needed rest. Most small cities have a Walmart or hotel where Electrify America CCS chargers are (4 of them usually: two 150 and two 350 kWh) and usually nobody is there: these are on the major highways for inter-state travel or 1 mile away, you can't miss them as they're often the only high speed chargers, just filter your plugshare.com chargers to be above 50 kWh and you will see; scroll on the plugshare.com station to read the last check in to make sure someone charged there recently, otherwise, it may be a charger that was discontinued or damaged. Avoid big cities in your route, so you can avoid waiting at the chargers, just keep to 10000 people or less cities. In March 2024, Ford and the ever cheaper (71K for R1S new now) Rivian were allowed to use Tesla chargers already. Even today, Tesla app allows non-Tesla users (of the companies that made 2024 deals with Tesla) to subscribe to the Tesla superchargers on a pay as you go plan or 13$/month unlimited charging (5 times daily). The 2024 Solterra, whose RF I did not test yet, can charge 10-80% in 35 min, vs 60 for 2023 model, and 80 minutes faster in very cold weather, due to a new battery conditioning. Subaru Solterra is AWD, it does get 212 miles at 70 mph, in a real world test, being identical with AWD bz4x of Toyota (same car, just different branding and maybe AWD system). Solterra 2023 got mini self-driving, called "lane assist cruise control" that uses 3 cameras to steer the wheel for you. Tesla got 8 cameras, but what if condensation blocks the camera view and won't see cars or people at night whose colors blend perfectly into the background? One report said self-driving Teslas got 8.4 times more fatalities per 100 million miles than regular drivers. A user claims that Tesla Full Self Driving failed to see a deer (looks different than humans, so AI didn't stop) and ran over it damaging the car. The deer could have been a kid. In a test of Tesla software, the AI made a mistake every 13 miles, so in a 1300 mile journey you may die several times. What if a camera fails and car runs over people or other cars? Who monitors the cleanliness of cameras after you splash thru dirty water and block/cloud the camera view? The 2024 Solterra (available April 2024 at dealers) got stop and go (traffic lights, etc) self-driving below 25 mph. I tested 2023 Solterra lane assist cruise control (on a 1 lane road, with almost no other cars, ultra safe, both hands on steering wheel of course, it just moves it for you a little) and it works very well and 9 miles of driving showed up as 8 miles of range lost. Also, at the end of each trip, it shows miles and efficiency: miles/kWh, uphill to home I got 3.3, downhill to store 8.8. A trip is the distance between 1 start and 1 stop. It's kinder towards all human beings to never try self-driving unless you have hands on the wheel, are very well-rested, not tired, and can respond within 1 second to computer failures or camera failures to see objects, people, etc: computer failures can mean going in the wrong direction, if that happens slam the breaks to get out of that cruise control mode. You still drive, just move wheel less when going on a straight road at low speeds. Bz4x Toyota is 8.1" only, has FWD option with 150 kWh fast charge speed (faster then 100 kWh for Solterra 2023) and 250 mile range, vs 222 for the AWD bz4x and Solterra, which comes as AWD only. 212 miles at 70 mph, with AC at 68. The battery will last longer if you charge it at 100/150 kWh vs 350 or 250, so that may be a plus for slower charging cars. All EVs are better than Leaf that charges at 46 kWh max, Hyundai Kona 62 kWh max, or Chevy Bolt 55 kWh. Solterra (100 kWh 2023) is not ideal for long road trips where you can't wait 35 minutes (65 for 2023 model) to charge between 20 and 80%, or 60% of 73 kw,

Subaru is top 5 car brands in Consumer Reports and the 2 fast charges/day suggestion (people think it's a limit and write so in articles, but it's not, I charged it even 4 times a day one time (3 times about 5 times) and it works just fine) is meant to prevent battery fires happening in hot weather when people fast charge 5 times daily, or battery degradation. Their 8.3" (21cm) ground clearance means the bottom hits road least during pothole encounters vs most cars (except 15" Rivian R1S, 7.9" Chevy Blazer EV) and the super thick casing means safer battery pack. Water can't get in easily like in other battery pack designs, bz4x and Solterra have the same ultra thick underside, Solterra is made with Toyota. Battery fires diminish when you charge at 120 kWh, typical real world max for Blazer, vs 200 kWh as with Ioniq or Tesla. If life and no injuries for you or other drivers are your main priorities, Blazer, Rivian are the clear winners offering 285 mile range at least (not 222 like Solterra), a no-brainer, especially when you watch icy sliding videos from the upper half USA where millions of accidents happen yearly. Being up to 4200 lb (heavier than most Toyota Tacoma trucks, and some Ford F-150 trucks), vs 3500 for Nissan Leaf or 4000 lb for Tesla Model 3, Chevy Blazer tires press harder on the road, displacing water more completely, and preventing sliding during rain. Being under 5000 lb, the steel guardrails won't break as with 7100 lb Rivian truck. Being taller, another low height car can slide under Blazer partially a LOT easier and injure the driver far less if hitting the driver door, plus the seat is LOT higher than Model 3, so you see speeding maniacs coming suddenly far ahead and behind way better in areas with hills or slope. Additionally, unlike Teslas, Blazer default tires are wider, diminishing rainy weather accidents due to hydroplaning. The lower accident rate is also true for all SUVs and trucks, they slide less, due to more water displacement and wider tires that get a better road grip. However, water can only get out if the tires have deep grooves and are not worn, while in reality, half the cars on the road have at least one tire that is worn, and when all tires are worn, the risk of death increases 100 fold. Even if thread depth is half of new, braking distance increases and traction diminishes. Anything below 3 mm depth is dangerous, because even damp roads (light rain 1 hour before, on a warm road) can bring oil to the surface and cause hydroplaning. Breaking distance increases up to 6 ft at 40 mph, when tires lose half the thread depth. This alone can increase risk of accidents more than hydroplaning. If AWD, tires lose thread depth more evenly, but RWD or FWD wear unevenly and they need to be rotated more to prevent accidents. Comical articles online claim that EVs wear tires faster, which is a lie, it only happens sometimes due to people abusing the fast instant acceleration of EVs: always drive slow, like grandmas, defensively, at the speed limit max, have good tire threads and proper tire inflation, and you won't slide on the road during rains. The 250 KW max charge cars average 124 kw during a normal 10 to 80 charging, so while you get 81 kw (100 if weather is 75 maybe) initially, it goes down as you get closer to 80%. Gas cars explode and burn 10 times more often, but still, we just don't want needless deaths or injuries. Overall, in 2024, Blazer is the best for safety in icy roads, rainy roads conditions as stopping to charge in icy weather is a hazard and Solterra needs too much charging. If you're a sales person or tech support rep, driving 200 miles min daily, you need a Blazer RS with 324 mile range, not a 222 mile range Solterra. After 80% capacity speed of charge goes to 3 kWh on Solterra 2023, from 80 kWh at the start of charging when it has 10% of capacity, so don't even think you will wait 2 hours from 80 to 100%, it won't be worth the time and make it useless for longer trips when standing in cold weather to charge can often lead to dead battery and waiting 5 hours due to rate becoming 10 kWh even due to poor cold weather performance. When we talk about Chicago winters, it can get really cold. In real life, all EVs go to 3-15 kWh or so after 80% to avoid destroying the battery.

Model X 2018-2020 is the most versatile EXPENSIVE to buy/maintain car IF YOU CAN REMOVE THE radio frequency pollution, the true all-in-one, off-road vehicle, SUV, minitruck, the largest Tesla cabin to sleep in, more efficient than Cybertruck (very clumsy, need sleep on the side or trunk during bombing escape, almost impossible for 2 people to sleep in the trunk or cabin comfortably, unless they're short), when electricity is sparse, way comfier to sleep in for tall people than Cybertruck or other Tesla models, WW3 bombing escape vehicle on dirt-roads or grass (flatten the back seats and have a gigantic cargo space after covering it with tarp to move construction materials, etc), good range (for Long Range), amazing & beautiful charging network no other car gets, higher ground clearance than any other EV, except 100K Hummer or Cybertruck, etc. If war breaks out, Model X is the best car, as people may need to take shortest routes off-road and avoid roads. If you want range, meaning ultra fast charging between 10% and 50%, a 2021 Model X LR is the best deal, 371 range, and more years of warranty for the battery. Since Cybertruck is clumsy to carry around all the time, and uses a lot more electricity, Model X is a good compromise on dirt roads and remote areas. Model X is the safest Tesla car after Cybertruck, since if you hit a pothole or a pool of water with salt in it, it's the least likely to damage the battery if you set ground clearance to the maximum 8+". Model X is the best EV to go around on highest clearance when it rains and water pools form, and even when it's dry since potholes are everywhere. If you want to live in a more remote area, quieter, asphalt doesn't exist, so driving on a wet muddy road will require a Model X, Model Y will be bad. You can make model Y ride smoother like S and X, by simply changing the spring suspension to air suspension. Nothing else is needed, so when your Y needs some suspension work, simply replace it with air for a much smoother ride. This way, you can achieve the pros of model X, without the other expensive maintenance costs. However, as youtubers point out, this car is double the price of other cars to maintain and to purchase, so it is not for poor people, or those who expect the fancy falcon doors to never break (7000 to fix sometimes), or etc. Model X is more of a luxury car, but if you're not picky and can live with some errors and issues, that may cost 10000$ to fix and you lack that money, a used one for 25K, 4K credit, may work if 9.0" ground clearance is absolutely a must. X was 130K one time, now it's 80K, so prices will collapse more over time. Even used Model X got 150 kWh charging, like most EV trucks and SUVs today, so it will take 5 extra minutes to go to 80% vs 250 kWh versions. Some older Model X models could reach even higher, 9.0" on the high setting (the Long Range or Standard, not the Performance, which always has a lower ground clearance). R1S Rivian SUV has a 8-15" variable clearance, air-spring, costs 71K brand new, less than Model X new. Edmunds test was 330 miles, 16 above EPA estimate, with the AC on at 72°F. Pothole hits can also damage battery and start sudden garage or even highway fires months later (some fires start while driving on a highway, you may not escape without severe injuries or accident). So, by all means, avoid potholes and potholes filled roads when possible. It's key for Tesla to raise ground clearance until all potholes are fixed via the immortalist volunteer network, since some odd battery fires (10 times less common for EVs than gasoline cars) may be due to over hitting ground on driveway or potholes. We immortalists can't accept even 1 fire death a year, so we need to convince Tesla/others to raise the ground clearance. Y or 3 depends on where you want to live, what roads (dirt or paved), what rain patterns. For example, in Compton, potholes are 500 times more common than in other cities, so a Model X or Y is a must if you don't want to die in a highway fire, etc… Contrary to popular belief, today's gasoline cars (soon to be banned from the entire country in 2050 or so) have many electronic components that could be damaged during pothole hits which could also lead to odd car behavior leading ultimately to fatal crashes on highways. So, just because you don't have an EV yet, doesn't mean you're "safe to go thru water or potholes".

On the Tesla website a Model 3 white (white to extend range in hot climates) Long Range is 43K, while on autotrader.com a new Ford Lightning EV with 8.9" clearance (useful to prevent battery damage during potholes or salty water crossing that causes battery fires months later) is 30K in 2024. If you don't need a new car, buy a 9" Model X used or wait and get a 17.4" ground clearance car like Tesla Cybertruck (the best EV truck with 4 motors, and smoothest drive, highest charging speed 250 not 150 kW like the rest of 2024 trucks, fast charging on Tesla network during road trips, ability to sleep in the back on diagonal if tall, bullet proof body, and windows for extra price) if living in hurricane, storm zones. In Florida and areas with heavy rains, you need high ground clearance to return home from shopping, events or work, otherwise, like many people, you get stuck and have to sleep in the car until water recedes if nobody comes pick you up due to lack of staff at the local facilities. Do you want to wait for 4 hours for someone to pull you and to have your EV parked in a low lying area and have 7" of rain pool there and damage your 20K to replace battery? In a sudden downpour, some 5.2" Model 3 Performance may be destroyed while parked. All EVs need a camera on the side to help drivers who traverse water pools see that the water is not deeper than 1-2 inches from the ground clearance level, to avoid going into an invisible pothole or damaging the car with water. Cars sold in salty sea or ocean flood prone coast areas need to have at least 7-8" ground clearance to prevent deaths by sudden battery fires.☺☺☺ The central immortalist government would also block drivers from cities with many potholes to register or buy a car (all done via Eternal Travel Inc) for anything under 8" clearance to prevent fires. People have a bad habit of going thru deep water and then getting stuck in the pool. If you have a job of delivering stuff in rainy areas, get a high clearance car like a truck, SUV. When driving over any pool of water in new unfamiliar areas, open window and watch it's not more than 3-4", to prevent battery/engine damage: be ready for road rage if you slow down, so pull to the side, let everyone pass (crazy drivers can even shoot you) or simply avoid driving long distance during rain, only do it on sunny days (sudden thunderstorms are common in Florida though and you won't know when 5" of water pools in some destination in 20 minutes on all streets, so be ready for surprises in Florida, it has sudden thunderstorms lasting 15-50 min, that can increase water level faster than a light rain of 2 days in California). Florida rains cause many potholes and so do rains in other states, like California winter rains. Very cold weather also causes potholes. Thus, it's a good idea to buy EVs with high ground clearance if driving on rough roads, to prevent lethal battery fires from road impact or salty water in the water for those who got their car flooded near the coasts during storm surges. Driving in rain in Florida, the rainy state, is almost as deadly as driving in snow, so they need AWD. Thus, it's a good idea to have AWD to avoid slips in rainy or snowy states, as stipulated in the national centralization plan of the Eternal Travel Inc, whose aim is to reduce ice slips and rainy roads slips, accidents 5000 fold. Many youtubers show how Tesla Model 3 and endless cars with 5.5" ground clearance (ultra common) scratch the driveway due to the sharp angle from the driveway into the garage. This is due to a lack of centralization of USA garage, house building via Immortality Building Inc. Contractors have no clue what they're doing, playing with life & death. Every garage company builds driveways. It''s much wiser to buy Model Y than Model 3, since many garages, public or of houses you rent rooms from got this odd angle that could damage battery by hitting it and start a sudden fire on the road or while parked.

35 pages on EV RF (Tesla is the most RF polluting) & anti-crime/war, anti-hacker anti-spy safety:

Avoid self-driving in foggy or rainy conditions with cars without LIDAR, see how Tesla fails and kills people in fog and rain, vs LIDAR cars on autopilot. Newer Teslas also have insane deadly levels of radio frequency that cause cancer and Alzheimer, so with Lyft/Uber avoid Electric, as most Uber EVs are Teslas that give you a headache like you never had in 5 years. If Elon Musk runs USA, USA will disappear due to brain cancer. I write this so you always choose a non-Tesla EV if you can choose a ride car type. Teslas only have cameras, as the primitive self-driving cars, lacking the laser infrared 905 nm or 1550 nm light pulses of LIDAR. The virtuous universal gentle tender soft nurturing loving kindness immortalist government will require the country's only car selling website, cars.gov of ~Eternal~ Motors, to list the brain safety score (suspension shaking of brain, measured by MRI, etc), the UV safety score (until we require all windows to block UV to save our eyes) and the RF (radio frequency from connectivity) safety score, plus EF score, other scores as explained at the Eternal Travel Inc car website. In immortalism, the most important thing is being healthy and living to 9000, not driving a sports car. Before we go into 35 pages on microwaves in all electric and gas cars, this paragraph will mention another related issue for EVs only. If you go to Amazon, you buy cheap Chinese phone chargers that cost 3-4$, instead of 9$ for original Samsung, but they often produce 5000 times more microsurge GS units, as measured by the Stetzer meter, so the house electrical wiring high frequency currents go from 50 to 2000 or above, a 1950 GS (Graham-Stetzer, rate of change of voltage with time, dV/dt, 1 GS = 24V/s, 2000 GS=48000V/s, humming = high dirty electricity, need extra filters) units increase, instead of 0.1 unit increase for original Samsung. Saving 4$ can lead to catastrophic (not just diabetic foot amputation, but death too) health outcomes (shown in 100s of books about electric meters, poles, lines causing cancer and immune collapse, ADHD, infertility, in the 1960s, 1970s in people, loss of milk production in cows (and probably humans too, leading to short lifespan of offspring)), as these currents were shown to cause many illnesses. If you buy a 40$ surge absorber, sold by one of the main companies (read the details in the 10 page section on dirty electricity: how babies are born with birth defects), it drops back to the normal 50, though some houses need 3-5 filters in a room to go to a really healthy 25, due to terrible US wiring standards, a cause of decentralized banditry capitalism. GM, Subaru, Toyota, etc make deadly EV charging cables (GM actually uses some from some junk Chinese company for some cars) that produce, like bad phone chargers, 2000 GS units, instead of a max of 5 that would be OK. To increase profits by 0.00001% car companies cause billions of cancers/short lifespans, so the Eternal Travel Inc needs to bankrupt and buy all these parasitic automakers and demand proper 4$ part to avoid such genocide. Before selling a cable to charge EVs with, they need to prove via studies of 1 million people that the cable doesn't increase currents and if it does, that it has no effect on blood TNF, IL-6, 100 health biomarkers. IMAGINE: you pay $50000 on a car, but the low IQ automaker won't spend $5 to upgrade their charging cables or on board chargers and home stations to be safe, typical USA greed (manufacturers need to put 3$ tuning filter, all products have different frequencies, some already started to put these in LEDs, but not everyone puts them in EV chargers, phones, computers, etc), due to the lack of immortality capitalism. Re-pub-licans call for more deregulation, so the most lethal products are brought to market, such as gasoline cars with 1000 times more microwaves than many electric cars:

Lyriq 200 MHz to 8 GHz microwave radiation power density is 0.002 mW/m^2 vs 3 front seats 70 back seats for 2021+ Tesla with GQ EMF-390. If you look at average (third row of SSII meter*) you* get different values: 0.02 (ten times higher than GQ) vs 3 to 70 for newer Teslas, though the Peak (1st row of SSII meter) varies from 0.04 to 3. SSII is more sensitive, peaks indicate biological effects more than average; a sudden high sound or RF can cause deafness or damage, even if average is similar. The only way to remove all peaks on most EVs is to call the manufacturer and have them remotely deactivate all connected services. While many EVs will seem OK in medium background areas with a cheap multi-function RF-MF-EF meter like 125$ GQ 390, with a sensitive RF only meter like 400$ SS2, you will notice almost all new gas or electric cars that have any connected plans, app access, find stolen car, remotely lock car/remote start car, plans, have toxic RF peaks until you call the manufacturer to turn off subscriptions, WiFi, OnStar, Remote Access and other things your car might have, so that the area 1 cm above car above the back antenna RF drops from 20 mW to 0.04 background level. So, basically, RF is not an issue if you can just use the phone for navigation rarely when you need it, since any car you buy (newer for EVs so you get 8 years of battery warranty) can have RF 0 by a simple phone call to turn everything off. In many cars, you press the button under the mirror, like On for GM cars and it calls the OnStar services and you ask to turn everything off. Your health is more important than wireless features and brain memory is far more important than being always connected to maps or whatever. If anyone steals your car, you can call manufacturer to turn on remote location and remote access and they can do it and catch the thief, the cops can locate the car that way. It takes seconds after a call to have RF go down 100 fold or to high, if turning it back on.☺☺☺☺☺

Before going in depth into RF values of cars (always use a good SSII like meter and read the peaks (not just average) in all car areas, as GQ is pretty useless for the peaks, here is a short paragraph on a safety feature nobody talks about: brain damage from bad suspension, especially Ford Mustang Mach-E EV, Nissan Leaf which need be banned from USA due to poor suspension. The safest (among the main ones in USA I tested) affordable (under 35K used) car for your brain is Lyriq because it shakes your brain the least against the skull (with shaky Ford Mach-E and sports cars you can lose or damage eye sight, like astronauts in space whose brains push against the skull), and has less RF than newer Tesla. If you want to bring the RF down to lowest levels of the cheapest cars (without turning off all connected services) that shake your brain more due to poor suspension, you need to use some or a LOT of aluminum foil (disguise it with some grey paper or whatever the color of surrounding materials). Lyriq got 7" ground clearance, versus 5.4" for many Audi (range 225 vs 314 for Lyriq), Mercedes that cost 80-95K (versus 60K for a new Lyriq), and 5-6" ground clearance can wreck battery with a 5" pothole, causing death from fire for drivers later. Mercedes EQS 450 SUV is 104K new, 95K for 2023, outside of affordability. EVs have less noise and vibration, both of which damage the brain and organs. Lyriq is the quietest smoothest ride car under 300K sold worldwide, quieter than 150K Mercedes even. The best EV is Cadillac Celestiq for 300K. Any EV Cadillac is quieter than gas

Cadillac. Noise kills us slowly, creating biological entropy. Lyriq's smooth ride beats Tesla Model X and all other EVs under 100K, a used 2024 Lyriq under 10K miles (get a buyback one that GM fixed and you save 20K in price, autotrader has them) is only 33K. The sports section explains how brain damaging destructive horse riding, chariot riding and many sports are, so don't ruin your brain with a cheap Tesla, at least buy the Model X used to save your brain. The Lyriq is melodious like eterni lyrics and immortalist soothing calming melodies, a symbol to the victory of serene soothing feminine immortalism over death macho masculine modern war cultures.

When the ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ & Immortality for All ethos of Immortalists wins over the death worship cultures in US and worldwide, USA will require all frequent driver (cop and delivery, sales, technical support engineer) cars to have very low RF inside thanks to RF blocking windows, max 0.001 mW/m^2, and later all cars, to prevent cancer, Alzheimer, anger, irritability via RF tinted windows. Today, the insane spread of cell towers means those who're in jobs that involve driving a lot get 1 million times higher exposure to RF than other rural people, leading to risk of early death, infertility, disease, as seen in the studies of early death for those living near cell towers. All tint stores will be required to carry tint that blocks not just UV and IR, but RF too, so any person can install it if their commute is thru a truly toxic 50 mW/m^2 area. The only 0 to low car RF Teslas are older models. Model X 2017 has no RF above backgrounds of 0.04 mW/m^2, and is the only Tesla that I found to be safe RF wise, there are probably other old model years too, but X has the best suspension and can cost only 28K, negotiate with dealer to get price lower, under 25K to get 4K used EV discount at the point of sale (ask them to give you lower value for trade in to get sale to 24999). Some other older models have 2-4 mW/m^2, but anything after 2020 is not 0.02 background level. Many 2016-2025 sunroof Teslas got 2000 to 100000 times more RF deadly radiation in the front and back seat areas (front area near center mirror in Model Y 2023, back seats in Model 3 2021), than the lowest RF (0.001 mW/m^2) EVs in America (shown in the next paragraph). Use GQ EMF-390 meter to see high RF areas and block them with taped aluminum. This RF can cause infertility, brain damage, heart attacks, strokes, cancer and more. Elon claims 67% of his friends are Jewish (or fake Jews?) to (hide his Nazi beliefs?) sound clueless about antisemitism of his grandfather, if so, is Tesla a Mossad company, is he a crypto Jew (Jews who pretend to be antisemitic gentiles) who tries to poison gentiles in order to make Jews come on top? Or is he a communist (or MI6 spy) trying to destroy Republicans (or MI6 enemies) who might buy his cars due to his pretend "right wing" beliefs (or his real UK links)? Or is he even clueless about RF and his Jewish handlers make Teslas deadly? What else does that car have, infrasound or etc that damages health and Elon or his handlers hide from us? Due to high RF, if you get a Tesla (sentry mode notifies you when anyone approaches your car), follow these RF blocking steps: 1). roof taped with Aluminum to block RF waves (& IR weapons), 2). back window taped with clear RF film. You may need to retest with SS2 meter the peaks (not average only) of any new car to make sure they're not higher than the values of background RF outside the car, without paying much attention to what measurements I got in this chapter, since this refers mostly to certain trims, and car years that may not apply to your car and you may have more or fewer connected services which can lower or increase RF by 5 or 500 fold. This chapter is just a general guide to start the thought process of figuring out how safe your car and all WiFi devices are in your home by using a reliable SS2 meter. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The glass roof in any EV with high RF antenna on the roof means insanely toxic levels of RF under the antenna on the last row, which will "destroy body permanently", so use 8" wide aluminum (Al) tape, plus clear tape on top to prevent microscopic aluminum particles from contaminating the car, to cover the sunroof, or kitchen Al foil taped with clear tape. Silver roof is neutral, helps you educate people about RF. This 10 cents fix will save $500 billion in health expenses to undo the damage done, which is, as you can figure, irreversible. Tesla (without RF film on back window) is only safe for families of 1-2 people, with no people in the back seats, and only if sunroof is taped with RF film or Al foil. The only way to make Tesla and other high RF on last row of seats cars safe for 3-4 people families, is clear 99.99% RF block film for back window, required by federal law. Back window can't be opaque, where Tesla evil designers placed antenna, so you need clear film (RF blocker) used by gov agencies that handle classified info, to protect your kids who drive in the back. Teslas sold in USA are made in USA, so they are, (like the much lower RF US designed/made Ford F150 & Rivian cars), least likely to contain frenemy nation GPS trackers, weapons or spyware. Equinox EV and Mustang EV (that are sold in USA) are assembled in Mexico, so they pose a security risk, while stuff assembled outside North America is even riskier. Amazon has 99.99% RF tint blocks also 99% UV block 95% IR block films for 200$, from the company making the best RF meter. Tesla 2012-2014 have 3G, and 3G discontinued in 2022, so 2012-14 are the safest Tesla cars, if owner didn't upgrade to 4G/5G modem: use your phone for GPS. Avoid glass roof cars or, if you got sunroof, place aluminum tape (cheaper than sunroof film) plus clear tape on the sunroof, because city RF is deadly. That's why aristocrats live in areas with no cell towers, the slaves get all RF pollution. We don't need cell phones, except for emergencies. Tesla 2nd antenna design is deadly, it should never be on a window. All governments need to require RF film for cars with antenna on the back window and RF film on all cars with sunroof. Most gas/EV cars today are highly toxic even if you turn off connectivity, WiFi Hotspot, etc, so you need Al tape or RF film on back window (or all windows if you're a driver or drive hours daily as part of your job) at least and/or roof. Below are 12+ safer EVs (without the RF tint or aluminum tape/foil used) I tested with GQ-390 RF levels ≤ background (residential 0.001-0.010 mW/m^2), not the more sensitive peaks values of SS2 meter (do that test yourself as I didn't test all the cars below with that) when WiFi Hotspot, connectivity are off:

1). Chevy Equinox 6.4" GC (Ground Clearance) & Chevy Blazer 7.9", see Equinox GM website, the cheapest high range EV: 319 mile range, 356 on highway test, 46 miles above Tesla, 23k basic trim after 7500 federal, 1000 Costco, 1500 GM rebates, $2000 dealer rebates, so 23K at one Michigan dealer, for 15000$ lower price than Tesla at many dealers. Equinox rides much better on bumps, potholes, rough roads than all EVs (except Lyriq, which is smoother than Equinox, or any Tesla Model X, X being the best Tesla suspension) under 80K on the US market, like Blazer (more truck like), Prologue Honda (a rebranded Blazer), all Teslas (Model X 2025 is close to Equinox, but most Teslas, especially 3, Y are trash), most used Audi e-tron, especially the ultra trashy suspension Ford Mustang, Toyota Bz4X, Subaru Solterra. 1.1). The 7.9" GC Chevy Blazer, see Blazer GM website, buy new 34K after rebate 2024, is Equinox with extras, it is the only US non-truck EV with a high (safe) ground clearance in flood prone or 2"-10" snow prone areas of USA (most USA). Model X only reaches 8" and even the old models, 9.8" option only works at 15 mph. EVs have battery on the bottom, so with low ground clearance you hit that battery in potholes, hits which can start a battery fire later. Honda Prologue is a Blazer made at the Equinox/Blazer Mexico factory. The Blazer, Equinox series has the roof extend 8" past the roof antenna, blocking RF way better. Blazer/Equinox drive way better than Teslas, even Model X. They got 360° camera like Rivian, making Chevy parking far easier than Tesla, as you see the left, right, front, back from above real video (not a simulation like Tesla, see front/side views of cars, trees when moving into a parking spot too, way better than the "cloud for a tree" in Tesla, you see exactly if you may hit tree, you see the real life video, of a new object, stick, wire hanging that Tesla simulation can't see), unlike Tesla 'Vision'. Quakes, floods, fires, nukes when road got 7" snow, bioweapons require fast escape, by going on the grass or off road, parallel to the highway, due to miles of cars stuck, so 7.9" helps. Nuke blast means all roads have debris 1-7" tall that stop cars with 4-7" clearance. While some cars with air suspension allow high 8" clearance, it's only at low speed. When hurricane/tornado happens, debris on roads can mean death if in a tornado eye. During storms tree branches, etc, car parts can be on roads, some cars fly 10 feet into the air.

2). 6.5" Nissan Leaf bad suspension 3). 14.9" Rivian R1S/T 4). 7.0" Chevy Lyriq
5). 5.4" Mercedes EQE, EQB & EQS 6). 6.1" Kia EV6 & other Kias 7). 6.5" Hyundai Ioniq 5
8). 5.7" Ford Mach-E worst suspension 9). 5.7" Hyundai Ioniq 6 10). 8.9" Ford F-150 EV
11). 6.9" Audi e-tron Q8 (some models only, not 2021 Q4) 12). 8.3" Subaru Solterra

These have no RF higher than background (if you use GQ-390 meter, not the SS2 peak values) when connectivity is off. A few old Teslas also got 0, like Tesla Model X 2017 whose air suspension has 5 levels: 6.1, 6.7, 7.5" (standard), 8.1, 8.7. However, Tesla tends to attract odd China (could be paid Chinese military thugs staging malfunction to cause Chinese customers to buy Chinese cars) lawsuits, so it's not clear what is going on. As long as you're short and your head doesn't reach close to the roof (where SS2 peaks can be higher than background in some models above), these models don't need Al foil or RF blocking tint film, because you can simply turn off connectivity (if already on from the factory, WiFi services under WiFi Hotspot for Blazer/Equinox for example)) in settings or not subscribe to their connectivity packages, or turn them off from the previous owner. If you're very tall, you can simply lower the driver seat to the max, and if you still are 3 cm away instead of 12 cm away, you can place aluminum on top of the sunroof if your car has sunroof and also above the roof that is metal above your head. On Blazer EV the GQ-390 mW/m^2 is 0.001 mW/m^2 in areas with such low 0.001 mW/m^2 background when the car is idle in all areas of the car, if WiFi Services are off. Tesla Model Y 2023 LR for example, has a front seat radiation of 15 to 70 in most areas and 500 mW/m^2 above the center mirror for seeing back traffic. The back seats where head rests got about 20 mW/m^2, or 20000 times above the healthy level in a clean residential area. Tesla Model 3 2021 though has only 10 max upfront and 70-80 mW/m^2 in the back where the baby seat would be, so it is a genocide to leave it without aluminum tape there. The individual front mirrors also have high readings around 190 mW/m^2, so for a Tesla Y 2023 you need to use double taped (with clear plastic tape) aluminum foil or aluminum tape that is then taped to the 6 inch by 36 inch area in front, possibly even the sunroof and also the back area where the GQ EMF-390 meter jumps and beeps. Each year model can have radiation high levels in a new area. As you may imagine 500 for Tesla vs 0.001 mW/m^2 Blazer/Equinox is a half a million fold difference between cancer and being healthy, plus Blazer has higher ground clearance, has much better ride quality than Tesla, less bumpy drive, shakes a lot less during pothole hits. Tesla Highland 2024 Model 3 lost 24% of range in winter, in the Norway test of 24 EVs. Many EVs lost 10% or less, which is way better than gas cars which lose 15-20%. However, Tesla can be brought down to 0.5 if you put a lot of aluminum and you can use some white paper with aluminum taped on the other side, so people think you have a white interior car and nothing else. It's paramount to aluminize the sunroof (tape foil to it) or if you got money, to put RF tint, though that tint only blocks some stuff. The model Y and Blazer both have 5-6 inches left between the nonglass roof and the top of even tall people per reports (6'4"), while Blazer has 9 inches to its sunroof. If tall, you need some aluminum in the back on some cars, to reduce RF to 0, since top of head is too close, use a GQ EMF-390 to see and put some aluminum under the sunroof blocker. Each year, new antennas may be added or removed, so this is a general guide, use your 120$ meter to determine where to use aluminum tape. It's possible most cars can make it to this list with some aluminum above the driver seat, but the dealer didn't know how to properly turn off all connectivity, cellular, WiFi, Hotspot, Bluetooth, etc beyond the obvious settings anyone can find who is new to a car (I tried to turn everything off before doing my tests in residential areas with low RF of 0.001). You need to unsubscribe from any trial that the dealer may have had the car on, to give customers a taste of navigation or the subscription, so you don't subscribe to anything and turn everything off, call manufacturer to turn it all off until you get 0.001 mW/m^2 in an area with 0.001 RF.

Tesla said explicitly you can't turn off real connectivity (meaning RF signal is not off when you use that global 'turn off connectivity' that requires your Tesla password), when I called 15 times, various showrooms/departments, since Tesla is the only manufacturer that has sentry mode, remote access, and all kinds of things, so it may be only with Teslas you really need that aluminum foil on the sunroof and RF block tint on back window (or sunroof too if you can afford it instead of foil) or even film on the rear door windows if RF is not low enough. Teslas are the most connected cars, so they require the most work to bring RF to a healthy level. Many cars have a way to turn off most or all RF, you just need to confirm that in a low RF area, after doing all the less known things that the manufacturer tech specialists tell you. If a car area above head or etc has high magnetic field due to a hidden weapon activated only when you don't measure the reading, but are driving and they see via cameras you or someone doesn't measure it, you can go to lessemf.com and buy a magnetic shielding material (nickel, steel are good, ferromagnetic) to tape above the driver seat (or your aluminum cubicle) or others, besides the aluminum foil to block RF and electric field. Al foil doesn't block magnetic field. Nickel foil is more effective at blocking electric and magnetic fields than aluminum, so if you can, use nickel foil available on Amazon or etc. Tape it with regular tape. RF tint film protects you against microwave, IR/UV weapons too: it is regular IR/UV tint that also blocks RF on top of that. Heated steering wheel and heated seats have a magnetic field of 200 mGauss (EPA limit 2 mGauss) within 1 inch which is known to cause cancer etc, so be careful to not overuse heated seats and turn it off, using warm seat covers and dress very well, with gloves. Infertility, prostate, colon cancer can be the result of heated seats, beside internal organ damage, via blood free of antioxidants, etc. The Eternal Travel Inc will sue automakers, so they go bankrupt and are acquired by the state, making all Eternal Travel (the largest car company globally) 'subbrands', with every car having Eternal logo (not Ford). Likewise, all automakers will be sued for high RF above tall driver, passenger and some back seats. In freezing temps or below, gas cars lose 20% of range, and EVs can lose 10% too, some brands even 15%. 2025 Juniper Tesla will have more connectivity, connect from further away, so more RF maybe. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Lyriq RF level in the background of my tests outside the car was about 9 $\mu W/m^2$ for the 3rd line called Avg (Average), with peaks at about 25. Inside the car in the driver area the Avg moved to 20-200 for average and 200-20000 for peaks (first line of Safe & Sound meter). This is not high, since with most new Teslas inside you get 2000 to 70000 for avg. However, inside a house on a quiet street, you only get 4 $\mu W/m^2$. The peaks were high on the roof near the door areas and above the head of driver and passenger, maybe 300-8000, and also near the back antenna. The average was way higher for the back seats due to that strong antenna on the car roof in the back, so it reached even 500. 1 cm from the antenna itself was about 20000 average and 400000 peaks, sky high, when meter was outside the car. Call the manufacturer to disable all connectivity for best health outcomes. If infotainment screen doesn't allow to turn off WiFi or WiFi Hotspot, Bluetooth etc for a given EV or Lyriq version, you can simply download the app for the car you have and do it from there or by calling the company to do WiFi off or turn off all connectivity for you. Hackers, spies, etc will have a harder time to track your location and attack you if all is off. In the same location, simple less connected cars, like Subaru, would have the inside the car values lower than outside, due to the Faraday cage effect, while in Lyriq and most EVs it is higher inside due to always checking for cell tower location and EV location, due to these EV remote access, etc freebies for 8 years that come with every newer than 8 years car, etc. You could use some aluminum blocking foil and cover it with something on the areas that your meter shows to be higher peaks, like a flap or something, that you can remove easily by lifting the double clear plastic taped aluminum foil.

EVs have 100 times larger batteries so if foreign automakers use cars to map USA grid, map people's atomic signature (in order to scan the planet and find out where they go to for the rest of their lives, a map of atoms that change only every 70 years), map buildings, attack certain people without any pain or awareness by writing their brain, emotions, DNA, we would not know it since there are 5 trillion ways to do it and USA not knowing it… Importing foreign cars is suicide for any nation, a country can conquer another with EVs or even regular gas cars alone, even those made domestically with foreign parts that have dual use. The only safe cars are 100% locally made with 100% local parts. The Japanese could attack only once every month or 3 years, a target person they took atomic picture of, from satellite from Japan, from even miles away and nobody would know or feel their DNA or biological age is 3 years shorter all of a sudden over a period of time, hence monitoring biomarkers weekly via Immortality Parks would be important. The attack could happen also from other Japanese gas cars that pass by a car, at a certain trigger, to avoid satellite detection. Using a swarm of cars each having a certain way to signaling via 30 loops (30 cars) which action to take, makes it ultra hard to figure out what is going on, since could be non-Japanese cars with Japanese parts. Same for any foreign parts. Initially I ordered a Tesla Model Y but the microwaves were so high, 100000 times higher then Subaru, that I canceled my order in 2024, not realizing I could have used aluminum tape or foil taped to roof and the microwave blocking tint to make it microwave free (on the back window at least, where the Tesla antenna is taped to the window in a zig zag fashion, but the whole car would be ideal for any car these days since it protects you from microwave weapons). That's why I wrote so much about this, so you don't make the huge mistake of buying any car made outside USA. Any Tesla VIN has a final letter, if it's F it's Fremont California factory, A it's Austin factory, any other letter is outside USA. Nissan Leaf 2012 made in August, was also made in Japan, the one I had since June 2016-Jan 2024. One disadvantage of cars with metallic roofs is that the companies (car companies are branches of that country's military) or even CIA-FBI can install above the head various electromagnetic weapons that penetrate head even if you tape roof with aluminum or wear an aluminum hat. Because of that, ironically, glass roof Teslas with aluminum tape on the inside, and RF film on back window, is safer as they can't hide those weapons right above your head, making Tesla in a way the safest car from this point of view (you still may need to block the head rest, door or remove the head rest of the seat or some mirror parts if they hid some devices there to attack head from a larger distance – though with aluminized hat, it won't be an issue from a bigger distance). However, spies can install them on your Tesla doors, under your legs, in the mirror. Avoid foreign cars made in USA (Korean, Japanese, Swedish cars made in USA with many foreign dubious parts, spyware goes to servers in host nation) and foreign made cars, including any US cars made in other countries, because the reality is a US factory outside USA (like GM Equinox factory in Mexico, Mexico lost 55% of land to USA in the 19th century wars) can't hire 500 workers for 24-7 monitoring jobs to see every single activity in the factory, every worker move, every sleight of hand from 200 angles (like with illusionists who hide tiny objects magnetic things in their palm), and every cloaked invisible almost drone flying at night in darkness to introduce a part under a car that spies, harms, emits waves and disables Americans within 2 or 700 feet… We're in a state of war, our planet is, due to the lack of one country, one language, 11 companies for all. The so called "allies and friends" of USA are on paper, behind the scenes other things are going on, both ways. Everyone knows that. Mexico is in a state of war with USA, trying to regain its lost land and will use anything to get it, so all US factories in Mexico must return to USA. There is only one solution in the long run, one country, one language on Earth, anything else is a lie. One identity, humans. Here is a list of the 2024 100 most American cars and EVs, with German ID4 being # 3, ahead of Tesla Model 3 # 21, but behind Model Y (#1), ahead of Model S (#4), Model X (#9). The full list of 100 most American cars (least spying if you turn off all connectivity) for the current year is at cars.com/american-made-index. Never use VW apps/connect software, to avoid German spying. The 2024 ranking is here and it shows only 8 EVs make it into the top 100 most American cars: the 4 Teslas (#1,4,9,21), VW ID4 (#3), Ford 150 (#56), GM Lyriq (#71), Mercedes EQE (#98) (70K new, terribly low ground clearance for all 3 Mercedes US models, EQS starts at 108K and reaches 160 with options, making it a waste of money). A dealer got ID4s for 25K after rebates. Equinox is less agile than ID4, but got a less bumpy drive than ID4. The Equinox thus beats ID4 (especially Ford Mustang horrible ride, all old Teslas, even Model X air suspension, Audi e-tron, etc) for brain, ocular, general health, affected by bumps. However, all Internet reports say ID4 charges 50% faster than Blazer, Honda Prologue, Equinox (all use same Ultium battery) on 150 KW charging stations, so ID4 is better for those driving long distances on road trips, with little time to wait for charging, who're low in IQ enough to prioritize speed instead of brain health. Many EVs say max charging speed is 150, but in practice it's 90 at 150-350 KW chargers. A Lyriq is 33K used (3300 miles), it drives way better (superior air suspension, quiet) than most EVs, including ID4, Tesla Model X (and WAY better than Model 3, Y). Ford 150 being a truck has tough tires, big tires, the roughest drive. All these 8 EVs are made in USA, unlike Ford Mustang, Chevy Equinox/Blazer made in Mexico. Lyriq is # 1, the healthiest Spyware Free EV, shaking the brain, eyes, body the least, X is # 2. It's called Lyriq because when you listen to music you hear music, not the bumpy road/potholes, etc. Its ride is like a song, harmonious, soothing, relaxing, healing, lovely, amazing. On 70 mph tests Lyriq goes 340 miles, Tesla only 280. Lyriq achieves more than its EPA range, Tesla less. Google "window sticker any car made model year": Bolt EV is US made, but only 58% are US parts: engine USA, transmission Korea. Window sticker for Blazer EV 2024 says 62% parts made in US/Canada, 18% in China, while Model Y 2023 AWD LR window sticker says 75% US/Ca, 20% Mexico, Model 3 2022 35% US/Ca 20% Mexico, Model Y 2022 PERF 60% US/CA 20% Mexico. Lyriq engine and transmission are from China GM factories, unlike Teslas from USA, and Lyriq 62% parts US/Ca, 18% CN. 2023 Subaru Solterra 70% Japan, 30% CN. 2022 ID4 90% Germany, 2024 ID4 32% Mexico, 50% USA, engine Mexico, transmission Japan. Mexico China parts poses national security risks. Nissan Leaf 2024: 45% Japan, 30% US.

Before 10 more pages about RF, this short paragraph covers safety during power outages: EVs remove the need for generators or battery storage: Equinox 2024 2LT got two 120V power outlets (1LT has one) to plug power strips and use six 550 watt heaters to prevent winter pipe breaking. A Ford F-150 Lightning EV can have up to 11 outlets: 2 in the cab, 4 in the front trunk, 5 in the bed, including a 240V outlet in the bed. Cybertruck only got 4. Most EVs only got 0 outlets (Subaru, etc), even Kia EV6/Nissan Leaf/Model 3 got 1, EV9 got 2. Small cars are useless in winter climates as battery storage alternative, as they have 0 or only 1 outlet, if any. You need a car with 2 outlets minimum, meaning 3600 W to power 6 heaters of 550W, silent oil heaters. Outlets enable us to heat our home in a power outage to prevent pipe freeze, which could cost $50000 to fix. See all types of car to appliance charging: V2L (load: PC, etc), V2H home, V2G grid. The safest "hidden foreign invisible radiation weapons wise" cheaper EVs are 1. Tesla Model 3 (if using Al foil or RF tint on sunroof/back window), 2. Rivian, 3. Ford F150 (26K after rebates, deals in some locations, brand new, so way cheaper than Tesla/Rivian), due to being US made.

Short paragraph on BATTERY DRAIN WHILE IDLE: I left Subaru Solterra for 2 weeks outside in cold weather, where minimum was 9°F to 27°F mostly, and saw that it lost 0 miles parked outside. On the other hand, the Blazer EV, Teslas and all cars with heat pumps lose in similar weather, 4 to 9 miles just sitting idle outside, to maintain perfect battery performance. However, Blazer EV is way healthier, since its suspension is wholly superior to Subaru, meaning you damage your brain a lot less. So Blazer wins over Nissan Leaf, Subaru cars. Teslas can lose 16 miles daily while parked, and while driving, 60% of range in subfreeze weather. Even junk cars with no heat pump, like Nissan Leaf, lose 4-9 miles during cold winter weather or even more, when left outside in freezing weather. Not so for Subaru. I never noticed odometer change from day to day, be it 3 days or 14 days. If you live in not so cold states (DC, NC, NV, OR, SC, CA, AZ, TX, LA, FL, GA, MI, AL), Subaru and others like it will save tons of money versus many EVs. It's not just money, but lives, since people work to maintain solar power, wind farms, etc, instead of discovering how to live to 500. A guy lost 48 miles in 8 hours at minus 22°C (-8°F), on his Tesla, so many EVs are useless in Canada/US coldest states then. Equinox got 145 miles at 75 mph in -6°F weather, from 100% to 10%. Many park outside for days in a row at minus 8°F, so battery will go DEAD, as they only go to buy food once every 2 days, from Friday to Monday it would be DEAD, can't start the car need road assistance if on the street away from house plug. Most people don't live in such areas. This is important to know for EV safety, since you may not be able to start your car, use a garage. Wind chills can be 40°F cooler than ambient temp outside, so use a car cover that protects the car from wind chills, covering the front grills well, so the car is not cooled too much. You can buy a good cover online and attach a piece of the bag or something to the front if too short and strap it by the mirror and first foot of the trunk with the provided straps that come with most covers, if your car faces the wind, to prevent the cover from being blown away. Not having a car cover can mean paying 500$ extra on electricity, due to loss of range due to wind chills. However, only 5% of world population lives in such cold weather and only part of the year. Over time, they will create batteries that have no such cold weather issues. Meanwhile, take your car cover and attach a thick blanket to it, to keep it warm in the garage in Canada, Russia, Scandinavia. Seal all garage drafts with caulk and etc and add thick fiber glass insulation to the garage. This way, you can have EVs in Earth's coldest countries. USA could export electricity to Mexico/Canada using solar, wind. Instead, the republicans import oil from Canada/Mexico that we don't need: they fight EVs, poison the poor. Trump is a Russian spy?

For Mustang Mach-E Ford EV, you need to go to connectivity in settings and turn it off (it asks you if you want to turn off all connectivity, meaning navigation etc), besides turning off Bluetooth and WiFi Hotspot. The same applies to Ford F-150, you need to turn off connectivity, WiFi Hotspot etc to get it to background level of 0.001 mW/m^2. Kia EV6, Ioniq 5,6 and Solterra/Bz4x have no RF near antenna that sits on the car roof vs Rivian or Blazer that reach outside the car above the antenna (not inside) 400 mW/m^2. However, for the Blazer, Equinox, as long as you don't buy the glass roof expensive option, the antenna makes no difference inside, as metal blocks most of that RF, so the back seat remains almost background level 0.001 mW/m^2 where the head/body of back passengers are. You just go to settings and turn the WiFi Hotspot off to lower RF about 5000 fold. If you're worried about RF, simply use aluminum tape to cover the roof area above the back seat in Rivian third row. If you buy Equinox EV 1LT basic model or other ultra basic EVs, they got no warm car seats, so in winter time in cold climates you can use a $50 automatic shut off (after 3 seconds of standing) seat warmer (regular ones require you to turn it off yourself, which you will forget and get a dead battery) or get some ultra thick pants and ultra warm blanket to place on the seat. Equinox 2RS and 2LT are the same, they got the exact same features in the window sticker, except RS has 21" wheels and 285 mile range, while 2LT got 19" wheels and 319 mile range. RS allows faster acceleration, being a performance version of the LT, like Tesla Model Y performance vs standard. Backup (driving in reverse) cameras, take 100$ to install, if your basic new or used EV lacks one. I use warm car seats (cars have controls for them or you buy one) and this improves range a lot, because I don't need to turn on the AC to bring in warm air for short trips, the car seats are enough in 35°F weather. A fluffy steering cover will keep hands warmer, so would gloves. If your EV has dark color, which dramatically increases risk of accidents (50% more if black vs white) at dusk and dawn and foggy overcast weather, you need to buy fluorescent adhesive strips to stick to the car. They got $7 15ftx1" white (grey during the day) tape, 2 lines on all 4 doors and 4 side panels (Amazon has many cheap ones, avoid them as they're dim, useless and not ultra bright like this one that appears bright white in the light at night, making it impossible for anyone to miss you), back of car one line or two and also front, very nice, it become ultra bright at night or dusk-dawn when most accidents occur, so people will see you. Being alive is everyone's # 1 goal, so spend 40$ on this, if you don't drive a bright yellow or white/light silver car. If you turn on AC, Equinox EV real world range decreases from 350 miles to 280 or 250 if a lot of heating. Back to RF, do your own tests in areas with low 0.05 mW/m^2 outside radiation (country) and decide if anything major happens, since it's hard to do a lot of tests in cities during a test drive on quiet low RF residential streets. Monitors of laptops or even cars can have hidden cameras on the black side on the edge, that also function as masers, or microwave lasers to attack your brain, eyes or even heart. Be careful what car brands you buy, as they can hide those very well. I placed aluminum tape on my laptop monitor upper edge, due to a 3-4 hidden dots there (cameras) visible only when you use ultra bright light (1 is obviously huge, the camera). I'm sure, with advanced tech, they can hide 10 times the number, to create 30 cameras. All big companies are branches of the aristocratic clans whose main hobby is torturing, spying on, oppressing and keeping enslaved the 97%.

Tesla and 50 other car makers who make high RF cars could be sued for 15 trillion dollars for the RF levels. I contacted Tesla and nobody cares about RF, even if they knew I canceled my order for Model Y because of the astronomical RF, and there isn't one button to turn off all RF sources that bring mW/m^2 above 0.01. All these cars were in the parking lot at a dealer and driven to an area with 0.001 mW/m^2 background, without subscriptions, so signing up for the manufacturer app or service may increase RF as you can see it on your meter, so if so, you can cancel the subscription. Safe Sound meter safety card says safe is 0.0001 mW/m^2 or less, but most meters don't even detect that and that is way lower than 99.99% of places where humans exist today. The most important thing to note is all phones in airplane mode can still provide directions after you got the steps on, and they emit up to 1 million times less radiation in that airplane mode.

GPS works while airplane mode is on. Above or around any area of Nissan Leaf 2012 electric (and even 2023 Leaf, and probably even French cars that are almost identical built by Renault-Nissan alliance called Zoe, cheap cars, without all fancy connectivity), inside Mercedes electric cars (3 on the US market in 2024, not sure about 2025+ new models they introduced), inside most Rivian R1S, inside Kia EV6, inside Chevy Blazer/Equinox, Hyundai Kona/Ioniq 5, 6 I get around 0.001 mW/m^2, if background is the same 0.001, using GQ EMF-390, which picks up 10 MHz to 10 GHz. I also used Safe Sound 375$ meter to confirm. Mercedes, Leaf 2023 were only tested while turning the cars on, not driving them. Ioniq 6 has drag coefficient 0.21, the lowest of any EV, so at high speeds, its 360 mile range (long range rwd version) range won't decrease a lot, like with Ioniq 5 (drag 0.29) or most EVs (27K for 240 mile range RWD brand new almost, 40K for 360 mile range SE RWD after company rebate, no 7.5K federal discount, unless leasing it, but Hyundai offers 7.5K discount itself to make it competitive, so price drops from 47 to 40).

High ground clearance is better for pothole rich hot states, like California, Florida or rural areas with bad roads or dirt roads. In Florida and California, heat melts roads and causes potholes to happen often, especially in tropical South Florida areas where thunderstorms act as a pressure washer wearing away the road fast when soft and hot. Blazer/Equinox EV has negligible RF (background RF level almost, so 0.4 mW/m^2 in that polluted dealer area) in the back seats (where passengers sit, though if a tall person and leaning back towards the trunk you may get 2 mW on your head vs 0.01 in low RF areas, like when driving on interstate highway wilderness areas (lots of trees on both sides of the road acting as blockers) or any wild areas where background shows 0.001 mW for miles) than some of the 0 RF models). On the outside of the Blazer the antenna gets 400 mW/m^2 if you place meter 1 inch from it, but it drops 100 fold to 4 mW if you move a few inches away. Rivian got high RF (5 mW/m^2) on the third row seat due to the Rivian sunroof and bigger Rivian back window that makes the back antenna on the top of the car penetrate the inside of the car easily. Always go for solid cars and avoid glass roof ones as the glass allows microwave lasers thru easily as well as RF from cell towers, so satellite weapons can attack you, as well as roof, tree, antenna mounted disguised laser systems, drones, rewriting your brain as you drive. Fisker Ocean has some RF, background level RF while idle and driving at low speeds, but sometimes 5-20 mW/m^2 on the driver and passenger front seats (up to 50 mW/m^2 sometimes, on the passenger dashboard for some reason) at 35+ mph. The back Fisker seats have low RF, almost 0, so kids would be 50000 times safer than in a Tesla. 0.001 is background radiation in low RF areas. However, around 2021 Tesla Model 3 antenna on rear window, while car is idle, it is 110 mW/m^2, inside the rear seats 30-70 mW/m^2, 110 is 0.1 million fold HIGHER. I tested Tesla Model Y 2023, Model X 2023, Model 3 2021, Model S 2016. Others on youtube did tests with many other (ball type, for 3D RF catching) meters and some got 40-150 mW/m^2 everywhere around the 2022 or 2023 Tesla Model 3, experiencing the same headaches I experienced since my first mobile phone and all others ever since. Sadly, Elon Musk has screwed up, too much RF is bad for health. 2024 Teslas may be less or more than the insane levels of 2022/3. So, the year of the car makes a difference too, not just the brand.

The important thing is to have more people test with more meters, like Latnex ball types (Latnex is bad, I tested it and returned it, can't pick up much at all, vs the GQ, etc), Safe Sound, etc., while making sure everyone turns off all sources of RF, all phones turned off, WiFi, Bluetooth, cellular devices, GPS, etc so that people don't read the phone and think it's the car. Never sign up for car navigation and other connectivity, because the moment you turn those on, your background RF in the car jumps in many models, dramatically. Avoid Android Car Play (app to show maps on display instead of phone, for less distraction than placing phone lower than the display, though phone with a phone mount on windshield or any higher than car display position nearby will be less distraction than turning to the right to look at the car map display), since the moment you turn the Display of your car on, RF starts to go up and the level of RF near the car display is huge, like near a phone; connecting to the car, makes the phone a conduit and enhances headaches. Stick to using phones in airplane mode (GPS works, since airplane mode doesn't turn off GPS), get directions in normal mode, then once you got them, turn airplane mode on. This way you only get some RF from GPS which is tiny and in many interstate drives, you simply go on a highway for 120 minutes, so you don't need the phone on, except when close to destination, you can turn phone back on and the car console will show the map again and guide you easily verbally, providing a million times less RF than having airplane mode off all the time for the last 5 miles of the drive thru many turns away from the interstate. If it loses signal, you can always reconnect airplane mode for a minute or 10. All new gas cars have high RF, especially if very connected and premium and fancy. It's useful to know that Latnex is made in Taiwan, while GQ in USA, Sound in Canada of US-Canada components. Even if it was 273$, twice as expensive as GQ, it picked up only 5 mW/m^2 when GQ picked up 900 mW/m^2, Safe Sound picked up 900 mW/m^2. Latnex displays 0 in the car, meaning it can't pick basic 0.08, or 0.001 mW/m^2. If you removed the ball everything is around 88 mW/m^2. It's sad the 3 times longer meter performs so badly. I thought the three-dimensional XYZ ball is more sensitive, but the high low medium and the other one it doesn't even register a lot of the spikes the North America made ones are picking up all the time or picking up on a fraction of the signal.

Rivian is the only huge American car I found that has no RF in the front 2 rows of seats, except within 3 inches of the top of the roof of the 3rd row and trunk due to the antenna which you can easily see. Not all cars emit so much 0.01-10 GHz RF near the antenna like Rivian or Tesla. VW ID4, Audi (2 mW for Q8, Q4 too, but a lot less than Q8), Volvo Polestar, Chevy Bolt EV, BMW EVs, etc all emit a lot of RF (2000-20000 times more than the safest cars) and I would avoid them, if you want to live longer. You may find a way to turn off all connectivity, WiFi Hotspot, etc and get it lower than I did after turning all I could off. Based on RF data, it seems logical to stick to Mercedes if you love European cars (all Mercedes EVs sold in USA are made in USA, so you get really American cars, American batteries, designed in Germany, hence they qualify for 7.5K rebate in 2024), or, if you love USA made/designed EVs Rivian, Blazer, Equinox. Rivian is the safest US car for many other reasons, as explained below, it's also the only 0 RF (first 4 seats at least) EV that has a 1500 watts 120V socket to plug a strip with a small fridge, 5 fans for the windows to get fresh cool air when it's warmer (to avoid turning the car on which would generate EMF, RF, etc of higher order, very useful in case of WW3 or natural disasters, when you try save on electricity), a smoothie maker, a laptop charging, HEPA or better air filter (better than Tesla without such an outlet). Ford 150 EV, some Volvo EVs, etc also have 120V AC outlets in the trunk, and some even near the console. These amazing & beautiful EVs, with reverse charging (adapters that plug into charging port and have AC outlet on the other side) or AC outlets are diminishing risks during natural disasters, replacing generators in case of power outage. With off-grid solar panels, one can charge the EV for free, avoid the unreliable grid or gasoline. People who're Tesla fans post videos about magnetic field being normal on Teslas and conclude "Tesla is safe", but we're talking about the microwaves here, since all cars have normal magnetic field for the most part, under 2 mGauss. With a good GQ 390 meter you get the exact main microwave 1.6 or 2.4 GHz frequency (look at the graphs for the regions covered) that causes most of the intensity in a car. If you get other meters, for radio waves, you can get those too, though radio is far less damaging, having much lower energy. For exact measurements and full coverage of graph, get a 9000-25000 Anritsu spectrum analyzer from anritsu.com, some scan 9 kHz to 170 GHz, so it covers all radio, microwave, millimeter wave, giving you undreamed of precision versus the 70-500$ meters, most of which have no spectrum analyzers (except GQ).

Rivian R1S is really a tiny house on wheels almost, you can literally sleep in it for months if you want to or get a PO Box, take showers at some gym and live without a house if you find quiet places, safe ones to park. It can wade thru 3 feet of water, so in flood prone areas it is a must. Rivian will release in 2026 the R2, R3, R3x, starting at 45K, vs the 66K R1T and 71K R1S. The R2, at a cheaper price, will enable you to camp much better than Tesla with much more room for tall people (just like R1S today is fine for 6"9" guys, while Tesla is only comfy for under 6' people), at 100000 times less radiation than Tesla, since front seats come down. Also, Rivian is the only car allowing the 4 back seats to fold and giving you 1.5 foot extra of space vs Tesla Model Y and all big SUV electric cars of 187", because it is 217". Rivian seats are so adjustable and it only starts at 71K. Tesla makes most cars outside of USA anyway. The truth is no USA sold meter will pick a lot of frequencies that CIA doesn't want picked up. Hidden spy cameras are in every Airbnb rental, hotel, etc also can emit RF and can be found easily. Likewise, hidden torture cameras (devices that attack precise areas of one's body) are installed in millions of cars, thousands of stores, businesses, private rentals owned by spies, hotels, AirBnB, etc… Some RF may not detect RF in a car due to the RF meter looking in certain ranges only, and GPS frequencies can be different for different car brands. I will do more tests with others, but ID4, Polestar, Model S, all get quite high in the back seats and even upfront, varying from 2 to 20 mW/m2, which is insanely high and unhealthy. This is typical of many newer GPS, Bluetooth, WiFi, cellular enabled gas or electric cars, especially self-driving ones, that require strong perfect GPS antenna to avoid collisions in exchange for DESTROYING ALL: low IQ folks commit genocide in the name of "convenience". In the Nissan Leaf 2023, when idle, no RF exists. Likewise, no RF exists in the basic trim (cheapest, no fancy connectivity) of Subaru Solterra, 1st electric car with standard symmetrical AWD, far safer than AWD during rainy weather, off-road than any EV or gas car, see a 2nd video on how Subaru symmetrical AWD avoids accidents in rainy or icy weather. That's why I bought a Solterra in 2024 (slow charging vs other cars, but it was the cheapest car with high ground clearance), to replace my 40 mile range Nissan Leaf (80 when new, 40 at 12 years old). However, in May 2024 Chevy released the 7.9" Blazer EV which has 25% more range, and is bigger, safer. Ioniq 6 is made in Korea and has 5.6" ground clearance (Mustang EV 5.7", Model 3 is 5.4"), presenting risks for bad roads or off-road, such as battery fires starting from too many hits of the ground, leading to issues. For country dirt roads, a 7.9" Blazer is much safer. Honda has only one EV, Prologue, made with GM at the GM factory in Ramos Arizpe Mexico where the Chevy Blazer is made too, using the same Ultium platform and batteries from GM, so it's just the same exact car, plus Honda logos. Buy cars made locally if possible to avoid torture by spies.

Safety is first, tire ice or wet road slips can cause serious accidents. Subaru Solterra is the only electric car that has AWD of symmetrical type, in all trims. If you don't subscribe to the Subaru Navigation, Android Auto, etc, your car will remain low RF and you can use the phone in GPS mode for navigation (it's working in airplane mode too, which reduces microwaves). Connect your HP tablet via the USB-micro to USB A (if you got that small USB style, or USB C to USB A, if your tablet has USB C for charging), using the USB A Subaru port. Then using the USB A or C port of the tablet, connect your phone to charge it via USB C to A or USB C to C cable, this way you can listen to a favorite mp3, charge both tablet and phone at the same time, and use phone to receive internet to the tablet for browsing when you need that using PdaNet. Unlike Nissan Leaf, 2023 Solterra uses little electricity in idle mode, being ultra quiet when turning itself on, about 20 times less noise than 2012 Nissan Leaf. They optimized everything so it doesn't waste so much energy to turn the car on as in 2012. This USB A (traditional, old flash drive style) allows you to charge both phone and tablet and avoid heavy microwave from being within 2 feet of the phone or having your fingers touch it even if you're 2 feet away with the rest of the body. You really don't need all these prebuilt connections, simply ask your car company, car seller to uninstall all apps and default subscriptions and see how RF goes down if it even does. Apps distract you and make it far more likely to get into a crash, so be offline and when not driving, use your tablet. Protect your health, the most important asset. It's a sales deal: if they can sell you a car just for 5 minutes of uninstalls, they will do it. However, not all dealers will do it, some are lazy or the manufacturer did it that way, preinstalled, presubscribed to free Navigation for 1-3 years (Subaru gives some free navigation to hose opting to subscribe, for 3 years, if they want to be zapped by the car GPS, way stronger than phone GPS), etc. It's useful to have AWD on all trims for northern states where many die due to slips as shown in the previous section.

Ariya EV, made in Japan, no 7500 discount, gets 5000 times more RF pollution than unsubscribed Solterra and US made Leaf, Blazer, Ioniq, etc (screen empty all the time, go to Display, turn off permanently to avoid distractions, press the round circle button to go back to the screen if you need anything), but not continuous like Polestar 2 2021 or ID4 2024, which are way worse in the driver seat, due to continuous emissions, not intermittent, (but not the back seat) than Model S 2016 (an older model) or even Tesla Model 3 Y, X 2021-2023. ID4 can reach very high levels in the back, 20 mW/m^2, BMW i4 is really bad too, can reach 20 in the back. They may go to 0 if you can contact company to ask how to turn off connectivity, the "clueless guys" (no education) at the dealership, who get paid to sell these cars didn't have a clue about anything, because the government standards for these car salesmen are 0, they get no RF education, only on how to lie every day. This is because of the sunroof possibly bot blocking antenna RF. Some signals in metal roof cars may be due to the sales people being clueless and not knowing how to turn off all GPS, WiFi, Bluetooth, though we did the basic WiFi, Bluetooth, etc basic things first and the back is usually due to GPS antenna mounted there like in the Teslas. Do more tests and ask for service guys to turn even display blank and all connection off before measuring it. Measure outside of the car, inside with car off and inside with all WiFi, etc turned off but car on. The more expensive a car is, the more deadly it is in general, as it has extra features, more powerful GPS, WiFi, cellular, BT modems, antennas, so to stay safer, buy the oldest possible car or the cheapest, or buy a 200-300$ meter, RF one and measure it while on (no test drive even needed) to evaluate, then ask manufacturer to turn off BT, GPS, WiFi, cellular and compare which model allows those turned off or not. Oddly, people got 50K to waste on a weapon of mass destruction called "modern car", and they don't have 120$ for a GQ EMF-390 meter. If all buy RF meters, they will realize how deadly all their "beloved wireless gadgets" are and switch to wired and live longer. Why so lazy? Health is more important than convenience. Dacia Spring EV is 10K in many places, and I bet it has so few 'fancy gadgets" that it has fewer microwaves than a 55K car or Model 3 49K (no 7.5K credit). It would be hard to find anything higher than Tesla in the back seat under the GPS window antenna. In Europe, Dacia is the cheapest EV, with the least options, not even AC in some of their cars. When you buy a cheap car, you can donate more to charity and also, protect yourself from useless "add-ons" that emit microwaves, and which can be easily turned into weapons by good hackers and DIY spies. Nissan Leaf, Subaru Solterra (basic trim, called Premium) are basic EVs, cheaper prices, so they emit a lot less when you turn off BT, WiFi, Connectivity, due to fewer "connection" options, 100000 times less than Tesla. Try test every EV with 4 meters from 4 friends and go as a team to test 100 EVs/gas cars (any pricey car has these weapons in disguise, that people are brainwashed to love), make articles and start the discussion online to lobby for the end of the genocide, no different than the smog by gas cars genocide. The gov is owned by aristocrats who love to torture others to death with RF. ☺☺☺

Stay away from Tesla please, if you want to live long, 70 mW/m^2 inside a car is more like genocide of the planet, since it's the same level from phones near you. Tesla and phone companies are on to something: destroying the human species, they don't inform on the effect of 24-7 WiFi and cell phones, cars, etc. People think only EVs have too much RF, but it's all newer fancier cars. People need to be informed. The worst are self-driving champions who need strong GPS antenna always on, that creates more lifespan years loss than gained by self-driving "prevention of collisions"... so we need to do the math: do we shrink or extend average human lifespan by self-driving? We need new physics for safer LiFi, make it noon time light or at least 4 pm light 24-7. light doesn't go thru our bodies like WiFi. Or new tech, new waves unknown to science. Wake up humans before you die off as a species of slaves of car computers. I was telling a friend on Jan 22nd 2024 at 5:45 pm California time (South) that Elon Musk kills us all with RF, and lighting strike happened during rain, then again 2 times when I texted Tesla about my complaints about RF (5:47) about this odd coincidence and when I typed about this odd event in this book (5:51 pm), all happened within 5-7 minutes, 3 lightning strikes at the exact time I was saying or typing it. I never look outside, I'm an indoor guy. It just happened the curtain was open and I was staring at the window as it rained for hours before and saw 3 strikes first time maybe in 10 years in minutes with nothing else, no thunders before or after. A miracle of God, or CIA control of weather and people's gaze to outside, perhaps, warning humanity of its health gamble with the RF that fries every organ sort of like a lightning strike does. RF and these WiFi, GPS, internet of things may be the mythical "mark of the beast", the robotization and destruction of all humans, who become automatic killers of all militaries fighting to the death. Given UK wars with USA, and Dutch history of exterminating blacks, Tesla founder alleged British-Dutch background (possibly real MI6 agent linked to UK, 1 UK wife, 2 Canada (colony of UK) wives), it is no wonder Tesla may use "selective microwaving" to ethnically cleanse USA and the planet of those Mi6, CIA (a branch of MI6?), Netherlands and UK dislikes, just like CIA destroys people's toes, heart, brains with impunity using microwaves and other weapons for simply wanting Peace. Cars can easily become like gas chambers, to achieve a slow death. Be careful with dirty electricity from EV charging at home and from solar panel inverters, battery storage, not all chargers on cars or etc are the same... On cell phones even, turning on airplane mode doesn't turn off RF from Bluetooth, WiFi, GPS background apps, unless you turn those off. Airplane mode only turns off the cellular modem frequencies that interfere with airplanes, the WiFi is not always turned off, the antenna produces signals in many laptops, etc, though weaker. GPS is not 2.4 GHz WiFi, but 1.2 and 1.6 GHz, and continues working when airplane mode is on, if the maps application is on, since GPS doesn't interfere with airplanes. How many people know that? Nobody, unless you have an RF meter like me.

We need a universal button on all Internet devices, cars, gadgets called "Silence", which turns off all wireless devices, not just the cellular modem turned off by the airplane mode, but all 46 antennas in Tesla Model S, or at least those 4 that emit nonstop and software can't stop it. We need a disable button for all for in software and hardware, so we can even physically unplug it to prevent hackers frying us with microwaves while at home or in a car. We don't need to waste 4 years to find out how to do it on 10 cars and what to unplug and do and etc and be able to do the major 3, cellular, WiFi, GPS, physically too to prevent hackers from frying our bodies with RF. All updates can be done via a cable from our phone, a USB-C to USB-C cable that updates the car every 3 months or 12 even, HEALTH FIRST, RF last. Free the slaves now. It's the fundamental right of ALL people, rich or poor, of all nations to clean air, free from chemical smog and electromagnetic smog. Nobody is educated on how to turn off GPS, WiFi, cellular modem on a car. The military tortures and spies on everyone. The same is true for other gas or EV cars with high RF, the only way is to remove the telematics module used to write thoughts, emotions and hack all cars, torture people, etc via RF beams and hidden weapon systems, etc, under the guise of "free internet or paid internet, WiFi and GPS" you already have on your phone. Since 2015, many gas and electric cars came with WiFi and cellular modems, and more antennas are added yearly to completely destroy the human species. Nobody cares about public health impacts of RF. All people are mere guinea pigs for Nazi experimentation by the military controlled so called "private companies" in all nations. Everything on TV in every nation is about war, weapons and military controlled fake cultures and companies and "independent personalities, celebrities", Peace is a forbidden topic, especially Eternal World Peace in 3 months. Life is like in a prison planet, where RF is used to kill and exterminate. In 2017, Tesla introduced digital keys that enabled people with 2 cars to not have to carry 2 key fobs and a phone. These phone keys are so easy to hack. They eliminated the key fob (315 MHz, all in USA) and replaced it with a credit card size key that takes a lot more effort to use to open the car, if you have no phone with you or want 0 pollution from 2.4 GHz Bluetooth. This was supposedly to "make it easier for those with 2 cars", but made it deadly for everyone. Is this covert hybrid warfare on American public health, extermination of the masses, mass sterilization via RF to encourage people to have phones on all the time? This caused then other automakers to follow suit and offer it and lots of people to turn on Bluetooth and damage their body, even when phone is in airplane mode. With a phone, nobody needs GPS antenna inside the car. At least we know the passenger/driver mirrors contains WiFi and cellular antennas in some Teslas, so covering with aluminum foil part of it may help reduce RF. Cops want to use GPS to limit speed to 10+speed limit, but we need to try use cameras that need speed signs first, before adding more RF to cars to bring more death than we prevent by lower speed. A culture of gentleness can help more than gadgets. GPS speed limiters can go into 5 billion cars and kill way more lifespan years if badly done. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

You can remove the modem of your Tesla and put it back only once a year for 1 hour for updates, same for GPS antenna, remove it permanently and the WiFi card, though not sure what will happen with the buttons as all are interconnected. You can also remove the Tesla LTE sim card or replace it, to prevent microwaves. From 3G car to 4G, and how to remove 3G modem and placing in one that pollutes much less, so replace 4G/5G with a 3G, for less pollution, since 3G networks went down in 2022 in USA. You still get your directions and pollution is much less than Bluetooth on while airplane mode is on. Click on the upper right corner WiFi and BT icons to turn THEM OFF. Model S has 46 antennas, see their exact description and location (most don't emit 24-7, they're only receivers of commands from other car areas). WOW, lots of weapons to torture people, track them, on demand, from satellites. That phone GPS doesn't pollute much, but Tesla GPS antenna on the back window pollutes so much EVEN WHEN THE CAR is idle. It's like a cell phone tower in your car. About 75 years before leaded gasoline was banned, a Harvard professor warned that its use would have catastrophic consequences, but automakers could care less: profits trump health. Today, the same thing happens with Apple, Google, cell phone companies, Tesla (due to their obsession with self-driving and the strongest GPS antenna of anyone, to avoid collisions) everyone dumping too much RF that kills us all, destroys our brains, introduces billions of birth defects, etc. If Elon Musk read this chapter, he would create a new Tesla car, with no autopilot that uses metal roof to block the antenna installed on the top of the car, like Nissan Leaf, so people, babies inside are safe from toxic RF levels. 0.005 mW/m^2 is acceptable for babies, but 10000 times that, like near back passengers and baby seat is pure genocide. I bought my first EV in 2016, a Nissan Leaf, and I still love it. I reserved my Model Y, which, I thought was a good deal, due to 5 K lower price in inventory, new, and 7.5K instant rebate for new EV, but then at test drive I noticed the headache again from that GPS antenna of Tesla, 500000 times stronger than the Nissan antenna (to do self-driving well) and placed under the glass, with no metal under like Leaf, so RF was as deadly as near a phone 3 inches from head. This caused me to lose 500$, and cancel my order. If you care about public health, your baby's health, etc, please don't buy Tesla until you measure RF with the meters online during test drive (while car is idle or not). Only buy a gas or electric car if the RF is the same as background radiation when car is turned on, not 10000 times higher. Elon has nice intention to help develop self-driving, but this can compromise the EV revolution by making people sick. Just get an older

Nissan Leaf or less fancy EV and you will live longer, be healthier. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

That Tesla (or any car that is into self-driving a lot in the future, or even now, that I didn't test) GPS from Teslas is so strong, that it kills people slowly and commits an act of planetary slow genocide. The Immortality Nurturing Agency needs to strike a balance between the military hawks desire for self-driving and total control of everyone and the public health and brain health of Americans that the military is destroying via all high RF cars (gas or EV). Once again, it comes to the war for the survival of the human species: will we destroy all brains to "get the convenience of infinite laziness and self driving?". The whole world has gone mad, everyone uses cell phones, WiFi tablets, laptops without knowing how deadly they are. Now, some companies, like Tesla, have insane levels of RF, not seen except near cell towards for people sitting in the back. This is an all out war on the human species, complete destruction of the entire humanity by ☺abysmal IQ☺ folks, from gas/electric car companies, who install massive insane GPS antennas that introduce trillions of birth defects and will take 5 millennia to fix. Tesla and Elon Musk need to provide true choice and people ought to have a choice of GPS antenna, of no autopilot, of turning off the antenna physically, unplugging it, and the option of NO GPS antenna at ALL, make HEALTH # 1 priority. Disconnect GPS so no hacker can track anyone. Until that car comes, please stay away from Tesla, you're helping them destroy humanity. Your testicles, ovaries are being wiped out, you'll be infertile if you sit in the back where radiation is 25 times higher than driver and front passenger seat. Never camp in a Tesla, you need low RF cars. Get that meter, be safe, recall, Big Business cares not, only the Immortalist Party with its new ethos will bring more health focus. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Some youtubers claim that you can turn "GPS off by turning off mobile access to your car". Mobile access turn off only prevents phones from accessing a car, not the GPS antenna from destroying every cell in your body. Right now, you need to go to Settings, Quick Controls, Safety and scroll down to "Allow Mobile Access" and turn that off to prevent any non-hacker phone from connecting or controlling the car. This "mobile access" turn off is useless, RF remains the same, but turns off other things, see the full list here. This option to turn it off was there since 2017 at least, and in older models it's slightly different how the menu steps to get there is, just google your model year. You can hold and drag your fingers on the screen until it says "Tracking disabled" too to prevent tracking by outside phones etc, but this in of itself won't turn off your being cooked to death by the GPS antenna (that can't be physically unpluged or made benevolent like the Nissan 2012 Leaf one), the Tesla will still get a lot of data and hackers could hack Tesla servers. You can get some older Nissan Leaf or EV car with newer battery swapped and then nobody can track anything, except the manufacturer. A true freedom society is one in which the government requires every car maker or importer to allow consumers to PHYSICALLY UNPLUG THE GPS, WiFi and Cellular 3 ANTENNAS (and to not have them in the car at all, being OPTIONAL ADD-ONS – people can read directions via their phone saying it out loud) and reduce thus RF radiation to 0, no more mobile connection to any cellular network, nothing. We're not rats to be exterminated by gas chambers, except now it's 2.4 GHz, done by Jewish and Gentile CEOs or owners of Google, Tesla and other companies: a slow sadistic extermination done by Jews and Gentiles. The GPS antenna is located in some models at least under the rear glass. Removing the GPS antenna (if no software way is created by Tesla in response to my suggestion in Jan 2024) is a MUST, not MUSK, for those stuck with the Teslas who don't want a mentally retarded kid from sitting in the back seat, whose every organ is damaged. Your health and of anyone riding in the back where it's 30 times more deadly, is WAY more important than that GPS antenna, since phones in airplane mode emit WAY LESS (need a good test in an areas with constant 0.005 mW/m^2 background) poison while using maps, if you started the map application with airplane mode off, it still runs GPS in the background, but not the cellular tower connection. When you have 330 mile range, you're full 90%, you don't worry about driving 50 minutes some place. Please, read more on what RF does to your brain and every organ.

Some folks online suggested we could simply go to Service Menu and choose "Disconnect antennas" etc, but no such option exists. All car companies are controlled by their own government, so they can turn off the "car airplane mode off" remotely, just as FBI always does with phones. You need to physically disconnect the WiFi, Cellular, GPS antennas, by law of the Immortalism Eternal, to avoid foreign nations from exterminating Americans and tracking their every thought, writing their every emotion, and testing every satellite weapon on them via glass roofs of Teslas, etc. So, to detect criminals location, FBI can always briefly turn on mobile access on Teslas or any phone, that's why Libre creates phones where you can disconnect the 3 LETHAL WEAPONS OF MASS DESTRUCTION: WiFi Card, Modem Cellular Card, GPS antenna. Lots of articles online explain how phones that are off even can be used as microphones to spy. But since you're not on the "most wanted list", if you turn off mobile access, foreign spies will have a hard time to locate you, since turning it on secretly requires ultimate CIA knowledge. In fact, autonomous is not safe in this age of failing batteries and computers, unless you drive on a road with no people at low speed. The problem is that people are not told by Tesla and all these car companies using GPS trackers etc to "give you better traffic updates" (to exterminate you, if you know the routes, you know them when going shopping and you don't need to be killed with 2.4 GHz, etc, you can use phone Google maps for directions once a year when going to a new place, but 364 days you have the HUMAN RIGHT to be free from that TOXIC POISON. 10 min is OK, but 365 a year, when going to work, on routes you know etc, is pure evil. We don't have Eternal Travel Inc to inform people of RF risks, as Big Business owns everything, Big Cell Phone, like Big Oil did back then, to tell people to turn off Bluetooth (airplane mode on phones and disconnect any Bluetooth devices and turn off Bluetooth on phone), Bluetooth headsets, headphones, except when entering the car or to use the credit card like Tesla key if they want to avoid the brain/body destroying Bluetooth. Turn off Mobile Access (typical today on all EVs and gas cars, radiating people with too much GPS microwaves, etc) almost always to prevent RF overload (you don't need Bluetooth for internet, turn it off, open car with the card, use the cable PDAnet method via long cable method for internet). Tesla allows easy Mobile Access (WiFi, Bluetooth, over the air updates, just do turn it on every 60 days by plugging in the WiFi or Cellular antennas, for 1 hour to get any updates) turn off. Turning off tracking (hold finger ans drag them on the screen until it says "Tracking disabled"), so no paid KGB killers can track you and attack you with microwave lasers and other devices most people have no clue these spies have. If they know your location and whereabouts (if you're silly enough to turn on location history, so KGB can know what stores you frequent and have their agents or robotic AI doing facial recognition or image recognition from clothing, wait for you to attack you invisibly there from a car with the cameras on the store entrance), they can attack you, follow you, with invisible weapons. Search for directions on your wired internet desktop (100 times more secure than phone or WiFi), and then download it on phone or a no-Internet PDA or tablet, via cable and keep phone in airplane mode, to prevent tracking by assassination teams of various spy-military agencies roaming USA. Yes, even allies can have their torture devices and what not and torture stuff, if they can get undetected, do you really trust everything you see about "allies" (cannon fodder) and stuff? You better not, unless you want to be cooked to death via microwaves, infrasound, ultrasound, etc Even sending emails to "friends or family overseas" can reveal your IP address if you don't use Tor or WhatsApp to hide your IP address. The IP can tell the KGB where you are. Use more secure methods and use Tor. Just talk in person, avoid email and location revealing. When "friends" email you, reply back via WhatsApp text sentence, as it is more secure, since Yahoo, Instagram, etc block Tor users after a few logins (they think you're a gangster). Never send any email, unless you absolutely need to and use sites that don't block Tor, to prevent your main email account or etc from being disabled permanently. Do anything with a test account first.

Many prefer key fobs like Tesla used to have in the old days, since they only transmit a tiny signal (about 1-50 million times less RF exposure daily at least versus the so called "smart" (low IQ actually) "digital keys") when you press them, as opposed to having Bluetooth on phone destroying and emitting 24-7 for that one second of entry. It's very wasteful, anti-Immortality for All, unethical and low IQ to shrink your lifespan 0.x years for the sake of 'laziness without bounds and convenience' for the minority who has 2 cars (self and spouse perhaps sometimes if he drives hers) and doesn't want to carry 2 key fobs. Just make the key fob smaller and then people can carry 2 if they always use their wife's car every other day. Phones are fine to use when you need to, but to protect self, minimize Tesla, phone or car internet, calls while outside your wired desktop/laptop connection, as WiFi or cellular damages the body. Health ought to be first,☺☺☺ convenience last. Automakers don't get that, since Immortality Nurturing Agency doesn't exist yet. The Nazis run the show. Have your RF meter and watch out which car activities destroy your body. Having Bluetooth on all the time, just like WiFi or cellular signal, without phone protection (an aluminum phone case that blocks 95% of signal) is a sure way to destroy every cell in your body with 2.4 GHz waves. Today, kids use wireless earpieces and headphones, not knowing how it destroys their entire body, not just the brain, as blood recirculates and all that oxidative stress spreads like a cancer. The government of terrorists doesn't care much either to make any warning label. The love of convenience destroys our bodies, read the RF section on what microwaves do. The phone eats you alive while it's not in airplane mode, so I keep mine in airplane mode. We can't expect automakers to know every study on RF, they try to sell cars. EV Safety is related to tree branches falling too: your gas or electric car can get electrified and kill you if you touch car and the ground, read this article to see how.

Gently consider not buying used cars from Arizona/other hot/ultra cold states, as those car batteries can have issues, so buy EVs from local trusted sources, where car was parked in a cool/warm garage to prevent extreme temps. Same for Florida and other flood states cars, they sell flooded cars with damaged batteries. The car dealers rip everyone off, I did some autotrader searches and I saw many old cars with 50K miles selling in one state for 5-15K more than a new car in another area or state. Always press the precondition battery on your Tesla,☺☺☺ to warm it up before you reach the fast charging station, to prevent the problems all other manufacturers have: cold batteries that take much longer to charge in extremely cold winter weather (well below freezing). Youtube explains how many non-Teslas take 5 hours to charge instead of the advertised 20 minutes or not charge at all, since the battery reached 0%; sadly this can happen to Tesla owners who don't read the manual. Tesla is the only company that uses heat pump to prevent battery over cooling. With the new Li phosphate batteries in 2024 Juniper Model Y, Tesla will once again leap above the rest, since these are much more cold weather resistant. Gently park in the warm garage if temps go below 50F, since EV batteries love temps above 50, and don't lose charge in 50-75 range. Only the most ethical people own EVs, many of the rest, who act as co-authors of genocide of poor people inhaling smog for 8 months a year or even 12, just make fun of EVs when someone forgets to precondition, making a show on right wing media, brainwashing people to kill via gas. All other EV trucks are a joke, Tesla alone offers a bulletproof truck and the option to even make the glass bulletproof. This helps a lot during hurricanes, sudden highway tornadoes when debris from other cars, etc can his your driver window and injure driver, distract him, leading to a 30 car pileup on a highway, as we have seen during sudden tornadoes happen so often. This bulletproof alloy also won't bend much during crashing into trees or concrete barriers, cars, etc, saving lives. With a ground clearance of 17.4", highest among most cars and all EVs too, the Cybertruck is by far the safest truck to use during floods to rescue people, transport food, etc thru pools of water too deep for normal cars. Tesla All companies offer instant rebate now for qualifying EVs, no longer endless forms at tax time.

People don't understand that a model Y is cheaper than a Model 3, since it gets the 7.5K discount and a huge discount on the inventory sometimes. If you only have 25K, you can get a used Tesla and then claim the instant 4K out of the 25K price, if the dealer you select has signed up for this program of instant rebate. Dealers are flexible and will often allow to lower your trade in car value, so they can still make the same profit by lowering the car price to 24,999 and giving you that 4K discount. Many EVs are quoted 500$ anyway, if some 2011 Leaf by some dealers, so really, what they're doing is not illegal per se, but help clean our air by allowing all income levels to buy a used Tesla. Gently go to autotrader.com (cheapest), edmunds.com, carmax.com, cars.com, etc choose TESLA, within Nationwide for miles, Electric Drive, 200-300 mile range or 300+, Model Year 2021+ (if Model 3, 353-358 range) select by Lowest Price, you will get a car that is 7-20K cheaper than nearby cars (at other sites or even Tesla website, if you're lucky to find a reliable dealer who sells a safe car, not always easy, recall that Tesla used inventory also offers 4K off any vehicle under 25K, but they don't really have 25K cars) and pay only 0.5-2K extra for shipping. This way, you get a great deal, save 8-15K and will thank Immortalist Anthem for it. If you search for any model year, you get a 2014 Model S 85 (265 mile range) for 15k, but Carvana.com charges 24K since they love to rip everyone off, while Carvana wants to give only 400$ for a Nissan 2012. Carmax.com is a better place to get a check the same day (not weeks later like Carvana) perhaps, if you got the title. Any used car under 25K qualifies for Federal Instant Rebate of 4K in 2024, so you could buy a Tesla Model S for 11K only in 2024-5, amazing. The downside is their charging speed, for oldest Model S, is only 75-150 kWh, not 250, so not good for people who travel long distances often. Any Peaceful Lyrics Lover can now save the air quality by buying a Model S for 10K. However, not all car dealers sign up for the instant rebate program, if they're a small dealer that doesn't sell many EVs, so you may need to find one that does. The lack of centralization means we have to waste eons to find a cheap Tesla on 500 sites, when with immortality capitalism, we can find it in 3 seconds at eternaltravel.gov.

I've seen shopping centers with 15 Tesla chargers near 2 non-Tesla chargers and people at Tesla just come and put the plug in, only 30% used in 2024. At the non-Tesla, 4-5 people can fight (they try to plug 4 cars when only 2 charging stations exist, they think different cables means multiple cars, but it's just not the case, they got 3 cables, Tesla, CCS, ChaDeMo at EVGo, but only 1 car can charge and get that 50 kW max or whatever it is) and queue for 2 chargers and many have no clue how to use it, they pull like crazy, damage it, then people can't use it sometimes, they need 10 different apps to install for 10 different providers (EVConnect, EVgo, ChargePoint, etc) and many give up, I've seen them giving up and even talked to them to help them use it properly and they didn't get it. It's insane. The other stations, you have to try 5 times to even start it, plug 5 times, due to the screen freezing, etc. Tesla has no screens, nothing. At the others near many Tesla superchargers called J1772, that give a regular charging rate of 3-7 kW max quite often, they have sometimes 2 cars per charger and the speed drops to 2.5 kW/hour, or 100 times lower than Tesla. States, utilities have rebates for low income people too, for new/used EVs. Model 3 is only 2.2 inches shorter, and has 0.9 extra inches of front legroom, which helps tall drivers. Model Y had 5 extra inches in the back for legs, but back is for kids usually in families, so it doesn't matter. Ground clearance is 6.8" for Model Y LR or Standard, 6.2 for Y Performance, 5.5 for Model 3 Standard and 5.2 for Model 3 LR/Performance.

The higher the ground clearance the lower the range and the higher the risk of rollover and car turning during curves and high speed, so the lowest ground clearance is oddly, safest on most roads. Model 3 LR 2024 gets 3 extra miles (333 vs 330). However, If you change wheels from 20" to capped 18" (25$ wheel caps from Tesla improve driving range) on Model 3 Performance, set acceleration to chill, install IR blocking clear tint on windshield, front windows and black 5% visible, 5% IR on the back, you also increase range, possibly to 370 miles for Model 3 LR/P, if living in a warmer state where AC use is useful. ☺☺☺White paint and white interior is a must also. Otherwise, you lose 40 miles in hot weather easily. This is because the batteries in M3P/M3LR are identical, 75 kWh. A hot car heats up the battery and lowers the range. Since M3P has lower ground clearance, it may achieve even longer range than M3LR after all changes. But why go thru the trouble, unless you want perfect M3P brakes, superior to LR? 18" without caps loses 4% range, 19" no caps 10%, 20" no caps 15% of Model 3 LR. MY (Model Y) may be noisier and bumpier than M3 Highland 2024, as many videos claim, also due to 18" wheel vs 19 for MY. 18" is quieter inside the car than 19" or 20". So, go with 18". The key is to drive defensively, like the most perfect driver, no sudden speeding, etc. One can wait for the upgrade to Model Y suspension to mirror Model 3 2024 Highland release, in 2025 or whenever they release the one with same Model 3 2024 improvements. So, when ordering a Model 3, make sure it's the Highland 2024 upgraded version, not the 2023 type. Next 5 pages explain more about charging speed, 10 minutes versus 10 hours and why you must buy Tesla, like 50% of EV owners if you drive long distances and want to have only 1 car: the other cars have access to too few super fast chargers to be able to charge in 10 minutes if you need to refill: you can end up waiting 1 hour like this guy. 2023 is the first year when EV sales exceeded 1 million. A 10000 fold increase versus many years ago. I too found the same thing, you often need to wait 20 minutes, so check out your app, before driving to a charger and then find out when you arrive, it's busy and you wait 30 minutes. At Tesla stations there is enough space always. Tesla Model 3 2024 is much quieter and less bumpy than Model Y 2023 (which is same as Y 2024 per reports) and enables you, for a little extra, to have door panels and everything white (not just the seats), which will improve range in hot climate states. Model Y 2024 may also get those noise and suspension upgrades. Model 3 LR 2024+ goes to 333 miles, Model Y LR only 330, hence, many choose Model 3. Model S 2018-2023 has metal roof, so it reflects heat, while most Teslas have dark grey roofs that absorb most heat. The solution is tinting the roof with the most heat reflective tint on the market, for 60$, to reflect 99% of heat. So, if you want to save your battery range, buy a model S and read this paragraph. EV tech is new, so drivers who don't read about batteries will be surprised battery life goes down a lot. Many misinformed drivers leave battery 10% empty overnight or 100% full overnight, facts that ruin the battery life dramatically. Be careful with Tesla Autopilot, better never use it at night as it can suddenly break and cause car crashes; never use Tesla in fog and rain, see how it crashes due to no LIDAR. This can be due to software glitches or to drivers doing something silly on the car. Since self-driving is new, it's probably safest to never use it. That's true for all self-driving cars… it's new. Note that he lost 23 miles of range, out of 306 (330 for Long Range model Y, 303 for Performance model Y) after only 22K miles and 13 months, so after 120K miles, you may lose 128 miles if you don't follow the best practices for charging (battery always 30% to 80% ideally, except once 2 months at 100%). However, it seems, like with phones, even if you follow best practices, some 23 mile drop in range can occur, as a youtuber reported in 2023, even if charging up to 80% usually. Tesla claims that the range is 303 miles, but in hot weather the range is 210 miles (maybe he started at 80% charge, so that's already 240 miles only). It's good to read Consumer Reports and see what the latest range tests reveal, a 2023 article claims (not sure if they're German spies trying to make German cars look better, choose cars whose battery performance is much better than the average) some models have 70 miles longer range than EPA testing official highway+city combined, on highway, while others have 5 to 50 miles less on highway at 70 mph. ☺☺☺

For reasons the torture section explains (foreign cars can torture you, destroy your brain, heart, organs, and write your brain and emotions), it's critical for Americans to buy American cars, made in USA, not anything else. If you want all people to be remotely brainwashed by foreign phones and cars, continue buying foreign brands. This metric is critical, since half EVs do poorly at 70 mph vs advertised range. So hot weather may make you lose 30-100 miles, depending on how hot it is and how fast you drive, just like cold winter does the exact same. Aesthetic issues aside (people complain some things aren't perfectly aligned, etc, it SAVES PEOPLE'S LUNGS AND LIVES, that's what matters), Tesla is the only brand that has a heat pump, which is really important in cold weather, to avoid losing 100 miles of range. Tesla recommends owners keep their car plugged in overnight, after charging it to 80%, so that heat pump helps increase the range. Teslas, unlike all other cheap EVs, can be used to sleep in, the seats fall back and it has a camp mode to keep you cool or warm. If war breaks, and your house is destroyed, many hotels may be booked, so you may need run in your car and sleep in it, due to hot or cold weather, etc. Having an electric car like the 19K (after instant rebate of 7.5K) Bolt EV (you can sleep with legs almost touching dashboard, head on trunk) helps in case of floods, earthquakes, nuclear attacks, war. Sometimes you travel and a hotel, the only one around, smells so bad, you can't sleep in it, then you simply use an electric car to sleep in. Cybertruck is even bullet proof which helps even more in case of an invasion, to survive, run away or fight guerrilla war. Wagoneer EV also allows you to sleep in, but costs 110K, not 19K as Bolt EV. A used Bolt is 20K at many dealers, so best is to get a new for 19K, with upgraded 2023 Bolt model battery that doesn't have a fire risk. All old battery Bolts get a free upgrade to the 66 kWh one if the test shows issues at the dealer, vs 60 kWh old one, due to the fire risk, but it's wiser to get a 2024 new Bolt for the same price or 1000 more. Most electric utilities have 3000$ rebates for EVs these days that they did not have back in 2016*, so you get it for 16K*. Fast charging speed is only 50 kWh for Bolt (160 miles per hour or so), so not good for long road trips, though most chargers are 50 kWh in some areas, not higher, so having a used 20K Tesla Model S won't help for short trips in areas with no Tesla superchargers. ChargePoint, America's largest charging network (I have a card from them or can use phone to start charging, card is faster), launched a 500 kWh station, so Bolt users will wait 10 times longer to fast charge versus new 2025 etc cars that will come with 500 kWh capable on board charger. However, today, many Teslas can only charge up to 250 kWh, as can most other new EVs. Model 3 2024 Rear-Wheel Drive takes 170 kW, Model 3 Long Range 250 kW, Model 3 Performance 210 kW. Batteries last longer if they charge at 50-150 kw, instead of 200-500 kWh, so if you want longevity, going slower has its pros. Except for Tesla superchargers, the vast majority of CCS stations use 50-150 kW, so their speed is the limit, not your Model 3 type. However, in real life, these chargers slow down after 50% of battery is reached, so from 3% to 100%, a 250 kWh charger took only 2 less minutes to charge a Tesla Long Range Model 3 (2019 with 250 kWh on board charger) versus a 150 kWh station. So, it may not matter sometimes if you have a 150 or 250 car with the older 250 stations. I also noticed myself, some fast charging stations take 3 times longer to charge a car, due to defects, temperature of car battery, of the charging station, etc. However, if you only charge up to 80% as suggested for battery longevity, you will see a much bigger difference, because after 80%, speed often becomes 10-20 times slower to avoid battery damage. So, you still want Model 3 Long Range and Model Y, 250 kWh, since the S and X have only 150 kWh, and it will take twice as long on some quick charges up to 70% when you need to get some place fast and do a quick 20 to 70% charge. It all depends what you want to use your car for: the main car for all trips or a commuting car. 2024 7.5K instant rebate applies to the 210 kWh Model 3 Performance and the 250 kWh Y Perform. Even so, the 20K Model S is better and 3 times faster than 19K Bolt EV 50 kWh. So, it may be better to buy a used Tesla S for long trips, and wait until Bolt has a 250 kWh charger in 2027. Bolt EV and EUV can only charge up to 55 kWh in the latest 2023 and up models. Dacia Spring EV, the cheapest electric car in Europe (11K after incentives in some countries), only got 34 kW charger. So, you may save some cash, but will charge 5 times slower on road trips vs 17K Model S 2013 or 7 times slower than 25K Model 3 2019. If you charge it overnight in the garage to commute only and take train or airplane for long trips, then this fast charging speed is not an issue. The 78K new Model S 2023 Long Range 405 miles can also use 250 kWh, but nobody can afford it.

Most sedans charge up to 250 kWh in 2024, but a few (77K Lucid Air Pure, 66-75K Genesis Electrified, etc) can do 350 kWh (usually low ground clearance sedans, so not good for floods, rough roads, etc). EV-database.com org shows EV fast charge max speed, so Ctrl+F "fastcharge" to go there without scrolling, wasting time to look. Confirm it with the web. Because most 150-250 kw chargers are Tesla Superchargers (v2, version 2 is 150 kW and if 2 cars use it, it becomes 75 kW, V3 is 250 kW even if multiple cars use it, so always go to V3 superchargers), buying a Tesla is the only logical choice for anyone who wants to travel more than 150 miles, since you can charge it so fast and Tesla doesn't allow nonTesla cars to charge. If you don't do long trips, then you charge at home in the garage at 240 V and will get some nice full charge in 10 hours, no issue at all. But not everyone has a garage to charge overnight, due to the criminal society we're in, so think twice before you buy a 50 kW onboard Leaf or Bolt, you will deeply regret it since the car slows charging speed from 23 kW to 2 kWh once it reaches 77% sometimes, yes, 125 times slower than a Tesla Supercharger with a real Electric Car, that is a 250 kWh Tesla, not the other garbage cars. The cooler the battery the slower the charging, so you may be at a place where someone is charging at 3 times the rate you're charging since their battery is so warm and car too, while yours stayed outside in cold and got so cool. Same model, same everything. Thus, Tesla suggests to precondition the battery before charging, by warming it up to get the fastest possible charging speed. Until 60-70% your charging rate is high, after that it slows down a lot, so you really only charge at 250 kW rate from 10 to 60% in the best warm weather, keep that in mind when you plan trips and "get a 50-150 kWh on board charger car", because it will slow you down a LOT in cold weather with snow if car has not been running and battery is cold. Given the above issues with cold and slower speed after 60%, I would never buy a 50-150 kWh car, as it will be useless for long trips in cold weather or hot weather, where you want to charge only from 20% to 60% at super high speed, to add 170 miles in 10 minutes. Go to plugshare.com and install the app and select the 250-350+ kWh chargers to save time and locate any nonTesla chargers that charge 170 miles/10 minutes, as you don't want to stop hours to charge. If there is a gap of 300 miles with no 250 KW chargers, then simply use a 150 kW in between, as those are ubiquitous and easy to find anywhere in USA. For example to get from Los Angeles to Miami in 2023, you drive 95% of the distance via I10 freeway and everywhere you have 250 kW chargers every 150 miles or so, except for 500 miles in Arizona and Texas, so you use 150 kW, wasting 40 extra minutes because of that, otherwise, you get to Miami fast, as you stop every 150 miles to charge for 10 minutes and stretch, drink water, pee or eat some snack. It's healthy☺☺☺ to stop every 2.5 hours of driving anyway, so you simply charge your Tesla from 15% to 65% or so, to get that 170 mile boost for the Long Range Tesla models with 330-350 mile range. On highway and in cold weather, that range drops 20-30%, so keep that in mind when you calculate using plugshare and Tesla apps. With Tesla 250 kWh in 5 days you can travel 2700 miles, as you take showers at truck stops or rest areas, gyms, etc and sleep in the car or hotel. But with the Bolt, it takes 10-15 days as charging takes FOREVER, 5 times slower and all nonTeslas can't use the 5000 Tesla superchargers, so that forces you to stop more, drive off free way more to find nonTesla chargers. With an old 2011-2017 Nissan Leaf, look at 20-23 days, since charging speed, the average one from 10 to 60% if much lower and you need to charge way more often too (since most old cars have a range of 30-55 on highway in cold or hot weather), not 50 kw as advertised. Do your homework before the trip to make sure there are such stations.

Going to 10% will damage the battery, so best is to charge 20 to 60% fast, since after 60% it slows and you will be wasting time waiting 10 times longer because at 78% it can go to 10 times lower charging speed. Get a 250 kWh Tesla (only newer models), it's the best car to have anywhere, as Tesla superchargers got 250 kW, most "fast chargers" don't, they get 20-100 usually. All other cars that have 250-350 kWh chargers are useless, because most 250 kW chargers are Tesla, if not 90% of them. Bolt is not for 2000 mile road trips, but for 144 mile trips max (if you want no stop, no charging and highway, very cold, very hot weather that needs AC, heat on and 70 mph will reduce range by 40%, from 240 (260 brand new Bolt, since you need leave 20 to save battery) to 144. Leaf models use ChaDeMo with maximum rate of 46 kWh (50 kW on many stations that have CCS (the universal standard) 150 kW inches away), so you may never be able to exceed 50 kW on old stations. ChaDeMo are going to become obsolete and are absent on many new stations and on all Tesla superchargers, as all automakers discontinue ChaDeMo. So, Bolt is way better than Leaf, you get access to far more charging stations and later to more Tesla superchargers that will be open to more nonTesla EVs, so you get to enjoy 150-500 kWh charging speeds, up to 7 times faster as the latest 250-500 stations are being deployed. 26K Bolt is a lot cheaper than 50K for Teslas that qualify for 7.5K rebate and most people can't afford a Tesla, but they will when Model 2 comes out for 25K. A cheap truck size cargo space EV is the 53K (vs 51K for Model Y white interior /exterior version) Ford Transit cargo version that allows you to camp (setup a shower in the tall model, a studio to live in 3 years) in the back of it (no seats). Cybertruck got a camping attachment with shower, toilet, kitchen, beds for those wanting an RV with 500 mile range. ☺☺☺

A used Model S under 25K from carvana.com (set price to 25K) could get 4K instant rebate in 2024, thanks to a new law and a new EV made in USA with US components 7500 (See list of models that qualify), allowing poorer people (with much lower tax liability) to get 4000 for used, $7500 for new instantly off the price at the point of sale. California, where 40% of US electric exist, have tons of incentives as well, (up to $9500 in some areas, more than the federal if you get rid of a gasoline car; 3000 from electric utilities for used EVs, etc) on top of the federal. Model S can be used to sleep in, the S start at 24K, some have metal roof, to prevent light and radio frequencies, rocks/birds falling and breaking it, etc. Model S 2012-2015 are easier to sleep/camp in, as seats fall flat. For 2016-2019 Model S, you need some cardboard, thick blankets before placing mattress on, to make it flat. A big rock could easily break it completely if falling from 1000 feet maybe, while metal may not break. If driving thru mountain areas, you could be killed or injured. Model S bed is 180 cm and the least flat, so most prefer Teslas in the order: Y > X (falcon door mechanism diminishes headroom) > 3 > S for sleeping inside if hotel is bad or camping, while model 3 (small version) 206 cm (model 3 has the trunk cover, forcing you to use a thin mattress if side sleeper, making sleeping very uncomfortable if you move a lot), model Y 210 cm (with the front seats pushed out to the max, no trunk cover, so way more room to move legs when relaxing or sleeping etc). This fits even guys who're 6'9". You can open all doors at once. Model X is the only one with flat floors 100%, so some dislike Y and prefer X by a wide margin due to several differences. In the other Teslas you simply place an extra blanket or cardboard, foam board, etc to make it 100% flat, no big deal, nobody will spend extra to buy X. For people with amputated legs or in a wheelchair, the Model X seems a good car, per some youtubers, since you don't need to go in and out of the car twice like at the gas station, by simply charging at home at night and it has some nice features for opening trunk, closing it, that probably all other Teslas have too, etc. Flat or not can be fixed, X is roomier too, but luggage can go on top of Y too. X is 14 inches longer than Y. Don't buy 6 seat X, as middle seats don't fold, if you plan to sleep. Model X is pricey to fix, 7000 for a falcon door. Those doors have more stuff there that interfere with the sleep, so some don't like X, given the price if new. Rivian R1S is 71K and another EV with 15" (not 6.2-6.8 of Model Ys, 5.5 Model 3) ground clearance with 206 cm bed (81 inches), long enough for 6'9" guys. You can buy a Rivian R1T for 58K, or a 2018 Long Range Model X (clearance 8.3" max) for 40K, 2019 Model X (ground clearance max 9.0", higher than 8.9" Ford EVs and all electric SUVs), 2016 Model X 26K, 2023 Subaru Solterra EV for 30K, Subaru lets you sleep in it too and has 8.3" ground clearance, much higher than 5.5" for Standard/Long Range Model 3, or 5.2" of Performance Model 3. Front legroom 42.7 model 3, 41.8 model Y. Audi e-tron Q8 (Prestige and S models for all e-trons are the pricier ones that get air suspension) has air suspension that can be raised to 10.0" for off-road slow speed travels (from the 8.7" default). Audi has intermittent RF, 0.4-1 mW/m^2 of lower intensity RF than many popular electric cars, if using the GQ EMF-390 meter, since when using phone GPS, in airplane mode, in google maps, no signal (> 0.001 mW/m^2) is detected, even if you get perfect directions (airplane mode only turns off cellular, not GPS). Most radiation is from cellular, WiFi, BT, not GPS. Audi Q4, Q8 can be quite silent, but every 10 seconds or so, there is a spike of some 2 mW/m^2, etc. Some of these signals, which for many cars rise when you get closer to the roof, can be easily diminished with taping some taped on both sides aluminum foil, covered in a paper

matching car background for maximum discretion, so you can still enjoy your nice car. However, for Tesla, who chose the most evil possible way to put the GPS antenna, in the glass, so you can't put aluminum on that car area, you're stuck with concentration extermination camp levels. If you really want to, you can change settings etc and also use aluminum, see more ideas in the torture section, on creating shields against the attacks. In case of natural disasters or war, people need off-road capable cars, like Audi (subsidiary of Volkswagen since 1965, but founded 38 years before Volkswagen in 1899, vs 2012 Tesla with the comical☺ app, customer service and website car ordering), because you need to drive parallel to a jammed freeway that moves 1 mph, to escape nuclear radiation or tsunami waters from nuke underwater detonation, etc. When Putin bombed Kiev on 2-24-2022, all highways moved at 2 mph, with lines of 50 miles... So, Tesla Model X 8.1" max or Ford F-150 EV with 8.9" are terrible vs Audi 10.0" capable or Rivian 15" clearance. The Ariya, allegedly an "improvement of Nissan Leaf", pollutes so much vs the Leaf. We're regressing as a species, soon to become robotic species that disappears without a trace. Audi Q8 can reach 373 miles and they plan to go 100% electric by 2030, a feat the others, except Tesla, only dream of. Autotrader.com shows (within Nationwide, not 10 miles), Audi e-tron 2019 can be 25K on autotrader, ground clearance is 6.0-6.9" minimum, 8.8 (2019 etc models) to 9.8 (newer bigger) maximum for some years, trims, higher than Model Y. Audi e-tron has air suspension for all models, so it's by far the best deal, since air is superior to struts, damaging your brain less. Plus, you can go off-road sometimes, by raising it. Just buy one with 60K or less, since otherwise, suspension may be bad and need replacements soon. Even ID4 struts rode way better than Tesla or Hyundai, in 2023 at least. Some say ID4 has a smoother suspension than Audi Q4 e-tron, so go take a ride and decide. Both cars, Audi e-tron and ID4, are based on the same Volkswagen platform. The 8.8 to 9.8 max clearance makes Audi superior to 6.7" max ID4 AWD, or Model X 2021-present 8.1 max clearance or 2017-2020 9.0 Model X clearance. Off-roaders will buy Audi 10.0" capable e-tron, or perhaps, the 7.9" Blazer EV with 0 microwave pollution or Subaru Solterra 8.3", Subaru being in the top 5 car brands per Consumer Reports, way above Tesla, and the brand specialized in off-road cars. While some may love Solterra Subaru Premium (the basic cheapest trim with least connectivity) EV for 8.3" clearance, 100000 times lower RF than Tesla and 3000 times lower RF than Audi when you turn off WiFi, Bluetooth, all connectivity and the display off too) having a lower clearance for on-road is safer, as it prevents rolling, losing balance and accidents. When off-road, Audi gives way more than 8.3, so overall it is safer than Toyota bz4x 8.1" or Model X 8.1 max, etc, since off-road you want more, while on-road less. Overall, Audi e-tron is one of the most unknown and unheard of electric cars that offers huge advantages over all the other EVs on sale in 2024, except the much more expensive (if used) Rivian truck, 60K in 2024 used (66K new) minimum, vs 25K for e-tron. Audi e-tron low RF pollution also makes it stand way above the pack, second only to the Nissan Leaf (which will be discontinued, as a more lethal car will be created, to zap Nissan lovers with

Rivian trucks come with 260 miles (cheapest), 314 miles (60K used in 2024) or even 400 miles (2023 models and up), outperforming all other trucks in electric range. You can program outlets to turn off at certain times, etc, so for trucks, Rivian R1S holds # 1, with 17 configurations, even quad motor, being like a mini RV house on wheels, 30 times easier to sleep in for tall or short people, so roomy vs any Tesla car, truck, etc or other electric truck makers. A used R1S is among the best for mountain areas, flood prone areas due to its 14.9" max clearance, though Cybertruck 17.4" is even better for flood disasters, but too much Tesla RF makes people sick. However, real world range of Cybertruck may be 206, which is in line with Edmunds finding that on highway, range of Tesla cars is 17% lower than EPA estimate, vs other brands where it is 60% higher than EPA. ☺☺☺ Google to find some lists of EVs with high ground clearance useful during floods, or bad roads (the 8.3" clearance of ID4 is good and people camp in it using heater timer to heat car every 2 hours). During wars, emergencies, natural disasters, police missions, a Rivian would be way more useful, since you need travel on dirt, where no roads exist and move away from enemy fire or even gangs that only can travel in sedans on normal roads. See R1S prices, the max 390 mile range (way better than 300 Model 3). Rivian R1S got way more luggage, etc space than X, Y, S. Cheap 2024 R1S versions of 71K in 2024 got 270 miles, brand new. Cybertruck "bed" is only 6 feet long, so only short guys can sleep there, no way to separate front from the cabin, which sucks, since that diminishes oxygen and you need extra devices to enlarge it and sleep in it. R1S thus outperforms any Tesla or vehicle under 75K on the market when it comes to going camping for 1 year to sleep inside and take daily showers at gyms (25 a month) or truck stops or hostels etc. Not only does it have a huge range, 390 miles, but it's 3 times the range of Ford Transit EV (more room but no camp mode to warm the Transit and keep warm, you need charge too much in winter). Solar charging in future models, allow you to recharge while sitting idle, by making all body a solar panel, so it will be useful in case of emergencies when all power lines are down, all charging stations unusable due to EMP attack, or war. With gas cars you depend on gas fuel to move, with solar-electric you don't. Gas can't be found during war. Having panels to unfold and use to charge battery is essential for national preparedness. Even during a cold winter storm, 83 died due to cold weather or car crashes, imagine how dangerous it is with EMP attack, 83 million may die within 10 days due to lack of food and heat, as nobody would know why no heat exists, why no electric, no cars work, radio, no TV, no internet. A solar panel system and a battery storage like Powerwall, in winter, can SAVE YOUR LIFE, when central grid is taken down by EMP. In hot weather, death due to too much heat can happen, so solar is essential. If nukes hit cities, then death toll may rise to 180 million, if January, the coldest month usually. During guerrilla warfare using nonkilling weapons that don't cause any injury or pain, with hit (the brain with a divine ecstasy state + amazing & beautiful movie about peaceful surrender to the first nontorture nation and Eternia joining) and run back attacks, Rivian is ideal, since they can sleep in it, then drive again, which is hard when all buildings around you're leveled and no gas stations or electricity exists. Driving to fill up can mean death, so it's not possible. That's the neat thing about EVs, you get to live. Look at Ukraine, houses are gone, where do you go? With panels and a Rivian, 3 people can sleep in it and move around to safe areas, until they find a real house. You get warm, when Russia attacks your electric grid, etc, you can do many things, even cook lentils, transport water, medicine, people, etc. Rivian is the ultimate police car for gang fights. In war, oil storage is the first place to get hit, so gasoline cars are a big no. If you depend on anti-aircraft and gas stations, you're dead. During floods, Rivian is ideal too, it can withstand up to 3 feet of water, helps in Florida, etc. You need to get away during hurricanes and a Model 3 is useless. Flood areas need R1S, heavier, etc. During war, enemy uses nukes to cause tsunamis, so R1S becomes a lifesaver since you can escape faster without getting bogged down. Not to mention earthquake caused tsunami.☺☺☺

No other EV, except Model Y/3 got 330 miles of range under 45K. Model Y Performance can get the same 330 mile range as Y Long Range if you change wheels to 19 inches, instead of 20. Plus, Performance gets 7500 instant rebate, not 3750 like the LR for Model 3/Y, so the extra price is paid by the government. Also, Performance has more advantages that you can never get by changing the tires/wheels: better cooling system for the engine and better regenerative braking, better brakes called "Performance Brakes", better acceleration 3 vs 4 seconds 0-60 mph, track mode (only useful for cops who pursue criminals). However, LR drives smoother than Performance models for all S3XY Tesla models, so LR/Standard damages your eyes and brain less during those bumps and potholes, so go with the LR unless you chase criminals. Model 3 2024 is ideal for brain health, as noise and bumps are far fewer than Model Y 2024. Model 3 Long Range 18" wheel gets 333 vs 330 miles for Model Y LR, so some people will go with Model 3 LR, unless they have kids and need more room for camping trips inside the car. A used Model Y 2020-2022 costs just a little less than a new one, due to instant 2024 rebates, but you get a far better suspension if you buy Model Y 2023 and higher, so definitely avoid Y 2020-2022, as everyone says on bad roads suspension is a disaster. Model 3 has less noise inside, and less vibrations from the road, so if you want a smoother ride and 333, not 330 mile range, get Model 3 LR, not Y LR. Model 3 has more driver legroom, due to the seat being inclined more. Y costs 16$ to charge at home, in 2023. The advertised range is for ideal weather, not hot or cold, highway or crazy acceleration. These cars today are for saints or people wanting to save 5000$ a year in gasoline, and maintenance EVs never need: oil change, transmission fluid changes, spark plugs, new carburetor, gas (4 times more expensive than charging at home or cheap stations, etc). Thus, if you buy Tesla, buy Long Range always, since with standard, after losing 128 miles in 5 years or after 120K miles, you will be left with a useless car and warranty for battery is gone after 120K miles. A youtuber made a 21 point checklist for all new model Y buyers, to make it easier. When the battery is hot after driving a lot and going to 7% battery, charging it from 7 to 90% will heat it up and reduce its life, so plan trips to only go to 30% charge and then wait a little to cool and then charge. Battery degrades fast due to overheat and then drivers think Tesla is bad. Any EV will lose half driving range if you drain battery and then charge it right away to 100% and leave it at 100% overnight or even more than 5 minutes or 10%. Those who follow these rules get longer 330 mile range, but most people are not properly educated before they buy an EV. Over time, as battery tech improves, nobody will need worry about anything since it won't let you drive past 20% of battery, which will show as 0%, etc and the range will improve to 700 miles. EV tech is new and not all cars retain 90% of battery range after 100K miles, some drop 30% or even 60-70%, like Leaf due to poor charging routines, bad chargers (cheap public chargers can also damage batteries, etc). A new 220 mile range battery or Leaf is 13K to install. Just be kind to the battery and recall in cold winters, range for all EVs can drop 20-30%, depending on how cold it gets. Since you charge to 80% usually, range drops from 330 to 264, then 30% to 181 in coldest winter. So, when planning a long-range trip, expect to recharge to 80% every 140 miles to damage the battery the least and have that 300 mile range for years. It takes 15-30 min to charge to 80% at fast charging stations, but 30-60 min to 100%, since after 80%, the speed decreases dramatically. It's not worth waiting 15-30 min to get from 80 to 100%. EVs are bought by the kindest people willing to sacrifice their comfort (I drove a horrible suspension Nissan Leaf for 7 years) to kill fewer people with smog, and they also help you in the future, if war or gang disasters ruin gas stations, you simply charge at home using a portable solar panel or the grid.☺

There are paints that block IR better (just like window films), even though the visible color is dark/black. Lighter colors allow a car to be seen better at night, and colors around 550 nm are seen better by the human eye, from a longer distance, so in a society where living to 900+ is priority people would choose high contrast (light colors on dark roads, darker on lighter roads) in case some roads are darker and cars light can go out at night. Nowadays roads are grey or very dark grey, and many cars are grey, easy to miss from a distance even during daytime. Reflective shimmering paints and solar (or different power source than main beams) powered minilights embedded around the car (that are on in case of any malfunction of the main beams) could be an alternative to bright rainbow colors (high contrast with darker grey roads☺☺☺) to ensure the highest safety of all. It would make some roads ultra bright, but save that 700 year old's life so he can live to 5,000, since autonomous vehicles have computers that fail and people still need look around. Look around, you never see a metallic silverish lavender car, not even 1 in a million, yet it would be safer than half a billion darker cars at night due to higher visibility and even daytime, the striking rare color, so rare in greenery, bushes, trees, buildings, fences, etc. Lime

With enough solar panels, we get free CLEAN fuel for life. Electric car batteries and solar panels are far greener than gasoline and fossil fuels. Battery recycling for today's oil car lead batteries is happening at a 97% rate globally. It will be even better for the far safer lithium car batteries. Lithium ion batteries are classified by the federal government as non-hazardous waste. The CEO of BYD, demonstrated the safety of the electrolyte in their lithium ion batteries by drinking it. 0 Motorcycles founder said that the lithium ion batteries they use are safe to eat. It's cheaper to buy solar panels over 5-12 years than to pay the electric bill without panels in more and more areas; it's good to get many quotes, solar panel prices are always going down. They were 100+ times more expensive in 1978 when President Carter put them on the White House. 20% of electricity came from renewables in the US in the first part of 2018, and only 27% from coal. This would have been undreamed of years ago. My 4.75 KW solar panel system (installed around April 25 2016, produces about 8 MWH electricity a year) offsets CO_2 pollution (that coal power electricity would generate) equivalent to planting 1,372 young trees. If you want to calculate your footprint, it's very simple. Estimate how much kwh you generate in 1 year, say 8,000 kwh like me. Coal power intensity is 820 g/kwh, solar power intensity is 41 g/kwh. A tree absorbs a maximum of 48 pounds of CO_2 a year when mature and grown up on average (young trees can absorb just 10-15 lb). So, to calculate the total 8,000*(820-41)/(48*454)=286 mature trees and 8,000*(820-41)/(10*454)=1,372 young trees. If you go vegan, you offset 1.5 tons of CO_2, or 3,000 lb of CO_2 or 62 big trees equivalent, or 300 young trees equivalent. How long does a low EMF solar panel system have to operate to recover the energy used for making the panel? 2 years; assuming a panel life of 60 yrs, most energy produced is free from pollution ► n.l.gov..pdf ☺☺☺. Burning 1 gal of gasoline = 20.2 lb of CO_2, see why: MW of CO_2 is 44 vs 12 for carbon C. 1 gal = 3.84 l (87% C, 13% H), density is 1.65 lb/l, so CO_2 mass is 3.84*0.87*1.65*44/12= 20.2 lb. If driving an EV, as I drive a 2012 Nissan Leaf bought in June 2016 for $8,500, you avoid releasing 18,907 lb of CO_2, if you fill up once/wk an 18 gal tank, 18*52weeks*20.2=18,907. A young tree traps 10 lb CO_2/yr, so 1,891 young or small trees or 18,907/48 = 394 big trees. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Thus, if you're vegan, drive electric and install 5 kw solar system, you can do the equivalent of planting 3,563 young trees. Coal smog travels from China to US: in China's worst areas, smog makes people live only 4 decades ► youtube..fA; coal-fired plants lead to birth defects in China, see the 2 min youtube..oU. People near coal-fired plants often die of cancer at 45, see the 10 min youtube...j8. Coal pollution leads to cancer, asthma, autism (mercury); clean coal doesn't exist ► youtube...C0; the cost of coal is huge youtube..mk. Several countries want or talk about wanting to ban oil cars in 2025-2030, hopefully it comes true. Unfortunately, a lot of places want to introduce sounds for electric cars below a certain speed limit so people hear them, meaning entire neighborhoods where it could be quieter will become noisier or stay as noisy as they are.

There is an alternative to this, i.e. creating a video camera system that has trillions of cameras, sees around corner, etc and can warn a car and people out loud (light poles can have these speakers, etc and other places where camera are put) that someone is around. This can also prevent theft, grafiti and all violent crime as people know everything is on video. That way people can enjoy their meditative silence in their neighborhood and the benefits of quiet electric cars. Already 90% of humanity lives in areas where traffic noise is pretty big and quite annoying without double or triple pane window. In some areas, even with more soundproof window, the walls are so thin the noise is still big affecting sleep quality, maybe we need electric levitating transportation to eliminate all noise. A tired driver is like a drunk one, a tired worker is like a drunk worker, imagine how many traffic and job mistakes would be averted if instead of building so many stadiums, we would pay more atention to soundproofing living spaces for 7 billion people who live in noisy areas. We have a culture so obsessed with so many useless things, like fancy cars or whatever, but when it comes to things that are more important to longevity (decently quiet housing) we don't care much and city codes allow single pane windows on ultra noisy streets everywhere almost. Countries often spend billions of dollars to market an unhealthy food or discover synthetic food flavors or colors that shorten lifespan, 0 dollars for researching nanomaterials or some tech to make cheap drywall/windows blocking 2-5 times more sound/UV for better public health. Electric transport and 100% renewable energy☺☺☺ mean far less disease transmission in epidemics. Unplug the charging cord at home after 2 hrs of charging, because otherwise you drain the 12V battery if you leave it overnight often; you can buy a 12V battery charger for $20-30; the Gooloo brand is good, it charges from 2.5 V to 13 V, while most out there don't allow you to charge unless your voltage is at least 9 V or 6V, don't have 3 modes (1-6 V, 6-9 V, 9-12 V) to use when you forgot and battery went really low.

Taking very short trips is not enough to charge the 12V battery, so you may need that 12V charger if you keep forgetting the cable plugged in (you can buy a timer to shut itself off when your car is done charging 9 hours overnight); if you drive to a store and go only 5 minutes in a store, don't turn off engine, leave it on, since it uses way more energy for the 12V and big battery to start the car than to have it idle a few minutes that charges the 12V, so you end up losing range (for used EVs with small range especially) and 12V battery fast if you start and stop car many times daily during fast errands to places; you may drain it so much, even a portable jumper may not get you back to a live 12V, so if you take a long trip, and stop briefly 10 times, leave engine on; if driving electric jumper cables are not recommended, because they can damage sensitive electronics, so get a $50 portable jumper to avoid blocking traffic or areas if your battery dies on you (can't get a jump cable in the middle of a highway easily). don't give jumps to anyone, since Nissan Leaf and many EVs can't do that (see manual) safely. My Leaf 12V battery lasted 10.2 years, which shows that EVs have some pros few know about. Jumper cables are no longer needed, since with a tiny portable jumper, you can give them a jump that way, much safer for both cars, as the electrical currents of one car won't damage the other car. Tesla HEPA filter is 50x more effective at removing small particles, 10x bigger than Leaf.

You can also save the planet with Philips Norelco electric shaver: no more "water, shaving cream, trashed razors, cuts, wasting 3x the time"; however, I think you need to shave in 1 min, or use it once a month max, since it has highly toxic 35 mGauss magnetic field and 30-50 V/m electric field; while it may be green, it can be less green if we buy things to take care of health issues it causes to eyes, brain, teeth due to electromagnetic fields; amazingly, it's the same close shave + so much easier, 0 pain if hair is short (<5 days); for long (3 weeks) hair, for 0 pain, use the back trimmer (visible once you buy it) to pretrim it 1 min (pretrim causes 50 V/m field, vs 30 V/m for the much slower round ones, slower for long hair) before using the round razors 1 min, though for non special occasions 1 min is enough to save your brain from brain damaging magnetic field; at 2 inches the mGauss is unhelathy 5, V/M drops to 10, so eyes get some damage if you get close, though fridges have more; can remove hair off with some 0.3 inch wide paint brush from a kid painting set; if you shave 2x/week, blades last 4 years. You prevent retrograde axon transport of shave cream toxins to eyes, eye ganglions that are shared by organs with the face; shave cream causes acne which increases inflammation, robs eyes of neutrophils needed for important stuff, such as preventing aging, inflammation, styes.

►►► FOOD WASTE: 0% ►►► Most vegan food is still safe after the expiration date, if refrigerated or frozen. Anything in the freezer can last for years. The best by date refers to peak nutrients and peak quality date, not the date when food is not safe, so, you don't need to trash expired food always if it's just a few days and the food stayed in the fridge always. Any food that is not in cans, left outside of the fridge can become deadly, like young coconut whose juice rots or other stuff: never eat expired foods that are not in a can, that sat outside of the fridge as they can poison you. Burning billions of pounds of food waste from landfills each year is creating smog that kills us all, wastes energy. South Korea recycles food waste almost 100%. There is a solution: landfills would not exist if we had a different culture of reuse.☺☺☺ USA uses 20 million barrels of oil, 14 million for transportation. Once we electrify everything, all runs on solar-wind and we need only 6 million barrels/day which renewable biomass can replace fully and partially initially while we still use domestic oil, so we need no oil imports. There are about 0.1 billion trash containers in USA each containing paper, biomass, wood pieces, and biodegradable food waste totalling about 15 lb a week, so 15*52=780 lb a year. In 10 years, all plastic may be biodegradable, using natural or synthetic enzymes. This becomes 7.8 billion pounds of feedstock (not to mention the 10 billion lb organic feedstock from green waste when people mow their lawn, etc) to create vegan fetilizer by composting if we separated trash from food and biodegradable trash (with education, it's easy to recycle everything, even foam, rubber, etc, except food and dirty paper items, and dispose of electronic and mixed metal-plastic in a different way at the city once a month or two, so they melt those items made of plastic and metal, so only plastic melts and is recycled; with vegan diet, you only need a pressure electric cooker (omnivores too, hard to get used to sometimes, due to not knowing the huge benefits of pressure water cooking vs dry heat, why do we need 500 pans, pots, devices, when 1 electric pressure cooker suffices; it saves us from having to us natural gas too, which kills people, poisons ground water; plus you save time, so can triple lifespan instead with high tech), no more aluminum trays for oven baking, no more AGEs, oxidized cholesterol from oven baking and frying, no more Neolithic pans, pots, grills to oxidize cholesterol in air and destroy your brain and all organs via atherosclerosis, no more enormous waste from parties that lead to endless plastic, aluminum into the trash; just use paper plates, biodegradable plastic or recycle everything after washing it). Add to that the restaurant one, and if we were all vegan, the food waste would become 20 times bigger at least, that is 156 billion pounds for composting, which can become maybe 40 billion dry weight when all water is gone. This vegan food waste is enough to produce the 46 billion pounds of fertilizer US needs, via composting, so we need no animal agriculture with stinky pig, swine/bird flu, Salmonella, cattle, chicken farms that pollute water supplies more than Exxon Mobil. 0 waste is possible by converting 90% of trash containers into "biodegradable or food waste" containers, with recycle bins accepting everything else, except electronics dumped at select locations (Good Will, Salvation Army, extra city locations). Global fertilizer use is 400 billion pounds. US can make 400 billion pounds of fertilizer tapping into biomass. Plastic can be washed, recycled, until all plastic is biodegradable/compostable. We have these useless food waste disposer (half the sink, that half of sink space allows a composting machine) in kitchens, that encourage people to dump food into sewer line, forcing water treatment plants to spend billions to then filter that food waste, maybe make fertilizer out of it sometimes. The food rots there, even if you wash it after, it creates mold spores that contaminate your entire house, because The Glorious filif ☺gecko IQ folks☺ have no air quality monitoring and want bacteria all over the house. Why not rewrite city codes to require a composting machine (ban garbage disposal) in every kitchen (or outside) and pay people for composted stuff they generate*? Or composting bin too? Sink* garbage disposers are big business, they make them out of metal that rusts, so people keep buying one every few years, leading to huge waste of time and $ for all. They make products that break, so people buy 9 instead of 1 that lasts 40 years. Instead of making Eterni Foods or growing organic veggies with our own fertilizer, to live longer with no pesticides, we make garbage disposers. So, in my kitchen, I made a plate, see pic, covered the disposer 5% (use trash only for food) & put a transparent plastic on top of the plate to avoid water/food going in (plate lifts plastic and allows air to flow, clear plastic 1 inch above hole, see pic with plastic, air must flow freely), to avoid polluting wastewater which is energy consuming to purify from the food that we can dump in trash that becomes biomass to create fertilizer, so we need no oil imports that pollute to make fertilizer. Oil is not sustainable, we will run out of it, we need a 100% renewable biomass industry.☺☺☺

7000 new American islands and canals to bring water, moist weather for all

(plus 9,000 new cities/villages in mountainous areas: positive vibes, no climate change doom)

90% of Americans live in California and east of the 98th meridian as this video explains. Climate change will bring new drought to the 8 middle states the video talks about, so we can use unlimited solar and wind to power drilling machines to create canals (irrigation canals can have solar panels on top to prevent evaporation, deserts can turn into green oases using sheep and panels) and pipelines for 900 desalinization plants (fog could be used for irrigation too) for ocean water moved inland (California, Arizona etc) and also for artificial lakes and canals that bring Great Lakes freshwater (from Michigan, Wisconsin, etc) inland. Great lakes are 94.3K miles, like Oregon (96.0K) or UK (94.1K). After we build new rivers, lakes, dams to make irrigation, etc in the middle arid states where only 10% of Americans live, we can have 200 million people live there. Then, as tech improves, some century we can even take Rocky, Sierra, Appalachian mountains etc rocks and stuff and carry it with remotely controlled Tesla Semis to the ocean to build 7000 big islands in the Pacific Ocean on a big area (the size of USA itself perhaps) to relieve congestion and take full use of water of the Pacific, no longer being so limited by lack of water. The lowest altitude mountains would be leveled, allowing for 1000 new cities to emerge on these flat places, and also 40,000 new villages, sometimes with stuff built in the rock itself, like some monasteries are. People fed up with downtown crime would move from big cities to these villages and flat cities (with 0 crime and eterni music, a peaceful oasis for meditation and scientific innovation away from big city hectic madness; short mountains are ideal, since oxygen is low on tall mountains) and figure out how to recycle water and everything, pump it with solar-wind to the plateau and make good use of this land, while giving nice housing with plenty of swims and water to the inhabitants of the thousands of new islands and the concentric saucer like hermetic stations (big mothership 1 mile radius, water proof) around each island, anchored into the island, that act as places for noisy factories, hotels or defense, etc. We can do the same in the Atlantic ocean, to triple the area of USA. Canada may want to join USA too and copy us, so USA becomes about 6 times bigger. Maybe Canada is staging wildfires, to hide from satellites certain military projects (not to prevent bigger fires) – all news are about wildfires and the Titanic sub implosion in 2023 June etc. This allows the full development of the USA; we can use water to make products and export hydrogen. What can be more fun than remotely control excavators, wander thru nature reserves, and build Eternia for all, instead of sports? You get a satisfaction you provide water to tons of people who need it. Russia may want to join us too with more islands made, so we become 10 times bigger. Then it will be Australia who will want too and finally we're 13 times bigger, ready to keep World Peace for 1 billion years. When US area is bigger than all other countries combined by a factor of 2, it's easy. Actually since Greenland (14x smaller than Africa, map shows same size, but 14x smaller) and Arctic, Antarctica may join US in the future, we would be able to keep the peace even easier, as the 3 are like 3 times the size of USA alone, so we would be 20 times bigger than today, at least, given the new islands near the big lands. By then we will have built about 100,000 new islands. We got the eterni visa program, 50 million a year, so lots of eager folks ready to build the new world.

Saving the planet with plugless solar Christmas, Divali and holiday decorative lights

In many nations people use lights for Christmas, Diwali and other holidays. To save the planet, please use solar lights that don't need to be plugged in. The advantage is that you won't make a connection between trees and your house, which can sometimes bring via the wire thousands of ants on your house and they will find tiny holes and setup new colonies under your house. So, by all means, keep your house and pavement clean (of fruits, berries, etc from trees), use a pressure washer (quiet ones to prevent hearing loss, see details here) to keep concrete clean of paint (hoses are online, if it breaks due to someone passing over it with a car), grey dust mixed with bacteria, molds, dust mites (that makes it look much darker near grass) and organic ant food and to clean your gutters, roof tiles, solar panels, if needed, as ants can go there too if water is stagnant; or garbage cans, etc, ants can gather there too, wear sealed safety glasses and shower cap ($ store sells those for 15 cents each), plus face shield to prevent dirty water from getting on your hair, face and eyes. Always take a shower and wash face well after using a pressure washer, to prevent dirt from sticking to hair or face where shower cap etc could not protect. Ants also try to enter via the garage door, so make sure all holes are sealed there (check for ant activity, follow the trail of ants to where it leads). A garage door opener range is extended via a 2$ 20 ft wire (1 of the 2), as this video explains, so garage door closes and opens faster, so fewer insects go inside the garage, like ants, mosquitos, which can be bite and spread dangerous diseases; even ants can bite and cause hives. You may need reprogram your garage door opener, by clicking the red learning button on Lift Master, and the garage clicker until the light shines. Try to spray or pour whitish concentrated imidacloprid (buy powder so you can make many gallons and use against ants, termites, bugs, etc for years, instead of paying 100 times more for super diluted useless Walmart or termite company solutions) in the outside of the house holes where ants come from underground (near concrete etc) and on their path, as this will help in areas where too many holes exist and you don't have time to plug them all. Imidacloprid is the strongest of all products used by pro termite companies, kills termites and ants 5 times faster, so 7 days (well, I had 5000+ ants in the garden in one area and within 18 hours they were all dead, not one left) instead of 35 for other insecticides (this happens by ants carrying it on their legs, from the blocked earth or concrete entrances where you poured this solution, to the colony and killing it); each day after treatment, you'll see fewer ants, as they try use one of the 15 entrances/exits you saturated with imidacloprid; red fire ants can bite and cause death, there are even papers about it. Even normal tiny black house ants can cause allergic reactions needing medical attention, so try remove ants.

4.3.8. Ethics Courses, Law and Major selection related to Immortality Universities and society

The first course in the freshman year (at Immortality University or any in the future) on the Ethics of the Immortality Civilization could include writing a 100 page booklet for midterm 1, 200 page booklet for midterm 2 (add 100 to midterm one booklet) and 300 pages booklet for final exam (add 100 pages to the midterm 2 booklet version) on a plan on building the Civilization of Immortals and then have people write in there the most important ideas, technologies, etc and help them to plan their life around these amazing & beautiful booklet ideas and to work for them. This makes people think about it much more and plan their life with much more purpose and well-thought-out processes. They can read a few booklets written by others, like maybe a smaller version of this one or a similar one, to be aided in this process of telepathy download of new ideas central to their individual path of co-creation and contribution to the Advent of Immortality, Peace, harmony, Heaven on Earth. ☺☺☺

Since some people (who're not teens) who have the most progressive Immortality views and longevity RESEARCH in the world are not yet in the country of the first Civilization of Immortals, they could be given visas and 25K or 50K to come to the Immortality University as a researcher to create a more powerful synergy. One of the central GOALS of Immortality University could be to reshape the education discussion in areas related to Art and Culture. The Art of Science reduced infant mortality 20-30 times and turned an ugly sick child into a healthy one, as if we would have decorated the street with a sculpture of a beautiful healthy child, except that this science-related Art is decorating the street with a living happy child, a work of living art. Similarly, instead of a lady looking at an artistic painting rendition of her husband, who died of a curable disease, she would look at her husband, alive and well, by the Art of Biochemistry, able to look like a 25-year-old at the age of 250. What would you prefer, looking at sculptures or paintings or at living people of Radiant Beauty who're like a 25-year-old supermodel at 250? What Art serves the finding of Truth the most? Is it not the Art related to the arduous hypothesis testing in science and engineering? Aren't Art, Science, Philosophy, Ethics, Religions, etc all parts of our eternal quest for truth and beauty thru hypothesis formulation and testing? Why separate them and have so many people major in Art and sculpture when with a 3d printer and materials a 9-year-old can make the most dazzling sculpture with a software that a 55-year-old professional can't with his art tools? With an amazing printer and special paper one can use a software to create a painting of such beauty, due to holograms and shimmering effects, that no painting ever created so far can match its richness, that science and technology gave it. What is more artistic than saving the lives of kids who die of flu at age 7 and drawing a living human being instead of a corpse and coffin in the memory of parents? Of what use is Art if it doesn't help us defeat such early tragic deaths? Science and Engineering, Technology etc are Arts, they're artistic by definition, we create new gadgets, molecules, lasers, technologies that bring the miraculous in daily life and make the world a paradisian place for everyone where we live to 500 with no disease. With this awareness, the Education Minister or Secretary of the Civilization of Immortals oversees a deep Educational Reform to Infuse the School and College Curricula with a new Focus of Art as being found 100% in Science, Engineering and Technology majors and disciplines and professions, in required courses for high schoolers, college freshmen, etc and in setting maximum quotas for Art and related liberal arts education, so that more people move into the real Art of Peace, Art of a World without Violence or Prisons, Hypothesis Testing, Questioning, Discovery, Longevity via Life Sciences, Immortality, "Preventing negative emotions which lead to violence, Tenderness, Compassion, Healing, Forgiveness, Gentleness". ☺☺☺

The wonder of physics might allow us one day to have buildings and houses made of force fields, buildings that would never be damaged by earthquakes. The buildings could slide on a force field and reduce the inside building shaking by 50 to 100 times. With free energy from sun, wind, wave, fusion and other advanced tech, no utilities would be needed, as all water is recycled, refiltered and drawn from air and there are no pipes to break. The use of gas lines would also be non-existent, as this is a primitive tech for heating compared to future tech enabling everyone to be off-grid, no poles and wires to break or fires to start during earthquakes or storms. ☺☺☺ This would eliminate one of the major reasons for natural disaster deaths, earthquakes, giving everyone the human life expectancy of 500 at least some day, with nobody dying in an earthquake and nobody dying before 500 from any cause. Unfortunately, even in our so called "hi tech era", only a small minority of construction companies use treated wood when building homes to avoid termite damage. Similarly, only a tiny fraction of pest control companies use insect (termite, etc) movement radar, moisture and heat cameras (termatrac.com has movement, moisture and heat into one unit) to find termites. Materials, like 2022 discovered polymers impenetrable to water, gas, termites, made of plastic, and twice as strong as steel, 6 times lighter than steel, could be used to coat all wood in buildings and inside of drywalls to avoid water damage. Others use acoustic devices, like aeconsulting.com, to find termites via sound. Imagine a future where all the best such technologies (movement radar, acoustic, moisture, heat, chemicals inside the body of termites signature detectors, termite pheromone detection that pinpoint exactly where each individual termite is, they use pheromones for mating, defense, communication in their dark environment and for trail marking from food source to the nest, so they can go back to the food with other termites ► VH 2010;83:521-49)

are all in one device for faster finding (since sometimes termites don't move much or generate much heat or moisture, so a fine chemical pheromone sensor could work, especially since some pheromones are volatile, pen ink is similar to this pheromone and termites follow ballpoint lines drawn on a paper), mass produced and available to anyone to buy from the local hardware store. It would be great to find at local stores a cheap device using microwaves or high voltage currents to get rid of insects non-chemically without having to make any wall holes, etc. A few such devices exist, but they're very expensive, impossible to buy (lease only by companies, not individuals), etc. Right now, most termite inspections are based on tapping and visual, maybe a moisture or heat detector, making it very unscientific by the 21st century standards if one wants to really find proof of any active termite. We often have high school students build electric cars or solar cars, imagine if they built these devices that would revolutionize an industry that is partially stuck in the 19th century sometimes or 20th. This is rather hard when the focus is so much on athletics. Actually with such devices, younger people could help seniors to use them and find and eliminate insects, etc, doing a "sport" that benefits more than themselves. New building materials and/or codes could make all termite damage a thing of the past, or diminish it 20 times or 50 times by requiring all wood to be treated, especially the wood outside of the house. This is one small example of many fields which don't get as much RESEARCH as others which are less important. It's again an issue of priorities.

If engineers spend a lot of time building race cars or bullfighting stadiums that desensitize people to violence, which don't add to longevity, they have no time to design cheap effective termite detectors and eliminators, new earthquake proof buildings, which would save a lot of time wasted with reconstruction and repairs, giving more time for Immortality or longevity RESEARCH and discoveries. The same issue is with most water meters used today, analog or digital, that don't have sensitivity of 1 drop per minute for daily leak testing and phone water shut off like Flo by Moen, etc. ☺☺☺ Water leaking attracts termites. It would make sense for water-saving cities to require utilities to install smart water meters that alert users when there is an unusual slow water flow all hours of a day, which is impossible with no leaks, as no faucets are open 24-7. This would save $1,000s for people at times, tons of time for plumbers who could become longevity biochemists instead of fixing things that would take 10 times less time, if detected early with presently available technology. Why can't new houses get the Flo like meters by default, since the damage to drywall etc costs way more than the meter. The homeowner or property manager knows exactly what work was done, and a leak alert would immediately cut the time of finding it. With present meters, people don't even check them annually or every 3 months and if they even have any sensitivity it is very poor, unable to detect tiniest leaks. After years, or months, a leak does way more damage, expands and becomes way bigger (not 1 drop a minute, but way more) and the people can forget what was done where in a big building. There are also built in sensors for moisture that could be installed on all walls or nearby pipes, to alert when drywall or walls become moist. To avoid WiFi overload, one could program it to send WiFi only when there is an alarm, moisture detected. The walls can be made with tiny devices that can be activated to release negative ions and ozone, as well as heat, to dry any water and kill any bacteria growth, especially if the materials are water repellent, new nanomaterials used to coat drywall in a thin layer, some plastic, etc, with wires to send waves, microwaves, etc to kill termites, bugs, mold, anything, so when the scanner for termites, mold is used a week later to check the effectiveness of disinfection, nothing shows up after a tiny leak detected early. Any house older than 10 years had some tiny leak that caused some tiny mold on the inside of the walls, and this stuff is connected to the house via tub overflow drain, tub drain, so it's important to realize that half of homes have some wall mold, but not at high levels. This is a conservative number, in tiny hard to detect with present tech amounts inside, probably all homes older than 5 years have some, even 1 year old if poor bath cleaning habits exist, so some churches focus on huge adult baptismal fonts that bring extra pipes and mold, instead of educating church goers to be clean, clean their baths of invisible mold every week, keep baths ventilated with tiny 1 watt fan (use e-circuit 1$ USB socket from $ tree, as that one has no dirty electricity, and wash them in the hot shower if they get dusty, avoid water on the central rotary mechanism, because dust can feed mold, dust mites) and also sun rich to kill mold, etc. Take off the shower faucet cover and place a UV lamp or ozone one there to get ozone to kill inside mold.

Microwaves are deadly, they're used to kill termites, ants and other stuff that can carry diseases too. Otherwise, the main controller of all the 30 sensors in every new house built could check if the sensors are still working every 2 days by sending a request to see response time. With mass production motivated by water and energy saving governments (energy to purify wastewater comes from dirty sources that shorten lifespan, unless all electricity is renewable in a country), these sensors and fancy meters would become 7 times cheaper than they're today. The old style 3 handle shower tub is much harder to maintain and more expensive too (lots of places to leak from, 3 stems to replace, seats, washers, instead of just one cartridge) that the modern 1 handle one (80$ for valve and everything at home depot), requires cutting fiberglass to see easily what's going on well, if it leaks, imagine if all houses would be upgraded to the single handle shower-tub that is super easy to inspect for leaks, to grease, to maintain or replace, no caulking, no permanent cutting of shower fiberglass (which makes tub look ugly) to see well since all 4 pipe connections can be seen thru the hole behind the big plate of the 1 handle valve; one handle (which is the new code requirement if one remodels: one can't install 3 knob shower systems as they don't offer scalding protection when toilet is flushed and hot water pressure become shigher than cold and shower can become hotter) also prevents hot water at 120°F or 130°F from water heater from damaging shower filters as water comes in at 110°F already mixed in, and most shower head filters are damaged above 115°F. (Aquasana filter, for example; by the way, remove washer if pipe connection leaks; the washer Aquasana made is too thick, preventing 2-4 threads to screw on, so if any threads are damaged it will leak with washer on). With a one handle, you adjust the screw that sets the maximum temp of the hot water to 115 or whatever you want to prevent scalding or shower filter damage as shown in this clip. Companies sell heat pump water heaters, that use hot air to warm the water and save electricity, but that infrasound from the fan can shorten lifespan if too close to a bedroom or living area and walls allow infrasound to pass thru. The usual heat pump makes 60-75 db, with only the quietest ones making 43 db, the only ones that ought to be legal. They need do more testing on the living areas and effects on humans before installing big ceiling fans, window fans, AC units in areas close to beds, so as to come up with the techs that generate only the lifespan extending infrasound, not shortening one. With a small pH paper like indicator, one could determine if the anode inside a tank water heater needs replacement, based on the ion concentration of magnesium (if magnesium rod), iron, etc; they could design it so when you buy a water heater, it comes with a back up anode to replace it when indicator says a color change in 2-6 years, at the yearly testing and explain to all the basic flushing for maintenance.

Once the tank covers itself rapidly with scale, before the factory ceramic-glass coating wears out, the tank will often last 20 years without anyone replacing anodes, as the scale prevents chlorine from attacking or rusting the metal behind the ceramic even if the anode is all gone or covered in scale too, anode being there to protect the metal in the tank. When replacing anode, if not careful or simply unlucky, depending on how anode scale is linked to the other scale at the top, one could create a crack in the rock like layer of scale and expose iron to water and start a process of ruining the tank faster than if left alone. No wonder many people never replace anode for 5-20 years and are fine. So many things could be done to make things simpler, instead, ☺☺☺ people guess and make unscientific decisions, and waste so much time replacing water heaters early, producing new ones, due to not knowing to flush every 2-3 months (if very dirty water) or every year and when/if to replace anode rod (with a terahertz like imaging, used to see behind walls, or similar future tech, one could see the whole scale behind metal and determine if anode is worth replacing at all or could shorten lifespan instead by breaking the protective scale film near anode), without having to pull anode out (it often takes a lot of time and effort to pull out to inspect visually, may need nut scale/rust softener, impact wrench or bolt extractor if you damaged the hex anode top with the half inch drive breaker bar and the 6 point 1 1/16 inch socket). Water heaters could also come with automatic raise of temperature to 160°F, to wipe out algae and bacteria, every 6-12 months, with a WiFi notification sent that at 2 am temp will be raised for 2 hours (to prevent taking shower with hot water), so people don't have to do it manually, though lines need to be flushed manually (at least a reminder to do it oneself, sent via email, to check anode, to flush water heater every 6-12 months. The camera could determine if rust exists inside too. A special phone camera that sees thru metal (current cameras see thru plastic, ceramic, etc, not thru metal) would be able to photograph the anode without taking it out in the future, because casing is different than anode chemically. As California required new houses to come with solar panels (why don't all nations require solar roofs and solar walls and windows for (solar paint on walls, ultra thin, solar panels, so they make best use of resources, and the tiles go to California, Arizona, Florida, Nevada first, until all roofs by law have solar panels nationwide, to where they can produce 3 times the electricity in North Dakota – to shut down the maximum amount of coal and gas plants fastest, since we can't retool all roofing companies to make solar tiles overnight and solar panels last far longer than solar tiles anyway (air gap under keeps them cool and last far longer, keeping roof much cooler in passive cooling design, reducing electricity needs) – it's all about maximizing total lifespan years fastest by having all solar panels go to the sunniest states where solar panels on roofs become mandatory) all new buildings and require all roofing and window companies to sell only solar roofs and windows, skyscrapers especially), and some of California will ban gas water heaters in 2027, US could require all new houses to be built with electric stove (induction is amazing, half the time to boil water, less damage to pans) and electric tank or tankless water heater (if no dirty electricity generated), to avoid carcinogenic NO_x emissions and CO_2 emissions, gas lines explosions that kill people way before 150, gas extraction that pollutes tap water.

If we're encouraging students to remote view the future, to perceive, imagine, creatively relax into the anxiety-free future of the Heavenly Earth of 900 year old or even longer living humans, we create a totally different energy on campus than if we cram into people's heads so much stuff as they do with the history (horrific stuff) and many humanities, forgetting that in a civilized world of super intelligent beings each with 20 PhDs, you don't need laywers, courts, prisons, wars, and all these things we so much focus and talk about. Eventually, when people can live on energy, materialize what they need from subatomic assemblers and are telepathic, they don't need economics, and all these things, as money is not really something existing in Heaven, everybody is a sage, with 20 PhDs, the ultimate saint, they understand needs of the collective and achieve them without even using monetary system. If you can materialize anything you need from other dimensional energy, what is the use of materializing paper money? ☺☺☺ So, basically, the more you go into the future, the more you realize our educational system as it exists today reinforces the past and slows down the arrival of the future. The existing system in all grade levels and colleges doesn't allow imagination to flow freely and to create the new, as kids are not encouraged to imagine the world of Immortals and how we get there, we overburden the people with the past/present and they re-create it under pressure, having no time to breathe in the magnificent future. We sometimes memorize so much stuff, our brain gets so tired and can't think of anything new and creative, can't question hypotheses and things and we recreate the bad past. We need a lot more humanities courses for minors to be about the Brilliant future and sci fi works of brilliant students who act as temporary professors (like the 18 year old mentioned above) presenting their view of the Civilization of Immortals, say "Subatomic and Molecular Art and Monuments in the Immortals World". This saves money on full time faculty and encourages imagination, a different brain area. Immortality University becomes a less bureaucratic environment of new ideas where tradition/past is ignored and New Wild Progressive Ideas are born. We encourage everyone become a better Telepath and develop the qualities that invite spiritual help via telepathy. United in our quest for the New, we break with the past and create the Brilliant New, amazing & beautiful New, the World of Immortals. This Immortality UNIVERSITY environment is ideal for questioning every dogma, belief in any discipline, in biology, chemistry and physics, engineering, space and technology, so we may make the most astounding discoveries, like Galileo did. This then gets copied nationwide in every grade level and creates a sort of second Renaissance period in world history with an amazing amount of new discoveries, like in the Enlightenment that changed the world path towards hypothesis testing and thinking. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

For new Immortality Universities, where it's 10 times harder to get into than MIT, there is not a single person into partying and loud music, alcohol parties, and hazing rituals like at MIT where a teen died of alcohol poisoning at a fraternity and another of laughing gas poisoning in a dorm. This Immortality university would have totally different ethics, (first freshman semester with required courses in Ethics of the Immortals, Emotional Regulation, Empathy, Telepathy, Writing Essays about what a Civilization of Immortals would be like, just as this booklet is a mix of essays), and different energy than MIT or any existing one. In sciences we don't rely on texts from the 13th or 16th century. Perhaps it is time to create also a more developed scientific ethics of a Civilization of Immortals. Smoking and alcohol kill millions yearly. This means basically that a company can release a product that shortens human lifespan, cigarettes, and they can legally commit the equivalent of mass murder. Somehow, this is ethical in our world in every country. Isn't there something wrong with this? French fries were found to have 90 times more AGEs (advanced glycation end products) than boiled potatoes and to increase mortality far more. Same for coke soft drinks were found to increase mortality far more than the healthy drinks. Why are they allowed to be sold? As explained above, a study showed French fries shorten our lifespan, yet billions of people eat them due to the fact companies can release a product that shortens lifespan. Without ethics taught at all grade levels, to emphasize the number one thing in any decision is extending healthy human lifespan long-term for the whole civilization (not making money), in all colleges especially, it is very hard to get people to think about this when they become product managers, administrators, scientists, engineers, lawyers, doctors, pharma managers, food company managers, CEOs. We often talk about "making products to satisfy customer demand" and indeed, such products can exist and they can kill people slowly. In a Civilization of Immortals these products would not get approval for creation in the first place by the Immortality Nurturing Agency, since voluntary compliance with the Ethics of "Healthiest Longest Lifespan" or Immortality doesn't always increase lifespan. ☺☺

Cell phone companies (see Chapter 12.11) often pressure EMF effects researchers to not publish bad papers or attack their work or accuse the scientists of fraud or etc (and many times fail to get papers retracted, as they can't prove it was fraud), instead of creating a RESEARCH division to make these things safer, as there is already knowledge on how to do so. LiFi could replace WiFi in many circumstances (being much faster too), and cell phone towers can be made far less damaging. A new physics could emerge, but the problem is that the salary of the CEO and other people needs to be 2 or 50 million, the profit needs to be very high, and cutting some salaries or profit by 5% or 20% to save tens of thousands of lives (when you calculate effects on millions of lives shortened by months or years each) is not on the agenda, as Immortality Ethics is not really ingrained in our education. We have 1 in 6 Americans food insecure, but to these people, creating with a few million a year a RESEARCH center and having lower salary, say 10 million instead of 30, is not in the cards. Cell tower radiation typical to many city areas led to 90% mortality of frogs, versus 4.2% for no city radiation. If this was a human study, everyone would be upset about the 21 times higher mortality.

We have people using texts from millennia or many centuries ago in many colleges, to teach x, y, z. It's as if physics, chemistry, biology, nanotech, etc would use texts from 400 years ago. Many people can't comprehend how the same thing people achieved many centuries ago via certain methods can be achieved today via totally new methods (based on science discoveries) using no violence. In math we can solve a problem or prove something with a 5 page long solution, or if we're lucky, we find a 5 line elegant solution. In chemistry, we can synthesize a compound via 500 steps or via 10 steps in an elegant solution that uses 10,000 times less time and resources. The only difference between these 500 step or 10 step methods is the INFORMATION one has about POSSIBLE routes to the end goal. In the same way, if we want a Civilization of Immortals or say healthy 150 year olds in the short term, we have so many routes to choose from, some take 1,000 times more resources and time. This is why, it would make perfect sense to encourage in Ethics of Immortals classes all middle, high school, college students etc to actually relax and imagine what would be the best way to achieve the Ethics of Immortality and fastest progress. Right now, we have a credit score based on financial responsibility, used for lending decisions, imagine if there was an Immortality score, based on contributions to extending human lifespan, that each business and individual would accumulate. We often compensate people with money and some professions pay way more than others, so this creates incentives for money seekers to choose those professions, even if a Civilization of Immortals doesn't need those professions as much. One less ideal solution would be pay grades depending on impact to Longevity, i.e professions that extend human lifespan the most get the highest pay, so everyone rushes to become a longevity scientist instead of lawyer or business major. Today the situation is totally random. For example, a big company makes an ad for a flavor chemist, to sell toxic and lifespan shortening flavored products to people by manipulating their taste buds and getting them addicted to the poison. Salary is 120K. Another non-profit advertizes for curing flu chemical virologist for 50K. Everyone flocks to the flavor position naturally, as MONEY trumps ethics. A few exceptions exist of course. Why does money trump ethics? Because ethics is a non-existent topic in our education on a consistent basis, incorporated in every discipline, etc. Have you ever heard of an Ethics Encyclopedia or Compendium that was required text for people to read in college or high school? Many people also become CEOs, influential leaders in an organization, lawyers and even doctors for money reasons alone unfortunately. They equate money with success and accomplishment. Ethics would teach that we have so much suffering in the world, we don't need more litigation and lawyers, we don't need more flavors, but real cures to existing diseases, like flu killing 7 year olds left and right, etc. But who thinks of that if colleges never mention it and high schools even less? Few people. Jesus said "cure the sick", etc, yet many seem to have forgotten this important message of curing diseases. ☺☺☺ We have more lawyers per capita than any nation. Some say that is a good thing, meaning the rule of law and access to lawyers is everywhere. Others say it doesn't really reflect anything, just an aspect of market economy where litigation is natural, since per capita litigation is higher in other countries with fewer lawyers per capita. But if you look at it from an efficiency of lifespan extension methods and the ethics of Immortals, tenderness, gentleness, honesty, forgiveness (work something out, don't try to go to war sort of), it seems a little like a convoluted less effective way to create checks and balances on companies, since with bought lawyers, companies can overcome litigation. So then a bad company can continue to produce lifespan shortening products even with endless lawyers around. Brazil has about same amount of lawyers per capita as the US (1 lawyer per 326 people, instead per 300), so we're not that odd.

If a company CEO, University President, School Principal, etc would be evaluated based on his extension of human lifespan by shareholders, board of directors or even some governmental agency, not how many profits he made only, since profits would be second priority to extending healthy lifespan, then we would remove the money incentive influence which leads to a lot of corruption and silent genocides via popular products that shorten the lifespan of billions by a few months, years of weeks. All citizens and shareholders would understand the purpose of any business is first and foremost doubling healthy human lifespan, not making a profit. It would be a sort of Immortality economics or longevity economics. The existing corporate shareholder culture emphasizes profits over human lifespan tripling, so one would have to come up with an intelligent way to change that to an "Immortality" economics that is far more focused on life extension. CEOs, University Presidents, etc could be immediately removed when lifespan extension scores become negative, based on thousands of very complex calculations. One could go to even more extreme measures and limit the salary gap between CEO, workers, University Presidents, staff, Mayor, staff, etc to make "contribution to humankind welfare beyond this lifetime, long-term" as the ONLY MOTIVATION for becoming CEO, mayor, lawyer, doctor, etc not money. It could lead to the best outcome when the CEO salary is almost same as average worker (or say 3-10 times bigger, but not 50-500 times bigger as today), because then only the most altruistic saintly individual with the highest noblest intent (IQ and other qualities) for humanity's long-term lifespan extension would become the leaders of all our companies and institutions, not people seeking the most money. They would desire to put more efforts, work hours just for humanity's future alone. But one can create a system where the high pay gap can still exist, but make sure those CEOs are really into life extension for all humanity (the wellbeing of all), have high Immortality Credit Score, and use their higher salary to actually extend human lifespan, not build a palace for themselves while flu virologists are understaffed and in need of more researchers. Money is neutral, it can be used to do good and evil, but it can easily become the goal of many, without them even becoming aware of it and how it affects their decisions and sabotages their ability to do good. Without a system of checks and balances, it's very easy for corruption to undermine the goals of a healthier longer lifespan of 120 or 200. To figure out which way extends human lifespan the most, one could try different things to manage a company or university or city and see results over a period in terms of lifespan, like they try out different laboratory information management systems, LIMS, etc. In science, we have hypotheses and we test them, we perfect products and technologies and systems, until we obtain the best outcome, products, system, results. Same thing with this, we want best results for healthy human lifespan, so we optimize everything for that. Nothing different. Just like we would optimize computational power per dollar, this would be optimizing human lifespan increase per dollar spent so to speak. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The far future Law School of Immortality University could create the textbooks and ideas for a new legal system that favors Longevity and Immortality efforts. For example, let's say that there is a dispute between 2 people about some issue or property and the judge is at a loss who deserves to get more, if it would be 50-50 or not or 75 to 25 or whatever. With a Civilization of Immortals, a new factor comes into the equation: how much has each individual contributed in his life to extending human lifespan? Then if one of the two has taken far more actions that increased human lifespan when all else is the same, the Immortality Civilization Judge takes appropriate action and gives more to the longevity promoting, disease curing, smog eliminating, violence diminishing individual. There are often cases where the dispute is rather absurd (over a small amount of money for example) and the judge would actually have to choose who gets the whole of it, so he would use the same logic. Likewise, if someone would receive a prison term of 100 days, it could be cut to 2 days or 20 days maybe or less if one agrees to work 98 or 80 days on the building of an Immortality Healing Center within a prison who lacks it, may not be the same, or teach prisoners conscious breathing, smiling, positive thinking a little with videos and stuff. This would heal these prisoners who come often from messed up families and neighborhoods, listen to messed up music, ☺☺☺ etc. US has a lawyer for 300 people, # 1 in the world followed by Brazil with a lawyer for 326 people, France 1 per 1403 people. US is the 5th most litigious. Imagine a world of 10,000 year old Immortals who're telepathic ultra wise and kind, with no crime, prisons, courts, lawyers, etc, this is the world of the future, the kingdom of eternal kindness, tenderness and gentleness where people would rather work together to extend human lifespan and diminish suffering of others instead of suing, harming or killing each other. This is the world that we can teach in 1st grade as the goal of human civilization globally. One would think that as a Civilization progresses towards the ethics of everything being done to extend human lifespan for all, the huge litigation rates will disappear as the business ethics would change and people wouldn't release such harmful products inviting suing. For small matters there could be Healing Professionals, whose job is to heal society from small disputes and these healers would take 2 antagonistic parties fighting over $500 or $40,000 and manage to bring peace, and resolution without any lawyer or court involvement, but using the Ethics of the Immortals, the ideas of Maximum Benefit for humanity, forgiveness, compassion, tenderness, gentleness. The legal system would actually favor the transition to a world of no prisons by giving more and more people, eventually everyone day, the option of doing their sentence outside of the prison doing some community service. For example, someone would get a sentence of 5 months, they would be given choice to work 40h/week for 1 year to build better inmate housing or temporary housing owned by the government where people can go for 1 year, until their bad neighborhood with incessant noise and poor sound insulation is cleaned up and rebuilt. They could also work 2 years 7h/wk on a vertical farm to grow kale for some prisons (or other foods, they use purple light for maximum yield and sometimes sound), since it has ω3 fatty acids, lutein (155 times more than carrots), vitamin C (2.3 times more than oranges), vitamin K (20 times the level in many veggies), vitamin A (2nd highest after carrots/100g).

This would transform the civilization as the root cause of crime often relates to poor nutrition and bad living conditions too, not just negative emotions coming from not learning conscious breathing, meditation, ethics of Immortals, inner peace, prayer or whatever. The sleep is disturbed by constant noise and cardboard walls. The nutrition is poor, leading to much higher aggression (this is explained in Chapter 16 ω3 section and caffeine section). The music they listen to agitates and leads them to crime. For more dangerous types, their community service, healing, re-education would be done in an enclosed secure environment, if they would try to escape before they're healed. As civilization crime decreases with time, the killings disappear and everyone is able to do their sentences outside, as long as they complete a healing and re-education course too before the work is done, healing more custom depending on the offense done and reason for doing it. 2 million people in prisons would do a lot of good things for their community or other communities and turn all prisons into healing centers where people heal faster than in their screwed up neighborhood. We say we're a civilization of kindness, but the Bible/Torah talks about forgiveness 7 times and again 7 times and about healing others, so this stuff is compatible with the Bible. If the educational system would be vastly different, there would be none committing any crime. We can study and discover which educational system eliminates all crime fastest. In the transition period to a world "where worst crime is frowning", all police might be neuroscientists, psychologists, healers, nutritionists who care about people and develop new healing, integration programs to awaken the Immortal within, the Ethics of the Immortals. No guns, no violence, the job of police will be 900 times less stressful, no injuries. ☺

Those who comprehend the complexity of the Ethics of Life Extension and World Peace creation will be able to formulate new paradigms in every human field (not just law education) and lift us towards that Brilliant future of 900 year lifespans. Of course, at first, lifespan will be 120, 150, 200 etc unless someone gets lucky and eats something or does some gene therapy that increases it 5 times. A Civilization of "500 years old humans to be" can set real goals, like "end all violence, gun deaths and homicides in 50 years" or something like that, then "end all other medium crimes in the next 50 years and all crime in 150 years". Imagine if this would be part of the political platforms of all parties globally, with the only differences being on how to get to the end goal. This is achievable if people set their minds on it. If people didn't set their mind to the moon, they would have never gotten there. Today, for the first time in history, we have the internet and the capacity to reform our educational system ultra fast. A Civilization is the product of its Education, which sets its GOALS. Imagine people being taught from age 7 and 8 that the equivalent of smoking, using weed or drugs, drinking alcohol is that of killing 10 people. Why is that? When one smokes, that cigarette pack could have helped a gang who trafficked it to kill a few people or recruit maybe even teenagers or 9 year olds. Second smoke is killing people slowly and it's a crime against humanity to willingly shorten anyone's lifespan in a Civilization of Immortals; thus, nobody does it. When people smoke, they can't abstain from it during and after pregnancy, thus lowering the IQ and health of the baby. When people drink alcohol, they take part in the thousands of car accidents caused by alcohol, as they support the legalization of this useless beverage that has no real benefits, since hundreds of other foods have more antioxidants than wine, beer, etc. Not to mention 80% of violent crime happens under the influence of alcohol, 60% under the influence of drugs. Weed damages the teenage brain, and naturally it makes people more willing to do other drugs, more open. Because weed doesn't increase lifespan and has no benefits, its use is the equivalent of killing other people, when the effects are multiplied. For other drugs it's far worse, as people can actually die from overdose. And those drugs come from gangs who kill, torture kids so they become 8 year or 12 year old drug dealers, etc. Because of that, and because we want to eradicate all violence on Earth, we teach every kid in the world to say no to drugs and we basically eradicate all these gangs via many methods, one of them being education of youth. The legalization of recreational weed makes no sense, in a future Civilization of Immortals, since weed doesn't help us live to 300 or add any benefit to the civilization, except a few medical uses. The legalization of movies, music, lyrics, literature depicting crime is inconceivable in a world aiming for 900 year lifespans.

Police can read about what the bad guys do, until crime is no more in a transition period, but only they can read such material to prevent out of context telepathy diffusion from giving people bad ideas. Thru the frequent discussion of "What if there is an afterlife?" in the Immortality or Longevity or Ethics classes as Chapter 2 explains, 7 year old kids would realize that the goal of life is not becoming rich and being able to buy things or influence the world via money, but to influence the world via ideas, and noble silent living example on how to bring that amazing & beautiful world of 3,000 year lifespan with no crime. Since in the future Civilization of Immortals honesty is much more common, and crime non-existent almost in the first stages, gone afterwards, it makes sense nobody has any issue with an AI (artificial intelligence) monitoring every purchase people make and blocking credit card transaction when one has bought more than a given amount of alcohol per person per year. There could be a daily limit, monthly limit and yearly limit, to prevent alcohol abuse. All alcoholic beverages would need clinical trials to prove they extend human lifespan, otherwise, as they hardly provide calories, they're not justified at all, unless the richest in antioxidants wines, or beers, and phytochemicals, but these have 100 times less antioxidants compared to other sources, so it will be very hard to justify to the above mentioned Immortality Nurturing Agency, the Super-Agency that governs EPA, FDA, CIA, FBI, and all others, why a product is allowed on the market if it doesn't increase the lifespan of the Civilization's inhabitants. Thru education of pros and cons, the fewer and fewer smokers and alcohol users drop more and more, until such a small percentage, the industry is outlawed and the employees given (by the Civilization's Immortality Grace Board) ☺☺☺ the retraining in other more lifespan enhancing industries, such as new foods that make us live 3 times longer instead of smoking that shrinks lifespan, alcohol that shrinks lifespan thru car accidents, domestic violence, etc. We care about overall benefit to a society, not just individuals who mistakenly believe alcohol made them live to 100, when many people never used it and made it to 110. Many 7th Day Adventists live to 105 and they never drink alcohol. In 2016, about 15% of Americans still smoked, believe it or not. With proper education, America can become first nation with no smoking, no violence, no drug use, and minimal (almost non-existent, like in some Islamic countries) alcohol use. As a role model to the world, America then moves rapidly to no prisons and no crime, replacing every prison with healing educational centers for small infractions and becomes the Light of the World in a real sense, not just the words of a politician. The small infractions that would lead to a shorter or longer trip to an education and healing center (we all Educate ourselves eternally as Immortals), would not even be called crimes, but civilizational failures to properly educate and heal.

As the telepathy diffusion section explains, when a bad thing happens, the Immortals know all are guilty, not just one person, as they created as a collective the environment in which that occurred and it's a collective failure, since telepathy diffusion makes it impossible to correctly assess who is responsible. The Immortals educate thru many means, including instilling a love of lifespan extension from age 4 in kindergarten and of science thru biology, chemistry and physics mind blowing miracle experiments instead of making them excited about certain "sports" that can sometimes make them more prone to aggression, selfishness (as physical exercise is not used to benefit society as in Chapter 5.5), shoving and pushing others and fierce competition, instead of empathic cooperation towards the sublime world of Heaven where we as one team, filled with gentle tender soft voices and emotions as Chapter 8 explains, bring the Abode of the gentle tender soft Lord of Ascending Immortality, Heaven on Earth, the Kingdom of Empathy, Telepathy, Immortality with Freedom and Right to 900 year lifespans for all. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Isn't it funny, we require a drivers license for driving a car, that lasts 5-10 years for an owner, and yet for driving the life path of a 900 year Immortal, we don't require any education, no license, no courses while pregnant, for being a father or mother, not even some basic videos and emails given to new parents about proper nutrition, affection and how this impacts IQ and behavior and the possibility for us humans to reach 900 year lifespans. This certainly can't be in a Civilization of Immortals. Immortals don't leave things to chance, they prevent evil before it arises and it starts with the nutrition in the womb and even before conception. Kids lacking certain nutrients or affection will become much more physically aggressive than others. Crime starts before conception, with the Civilization of Immortals creating it indirectly, so aware of this, they focus on prevention. If almost everyone is misinformed, any human being will reach 900 average lifespan in 3 billion years, but if everyone is "Immortality or 900 year lifespan" (not street smart, politically smart or physics smart, etc) smart thru a Renewed (Longevity Infused) Educational System we will reach it in maybe 1200 years. On Earth, it is unfortunately still the case (not a Civilization of Immortals yet) that some people are believing only in "raising" (not really raising, but remaining very weak and lacking knowledge one can't find alone) themselves up by destroying others (who could have given him 10 times longer lifespan if he had not killed or destroyed them or harmed them), by cunning and lies, and this is how this evil mindset has set us backwards for a long time, but what this evil (or "misinformed") mindset does is makes it far harder for ANY humans to ever reach 900 year lifespan. If everyone is becoming smarter and discovers more about longevity, reaching 900 will be far faster and achievable, while if a few guys keep everyone in the Stone Age, there simply won't be enough science and scientists to discover the many technologies needed to live to 900. Aware of this truth, the Civilization of Immortals makes only friends, no enemies, does no evil to others and only helps others or in the worst case, avoids interaction, if those others are really of the "destroy others to relatively raise (in fact stagnate or lower) ourselves" mindset. Rooted in the Ethics of the Immortals, aware of the law of physics or 'karma', action force = reaction force, the Civilization of Immortals becomes the Bringer of World Peace and Nonviolence. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

We see how politicians talk about gun rights and taxes up or down, jobs up or down, but never about the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth, the world of no violence where everyone is an angelic human being infused by the Knowledge of the Immortals so to speak, the Holy Spirit, God's energy, etc. If people unconsciously repeat words and GOALS related to guns and stuff, they saturate the civilization's mass consciousness field, the subconscious minds with such images related to violence expression and gun use, helping people repeat the past, while failing to saturate the mass consciousness field with positive images of the future when people have no reason to wear guns, as nobody attacks anyone, there is no violence, and only weapons exist for the solar system defense force, and not guns, but much more amazing stuff anyway. The politicians unconsciously recreate the past, focusing on small GOALS (go to 10 miles away, instead of the moon) like give everyone a gun, or reduce guns by 50%, or etc and never talking about the Heavenly World of the Future, the Kingdom of Immortality, on earth as it is in Heaven, the Kingdom of 900 year lifespans with no violence and freedom from "violence and short lives" for all. That is "Liberty and Justice for all" after all, FREEDOM and the FREEDOM & CAPACITY TO REACH 900 year lifespans, in harmony and joy for all. Evidently people can't reach 900 in a world where there is war, violence and killings, Living to 900+ is not a human right that is guaranteed, as violence makes living to only 10 or 80 much more likely.

4.4. US GOVERNMENT GIVES 240 BILLION A YEAR TO EDUCATION WITHOUT Conditions that the Education Extends Human Lifespan and focuses on the Fields that benefit lifespan doubling the most.

Same thing happens in all nations. Another big issue globally, is that too many students major in the weirdest topics that provide 0 or almost 0 benefit to society. While one can understand 3 people out of 3 million at some special school majoring in some long gone century literature or something, if you know how people wrote 1300 years ago or whatever it won't really help us cure the flu, provide clean water and air for all, and extend human lifespan and quality. Humanity's largest amount of original (new writing style with a specific new terminology, not same stuff) written text or literature in the last 5,000 years has been produced in the last 100 years in STEM fields (with their new technical terms), so when people study a STEM field they automatically study the literature of that field too. I see how one could minor in 12th century literature out of a peculiar interest in a period or something, but when so many major in it and have no clue about things far more useful to know, that once applied can change the lives of millions of people, it makes you question whether we're encouraging being out of touch, out of compassion for the suffering the world experiences daily due to our science, engineering, technology ignorance. With more physics and chemistry, we can design the craft to detect early hurricane or tornado formation and use lasers to wipe clouds out before they become a tornado, invent architecture to prevent earthquake deaths via shock wave deflections. In psychological science or political science or World Peace science we formulate hypotheses and test them, so it's very different than studying Paleolithic pottery and cuneiform writing styles or Sumerian language which got 0 application to longevity. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Science & engineering related fields are the art of really helping solve real problems and help cure diseases, extend human lifespan by centuries, which you can't do by repeating a poem from 1,300 years ago. We got 3D printing, etc holograms, 3D printer software that can create amazing & beautiful sculptures, paintings, etc, do we really need so many people majoring in those? We're soaking in smog and pollution from factory farms and cars and we major in the most remote subjects that will have 0 impact on our ability to solve these issues. This all comes from historical inertia, back 7 centuries ago people studied a lot of these things and they were more useful then to get people to think and develop a more complex way of perception, but today, the most amazing art is curing a disease, helping people live longer, the real literature is the language of biochemistry, psychology, neuroscience, biology, physics, engineering, etc that help us solve so many engineering, violence and health issues, etc. This modern technical literature has a beauty and magic, it can improve our life in major ways, it can perform "miracles" by 9th century standards, give sight to blind, walking to paralyzed, hearing to deaf. The 9th century literature can't. The PubMed free papers, in the millions, are full of specific modern terms that help us cure so many things, extend lifespan, etc. The power of inertia is so mighty, the habit of being politically correct is so ingrained, that few are dedicated to make education far more STEM-centric, "Hypothesis Formulation and Testing" centric, Longevity-Immortality centric. Many people having majored in the most useless fields can't find a job even. How can learning some no longer used language or literary style help you in finding a job? Then, hiring managers say they don't have enough STEM candidates to fill positions. It's a question of ethics here, we can't save lives with the knowledge of many of these majors (fine as minors), but with STEM we can totally change the world for the better, diminish suffering, etc. The Government of the Civilization of Immortals can require colleges to meet minimum 90% STEM & related technical majors (architecture, political or World Peace science, Immortality government science could be thought of as related) to get college license, and 5% Ethics of Immortals and related majors. Right now, federal subsidies are at least 170 billion a year (states $75 billion) and for many colleges 90% of revenue are these subsidies, yet there is little focus in making sure these billions are spent in RESEARCH and education useful to achieving 500 year lifespans; how is 13th century literature really helping us eliminate pollution, electrify transport, feed 30 billion people, terra forms planets, space travel? There is no Immortality Nurturing Agency to oversee these grants and subsidies and make them conditional upon reaching certain 200-900 year lifespan educational targets. Another issue is that a man with no direction or purpose is blown by the wind in every direction. The same is true for a civilization, inertia will lead it to its disappearing without a trace. Look at most countries, nobody sets a 2,000 or 3,000 year Vision or plan, they have at the most a 50 year plan. How can you plan for 900 year lifespan then? We need a plan like with climate targets, with intermediate GOALS of 120, 170, 250, 400, 700, 900 year lifespan. This is exciting, science can discover things that will enable atheists who love life to live to 500. This is amazing, some people alive today can, with enough effort, make it to 500 if they discover the right nutrition or gene change. Ultimately, living to 4000 is about the survival of the species too. Survival is maximized when we live long and can colonize different stars; short lives limit our technology and capacity to travel far distances. ☺☺☺

It seems like a good idea to teach physics and science differently in general, especially in more STEM-focused high schools. Usually in physics (or STEM), the mother of all sciences, we study some principles and laws and how the physicists came to that conclusion. This is due to time constraints, but ideally, we want to think about alternate possibilities and universes, where the laws of physics are different or alternate explanations and ways of thinking, of proving something, asking students to check for mistakes in the reasoning of humanity last few centuries, etc. If we're taught that way, we're more likely to discover mistakes in our laws of physics or discover new laws/exceptions (in certain conditions that we can mimic and thus increase speed 50 times) or applications, that get easily overlooked when you memorize the thought process of a former physicist instead of thinking of a way to prove it or question it differently. Otherwise, we risk (even without bad or neutral alien help, neutrals who use human 'bacteria' to produce 'amino acids' just like humans use bacteria in bioreactors to produce amino acids; something in industrial processes/life could generate unknown waves*, interdimensional particles that are useful to some invisible aliens in another dimension)* creating invisible fences (a matrix of our own beliefs, that postpones our progress by millennia) or limits in what we can discover, delaying the discovery of some amazing physics (or STEM) techs or laws that enable us to live to 900 much faster or to travel in space without chemical fuel, 50 times faster. Some PhDs and professors could specialize in the theoretical physics that examines 100 other possibilities for every existing law of physics in 100 other universes, to find flaws. Benzene structures were wrong initially, to take an example from non-nuclear chemistry, which is the physics of electro-photonic exchanges among molecules of normal matter; atomic models were also wrong at first, Rutherford did the gold foil experiment and discovered the electron and neutron.☺☺☺

4.5. Free K-12/Univ/PhD education via centralized Immortality Capitalism

The next 530 pages explain the Immortalist Anthem gradually, so it helps to read them in order to understand why immortality capitalism (immortalism) is not 'communism/socialism' (errors, violence of communism explained in 40 pages), but a sort of technocracy. Immortalism defines progress by lifespan length, so"GDP growth" and "AI wonders" are irrelevant, if they don't bring 4000 year lifespan. We can't become slaves of "tech progress", while living to 80 forever. Every decision at every level of group, business, gov, relationships has to add millions of lifespan years to humanity. Living to a trillion scientific & ethical innovation is 900 times higher with kind 11 companies centralization than with millions of competing (or even cooperating) companies of a country or planet. The hyperlinks below and the core ideas of immortality capitalism only emerged in late 2023, as a response to torture by spy agencies. If rushed, gently jump to:

4.5.1. Immortality Credit Score to bring ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ & Immortality for All fast

4.5.2. All houses bought/sold in 2-4 days max with 50000 readings made at drone inspection

4.5.3. Centralization of taxing: 0 TAX FOR ALL, and other forms of immortalist centralization

4.5.4. Free (& immortality focused) education for all citizens, 20 trillion quadrillion course choices, to increase research jobs 50 fold, reduce crime 1 billion fold (equal law = equal education, if a teacher yells or incites by emotion, tone to violence, it's not the same math class)

4.5.5. Declaration of Immortality for All and True Independence of the USA & other nations

4.5.6. The 11 Mega Companies, replacing 33 million companies, that increase high tech jobs 100 fold... food safety 300 fold, housing safety 3000 fold, RF pollution safety 50000 fold, EF safety etc

We have a civilization in which a CEO of a cigarette company makes $15 million a year while shortening the lifespan of 10 million by 7 years, meaning about 70 million lifespan years lost or killing 1 million 10 year olds genocide, while using government funded hospitals to treat the victims of smoking. Capitalism rewards genocidal aristocrats with imperial palaces, as the Kings of hell laugh at our credulity. We get a music company or singer making violent music that increases drug use or violence that costs society trillions to deal with over decades. Then, these

'artists' make millions a year at times, while millions have a shorter lifespan due to the music. Again, we reward genocidal aristocrats. This obviously is not right, capitalism doesn't even have a law saying all employee salaries for Life Shortening Products Companies (allowed to exist only temporarily, until alternative companies are made and people are deaddicted) go to the Immortality Research & Education Fund of the Civilization, and all employees gets only the 15K/yr min federal wage to encourage all to disband/quit. This would be on top of the existing taxes on cigarettes. It's genocidal for a lawyer to make millions by defending corporations that shorten lifespan. These lawyers will have all salary minus min wage going to the Research Fund to create safe products that don't kill. Likewise, all the banking companies max salary for all will be capped at 3 times min wage, since they help most criminal companies wasting 4 trillion/year in deadly products. McDonald's Big Mac has 100 times more life shortening AGEs than Amy's vegan burger and yet the CEO can make millions. Same applies for other junk food companies.

Many Universities are private and run like a business and some of them don't have any educational focus on extending lifespan, they just want to produce "workers who get job in a world of stagnation and same lifespan" while making a profit. The goal of becoming President (i.e. CEO) or top official of a University would be to bring "Immortality" or 900 year lifespans, Heaven on Earth, not to make $0.5-8 million/yr. For colleges that fail to meet the Immortality Nurturing Agency criteria (single soundproof rooms, proper nutrition for all students, longevity courses, etc) for Education and Courses required for Lifespan Extension and STEM focus, min wage rule applies to everyone, as they destroy society. 8 Ivy League colleges received $42 billion in taxpayer subsidies in 6 years during 2010-2015 and we have some really high salaries for the top university officials (paid by naive taxpayers?), while the students live in double rooms that can be easily converted into 2 smaller single rooms and MIT students die of alcohol poisoning in hazing rituals in fraternities off campus or laughing gas inhalation. No University offers single rooms for all freshmen on campus. Naturally, in a Civilization of Immortals educators might have higher salaries than other professions, since Education is the most important, but this is not obviously the case in our civilization, where CEOs get way higher salaries than university presidents, professors, inventors and we value money way more than contribution to lifespan increase or Immortality Credit Score. In any event, a salary of 0.6 or 2.5 million is huge given how poor the education is in emphasizing lifespan extension (all the worst CEOs got top school degrees from these same universities), when it takes only $7000 to convert a double into 2 single rooms. Another issue is that college students at 18 are for the first time making a big change in their life, moving from parents to off-campus or some fraternity or single studio etc and the last thing they care about is proper nutrition. Few universities have affordable vegan smoothies or truly complete protein with minimal AGEs that destroy the brain. If students eat at Burger King, the amino acid score of hamburger can be 69 (versus 125 for certain vegan soy burgers), much more incomplete than the vegan burger, see the protein section, and have 100 times more cancer atherosclerosis diabetes causing AGEs than Amy's vegan burger leading to poorer brain function. At least people could receive free emails or pdfs with 4000 pages (like this book Chapter 11 and 12, which I wish someone gave me for free when I became vegetarian) on how to eat healthier. Eye function depends on vitamin A, lutein, etc and many people in the West end up wearing glasses due to malnutrition in our "so smart and advanced" civilization. 0.25-0.5 million kids become blind yearly due to low vitamin A. Nutrition also creates genetics, and lifespan. To develop an immortalist culture of universal empathy, kindness, gentleness, environmental awareness, eternal learning (more scientists, more people living on the planet for more discoveries), veganism plus extra nutrients not found in vegan diet is better. ☺☺☺

4.5.1. Immortality Credit Scores or Ethics Scores (go to 4.5.1.1. to see this isn't communism) enables 4000 yr lifespan via 100x more R&D, 1 equal pay and 11 companies for all humans

Introduction: those with IQ trillions of times higher than humans, who materialize all needed (thus never need eat) and who can shapeshift into any lifeform of any planet don't need money or economics, because they are genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortals, billions of years ahead of humans in ethics, more like the ethics below. Everyone would prefer to live to 9000 and have one 70K salary for all, than live to 80-100 as today and have people making 15K (poor) or 1 billion (rich). The section below explains why living to 9000 is impossible when you have a society of vast income inequality, as fraud is all pervasive and science is pure junk, lies reign supreme. Scientific honesty means being honest that one cannot work 1 million or billion times harder than another, since everyone works 40-80 hours a week max. Aristocratic capitalists are psychos who think it's OK for a psycho to subjugate 20 million and make 100,000 times more per hour. On the book's 1st page we see a glimpse into their size and realize (real eyes), as physicists know, our 14 billion year universe is a second old vs others, and all these stars, space objects, lifeforms (as potential future Immortals or souls in development that possibly briefly or not so briefly become "our baby" universe size at the singularity of universal collapse (expansion and collapse are illusions created by our eyes and incomplete physics, in reality everything happens within the eternal preexisting universe, our "universe" is like a bubble kids make, 'kids' who live trillions of years), as their 10^{98}th lightbody reaches smallest particles, just as bacteria became us, a million times bigger, over trillion billion years, some can become universe size) are designed before the "Big Bang" (universal expansion) from another universe. On our jungle planet of "gnat IQ" apes, the richest 0.001% own more wealth than the poorest 50% of humans and most GDP is useless junk for the enrichment of the 1%. Radio hosts can make 90 million/yr, 6000 times the minimum wage, for telling us stories, etc. TV hosts make 1-37 million too, must be 'very hard' work to repeat same lies forever that maintain the slavery of the 99% status quo, versus a steelmaker 50K or copper melter, where he can die any second. Many of these phonies are “leftists” on paper too, like the Democrats (who run the Democratic party) who're left in name only and whose policies fuel endless crime, no zero violent crime is possible if income inequality is gigantic, let alone zero theft. Socialism never existed, so the TV “worm IQ” folks who say “socialism or communism never worked” don’t know anything about socialism and history (read the 80+ pages of 4.5.1., this chapter, and the torture section to see what schools never teach) and the fact Jewish, Western (aristocrat) and Tsarist elements hijacked the 1917 Revolution and gave Lenin from day 1 the living quarters able to house 1000 workers, while the workers were crammed 10 families in a 3000 ft^2 unit of 4 tiny apartments. The “revolutionaries” destroyed socialism from day one as many were paid agents of the aristocrat genocidal psychos, giving themselves more and more benefits and higher and higher salaries (5-10 x the minimum), when it should be one universal pay in true socialism that destroys the very mental illness of money worship. Socialism means nonkilling nontorture for all, so all Tsarist secret police psychos and others killed 20 million workers and aristocrats (mostly workers though), tortured 70 million who could have built a better world instead. This fake socialism then spread worldwide at gunpoint via KGB. Stalin was a demon who incited endless genocides and useless wars, such as North Korea invasion of South Korea that was sadistic, achieving nothing except the 3 million dead psychopath Stalin craved for. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺ We need universal pay. If everyone has the same monetary rewards, the humblest and most genuinely selfless, least psychopathic wants the extra burden of leadership or challenging jobs.

Any intelligent leftist and decent person knows 1 trillion peaceful ways to a better outcome exist. USSR fell fast, due to corrupt leaders and the efforts of the entire planet’s spy agencies, ruled by genocidal aristocrats, to make it fail, in fear that they lose their palaces obtained via genocide. It didn’t fail because “socialism fails”, as useful idiots and genocidal psychos say on US TV, it failed because it’s very hard to start a change without being infiltrated by the old guard and the enemies from all nations who try to bring a fair system down, since it threatens their parasitic lifestyle of professional mass killers. West Berlin residents got more pay, so many high IQ East Berlin folks migrated there, making the system better than Russian ruled East Berlin, and West Berlin had 3 years longer lifespan as a result, as Germans worked for Germans, while Russians were using Germans to fuel wars (as USSR used Koreans to invade S Korea) not to increase longevity, a Russian state tradition of eternal extermination wars. Groceries in East Berlin had 2-3 times fewer products, meaning you got 30 types of milk repackaged in 30 ways with a little extra additive, vs only 10 in East Berlin, essentially same Neolithic product, both systems the epitome of imbecility, since real innovation means making New Products, not new packaging, eterni foods and milks that give 4000 year lifespans. Both East/West brainwashed people that innovation happened, but all time was lost in millions of companies and bureaucracy, instead of 11 companies and real research. 99% of citizens wasted time, like in NATO today, 1% did some real research for constructive purposes aiding lifespan. 'Communism' was a fake genocidal cult that had its own aristocratic gang at the top, nothing of true communist or socialist ideals as before Marx and other Jews, Russians transformed it into Torah-Bible Hyper Violence. Socialism means 1 language, so from the get go, the divisive Jew set up USSR for total failure as his aim was: many cultures, many languages. The richest 0.01% Chinese 'communist' families own 58% of wealth, lower officials are killed, ethics of nonviolence and kind tone not taught (see PLA tone, female bitch and male bitch tone of evil while others starve to death... all the $ going to the "concerts" and recordings could alleviate starvation and poisoning of millions who live in foam homes falling in earthquakes, eat junk food, while fresh berries, produce is trashed (seafood, more produce), 0.5 billion apartments are empty while 5 million are homeless, as none buy decent food or have shelter when half GDP is stolen by the 0.01% elites for Makeup, Beauty, TV shows, Infernal Music, Chinese heavy metal depraved concerts: same demon rule land like USA), Chinese fraud reigns supreme as it always does when some make 50000x more per day than others for less stress, less work, as in the "communist" China. US "universities" taught China well the way forward: 1-8 million for Uni President teaching Garbage. ☺☺☺☺☺☺

US Republicans say 50,000 times the min wage is OK as max salary (billionaires), Democrats say 5,000x is OK, the left and right are dividing the planet, creating violence, protests, the aristocrat spies incite the 2 camps to wage wars forever, to destroy the working class, the masses by Divide, Deceive and Conquer, so aristocrats remain Eternally Wealthy. The "left" is far right and the "right" is far far right, the "right" is often just hidden monopolies of feudal families that charge 20-50 times it takes to manufacture a product, all so no research is done and all money is stolen by a few bastards to buy fancy 3 million dollar death causing (smog) cars and other expensive junk. No real left even exists, not even center-left or center. The Immortality Credit Score (IQ + virtue) is the graduation of the cannibal thieving violent (torture and genocide to enslave all to build palaces and build infinite wealth by eternal war) hooligan capitalism to a humane gentle tender soft healing nurturing graceful loving kind capitalism that creates the beautiful colorful telepathic radiant teleporting shimmering genderless shapeshifting Immortals aged a trillion, of infinite empathy, compassion☺☺☺ who Live in ☺☺☺ ~~ Eternal World & Universal Peace ~~ ☺☺☺ with 0 crime of course. This gradually evolves into the heavenly world of no money, where every citizen loves the "worst person with smallest Immortality Credit Score (meaning most violent)" a trillion times more tenderly gently softly☺☺ than the best mom loved her sucking infant baby last decade (the Immortalist Anthem explains this on the first page). Thus, all know when a need (vs vain desire) exists, and thus use all their abilities to help that person get that pill or treatment, without them having to wait years when "they get money" while 3 trillion/year are wasted to impress. Eventually, they won't need money, since intelligence fulfills all needs, everything is so mathematical and well organized (AI and all, priorities so well defined with numbers of priority and score of lifetime years added by any action or reasonable possible action), with gentle tender soft compassioante soothing merciful kindness for all fellow future to be beautiful☺☺ telepathic radiant teleporting shimmering shapeshifting Immortals. Mk 10:25 mandates universal pay, to prevent the rich from going to hell, so Christians need support this. One pay = no rich☺☺☺☺☺☺☺. Buddhism is for giving up material desires, like Tao Te Ching 77 is (Ctrl+F possess and see 11 times greed is criticized by Lao Tze). Before 1970, US was # 1 economy, then the 1% started stealing the wealth from the producers of wealth, workers, and US was destroyed in 55 years, everything moving overseas, jobs, purchasing power, technology, etc. It all started with JFK, who proposed before his death, to lower tax rate for mega rich from 94 to 65%. The greed of the 1% completely destroyed USA in every way almost. CEO pay rise 20x, worker 1.1x. Finland is the happiest nation in many surveys and it may have to do with their fines being a % of your income, instead of a fixed #. This means, the rich people don't become psychopaths like in the rest of the world. When a person becomes richer, no fine affects them, even if it's 50,000$ or 50 million. They got so much $, they don't care about other people, the laws and their purpose, so they lose all empathy and become more like Hitler, Stalin, Mao. Immortalists will require all fines to be % of assets, not just income, as it's more reflective of wealth. Eventually, if universal equal pay becomes real, and assets become roughly equal, it won't matter if fines are real or % of assets. It's roughly similar.

See the star of David in 1903 as Russian Jews met in Europe to discuss how to take over Russia under the guise of the "communist revolution". The infernal shouts and actions of Lenin (who, like Marx, advocated for terror, violence and genocide in his speeches) and Hitler (who advocated for genocide in Mein Kampf) are replaced by the gentle tender healing eterni tone of the Immortalists' Anthem, which unlike the communist manifesto advocating for bloodshed and violence, advocates only for love and peaceful methods. We move from a "Money is All" society to a "Virtue is All" capitalism, the virtue of Bringing the Longest Lifespan for the Maximum number of people in Eternia (new USA name), or the maximum lifespan years added (to USA and humanity) by a given virtuous product or action. The Lifespan increase by 9 billion years for 7 trillion people, is a civilizational marker of cosmic bliss, happiness and health of all, of 0 torture/killings, unlike the system of Eternal Beatings of the Slaves for Max Fun/Enrichment of the Aristocratic Genocidal Class. A Civilization of Immortals wouldn't accept salaries of 50-50000 times the average salary (typical CEO pay these days) for some very "unethical" CEOs or bankers while people don't have basic nutrition (food) and housing in colleges. Perhaps a Civilization of semi-Immortals would accept 3 times the minimum salary if the CEO had high Immortality Credit Scores and did a lot of good through the company (which can do a better job at educating humankind than a University ironically). When pay differences are huge, people spend half their work day looking for a better paying job, not paying attention to their job. Everyone is a selfish thug who looks for the biggest prize to steal, the system incentivizes criminal thieving behavior. In a decent world, all salaries are the same, with the smarter and kinder being the managers and everyone treating all like they're kids of their 400 million American Family of Immortals☺☺☺. Nobody is interested in doing a good job, but with 11 companies and reviews.gov all realize they don't need a new job, just a better job done in the current position so more bonuses and promotions can occur, perhaps moving from one department to another of higher IQ or ethics score required. Capitalism has become a con artist game of show, appearance, role playing where all pretend to do a great job. Capitalism = FRAUD: people who get the easiest jobs, least physical, least dangerous, get paid 3-50000 times more. Communism = Fraud, all torture and killings. Nothing is built without the toil of the 99%, no sense of fairness exists, only greed & lies. All contribute however they can. If all are God's children and we're one Family of Immortals☺☺☺, why should we pay differently, wasting time with payroll, instead of focusing on living to 4000 via 10 compounds added to the diet of fetuses & adults? Invent non monetary rewards (free sample of a new compounds made only in 100 kg amount, for example, etc) for people who contribute the most to adding more lifespan years to the Family. These rewards can't be misused like money can, so we're all so much safer. ☺☺☺ The Immortals live to a Trillion because they Love the Worst folks a Trillion times more than we love the best. Our body has 7×10^{27} atoms, each is equally important, deserving of same pay, or trillions of cells, each equally important, so is humanity one body, one human, the Immortal. The body can live without any cell, no cell is so much more vital or key to the body, it can replace any. How big is the ego? How much more important are you than others, so much less dependent on humanity??? ☺☺☺☺☺

Reviews.gov section explains if you do a great job, you can make in the transition period even 6 times more than the guy who does the worst job in his position. Why should the base pay be the same eventually? Because the reward for the most consequential jobs, ETs, NPs, NDs, MDs, scientists, engineers, etc is in LIFESPAN YEARS tech, not money, with a longer life to contribute more to life extending technology, ethics and system that keep violent crime to zero and lifespan ever increasing. The problem is today the most violent serial killing psychopath aims to become a stock trader, MD, lawyer, CEO simply because Money gives him a false sense of security, a stress free life after some little stress at medical or lawyer school, etc, and POWER OVER OTHERS via a salary 5-50000 times higher. In the new system, that power disappears, the incentive to acquire money is zero as money can't give much longer lifespan, the only power one has by having a peculiar job requiring a higher IQ, more effort to educate, understand, innovate, etc is to do good for self or others, i.e. be a manager or access to newer tech that is experimental mostly and not fully perfected, not yet possible to mass produce. It rewards those who seek to add lifespan years to humanity (self, others), to help the max # of folks live to 9000

by becoming managers, not those who seek to use $$$ to buy a bigger palace/car, overthrow opposing fraudulent party and engage in criminal activities. The reason they give the homeless food (not $) is that with $ they buy drugs. The reason we give all same base salary is the same: we prevent the highly paid from doing criminal things, which, even if higher IQ of 120-200, still ultra low vs a trillion for Immortals, they can do, as now they make 10-50000 times the minimum base pay, so they can control the local or federal gov 100% and promote the ultimate serial killers, gangsters and violent trash as "celebrities" for social engineering. If we give people the products that can extend their lifespan by 50 years, we give them only the choice to do good: to add 50 lifespan years to humanity. If we give people money, people can use the money to do drugs, alcohol, smoking, junk foods, crime, killings, etc and subtract 50 to 5 billion lifespan years from humanity via their infernal company for example selling poison. Immortalism removes the possibility of doing evil, while capitalism is neutral, as money is neutral: it gives choice to do both good and evil. Immortalism removes the possibility of evil. That's why the basic needs being met by the 11 companies and same pay for all (plus extra monthly gidt if kids exist, for food/clothing, since education is free) makes sense, since the reward for effort is non-monetary, designed in a way that can't be misused in any way. Capitalism is evil. It deifies evil, it allows evil, it encourages evil, is sings of evil, it worships evil. Immortalism is good, as it prevents anyone from shrinking anyone's lifespan (be it self or others) via money. Why would anyone need money? If you have a Family of Immortals☺☺☺ of 9 billion, if anyone needs help, all 9 billion rush to help him so he survives that disease or etc, because any death is a quantum event that increases entropy in the quantum field and makes it more likely for such an event to occur again in the quantum field. So, even if not "paid with money", all 9 billion people go to help that one struggling guy. In our society, nobody helps anyone, unless paid, usually. Money is used to destroy so many, that it almost cancels all good done by those using money ethically. Thus, real progress is much slower. Capitalists got "lettuce IQ", while immortalists have a basic understanding of cabbage IQ. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The issue today is that the most "worm IQ like" people☺☺☺ get the power, the money and they misuse it for building useless things, instead of helping all live to 4000 by say an addition of 5-10 nutrients to the fetus and new adult diet. Money promotes a hyper violent ultra low IQ society. The current system rewards Greed, Violence, Deception, Low IQ, not Virtue, High IQ, Longevity. In the current system everyone wants to cheat, or is incentivized to deceive, to hoard, to become a CEO, to sell any junk to make $, even if it lowers life expectancy of 8 billion people. A better choice (my view) is to have everyone get the same pay forever eventually or from the start, to remove the money conditioning altogether, but each reviews.gov entry lowers their Immortality Credit Score (which would in either system anyway: fines/bonuses in $ or credit points only), meaning when the time comes for a promotion, they can't get it or they can be demoted while someone with a higher score from under them takes their position or they're moved to a new position (department or even another of the 11 companies) with new skills, personalities where they can perform better, fit in easier. If someone screws up all the time, they get moved to simpler lower IQ more physical jobs until they reach the very bottom, like mining, roads, etc. This way everyone contributes with their nature given and effort given gifts, without feeling like they will become homeless or worthless, because really, nothing can be done by inventors without the work of the lowest ranks, so it's all a team effort, no need to encourage titles and rivalry over $, since this creates enormous deception and competition, hate and negativity, distracting from the very purpose of our lives itself which is to help all humans reach a trillion years lifespan. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

In Immortalism, we focus on how many millions of lifespan years we added to humanity today
In Capitalism, we focus on how many millions of $$$$$ we steal by selling life shrinking items
In Communism, we focus on how many millions of fake products we make to impress, die at 80

In immortalism, we're paid in lifespan years for extending the lifespan of all, while in capitalism or communism, we're paid in paper money that can buy us death at 80-99 if lucky (or get that promotion from the communist/capitalist boss for fudging the data so everything looks amazing on paper), but never a life of 4000 years or a trillion. Which one do you prefer, the depraved capitalism/communism of infinite violence and theft today or the Ever Ecstatic (no plant, animal, human pain) Resplendent Magnificent Bounteous Effulgence of Eternal Immortality for All? ☺☺ If you were a parent giving 2 times more food or 5-50000 times more food to some kids, how would the starving kids react? Kids would secretly plot against the parents, team up against the parents and other siblings☺☺, destroy the family (or nation, if kids are citizens getting 2-50000 less money) immediately. Chaos would emerge, kids would run away and family would be destroyed, as kids are taken away by the gov. Likewise, the nonimmortalist governments (China for example, 0.01% of families own 58% of wealth), give 2-50000 times more money to some citizens (the kids above), creating the complete destruction of society, of ethics, of morality and of national unity and kindness, so they get violent crime 1 trillion times higher than it should be in every such nation without equal pay. The government ensures eternal war and violent crime by its unequal pay system, lack of equality. Not to mention we waste millions of lives, of jobs, with payroll, taxing differently, pay raises, accounting, 33 million companies, thinking all day about how much more the other job makes, change jobs for monetary reasons alone, not to increase lifespan of all. All these millions of lives trashed could have discovered by now how to live to 4000. ☺☺☺. What is more important, making 1.01 to 50,000 times more than another human and everyone living to 80 on average, or all making same pay and everyone living to 80 trillion?☺☺☺ The answer is clear: what is important is not our material possessions, how big the car, house and bank balance is, but how long the average lifespan is,☺☺☺ because the longer others live, the easier is for you to figure out how to do so too☺☺☺. If we help all live longer they help us and the synergy leads to super long lifespans a trillion time faster. Instead, almost all humans did, for 90 millennia, is try to con others and steal it all, get a bigger this and that and kill others to steal their bananas☺☺☺, all available if we walk 1 extra mile to the next banana tree. Look at the chimp tone, body language, content of most music, at videos about chimps to see how chimp like, unevolved and stupid most humans are, exactly as these cannibal chimps: killing fellow chimps and torturing fellow chimps. A human doesn't torture other humans, chimps do, and sadly, human looking chimps rule most nations, as they approve of torture.☺☺☺ Chimps get very violent if a so called "lower rank" chimp does something nonviolent, beating the crap out of the other chimp.☺☺☺ We see the exact same dynamics in human societies, showing how unevolved we are, living only twice as long as chimps, not 900 times more. ☺☺☺ Birds of a feather flock together, animals of the same IQ flock in the same lifespan length bandwidth.☺☺☺ A species' ethics determines its lifespan. ☺☺☺ Human societies and Earth events are basically like a family arguing 12 hours daily, instead of helping neighbors build 12 houses, and they argue for a year, they could have built 12 houses and solved all the issues they argue about and those another 3000 villagers argued about, the 12 really "bad families with 12 violent criminals inside". But, no, important is to fight, argue and make no compromise to reach trillion year lifespans via an Immortality for All Culture. Most and highest quality human energy is spent with economics, lawyers, courts, espionage, war to fight over who can steal more stuff to build a bigger house, car, etc, instead of spending all human energy to bring zero violent crime in 2 years, Eternal World Peace in 3 months like some mammals never killing each other, and living to 4,000-4 trillion years old. Humans are like lazy ants unwilling to walk 10-20 feet to build a colony, and choosing instead☺☺☺, like the chimp killing a chimp for a banana he could have gotten free from a tree a mile away, to start an all out ant war with another colony they ran into☺☺☺. Ants, in their stupidity, think like humans, they can't imagine there are a trillion ways to peace and civilization expansion without killing fellow ants, the universe being infinite. The universe has infinite resources here/offplanet, via science, as 13.19. explains, so no reason for war exists.☺ When the Eterni Bank sets a part of pay for food, shelter, health, housing/cleaning, etc, kids, etc we prevent the need to steal due to "spending it all on drugs, weed, vapes, parties, girlfiends, video games", and end the need for police, jails, wars, etc. We can become kind, value peace and create the Immortalist Anthem culture that will end the horrific DNA influence that immediately reverts to chimp mentality at the slightest "cultural" influence. Read 11.1.1. to understand the evil of the Economics and all Nobel Prizes. The 11 companies for all humans are the solution. If all get paid the same, then obviously, 800 trillion criminal actions done yearly to "get more money" vanish, as nobody can make more money by any method outside of the Universal Income. All is done by We the People for We the People, not to increase one's $$$ by subjugating and defrauding others. Today, endless violent crime and theft happens because of the desire to "make more money, have more money". The number one reason people commit violence is MONEY at the end of the day. Thus, Capitalism = Infinite VIOLENT CRIME. You cannot have a civil society and capitalism at the same time. ☺☺☺

The main issue with 50,000 (billionaires) or even just 2-5 times higher pay for some is that it motivates the greediest, most aggressive, violent, evil, dishonest in society to use all deceptive, unsincere, unethical, unaltruistic motivated efforts to get that better pay and then spends time in office politics to maintain power and position,☺☺☺ undermining the good of the company and humanity, then creating wars, unjust wars as leaders to maintain the same "higher pay". It's a recipe for total ethics breakdown and a disaster, as we see in China and all capitalist societies, where everyone fakes everything to get that better pay. Money then becomes "the end of it all, health becomes last, any murder, war, etc, torture is OK for money". This train wreck can end all humans in 10 seconds one day, unless ethics of Immortality for All takes first seat in any TV-radio program, song, poem, video game, entertainment or activity☺☺☺. The solution is simple: reward best performers in the Credit Score not with $, but with 1. position (higher skills and ethics means more supervising role) that enables their GOOD NATURE to Sing, to Express, the Ethical Nature of Increasing Everyone's Lifespan by 4 trillion, and 2. longevity products that are not yet mass produced or experimental (unproven) techs. Money can be used to shorten life, but those techs and more supervisory positions can only be used to raise your or others' lifespan ☺☺☺. That's why the Bible says "love of money is the root of all evil", because it verily is in a way and it took us a few millennia to realize that after 50,000 wars. "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven" Mk 10:25 ☺☺☺. To enter the Physical Heaven of Limitless Happiness & Physical Immortality for All,☺☺☺, we make nobody rich, so no violence exists, no death exists, and all humans can enter this Heaven of nonkilling (thus Immortality), as all wars over pay cease☺☺☺, all wars over religion, language cease☺. Thus, we make all neither poor, nor rich, but just honest people, clothed with the 11th company's Radiant Glistening Garment of Virtue Shining in all Universes as The Light of a Trillion Suns, so all see the God of Ever Ecstatic☺☺☺ Resplendent Magnificent Bounteous Gentle Tender Soft Kind Nurturing Loving Effulgence of Eternal☺☺ Immortality for All. To achieve X, we first visualize X, thus the book helps us visualize that Paradise of Immortals, that is calling us ever stronger to its Enchanting Iridescent Radiant Beauty, as the Immortals are our grandgrand...kids who time travel to us and embrace us with a Love a trillion times more Gentle Tender Soft than that of the Kindest mom last decade, as the Immortalist Anthem says. Can you Feel It☺☺☺? The Earth is dancing and shifting☺☺☺, all atoms sing a New Tune☺☺☺, the Eterni Tone, the Eterni Tone of Paradise on Earth☺☺☺, the Arrival of Heaven on Earth☺☺☺, the Paradise of Immortals☺☺☺, the Kingdom of Heaven on Earth, Elysian Kingdom of Immortality for All. The Infinite Bliss of the Eternal Youth Elixir, Infinite Virtue took Eternal Abode in Our Beings, filling us with Big Eternal

Smiles of Everlasting Limitless Happiness and Euphoric Ecstasy.

To ensure everyone is not running out of money due to low IQ, part of the yearly universal salary can only be used for food, clothing and other basic needs, so nobody engages in stealing or other activities to get money or barter items due to money wasted on fancy expensive items, clothes or useless products or illegal drugs, tobacco, vaping, alcohol, all of which will be banned as the screw turns on all gangsters, not just the big aristocratic genocidal killers. Nobody can be addicted to anything, as all references to drugs and alcohol, vaping, smoking are removed from the media, movies and anyone caught distributing it gets lifetime labor or death, depending on the lethality of the substance. With 2 million dogs and 4 trillion cameras, all mail and packages are sniffed, all drugs intercepted, all imported items smelled, everything is known via the Only One Bank (records all purchases, alcohol eventually banned) that ends all illegal and cash based underground economy. The Gangland USA turns into Order land. Tobacco producers are fined trillions for all past damage. All bars and liquor stores are shut down eventually, together with vaping, smoking shops and all tobacco imports or production. All residents (no illegals can exist, as bank account is required to buy food, anything, no cash, bank account requires legal status) are employed and to get 222 weeks off as parents, parents need to get parent license, just like driving a 20 year old car requires a license, driving the life of an 8000 year old human will require one license a lot harder to get than a drivers license, unless one wants kid taken away. We can't have people give birth to serial drug addicts and criminals who will be facilitators of old gangs. All violent crime will be swiftly brought down to zero by instant death for any proven violent crime that causes an injury not healing in 2 weeks completely (means 99.99% of violent crime = death). All rape will end fast☺☺☺, as all sex becomes for procreation only and rape = death. All romance scams end via dating.gov to end all pretending & fraud. Most salons close. In their diabolical place, emerge the Immortality for All million centers of research. All male and female sluts on TV will get an appearance & virtue boost via the ethics of "TV Phonies, Frauds and Hitler Like Yelling Con Artists get same salary as minimum wage, which is also max wage, instead of 20 to 2000 times the minimum wage hard working scientists get", a decent appearance, tone, as no more trillions for childish makeup, breast enlargement evil procedures. "Beautiful" whore 'idiots' living to 80 are replaced by kind geniuses living to 4000.☺ All get single family homes.☺

Rich people make $ by the work of many they torture to death via overwork, not unlike Saltikova who killed 138 serfs. All billionaires are evil, as this video explains, because they prevent the arrival of a fair society of employment for all via 11 companies max, minimal economics related majors and admin jobs, 3 times more STEM majors, 95% not 30% as today, and real tech progress instead of selling 1.4$ trillion/year of junk products to steal money from the 90% like 65$ dolls that cost 2$ to make. Money makes people evil. Billionaires deceive the 99% with fake propaganda that they donate this or that or will donate all to charity, but watch this video to understand the nonprofits they donate to are made up by billionaires (yes Zuckerberg donated to an LLC he controls, so his "will donate it all to humanity" pledge, is fake) and donations are only a trick to avoid paying taxes.☺☺☺ They're the Masters of Deception who buy our fake elections and the Supreme Court of fraud. Here is another video explaining why no billionaire is ethical. They make billions selling useless, overpriced or downright toxic products that cause brain cancer and endless diseases via RF. Charities are not needed when a country is run by ethical people who fulfill everyone's basic needs perfectly via 11 companies, 0 unemployment, instead of a gov of criminals we had for 250 years who work for the rich. The lie that "the rich are charitable" is used to fool the 90%.☺☺☺ Their charities are only a front, to brighten their image for higher sales, since their other activities do way more damage, the business ventures and the infernal music itself sometimes. The greatest illusion is that if some donate 1-100 billion to real charities, not an LLC or charity they control, they somehow absolve themselves from all the harm the system creates: millions of unemployed, 80% wasting lives redundantly doing what others do in other companies (have one company do it all much better), etc, that cost the nation trillions in the long run. Check the billionaire $waste and vacations. ☺☺

Why is it bad to give lawyers, judges, doctors, CEOs, etc big salaries? Because they will use their huge disposable income to fulfill 2 year old fantasies. For example, when we are 7 year old we love having a bike or toys that other kids have, and when we grow up and we get money, we love to get bigger toys, like a Ferrari, 2 million, a boat, 50K or 50 million, etc supporting the industries that produce useless goods that don't really increase anyone's lifespan. Not only that, but a big estate of 500 acres while 100 million live in 500 acres in skyscrapers is a pretty bad use of land, and you know, when people see it, they think the system of based on theft and will no longer try to do their best. All those hours spent in making these luxury goods for the rich could have secured homes against tornadoes, helped innovate, discover better nutrition for all, added 20 million lifespan years, yet in reality it took away 1 million by working to death slaves who ignore health, to build luxury goods. The huge waste of materials for gigantic boats, cars, homes, palaces, etc creates a genocide effect, because when you add it all up it could have prevented millions of early deaths, so then the MD, lawyer, etc doesn't really help society as much as he claims, he is in only for the $$$. If you incentivize people to do good via money, instead of via nutrition longevity product access, you are inviting these 2 year old minds in MD, CEO bodies to waste it, to do evil with the $$$, to trash national resources. Thus, a logical, ethical government is careful to prioritize virtue and promote in the most important strategic positions those who're selfless, not greedy for money. Today, the worst become the MDs, etc because their main motivation is usually THE MONEY THEY get, not the good, the millions of lifespan years they can add to humanity or the nation. We cannot have this system if we want real progress. Remove the money and have all same salary and you will see how fast the greedy stop trying so hard to become MDs, and how the average MD ethics score triples overnight, because we will get the really selfless to become MD, not the $$$ hunters of today. When you peel thru the facade and their online story "I became MD to help others", you will realize it's more than peer or parental pressure, but the mere drive to make big $$$ as we think that's the best way to a good life. Sure, some had a health issue for 3 generations and wanted to become a specialist in that area, but you can invent a cure for that without being an MD, a researcher making far less $$. People love to convince themselves that everything they do is not driven by monetary greed, that they are holy, but the reality is people are often not even aware of how their mind works and how programmed they are by the background noise in our TV-radio-movies-books memes. We are humans and are quite capable of self-deception, besides telling lies to others knowingly. ☺☺☺

Facebook and Twitter are billionaire controlled, used to prop the fake leftists, the Democrats, and the "right" Republicans, who support low tax on billionaires. Rich family Kennedy heir, ran as a Democrat to deceive the workers, was killed in 1963 likely because he asked Congress to lower rich tax rate from 94% to 65% to steal everything from the workers, give more wealth to the rich (the rich wanted cheap labor, so instead of 11 companies, they got more slaves to come with cartels inside USA), so Kennedy Family and all Congress gangsters who approved the lower tax destroyed the middle class, exported all industry to China, have killed 8,000,000 Americans via deregulation and genocides (no open borders, so 4 million Americans died from illegal drug overdoses, etc). Then Reagan, also shot (helped the cartels flood US with drugs, amnesty for illegals), brought rich tax rate from 65% to 28%, effectively making CEO pay 400 times the average worker in 2021 vs 20 times in 1963. Both bastards (so called Presidents of USA) were shot, one died. They take a fake oath but they're loyal to money, not USA. These 2 destroyed USA more than any others, since inequality destroys all nations. The rich socialize the losses and privatize the gains. The millionaires use the same parasitism to enslave the 90% and keep America backwards, so they sell us useless products that cost 1$ to make at 10$ profit. The banking section explains exactly how the rich (illegal soon) loot the entire planet, though the 11 companies chapter details all genocides they do, since they only care about profits. The rich hate the working class and often shoot the workers as it happened in past US history. Millennia ago Plato (428-348 BC) said in his final work "Laws" that the wealthiest need have assets max 4 times those of the poorest, and that wealth inequality led to the fall of all empires and states. Indeed, Rome fell once it became an oligarchy like US is becoming today. Plato also said in his "The Republic" via his Socrates character that "the ideal city is vegetarian, free from bloodshed, since eating meat leads to decadence, violence, war", as his teacher Pythagoras (570-495 BC) was against blood eating (meat is 0.5% blood) due to pain it causes animals. The reasons are similar, you go vegan (73 reasons), don't subjugate animals/people, as capitalism does promote vampirism and blood drinking via meat and exploitation. So in immortalism, eterni foods are important, as we replace agriculture with high tech powders, violent religions with evidence based hypotheses. "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven" Mk 10:25. The rich pretend to be Christian to steal better, to fool the naive masses, since a true Christian would never accept unemployment or max salary > 2 times the minimum.

Like Plato, I say equal pay for all is ideal in a nation, and once 1 currency, nation, language, 11 companies exist for all humans instead of a billion companies, then equal pay for all is fine too, but we're not going to have all nations dissolve overnight, so that's a little far away. I explain this equal pay below and why it would make America world's most advanced nation, with daily fines and bonuses received after management and Immortality Nurturing Agency approval, for a bad or good job done. The failure of communism is they had no verified customer reviews centralized (today we don't have them either, so nobody knows which reviews are fake if all or 20% only), so one could do the worst job and be guaranteed the same pay and benefits as someone working 2 times harder to smile, help others, be nice if in retail, etc. Instead of criminal politicians who're puppets for the rich faking all elections, we'll have technocrats who know what they're doing and serve the masses not their profits. The managers are people with the highest scores who're experts in given fields, all work (even disabled, no unemployment). Read the 11 companies section to understand it. Today, the rich and better paid act in selfish interest, not to serve the 350 million US Family of Immortals☺☺☺, but to live off parasites off the 90%, blocking all innovation and scientific progress, like a Ponzi scheme that keeps everyone as smart as a cannibal chimp almost. However, in the transition period, 3-4 times max pay may work to motivate the filif worm IQ people to work. 90% of people worldwide support the glorious end of the billionaires and of net worth above 1 million dollars. Only 0.72% of humans are worth more than $1 million. The rich are like animals, they don't invest 100% of profits in research to innovate so all have the highest quality products and longer lives, they just do stock buy back and buy expensive Neolithic palaces and luxury goods. They steal trillions (Amazon founder paid no taxes in 2007, 2011 and <1% in many years), paying < 1% in taxes, while the poor pay 20% and buy $1.4 trillion junk. This is banditry not capitalism. We'll end taxes via the 11 companies system, end all local-state governments that act as theft mechanisms. When some get a 5000$ fine/bonus, they'll try do a good job, while in communism, no fines existed and one did whatever one wanted, leading to collapse. A 5000$ bonus motivates one to perform better.

Eventually, when all become sages, super ethical, kind, all salaries are equal with the only difference being the managers are the most competent, ethical and highest credit score folks and they can buy some extra products related to longevity, plus live in the safest areas where people of their score live (these safe areas can emerge over time to protect nation's intellect, though they will be secret, to avoid foreign targeting in war or peace via bombs or covert satellite weapons). These optional extra products can't be given by recipients to other people, to prevent illegal barter in these products, meaning a video proof will be created that they used the products or health session within 10 hours. When all get same pay, money loses all attraction, so people chase doing good, helping others live to a trillion to get a higher score; today, money is 1 billion times more thought about than Eternal World Peace in our lifetime or helping all reach a trillion year lifespan. Let's be honest, to God or an alien intelligence that is a cloud the size of a quadrillion galaxies looks on Earth, we live such short lives (a nanosecond of their life) and are so silly, all of us, that the difference in intelligence and merit is identical between God and any of us, meaning INFINITE, Equal INFINITIES, that difference between 2 humans is infinitely small versus between God and any human, so it becomes 0 in God's mind (the way to create Godly worlds is to think like God), that nobody really can pretend they deserve a higher pay, only an INFINITELY SMALL PAY. Thus, as in calculus and math, we have the mathematical proof for the immortalist idea of equal universal pay.☺☺☺ In God's perception, we're all worth 1 cent a lifetime for salary. Greed is evil. God or any intelligent being creating universes, AI souls doesn't care about our scams, fintech, 200 currencies, 4500 US banks, a pure fraud for God. God, our parent, or the universe for atheists, obviously loves his kids infinitely, and fairly, with the Most Holy Radiant Glistening Virtue Emanating in all Universes as the Light of a Trillion Quadrillion Suns, so all see the Way of the God of Ever Ecstatic (no plant, animal, human pain) Resplendent Magnificent Bounteous Effulgence of Eternal Immortality for All. Thus, this Infinitely Kind God gives all enough to eat and sleep decently, sees everyone as his kids and favors equal pay, because this makes people focus on learning, not paper $ or objects. God is like Immortalists, not like Republicans/Democrats. To help his lowest IQ kids to never get into debt or run out of money, God, or any good parent, allocates a part of income to food, shelter, clothing, health, etc, so one's addictions and lack of planning/math skills can't get in the way to a happy life, since all have shelter and job guaranteed. Can't use shelter allowance for buying fancy cars, vapes or bad music. All have a house maintained by Immortality Building Inc.

Why do people get higher pay today? Simple: lucky being born to good genes, good education, income, nutrition, etc, most of the factors are LUCK, not effort. Nobody born into a family of serial killers with parents beating kid daily and abusing him is going to become a Nobel laureate in physics, as beatings destroyed his brain and parents didn't send him to school much, so no matter how much effort, he was doomed, drugged, given alcohol, second hand smoking and no decent food/sleep. Effort can do miracles, but not always. If you're a woman born in the Taliban area, no Internet, etc, how can you learn advanced physics? So, the merit is covered in great detail in Chapter 2, for those who want to get more philosophical about why any ethical God would not favor the insane pay differences today which encourage selfishness, theft, crime and war. Jesus also reportedly said in Mk 10:25 "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven". Any honest person realizes that while not all make the same effort and care about Eternity for all, immortal lifespan for all, effort can only get us so far if opportunity isn't there, as opportunity exists in immortality capitalism. The ego of some people tells them they deserve 5 or 10 million times more assets than others, but really, most of it is due to luck, not the soul's merit, i.e. most souls could have done all Hitler, Stalin, Mao did or similar if placed in that body, DNA, environment, culture. Realizing this makes us much more capable in understanding the God-like infinite empathy that creates a civilization of 0 violence, instead of the jungle today. The lucky (who got a good credit score due to good genes, family, education, good sleep, better diet, circumstances, or maybe good 'past life karma') emulate God in helping the unlucky, who also make efforts, and even struggle to help all live to a trillion. The lucky don't become gangsters using the system to enslave all. The lucky realize billionaires can't do anything without the efforts of the many, can't make even 1 cent. These extra products available to the most ethical (a higher score) can be nutrient mixes or health sessions with the most advanced instruments on Earth, to measure biomarkers, optimize decisions, and heal certain conditions in ways not available to those who may be smart, but selfish, violent, or lacking empathy. For example,☺☺☺ youtube shows how people with IQ 197 or 130-150 commit murders over the lowest IQ reasons, like someone pepper sprayed them because they tried to steal their drugs. Thus, aware of this, a new scale of IQ is made, the Immortalist Scale, in which 2 scores are added up: the revised score for IQ, that goes to 100 (today people fake it by taking 5000 tests to get 150 vs 100) and then we make the Immortalist Ethics Score of 700 max, to add up to a total of 800 for the Immortality Credit Score (800 need to be our Planetary Presidents):

150 for 1. Survival of a Civilization in the long Term. (Tone of Speech, how eterni is One's Tone of Speech, One's Content of Speech, Music Preferences, tested by listening, rank music in order of violence or aggression, kindness and peacefulness, appropriateness of tones for situations, etc, how does your life align with the goal of preventing the 10 second end of humans?)

150 for 2. Maintenance of Eternal World Peace and 0 Crime in the Long Term in a civilization (questions like how much is a fair pay in the absence of any other perks for high Immortality Credit Score reflecting behavior and altruism; what is the best way to reward people: money or offering them managerial roles or managerial with other health benefits that can't be sold to anyone else, since only self can receive them; altruism score; altruism tests). ☺☺☺

50 for 3. Love and Empathy for all humans, of all appearances, nations, cultures, beliefs, and Intensity of Immortalist Outreach to Them out of this Empathy, etc (male and female too)

200 for 4. Nonviolent gentle tender soft nurturing healing compassionate greaful serene loving kindness (higher levels of grace achieved after all violent crime goes to 0, in order to boost scientific innovation, bring theft/scientific fraud to 0: specifically how does each quality play in your life strategy for the transformation of humanity into a race of shimmering shapeshifting

Immortals who never steal, materialize objects and offspring, with evidently, no need for money

150 for 5. Honesty for Science Progress and Scientific Method Hypothesis Thinking: are decisions made rational and made based on facts, on based on deep held beliefs, attachments?

The Mongols killed 10% of humanity and certainly had a somewhat high IQ in some fields, but their empire collapsed fast, like the Assyrian torture mutilation based empire did. IQ often means access to education obtained via exclusivist access via nobility status for centuries. This IQ, i.e. better math or verbal skills, etc, for the noble class, was maintained via mass killings of peasants who worked 70 hours a week and had no rights, via mercenary staffed wars of conquest of nearby lands that slaughter endless innocents, via promotion of the genocidal Bible in Latin so nobody reads the 1450 bad quotes in the local language to realize the Jewish religion is used to lower IQ of the enslaved 99% so the Jew infiltrated nobility and monarchy can steal the labor, land etc of the 99%, via hiding the 1300 violent quotes in the Jewish Tanakh part of the Bible – where 100% of the most horrific quotes of all history exist, the quotes that created the Quran Mohamed copied with enthusiasm. Being a parasitic merchant meant you had to talk with a lot of people, so better verbal skills, better story telling skills (Jesus fake miracles stories to spread Jewish Bible worldwide using Christian useful idiots), not higher ethics. Regular folks could also develop alternate forms of IQ without education, but aristocrats had a better chance, so did tax collectors/traders (Ashkenazi Jews), etc. This higher IQ was obtained by marriage to educated nobility or locals via bribes and etc, or via genocide of smart people of other nations (Holodomor, Jews co-killed 5 million Ukrainians and 120 million gentiles via communism), in order to make your group a higher IQ if you can't intermarry with their smartest folks. IQ, which strictly measures only 10% of true intelligence, can thus be a marker for genocidal tendencies, deception ability, and other long-term ultra destructive qualities of win-lose which will be punished by the smarter human quantum field who sees the "high IQ group" is destroying real intelligence of the human species by destroying everyone except their minority group, as we have seen with Mongols, beheaded nobility in the French Revolution, Assyrian empire, Macedonian empire, Jewish empire with depraved Solomon having 1000 sex slaves and Bible calling for genocide, mass rape, of endless neighboring areas, etc, Jewish people in Europe killed by Nazis for obvious reasons… We have a set of 200 IQ people who're serial killers, so IQ only measures some skills. IQ measures a set of academic skills. It doesn't predict the success of a society in survival or reaching zero violent crime, 4000 year life. We've already seen, for all this IQ stuff, no society ever reached zero violent crime, showing we're extremely stupid cannibal chimps in essence, having evolved very little vs the chimps. This "IQ" stuff gives people a comforting distraction to explain why we have no world peace yet. However, we're trying to grow out of scarcity chimp thinking and become civil humans. May God help us win-win. May all realize if you take 30 IQ tests, you will score much higher than someone who didn't and get a fake appearance of being “smarter” due to familiarity with those tests. Pathetic. That’s why the Immortality Tests will be far more accurate, as they can't be taken more than once/year.☺☺☺

IQ is useless if it’s used to turn 8 billion into slave dogs and innovate nothing, meaning postpone progress by billions of years. We got high IQ billionaires who use their power to keep everyone a retard and slave. IQ is useless if used to start wars that kill all humans in 20 seconds. 10 billion lines of code (programming code) and 100 years using all Earth computers today would take to calculate the credit score using a future (25 years from now) formula, using 10 trillion data points (many of the points have their own code) a month, since every action of a guy daily has 10 billion known effects on each American. These are merit based decisions. Right now, people are too ☺abysmal IQ☺ and selfish to be motivated to work in jobs that require more effort, etc, if salaries are the same, so all live to a trillion years old. In a society of 0 crime, everyone is ONE FAMILY OF shimmering genderless shapeshifting Immortals. If you give high pay to certain jobs, you attract the worst people for those positions, the greediest, not those who really are into that thing and want to help humanity the most. If a society conditions people to chase after money, like in our modern society, via the news, discounts, tax savings, huge salary differences, etc, people get conditioned to replace the valuing of ethics with the valuing of money and all will gradually become a soulless serial killer (or genocide supporter) who will care about nothing, except his dollar worth, ready and able to kill anyone for money. The God of our world today in 200 nations is not God but Theft: everyone is incentivized to steal as much as possible, since with money you can do anything. The immortalist society is the exact opposite, it incentivizes people to be ethical, to not steal, to cooperate, help everyone, support eternal World Peace, peaceful music, to be a good person who contributes instead of slacking around because one flipped a house and now has income for 5 months to be a king who rapes everyone via one night stands. A society where money is God is not ideal if you want to eliminate all crime. If we want 0 crime, you give all same pay and the only difference is what products (car, house, health insurance, health products) they can buy with their credit score, so people strive to gain virtue, to be good, perform good deeds, instead of being a thief, rapist, killer to steal as much money as possible via all methods (rape, theft, killing), always inventing ways of stealing money via complex schemes.

The Immortality Credit Score forces people to become good, change tone and be kind, while the existing system incentivizes the worst greediest people to become leaders, as they know certain professions and positions pay the most. This is terrible: the system prioritizes the most psychopathic torturous impulsive mean violent ruthless insensitive evil power addicts to rule the planet, leading to the worst consequences: eternal war and violent crime. People can get emails that their score went up and down daily, based on certain actions, but the score is never known by the person, since this would cause people to feel superior or inferior to others, to mistreat others who told them their score, or to be fooled or submit to liars who claimed their score is higher than it is. All ethical development stops the moment one discovers his score is higher than most co-workers, etc. Naturally, people are housed by credit score, especially the violence subscore which is the main concern (protect the lives of higher score people), but to protect national security and the top national secrets about how the score is calculated and who can be manager of a group of people, to prevent others to fake and con the system, especially potential foreign spies, etc, the score will be unknown to all, except the managers who absolutely need this info, which they usually don't, as it's sufficient for managers to know the subscore for "chemistry knowledge or job knowledge" in order to prevent mistreatment by manager of an employee who has higher score than manager, as KGB did to prevent rivals from rising within the company or organization hierarchy. The most guarded secret of the state is the Score that measures the ability to bring Immortality for All, so nobody knows it except the country's managers who decide who will be supervisor for 1-200 million people. On a scale of 1 to 900 or whatever, how likely is this guy to bring Immortality for All in 1000 years? We see many psycho killers who had IQ score of 130-200, so obviously, IQ score would only be 5-10% of this Score, since math skill or good memory doesn't alone or in of itself bring Immortality for All. A good indicator of the IS (Immortality Score) formula being accurate is when it predicts perfectly, via the score, who will commit violent crimes, rapes or murders, so that cops can take action and eliminate all violent crime by sealing partially the cities where these ultra low scores people live and mandating classes for people prone to crimes. An IQ may be 180, but the Credit Score 10 out of 900, while others with IQ 130 may have Score 455. The IQ score measures only a few areas of the human brain, so it's not very useful, we see that on TV clearly. The true IQ score is the IS. ISness, Existence, is Consciousness and Bliss, for It alone is, the Oneness of All that is.

The reality is our capitalist society is totally insane, since everyone is thinking about money 1000 to 1 million times more than they should. An intelligent society is designed so nobody thinks about money, but about how many years of lifespan their actions added to all humanity that day. We have created a society of ultra low IQ folks, but we can just as easily recreate it into a society of logical scientists and engineers.☺☺☺ Every career choice, every mate choice, every single choice is influenced by money. At work, they often are jealous others make more money, so instead of working, they try to act busy, since billionaires make 50000 times more money per hour and the average workers have no incentive to strive for anything, since it may take them 400 years to get a 300 sq ft studio bought in their town. These workers, after a lot of acting busy, "contributing", finally get home and, in hopes to rectify the insane Genocidal Aristocrat created Scam we call Society, they watch youtube or social media, or radio-TV garbage about which "stock, investment, property" to buy to make money, so we have 1 million youtubers say Stock X will go up 50% or 3000%, another million say it will go down 40%, etc, all kinds of predictions. In reality, 99.9% of predictions of these fraudulent "financial experts and filif ☺tapeworm IQ

gurus☺" are false and those ant IQ losers wasted their life spewing garbage in anti-eterni tones of speech that just made everyone so aggressive and mean, like the eyelash makeup mascara jewelry and breast revealing shouting experts on TV who guide us towards the demonic future of Eternal Violent Crime and Banditry, with true Christian virtue☺☺☺ of Mk 10:25, Mt 25:35-6, ignoring that wearing eyelashes, eyeliners, excessive makeup, mascara, jewelry is not only unethical when many live in horrible conditions in USA, etc, but unChristian. Not to mention the system of paying one guy 1 million times more than others per hour per stress unit is motivating nobody to really contribute to society. The "financial magic guru youtube deceiving rat" guys waste years and months to create 5000 youtubes about investments that are redundant, and waste the lives of billions of listeners watching their poison and sewage packaged as kindness☺☺☺ (actually self-interest, they try to get you to subscribe to their channel, or buy products using their code, etc so they make more money off your credulity☺☺☺). Our society is of an ☺ abysmal IQ☺ without limits, partially due to Dutch serial killers from 1602, who invented this stock exchange crap to make all humans gamblers, to finance the 80 years war of genocide, mass plunder, and theft of life from the enslaved masses forced to fight due to poverty. Granted, the ideas actually came from all other bandit empires before, just in a different form, from genocidal aristocrats who invented all sorts of ways to legalize (such as banker Medici family killing Popes to become Popes, religions made to plunder continents, etc), institutionalize eternal slavery and theft. Vatican roles in fueling addiction to money, to genocidal cruelty (sadistic torture and death during the Inquisition) and the insanity of the stock market frenzy millions of destroyed families go thru, is explained in these 4 videos: pirate became Pope, murderous Banker became Pope & serial killer became Pope again, while banker Pope charged people billions to "shorten stay in the purgatory dimension". ☺☺☺You see, where would theft be if all get the same income and each income has a min amount reserved for shelter, food, clothing, health, etc so nobody can buy useless things and be left without money for utilities or food? All get a job with the 11 companies and the most ethical and intelligent get the more "supervisor" role? With cameras everywhere and only 1 card possible to pay for anything, no cash, no black market, 9000 times the amount stolen fine for theft, etc, it's hard to steal: one has to work 400 weekends at times to pay the fine. There would be no theft, no poor, no rich, no billions of hours wasted daily by clueless naive folks watching financial vultures ('experts') online, and we would dedicate 1 million times more hours to actually inventing a new housing tech a new food tech to make everyone live to 9 quadrillion years, instead of being animalistic rats ready to pounce, kill, cheat at the drop of a few bread crumbs (profit from a stock), like wild dogs eating cows alive, who forget what this robotic behavior does to humanity: keep it backwards forever. ☺☺☺

In immortalism, the number one goal is 0 violent crime by fair pay, for without 0 violence, World Peace is a pipe dream and war ends Immortality for All. Unlike communists or capitalists, we're against War. Countries know when you're a fraud, if you say “we can bring World Peace, but our violent crime rate is 50 times higher than 30 countries”. In immortalism, there is no unemployment, labor market and fancy graphs about labor market, effect on stock gambling prices and crap. All these economics majors are wasting their entire life, the whole TV-radio, Youtube, etc are full of phonies, the so called “economics and stock market, asset valuation” experts who brainwash people to stay chained as eternal slaves of the matrix of eternal war and genocide. A CEO who starts his company works maybe 60 hours a week in the first 2 years or even 5, then he works less, 40, and less daily, and stress is less as he becomes rich and makes 1000 times more than a PhD working 60 hours a week in a job for 15 years. It's evident the CEO didn’t work 1000 times more than the PhD, actually quite often the PhD did all the technical advancement of humanity, while CEO was a sales guy good at conning everyone to buy his useless product out of 1.4$ trillion old to chained slaves yearly in USA alone. All the ‘CEO’ achieves, is done via the labor of other people. The merit of the person is far less than the Freemasons brainwashed us for 250 years, the ‘CEO’ didn’t decide what his DNA☺☺☺, parents, education, neighbors, country, indoor air quality, noise in the area, EMF in his house affecting sleep quality, standard of living, religion of family would be, it was pure luck (or merit from past lives if you believe in soul rebirth, but we have no clear (unfaked) evidence of that and the merit is thus quantified for effort done in this life that we can verify). And that luck often causes the ‘CEO’ to have the time, capital or ideas, charisma, manipulation psychology tricks or sometimes, the intellect, to invent something, but he did NOT make 10000 times more ETHICAL immortalist effort as a consciousness than others who make 10000 times less. His effort was, at best, 2-4 times more than others who act busy 20-75% of the time or don’t care. With the screen recording for all work computers and video cameras inside buildings for all 11 companies and even some 1 million companies today, nobody will be able to slack 75% of the time. To be fair, all jobs that are stress free are replaced with AI, since those are repetitive and it’s not fair for some to go thru huge stress, while others sit as a security guard or hotel desk guy wasting 75% of the time on their phone or laptop. The waste today in these “private companies producing pure garbage service, product” is astounding, these guys don’t contribute in any way pretty much, being free loaders who should be replaced by AI, the universal Immortality Card and Key system that grants access to any hotel room, house, workplace one needs to enter, with no more losers and useless feeders basically keeping us backwards and being paid more than people with science jobs that have 50 times the stress. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The Universal Monitoring System means the 11 companies managers (for all thousands of positions, there is a special job to ensure fair stress distribution for all 8000 jobs in the 11 companies, these 100s of managers inspect all jobs every week via AI of the video and other human checking of AI systems to make sure nobody slacks 5 hours out of 8, they have to watch the days of 1000 jobs, takes 10 years to even go thru 1000 job types in one's region of monitoring, to assess stress levels, physical exertion, distribution of physical tasks to avoid weight gain and sedentary lifestyle or overwork that causes injuries) can see the typical 8 hour shift of any job and gauge correctly if stress levels are fairly distributed and if one is basically being paid to slack all day like many jobs today. His 2-4 times higher work effort was evil usually, because it was driven by selfish desire for material goods for himself, his effort was not rooted in the immortalist ethics of increasing the lifespan of the highest amount of billions of people in 20 years. This corrupts everyone and turns them into a beast, who cares about nothing but money and appearance. It's therefore unethical to reward him with 10000 more hourly pay as in this society of millionaires and billionaires living besides homeless. Everyone wants to contribute, and it's not logical to reward the greediest ones with the most power, it is illogical and destructive. If people realize nothing is merit and effort based, nobody has any incentive to try and improve the system in a big way: everyone pretends at work, acts busy, looks for the next job with 2x the salary, pays no attention, etc. Everyone chases a richer job, bigger house, richer spouse. This causes a very poor work ethics. Compare that with a society that never existed: equal pay for all. The only perks are some longevity tech is available to higher credit scores and you get to live in the areas with lowest violent and other crimes if you got higher scores, everyone lives by Immortality Credit Score to minimize damage of the most valuable (you don't want geniuses critical to society's 11 companies to be killed by abysmal IQ primitives, so much so that where these people live, no guns are ever allowed as they live in the forbidden Eterni Capital City of the Immortalist Federation of all galaxies). Money as incentive is bad, since money can be used to do evil. When the incentives/rewards for helping society are those that only benefit human lifespan, that protect life, then they can't be abused. Incentives can't be neutral like money, they have to be exceedingly noble, ethical, immortalist, life extending. These higher score 'managers of the big 11 companies' etc would now be the least greedy for the first time in history, people, who graduated from clowns to mature people who value ethics and nonviolence, instead of theft and self-adulation by bombastic salaries of Imperial Glory of Genocide. Due to the desire to protect, nobody would know one's job anyway, most people wouldn't know where people of highest score live (they are the most strategic national assets after all), so they can't go and attack/kill them via the housing.gov credit system of 1 billion fold violent crime reduction. In this system, we have only 1 HR department for all USA and they can't even see the name, address of the supervisor and higher IQ employees with higher scores, or of any employee, since everyone has a number to codify and encrypt it. This is a top secret access. Even today, the real decision makers are top secret, the public officials are mere front men to protect national secrets. Unemployment creates gangs, so with 11 companies everyone has a job. The Dad, President, gives self & all kids the same salary, so kids develop ethics, not greed for $. Let kids value longevity tech, 0 violence neighborhood as perks, to evolve them. The President treats all citizens as his kids, as his Family of Immortals.☺☺☺. He doesn't give a kid 9000 times more money, shelter, food than the others. With equal salaries, everyone feels part of the family ☺☺☺ led by the ideal guy of the Immortalist Anthem who loves the worst a trillion times more tenderly than the best mom loved her beloved infant. The President is thus trying to be a fair, logical, merit based ethics promoting abode of gentle tender soft nurturing healing serene compassionate loving kindness like Tao Te Ching Chapter 3: without encouraging titles to be sought, meaning without encouraging everyone to chase the 2x, 4x, 30x, 5000x salary "title" to be sought; an ethical "administration... doesn't encourage status and titles to be sought, nor encourage rivalry". Think about China, a fake communism society, where 100 times more (than homeless folks) houses/condos are empty, or people starve or buy the toxic foods while produce/healthy food is trashed by unhappy farmers (devastated nobody bought their hard work), all due to the capitalist aristocratic Chinese government copying the USA capitalist decentralized failure too much: US got 30 times more empty housing units than homeless in USA, could've secured borders 80 years ago, etc. US is moving towards a centrally planned immortalist economy, as the US Treasury Secretary explained this is the only way they can compete with the more centrally planned Chinese economy. The current capitalist system of all nations is a madness that worships money, not human life, human health, longevity, etc.

Here is an alternate way to perceive reality explained in far more detail in the Not Knowing Chapter: civilizations can end in 10 seconds due to greed that causes wars and we lack the supercomputers to run all possible simulations of what might happen, to calculate how everyone would react, and would save civilization the most from collapse. In the big picture, if souls exist, our body, brain, mind may be only 10^{-87} of the soul, so nobody can say they're better than anyone else, because if you were born in the same circumstances and DNA you might have done the exact same thing as the worst people of history. Thus, we can't really argue we know how people react under pressure, or under calm, since a society can be saved from collapse by a series of events started by a below average guy who decides to write the most detailed and honest review.gov of a person or product that causes a series of product recalls, management shifts and company restructuring over time that prevents the collapse. So, it was not from the top, the CEO of one of the 11 companies, not even a management person, but a very low "score" person. Thus, you can't really prove in a society who is better for the society's long-term future, with 100% certainty, since we know very little about what we really need the most, since we have not seen trillions of aliens species and what caused their collapse. You may have become a serial killer if you were born in a bad family, while others became decent people. So, just because you have a PhD or are CEO doesn't mean you're intrinsically going to do better that an average Joe when push comes to shove and society collapses with 4 years left to save it from the weapon test that ends almost all humans. On the contrary, the janitor may do better, he may be already self-sufficient and survive as the only family on Earth in some remote mountains living on local food, due to some super luck, living in a cave to save money, where an inter-dimensional particle (via new periodic table) accumulation exists that protects him from the blast. How did he know that cave? His soul has 10^{988} more knowledge than all human brains and computers combined? In the absence of credit scores and products to give people to avoid money being used to buy drugs or etc, we can't suddenly give everyone the same salary, as people are programmed by aristocrats to be infernally selfish and won't do anything right at work, except try to overthrow the government of kind people whose ethics is loving all, even the worst citizen, 1 trillion times more than the most loving mom last decade loved her suckling infant. With the end of beauty salons and other redundant egomaniac businesses, we will be able to create a trillion billion video cameras in the USA, to give all citizens a daily email Sports update: the Sport of Building Your Soul Virtue and gentle tender soft healing nurturing graceful loving kindness: reports on every Immortality Credit Score increase and decrease, if any that day: "4 points up for speaking nicer at the store, 4 points down for kicking that tree, 4 minus for littering by not recycling the can of V8 veggie juice and putting it into the trash instead at the supermarket. Overall minus 4 points today." ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

We really don't need stock markets and hedge funds, since we replace 9000 banks/CUs with one bank and all income is from wages only, plus maybe room rental using housing.gov to post ads, simple, so longevity is the focus. A truly spiritual society, one based on Kind Tender Healing Nurturing Gentleness, not Genocide-Looting-Rape. Higher score people being able to buy more longevity giving products, when they login in your immortality.gov account only products matching your score are shown. The Amazon of longevity products is there. Nobody can buy stuff for others, or score is lower, unless they're your spouse or kids. A CNN video seems to show a false flag event, where a NATO prime minister with the odd, yet probably intentional fake name FICO (FICO credit score refers to financial score in USA), is faking being shot to raise popular support for the more leftist ideas of peace, because 'CIA gunmen killed him because' "he was against shipping more weapons to Ukraine, against war, against the FICO aristocracy and perhaps, for true freedom from the dictatorship of the 4500 USA banks and 5000 EU banks who're very much like the Russian state, just more covert in their aggression (when was the last time you heard banks calling for World Peace in 3 months?) against the workers of the world and the human quantum field". A few years back a stock trader made 180 million a year playing with oil futures (options), so this removes any incentive for anyone to work hard and to increase lifespan, since simple speculation can make one 10000 times more income than others get, so people think the government is run by criminal gangs who encourage theft as the way, not improving the lives of people. The moral fiber of society collapses and nobody has incentives to discover and innovate. The average salary would be twice the minimum wage at 40 h/week.

Only 1 minimum wage in the entire USA would exist, only one company selling real estate, thus fairly pricing all houses and properties: we're 1 nation, not 50. In immortalism, low CEO pay is done to motivate the most selfless, least greedy, most immortalist, to become manager or CEO, not the greediest, to make immortality tech access via virtue via Immortality Credit Score, the most important reward, park, benefit, not money or mansion size. Those with the highest scores have access to the highest levels of health insurance and immortality "tech" (food, shelter (special devices, even if same house), transport tech add-ons, car type, house tech type, etc), the communities with the highest credit scores (when buying a house, the buyer indicates the score preference, as do the neighbors: this means the safest most intelligent kindest neighborhoods). This motivates the ethical development of the people, which is the glue that builds Civilizations of Immortals. Right now, whoever is the greediest, often gets rewarded with top $ and everything. In the new world, whoever increases the lifespan of ALL HUMANS the most, gets the best longevity tech and a little higher pay, 3 times max the average maybe. It's the difference between heaven and hell. The system today promotes greed and makes money the God of everything, instead of the science of long healthy lives, which is essential to individual, national and human species wellbeing. The highest paid professions will be longevity related ones in the new world: life sciences, medical, education, managers within the 11 mega companies that sustain longevity for all. With one national and later world government in 100-200 years when one language exists only and 11 companies only, we experience the constant ETERNAL prices for basic foods, daily basic products and also, free single family houses for all, to ensure nobody dies from earthquakes, though in flood zones, stronger raised houses would be needed. The Eterni Food Inc section explains more about blueberries and any produce having the same price everywhere, meaning no store can price the same exact product differently, be it biscuits, snickers or chips. 0 INTEREST forever, One Bank of the People, Eterni Bank, no more endless financial experts, financial products, banks and nonsense. Prices were a tool of British serial killers to create select neighborhoods where same 800 sq ft house costs 10 times more and same blueberry pack or other product costs 3-5 times more. This enabled Brits/Jews to create ghetto areas where they instigate crime via violent music etc and accomplish extermination covertly. The hobby of UK lords has often related to mutilation. The prices can only change due to discovering that the peculiar products are harder to produce, damage the environment or contribute more to longevity and there is a short supply of resources to make them. This ends the era of bloodsucker banks, "stock markets", inflation, boom and bust cycles, unemployment (which fuels crime, as people have nothing to do) and aristocratic terror based economics of the last 25 millennia. Everything is centralized in immortality capitalism for the benefit of the entire humanity, not palatial aristocrats, as one ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ reigns supreme forever. Humans are finally one family. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The Western capitalist media has created millions of video series, movies, youtubes, articles, booklets, books about the 1917 and 1945 confiscation of aristocratic palaces or rich peasant properties, to create cooperatives or undo the theft aristocrats perpetrated for millennia, by working to death the peasants (who were often slaves in much of Europe and Russia for example, having only 1 right, to work 360 days a year, 60 hours/week minimum, sometimes 14 hours during warmer 6 months) and others. This media is created by the aristocratic leeches who do a similar dispossession every year, especially on bad years of real estate downturn or stock market crash. Since 1800, the aristocrats have dispossessed thru speculation and their economic model of "plunder and everyone steals as much as possible", about 1 billion people, who have lost homes and life savings due to the criminal economic system that doesn't give everyone a free house and an eternal job at one of the 11 companies, to ensure low stress and longevity for all, not just the predatory aristocrat sucking the blood out of the 95%. The slave of the 95% has to change job 50 times, work 2-3 jobs sometimes, change states and cities 50 times to live paycheck to paycheck. The leech stays in the same palace, same job, CEO, for his whole life. Not fair. This is capitalist style collectivization: the 95% are the slave collective who're tortured all their life. Before 1800, for about 50 millennia, the aristocrats ensured the serfs barely get by, while all money is used by warlords (country rulers equivalent today) to buy mercenaries and start wars to expand their land holdings. The media is not allowed to even discuss this 50000 year long genocidal collectivization of the global working class, perpetrated today by the Stock Mafia, the Mortgage Bankers and their Associated Criminal networks known as 4500 Genocidal Banks. On top of the Genocide via Foreclosure, The criminal aristocrat makes billions creating trash houses that are totally destroyed by storms, and then the working class wastes 20 years to fix them, getting sick from mold or stress, and the murderous aristocrat is not required by the criminal cousin playing "state official" (who gives himself a salary 15-50 times the minimum federal wage) to build a dome that can withstand 4 times the pressure of a tornado. These gangsters, 21.5 million local government officials (some have 2 jobs, 210K and etc, in 2 cities/2 states, showing how "heavy the load is"), live like parasites (these criminals often give drivers licenses for 200$ to illegals, without them passing any test, so we need dissolve all local governments and all 50 states, create 1 central gov company called Eternal Travel Inc that issues all driver's licenses), and accomplices of the criminal Big Aristocrats, to con and loot the slavering masses. They duplicate everything and have stone age procedures, codes, that simply ensure the cousins can sell 20 houses in 200 years instead of only one that lasts, same Big Pharma Model, manage disease to have them pay 80K over a life, instead of cure it and pay only 20$ for a course on diet change. The Criminal Aristocrats hire ☺enslaved folks☺ to go to each of these local governments for forms, and they have no incentive in improving any tech, streamline any forms in America, only to beat, terrorize and spy on the working class, so they can chain it and milk it dry until they drop dead 20 years earlier than aristocrats. That is why we demand the end of all state, county and city governments and the creation of an aristocrat free society. This "trash houses that are paper houses" is a form of collectivization by aristocrats, who steal the houses and lives of billions of workers. A third form of capitalist collectivization is the theft of trillions from the people by 20-50000 times lower wages than the main terrorists at the top: everyone makes part of the slave collective, except the rich, who dispossess the 98% of their legitimate wealth and property via brainwashing. They criticize communism, but are exactly like the NKVD folks (or Wagner in Africa, except the torture uses invisible microwave, IR, sound weapons to attack body parts) of 1930s collectivization: the 95% slaves live like dumplings ready to be eaten. The funniest thing is how they scoff at the idea of capping salary and assets, when we're not saying to take away anyone's house, destroy their health with mold, as these Infernal Republican Demons do yearly with millions. We're not for torturing, taking everything from the "rich", just giving everyone a decent house. We're not the communist psychos who killed millions needlessly, not realizing if their soul would have been born in the same aristocrat family, they would have lived the same way, not "giving 99.99% of their wealth to the poor except a regular house for themselves and some savings to live on poverty level income".

US CEOs made 20 times more than average worker in 1965 and 389 times more in 2021. US is devolving into some type of feudal society with daily mass shootings to terrorize workers daily. In Australia CEOs make only 55 times the average salary, vs 344 in USA, in India 229 times more, China 129. In the 2017 chart of CEO pay we see the same trend, USA is the most fascist and unequal country. China is far more advanced than India economically, its citizens live 10.5 years longer on average vs India, and Chinese CEO pay shows it too: paid almost half of India pay. Australia CEOs in 2024 may make 6 times less than their American counterparts, vs the average worker. The minimum wage in Australia is much higher than USA. Australia got universal healthcare and weekend pay is overtime pay and 5-6 weeks of vacation, not 2 like in USA. They work to live, not live to work for CEOs and small business aristocrats wealth. However, Australia is far from egalitarian or immortalist, even if more so than USA, with 122000 homeless in 2024, a huge number given the population of only 27 million and with 1% of taxpayers owning 25% of rentals (in immortalism, nobody can own 2 houses). This homelessness is intentionally created by policies of British aristocracy who gives preferential treatment to UK immigrants and all things British: 25% of homeless are aboriginals, even if 2.5% of population. Aussies are British slaves, unless fully bred Brit from UK DNA. Likewise, those Brits hate will be on the "to be made homeless list" via various policies: various immigrants, etc. Half the homeless are under 25. Singapore and Hong Kong pay CEOs less than Australia, and their citizens live longer than Australia. With so many immigrants from poor countries with less longevity DNA, and 31% foreign born, Australians live to 83.5, not 85 like Japan with 0 immigrants. Australia has more immigrants % than any other nation, and thus outlives even number 2 nation for immigrants,

Canada, who gets 84.2 vs 83.5 Australia lifespan due to Canada having 20% foreign born vs Australia having 29%. 48% of Australia has a foreign born parent. Australia actually beats out Japan at 55 times more CEO pay vs 76 times in Japan, just like Australia natives live longer than Japanese when you remove the 3% shorter lived natives (primitive tech for centuries) or 30% immigrants who just arrived from short lifespan nations. Monaco is a tiny city of 37000 aristocrats, so they live longer. But for real countries above 5 million, Singapore is number 1 at 86.7 and 44% born outside Singapore. US minimum wage in 2024 was lower than all EU nations (purchasing power) except 2, and in many EU nations it was more than double, even if the average GDP per capita is higher than those nations, showing how feudal the USA is. In the US most national wealth is stolen by the rich, who then use the money to create decentralized chaos to maintain aristocratic terror of the 99% by the 1%. In USA CEOs often make 200 million or more a year, in other nations, less than 2 million and those nations only have half of the US GDP, capita, so the inequality in USA is 50+ times higher. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

The great stock markets crash of 1929 and others were made by the US military aristocracy (to help Nazis to come to power in Germany to destroy Germany completely and create Israel, so in 1929 Nazis had 2% of vote, but after the crash, they went to 37% in 4 years) who controls all banks and the stock exchange direction: stock markets, just like casinos and lotteries, are a scam for palace dwelling aristocrats to rip off workers globally. These fraud based entities are controlled by puppet aristocrat controlled governments who setup phony fake "private" companies that are the "free market". US criticizes other nations for not being "a free market" or having subsidies, but every US stock market move is controlled*, nothing is free market, all is state capitalism where big aristocrats control every important move; that's how 'experts' know what will happen with the stocks and how they become "billionaires":* CIA told them. This is another example of hypocrisy, like with US torture of millions while criticizing others for 'human rights abuses'. Aristocrats need complex schemes, 30000 banks in 1920s, and stock markets to rip entire nations off*: the top military and banking guys are the same* gunmen. If we had 11 companies only and all were treated fairly, with true democracy and equal opportunity*, these banks and stock markets would not be needed: one bank,* Eterni Bank*, would suffice.* But when criminal aristocrats run entire nations/empires, simplicity, honesty are not possible, nor is any talk of Eternal World Peace in 3 months legal, or the end of torture. Anyone exposing the mafia that runs the USA is tortured to death. The British Empire is upset with this book for example, as it shows WW2 was not due to Germany alone. The empires didn't disappear, they only became covert, the independent countries that made up the empires are run covertly as parts of the empires. The palace dwelling aristocrats need complexity to hide their vast theft and subjugation of all nations. Now you know why USA has 4500 banks in 2024 and 1 million contractors. The vampires make ☺the snail IQ masses☺ believe the "stock market is legitimate", they encourage the subjugated masses to gamble on the stock market to distract the masses from the reality of their eternal slavery, just as they do with lotteries and casinos, to give people a distraction from their miserable existence, so they don't rebel and take charge of their destiny and develop the Immortality for All technologies that give all million year lifespans some century. The American revolution was also a fraud, that kept the workers as enslaved as before. Americans didn't realize that it doesn't matter if the British or other aristocrats get the tax directly, or thru phony complex banking systems, treasuries, etc they control from behind the scenes. We were told taxation without representation (the rich get lower taxes) led to the American revolution, that people were represented (by British, etc spies?) in the new government, but they were not, it was all a scam, as fake elections explains. The aristocrats are very good at creating illusions of freedom and democracy, fake revolutions that hide the real controllers. The people get to choose nothing, unless they wake up. Then, they can end the genocides against workers worldwide, begin ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~. The only people who benefit from wars are the rich people who don't fight them, the rest are casualties of the criminals bombarding us daily with violent scenes on TV in order to jail millions of workers worldwide for the crimes the aristocrats incited them to do. Do we need all these scams and fake nations that empires created artificially as buffer states in their eternal quest for theft? Why can't we be one nation of workers, earthlings, Eternia, with Immortalist Anthem as our ethics? Democracy doesn't exist, if anyone tries to create the Immortalist Party, they're tortured and really, the system is so corrupt it's designed to never allow any third party, so might as well try change Democrats to become Immortalists and form a new party. The TV-radio and all Internet websites are controlled, what becomes popular, website or music wise, is also controlled, the only way for anything to get thru the Matrix may be USBs with this book, that people read offline with airplane mode on, to save their brains from aristocrat made RF pollution. It's like the Gestapo, KGB, freedom doesn't exist. But one day freedom may emerge.

The maximum salary, in immortality capitalism, is thus 3-4 times the minimum wage, not 50,000 times as today. However, the maximum could also be only 2 times if people evolve to a perfect utopia faster, where greed doesn't exist. Greed is born out of lack of happiness, due to the miseducation of humans who don't know bliss is instant with proper breathing technique. If people are happy, healthy and gov provides a good management, so all have great shelter, food, healthcare, then nobody cares about the money, as the areas for shelter, food and basic needs are unusable for any other purpose except the healthiest foods, etc. Reality is people are used to money to be motivated to not slack all day, and initially no credit score exists, nor products only higher scores can access. So, for a few years, until all evolve to the nonviolent thought human stage, salary differences make sense, though we need to recall that when you have a world of teleporting telepathic genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortals ☺☺☺, who materialize things they need out of energy around them, the ideas of credit cards, money and such are pure nonsense. However, it is true, the ethics of a society may not become the perfect one in 2 years, as many haven't even understood the basics of nonkilling philosophy. The nonkilling immortalist ideal is easy to apply in altrusitic societies, where depraved chimps who play demonic sports choose out of their free will to build healing centers (nicer than average 1 bedroom home today for each 'inmate') for all who get lifetime community service in a healing city for any violent crime, so as to not pollute the quantum field with jailing or torture, killing etc. Most have not even understood the immortalist quality of 9 qualities into one: gentle tender soft nurturing healing compassionate serene loving kindness, a quality nowhere to be seen on TV, and the peaceful global peace methods, meaning those trillions of ways to any outcome without any torture, pain violence, threats or even intimidation, or even sarcasm, etc. As IQ increases and bliss spreads, people realize that electronic money in a bank account, or living in a palace has no meaning, if you don't live to 300, so if efficiency, scientific ethics, etc become higher in the science based society by equal salaries and different credit scores and product access, etc, many will accept the idea of same wage for all, in that future super intellectual age where living to 40000 is the goal, not being rich. But first things first, the violent crime needs disappear, besides war, and this can happen very fast, with enough will power, even before all wages are the same, since after all, folks, a machine of the future will transform all humans interested into the same exact appearance to eliminate racism or "us vs them", be it purple hair, golden eyes, silver nails and golden feet, with lavender or magenta skin, though that's becoming obsolete when all shapeshift. Management positions are given to those passing the position technical, ethics test and having higher credit score. All help all to live to a Trillion Years Old. The most valuable things are not electronic money, but Life, how good your sleep is, your health, how relaxed you are, how well rested you are, which are the key conditions for discovery of life improving technologies. In a world where everything is duplicated for small aristocracy profits, on the toil of enslaved workers, scientists, etc, everyone suffers. The immortalist goal is to enable all humans to become teleporting telepathic shimmering shapeshifting Immortals ☺☺☺ who live to a trillion, so what we value is health, anti-aging techs, not money or how big our car and house is: living to 500 is more important than $5 trillion. So, to create a new value system, we make money insignificant and the Immortality Credit Score the most important. This is how immortalism differs from communism, capitalism, all the rest, it puts Life above everything else: everything is done to maximize longevity in the shortest amount of time: all redundancy ends, all useless products that are almost identical are consolidated into one (200 product managers of the same milk packaged in 200 ways in 200 companies, huge waste), so product managers retrain (free education) to discover an entirely different type of milk 100 times healthier, new things we need, we end reinventing and role playing we 'help people live longer', we stop acting busy as a society (the stuff capitalists and communists do so well: we need results, data showing any product extends healthy lifespan, bliss versus before, etc), so we get 100 times more tech jobs to extend lifespan. Endless companies make high heels for example, known to shorten human life: in an immortalist country any product, no matter how popular and fancy, that shortens lifespan would be illegal, so 2000 deadly products eliminated making space for healthy products that extend human life. After centuries, as people evolve and agree the most important things are health and longevity, all can have the same salary to make it simple, efficient, fair, etc, but the most "expensive in terms of resources" items, services that bring longest lifespan are only available for those with higher credit scores, the higher, the more products. This removes all attachment to objects, matter and money and makes them all think of Immortality for All, longevity always, on how to bring score up by improving everyone's life. A shift happens from the greed for $, to the selfless desire to help all live longer. In 2020s, almost everyone thinks of money 50000 times/year, 0 times/year about Immortality for All, helping all live to 500: millions think daily on how to kill, torture, sabotage, shorten lifespan of others too. We live in hell, so the road to heaven will take a few centuries of evolution. The transformation of the human beast into a shimmering genderless shapeshifting Immortal sage helping all always is slow.☺ Gently read a summary of a much longer Washington Post article on life expectancy in the USA, to see how aristocracy wages covert extermination war on the masses via housing, food & more. 2021 CDC life expectancy was 65.2 for Native (50 in 1 reservation: doing rituals, without taking advantage of modern science, vitamins, taking Delaware size land for 11000 people, separating from US leads to regress), 76.4 White, 77.6 Hispanic (eat more legumes, fiber, antioxidants, fewer processed foods that are engineered to kill the workers' brains so they can't free themselves) 70.8 Black, 83.5 Asian. Graphs hide violent crime via torture. Most Asians are legal immigrants, highest IQ in origin nation, while Blacks are descendants of slaves. It shows the effect of education and not being tortured, and choosing to embrace tech instead of religion rituals. We need data by nationality also, to see the British effect, the Jewish effect, etc.

The advantage of the Immortality Credit Score is that when you get service via any company, doctor, etc the system assigns you employees close to your score, and likes, for maximum quantum resonance needed to sustain ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~, perfect understanding, minimal friction, highest customer satisfaction, highest vibe of human-human interaction. Thus, if you're among those who don't drink alcohol, they assign one who doesn't drink and whose score is close to yours, and if available (it is always available in big metro areas, since each major service company has 1-25 million employees in USA, thousands of employees within miles of you), whose score comes from the same top most contributing 50 factors: he has almost same values/subscores as you, especially nonviolence subscore, universal gentle tender soft nurturing loving kindness subscore, physical exercise score (the brutality of sports one practices, how often shouts, kicks, injuries, shoving, hooligan like acts happen, if these are still legal anywhere), honesty subscore, eterni tone subscore, kindness for animals (veganism, sports that mistreat animals (pig wrestling, bullfighting, etc) if still legal, music that has less gentle lyrics and emotion if still legal and played anywhere, etc) subscore, kindness for those napping subscore (quiet cities, dog noise). This way, we avoid you the annoyance of smelling alcohol, dealing with poor service done by a drunk employee, the annoyance of breathing in the invisible undiscovered particles and lung/mouth bacteria only present around smokers, weed users, alcohol drinkers or bad music singers or listeners, punishment supporters, war supporters, shouting enthusiasts, etc – to ensure true longevity, perfect understanding, 0 conflict and true respect for that which is Eternally virtuous, the wish for Immortality for All. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Since any house can sell in 1-2 days, anyone is free to move to a new area with neighbors closer to his scores or certain subscores he really cares about (financial subscore (the 350 to 800 FICO score, one of 300 subscores), theft subscore, smoking subscore (neighbor smokes daily a pack and all fume goes into his bedroom), fireworks subscore (neighbor fires 100 fireworks a year for 5 weeks around July 4), loud music or noise subscore (neighbor plays loud music to piss others; all can report anyone for noise or anything via reviews.gov instantly and if that doesn't do it, move out, or move because mosque or church bell calls are too loud for your daily nap essential in your odd schedule job, after reporting the mosque, church crime against humanity by lowering lifespan by sleep and relaxation disturbance) or quiet cities subscore: dog noise in his area piss him off, if USA didn't yet ban barking outside for hours daily). This solves 100s of issues and prevents anger, poor job performance and even small or violent crimes. The goal is 0 crime of any sort and that is what this will bring: 0 anger, high gentle loving kind compassion, thus 0 crime. The 10 year goal is 0 violent crime in the nation, via 0 anger for all citizens.

The score is world's most intelligent system of making sure aristocrats, cops, spies, soldiers don't create endless chaos, conflict to subjugate/jail the poor via depraved music engineered to exterminate, etc. When selecting any service, that is not urgent, you can choose to wait until someone with the same score structure is available, or even a subscore you care about (job performance or honesty subscore, etc) and whose score is the maximum that person has allowed to be above a serviced person (when available in that area, when many calls come at once, so it can pick who goes where), meaning a score hopefully 1% higher than yours if you got patience to wait or even 9% higher. This gives everyone peace of mind, both employees visiting house to maintain, and the service requester. This way, we enact Heaven on Earth, people of like vibe flock together on their dimension. No more random assignment of a service rep by 90000 companies, but a smart rep by 1 company. Obviously in future nations of Eternia vibe the lowest score, 1, vs 900 for the average, is for spies, cops, soldiers who slowly kill and torture millions of trainees in many countries, so such "immigrants" with fake cover stories, when they move to immortalist nations, are monitored carefully, for genocidal attempts. Due to the way militaries are today, supreme terrorists/dictators of most nations, they will fake the scoring system to give themselves higher scores and pretend to be 'immortalist or democratic'. So, some people, soldiers, cops in violent nations, will have fake scores. Immortalists will have 2 scores for these spies: the official, based on their faked behavior in public after immigration, and the real, based on all data of all genocides they did in their own country. The scores will reflect true immortalist vibe for all only long after Eternal Universal Peace was achieved in 3 months, after centuries of evolution. Even so, the road of a 1000 years starts with the 1st step towards democracy. The 'blood drinkers' (all meat almost is obtained thru vast torture and suffering of farm animals that pollutes human quantum field and brings warfare, meat has 0.3% blood and bad matter invisible to science today) obviously have a natural human desire to look good, so they will make veganism contribution to score very low, same for savage brutal hooligan sports and depraved music. However, as humans evolve, the diet will change from 'blood drinking' (omnivore) to eterni, the sports, music will change, with peace reigning supreme. You can always opt for vegan subscore matching, to counteract the incorrect scoring.

Talking about fairness and why should a scientist be paid 3-5 times more than a hotel worker who sleeps thru the shift most of the time at night? Damage done by stress is expensive to repair and treat, requires more supplements, etc. The lack of reviews.gov means exactly that, the central Immortality Nurturing Agency can't take action when a report is done that manager is sleeping or ignoring that employee A work 50 hours a week, while others only 10, browsing porn or "random news" the rest of the time. Obviously, it is unfair that a stressful job of a scientist pays just a 20% more than a guy sitting in a hotel on a night shift to see who comes at a hotel. So same pay for stress levels that are 10-20 times higher. Is that fair? No, so how do we deal with this? We need encourage all to report all their grievances and reports of unfairness to the employees whose job is to read the complaints and take corrective actions immediately by investigating and contacting the spy agency, the managers, etc. We can't have such jobs, since we're wasting our people, have automated doors and AI cameras and efficiency, otherwise, we as a nation will become a third world country. First of all, we need efficiency, meaning ONE hotel.gov of the Immortality Building Inc (who builds and maintains all buildings, hotels, houses, etc) for the entire nation with the same automated self-check-in system, same key system at all hotels, all super secure, same universal check-in and checkout that reduces staff levels dramatically and makes all more relaxed scientists, instead of employees getting sick from sitting like rat filif IQ chimps all day at the hotel on night shift. We need creativity to innovate and make resources other nations have useless. This innovation and creativity that can't occur under stress or for tired people, so we need more scientists, not hotel staff. The parasitic aristocrat chases HIS profit, while the nation sinks into ignorance. We can't allow the individual greed to ruin the nation or planet. It's not fair that one guy makes same salary doing NOTHING virtually except talking to a few people, and others go thru enormous stress to keep some advanced machines working, etc, in a lab. You talk about deadlines, to get instruments up and running, pass QA criteria, etc… At a hotel and many sales jobs in millions of useless businesses, stress levels are low, but so will we collapse as a nation knowing self-sufficiency, meaning no need to go to war to get something we import and now we can't import anymore. We need fairness, so the system needs huge reform if we want to have more equal pay and higher longevity for all, meaning those who have slacking jobs not only get minimum pay, but can't have only a slacking job, they need to have at least half the time another more challenging job in another department of the Universal company (one of the 11) to evenly distribute the stress that ages us, to get them to move a little and avoid cognitive decline, to relieve the stress of others tasked with 300 deadlines in a lab, otherwise, we will deal with the enraged people who say, equal pay for 30 times the stress and aging is NOT fair, let us have 30 times the pay. Then we go back to the fights over "30 times the pay is not fair", "you are a fake leftist, you greedy capitalist from hell, aristocratic impostor, etc". So here we go, a fair society is a fair society, and if we're leftists, centrists, kind, we have to be fair, not just equal pay, but equal effort, equal stress, equal aging on the job (some work very hard to stock a warehouse, 8 hours a day, breaking their back, or in some factory inhaling toxic fumes or dust and developing lung cancer, while others slack all day doing nothing and get paid the same), so all have a fair chance to live to a trillion. In this society created by slave owners aristocratic pigs (like the fellow Brits they allegedly fought), where aristocracy still rules supreme after 250 years, nobody cares about fairness, since when a parasite makes 50000 times the minimum or average hourly rate, these differences of one working ultra hard and one doing nothing are irrelevant. We need a new ethics of caring about all, if we want to create a sense of family and more equal pay, since a parent doesn't give 50000 g of food to a child and only 1 g to the rest to starve them to death. So, let's see, we see many jobs and people wasting time doing nothing waiting for 3 customers a day in 100s of thousands of businesses, millions of lives wasted due to decentralized chaos and an ☺abysmal IQ☺ beyond comprehension, then going to war to steal resources we would not have needed, if we had 1000 times more innovation by proper centralized efficient automation and organization so such wasting of lives and food and resources don't happen and we avoid wars that end human species in the universe. So, the road to fairness, to the universal family of all humans with 0 violent crime, 0 theft, starts with empathy for all, meaning you don't have a communist system where some are worked to death for same pay as a guy relaxing all day at work. Such a system will certainly collapse, as we have seen. We need huge reforms to this parasitism that pervades every aspect of society, due to the brainwashing by aristocrats that being a parasite is OK and everyone does it, except the rich who get paid 50000 times the average worker at times and doesn't need to "act busy". For people who got injured and need less stress, they can have a very low stress job, lowest stress, to recover and do something ultra easy for areas not yet automated, so that all feel like they're loved and the government has indexed jobs by stress index for proper pay scale and Immortality Credit Score. It's horrible to see injured workers forced to go into a high stress job again, damaging their recovery from an injury, in an example of governmental criminal disregard for human life. We need to have compassion for all and treat all as if they're our baby, with a love a trillion times deeper, greater than that of the gentlest mom for her 3 week old breastfeeding baby as described in the Immortalist Anthem. ☺☺☺

A new ethics of fair stress distribution needs to take hold, in all areas of society, not just work stress, meaning those citizens who live in the harshest climates, deserve a slightly higher pay as they cope with that, while others' bodies are not subject to that cruel weather, etc. We need to end the grotesque 3 fold differences in pay from one city to the other for the same exact job, which causes the complete degradation of neighborhoods and the chase of money by all, ignoring everything else that is 1 trillion times more important: living a long and healthy life, 1 trillion some far away century. People worship money, imagining it gives them eternal life, but it doesn't always end up that way, the stores in that city may charge 5 times more, so one is ending up saving the same, and wasted all this time to move for nothing. So, how is that job? Oh, they sit all day at the entrance to some building, wasting their whole life like a pygmy from 3 millennia ago, contributing really nothing to innovation we desperately need to end wars. Millions of people are fooled that if they go do some rituals and donate to a pastor promoting low IQ, scientific fraud, scientific dishonesty (where is the evidence for the fake miracles? None, 0 evidence exists that would mee the criteria of the peer reviewed journals to be unfakable, legit, free of confounding factors). Some are even employed by these phony organizations that vampirize the fools donating to them, and they sit there all day waiting for some naive guy to talk to someone, they're doing a disservice to our nation (engaged in eternal wars sadly), because after all, spreading fake facts and scientific fraud, lowering our IQ, innovation capacity, is fueling war over resources that could have been made obsolete by innovation that doesn't happen due to fake miracle preachers. We need fairness and a new level of honesty too, not just about slacking jobs in regular jobs, but even in the so called "tax exempt" genocidal quotes spreading religion related jobs. So, the hard working people carry the burden of supporting those who promote lies and violence. Is it fair? No, so, let us think of way to bring reform in all areas (end tax exempt status too) that need some rewording of claims, of beliefs (We hypothesize this "miracle" may have happened, but science has no evidence and it can be faked in 100 ways, which we will show soon) and more honesty, so we don't raise a society of ☺ low IQ people☺, super easy to manipulate by foreign spies taking over our nation and turning us all into enslaved dogs. We have been taken for a ride by aristocratic liars making up religions for millennia, are we that abysmal in IQ to continue being such suckers for another 2 millennia? Where is the proof, don't you know the aristocrats deceive? Even regular people lie, even 4 year olds lie due to seeing adults doing it, come on, wake up.☺☺ What about entertainment that shows images of war, fuels war, conditions us to support war, violent tones, violent emotions, etc? Tax it more of course, or ban violent content. We need to prevent wars, by a new ethics of the United Nations: trillion year lifespans for all, end all wars. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Who would measure the Immortality credit of each individual and company impact on lifespan of every human*? This is explained more* over the next 50 pages*.* We would need a really scientific way of counting how many lifespan years one added to humankind in a year: add all human contributions, so the actual observed increase in lifespan years matches the calculation and adjust models to fit the numbers; and also based on people complaints from the Immortality Credit Models Feedback Office – where people using reviews.gov can voice concerns, hypotheses, discontent and get reply and explanation until satisfied and enlightened why the model is the way it is,☺☺☺ like "I think AI calculation of credit score is off since this guy contributed much more to human lifespan than the other and yet his salary is 5 times lower, based on the credit multiplicator". This way we allow people to vent, complain*, help* Immortality Credit scientists discover flaws in AI models and allow people to know how it's calculated, with all 50,000 factors. Granted, it's a 500,000 pages book when developed well, but anyone would be able to see it in a true, not fake democracy*. It's very complex and extremely hard to create a perfect society where* discontent doesn't exist (hence the Complaints Feedback Office needs to exist and be well-known/used by all citizens for daily improving of AI models), but that's essential for true genuine motivation to do a good job to exist, i.e. to do the impossible job of living to 5000, which takes more than 'acting busy to get a paycheck, or doing what's required, even when seeing ways to improve it, not caring, since they know it's all rigged and unfair'. We've seen in communist and many regimes, leaders say one thing, but do another, and the society being a far cry from fairness, kindness and universal compassion: with huge crime (even some violent one) totally ignored by police, who also act busy, copying the living example of higher ups who're discontent ☺☺☺ with what's going on, etc. Without 10%+ eterni tone that brings 100 times higher empathy and loving kindness and the ideas of infinite kindness in this book, it's hard to establish a true discontent prevention system that removes discontent by 100 fold and then increases scientific progress 90 fold. "When they were hungry for nutrients, Univ gave them junk food and poor sleep that lowered IQ by 30 points..." Malnourished people can only produce poor results. A counterargument is that if the government regulates too much, people will do nothing and there is no effort to improve the system. This is not regulation, it's empowering the people to know the system is not a fake fraud based one, but one based on merits to extend the healthy happy lifespan of all. To create non-monetary incentives for individual action to benefit society is to evolve people beyond money addiction and to remove the stagnation problem that happened in "feudalist, capitalist, communist or socialist" societies where there was one company☺☺☺ doing everything in an industry, no incentive to improve existed, no reviews.gov exists to fine or reward bad or good behavior instantly. Stagnation happened due to: ethics or advantages of living to 500 (making a discovery to live to 500) were not taught since birth, managers didn't listen to suggestions due to no way for someone to check if all suggestions and complaints were investigated, sabotage existed, everything was owned by the state or the foreigners who remotely controlled puppet oligarchs pretending to have capitalism, a fake stock market with fake actors/competition all run by foreign interests or criminal mafia families, helping others to live longer was not a value or "sport", but soccer was.

The stagnation problem can happen in any society, leading to its decline, for example stagnant mindsets might believe that "It is God's will to die when you die, so we're not going to do anything". With this logic, all scientific effort that reduced many types of disease mortality 500 times would not have been done. This same stagnant logic, which is antiscience and anti "eternal education and learning", also denies that nutrition, tone create genetics and lifespan and makes parents less responsible for their nutritional, speech habits the decades before and during pregnancy, because "God will take care of everything" (like "government takes care of everything in communism"), leading to the genetic, IQ, lifespan decline of the civilization.☺ Short lives then lead to technological decline. The moral and motivation collapse coming from paying some 1000 more than others who help humanity more, have effects felt for centuries, and even more so when such 2-200 million salary individuals teach EVIL by living example, promote the human lower nature unconsciously or while role playing. Immortality Capitalism outlaws paying sports people more than scientists, since sports can only make us gain 10 years max and we can exercise building/cleaning/maintaining labs of science that add 10 million years, so we can't pay those contributing 1 million times more 10 or 100 times less. Likewise, strip clubs, casinos, brothels will pay minimum wage only, and later will disappear when all are taught via TV-radio the meditation can achieve happiness 100 to 1 million times higher without aging us like sex does. Seeing naked people is more of a chimp activity, in the future, we'll be genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortals and be able to take a million shapes and lifeform appearances, obsessing with naked stuff simply lowers citizens IQ to almost chimp level. Those involved in life sciences that triple lifespan, medical stuff, longevity tech, will get paid more than oil futures traders (one made 190 million a year recently), or any stock trader who today can make 1000 times more than life scientists; gambler societies don't live long, so lotteries, later even casinos, are abolished as it distracts people from focusing on what matters - Immortality for All , healthy long life for all, reemploy casino people in Immortality Techs Business Park. Focused work produces precise results, random gambling is wasting people's time. The new sports are building Immortality for All. The stagnation of communism is so ☺☺☺ present in regular (not immortalist) capitalism under forms of 'vampire' or 'free rider' behavior, such as everyone tries to become a lawyer, city official, stock trader, doctor, realtor (real estate agents 3 million in USA alone) and house flipper or whatever profession pays more? A country collapses if everyone if focusing on being a lawyer, realtor, other useless nontechnical positions that AI (artificial intelligence) can replace. Tons of people wasting 1 year to sell a house. Endless people waste time to get a real estate license they barely use. Vampiric activities of 'get rich quick' not only waste the lives of realtors, etc, but also of the people they keep hostage to 19th century methods. Just let people bid for it like the 4.5.2. "buy sell house in 3 days" shows. ☺☺☺

Perhaps God doesn't babysit everyone. Motivating people in non-monetary ways is not easy in practice, since people are motivated by physically consequential things, like increased lifespan of 150, 500 or even trillion in the far future. A Civilization of Immortals☺☺☺ creates the Immortality Credit Score, give those with higher score the ability to shape policy so as to maximize lifespan of all humans, perhaps more access to the latest tech on longevity from the top experts (needed in order to decide which technologies are to be mass deployed to increase everyone's lifespan), maybe the best doctors, if their salary is the same and everyone decides on non-monetary motivation. Hard to quantitate this tech availability without money, but doable thru Immortality Tech Credit Card, i.e. extra 'salary' can only be used to buy longevity tech increase lifespan to further Immortality Tech Perfection.☺☺ Calculating the credit is a daunting task that humanity could never do in any former century, since computers were weak. Only in the 21st century can we compute this credit and the price of goods based on their contribution to human lifespan using ultra complex models, 800,000 times more complex than anything a random market determines, where the gal who 'owns a 5 employee' company gives double salary to a guy so she can date him or other comical☺ 'fair capitalism' processes. For example a citizen shortens human lifespan by using bad tone and frowns at home, meaning he pollutes mass consciousness via his brainwaves, behavior. At work he's quiet, and others who're 20 times nicer at home are quiet too, so the credit would be able to account for that easily via many methods: 1. everyone agrees to video recording in public (this would be a must to eliminate some types of crime) or even at home (some won't like it, thinking privacy is their physical body, not mind or soul) and 2. measuring the brainwaves, frowns, smiles and/or sound patterns of voice at work (when saying a few words), which reveal how one has spoken at home (since it's impossible to smile, 100% fake tone from mean to nice without AI detecting the differences). When you frown, feel, speak with anger at home a lot, it can't be hidden from MRI and voice analysis tech at work; however that opens the question why tone is bad, so the AI can ask why the tone has issues to determine what's going on, to calculate whose credit is to be bumped and decreased; this may require invasion of 'privacy', but it would be the only way to determine it well, like if an AI measures tone at home and who starts yelling slightly, it determines the correct credit, without human spying on anyone. It would take centuries to get all these AI models really advanced, and truly 5,000 times more helpful in reducing discontent and promoting innovation than the imperfect system today; only those with high credit can be leaders, CEOs, even then their salary won't be much higher; we create a world of 'infinite' happiness for all, because longer lifespan means we can be happy in our own way (chess, tennis, meditation) for 9000 years... Thus all salaries are determined by the Immortality Government,☺☺☺ not companies, since 10 people companies can't override the calculation.

People choose where to work depending on what they want to do and if the company thinks person is a good person liking the people there based on all AI computations they may be able to run using the Central Immortality Database available to hiring managers (not to anyone), where nobody can see individual records, but only if a potential employee is likely to be unhappy or start arguing with others already there. The move to a job is not what determines the salary as much as it does today, though some jobs would be paid much more due to higher contribution to lifespan extension of course, higher stress (toll on body, so more money to☺☺ fix damage needed to achieve same lifespan), but the actual way of behaving overall in society, even outside of work, which is immediately seen at work via advanced AI analysis of voice, brainwave, feeling, behavior. Happy environment (maximum bliss at work) means the AI simulations of human smilingness, etc and how all personalities of 5 in a small business would get along, would enable employer to make much better decisions and avoid employees becoming unhappy and having to change jobs so fast. The perks of Immortality capitalism would include a far higher happiness for people at work, and at home, since that is reflected in salary brought home to brag to kids/spouse; people would have an incentive to actually be kind, eterni, nice and move away from cruelty. Slowly, over centuries, a heavenly world of peace emerges. The AI calculates the starting salary for any position a private company creates, depending on its contribution to immortality, education needed, stress level, work hours, and then the salary is adjusted at the end of the pay period, based on Immortality credit changes, higher or lower, depending if one's contribution to human lifespan was below or above average. The employer controls costs by deciding how the strategy, # of employees and expenses are different, since employers can't decide anyone's salary, only the Central Immortality AI can. The prices of goods need to be approved by the Central AI to match an acceptable range, based on longevity contribution factors, to avoid lifespan shortening prices. Thus, there is no discontent, as fairness reaches a level 10,000 times higher than in any history era. People can ask how the AI computed the salary too. Anyone who applies in person and is not working in a national security sensitive company, can get the starting salary by asking AI, before they even apply for a job; this way, the techs that increase lifespan can be hidden from hostile nations, by not revealing the high salaries of that industry since that reveals knowledge of longevity tech. Alternately, salaries can be lower and sensitive work employees can get non-monetary perks so enemies "don't know the AI calculations factors and use them to bring mayhem". Initially, people can do experiments in a small town, country to simulate the whole nation and optimize the system over a period of 10-20 years; the currency remains the same; the assets remain the same if no fines; the value of assets may change, due to different demand and market over time, since people value other things, that extend lifespan more as the culture of immortalism takes deeper roots.

This Immortality Credit Score promotes a world focused on longevity, instead of on making an extra $200-4000 on scarcity mentality (i.e. all we get from our effort is simply some useless paper money, instead of tripling human lifespan, something a billion times more valuable), wasting mental energy with flipping assets, useless trades that shorten or stagnate lifespan length or quality, wasting both individual and societal energy, overthinking about taxes, etc that condition people to be obsessed with money thinking, 'modern forms of looting, exploitation, theft' under the guise of business, selling toxic products to destroy millions (see), gambling being encouraging stealing one's own future and that of humanity, since it's ultimately self-sabotage, leading to no real gain for anyone. If instead of 2 million rules, we got even 100 only, that's big progress, even if not as easy as one flat rate of 15%. It's like the paper clip maximization AI meme, we built a system that destroys and shortens human life, like AI maximizes paper clips production and kills people to do so. The less people majoring in useless professions like accounting, tax prep, etc, the longer the lifespan, we can actually develop some real chemical instrumentation industry to be able to have proper food labels, etc. This means everyone will see 800 times higher longevity product density and quality. Every economic activity needs to produce total net gain of lifespan years for the highest amount of people: buying and selling a stock is a mixed thing, but it wastes nobody's time except yours, since you believe a company extends average human lifespan more so you invest in it; buying a house is a different matter. Properties sold a few years later on the market would be in a better condition than when bought due to housing.gov☺☺☺, or at least people lived there for many years. In theory, for large dubious stock events, the investor would have to explain his belief that coal company extends lifespan versus solar. If the stock markets even remain (not much logic to it anyway, if all employers are government and 11 companies) then, all stocks can have an Immortality Credit Score, the stock exchanges can allow only transactions that increase the total immortality score per $ of the stock portfolio, unless one is simply doing massive buying or selling upon entry of a stock market; upon exit of a stock market or massive sell, the sell can only proceed if the total /$ score is higher than before, so one has to plan accordingly, and place humanity's wellbeing above one's desire to 'get rich quick'. This encourages the promotion of lifespan extending economic entities, prioritizing lifespan years for all versus paper money for one individual at the expense of everyone living shorter. Parasites would lose. Wall Street money making life shrinking algorithms would be banned. Stock markets are genocidal tools created by out of touch gangsters to loot billions of people. On April 2nd 2025, Trump imposed big tariffs on 80 nations and then DOW lost 5000 out of 42000 points by April 7, then Trump canceled them on April 9 for 90 days except for 10% for all and 125% for China, so stocks went back to 40K. This method allows criminals who install puppet governments to create trillions in profits on many stock exchanges. Well, say 100 billion if a trillion is not happening due to people not moving stocks out due to daily changes. On April 11, China also raised tariffs to 125% for US goods, so more stock changes for more criminal profits. Why work if you can just make 0.2 trillion?

The over-emphasis on money as reward creates a lot of problems, as money can be used to shorten lifespan of billions and blow up planets. The money emphasis also can create 1 million restaurants that sell tasty food that customers want, yet doubles or increases significantly nobody's lifespan as out of 15 million restaurant employees in America for example, not even one of them is a scientist designing food that doubles human lifespan. 0 food companies have any R&D employee studying this, but the Civilization of Immortals can setup a Universal Immortality Inc, lasting 5 billion years, whose aim is to triple human lifespan in every age, century, millennia from the level it is at. With 20 million employees (all STEM majors, half of them PhD and postdocs doing RESEARCH), it creates molecular simulations, product formulas that the other 1 million restaurant outlets can add to their foods, in order to generate huge amounts of data (everyone is a citizen scientist and they can sign up to eat a certain formula for a while to generate clinical data), seeing which food formulas improve aging markers the most. Since food can triple lifespan, makes sense to regulate it stronger than anything, and have eterni foods replace agriculture, agriculture which is the random submission of human fate to the chaotic mix of poisons and nutrients in plants (they produce toxins to deter animals eating them, they don't optimize their chemical content to triple human lifespan; because we're so similar to animals, we often die when eating some plants or beans raw or cooked) and animals (43 food allergy deaths in Ontario alone in 15 years). We can travel 700 times faster (ISS) than nature (25 mph humans running), we can produce food that gives us 100 times longer lifespan than natural agricultural foods. Restaurant foods today are like chariots, eterni powders are like Tesla cars. Initially, due to technological hindrances, the industry would still use agriculture as sources of certain molecules for the 500 year lifespan formulas, but as science improves, the economics of mass producing them without agriculture (huge land areas and water wasted) will make agriculture obsolete. The government and 3 companies can make powders with phytonytrients from 2000 types of plants that would take someone 100 hours a week of shopping, since exotic items are only at some stores, to eat a tiny bit of, and mix it in the correct ratio, taking another 4 hours, imagine FOOD.GOV, with 5,000 types of powders to choose from (vs 20 choices per restaurant or so) that you dissolve in water and you get unoxidized super nutrition to live to 900, instead of Neolithic 'ethnic' cuisine from the stone age. This gives us huge space to give single family houses to all, as we demolish, repurpose all the useless stores, wineries, etc listed here that we can use for housing & food, most restaurants as we cook healthy @ home, to make space for decent housing + the 1 million Immortality labs☺☺☺, schools, centers, amazing & beautiful☺☺☺ free biomarkers monitoring stations and powder creation labs for living to a trillion. Youtube shows how a family produced 6000 lb of produce with a small 5000 ft^2 backyard. Why are these people so sick? They eat the worst junk food without polyphenols, vitamins, etc, how can they grow it, if aristocrats need wine to get drunk and start new wars under brain fog? Grow your own, until we have high tech eterni food for all. That way, all exercise, don't need 30000 gyms to make another 10 million live in terrible condos. And behond, the composted left over watermelon rinds, pepper core, cucumber peels etc make fertilizer, organic produce that these people can't even afford anyway. This offers all better sleep, nutrition, happy World Peace music, the gist of 100 year min lifespan for all Americans. As all live longer, this shifts the human quantum field and more can live to 140. Let the shimmering gentle flame of Immortality for All shine lovingly ever brighter, until all are housed and in World Peace. Let America awaken the Gentle Tender Angel within and vote for the Immortalist Party to bring real change, 0 violent crime in 15 years and ~~ Eternal Universal Peace ~~ in 3 months.

Every house can have an immortality lab instead of kitchen, so we get another 150 million mini labs. Sleep is very important for longevity, not just food. Alternatively, 10 mega food companies (or one company), with 0.1 million "lifespan tripling scientist" employees each, can produce these powder formulas, but they would need to be regulated by the government to make sure science is not faked. Isn't it odd how stone age the jobs of today's restaurants are, flipping burgers like chimps in the jungle playing with bananas, wasting so much human energy, when they could design high tech powders, if education was centralized and free including PhD, since theory exams can be taken online at education.gov, in all 3000 majors, and labs in person at the 1 million immortality RESEARCH centers, see centralized education. Today almost everyone repeats "satisfy customers" mantra (make foods look nicer or tastier, last longer, even if the ingredients, colors added shorten lifespan), increase GDP, and lifespan remains 80 while we eat mostly like 5 millennia ago and money is our God. One way to remove the issue of money focus is to create Immortality Capitalism. We can have 1 billion supercomputers calculating Immortality Credit Score (based on millions of models to avoid errors) based on tone of speech, actions, loving kindness in the gaze, contributions to lifespan extension of all human beings, and this credit score being how one receives salary, the higher the credit score, the higher the salary. ☺ This would remove the incentive to choose profession based on $ potential (although physics chemistry biology etc professions would have the highest potential for high salary as they can triple lifespan by one discovery) and let people do what they do best for maximizing Lifespan of maximum number of people. Sort of mixing capitalism with Maximum Lifespan, a more humane capitalism. ☺☺☺ This temporary Longevity-Immortality credit would only be a useful method (one of many) for primitive civilizations struggling to promote intelligence, happiness, 9,000 year Lives, ethics instead of greed or other less important things (tasty food, stylish cars, etc).

High tech futures when we can shapeshift, ☺☺☺ live 8,000+ years, materialize all needed from dirt via assemblers in living room, live on energy (not even needing assemblers to make food or any object as needed from protons and neutrons), no longer need shops, money or trade, or maybe some still may have $ to pay for blueprints of goods they print in the living room, depending on their technological, empathetic, telepathic, spiritual, ethical level. The implementation of this Immortality Capitalism would probably need to be done very gradually, over a period of 100 years or more, to ensure a proper development of algorithms of calculating Immortality Credit Score (how many lifespan years a person's action, tone of speech, words, movies, writing etc has added to the civilization's entire population, over the next 1,000 years) in all professions, etc. ☺☺☺ Maybe first give small monetary rewards to people with Immortality credit above a level, big to those with huge scores (few), and increase these payments from the universal Eterni Bank until they become 10%, 20%, 50% and 100% of anyone's income. Lending would be based on Immortality Credit Score too, not financial credit score only. In 2021, Canada had 81 banks, China 187, Japan 112, USA 4500 useless banks, in 1921 USA had 29000 when we could have just 1-4 providing better service, again, redundancy and having everyone major in "being a teller", accounting, HR, etc and sitting like a duck behind a window while we fall behind in science. We got 25 times more economics related majors and 25 times fewer physics-chemistry related majors than we need. Everything is upside down, due to greed. ☺☺☺☺☺☺

The epitome of egoism is having 4500 banks and 0 companies/agencies dedicated to World Peace in 3 months. Capitalism worships $, not life: bombing and killing are way more important than human lives. Immortality capitalism puts life first. Ending the killings is totally secondary to 90,000 other things. Why not have 1 bank, Eterni Bank, and 4500 huge Immortality Parks (with free biomarker measuring areas) of World Peace in 3 months and Immortality for All? For cashing checks, etc we got phone apps now, take a pic, we need fewer branches, banks anyway. Thus, the banking crises need be used (if they're not already) as a federal attempt to shut more banks, save USA from becoming a 3rd world country with many HR, banking majors, instead of science. The survival of humanity, and even of any nation (see challenges) depends on centralization, on fewer companies in every industry, uniformization of all laws, state rules, etc. It's a matter of life and death. We see how wasteful today is the decentralized banking system: with centralization each time you buy anything, you get emailed the receipt and it's saved also into your immortality.gov account, the one Immortality ID that links to all other accounts. Whenever you buy anything, you can only do that using your Universal Immortality card, which is linked to bank, drivers, etc. So, your receipts are electronically instantly posted after every purchase in the receipts (Saved for 5 centuries) section of your immortality ID account. You never need to reapply every year for insurance in your state or etc, since the gov knows your income, with one of the 11 companies, and everyone has the credit score and the universal insurance plan matching their score. Nowadays, ☺abysmal IQ☺ rules thanks to the palace dwelling genocidal aristocrats. Nowadays, retail clerks have to ask you "Do you want your receipt" or "Can I see your receipt as proof of purchase?". This isn't needed with immortalism, for all retail has access to any receipt in America, if you ever bought anything, it is there to issue instant refund, like at Home Depot where you return stuff without receipt, the refund to your One Universal Card (no need to ask, "is it the same card you bought it with?" Before you swipe it to get refund, since we ended hooligan blood sucking banks, lenders and created the Eterni Bank, the one and only Bank of We the People). This saves us time and a lot of trees destroyed to print receipts people trash usually, and receipts are a way to waste ink and transmit viruses too. Also, all your memberships for product delivery, gyms, etc are in one place and you can cancel them 1000 times faster from one dashboard with all utilities, and everything. All companies are linked to immortality.gov. The credit card being the only way to buy, cashless society, receipts are automatic. Naturally, in Immortality Capitalism, house flippers get lowest Immortality Credit Score, compared to someone discovering CRISPR, however, house flipping is impossible due to the way houses are sold via housing.gov. However, this chapter explains immortality capitalism, or immortalism or eternism for short, would make house flippers obsolete via housing.gov as centralized house selling removes the middle vampire men, predator realtors (who're possibly mostly FBI, CIA spies who defend their "intelligence" community interests: loot all, so the rich 1% can have a nice life, typical US style predatory "capitalism"), all the scammers, looters that sell 'how to get rich flipping houses' courses, that waste the time of people who could help discover a better eye drop instead in a tech job at an Immortality City Center, etc. In our current system though, the house flipper can make 40 times more than a Tesla, dying broke, after getting 700 patents and powering entire planet with devices in every building today and advancing every field and industry. In our system a lifespan shortening food flavor/color chemist, seeking $, gets paid more than a more ethical guy working to make a healthy powder or food that increases lifespan versus existing junk foods. Intelligence depends on lifespan. To promote an Intelligent Interstellar Civilization is to promote healthy Lifespan years. A 200 year Tesla discovers way more, advancing us more. In our world, someone who shortens lifespan of billions with leaded gasoline (same as killing 7 million) is a billionaire.

How do we eliminate the bribes (see video), corruption, stagnation, (sabotage by foreign spy controlled groups) of communism? The video shows issues with poor planning, first Soviet malls (USA got them around 1922), and the first attempt at centralized economy, all done ultra fast, with tons of incompetent 'revolutionaries', who killed the plant managers, people with know how, etc and became like peasants running the economy and factories. Everything was done by highly violent filif ☺wild dog IQ 'people' who killed whoever didn't preach atheism and Marxism, instead of gently, in eterni tone (not Lenin, Stalin yelling) explaining the way miracles are faked, religions are created and how one can be independent of wafers, clergy and develop a much more meaningful and transforming spirituality, since nobody can prove God doesn't exist, so forcing atheism is low IQ. Likewise, the economy was done in speed, iguana IQ with maximum violence against people who could have been very useful in designing an intelligent planned system that focused on peace and Immortality for All ☺☺☺, but these were violent people, Stalin killed lots of people, so they created an empire that didn't last, as no kindness existed at every step. A government needs to convey the infinite love for the people, that all is done out of love, to provide safe comfy transition, new jobs etc for those laid off, etc. If TV programs explain the scam of religious miracles brainwashing, they can inspire people to become free and develop personal spirituality and people no longer go to church rituals to wait in long queues for wafers like people did in Soviet malls initially, no longer visit buildings of God of their own free will since they can all get single family housing and make their body via health the temple of God and their house too, as they make youtubes to develop a 24-7 real not fake spirituality of eterni tone 24-7 not 5 min at church twice a year, without the need to persecute anyone like the crazy communists did, there are simply no more gullible people to brainwash by pastors as nobody shows up to the brainwashing. People need to recall the brutality of Inquisition killing people for not believing in the improbable fake miracles, dogmas, etc and of communists and not repeat the same insanity ever again in the name of 'workers' or 'ethics'. The communists, like the Catholic Church and allies and many other religions, exported millions of weapons to nations, which led to endless wars and dead among workers outside USSR, so it damaged the quantum field of humanity too☺☺☺☺☺☺☺, so we can't use force, we need let people understand the pros and cons of every ideology, model of government, spirituality, ethics. Certainly, today, we have centralized economies everywhere, the governments control via spies private enterprises and all is done very planned, even though there is some level of free market for small businesses: they hide that it's centrally planned to a great degree, so it will be easy to actually move to a truly efficient immortalist centralization that allows for theism and agnosticism, 1 billion times kinder, smarter than some forced attempts of 1920s-1950s peasants turned into PhDs and engineers overnight. Well, in 1978, China opened to Western companies, after Mao died in 76, and then got higher tech and GDP growth, getting better at centralization. A country's economy can be destroyed no matter how centralized or 'free market' (a lie, local spies control it) it is, if the enemies and their spies infiltrate it and try to destroy it. We need peace☺☺☺, fewer languages, centralization to eliminate redundant jobs and increase longevity, health RESEARCH staff 900 fold, or we can remain low IQ, easy to exterminate, or, if lucky to survive, to enslave and turn into short lived cattle (living 2, or even more later, times shorter) by countries that become way more efficient, yet are not embracing the Immortality for All ethics which recognizes there is infinite space and resources for all, and peace is the most valuable, worthy of being achieved in 5 months, if we want all humans to not die in 10 seconds at once.

4.5.1.1. The last 40 pages of 4.5.1. clarify Immortalism is NOT "Communism" (that killed up to 120 million), as Jewish (Marx, most early communist activists who carried, supported the USSR genocides were Jews) "communism" (fake communism, since a communist can't kill workers, let alone 120 million of them) was for Violence, Terror, Murder, War, Killing Millions for the most minor nonviolent "crimes" in accordance with the Jewish Bible tactics of Jewish communists:

Immortality capitalism and the Immortality Credit Score, around which everything revolves, is not communism (China torture/beatings version is in 11 pages or here), since that's tainted by the violent manifesto and genocides (corruption, USSR elites lived like aristocrats, first Jews (40% of some of the first political bodies in 1917-8, Jews killed gentile aristocrats to take their place as the new aristocrats), Lenin too, Stalin had 7 mansions, like Putin, see the 2 class society that ruled the theoretical "classless society" of unsafe cheap tech and endless torture), the Jewish communist promotion of 200 nations and 200 fake cultures (culture doesn't exist where violent crime/war exist, so promoting that is not logical, fair, kind, ethical, but genocidal) they could control and divide and conquer, the Lenin promotion of many languages/cultures, which is totally different than immortalism ideas of one language, one ~~ Eternal Universal Peace ~~ and Immortality for All culture for all humanity. Immortalism is the antithesis of Chinese fake communism of 58% of wealth owned by the top 0.01% families & covert war (TikTok) on non Chinese via vaping promotion, (+ often paying Chinese workers 2-7 times more in Africa, etc). Immortalism is vastly different from capitalism or communism, since money is totally secondary, the Ethics or Immortality Credit Score is EVERYTHING. As you well know from Warsaw pact nations and USSR, communism was anything BUT peaceful. It could not be peaceful, happy, since Jewish Marx and partially Jewish Lenin called for revolutionary terror, so everything was TERROR based. The Cheka, GPU, NKVD (3 precursors of KGB), KGB killed about 20 million USSR citizens. The Stalinist Mao caused endless deaths, estimated at up to 80 million. Lenin was mostly nonRussian (25% Jew maybe, 25% Swedish, 5% Russian, 45% Chuvash Tatar, Mordvin (crypto Jew?) or Kalmyk Mongol, as Wikipedia shows Lenin parents became aristocrats (not poor as Jews claimed in official biography), explaining why he was so spoiled and violent, willing to employ genocide, in his writings, especially killing endless Russians in cold blood. The Jews who ran the 1917 revolution hid that Lenin wasn't Russian, lied to the masses that Lenin was Russian-German: it was evident Lenin didn't want 1 language/1 state, but many states, as his loyalty was to his multi-ethnic identity and hate of Russia, he convinced Stalin to create USSR instead of implementing Stalin's idea of annexing Armenia, Azerbaijan, Georgia. Communism emerged fast due to the horrible conditions of eternal slavery of the working class in most nations, and then aristocrats and spy agencies they controlled tried to stir communism into aristocratism, hijacking it to accomplish efficient genocide, destroy rival empires, loot other nations and empires, etc:

Bakunin predicted Marxists would become more violent than the Tsarist regime and they did, because Marx advocated for violence, being ultra angry. Marxists killed 20 million in 40 years in Russia, more than all Tsars did in 900 years. The Chinese elites live in 1-2 floor villas with backyards in Beijing, while the enslaved 99% in 4-100 floor jails that destroy their ears, causing ear pain as elevator climbs 100 floors. Not only that, but tall towers in US cities are owned by China and they sit empty spying on USA. Check out Chinese Fujian tycoon Huang Zhiyuan (living in Indonesia mostly under a fake name of Teguh Widjaja) with 100+ staff huge palace in China, while 47 million Chinese are homeless, even if empty apartments exist for 1 billion, all built by the enslaved. Communism? ☺☺Not really, it's just feudalism packaged as communism to plunder the planet with "Confucian values & Institutes". Do you honestly believe these bandits care about nonChinese, when they don't give a dime about the Chinese they enslaved in China? ☺☺☺ The "communists" in China live in 10 acre estates at times, some sold for 15 million USD, which is huge in China. The Sheshan (Xi Mountain) region is home to Shanghai's forest resort with zoning laws for sprawling, low-density billionaire enclaves. The Shimao Manor is 130 acres, nearly 20 private ecological islands, only 72 estates for the 0.01% of China who own 58% of China's wealth. The Sheshan Golf Villas has a 30-acre estate with 250,000 ft^2 living space across a main house, dual guest houses, and a dedicated recreational building: 36 bedrooms, an indoor basketball court, a private casino, a bowling alley, and its own lake. The Sheshan Riviera at the mountain base caters to younger tech billionaires, more modern design, advanced air filtration systems to combat Shanghai smog. Buy Chinese products to Spread Feudalism Worldwide? Oh yes, check out the amazing quality of Chinese products that made these thieves billionaires.☺☺

Many youtubes try to justify the violent murder of 120 million people by communists with the cruelty of kings and aristocrats that also killed 1 billion before, as this video does explain the infinite cruelty of all kings and monarchies, who were essentially keeping the 99% as serfs or slaves, and useful cannon fodder for expanding the power of said genocidal psychopaths. It's human and tempting to then draw to the conclusion that the kings, etc deserved death penalty, together with others and then there are no infinite ways to the desired outcome, Immortality for All, justice, basic rights, etc that are not violent. But, a smart human, in tune with Intelligent Species or God, would have gone to the Tsars, etc and told them "Hey, if we make everyone super smart, they will be a genius helping you live to 1 trillion by science and everyone else, we just focus on that "bodies must become immortal" Christian quote, and we implement a Universal Immortality for All civilization, transitioning slowly from this stupid Christianity to immortalism. This is a win-win, we promote intelligent innovation, discovery, tech and universal employment of all via 11 companies and equal pay via Immortality Credit Score, without any torture, beating or violence. The King is the Immortalist Anthem and the Council of Eternia, the gathering of 100000 scientists, geeks, engineers… We know God or any intelligent humans living to a billion, our descendants, have figured out trillions of peaceful ways to bring about any revolution, so we begin…" Using high IQ a group of well meaning people could have done it, but the foreign spies inciting Tsarist spy agency to power trips won. The video indicates how easily a group of 100 people, "People's Will" could try to kill the Tsar 4 times, to finally succeed on 3-13-1881. This could not have happened without the full cooperation of the Okhrana, the Tsarist secret police (10% of the Imperial Police), or the Imperial Police or other branches of the military-industrial complex, who realized that monarchies are not the best idea for creating a strong industrialized superpower, and decided to create a revolution and get the power themselves, instead of the Tsar, whom they viewed as a diabolical pathological liar pretending to be Christian to dupe the masses into ritualistic obedient slavery, as every other demonic aristocrat of history (most monarchs playing same evil game of religion to imbecilize its enslaved subjects). Okhrana and the military-spy intelligentsia realized that the traditionalists within Russia were keeping Russia agrarian, backwards and decided to simply wipe out the religionists within the Army and Okhrana in the civil war. So, to prevent any real revolution that surprises the Okhrana, radical elements of the Okhrana, etc started to infiltrate, coordinate revolutionary movements, sending Lenin and others to the West, and if you analyze the events, the fake 1917 revolution clicked all too conveniently, with minimal bloodshed, indicating the higher echelons of Okhrana, precursor of NKVD, KGB were all in with the plan to eliminate the monarchy, religion and use the scam of worker rights to expand Imperial Influence of Russia worldwide. Okhrana was tasked with protecting the Tsar, but many agents, like rich fmaily kid Georgy Sudeykin, sided with the revolutionaries, covertly using Okhrana funds to publish literature of the People's Will group that killed the Tsar in 1881 after 3 failed attempts. The reason for this betrayal is that the regular or aristocrat family Okhrana agents realized they were cannon fodder used by the Tsar and richer aristocrats to maintain their imperial lifestyle, while they barely received funds to defend Russia's interests. It was not a revolution, but the radical takeover of power by some of the most bloodthirsty and violent elements of the Tsarist regime and foreign spies that infiltrated the Okhrana. The Okhrana hijacked the Global Workers Movements and turned it into a Russian Imperialist Project of Mass Slaughter of Minorities and others that stayed in the way of Global Power: USSR Kazakhstan 82% Kazakh initially, then only 30%, to wipe Islam off the map (another Okhrana goal). Okhrana got infiltrated by foreign spies who had their dream come true: mass slaughter of 115 million Slavs and Asiatics, as obvious from Marx's racist quotes shown below, the 120 million Holocaust by Jews and others financial supporters of the fake 1917 revolution is not allowed to be discussed as such as it reveals the scam of most leftist movements worldwide: they're a cover for eternal slavery, controlled opposition puppets of the far right in various nations. Brits, Germans, etc thought Slavs, Asians, etc are inferior, so the communist manifesto was written in typical Brit parliament genocidal violent style to deal a fatal blow to 2 competing monarchies: Russia and China, wipe out rivals by fake workers revolutions. The 1917 revolution was fake, like the 1776 USA one, made by George Washington British General aristocrat, in order to prevent any real rebellion of the colony of slaves. Americans were duped. Same Brits were in power, they brought endless slaves to work for Aristocrats from Europe, Asia, Africa, etc… It's called controlled opposition, you control the opposing party, like Democrats in USA, to pretend real choice or democracy exists, as with our fake Supreme Courts, Elections, etc. In this context, spy agencies and militaries stage revolutions that are fake 50-100% to go with the regional or global flow, as with 1945 move to Soviet style communism or 1989 move away from communism, etc, to prevent a real revolution coming from outside the country: they kill the "puppet they control, the dictator or Tsar" and blame all issues on him… But the same murderers are in charge, ruling from behind the scenes: this way, the real criminals escape the hate of the masses, they kill a scapegoat or a few more puppets, to escape any real justice for their atrocities and torture acts. The genocidal typical Okhrana men could only create a bloodthirsty regime, who led to 120 million dead, in typical Okhrana style that killed 1.5 million Circassians in the 19th century, every citizen of a country, to simply steal their land. The efficient slaughter of Siberia Gulag was a continuation of Siberian detention of Tsarist times and 1000 years of genocidal wars of extermination. Naturally, foreign spies also helped elements of Okhrana and Jews got a lot of power, much greater than before (they financed Okhrana anti-Tsarists forces), the Lenin guy got as much space in Kremlin as 500 workers had in the communes, with Okhrana agents becoming the New Elites and Tsars essentially, the new aristocrats. A nice monkey became the humans, so then, that monkey no longer ate the babies of neighbors. A nice human may become a new species, that realizes the trillion ways to peace without violence, leaving humans as savage chimps in a zoo, while going in another dimension or galaxy living to a trillion… Today though, the spy agencies, full of blood they drink daily, choose bloodshed forever… so any real change seems to recreate the same genocidal militaristic violence of the past chimp mind. ☺☺☺

Lenin was a spy, recruited by foreign spy agencies to screw the Russian Empire due to his hate of Russians. Jews were restricted to the Pale of Settlement (Ukraine-Belarus) in the Russian Empire and their revenge was done via Stalin the Georgian, Lenin the non-Russian, with the extermination of millions of Russians, etc. US, UK, France, Germany, Japan, Sweden & Jews (Wall St. Jew Jacob Schiff financed Japan 1905 victory against Russia, as he helped Jews take over Russia in 1917) there all poured money into the civil war to try weaken, destroy the Russian empire, give Russian Jews huge power. The Western AristocRats needed to turn the (naive useful idiot) masses against the monarchy (Tsars and Qing) to steal max wealth, plunder spheres of influence, so a leftist movement was ideal, so they invented communism to create civil wars in Russia, China, etc, not because they wanted any communism, since the West was feudal empires. You know, the Rich didn't care at all about the Americans who were poor and whites even, let alone care about people of other nations used as cannon fodder to disintegrate rival empires. It was all a scam, that ultimately failed to fully disintegrate China and Russia, a waste of 100 years and 140 million dead later. China is now an empire again. 58% of wealth in hands of top 0.01%. It's how they fund both sides of a conflict (say Russia aids Iran, West aids Iraq), or the left and the right within a nation to create endless guerrilla war (Latin America, etc) and civil chaos (USA, 2 parties) in many nations, due to a belief war/chaos works for looting the working class of 200 nations and Immortality for All doesn't. To hide Western involvement, they criticize "communism" (fake one, pure feudalism in China for example), they created, as they criticize radical Islamist regimes, etc groups they create thru other covert means of inciting the "big China, Russia, etc enemy to support the left of small nations" or covert alliances with "supposed enemies", in order to justify the war. War is profitable, it keeps Latinos as savages, allows subjugating all nations, enslaving all planet. The hyenas talk war 24-7 forever… for 1000 years in Britain alone... Never about trillion year lifespans for all, only fraud to perpetuate eternal genocidal war on non-Brits and other 'inferior' races like "East Europe, Slavs, Arabs, South Europe, Asians, Blacks, All Indigenous Groups, Latinos". Jews, being the ultimate racists, like Brits, were and remain a perfect tool at times for destroying various nations UK, etc wanted wiped off the map, so they were used to destroy the Russian Empire, not to aid any subhuman inferior slav become free from Russian aristocrats or Tsar, only to become useful cannon fodder and slaves of the UK, etc aristocrat. Same for 1989, the revolutions were not to liberate anyone, only to increase aristocrat wealth, as in 1917 and Chinese civil war. Armenia, Azerbaijan were part of Russian Empire, then became "independent Republics" as Lenin German-Jew spy disintegrated the Russian Empire with UK US France Jewish help, that split in 1991 from Russia.

Jews had few rights in 1916 in Russia for obvious reasons (demonic attachment to the most evil text ever published on Earth, the Bible Old Testament), the bad type of Jew (religious overtly or covertly) wanted to rule almost every gentile nation they settled in given their religious belief of being the Chosen Rulers of humans (host nation becomes slaves L25:44 whom he E:21:20 beats, mass executes (see ref.), and mass rapes (see ref.) via actual rape (Lev. S the Jewish serial killer and rapist, promoted by genocidal killer Beria, possibly a Jew himself posing as Georgian, like Stalin claimed to be Georgian, though Beria could have been Circassian who wanted revenge by killing many Russians, etc, the ethnic group that Russians exterminated 99.9% of in the 1.5 million genocide inspired by the Russian State Jewish religion of Christianity, i.e. genocide of all per Old Testament rules, so Jews were treated like evil folks due to spreading the Bible themselves and creating Christian states, all Russian, Christian genocides being a product of Jewish ethics, all 500 since 850 AD when Russia was founded: Jews created their own oppressors, teaching the whole world how to genocide anyone D7:16 you feel like) and depraved culture the bad type of Jew imposes to erase native culture, burns to the ground (see ref.), host being a 2nd class citizen in their own country, subhumans of sorts, mere animals to be exterminated even "if God gave Jews that host nation": D7:16, so millions of USSR gentiles were killed to give Jews 800 times bigger power, see Jewish Einstein's dislike of Asians which explains the slaughter of 100 million Asiatics by Jewish communism, see USA Today), so 1917 was the Jew "emancipation by gentile genocide after Jews took power", in 1930s at 1% of USSR population were 16% of physicians, 10% of writers, journalists, 11% of artists. Kaganovich Jew KILLED 5 million Ukrainians, lived to 97☺☺☺, as USSR hero. All can understand that the Immortalist Anthem is 10^{80000} times kinder than the demonic Jewish Bible, if intelligent Jews can just think and realize the evil of Old Testament, Talmud, Synagogues that make all Jews look like genocidal rapist killers, etc, they will embrace the Immortalist Anthem or at least more decent (than the Bible Genocide Manual) scriptures like Tao Te Ching, Buddha's, etc. Jews don't abide by any political party or ideology, they infiltrate all to aid Jews, be them left, center, right.

Communism was created by the West, manifesto written in London. It wasn't about worker's rights, which didn't exist in the West, but about destroying 2 rivals (China, Russia empires) of the Western aristocrats via fomenting civil/endless war in China, Russia. It was allegedly found in German archives (US trying to blame Germany for Lenin taking power exclusively by doctoring the archives or making it sound Germany was the sole nation involved?) captured in 1945 that the Germans financed the 1917 revolution with 5 million marks at least and safely moved Lenin, with German soldiers, out of a Swiss town thru Germany into Russia, to gain power and quit the war that Germany was losing with Russia. The noncommunist Russian gov of 1917 (who got support from US Jew Jacob Schiff, as he hated the Russian Monarchy and aided Japan with loans against Russia in 1904) said in July they found the Danish trading company, Swedish bank (both run by Jews) involved in financing the Jewish communists and the Russian Jewish fraud involved with Danish and Swedish Jews and merchant who became rich in Turkey by trading arms and spreading death, Israel Lazarevich Gelfand who also used a fake name of "Alexander Israel Helphand" to appear more Russian or even Alexander Parvus). Israel Lazarevich proposed to Germans the scheme that matched German desire then, to "start an armed rebellion in Russia, install communists (Jews) that make peace", again in his plan to increase Jewish power in Russia 100 fold, which succeeded for a while after 1917. The communist writers of 1840s, like the 1848 Freemason revolutions of Europe, and all communist ideas from 1850-1917 were all financed by Western powers, Western workers, Freemason Jews, each with diametrically opposite goals: some wanted real reform, others civil war and conquest of Russia, etc. Communism was a trick to strip Russians of power in their own country and make Jews the Lords of the Russian Empire, which didn't work out as well as planned, that's why most communists were Jews. This sabotage by international Jewry in 50 nations to aid Jewish conquest of Russian Empire via USSR, was also aided by Russia's rivals other than Germany (US, UK, France, Japan who wanted civil war to weaken Russia), in reply to Russian expansionism based on genocides, etc. Reality is far less rosy and idealistic than we sometimes imagine by reading some doctored history version. The German Empire/Jews financed the Bolsheviks so Russia quits WW1 and Germany/Jews win. Lenin was too low in IQ to realize his tribal chimp mind shifted us towards the 10 second end. Real communism has nothing to do with 100 cultures/languages Lenin promoted. Lenin was too low in IQ to realize he was a Nazi, or 100% spy, because a leftist sees all humans as 1, 1 language, culture as vital. Lenin's ego was too big to realize all people are 8 hr lived bacteria living 88,000 times less than our grandkids (humans live to 80 years, or 88,000 times longer than 8 hr lived bacteria) and that the human bacteria language, IQ and 'culture' we have is pure trash☺☺☺ (culture means nonkilling, nontorture, so humans have no culture), the same genocidal Jewish trash, etc financing as war as the only way to bring World Peace, when we know there are trillions of nonviolent ways to bring peace, not via war Jews financed, like the Jewish Rothschild Bank financed both sides of European conflicts. Money was made via GENOCIDE by Jewish bankers: the Chosen Bacteria?

It seems some religious Jews, Muslims, etc didn't realize the evil of Talmud, Quran, Bible… Their behavior was like that of other bacteria: wage war, kill, etc, and then claim they were chosen… Why can't all humans be honest about their 'bacteria status' and work for Immortality for All as in the Immortalist Anthem, i.e. to love, heal, nurture, help the worst human being a trillion times more than the most loving mom loved her suckling infant baby?? Why can't all humans, these insignificant bacteria living on a grain of sand, Earth, come down from their imperial cosmic egos and admit that their "truth" they want to kill or torture others for, is false, since a bacterium can't understand the complexity of the world like a human can via trillions of books? When humans have the honesty and IQ 70+ (mental retardation can still comprehend this) understand that all that they cherish or believe in will be proven a million times more "stupid", simplistic, incomplete, or totally false, then humans are no longer willing to kill, torture fellow bacteria (humans) to impose a point of view that will become totally or partially false in a few millennia. Why can't we humans admit we're as smart as bacteria are vs humans, with respect to our descendants who live to 7 million years old? When all realize how incomplete and pathetic our understanding is, everyone agrees genocides and wars, killing, violence make no sense in any context and that the Bible, Quran, Gita, Confucius, Lao Tze, etc are wrong. We need to grow up a little as bacteria, focus on giving all trillion year lifespan instead of on bacterial scriptures, we need to step back from the human frame of reference…☺☺☺☺☺ and give up the pathological identification with psychotic hyper violent religions or ideologies, like the genocidal Marxism-Leninism calling for genocides to achieve what? Equal pay and bacteria level lifespan length at 80? Kill 120 million for that? Sounds a little crazy. We can achieve 7 million lifespan and equal pay, without any violence if we have IQ. Equal pay makes sense if there is equal stress and hours of work, etc… equality is more than pay. We're all bacteria, that live 88000 times shorter than real humans living to 7 million. Get real. Be honest. Smile and don't feel guilt or pressure to wear religious symbols, Kippah, veils, amulets, crosses, bangles and religious objects, because they don't change the fact you're a bacterium and a metal piece, a veil, a Kippah only identifies you with the most destructive genocidal scriptures and chains you ever deeper into the zero IQ evil energy that created communism genocides. Be free. Give up "idiocy", meaning all existing religions, and walk in joy towards the Discovery of Truth, which is infinite kindness, no killing, no torture of any human being and the hypothesis formulation and testing to extend lifespan.☺☺☺

Immortalism is NOT Genocidal Torah/Bible based Jewish (and West financed) Communism that led to up to 120 million (estimate, could be half) dead as a result of the London written Communist Manifesto calling for violence that decimated UK competitor empires mostly, 85% of dead being the former Russian and Chinese Empire citizens. Lenin and early Jewish communists promoted nude sex parties with dozens of guys having sex with dozens of ladies, orgies, the epitome of depravity and the common ownership of ladies 16-25, so any guy can have sex with her by simply asking: women were reduced to animals to be raped in 1918 (a guy can rape 10 girls 16-20). In the Torah mass rape quotes, we see the Jews have the right to rape all gentile women and this was slowly being implemented as law, with Jews being the communists. On Feb 28th 1918, in Saratov, all females 17-32 were public property (unless they had 5 kids) to be raped by all Jewish communists as they pleased, so a Jew could rape 100000 gentile ladies is he could. No consent needed, gentiles had no rights, Jewish Depravity ruled. These Jewish devils promoted gay sex (1917), animalism, the regress of human civilization by sex outside of procreation, naked ladies on streets wearing only a banner "Down with same" and the rape of all ladies 16 to 25 who were supposed to accept being raped by any guy: girls could not say no, the complete destruction of Russia by Jews was underway, like they did in USA since 1960, then Stalin (who attended Christian seminary) came as ruler in 1924 and the Lenin and Jewish Mass rape Torah Religion (disguised as Communism) and depravity came to an end by 1929: Lenin was the fraud who promoted 200 languages and cultures too, which makes peace impossible. The Jews, happy to rape 12-13 year old girls, mandated sex education begin at age 12, but then Stalin ended all sex education. The 'superior' communist was to become an animal of chimp IQ whose main obsession is sex. In 1920s, they banned permanent relationships and prioritized living like animals together (30-400 people, noise, nobody can sleep or study well, creating a society of ultra low IQ) with zero responsibility for the kids sent to orphanages after endless sex. This led to a society of chimp IQ losers, easy to be destroyed by Germany in 1941 invasion, as those orphans developed low IQ. The idea of communes is insane: the parents share the same

DNA and can understand the kid very well, a nurse can't do that and may even hate a kid who is unlike her appearance or DNA caused personality. Everyone needs good sleep, silence, etc. In a family, the same parent watches the same kid for years and knows the kid intimately and can help him 9000 times better than a nurse who hates his appearance or personality and interacted with him 9000 times less. To fix a rocket, you need to know its 9000 parts well, you don't fix/help/nurture a child by not knowing him, or ask a peasant to fix SpaceX rockets. To maintain a rocket, you're a specialist in that type of rocket, for example, a Falcon 33 rocket is not an Amazon Blue 45 rocket, and you don't just swap engineers, like a Toyota mechanic won't fix a Ford. The same holds for people, we may look the same, but are SO different. Each kid will specialize in one area of molecular chemistry to create new eterni foods for example and parents are the main educators, using online tools and resources of the 20 quadrillion courses of the New Centralized Planet Wide educational system (theory, the rest is local labs, 25 million worldwide) that becomes the standard of the 1 planet, 1 language, 1 bank, 11 companies for all humans. Best maintenance, construction (child development), is done by someone with 9000 times more knowledge about that specific rocket, car or child. Hence immortalists are the antithesis of communism: we're for 222 weeks off (so no need of day care) and sex for pro-creation only, it's OK to have kids from 2-3 marriages if one marriage fails, but not to have strangers take care of endless kids as with the commune model or even mass daycare model. Stalin saw thru the scam and banned all communes Jews created. This was the Gift Britain, US, Japan, Germany, Jews, who financed the Revolution, wanted to Give Russia: total disappearance and extermination under the guise of "workers' revolution". Just like today Jews do to USA: make everyone low IQ and cut their penises. Since 1960, the Jews infiltrated the Democrats and promoted the same destruction of USA: alcohol, drugs, sex with all, sex education, sex in movies, sex everywhere, the most retarded religion (Jewish Christianity, a fake one based on Torah values) promoted by Jews infiltrating Republicans, whereas World Peace in 3 months and nutrition, living to 3200 via nutrition (like honey bees live 40x longer via a different diet), etc science took a second place: the Jews turned everyone into a low IQ ignorant Bible lover who doesn't know the evil Bible quotes, or into a rapist almost, every girl and guy now became a depraved retard who had sex with one and all, USA started to decline and became the laughing stock of the world in 2025, with China GDP rising 9 times faster than USA since 1989. All we see on TV in 2025 is filif cow IQ ladies full of makeup and hair dye, shouting like Hitler quite often without any decent tone, telling us lies about sex outside of procreation education, why all should love Jesus who said in Mat 5:17-9 that the "genocide, mass rape, human sacrifice, arson, alcohol, kid beating, slave beating" quotes of the Bible remain valid forever. These rats only chase the 0.4-100 million salaries they get for spewing garbage on TV in their "shows". The end of the family was praised and in 1924 half the kids were orphans, as everyone had sex with everyone. This insanity was later stopped by Stalin who realized the Jewish Agenda, and forbid abortion, condoms and homosexuality. However, the KGB and predecessors were raping female recruits routinely, since they were/are violent animals, as they rape Ukraine. KGB is so low in IQ they can't realize there are a trillion ways to peace without violence, rape, etc. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Was communism merely invented to exterminate Asians and Slavs, the 95% of victims, under the cover of "more fairness"?? This section will help you decide for yourself. Nothing is what it seems. Immortalism is immortalist Capitalism of an angelic type, based on the Immortalist Anthem, that has 0 violent quotes, versus Bible-Quran with 2000 violent quotes or Communist Manifesto and Karl Marx 30 quotes calling for violence/terror. Immortalists are vastly different than communists who often did things to inflict maximum pain, suffering, death, terror on other humans, out of psychopathic devotion to the Marx ideas of revolutionary terror. Immortalists believe, unlike Jewish communists and Moses and other Bible "prophets" psychopaths and their Terror Genocide Rape filled Bible, that any change we do to achieve ~~Eternal Universal Peace~~ in 3 months, 0 violent crime in 5 years can be done in a trillion ways that use no pain, no torture, no terror, no violence. So, immortalists live in the 21st century, whereas communists in the 1st century terror mindset. Communism was the Imperial (Brit, German, etc Empire, etc) creation of controlled opposition, like Democrats (same as the East Communist Bloc) are the puppets of the Republicans (The West), to eliminate competing empires (Russian, Chinese). The conflict of Cold War achieved wealth for the Western Elites, the Aristocrats, like in the USA the Republican-Democrat conflict achieves the same: Democrats being mere puppets (controlled opposition) to prevent real fairness that removes the palaces of the aristocrats. The German and British Empires, among other big powers, gave tons of money to Lenin and other communists in order to weaken their enemies, the Russian and Chinese Empires. It was not about the people, but about aristocrat power games, but the lower level communists never had a clue.

The extreme violence of the communists is described in this 94 min video, depicting the hypocrisy of Lenin who promised the power of the people via the Soviets and then used the army to eliminate the other parties that were promised fair participation. Workers' rights were abused by the new elites, who simply followed the Marxist revolutionary terror ideas. We need to understand that the fairness for all revolution could have created peaceful spies infiltrating the government and gradually provide more rights to workers and diminish inequality, but foreign Brits, French, German, Japanese, US Empires didn't really want any semblance of socialism in there, so they also needed as much chaos as possible in Russia to weaken or split it. You see today the ultra corrupt Democrats are hard to infiltrate, as the whole 2 party system is run by aristocrats. This blatant lie of Lenin and betrayal of people first, or lack of communication skills that they wanted a centralized one party state of the people from the get go caused millions of needless deaths. Unlike the communists, the immortalists want to create a 0 parties New Constitution to unify USA, increase efficiency and end parasitism and end fights among workers aristocrats start between "democrat/republican, atheist/theist, black/white, abortion/chastity, etc. The aristocratic class has a clear strategy: endless wars among worker groups, so they fight each other, not the aristocratic oppressors. If immortalists win 70% of vote or convince Democrats to change the constitution, they can end political parties. Fanny Kaplan, a Jewish lady, shot Lenin on Aug 30 1918 because her SR Party got sidelined by the Bolsheviks in 1918 during the first Revolution Congress using the Kronstadt sailors near St Petersburg, sailors who later, in 1921, turned against Lenin. The SR joined the Whites against the Red Army, and Whites got support from UK, USA, Japan, France, Germany, etc. Lenin survived for 6 years the gun attack and started a series of purges that eventually killed 20 million people by 1953. Little did that Jewish lady know her attempted murder would cause millions more dead. With each anti-Lenin and later anti-Stalin event, the secret police became more paranoid and it had a snowballing effect. Obviously, foreign spies may have paid her, in order to destroy the revolution against the aristocratic terrorists, to create more chaos. We witness liars, promising multi party system, then using killings to install a one party system and causing 20 million dead due to the betrayal of the populace that expected democracy. A revolution is real when nobody dies, nobody is tortured and people understand from the get go what they're getting into: a fair system of temporary rule of the party that wins most votes, and then the creation of a political parties free state, with proper tests for knowledge, with no new aristocrats from the political class, like in communist times or in the USA one party system (Dem/Rep are the aristocratic party). Evolution is peaceful, so all people need to realize foreign enemies want violent revolutions, while friends of the human quantum field want peaceful evolution from aristocratic terror to real fairness and 0 crime via fewer companies, maybe 11 instead of the 1 billion today. Short people, like 5'3" in a country where people can be 6'5" even like Russia, tend to compensate for their short height by being more macho, since people take them less seriously. Additionally, short males beaten by their sometimes alcoholic fathers, like Hitler, Stalin, Mao tend to fear people taller than them more and as such will tend to have greater fear based response and killing activities in similar circumstances than tall people who don't have an irrational subconscious fear of medium height or tall people, like dad is to a kid and then all adults. It's odd how the Jews and Germans disguised as Jews, Russians around Lenin appointed Stalin 5'3" as the leader, (after Jewish Kaplan killed Lenin almost, and then he died 6 years later) to commit 20 million deaths, in order to make his susceptibility to KILLING AGGRESSION suggestions via people around him much higher, it's effortless when you choose a messed up short Stalin guy (beaten by his alcoholic father) to manipulate him to kill millions of people, via augmenting his fears (via spies, wives, etc) of being beaten or killed again. This is a sadistic classic Jewish (or any great empire) technique: choose the most messed up person you can find and make him the Gentile Leader Jews control from behind to destroy that nation 100%. If Jews can't find that person, Jews create it by endless torture and messing a gentile up. For example, Jews, used their puppet Georgian Stalin to commit genocide against gentiles on a cosmic scale in the USSR and the former Warsaw pact. This shouldn't come as a surprise, given the call to exterminate 8 billion humans in the Jewish Bible and the infiltration of the USSR structure by Western spies disguised as Russians and Jews. The chief of Cheka, the FBI-CIA of communists in 1920, was one time a 5'0" ultra cruel Nicolai Yov who killed everyone with ruthless psychopathy between 1936 and 1938. Stalin trusted shorter people, as he was short too. This further amplified the killing wave. Taller people kill fewer people in the same circumstances as they're not run by primate animal fears of "big tall people or chimps", genetic software programs as old as 3 billion years. Generally speaking, you need to read all the Bible quotes and watch the Gaza genocide youtubes to understand USSR Jews and their use as front persons by clever Russians and foreign spies (Ukrainians, Poles, Germans) to hide and obfuscate who really was in charge of the genocides of the non-Russians in the Warsaw pact, which enabled the complete destruction of the soviet industry, by the destruction of intelligent people. It's not clear what % of the USSR sabotage was German, Polish, Ukrainian, Jewish, British, USA, Russian, Swedish, Finish, Mongol, Romanian, Georgian, Kazakh, all 500 ethnic groups whom the Russians fought since 950 AD. Don't choose people much shorter than average as rulers, unless you want violence on a cosmic scale. In this day and age, when animal programs run everything in our minds, it is still dangerous. Look at the world, how animalism runs every movie and music, and you will get it.

Kindly watch the Moscow poverty in 1930s, with cold weather 9 months of the year and no motivation to build houses in cold weather when you can be killed and tortured to death by Jews in KGB at any moment, to understand what happens when genocidal short Jewish, Georgian and Russian serial genocidal killers run USSR. What did Stalin do when population grew? No houses built and Stalin starts executing engineers, scientists, economists, etc people whom he accused of sabotage, and whom Jews and others wanted killed. Note that the media said Stalin did it all, but Stalin got his information and ideas from people close to him (possibly even girlfriends, wives), who were spies and ultra careful to not be seen as around Stalin much in any media or document. Watch these fake Jewish trials and you recognize the US Jews and British method in the Arab world, where Arabs are accused of terror done by terror groups created by Mossad, CIA, MI6. The same exact method was used by communist Jews, anti-communist Russians and non-Russian spies disguised as locals to accuse random people who had any intelligence of sabotage, in order to destroy USSR from within, by killing all intelligent people, the same thing happened in every Warsaw pact nation, systematic genocide by these infiltrators. Jews were 13.3% of Soviet students, yet 1% of population, 16% of physicians, 10% of writers, journalists, 11% of artists etc, and they knew the 900 years of wars between Russians and the other 500 ethnic groups (some of whom Russians exterminated without a trace during Imperial times) and could use divide and conquer methods, to wipe out anyone with brains among any ethnic group. Not only that, but Jews were placed in the pale of settlement by the Russian empire and had a Bible style hate of Russians because of Russians placing the "chosen genocide people" into an area of the Russian empire. As a result, when Jews got the Bolshevik power they acted out their revenge by killing Russians and ethnic gentiles they had formerly a big beef with, in any province they ended up in. The best way to kill Russians was to place a non-Russian at the top, Stalin, a short one with beating father ideally, which hides the Jews controlling him, and enacts a huge Holocaust against Russians. Russians also wanted a non-Russian at the top, so all atrocities and genocides Russians wanted done, would be blamed on Georgia ethnic violence. This doesn't mean socialism doesn't work, it's just in USSR it was a total mess due to the atrocities done by all fighting groups in the area. We can't look at USSR and say socialism is bad. Real socialism never existed, due to the enormous amount of spies from capitalist neighbors that did every sabotage known to man. Socialism and communism were hijacked by the violent Jewish Karl Marx and Marx promoted revolutionary terror, torture and violence on cosmic scale. Each time something is popular, Jews flock there and corrupt it with the Infernal Violent Torah Vibe. Terror, as in USSR and China, led to all being dishonest (out of fear of being beaten to death next morning by psycho bosses), reporting high numbers for grain or other production, and the system collapsing, mass starvation, when they found out the actual production was way lower. In China, the 2025 central government is allowing local gov to fake everything to pass inspections, wasting resources and damaging the environment with fake green paint to fake grass, etc. That's why immortalists want to centralize everything, since state, city gov make absolutely abysmal IQ decisions in China, USA and all nations, same for police. We need one police, one government for all USA. 0 mayors, 0 governors, one state, USA. If freedom of speech is removed, people become dishonest and this will ruin scientific progress and the ability to find issues that exist decades/months before they emerge. Nations without freedom of speech, of criticism of anyone and everything, via reviews.gov or other ways, anonymous or public, will eventually collapse and decline. A trillion CCTV cameras tell only 1% of the things going on, you need people's input too. Expressing one's opinion shouldn't be a reason for torture, nor should any action be a reason for torture. People will revenge if people terrorize them, as the Tsarist police used to terrorize, or the KGB, Chinese Red Guards, etc. People will learn to be dishonest, become spies, say 10 not 20, leading to power plant explosions, or outright sabotage. Torture, terror, violence lead to national collapse, so all nations need to Ban Violent Scriptures, by creating consent in the masses to do so, after convincing them they're pure evil and directly responsible for all violence in the nation. The nation can replace the Bible-Quran-Torah-Mahabharata terror with logic, happiness education☺☺☺, 9h/day TV examples of gentle tender soft nurturing healing compassionate serene loving kindness. Critical thinking on TV means explaining why Bible miracles were all a fraud, as 900 books show. China will collapse if they don't stop torturing their own citizens, like USSR collapsed. Same for Israel or any nation.

Thus, when establishing anything, even Immortalism, worldwide, you need to recall that Orthodox Religious Jews will pretend to be Atheist/immortalist to Infiltrate and Destroy/Control from Within, as with US Orthodox Rabbis posing as Atheist Democrats and Health Policy doctors, people, experts to circumcise American males. They take over the newly flourishing country and turn it into a Babylon of 900 languages (like California, Washington DC, every phone prompt has 2-5 languages now, etc) of Jewish Torah Violence. However, some Jews hate the Torah and all violence, but you need to discern who fake this "hate", which Jews are really peaceful by very advanced tests. USA is turned by Democrat and Republican Jews into a similar failed USSR, with 500 cultures, languages and violence unmatched worldwide. Immortalists want 1 culture: 1 language, we all choose or create, for the benefit of the global universal English (or whatever language all nations choose one day) speaking working class, not 500 cultures Jews use to create eternal divide and conquer conflicts, 500 languages phone prompts. Socialism and communism as such as older than 5000 years old, and it's the human desire for a fair society, where no aristocrats vampirize the workers, you see 1000s of revolts of peasants thru last 5 millennia. Immortalism is wholly different: it rejects the genocidal Torah Jewish violence that create the Quran, destroyed humanity for 3 millennia, rejects the genocidal Jewish German Marx violence, anti-Slav genocide loving German Engels (who lived, died in London) and deification of terror that destroyed humanity for 200 years. It recognizes in the age of science that to get from A to B there are always trillions of peaceful nontorture nonterror nonviolent ways. We have the free will to choose the peaceful 0 pain, 0 threat ways of the Immortalist Anthem of being a trillion times kinder to the worst human, than the most loving mother of the last decade on Earth. That is the difference between USSR communism and immortalism. Kindly recall Jews & others provide Blacks and Whites with endless guns in USA today and this, mixed with Jewish Bible violence, leads to 50000 whites and blacks dying. Have you ever seen Jewish Torah-Bible lovers calling daily for ending violence, wars, gun ownership, evil bad gang music? No, because Hollywood, singers are covertly in Jewish hands, promoting Torah-Bible violence 24-7, the mass rape, looting, shouting, spanking, beating kids with rods. With 50000 dead a year, we have 5 million dead each century, a JEWISH HOLOCAUST against USA. We're not Blaming the Jews, that is a Zionist LIE. The Jews created all ETHICS of the West, as our ethics is the Jewish Infernally Violent Bible. Jews even wrote lyrics for some of the most violent gang music songs. Don't you see USA is like the Jewish run USSR more every single day? The solution is simple: reject the Bible, embrace the Immortalist Anthem, a locally written American "scripture" alternative.☺☺☺

The USSR spy agency chief believed, wrongly, that only TERROR would protect the USSR, when we know 1000 trillion ways to World Peace and any outcome exist without killing, pain, terror or even the slightest pain or sleep deprivation most spy agencies use today daily. Perhaps, to avoid becoming dogs like these pre-KGB serial killers, immortalists are 100000 times more ethical than communists and wholly different, as they will teach ethics and the love of nonviolent methods to secure World Peace Worldwide, via a global state of emergency for 23 hours daily first 6 months, 20 hours a day next year, 16 hours a day for next 5 years and 10 hours daily for next trillion years until we have achieved a nanosecond in eternity of peace without war or violent crime for 1 trillion years, a mere nanosecond in human future lifespan. Unlike communists, immortalists want to emphasize 23 hours daily on radio-TV, until the new laws take place in 6 months, the New Ethics of 0 Torture, 0 bad Sleep, 0 Aristocratic Theft, 0 Violent Crime: lifetime labor for violent crime and 9000 times the amount stolen with salaries 3 times minimum max at first. The ethics of nontorture, noninjury, no sleep deprivation, nonkilling, noninjury to all people, and ethics of fair pay, and most importantly,☺☺☺ universal gentle tender soft nurturing healing loving kindness. This state of emergency must raise taxes on smoking, alcohol, weed by 50000 times gradually, as more are educated 20 hours on TV about the natural bliss methods of meditation and oneness with the divine, or universal human quantum field for atheists. Later alcohol, vape products sales are banned until all violent crime is 0 for a trillion years first. We need to help animals of bestial cruelty and pathological selfishness among regular aristocratic thinking people (70% of population has 0.1% or more of their thinking or even habits totally aristocratic, due to media brainwashing them to do evil things Mk 10:25 "it's easier for a camel to go thru a needle's eye, than for a rich man to enter heaven"), to become humans who put home ownership of single family housing first and above criminal aristocratic violence creating businesses of demonic aristocrats. People need good sleep for a healthy national quantum field of kind gentle nurturing grace and that's only possible with permanent housing for all: No BEAST SHALL OWN 2 HOUSES before all own one. Kindness requires perfect sleep, no beast will be allowed to make people unkind via bad sleep. That is immortalism, opposite to genocidal Communism of Sleep Deprivation. The most important determinant of longevity is sleep length, depth and quality. Decent sleep for all. The aristocrats sucks our blood by sleep deprivation: it is intentional, so we make cities quiet. Rich criminals live in quiet cities, our cities they make noisy via their infernal businesses and policies. CLASS WARFARE. Perhaps, we gently need to take to Nuremberg style trials all those concert singers, musicians, movie directors promoting loud music, alcohol, smoking, violence, rape via movie scenes, and aristocrats owning bars and businesses that close after 9 pm, shut all stores at 9 pm. Only the ☺abysmal IQ☺ infernal aristocratic society allows vape stores, strip clubs, liquor stores, bars, pubs, lotteries, casinos, stadiums, supermarket spirits section and alcohol stores when people are homeless and are paid 10 to 40000 less than the infernal bankers from hell or CEOs. 70% of China's wealth is held by the communist party members 10%, 2025 China is not communism, but feudal capitalism. After Bolsheviks won, they formed a semi aristocracy that got privileges, but they were not like the millions of palaces today, just a better apartment usually, unless Stalin.

The only area where we have some things in common with communist thought or leftist socialist thought are those related to fair pay. 0 violent crime, the central goal of immortalism, since it alone guarantees Immortality for All☺☺☺, is only possible when salaries are no longer 10-50000 times higher for the top vs bottom, as vast income inequality always leads to massive theft rates and violent crime to rectify the injustices of the society imposed at gunpoint by royals or aristocrats. Having seen how the ideal of basic human rights for all was hijacked by spies to achieve genocide for foreign powers, we can't but wonder how careful people would have to be to make sure immortalism is not hijacked by spy agencies to achieve the opposite of longevity for all (needless suffering or torture of anyone, even the '9% of population small aristocrat who does what any nonaristocrat would do: selfishly defend his profits or position obtained via subjugation of the poor 50%'). For example let's say aristocrats obtained by covert murder (240 pages detail these genocides in Chapter 4.5.6.: bad products, stealing profits instead investing them in product safety and redesign to extend lifespan) and theft assets of 2 million or more, what is the cap that they retain, 2 million?, they definitely can get a very nice house for 25% higher than average price in some area after the sale of their gigantic estate that becomes a research center to benefit science of longevity, health, housing materials research, new industries (National Lab of Mold Free Plastic Free materials), but if we want to be fair, we can't let them keep endless millions obtained by the very theft embedded in the system today that steals everything from the enslaved masses, especially the poor 40%. This means the immortalists can't be violent, like communists, but be fair gentle tender soft nurturing soothing sweet healing loving kind, educational, and allow all to understand 0 theft/crime is not possible if the rulers of a nation, the 1%, steal everything from the rest by awarding themselves via complex Ponzi schemes salaries 10-50000 times higher per hour than the poorest. This fraud based society can't survive due to the violent crime it fuels (people take arms when oppression is high, it's natural physics, reaction force = action force of aristocratic terror), violent crime which leads to wars and the 10 second end of humans. After house sales via housing.gov the prices reflect a house's lifespan extension ability, to sync with the immortality credit score.

Immortalists hypothesize and will prove by testing this hypothesis, unlike Jewish communists and their Torture, Terror Genocide Rape filled Bible, that any change we do to achieve Eternal World Peace, 0 violent crime, etc can be done in a trillion ways that use no pain, no torture, no terror, no violence. This is vastly different from the Jewish Hooligan run USA system and the USSR Jewish Communism. Immortalists don't agree with the HOLOCAUST DONE BY JEWS AGAINST GENTILES, 15 million dead at the hands of Russians and Jews between 1917-1941 (another 5 million 1941-1991), millions of gentiles shot and killed thru torture and freezing weather Gulag (2 million dead), starvation during Holodomor (5-9 million dead in USSR, 5 million in Ukraine alone), etc by the Jewish Commissars of the USSR during 1917-1941, which led to the

1941 Nazi Germany invasion of USSR to stop the genocides of gentiles (Germans included) by Jews given limitless power by the Russian low IQ leaders or former Tsarist psychopath secret police serial killers already used to killings and genocides (one example: Russian Tsarist police kill 1.5 million people, without a trace, take over their land). The media portrays the killed USSR Jews as helpless innocent victims of Nazi invasion of USSR, but the history was very different, as the Bible quotes clearly hint at too: one can't promote endless genocide, rape, war, violence via the Bible without suffering consequences from the Universe, as seen in the emergence of Christian and Muslim religions out of the Diabolical Torah, to mirror back the Evil of the Torah to Jews themselves. Likewise, criminal Christian Bible publishers can't escape the karmic Physics Consequences of their Genocidal Choice, as seen in the emergence of Quran (Bible recycled) and Communism which killed lots of Christians. The Universe is clear: whoever publishes the Torah (80% of the Bible), give religions based on it tax exempt status, etc will pay for it with endless genocides being done against them, due to the pure physics laws NOBODY can escape, physics laws works regardless of whether you agree with them or not, it's just as certain as sun rising tomorrow. It's pure physics: those calling for genocide of 8 billion can't escape the result of such a call. You see, once given the guns, the Jews' anger (at gentiles they didn't like) and pure raw emotion took over and the violence became extreme, just like the Torah instructs Jews to wipe out entire nations by all out extermination: kill every animal, burn everything in the city, etc, don't leave anything alive… the kindness of religious Jews and Bible in action. A modern issue we have is the vast immigration of Jews from USSR after 1991 to the West brought some of these serial killers into the West and every attempt to present objectively the history is ridiculed as antisemitism. Immortalists believe Jews need to grow up, like Christians and Muslims too, out of the addiction to outdated violent scriptures and embrace the more mellow scriptures of the planet, like one they write or existing ones, like Tao Te Ching, Dhammapada, some Hindu ones or even the Immortalist Anthem. It's essential for Jews to give up the ultra violent diabolical Torah (see what real God is like), Christians to give up the ultra violent Bible (80% of which is the diabolical Torah, the most vile part of the Bible where 99% of the most evil quotes exist), Muslims to give up the ultra violent Quran, if we want World Peace Eternal and 0 violent crime. It's important for all Jews, Muslims, Christians also to understand Jews were brainwashed by the historical inertia and foreign spies to concoct the Bible trash (yes, scribes may have been spies of Greek, Roman and other empires of the 1000 BC to 50 AD, who posed as Jews to create conflict and conquer by divide and conquer), in order to achieve the fantasies of various empires, and that self has nothing to do with the writings of primitives from millennia ago. Nobody has to be a slave of a text made up by serial killers pretending to channel God. God knows a trillion ways to peace without any violence, and obviously the God of those scribes was the God of low IQ people, a product of their own imagination, which due to high heat, and malnutrition, didn't go far to realize God could be 1 trillion times kinder than their wildest imagination. All suffering in the West last 2 millennia is due to people believing stuff without proof, such as claims that only violence can bring a solution to any disagreement. The pastors, rabbis, imams, lammas created by aristocratic mafias to loot the planet (religion is usually just a tool to enslave nations and steal their stuff) are 90% the cause of all wars last 2 millennia. So, it's important that we don't repeat the same insanity next 2 millennia. The pseudo communism religion comes out of a Jewish Torah commune kibbutz idea mixed with infinite violence to enforce it, a la Torah style genocides. While some ideas make sense and have been around for eons, equal pay for equal work, etc, way longer than the Bible, the communism ideals were highly packaged in infinite terror itself. Immortalists have some ideas that are similar to communism, but they're totally against the terror, torture, violence of communism/diabolical Bible, whom they consider too evil to be allowed to be published, just like the Quran, Mein Kampf, Mahabharata, other texts.

The communist times TV, just like today in most nations, was full of restless aggressive pop music chimp tone and yelling hora and folk songs that resemble the same cannibal chimp energies in rap, pop, rock music of the depraved ultra violent West today. Just like the corrupt violent West, the violent East was totally incapable of producing eterni music (somewhat eterni was only the gentlest religious hymns sung by nuns, but that was too tainted by brainwashing and bulldog IQ lyrics that glorified violence indirectly via the Jesus, Bible cult). The communist East EU failed to ban the 99% of negative emotion, content, aggressive macho violent tone in TV-radio programs and all music. Today, we see communist remnants in the North Korea "music", though East EU never had such violent "music" and yelling. You can't end violent crime that ran for 1 million years while feeding historical inertia and aggression DNA memes of violent tone and emotion in music. It simply requires a whole new level of universal gentle tender soft nurturing soothing sweet healing loving kindness to act as a super strong counter force and dissolve the negativity. While it is true drug use was 1 million times lower, the ignorance was huge (no Internet, no access to millions of free science papers like today), the violent crime was not that low and alcoholism, was, just like in the so called anti-communist West, as big of an issue, leading to alcohol's involvement in 60% of violent crime, 50% of car crashes, etc. So was smoking a rampant issue in communism, like 35% smoke in China today and rural people pour beer on their hair like donkey IQ folks while others watch, instead of giving houses to the homeless, which exist: 20x more houses than the homeless, 10x the food for the starving. East EU had dogs harassing people, neighbors. The '0 IQ' communists did nothing to focus daily about the Nationally Publicized TV-radio goal of World Peace in 3 months and violent crime 0 in 10 years, instead making weapons as directed by the Russian & Jewish USSR masters who tortured all disobeying the Soviet Jewish "Fuhrer". KGB executed anyone with brains, placed as leaders the lowest IQ in every satellite nation, as did all empires, for easy looting.

sides and became the CEOs of many companies and enriched themselves in the privatization of state assets (though many industries were decimated after being bought by foreigners) and today in 2025, many continue their terror ways, with 100% control of local East EU media and fake elections as in the USA if they remained in East EU, and even after moving to USA, still being murderers who torture, be them Jewish Europeans or East EU natives, for they were born during communist times and got heavy military training sometimes. Some of these communist terrorists even have more than 1 house, or more than 2, in multiple nations*, like East EU and USA, while poor locals in East EU have lost the 100% house ownership of communism* and got 70% house ownership in many areas, as predatory bandits have brought their Western vampiric values of mass exploitation and subjugation of the worker class. I don't believe in revenge for the genocides USA and Russia did, via jails or anything, since we all understand brainwashing can turn anyone into the most evil terrorist and you too would have become one if born in their environment, just like kids of military guys who often become terror military guys too. But we need to find a way to make torture illegal worldwide, in reality, not phony statements by CIA liars. Any torture, after day 180 of the state of emergency 24-7 radio-TV education, is violent crime requiring death penalty or lifetime labor if death penalty is used for any violent crime. Meaning any cop, spy, soldier found torturing anyone after that 180 day period is executed. This way, nobody feels like they're above the law and they go torture everyone. ☺☺☺ The communists became predatory capitalists over time. Many were fake communists to start with, or opportunist Jews looking to become leaders (some of crypto Jews still in power after 1989), or even former Nazis and aristoc-rats getting fake identities who pretended to be communists. It's thus difficult to create an eterni vibration when violence is in their belief system, as well as incessant torture and "revolutionary terror" (see below). It's even more difficult when all nearby big powers want to enslave every East EU nation and maybe annex it. None of these monsters, who ran everything from behind, were or are prosecuted for their genocides, and the same happens in all nations: all the spy/military agency guys who committed genocides are free and continue to commit them. Nothing was done during the "communist era" to put humans above dogs/cats, East EU had garbage scavengers (humans who ate garbage mostly), beggars, while dogs/cats were treated nicer than people, the same egoism insane disease of the free market illusion, aka capitalism. We see the pompous (lots of shouting) terror obsessed ever torturing communists were not busy in fixing the ills of society, in educating people about the 2 billion people killed by alcoholic Jesus, banning churches and violent literature-texts-scriptures completely as in 5.2., as well as mosques and synagogues was not done (everyone was free to attend churches (except for the 15% of society that were communist party members and expected, like in China today, to not attend much), etc, in spite of churches promoting fraud, scientific dishonesty, endangering national security by promoting lies and low IQ), in spite of the communist control of the TV and ability to expose the Quran and expose daily the fraudulent genocidal rape, looting, arson of cities and holocausts of nations taught in the Torah, Bible, due to the infiltration of the communists by the Italian, German Mafias as well as others believing in the fake miracles of the Italian gangsters. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Like the corrupt West, the East didn't lament daily 3 times on TV for 10 minutes each time at least, via graphic lung pictures about the 0.5 billion killed by smoking. They didn't ban smoking and drinking until 0 violent crime was achieved, they didn't teach any meditative bliss, since only terror and obeying KGB were promoted. Some were Jews and had a peculiar disdain for gentile emancipation from the Russian grip, thus everything abysmal in IQ was promoted to lower European IQ to the max, just like it happens in USA with 4500 banks of the British Jewish gangs. In short, the East EU were puppets of the Tsarist Russian secret police, who now repackaged itself as KGB (and prior 3 names) running all Soviet satellites. West EU were puppies of the corrupt Brit & Jew run USA, where Brits made billions destroying everyone's lungs via British Tobacco and British Phillip Morris products from hell and now 30 trillion vape stores. So, contrary to Western propaganda, communism was almost a copy of capitalism in every way: cruelty, terror and lies, fraud, jails, cat and dog worship while ignoring the starving poor, high crime, alcoholics and smokers, terrorists and cruel bastards ruling the nation behind the scenes, while the front people, the leaders, were mere puppets of the spy agencies used to deceive the public. However, violent crime was lower than today, gambling slot machines and casinos nonexistent, and nobody dared to attack police and in Romania, nobody had guns, except the police. All kids went to school alone, but violent crime was not 0 by any definition, due to 0 ethics taught in schools and no religious ethics taught either as substitute for much more intelligent ethics. This lack of ethics made torture seem natural, yelling common and violent crime still real. Humanity can't attain different results by trying to use the same old methods. The abject failure of social democracy, communism, free market capitalism, Islamism, "religionism" (scam religions), to bring civility and 50 billion times lower violent crime, calls us to try something new, and that is IMMORTALISM or Immortality for All☺☺☺ as in the Immortalist Anthem. Arabs got Islamism violence, 588 times more land than Jews, yet endless wars, honor killings of relatives. Communists didn't even provide free transport and the amazing efficiency of the 11 companies. The same ☺abysmal IQ☺ duplication and stuff everywhere, like in the decaying West, instead of the 100 times more R&D plan of the immortalists. The Western depravity was palpable everywhere, instead of working to reduce violent crime and violent music and speech tone 1000 fold, women were spending $$ to make hair curly, legs shaved, nails colorful, like mascara, tattoos today, or the silly eyelash shaving which ought to be banned due to eye damage. The same cruel trends and priorities of the ruthless violent West ruled with impunity in the East. Endless mascaras and violent thuggish tone concerts, while others are homeless and garbage eaters. Immortalists don't torture, aristocrats/communists do. ☺☺☺☺☺

Please don't confuse immortalists☺☺☺, adepts of nonkilling (except perhaps fake killings, where sentence is lifetime labor in some secret city, or for people who're very violent even after moving to a healing city), 0 torture (not even for the most violent or evil thugs) and nonviolence, with communist or Nazi serial killers who (like some religionists who kill people for a tweet) failed to understand that there are 1 trillion peaceful nonviolent ways to any outcome. While communists killed 120 million people in 100 years, immortalists would kill only 2 at the most in 100 years, for real, the most evil serial killers who continue to attack even when sent to labor camp and being treated nicely, 99.99% of "death penalty" being fake staged killings to keep insane, yet death fearing or being alive preferring, selfish psycho criminals from killing people to revenge due to "there being no death penalty". This is an open secret not mentioned in the section about a state of emergency, that criminals might read. Often times, serial killers kill because there is no death penalty, just to revenge, so immortalists are OK with fake death penalty, that appears real to the brutal serial killers watching the TV only. Those who kill others may be killed for real though, just as today, if clear proof exists (video etc) if there are no resources to create special "sealed cities" where only killers live with other killers in a "jail lifetime labor" setting. This may mean only 10 a year, as most would be scared of the new tough penalties, so homicides may drop 100 fold anyway fast. Communism was a strange concept created by military spies in 1800s, like almost all religions were, the essence of it was that "the history of all hitherto existing society is the history of class struggles" per Marx and Engels. Engels and Marx said "Slavs are a dying weaker race", hence communism (fascism in disguise?) they created was used to decimate the Slavs and other 'inferior' weaker 'races', create 1 child policy in various nations, official or practical, see paper here to understand how military spies disguise as prophets, antisemites (like Martin Luther, Jesus, Mohamed) or political philosophers with ulterior goals. Not only that, but following the violence deifying communist manifesto written in 'holy' London, the place from which orders to blow by gun and mutilate came for centuries, endless regimes, worldwide, committed billions of acts of torture and 100 genocides: in Cambodia, they killed millions, in USSR millions died in the Gulag, in Africa too and one president called himself the only god, causing 25% of population to flee the country. Marx, allegedly a Jewish German, was, if his quotes on using no compassion, and maximum terror to bring about change are to be believed, a supporter of violent terror, racism (lazy Mexicans) and antisemitism (minority covertly controlling one nation incites others ("gentiles or non-Germans, etc"), to violence, so violent measures of repression (extermination via war, torture, arrests) can occur for "not being Nazi, Christian, Muslim, Hindu, communist, patriotic, etc" enough, actually to magnify the power of minority (win-lose, destroy majority, keep it low in IQ, to help minority rise) controlling the nation's top military and spy positions, thus everything?), so Marx is arguably among the most anti-eterni persons (we want Immortality for All, not Marx network of spies, we want 0 vengeance, 0 terror, 0 torture, 0 violence) out there among all communists as he started it all. Alcoholic Marx says "there is only one way in which the murderous death agonies of the old society and the bloody birth throes of the new society can be shortened, simplified and concentrated, and that way is revolutionary terror". That's incitation to genocide, not compassion, a lie that there are not trillions of ways to fairness and kindness that don't use violence; he says ONLY way is thru terror, but it's a lie, there are trillions of nonterror ways.

However, Marx, Jewish son of a "gentle tone" rabbi (Ashkenazi German Jew) who promoted the Genocidal Word of 8 Billion Dead when Jews feel like it, ☺☺☺ was calling, in typical 'Torah Jew (or Muslim) turned atheist to fool gentiles' style, for TERROR due to massacres by aristocrats who killed all workers demanding more rights, it wasn't out of the blue, it is human to lose your calm when you see genocides via wars for aristocratic gentile or Jewish banker stock trader profits. It's in this context that the holy Marx loses his cool, and fails to comprehend, in his superior race genetics and IQ, highly fluid intelligent brain, as the chosen people of God, that there are trillions of ways to bring Peace in peaceful ways. Reports exist that things went out of control due to Jewish hate for Russians and gentiles, as seen in many speeches of 1921 by Hitler and others: wholesale slaughter and starvation of gentiles is not a revolution, but genocide. Estimates say 120 million died needlessly (100 million USSR + China alone by torture, beatings in prison, inhuman labor camps (Gulag, etc) to kill, starvation, etc) as a result of the violent communist manifesto written in London, with 900 million severely tortured or injured, so instead of only worker rights to a better life, it became also mass slaughter of workers. Was it designed to be that way by mi6??? These mistakes can happen when spy sabotage exists or when fanatics take over any movement (among many types, Torah Jews (with a desire for revenge and mass killings of gentiles with whom they wanted to "settle scores") disguised as atheist communists). Some revolutions got gentile aristocrats replaced by Jewish aristocrats, genocides by aristocrats replaced by genocides by Jewish/other communists. Aristocrats won't often evolve to kindness instantly out of the blue, as they can't comprehend, that their lifespan will be 1000 times longer due to innovation born of efficiency and kindness and people being healthier. They don't have any ethics generally, aside from phony religion they invent to dupe, enslave/murder the poor, so many aristocrats don't even aim to live long, only to retain the power over the 96% of short-lived population and have fun. However, Marx calls to "carry out their terroristic phrases... instances of popular vengeance against hated individuals or against (hated) public buildings... the workers' party must not only tolerate these actions but must even give them direction." We see Marx incites people to terrorism, vengeance, violence, murder, not realizing most people if born into a rich family would continue oppressing the masses too, even Marx himself. He's more of a military spy than a lover of all humans. Immortalists have infinite compassion, even for the most evil genocidal psycho aristocrat. They understand that violence will never bring lasting peace, only more wars. Violent change is 0 change. Change due to understanding will last forever, a change where aristocrats understand the benefits of honesty and immortalism, (such as 0 crimes, 100 times more innovation, better products than today, longer lifespan), is much better than starting endless wars to overthrow thugs. Thugs regroup, they fight back with 100 times more violence, so we need evolve the thug into a human. We need to finally help "the intellectually challenged small business owner and low level or big aristocrat" to understand Singapore has 1000 times less land per capita than Russia, yet lives 15 years longer. We need to help ultra low IQ aristocrats understand the size of the house or assets don't matter. With compassion, ALL will live to 20000000, with cruelty, they will die a bastard at 100 if lucky and the rest at 70-80. Rich men, don't hold human spiritual, ethical, vibrational, compassion, gentleness, sweetness, empathy progress hostage to your cruel genocides, since hell is the reward. The greedy soul may only become an animal next life too, if allowed to exist.

Marx & Engels were playing complex spy games (both German nationals, read the words of 'communism father' calling Slavs barbarians and calling for genocides). You can read the Karl Marx definition of Jews which explains why Otto von Bismarck wanted Romania to become independent only if Russian, Polish, Ukraine Jews became citizens (the Jews expelled by the Russian empire who controlled 90% of commerce in many cities where they settled, created endless bars (pubs) (which we know cause a yearly Holocaust of 3 million gentiles, thanks to Jewish support of alcohol businesses*)* where the Jews came to find drunk or semi-drunk gentile victims and gave ideas to gentiles to take loans to make for the Jew 5 times the money lent, Jews who controlled the main bank, collateral was the land of the peasants which then was taken by the Jew when loan missed a payment or more, and this led to peasants losing land, becoming slaves in their nation and to big peasant revolts against the cunning Jew coming to enslave locals with his seduction to material desires, evil pubs, deceptive banks, etc. These Russian Empire expelled Jews were more numerous than local population in some top universities in several EU nations (just like in USA Jews are far more numerous than Americans in top schools per capita), as they wanted to take over the nation 100%, not just commerce. In USA, Jews had everyone trim the penis like Jews, as they took over government policies, education, science papers, etc. "On the Jewish Question" article by Marx says "religion of the Jew? Huckstering... his worldly God? Money. We recognize in Judaism... a general anti-social element of the present time... Money is the jealous god of Israel, in face of which no other god may exist. Money degrades all the gods of man – and turns them into commodities. The bill of exchange is the real god of the Jew. His god is only an illusory bill of exchange. The chimerical nationality of the Jew is the nationality of the merchant, of the man of money in general." Jews used banks to help their groups worldwide, to try take over culture, degrade the culture and make it anti-eterni, vulgarize it, destroy its gentle tender soft tone via fake antisemitic nationalists they controlled and impersonated, take over realtors (hence immortalists want to eliminate this parasitic Jewish par excellence profession), academia, stock markets (immortalists want those stock exchanges, banks gone, the Jewish Wall Street control), business, government, espionage, army, professions of various types via various laws, to make life nicer for them at the expense of the host nation. Communism reduced the power of locals and allowed communist Jews to take over a nation covertly, under the guise of universal brotherhood. That's why immortalists need to be aware of the dangers of Jews hijacking immortalism and trying to do the same in the name of the earthling nation of immortalists, by creating a global nation where Jews hold all power and the rest are slaves, while ignoring the central tenets of immortalism, 100% opposed to Judaism methods, described in the Bible, their scripture of violence that they promote on 7 continents, while claiming to be antisemitic and Christian, Nazi or 'religion friendly' communist. Lenin was partially Jewish and allowed Jews to say their Jewish prayers at the communist pre-gatherings. Isn't it odd to pray at an atheist meeting of the atheist communist party? Or were they all Orthodox Jews like the allegedly atheist USA Democrat Party Crypto Jews health officials, who promote Orthodox Judaism via circumcision policy? It's not that clear why Karl Marx was racist, if he was a Nazi like racist or regular one, a German using the "made up story of being Jewish" or a real Jew who realized the nature of many of his co-nationals or pretended to believe 'Jews are after money only' and wanted them to emancipate out of materialism, or used the spy cover of racist, to make whoever believe they were highly anti-slav, anti-Asian or whatever, to enable more conflict among opponents of the nation he worked for to divide and conquer. Engels, the great "philosopher", wrote in January 1849 Neue Rheinische Zeitung Journal whose Editor-in-Chief was Marx, of the Hungarian, German "bloody revenge on the Slav barbarians", annihilation of "all these small pigheaded (slav) nations even to their very names" and made many predictions that never came true, like the disappearance of many EU nations. Engels, born a semi-aristocrat, was possibly faking his anger that 1849 Imperial Russia slavs suppressed revolutionary movements, but may have been racist too. Perhaps that was not supposed to be known, hence USSR was for 1 child in practice last few decades, as "Germans or Jews took power while pretending to be Russian?". So, who controlled USSR, USA, the Vatican, and the puppet Communist regime in China? Those who wanted the Slav and Asian slow extermination? Yiddish is 80% German, 20% Hebrew, and USSR promoted Yiddish as the USSR Jewish language and many were blondes: were many Soviet Jews actually German spies? Did Germany Rhineland Ashkenazi Jews (look at how they look like: 300 Hollywood Jews, some claim Taylor Swift is Jewish too) support the 1917 revolution too, as Germany's leaders did? Most Christians, Muslims never read the Bible/Quran calls to genocide, most communists never read Das Kapital, the calls to genocide by Marx/Engels.

In the last paragraph of the communist manifesto, published in German in London 1st time, the authors (Marx/Engels) call for a "forcible overthrow of all existing social conditions", which served as a call for communist revolutions around the world and benefited whoever financed secretly these guys, the countries who benefited from mass depopulation of communist nations? Who knows? Force will bring war and short lives for eons, so we need to replace that concept (religion of world militaries today, sadly) with universal gentle tender soft nurturing healing loving kindness, as a mom has for her infant baby, that infinite love for all, that an Immortal aged 3 trillion would have for a 2 minute old baby, a middle aged man, and behave with kindness, 0 violence, 0 force☺. We can write about the pros of fewer languages or immortality capitalism but we can't do anything violent to impose that ideal. We agree any violence is brutal, cruel, animalistic, subhuman, but we can't support it in any circumstance, so we're serious about World Peace in 3 months in every song until we achieve it, not on paper like communists creating wars to kill the workers, but in reality. We want to evolve from savage humanity to real humanity. We see in Engels quotes (calling for genocide) again the use of conflict, holy war/violence against infidels, as in violent religions, see 80 pages of quotes – it's that same energy, create friction, divide and conquer, overthrow regimes (Tsars, if their 'death' was not staged as with fake USA revolution) violently, install puppet governments, kill about 20-120 (depending on which estimate is right, see below) millions of workers in other countries involved in proxy/purge wars from 1920 to 1990 to 'save them') etc. Immortality capitalism is all about peaceful loving cooperation so all 'classes', people achieve Immortality for All, where class doesn't even matter anymore, since if you live to 1 million, you don't care if you earn 20 or 200 dollars a minute, anyone would rather live to a million than earn 9000x more and live to 80. As people evolve the very classes disappear, since money has no meaning, if you live 5 times shorter. Richness is not money. Instead, Marx/Lenin (Wikipedia explains Lenin belief in violent methods, in terror and killing half a million people, as his 8-20-1918 speech reflects*, like Marx/Engels, methods used by militaries and directly opposed to immortality for all which is nonviolent, loving,* kind, gentle towards all*, as explained in lines 8-40 of Anthem Imortal, where they love the worst more than the happiest most caring gentlest mom loved her baby last 2 decades; it is hard for the angry people to be kind to serial killers who kill millions for profit, but as long as* capacity to do evil is out, no need to destroy the human quantum field for "making a show of terror") spies could have said "the history of humanity is that of a desire for nonviolent graceful change, World Peace, longer ☺☺healthier☺☺ life, longevity, Immortality for All via peaceful nurturing healing gentle ways that bring bliss, comfort, peace to all" as the Immortalist Manifesto or Anthem explains. It's sad that the spies who controlled Lenin brainwashed him that the only way to peace and wellbeing for the workers tortured, killed and subjugated by the blood sucking vampire aristocrats is war and genocide. It doesn't have to be so, there are a trillion peaceful ways to peace. But stressed, malnourished, misinformed, Bible brainwashed (the culture brainwashed all for millennia to believe in violence) enslaved workers (nobody had internet, going to library to read was hard, peaceful music was rare and hard to listen to, etc) (or oppressed by aristocracy) or military minds (Marx/Lenin were military spies or perhaps manipulated to do the bidding of others?) only created violent stuff, especially in the 19th century. Today anyone can have a library of 1 trillion books at home via a wired Internet connection, and be 100000 times smarter than in Lenin's time when the Brits were easily brainwashing everyone that they're Gods entitled to genocide of Indians and others by various methods of extermination, more overt back then than today's phones, laptops, tablets, cars, wireless devices, such as blowing by gun. Today, when we can do so much to bring vibe up, with peaceful music, the demonic controllers of the planet push the most evil violent energies of eternal chaos and war. Immortality for All,☺ universal Love for all is antithetical to all past/present state and government regimes, philosophies, which embraced military force and torture – so those who believe in Immortality for All understand it can't happen by force, only by understanding and people choosing it after realizing its advantages – it's not religion, socialism or pure state or 'market' capitalism. Immortality capitalism is infinite loving kindness, species preservation by nonviolence, loving the human right to live to a trillion, peace between people and nations above everything else, the means and the end are identical, paradise doesn't arrive by torture or violence/war, it's the graduation of humanity to peace.

Engels died in London, big clue?, and Marx, was reportedly, a Jewish German, Lenin somewhat Jewish, 10%? Oddly, a Jewish identity cover (fake or real?), was used by 40-80% of the 1st political bureau of the Central Committee of the Communist Party that ruled the 1st communist state – possibly to hide the inventors of communism and its real (weaken or expand the Russian empire or Russian global power via the fake 'communist revolution', exterminate millions under the cover of 'persecuting enemies of the proletariat', and/or increase productivity of factories, by better living conditions, more rested workers who can think and have functional brains to invent things for the aristocrats creating communism for their own ends: division of planet into two, etc, etc), not stated (help the workers globally, not just Russian, Jewish or other (3rd country that remotely controls the revolutionaries who use Russian or Jew cover) interests), agenda? A video claims the head doctor of the Red Army and Stalin's personal physician were Jews. A video claims in 1930s, Jews were 13.3% of Soviet students, yet 1% of population, 16% of physicians, 10% of writers, journalists, 11% of artists etc. The Nazis said about half Berlin (capital so they can take over the whole nation by controlling the leaders) doctors and lawyers were Jews in October 1933, 28% of judges on 01-30-1933 when Hitler came to power. Today, similar numbers exist in many Western cities. Jews wanted Crimea for their own Soviet republic, the holiday destination with the nicest weather in Russia, Jews flock in South Florida and California nice weather in USA too. To add to the complexity, we have situations where monarchies or governments know the complaints of the people and the wish for a change, so instead of allowing the people to do real change, the rulers initiate change themselves in the form of fake revolutions (fully or partially fake, say French, American, Russian (communist), 1848, etc) and fake deaths of the 'rulers', that are more cosmetic, in appearance, while the hidden controllers from behind the scenes are the exact same people – so people feel free, empowered and in charge. As you can see the French Revolution was 90% reversed, with the Italian Catholic mafia running France to a great extent for 200 years with no issues. It's the same way governments control the opposition parties and all dissidents too, who're government agents paid to act that way to find any real dissidents, etc and how every anti-government group is paid or remotely controlled by the government usually, every industry, celebrity, businessman, major movement, etc. Peaceful slower real evolution towards Immortality for All, ☺☺☺ "fake miracles and unproven improbable hypotheses" religions for none or, as skeptical agnostics, spiritualists or atheists may say, 'lifespan shortening or stagnating' mythology based religions for eternal slavery and low IQ for none, seems way better than fake fast violent revolutions. Why can't people have ethics without made up religion? Jews got their own country within the USSR in 1928, public schools in its capital are required to teach Yiddish today. Obviously, it's not right for nobles to slaughter peasants, have them work 11 hrs/day, 360 days/yr, while nobles plan more wars out of greed for land, but change doesn't need to involve violence. Simple illiterate minds starved to death, manipulated by well fed (Marx) military foreign spies could not think of peaceful ways.

Thus, per some estimates, communism led to up to 120 million dead (and way more maimed, injured, disabled for life during war and torture, after all, the "workers being killed by the Party of Workers"), but these figures are estimates, like with anything in the fake history books. Oddly, the victims of communism were mostly Asian and Slavic, as if the German Marx and Engels were Racists in disguise whose actual goal was extermination of 'inferior' races. The victims were mostly Chinese (75 million: Great Leap Forward (45 million dead 52 min video, Kuomintang (trained by Russian Jews and Russians in the art of Eternal Genocide and Killing per Bible) of Taiwan executed by shooting them in the head on the streets, innocent people suspected of being communists and would have killed millions of communists if they won the civil war, just like communists killed millions of "landowners, counter revolutionaries, teachers, professors, etc" during Mao's reign, (Russia financed and founded both Communists and Kuomintang (KMT) Leninist Party to create civil war (Kuomintang started in 1894 in Hawaii with US help probably too, who possibly planned with Russia to both help a party more to foment civil war that lasted from 1927 to 1949), to weaken China and possibly aim to annex all or half of it as a Soviet Republic to USSR, since KMT wanted to liberate Xinjiang from Russian control), Kuomintang received weapons from US, Russia, Czechoslovakia and their killings and war against Mao radicalized Mao), 16 min video, Cultural Revolution, teenage students beating teachers to death for not being 'marxist (Marx was Jewish German, Engels was German) enough' due to ideas from the violent communist manifesto and Moscow visits (see stab video), the beatings by Mao's rich farmer dad (like in the Bible Proverbs 13:24; 22:15; 23:13-14; 29:15), violent communist ideas that Mao adopted and promoted in 1966 Red Guards speeches, leading to genocides by communists, slicing people in half (some of these done by teens who today behave like devils in their 70s and 80s), strangulations, boiling people, etc almost like Torah: beat, kill and be 'merry' – nothing like adherence to nonkilling, nonviolence, nontorture, just pure brutal killings of even "rich" farmers, etc, instead of a higher tax for high income or something to help the poorest and protect human quantum field (pure savagery like all communist regimes, KMT did white terror torture, killings, etc in Taiwan, its founder trained in Moscow in Leninism), pure Bible savagery, never forget the Torah (part of Bible) influence on Marx, Germans, Nazis and communists, never forget the atrocities of the Torah inspired Christian churches, Torah is Bible, they killed millions too and many Jewish pastors fought Nazism, communism they helped create by promoting Torah as part of Bible and as Holy World of God for 2 millennia: the ethics of the Bible has taken a new expression as 1400 violent quotes exist, dozens supportive of genocide. The greatest scam the German British Jewish aristocrats perpetrated was to hijack the leftist and communist movements with Karl Marx F. Engels living in London and create a revolutionary terror, maximum violence "leftism" that is then equated with leftism, to have everyone use maximum killings to wipe out the know how people, the intellectual engineers, scientists and factories to bring down Chinese/Russian empires. It's the same strategy used by aristocrats today: infiltrate leftist protests to stir violence, then portray them as violent thugs on TV; or create endless violent music, video games, and give all guns to shoot each other, then claim "leftist areas are full of gun crime, leftim is evil, communism failed", but it never existed anywhere, because community means not torturing, not killing anyone, not instigating anyone to violence, not giving guns to all. Only mass murderers give guns to all after filling TV-radio, music, movies, literature with maximum violence. The rich create "violent areas" on purpose, and then blame it as "leftist". The Royal strategy was clear: create a violent Marxism and equate it with leftism. The strategy worked, they brainwashed people the violent Talmudic Terrorism of Jewish Karl Marx and British agents trying to bring down Russian, Chinese Empire is same as leftism, then people will hate leftists and love feudalism. It's the most demonic plan to remove any concept that leftism alone is universal kindness towards all. ☺☺☺

► Capitalism is the Central Planned Economy of Death for All, of Aristocrats Stealing all National Resources for a Good Life of a Glutton Rapist Imbeciles living to 80-90. Capitalists Centrally Plan TRILLION $ THEFTS from We the People. ☺☺☺ Capitalists mock Central Planning of National Resources to Efficiently create 100 fold more research via 11 companies and 1 national state government instead of 20000 redundant govs, as we no longer need middle men (like clergy lie we need the fake miracle cults for which these clowns are middle men between God and us) or intermediates to subjugate us and live off as predators, fat☺☺☺ liars making 100 million for bullshitting us 7 years on TV-radio on stock market moves or "free market" Theft by Billionaires. Stock prices are fake, they are manipualted by the military and the rich, free markets don't exist.

► Immortalism is the Central Planned Economy of Immortality for All, decent shelter, food, nonviolence (not Mao terror) and trillion year lifespans of happy virtue and gentle tender soft nurturing graceful kind compassion for all, not the barbaric killings of workers working 80 hours a week living 10 in a room, being shot for asking for a decent life unlike caged rats. All poor people would avoid giving their wealth to become poor and help ultra poor become poor, meaning if you are born into a rich family you behave in the same selfish wayas the rich due to programming of parents, peers, environment. All poor people would be as selfish if born as rich, so immortalism is not the pathological mass murder of all teachers, college professors, intellectuals or former aristocrats that Jewish Russians and Mao implemented in their genocides of 25 and 75 million people, respectively. Immortalism is the universal kindness for all, meaning immortalism is nonviolent, it tortures nobody, not even for interrogation of "secrets". True communism is the reign of nonviolence, but Marxist Judaism brainwashed the world that "Marxism, terror is communism". It's not. True communism never existed anywhere, only the aristocratic hyper violent fake communism of gluttons giving themselves 3-10 times higher salary and special priviledges existed as taught by the murderuous Jews and Tsarist former police bandits and serial killers who became the new terrorists in charge of murder of millions who disobeyed their psychotic evil selves, all using the "Georgian" "Stalin" as a cover for their genocides. The Internationale makes it clear that communism is the absence of violence, yet these genocidal Marx, Lenin, Mao, Stalin and others advocated for maximum violent terror and bloodshed. All leftists and communists must understand communism never existed, and that Immortalism is different, in that it emphasizes nonviolence, nonpain, and trillion year lifespan as goal – while communists were fine to live as glutton imbeciles dying at 80-98 and having "proletariat in charge" on paper, when it was just a few families living like kings, only the 99.999% living as slaves of roughly equal incomes. Don't be fooled by a few Russian bastards that their "depraved New Monarchy by Tsarist Police turned Communist Overnight" was Communism. Communism is the end of all violence, torture and terror, it never existed, as Jews don't allow anything unlike Talmud and Hyper Genocidal Rapist and Violent Trash Torah to exist unaffected by the Jewish Genocidal Violence Element. Never forget the Rapes of Saratov, all women were public property, shared by all, for Jews, even 400 Jews to rape, if they just said they want a night with them. The feudalists know how to dupe people that "communism is violent". Communism never existed, except as a theory, then hijacked by a few Jews, Brits, to make it violent. The idea of communism being violent was created by feudalists in order to justify genocidal wars against those leftists, to give them an excuse in killing those groups, militias: genocide by trick. Don't be stupid. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Don't confuse "Live to 98 as a communist" with "Live to a trillion billion eons as an immortalist". It's like confusing night with day, death with life. Understand how the feudalists always use tricks, subterfuge, brainwashing, infiltration to destroy any leftist movement to maintain Palaces for the Murdering Gluttons. They're demons incarnate who refuse God and all that is decent. Jesus makes it clear in Mark 10:25, all rich go to hell. Now is the time to grow up, to give all a chance to avoid hell by eliminating the idea of rich via universal income, to Eradicate any association of Leftism with Violence, so we can get 89% of vote and free USA. There is no time or energy to waste with revenge, hate and torture, only "fruit fly IQ" folks like Stalin, Mao, Lenin did that, All those 120 million killed by "communist" elites could have helped build true 11 companies to improve standard of living by leaps and bounds, but they didn't. The psychotic took over USSR, China. We learn from the past mistakes, so we don't repeat them. Have kindness for all, recall, if you were born in a bad or rich criminal family you would have committed all bad things that guy did. Don't hate, injure, torture or kill anyone, simply understand their upbringing, "education" and find ways to bring trillion year lifespans for all, in ways that minimize pain for all. The bad families exist since Capitalism is Murder for All, Maximum Violence Instigation among the 99% groups so the poor enslaved classes murder each other, attack each other and leave the 1% Untouched and as Heroes and Defenders of the Sacred Hooligan Society of Eternal Banditry and Centrally Planned Robbery of All by the Rich thru Maximum Ignorance, that's why Trump, Republicans prevent Department of Education growth and central education, they want every gangster to create a for profit school or college to keep slaves ignroant and easy to rob. Immortalism is Centrally Planned Education, Virtue Video daily for all, and quiz too, so we can all have no concept of Violence as 1 trillion times less violence exists in music, movies, media in Immortalism versus Genocidal Capitalism, as we advance towards the Perfect Society of Zero Crime and Universal Ethics of One Universal Pay, where all we care about is HOW MANY LIFESPAN YEARS we added to humanity today instead of thinking about money a trillion times more daily than about helping others live long. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Other "communism" victims were 9 million Ukrainians, UN 2003 statement said 7 to 10 million. Kaganovich was reportedly Jewish, he was in charge of this Holocaust not making the Jewish Media much, hence many in Ukraine became antisemitic after and the 'Jews in Moscow' (is Putin Jewish?) call the Ukraine regime 'Nazi'. The Jewish Kaganovich co-killer of 5 million lived to 97, so USSR treated him very well, no wonder USSR vanished in 1991, when he died; Kaganovich sister Rosa Kaganovich was Stalin's friend or mistress # 5. Other communism victims include 2 million Cambodian (Khmer Rouge), USSR dissidents (non-Ukrainian, 18 million, including Gulag, EU has August 23rd holiday to remember victims of totalitarian regimes, same day as Romania's national day for 40 years, Aug 23 is also Russo-German pact day), more Asian + Eastern European nations. Regarding the 75 million Chinese dead estimate, nobody knows the truth, since US wants to claim more died, while China that only 2-5 million, since the Chinese have some guilt and don't want to look bad, because they wrongly believe all Mao's ideas were 'his', when he was a product of Western violent books he read and Russian intelligence brainwashing perhaps 25 times more than the Chinese values he got. Mao read a lot of filthy typical literature advocating for genocide, killings and wars, the so called "amazing works of classical literature of the 'enlightened' West advocating for bloody revolutions", which is the typical trash literature of the world, that gets Nobel Prizes sometimes, the nonimmortalist literature (not the one about nonkilling*)* that glorifies killing, genocide, like Bible, etc. The Chinese, etc communists were infiltrated by many foreign spies, Russians, Jews, etc being advisors, so using brain writing gadgets a lot of ideas of the 'bad guys in Z countries' may not have originated from Z, but from spies wanting Z destroyed, so before assuming all Mao, Hitler, Stalin, etc ideas were theirs, think again: empires (British, Russian, Roman, 900 others) used this technique for eons: secretly manipulate a country Z to do something bad, then blame Z for being evil and rally the world against Z: this allows an empire to mobilize cannon fodder slaves in unjust wars of conquest of buffer countries that may not yet be enslaved by the aristocrats owning the empire. We only need to listen to Western/Russian/etc music to see the 'values'. We need nonkilling literature ☺☺☺ and nonkilling nontorturing politics, not the stuff today. Che Guevara killed lots of hippies who celeberate him today. Funny how people can be so naive. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Why was the KMT civil war with the communists in China nonsensical? Both parties were financed and created by Moscow educated leftists whose programs were almost identical. To start killing each other over minor differences in 1927 was pure insanity, though not surprising given the huge ego of Mao who had parties and dances while millions of Chinese dropped dead of starvation in 1959. Mao was completely aware of the starvation, yet he was having big parties. It is said that the Leap Forward was a cover for select extermination of groups that fought the Mandarinization of China: for example, if Mandarin was known by 0.01% in 1921, it's known by 90% almost today and rising: groups most hostile to communism were starved, food was taken from one region and given to most loyal regions (nonHan rebel groups to Han or proHan groups), like USSR Jews took over Ukranian grain to starve 9 million Ukrainians to death, by the Kindness of Torah Kaganovich who lived to 97 as happy killer of USSR to revenge on his Ukrainian "friends". If any disagreement emerged, they could have employed the immortalist technique: one side joins the other's party and the two parties merge under a new name or one of the names and they work to protect the human quantum field from the negative events of killing, torture and violence. But alas, the egos were too big, the cruelty taught by KGB and Jewish genocidal psychos in Moscow too gigantic, for any sensible ethics, for any gentle tender soft nurturing☺☺☺ graceful universal loving kindness to become the main vibe, instead of revolutionary terror and violence. So, they killed as the previous paragraph explained, without any mercy, communists killed landowners, etc. Why kill them? Chapter 2 explains that anyone born into an aristocratic or serial killer family is 1 million times more likely to become like his parents. So they're not evil, because 99.9% peasants and workers, if born into the same rich family would have done the same subjugation of the poor. Only when people get good education, gentle tender soft tone heard daily (today nobody gets that), etc and then they kill, or subjugate others, then that' is a pure evil soul. You have to be objective and stop the cycle of violence at some point. So, we want to educate all for 6 months 23 hours on TV, besides 1 hour news, before we implement tougher penalties for theft, violence, etc. We can't just start killing people via death penalty without proper education 24-7 on all radio-TV-newspaper-main websites, because nobody got real education in USA, only fraudulent violent education via psycho clergy, etc. The land owners could have done infrastructure projects, work in healing center type of sealed cities to prevent rebellion or forming a counter-army, etc. This would have protected the human quantum field. But Mao read no book on nonkilling, only violent books of the era.

Same thing for Hitler, he could have achieved the idea of a better Germany easily with kind actions, he should have invaded no USSR or any other nation, but develop, reach trillion year lifespan and discover trillion planets, live and let live. He lost 20% of Germany, due to cruelty. He invaded USSR trying to stop the communist genocides of millions of workers by the Jewish/Russian commissars, etc. But hey, Hitler could have achieved Peace without killing 1 single person. He could have told Stalin "look, we love you care about the working masses, we too love the working class and we want to create a world of 0 torture, 0 violence, and we want to be friends with USSR and all humans, and find out ways in which we can end all torture, killings and wars, as the Internationale song says "we will end this world of violence, replacing it with one of peace". By providing Stalin with a living example of kindness, the energy of that kindness so strong would have transformed Stalin and brought peace before any war in Europe. But aristocrats controlled Hitler, and they just wanted more money, so there you go: 80 million dead. We see today people make the same mistakes of communism, fascism, KMT, etc over and over again, so we need to discuss every 5 minutes on TV about World Peace☺☺☺, in fact every 5 minutes the expression eternal World Peace ought to be mentioned, same for radio, etc, and 0 violent crime in 5 years. The rich don't fight, the masses do, so the rich who control media don't talk about World Peace every 5 minutes on TV, they're just SERIAL GENOCIDAL KILLERS... Communists did one big or fatal mistake: they ran into the trap Aristocrats (who facilitated the London meetings to write the violent communist manifesto) created via Karl Marx Asian and Slav hater who told all to terrorize and use violence, luring the communists to kill tens of millions of workers to weaken the working class and nations of communist type.

allow the people to use those, people sleep on the streets, in tents, the fake communism in China (bosses abusing workers, worker set fire to factory, billions wasted on tourist ghost cities while residents are homeless, top 130,000 families own 58% of wealth, while the rest live like African slaves, officials buying cheap goods and reselling at high prices to the masses to enrich the Deng family and killing a general for investigating this fraud and causing the Tienanmen square protests and murders of students to protect the communist mafia of Deng Xiaoping making billions of USD off poor Chinese, the poor who live 5-8 in a room near factories because the Xi Jinping mafia demolishes buildings rather than give free rentals to rural migrant workers whose lives are sacrificed building stuff that is later demolished for genocidal China billionaires, commies working with the mafias to spread gambling and depravity worldwide, instead of true ethics of 0 casino 0 gambling, China leaders jailing all of China in 20 floor jails called condos due to greed while the aristocrats live in huge mansions, China leaders killing anyone who exposes their mafia gang companies when they make mistakes using others (who actually prevented nuclear or other disasters and did the right thing) as scapegoats while killing their wives, Osaka consul threatens to behead Japan prime minister and can't even take care of his tooth (watch the pic) as basic hygiene or medical care is not available except for the top elites, the 99% eat poison and the 1% eat organic food, athletes dying to have organs harvested by Chinese elites, all males had to donate blood to test their biomarkers and transplant compatibility?, China participates in the cities near Thai-Burma border where 0.25 million slaves are forced to scam others, showing the amazing influence of China and Japan on the region, Chinese car doors and windows can’t open in cold weather, Chinese Mafia leaders in Europe work with the Chinese gov, Chinese mining companies pollute African nations, grandma food grab in communist ethics, endless praise of former Chinese dynasties of evil (thru endless ego pampering and endless museums glorifying the past) instead of focusing on the future Immortality for all (they do this violent nationalism brainwashing even if some emperors had 9000 concubines and executed all girls when dying or even if they had 6 year old boys as prostitutes castrated later at 13 etc), fake tea (moldy, healthy polyphenols turned into poison by roasting, creating AGEs, or adding chrome green industrial dyes that damage the liver, add deadly talc powder that causes lung cancer, or KMnO4 causing Parkinson, dementia), fake marriages, fake rebar made of plastic instead of steel, fake gas pump meters to steal 8 million in fuel, people eat dirt while Beijing and other officials spend trillions on empty ghost cities able to house 100 times the amount of homeless, 200 billion on indoor ski resorts, 100s of useless museums to Liquors (responsible for 1 billion dead), Confucius ritual lover or Buddha (who preached compassion, ritual or begging (the surest way to die fast), but no Immortality for All, no Eternal World Peace in 3 months, no Gentleness (0 violent punishments, 0 violent crime in 3 years), 100s of museums to horrific emperors (5 punishments for workers (not for aristocrats, royals) or foot binding or Falun torture, death by 1000 cuts, endless cruelty by the emperors executing 9000 concubines when they died, diabolical emperors actions), Xi Jinping pal managing the Fujian mafia and thousands of investment/romance online scam groups in Asia, Chinese communist elite (7% of China is member, top 0.3% are wealthy) take money made from subjugation of Chinese and move to USA, living to 88, while Chinese street traffic directing cops die at 43 in 2007 (cops inside cars have 40 times better air quality, so they lived longer, in 1980-2020 smog was huge in China, now all is EV), CCP saying nothing about fake communism in North Korea where women are mere sex slaves, Chinese spies enslaving Africans, fake grapes, extreme aggression of Torah communists ethics replacing the way of Tao, wealth for the elites and organ harvesting from prisoners, faking everything, torturing and harassing those who provide feedback or use government petition services instead of solving the corruption and gnat IQ decentralization that makes it impossible to provide good services for all not just communist top millionaires and billionaires, communist aristocratic elite officials' kids bullying and beating girls and suffering no consequences while the crowds protesting being beaten by communist police or being arrested/tortured, local govs setting up 50 checkpoints in villages to charge toll fees while aristocrats have no tolls in their cities, Chinese moving to Africa to setup Cybercrime gangs that recruit locals to scam people worldwide, social insurance unusable unless paying the monthly fee and kids education is not free kids can't attend if no social insurance paid for a year, millions of homes and businesses flooded due to building houses in flood zones without raising houses 10 ft off the ground if a really bad area, via nonexistent central planning of the 11 companies and wasting too much on trash like USA, houses under 10 ft of water, millions of stolen phones from 100 nations resold in China) now is pure capitalism (the top 10% own 70% of wealth, 70% of this 10% are the 'communist' party, richest people are the gov elites like in all nations, the businessmen of all nations are the gov mafia or mafia that runs the puppet gov) and the genocide has taken the old style aristocratic form (the new ruling bureaucracy is the new rich class). Produce exists, yet it is trashed, because the evil Chinese "communist" gov wouldn't print money or take it from the rich via a fair system of all salaries 3 times maximum without millionaires, etc to give to people to buy healthy food: this is genocide done by the fake communists who copied US system 100%. People trash healthiest foods, eat junk food since elites stole all money, and the people have no jobs, starve as homeless, as they got no money to buy healthy food that is later trashed (seafood, produce). Urban schools/colleges have 4-8 bunk beds/room, while many abandoned schools/colleges are empty and could be used to give all students one room per person, but the leaders don't care. Poor planning. You see, just having a sickle and hammer symbol doesn't make one a communist or leftist. Nobody should be so easily deceived by communism talk, for socialism means max salary is 1.1 to 3 times min. ☺☺☺

No centralization means chaos all over China and any other nation: the gov has to make sure all food is eaten, especially the healthiest food, and nobody sleeps on the streets when 40 times more empty apartments than homeless exist. The total mismanagement of China during Mao repeats today, they just hide bad news 100% and show only the most positive news. Note that we're not criticizing China only, but every other Western nation or others who have homeless due to the greed and mismanagement by the central government bureaucracy who is not taking care of the 4 things: education to prevent violent crime, free education for all, shelter, food, healthcare. In USA, the same exact thing happens, with 33% of food trashed, and some of it being food of much higher quality and nutritional content, safety etc than the one many ate due to low income. So we trash the healthy food and eat the poison, due to a government of murderous genocidal aristocrats who fail to centralize, prevent food waste and deliver world class nutrition, housing and healthcare to all. Millions of tons of berries, good produce rot in USA due to decentralization. We say "tomorrow blueberries in USA will be 3 times cheaper to clear the stocks in 2 days, as the central gov computer says we got 2 million 2 day old blueberries that were not sold within 48 hours. Ultimate tech and freshness, health for all." Today, blueberries sit for weeks sometimes since arrival from Peru at LA ports. We got 30 times more empty homes than homeless in USA too. We got terrible housing and the good housing sits empty. We got terrible hotels sickening people and good ones sit empty. The greed, low IQ and depravity know no bounds in USA. With central control of the Immortalist Party, we get the wonderful blood glucose and triglycerides values going down to prevent stroke and diabetes, by free biomarker measurements, so that all people can live to 120. New devices, noninvasive, will take pic of wrist blood and tell it all, like the glucose monitors today perhaps first. With a study group of 350 million people, we get to a new level of science, nobody ever dreamed of. We change national diet, improve the health of products so all values are those of 25 year olds.

Math doesn't lie: when you shrink lifespan of 300 million by 1 year, it's 300 million lifespan years, or killing 6 million people at age 30, a Holocaust. They shrink it by 10 years thru mismanagement, so we get 10 Holocausts by the partially Jewish run government. Let is be gently lovingly clear, that we immortalists are not psycho Russian Jewish communists who execute millions or Nazis who execute 6 million Jews. We're for loving even the worst person 1 trillion times more than the most loving mom loved her beloved suckling baby. The truth is anyone who gets power becomes more corrupt and neglects the masses and is prone, due to human nature, to favor self and family over the nation. Due to this, immortalists want a total reform, end of political parties and creation of tests for any position, to prevent this natural human abuse of 3 million years seen in chimps too. So, we understand the human nature and we're against killing, except perhaps for serial killers who attacked innocent people, if not enough space exists for the healing center for all these insane people, due to the masses still playing selfish sports and engaging in purchases from criminal businesses that prevent true wall at the border and single family homes for all, as needed for 0 violent crime.

New York Jews were 20% of NYC in 1917, mostly from Russia, so they (with some London 'Jews' help too, since Britain and Russia were rivals in Central Asia and a weaker Russia would help Brits?) may have helped Bolsheviks overthrow the 'antisemitic' Tsar, financing the Jewish or 'Jew identity cover' revolutionaries or the German Empire who financed them too, since Germany wanted Russia out of World War I, which it got. Did physics (action force=reaction force, 3rd law of classical mechanics) apply to Germany for using killing methods to support Tsar killing (alleged?, sometimes dictator or monarch killings are fake), when USSR defeated them in 1945? To US, UK for some supporting 1917 revolution, when in Cold War they fought Soviets? Some Jews got killed too after 1920 (not all were fake (to hide what was going on and who was fake Jew, Tsarist, Russian or Western spy pretending to be Jewish communist, etc) probably, some were real), but Russian Jews advocated violence as a means for change, so physics took place? Why don't people focus on nonkilling and nonviolence and loving all people as in "Immortality" (Trillion Year lifespan) for All interested (not just 'longevity or 100 year slave labor lifespan', all or most would be interested in a happy trillion youthful (healthy, aware as a 20 year old for a trillion years) life to explore and discover as they would know religions are made up myths based on fake miracles), Gentle Healing Grace *(no torture/killing of anyone, no forced conversion to any belief system, even 'living to a trillion' belief)* for All, instead of communism for all through torture, violence, genocide? Nothing lasts when done via force, yet people repeat the same mistakes today, everyone talks about this and that war and supporting those 'better guys' in that war, but isn't that an act of terror, torture and killing of innocent civilians? War/violence will lead to no real change, nobody talks about real peace (cessation of all hostilities within 1 month, ceasefire for 50 years at least, to calm down), gentle healing grace for all, we see Yellow Vests violent protests in France, Alex Navalny violent protests in Russia, endless racism violent protests in USA, what kind of change is this? Has anything changed, been learned at all from history by the spy agencies who stage/incite these fake arrests (FBI arrests itself)/protests & pollute the planetary mind with violent thoughtforms that lead to higher crime? Endless violence on TV, Ukraine war in 2022, nothing about gentle tender healing tone and gentleness for all. ☺☺☺ History shows to find out who were the real drive behind a movement (communism, fascism etc), we have to look at who was exterminated (for real, not fake) mostly.

There is another huge difference between communism and immortalism: Jewish communists and Russian ones promoted many languages and cultures, hoping that this would have all nations join their USSR perhaps. They were unaware of the problems, wars and conflicts that would emerge out of that, or maybe they did it on purpose, to create more chaos and genocides of non-Russians and non-Jews. Regardless, to immortalists, promoting 100 conflicting languages and cultures is like having a classroom with 100 students and you promote every behavior, ethics and mini-culture, instead of promoting the least violent, gentlest, most intelligent, progressive one that triples human lifespan the fastest. If 50 students are thugs beating others of their gang, you promote them too. Is that logical? No, logic is to promote the BEST Eternal World Peace and Immortality for All culture and the simplest to learn unifying language you can find or create, to give all longest happiest life and science progress. Obviously, long-term, the idea of promoting 100 languages and cultures, is a recipe for disaster and stagnation, the ideal chaotic milieu for a parasitic group to siphon the life out of every colonized or annexed group held in the 1st century of their primitive culture. We can gently ask ourselves a question. Why does EU or Europe itself need so many royal families with pompous ceremonies and Bible brainwashing *(i.e. military families to be more exact, since they're warrior families that decided to create nations based on some artificial reasons such as language etc)? Notice how when a Pope dies, you often get 40 subservient mental slave (of the most comical scripture with 1400 quotes of violence) European heads of state show up at the funeral to praise the most intellectually dishonest entity on the planet (Vatican, responsible for endless Inquisition deaths and wars, telling people stuff happened without any real evidence (not faked stone inscriptions, fake old books Roman Emperors ordered written to create illusion of a real event, not faked lab results by Catholic investigators), encouraging scientific fraud) that stifles scientific development of high tech single family housing for all, of smog free RF free quiet transport, of universal healthcare, 500 year lifespan for all. Why deify such a violent text? It only causes more wars and violent crime. Are those royals/leaders, Italian or Jewish? Isn't one country, language and government enough for all Europe and Earth, with billion year lifespan for all? How many clans and redundant administrations do we need to lecture us and give most wealth to the top 3%?

The EU and other leaders even dispatch endless 'pastors' on TV to brainwash people, lie to them, promote intellectual dishonesty, unscientific thinking, cult like thinking, sabotage all critical thinking, thereby encouraging small petty crimes of lies, theft, omission and scientific fraud at work that creates problems later, maybe even shorter lifespan for billions. People will say, "if they can lie and do this "water into wine, materialize 5000 loaves of bread" fraud on TV, why can't I take a little shortcut and lie "I did that step when I didn't"? After all, that owner is cruel, a pig." Are they trying to make all ☺abysmal IQ☺ and easy to enslave? What is an acceptable standard of ethics and honesty on TV that is universally applied, do we need to say "this and that study indicates a causation, not correlation link, between this and that"? If so, what unfakable evidence do they have for their claims? None. Isn't this child abuse to lower child IQ and make them credulous, easy to manipulate and deceive by national enemies or fraudsters? (similar to the rape of infants by Jewish rabbis, priests, more details here to support global ban of Torah, Bible, Quran as the 3 "scriptures" (Quran OKs 900 temporary rape 'marriages' with 900 girls) come from the Jewish rapists of 3 year olds who invented all Abrahamic "Religion" Cults of Rape & Genocide as the 2000 Bible-Quran reveal how Jews created Quran, Gospel). The clergy do it sometimes possibly because they're remote control robots or spies with the agenda of keeping the ☺filif skunk IQ☺ religion alive, to enslave the population, chain it, use it as cannon fodder and slaves in the colony they call "independent EU nation" run by spies posing as "local patriots" (the pastors can't say "we are foreigners, Jews and Italians, etc shoving the violent Torah (Old Testament of Bible) down your throat to make you an easy prey, obedient fanatical cannon fodder soldier, we changed Wikipedia to say 30 Jews live in this nation, when actually 30000 live"). Why don't they teach us how to build a nice single family home for all and be off-grid, healthy, living to 9 billion? It would collapse their whole scam and religion business, that's why, the 10 million spy and military brainwashing bases disguised as churches, mosques, synagogues of brainwashing and looting entire nations. The Inquisition of Global Terror by Vatican Criminals never died, the torture methods from 2000 years ago. The only thing that changed is how they do the slow genocide under the cover of training, help or torture. East EU is almost as low IQ as in 1989. The so called 'change' of 1989 revolutions, or 1789 in France, 1776 in USA, changed nothing deeply, it is the same lack of gentle tender soft nurturing☺☺☺ graceful universal loving kindness. This is an issue in all countries, the TV-radio-media is controlled by the aggressive macho military, so it's like asking someone who smokes 4 packs of cigs to promote 'smoking is toxic for you, stop smoking'. They're violent by nature of training and beliefs, paranoid to a fault, creating enemies in their head 24-7 when none exist, teaching all to hate 'foreigners', sometimes breeding paranoia DNA for generations. Thus, they can't promote "eterni tone and 1 billion times less violent crime, 0 jails, 1 billion times less torture by military, Eternal World Peace in 3 months", since the military daily life is to yell, command, to sleep deprive, harass, to be mean/violent, to disrespect everyone's free will, play God. The 'free media' doesn't exist in any nation, it's military controlled.

One way to bring World Peace and True Longevity Progress, Decent Shelter, Food, Healthcare, Transport for all, then becomes for people to be aware of this, infiltrate the military and reform it later (or make suggestions using gadgets or else as other militaries do, and then generals think it's their ideas), via international agreement to stop torturing people, stop being terrorists. Italian serial killers invaded some countries 2000 years ago, they decided to just murder anyone who opposed their conquest, and the merger of Italian and local language gave birth to various languages and polities in Europe, some fiefdoms of slaves to the fake religion Italians made up to conquer the world. So, folks, this is how your countries appeared, various empires invaded, and you wonder why they fight: Italian values have defined their civilization: brute force. They can't create one decent efficient EUROPEAN country with 0 violent crime, how could they when Italians crucified 6000 slaves in one day? And the Italian empire condoned slavery, beating slaves, killing slaves, etc as the unHoly evil Bible has taught them to? Don't you see with how much impunity these criminals in the Americas, Africa and Europe posing as pastors steal our youth and children and brainwash them at gunpoint that the way of God is to beat wives, kids with rods, slaves, smash kids against rocks, to kill and enslave nations, genocide 7 nations and any nation God gives to you as the word of Satan tells us? Will the Europeans ever learn to be free of the Vatican and Israel? On youtube, you get these phonies who pretend to be patriots and whatever, who repeat like parrots accounts of 90 million historical battles, acts of genocide, murder, cruelty and violence ad nauseam, how to be a more clever zealous killer of fellow humans, to promote the "super high superiority of your nation, culture or language of fruit flies, bipedal pitbulls☺☺☺ and chimp cannibals (watch) over the other 200 nations" until the listener is so immersed in that violent filth, he has become violence itself, there is no way his fruit fly brain can ever imagine World Peace in 3 months, or 0 violent crime in 15 years and 0 jails, or all humans evolving into genderless shimmering shapeshifting Immortals able to materialize any lifeform or racial appearance (just like octopus changes its shape and appearance a lot, just 1 billion times deeper change by technology), because his spy agency has programmed him to not trust anyone and separate and fight to the death, fellow Europeans or humans, who happen to be in another fictional country made by murder based empires who needed new buffer states or colonies. Honest people understand we evolved from chimps and future eternis will evolve from the brutal chimp (watch their behavior, as if the God of Israel in the Bible is a cannibal chimp) like cannibal humans, who're truly indirectly cannibal, there is no way to correctly describe what goes on today in the world other than chimp cannibalism deified in the Bible calls to kill all animals and people in burned cities, look at endless genocides praised in the chimp fruit fly IQ and culture of the Bible. Behold the beatings deified in the Bible/Torah (kids, workers, sex slaves) or Quran (sex slaves, mutilated infidels, kids, wives). These quotes are from the low IQ violent brains (watch the cannibals) that humans inherited from these savage chimps. Evolving past that grotesque violence, so evident in our TV content and tone, to the average of humans being the most perfect kindest eterni tone of humans, requires real focus. Immortalism can facilitate that evolution from violence and terror, (so praised by Karl Marx, aristocratic terrorists of 25 millennia and deified by cannibal chimps who in the video teach offspring how to cannibalize babies of nearby families) to civilization and empathy for all. May aristocrats stop being like cannibal chimps. Many aliens live 750 times longer than us, as we live versus fruit flies and we have the IQ of fruit flies compared to them. This is not offensive language, just a simple fact of life, just like you notice the IQ of fruit flies. Religion brainwashing leads to needless violence, we heard how in many cultures, like Aztecs, etc had aristocrats brainwash people to sacrifice kids, and allegedly, this still happens in backward areas of Africa (and maybe others, since Mexico has an organ market), in order to do some 'magic' or harvest organs. None of it works, sacrificing animals or people never causes rain, wealth or anything to happen. It's just the abysmal IQ of people is so low, they believe in 'magic', the IQ is lower than that of the cannibal chimps? We see how religion can make people so low in IQ☺ that they start believing in magic and fake miracles. Kids are accused by Christian fanatics of being witches, so they're killed, as the 'cretin' Bible tells people to do in the Holy Torah, or Jewish Bible. Why is the Bible published anyway? We see how the Vatican promotion of the Bible leads to children being killed.

If we always are fed negative behaviors by youtube, we can't have time to imagine or discover 1 trillion peaceful ways to 0 violent crime in 15 years, we're just a programmed parrots and ☺filif ostrich IQ☺ guys repeating violent events of history, polluting the quantum field with the junk. The unconscious ☺abysmal IQ☺ folks are so consumed by the genocidal patriotic ancestor heroes' acts of genocide, that the 99% of their energy is dedicated to the youtube magnification of infernal energies of violence, saturating the quantum field with that, with never one mention of a quality of universal loving kindness, altruistic Tao Te Ching sage gentle tender soft nurturing healing grace. We got 500 million youtubes about "heroic" acts of murder in wars by various psychos and 0 youtubes about 0 Violent Crime on Earth in 10 years, or Eternal World Peace in 3 months and how to get there. Isn't that an act of human species getting ready to implode itself and kill everyone in 10 seconds soon? To me, it is pure insanity, like a species suicide. A little discernment is fine, so the immortalist system is not taken over by clever parasites like with the USSR story, but rehashing negative history all day removes any hope for peace and decency ever emerging. The same drama happens on every continent and among continents. Everything on youtube is about defending one's artificial polity of 'fruit flies' or 'worm IQ chimp rats ready to cannibalize other rats' using espionage, violence and dedication to a fictional entity made by Italian or other murderers in their drive to subjugate the whole world via genocide (war).

Why are these acts of past insanity and violence getting 500 million times more youtube, TV-radio space than World Peace in 1 month, 0 violent crime in 10 years and how to achieve that, how to give everyone single family home, decent electric car, universal healthcare, decent sleep and food, via 11 companies for the entire world, so that we eliminate 1 billion redundant jobs and have some real innovation and decent shelter, food and transport for all? Do we need 200 nations or is one enough? 7000 languages for cannibal chimps to fight and devour each other at the command of a psycho spy agency or military boss? Why not 1 language or at least 5 max to start centralization with, with another final one we create later to replace the 5? These liars and pastors on EU TV stations pretend to be 'nationalists', but they're foreign spies who control the national military and keep Americans/Africans/Europeans in the stone age of Christianity and Bible chimp thuggery. To keep Europeans (+ 150 other nations) extremely to dupe and enslave, the lowest IQ religion is promoted. They don't defend humanity, only the fiction in their head they call 'nation state' (colony of Italian Jew Bible violence spreaders) so that the human species is ever so violent and chained in violence forever in the name of the Word of Eternal Violence, the Bible. This chaos makes it easy for aristocrats to steal everything and keep masses sedated in the zombie state, workers of artificial polities fighting among themselves to make aristocrats rich, as they lend money to governments to buy weapons and kill silly workers who kill fellow workers, with the rich laughing all the way to the 20000 banks they made to sucker everyone by starting 200 new wars to expand banker profits, and 400 financial crises (for example, the Beijing suburb areas house prices dropped 90% in 2025 vs 2023, as China got their own aristocrat class disguised as 'communist officials' and others) to loot all. In immortalism no inflation exists, no bank interest exists, so therefore no new money is printed, all prices are roughly eternal, only ratios to other basic staples changes if found to extend life more. Isn't it more logical to have one world bank, Eterni Bank, one world currency, eterni? How come after 2000 years of Italian terrorism of the European continent and others, no nation has ever dared to be free of these thugs and create its own scripture, not coming from the Vatican chimps loving cannibalism Eucharist simulations as rituals in each and every Mass? Why eat Jesus and call this the central ritual of daily liturgy? We can create 1 trillion scriptures, much shorter, to the point, a trillion times nicer in vibe, Immortalist Anthem is 1 example among quadrillions. ☺☺☺

To be clear, Immortality capitalism is the antithesis of 'communism', where a few foreign agents create a puppet government to enslave a country, and the higher ups are the new 'aristocracy' so to speak (though 1000-10000 times less wealth than true aristocrats, just better living conditions than most (sort of like upper middle class in America, not rich), except for dictator perhaps, if dictator wealth not faked) with everyone else having no say: in Immortality capitalism everyone is co-creating the system thru the AI models feedback and all the other suggestions meant to increase participation and motivation 100 fold. Immortality capitalism is not the mass looting and anti-life (though victims with dead relatives would call them genocidal at times) actions of 'communist' regimes who forcibly took property from quite poor people (grain from peasants to starve them to death, in "order to do genocide" via famine: Ukraine, China, etc), forced in death 'labor' camps dissidents, created food shortages (e.g. Romania 1980s to pay IMF debt, while reportedly dictators deposit $ in Swiss accounts they never get to see if killed). I'm not going to debate how many of the gruesome stories are true or fake, but obviously they can't be all made up, in all 50+ countries; someone can be offended by any sentence, so writing in the least offensive way for highest amount of people is very hard, and 0% non-offensive to all is impossible (due to people identifying with ideologies, etc) when dealing with mass atrocities that were not all 'made up' as some claim. If people are honest and realize we all make mistakes, then they feel better and realize they have been conned into identifying with an ideology. The eternis☺☺ know over trillions of years things balance out (poor become midle class or rich or rich become middle class, etc) and anything unlike 'infinite loving kindness gentle healing grace' (even frowns and sarcasm, let alone intimidation or etc) comes back to the originator in the right century, so any change needs be happy, creating "discomfort or pain for none". Immortality capitalism would never touch anyone's property (unless a huge wealth obtained via theft of worker's wages or via fraudulent toxic products sold to millions of workers), it would be giving existing system a more pro-life character, empowering everyone, 'rich' and poor to live a happier longer life; the "formerly super rich" will like it too, because it will give their employees a 100 times higher motivation, even if there will be some restrictions on CEO (CEO pay 3-4 times the minimum wage) and other salaries non-profits and companies set. The 'richer' (> average income), "rich" (slightly more assets than the average) (today spies use 'billionaire' as a cover), will like it too, since the tax rate would be the same, meaning 0, for all people or entities and will enable 100 times the productivity of society in releasing long*evity enhancing products that the 'formerly rich' can benefit from. Whatever benefits the average Joe or poor, benefits the rich too: longer lived, healthier workers means more inventions and systems of life extension. This unified tax rate could be paid thru Immortality Finance central supercomputer linked to all banks that processes all payments between any entities or individuals and* subtracts the One Rate, maybe 15%, that eliminates millions of destroyed livelihoods, focused on tax preparation, litigation, when they could instead triple human lifespan – any payment received by any individual is income and is taxed at 15%, so simple: all cash transaction would thus be illegal, so that the Gov can get 15% - thus all payment is done via credit/debit cards, all banks automatically subtract 15%. Not to mention the wasting of time of small business owners and regular people who try to file their taxes on below avg income.

A final wake up call to Christians: the ideals of fair pay, equal rights☺☺☺, etc have existed for millennia and the working class has tried for millennia in 100s of nations, kingdoms to create a fair society. In more recent times, this has become known as the communist, socialist or leftist movement. This social current was sponsored, in the world's first communist state, USSR, by the (Christian supported) Jews from outside USSR, in London (where communist manifesto was written, with calls to blow up (Russian in reality, not British) factories since it was to be used to dismantle the Russian Empire), New York (bankers, Jews and Christians), EU, USA. The Jews in USA and Europe financed communism in Russia, which led to the Genocidal Torah beatings of slaves, rapes and the like to become state approved genocidal torture and genocide against enemies of the Jewish-Russian fake communist state. This infernal violence then spread to China and many nations, causing 120 million dead. This HOLOCAUST was only possible due to the infernal depravity of the (Jew manipulated) Christian states and pastors who dared to lie to the Masses that the Infernal Torah is the Word of God and is acceptable part of the Christian scripture, and these monsters then allowed the Jewish power and synagogues to spread and take over USA, seen with 'God of Israel' brainwashing in 400000 churches and the circumcision of most Americans by the Jewish Mafia disguised as atheists or Christians in USA. However, this only happened due to the credulity of the Christians, whose IQ is so low, they don't realize their fake miracles charlatanism based religion was created by clever Jews (who took over Rome) and useful cannon fodder Italians, who used Christianity to spread the genocidal Torah as part of the Christian scripture. The less ethical Jews hypnotized the primitive Christians to accept the Filthy Genocidal Slavery, Rape, violence against Slaves, Kids, slaves of the Communist Elites, etc as the Word of God. The godless unethical Jews teamed up with these Infinitely Low in IQ, Cruel (Cruelty stems from ☺abysmal IQ☺) Religious Jew Torah Lovers (God, the real one, not the cannibal gorilla of the bible, knows a trillion ways to peace or any outcome without any violence, beatings, rape and torture) who used the Cover of Communism to satisfy their "Diabolical" Chimp IQ Torah Urge to Kill Millions of Gentiles in Accordance with Deut 7:1-16 Infernal 'Bible': any gentile nations the chimps want to exterminate will be so by Yahweh the Pig's Whim of Genocidal hate: "you better believe these ant IQ, filif IQ people and their nonsensical Bible or your nation will be wiped off the map". Each time a gal/guy goes into a Church, Synagogue or Mosque (Islam is another Jewish creation), s/he promotes the Communist Violence and its offshoots worldwide, the beatings, the torture that killed 120 million innocent people, at the hands of the Jewish Psychos who hijacked the ancient communism ideas to create Terror. How is it possible in a democracy to allow these gangsters calling themselves rabbis, imams, pastors to spew this infinite hate, genocide praise and rape and beatings with rods of kids and slaves as the Word of Ethics and God? Only when your whole nation is run by Torah Jews (the low IQ type of Jew) disguised as locals thru intermarriage. The low IQ Christians don't realize they're mere useful puppets in the hands of the Clever Crafty Religious Jews who use ☺ abysmal IQ☺ folks to spread the Infernal Torah & Jewish supremacy disguised as the Christian or Muslim "scripture". So, before Christian hypocrites come on TV to criticize the anti-religion/anti-Christian regimes of Islamist or Socialist nations, they need to realize that without the Christian publishing of the evil Bible, Islam (whose Quran is Bible rewritten) would not have emerged, without the infernal violence of the Jewish Torah (Promoted by ☺abysmal IQ☺ Christians as their Bible, unethically accepted as legitimate 'religion' by so called social democrats and leftists and right wing hypocrites alike) and Torah deifying part of the Jewish community, the pseudo communism of Infinite Genocidal terror would not have emerged. Communism never existed, communism (for which the poor fought for millennia) is infinite kindness for all, 0 violent crime, not terror. So, to prevent the creation of endless offshoots from Christian infernal scripture, Christians need to update the Infernal Scripture to reflect truth, remove all violence, otherwise new Islams, North Korea like nations will emerge forever. That is the call of the positive nonviolent Immortalist Anthem, a decent guide to replace the savage infinitely violent text called "holy" Terror Manuals of Beatings of ALL in the Bible/Torah (kids, workers, sex slaves), Quran (sex slaves, mutilated infidels, kids, wives). Today, all kindly realize that the Bible is nothing original, not even the 10 commandments. Sacrifice, beatings, torture were normal in the Middle East and Indian 'Scriptures', trade allowed 'knowledge' to spread. Jewish Torah believers are too low in IQ to even realize almost all their cherished beliefs were copied from "negligible

IQ folks" on various continents, almost none of it is original. If you go to ants in a forest and ask them about their view of God or physics, it is as ☺abysmal IQ☺ and comical☺ as the Jewish Bible view of God and physics, at least from the vantage point of a human living 80 times longer than us, as we humans live 80 times longer than ants. Get over it, God is so complex that the human ant brain can't even begin to comprehend God. Now, think about humans who live 8 trillion times longer than us, how different God is for them. Isn't it funny how these religions focus so much on rituals, and weird rules about hair and etc, while the central message of lines 8-40 of the Immortalist Anthem, or first page of it, is ignored and violence is in 500-1500 places in their scripture? What's the point of temple curls or special clothing if you don't live gentle tender soft nurturing healing speech melody action tone? There is no point, a scripture can be just 2 pages, like first 2 pages of the Immortalist Anthem, so all know it, live it instead of being so cruel as the Bible/Quran incites all to be. The more pages, the more rules, rituals, regulations, the more people forget the main idea: to be a trillion times kinder gentler sweeter towards the worst than the most loving mother of last decade was to her only infant suckling her breast.

Immortality Building Inc (details here) will enable every house to be sold/bought in 1-4 days thus eliminating the realtor and mortgage broker parasite professions. It also builds all houses differently, to prioritize 4000 year lifespan for all, via proper deep sleep obtained by good brain oxygenation, meaning living-dining total 200 sq ft max, room size min 350 sq ft, max 400. NYC condos sit empty to save millions in taxes for billionaires. Nonprofits that claim to "help end homelessness" give 1 million $ salary to the CEO, like the bandit labor union leaders make 400-1050K, instead of 30K max. We have the most evil bastards steal taxpayer funds by claiming nonprofit status, where everything is a fraud. With one national program, we build 1 million small homes (for all homeless) for 10 times less price in 1 year, 10x less these genocidal mafia nonprofits charge the cities, counties, states. We need to max nonprofit employee pay to avg US salary by changing the US Constitution. All these rats getting rich by making sure nothing gets done to address the issues they "supposedly handle" deserve fines worth the amount stolen via inflated salary above average and min wage for life going forward for destroying the lives of many. As you might know, US and all nations are run by 'thieves'☺☺☺ whose main job is faking elections, so they allow bandit realtors to not inform the buyer that the property they're buying lives in a flood zone, and then, the guy may not raise the house (with pillars or earth, 5-8 feet off the ground), buy inflatable barriers to have ready to deploy within 1 hour in case of a storm or hurricane, so the nation, planet has to incur bills of 40 billion a year, preventable repairs and house reconstruction, endless property and time lost due to flood millions of times over, with realtors, contractors and corrupt city officials (or state) that we don't need if we dissolve the criminal states, all sabotaging the national state, causing billions of lifespan years lost for humanity, in a genocide that dwarfs the 1940s Holocaust, because for 8 billion lifespan years lost is the equivalent of 100 million infants losing 80 years each, or 200 million 40 year olds losing 40 years each, so 200 million gentiles versus 6 million Jews. Realtors are perhaps among the most criminal of professions overall, being more like pure gangsters. In the US, only one site, redfin.com, climate tab, indicates the risk of flooding, and then you need topography map to see even better the risk in low lying areas, that redfin doesn't really tell you: are you the low point in an area even if "risk is 0% in 30 years"? Redfin also indicates fire risk right below flood. This is explained better in about 7 pages. Notice how the most criminal French billionaire, worth 200 billion, creates useless luxury goods that are bought by the parasite upper middle class, and not by the really rich people. Instead of providing decent housing for all, these scum of the Earth billionaires create useless "luxury goods", which Immortalists would ban until all have a decent home worldwide. Since rivers can rise 26 ft in 45 min, all housing is built, maintained, repaired by the same Immortality Building Inc. Small contractors don't know what they're doing.

Inspections of house condition for filter changes, plumbing repairs, etc issues are necessary to prevent higher costs of sudden issues. Preventive maintenance is way cheaper for the state, catches issues 10 years before they become a cause for sudden death. Many parents have no beds for kids (10 kids live in 1 room without beds) or mold, feces, trash all over, or feces on walls, no beds for kids or trash, drugs (parents smoke fentanyl), feces, ever growing dog feces with kids sleeping outside, love lizards more than 7 starved kids, or kill kids with drugs, carbon monoxide (see drug addict couple living with 2 kids in a filthy trailer and kid dying), etc. The state needs to inspect every house twice a year minimum to prevent natural gas explosions, pipe floods, electrical fires, etc, to check sanitary conditions of the house if kids are present and overall cleanliness, mold, toxins, air contaminants from carpet, rugs, 5000 chemicals tested, etc. The dirty houses above are some of the millions created by the evil Republican & Democrat fake election system of subjugation of all, by the $1.4 trillion junk products selling aristocrats, while nobody can raise kids, with US having 0 federal days off, vs 195 weeks in other nations (US is only 1 out of 4 nations with no federal time off if a parent), with parents having little time to clean, fix house, etc due to working many hours or little income, no parent license to prepare parents and to inspect via video camera daily the condition of the house, no free education, no help for parents. Perhaps aristocrats need to live in a room with feces, maggots, rats, flies, mold and urine, to get a taste of what their actions create in USA in millions of homes. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

As one company builds/maintains all housing, we don't need Home Depot and Lowes☺☺☺. Today, due to the system of aristocratic terror and wild price differences of 500 fold from one town to the next in USA and other nations, people rent a house in one place and own 2 rental houses hundreds of miles away, doing a poor landlord job vs a professional national Immortality Building Inc company with 25 million employees. The aristocratic terror ensures that neither tenant, nor remote landlord is happy, and nobody's real needs for a quiet cities house are fulfilled. We end aristocracy and make flipping illegal: none can own 2 houses☺☺☺ until all above 18 own one. Even then, nobody will own two houses, because the money and energy going into maintaining 2 houses and sitting empty so much is not worth it and the same energy, materials can vastly improve 10 houses leading to higher lifespan for all. This way, nobody is homeless (people are homeless even with a job, or 6 kids) and with the 11 companies, all are employed at all times. The first human right of people and duty of government is shelter, not shouting empty promises in Hitler tone at fake elections campaigns, not small, medium, large businesses for the parasitic aristocrats to own 2-9000 houses or strip clubs, gambling venues, liquor stores, vape stores, etc. Houses are sold-bought in 1-4 days via the same All American, for all☺☺☺ states, equal opportunity/law for all, website housing.gov that has 900 times more info than zillow today. The house to be sold, bought or room/house to be rented is inspected (together with common areas to ensure health and safety), then AI computes market value, offers person cash for it if one wants to sell it within 24-48 hours, then the Government finds a buyer within days or months. With one company doing it all, all utilities come from Eternal Utility Inc, so there is no need to turn anything on/off, transfer, they just charge checking account automatically upon buying/renting a house, turning off automatically at the old place. Once it sells to the gov, Immortality Building Inc will fix it and sell it later. No more time wasting with "turn on, off and transfer service" as the whole country uses only Eternal Utility Inc. 1000 times more efficient, so we focus on longevity tech. Aristocrats out, efficiency in, freedom, longevity for all in. Aristocratic palaces repurposed, aristocrats move to regular houses.

Foreigners (non-citizens) pay 100% property tax to buy a house, like in Spain. If no money to buy, then rent a house from the Immortality Building Inc housing.gov, the only house landlord in the nation, since none have 2 houses by law, to maintain high quality of housing for ALL. Citizens can only rent via housing.gov a room or their entire house if they go live with a relative for 5 months. All states dissolved, all driving license issued by Eternal Travel Inc, and no need of residence proof, since there is only ONE ID: that tells anyone where you live, since all rentals are via housing.gov linked to your ID and credit card with the Only One Bank, Eterni Bank. You know how today to get a license you go to the DMV and they ask for proof of residence, bills, and a real ID photo ID (previous state license or passport, etc), but the reality is you will need nothing with this universal ID, for you can't live anywhere without housing.gov knowing about it, since you pay to housing.gov not the person, the person gets money from housing.gov. Life just becomes 1000 times easier, no more store cards allowed for grocery, discounts or anything. Only 1 card for EVERYTHING. Gone are wallets with 40 discount cards, 5 CREDIT CARDS, 2 ATM CARDS and 3 EV charging cards, 5 building entrance cards. Such criminal Jewish mercantilism is there to drastically lower the average IQ of the slaves (the 98%) and make everyone an unethical slave of the Jewish bankers, with slaves eager to contract kill any "opponent of palace dwelling aristocrats" for $900. The discount cards (become a member) are nothing but a fraud and waste of time and national resources, because the CEO and higher ups get paid 1 to 50 million, and the customers get high prices due to huge salaries and no Eternal Prices of the Immortality Credit System. Not only that, but products are very poor, since low ranking scientists have little incentive to do a great job, to optimize, to provide feedback, etc when they get paid 500 times less. The other guys slack and act busy, due to this so the whole society stagnates in a pool of "kill to steal" capitalism, where the most deceiving liar wins. One card does everything, pays all parking, all transport (most is free anyway in the new system), all EV charging, all store or online purchases, enters any building, acts as drivers license. No birth certificate is needed, the Immortality ID is given to all at birth, parents keep it early on, to use for vaccinations. Add to that the fact that the scientists often live in their cars, as rent or buying is too expensive/hard.

The seller determines the speed of the house sale, by accepting certain bids made by buyers who compete in a fair way, or the government if no seller bids. Imagine housing.gov, where seller enters house address to setup appointment with the Immortality Building Inc (the only company in USA that builds, maintains and insures any building) to use 30 drones to take 50000 readings to indicate state of any house 2000 times better than today's stone age "inspection", 1000 pics, 20 videos, upload them to the housing.gov website so all can see and hear the noise level, every alley of a mobile park that leads to the house (those are not on google map, google street view lacks sound data), etc, drove view from above of the entire area 100 feet radius and even 1000 ft and 5000 ft (since google doesn't have it always), check house (or room for rent, terahertz to take pic of building materials on the inside to check for termites, water damage that alters structure,☺☺☺ with all contractors sending reports to Immortality Building Inc so it's known what was done and drones can detect any work even if no contractor did any work but the homeowner, due to inner and/or outer pics) for 30 things that today they don't even check when buying realtor.com houses. Today, all criminals use 100s of sites, from facebook to craigslist etc to pretend they rent a room or place, but with housing.gov nobody can list anything, unless they're logged in into their immortality.gov account and it shows they own that property. The scammers are just trying to get low IQ suckers to pay some application fee. Likewise, any items sold on market.gov or eterni.i (i = the immortality domain), another site to replace all the other private hooliganism markets with fraudsters and illicit goods (Amazon, Walmart replaced too), will provide proof of purchase automatically (select which purchase from the last 80 years), via receipts of Eterni Bank (scan your last 80 years of receipts entered in the one account), that you own the item and if sold, that that person now owns it, so if they resell it, it was not stolen. Today, if you try to find an old pressure cooker to use it as parts or to use the pot or whatever, you need to go to facebook marketplace, craigslist Amazon, goodwill, and endless places. This is downright ☺abysmal IQ☺, it can take you via searches for keywords 10 days to find an item. Not to mention, Amazon doesn't allow you to search men's pants by length 43" (since XL can mean 40" or 44" for different companies), "100% cotton" (meaning show results that contain the exact phrase only as an option, just as on PubMed to save time from clicking on 300 that don't have 100% cotton), etc and get only those results, everything is 5th grade website quality, as focus is CEO palaces, not customer service. Let's waste 3 hours to find a pair, instead of 4 minutes. Way to go USA, back to the stone age. Forget that, imagine the immortalism method: all used items not sold by one of the 11 companies are given to one of the 1 million eterni.i warehouses, and government gives you value for it and enters the UPC code. When you want to search for an item, if yours broke, that's used or new, you specify if used or new, you enter UPC code which you find on the sticker and find your item in 5 seconds, not 10 days, as you searched one website with 2 trillion items, not craigslist free items marketplace with only 1 million items or some goodwill thrift store. This is the sense of universal family, we're one and we need efficiency, so we focus all efforts on health and longevity, instead of on having 500000 marketplaces and thrift stores. Thus, eterni.i replaces even Amazon to sell any and everything. An Amazon like truck comes and picks up items you want to sell, after you fill an online form proving you bought the item last time it was bought. It saves tire particles, electricity, and everyone is free from the need to make so many errands, the truck picks 4000 items. None can steal. Amazon warehouses are converted to eterni.i warehouses, since gov takes over Amazon, fining it 400 trillion for selling unsafe products. This way we prevent theft and no cash (or ATM crime) exists, no stolen goods can be sold anymore. No cash, no theft possible, since any buy is via the Eterni Bank card only legal residents have. If you want to buy a gift, you check the gift box online and the ownership transfers as proof of purchase to the recipient, so they can sell it later if not needed anymore. Since eterni.i has amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ shopping experiences via 3D, AI measuring your size by taking a few phone pic, etc, more people shop online, leading to a far less congestion. The most freeing moment is when we produce everything in USA and everything is shipped online mostly via this eterni.i. This means mail people only need to inspect packages or letters that don't have the eterni.i written on it, like Amazon has, for these are USA products and have no drugs. Then anything else is inspected by 30 million dogs, to detect any drugs, besides the border is 3000 times more secure. Thus, we get 0 drug traffic in no time. Meditation can make people happy, so they get "high" from breathing consciously, instead of from pills that make them dependent and paying money to make a gang leader a billionaire aristocrat. Drug dealers are like Big Pharma, pure parasitic aristocrats, leeches who feed off the working class, who instead of giving people a method to be happy and fish for themselves, learning how to fish, they give them the fish at huge prices to ruin their lives. Ethical people are self-reliant. Vampires import, especially parasitic behavior if a big nation that has enough land, resources to be self-sufficient. US is a vampire nation because only a parasite imports stuff from countries with violent crime, which is the rest of the world. We need to evolve to the stage of the Tao Te Ching sage self-reliant and ethical, 1 trillion times less violent crime by police, gov, people, by the fairness of efficiency of the 11 companies allowing us to make all stuff here in USA. Let one country be free and stop playing games. Imports can have poisons, spy tools, disguised weapons. You can't become free if you depend on violent nations, full of dishonest charlatans. Today tech allows all to use wave, wind, solar to produce all energy and chemistry to make all food. However, laziness and the genocidal ruling elites are not interested in progress, only in power to subjugate. USA has been controlled by criminal families for 5 centuries, so we can't have any real progress.

The eterni.i tests all imports and local products with XREF-scanners to heavy metals, to make sure no lead, mercury, etc exists. Currently, Jesus the fake God, didn't make sure a lot of Christian themed toys and Christmas trees and lights, etc are free from lead, leading to millions of poisonings. The bandit government of USA, run by aristocratic mafia puppets, gives trillions in tax breaks to charlatan churches, but there is not even 5 million for XREF scanners to inspect import items, food pots, pans, etc. The criminal Amazon has 500+ million for Jeff Bezos' palaces, but not 5 million for some scanners to indicate Aluminum, Lead, Cadmium/Arsenic, Mercury levels of Amazon items. It's high time to immortalists to buy scanners, test1 billion items from physical stores, Amazon, etc and team up with lawyers to sue these beastly kings of hell, to finance the rise of the Immortalist Party and rid the World of these Parasitic Vampires. Since the universal education.gov provides 2-7 hour lessons to all kids and parents from age 0 to 8, all can home school, by passing the online tests and avoid going daily to nursery, kindergarten, school, except for science and meditative breathing and singing labs that measure brain parameters. Parents stay home with kids for 3 years, as they get 3-4 days off (mom works 3 days only, 6 hour shifts, dad works the other 4 days of the week, 8 hour shifts) from age 0 to 3. It's easy, given the efficiency of the 11 companies. After year 3, they can work 4 days a week, 10 hour days, on alternate days, so that one parent is home until age 8 when they start going to school more for the science labs, etc. Since kids only need to go to labs 2 days of the week max, on those 2 days, parents can also work both, so they can get the weekend off for the entire family. This is why good quality homes are key for the health of parents and kids. All houses need to be free of mold, bugs. This will lead to a 4 fold decrease in traffic noise, tire particulates that cause lung cancer, asthma, heart disease, and a commute time 4 times shorter (15 minutes for 10 miles, not 1 hour), especially as we build new cities to house the condo dwellers and reduce the insane traffic in big cities. Currently, the aristocrats live in palaces in cities with 0 traffic, while the slaves (70%) in super crowded areas. Angry at the aristocrats, the slaves are acting busy and the time is not used to build new cities, as aristocrats don't want to liberate the slaves, but to keep all chained. This in turn leads to no innovation, as slaves know the aristocrats use anything to serve the rich first, and the 90% sometimes never. This in turn destroys progress, as each class undermines the other, lose-lose is the end result of the aristocratic terror system of pretending to fairly reward efforts of all. Every product will have a nice sticker with a code or serial number, which indicates the proof of purchase as you're getting paid by the warehouse staff instantly, and then the gov sells it to others. No longer do you have to wait 100 days to sell an item, it is instant. Like housing.gov. This is the revolution of immortalism: fast, efficient and 90000 year lifespan building. It's the end of the nobility, aristocrats and their servile dogs and gangsters who suck the blood out of 85% of Americans. The gist of it is that most of the issues in America don't come from criminals, but from CEOs and criminal business owners who create a system that maximizes theft, theft of public resources, of human labor, on a scale that is genocidal: they make 5-50000 times the money for pretty much the same exact effort and work, creating a country of pure banditry, and a similar international system. To enforce their hooliganism, they use endless violence via their police, FBI, CIA, military and other entities.

All houses bought are already renovated (the government will create new standards for detecting insects, yellow, green and grey mold, so no more black and dark color toilets, tubs, walls, etc, everything is HEALTH first, so light colors, especially kitchen and bath), since it is easy, due to the heavy maintenance that the Immortality Building Inc does on every house twice a year (workers of Immortality score 500 go to houses around that score, not much higher or much lower, so that everyone is on the same wavelength and punching types don't go near sages to punch sages). The gov buys houses from sellers, renovates them and puts them on the market renovated, if any renovation is needed since the last yearly inspection. Move in ready, safe to live in. NO mold. Another advantage of this is that couples can sell the house instantly and get a divorce in 3 days too, via divorce.gov to ensure that nobody lives in the same house unless they like living together, so as to prevent rage, anger that often leads to violent crimes. The idea of marriage is only for ☺filif hen IQ☺ people, since if a gal and guy are happy, they can be together 500 years, raising kids and what not. If they're not happy, then split, all assets remain separate, each gets the same % of house sale to gov as they put to buy it. No 50-50 or other nonsense. Millions of violent crimes happen in houses where people aren't happy with their kids or spouse, parents or whatever, so housing.gov will play a key role in quickly deflating deescalating things before one side decides to take matters into their own hands by violence. The criminal pastors teach people that beating kids with rods and genocide, rape etc are Word of God and they create a huge unnecessary tension in every marriage by the very marriage institution, by setting expectations and possessive thinking patterns into motion that invalidate freedom to leave if things become tense. By making it so easy to split, couples can maintain amicable relations perhaps and go back together after 1-2 years of cooling off. Forcing people to be together is insanity of a 1st century system of rat IQ clergy, too busy with nonsensical rituals to think. People are encouraged to force suffering on themselves, instead of focusing on the Immortalist Anthem ethics of keeping the vibe of happiness up by going to a counselor at the Immortality Nurturing Agency to discuss how to split custody or whatever once house is sold, and perhaps, when anger is low, if ever, the two can reunite just as fast as they split. But nobody ought to be forced to stay with people they view as evil, since that's like arranged marriages parents do to increase power of the family, without any concern for the kids' free will, like they do in some backward countries, power plays among soulless parents looking for $, fame and power or the same for spy networks to increase spy agency links. Dating.gov solves the issues.

Things few check today are tornado risk 1/20 or 5/20 how many tornadoes happened last 75 years within 5, 10, 20, 50 miles. Tornadoes have speeds higher than hurricanes often times, and destroy even brick and concrete block houses, so you want a new concrete block house to withstand weak tornadoes at least. Never buy mobile or wood frame houses in tornado states. Another thing housing.gov will list is the flood risk: redfin.com lists it under climate tab (section after schools) on redfin, it will say "0%, 6, 20, 60 or 97% risk of flooding next 30 years" for your house, even when the location map says 'no flood info'. Flood factor 1/10 or 4/10 may be missing, but if you click on the right side small square location map with streets on the first page of a property, then switch to the climate flood tab in that popup window, it shows the flood factor and blue areas of flooding and you want a house where the blue is several houses from your house, at least as those have 1/10 flood factor and are safer than those with 1/10 flood factor and blue nearby. Having a flood blue zone away from house can still mean risk of flooding is 20% in 30 years, even if redfin doesn't list it and this can be seen at fema.gov where you enter the address, click on the NFHL (National Flood Hazard Layer) Viewer and make sure it is C or X (unshaded) flood zone, not AH, A, etc; C and unshaded X are higher safer elevation than the 500 year flood zone that have 0.2% (1 divided by 0.002 is 500 years) chance of flooding in the next year. Redfin saying 'minimal risk of flooding next 30 years' or 1/10 flood factor is not enough for max safety, you want a house with blue areas at least 50 feet away for a really 1/30 flood factor they don't list. Blue areas away can still mean flood risk is 20% (zone AH, which FEMA designates as high risk flood area) or 60% in 30 years (zone X shaded), so check riskfactor.com, FEMA and redfin climate section. Also use the topographic map, double click to go to the country, state, town, street of your house to see exact altitude of your house v nearby areas.

This helps those outside of USA who lack redfin.com, FEMA, etc to calculate flood risk in stone age countries, so they may live to 200 and build immortalism globally. Redfin will explain in the Flood factor popup window that 1/10 risk factor is FEMA Zone X unshaded for example. Always check FEMA and REDFIN, to confirm. Watch the map as it shows how far away you're from the nearest house, you want to choose a house that is the furthest away from nearby houses (at least 5 houses sizes, those rectangular darker grey units), that you can for your budget, to avoid dog sounds, electromagnetic attacks, intentional big trucks lunging into your house at 1 km an hour due to mind control (hired hit men or unaware useful puppet assassins), music sounds, etc and on a dead end street or country road, not major street behind the house, for less access by criminals driving by or using the main road as an excuse to drive by and launch a laser attack, etc. Check risk of fire via the nearby fire redfin.com tab and get fire insurance at least if not flood one. Climate change can cause 500 year flood to become 70 year one. This 1 min check, that 99% of buyers never do using redfin, can save you 100K in repairs over 25 years and realtors don't tell you that, they push you to buy to make 3% commission. Buy inflatable flood barriers☺☺☺ for 5K if flood waters get close to your house, or you didn't check flood zone when you bought the house, to have ready a sudden flood arrives before they can ship the barriers and you know how to inflate them with water in 2 hours. When you buy a house, go to redfin.com, then to schools tab and above it is the 'Zoning: A3, Permitted: etc', click on it and it will say if the dwelling is 'permitted' or 'not permitted'. This is useful to know, since if it's not permitted it's hard to sell it to those who don't have cash, unless you can get the city to give you permits after the fact, which may take a lot of time and upgrades. In redfin, if you hide some houses not interested in, you can see them again by going to the map of the search, click Options on the right and then Hidden or Flood if you want to see the flood zones (in case the Climate section or other areas don't say flood risk. In August 2024, a big nearby hurricane caused a lot of rain, which brought endless mud into a Big Island house, because the owner was silly enough to build on a slope without digging canals (ditches) (common in Florida) to let water coming from higher elevation to go thru with the mud, at least 10 feet from the house, so if the torrent makes the ditch wider, it won't affect the house. This happens in all nations, states, mudslides kill many. Think about your flood zone, if you want 20 pillars to let water pass under the house or build it at higher elevation (raise it 8 feet above street) so water goes around the house.

Equally important to list on housing.gov, world's fastest house buying, selling, and most advanced house search website with 900 times more info than any site combo today, is high noise risk and average decibels, noise in that neighborhood (like minut.com), how many airplanes fly over, how many trains pass by on average (and at what hours is most noise occurring, sometimes mas indicate a train track, but it may not be used much or at all, so it's helpful to know) based on AI recognition of sound type, every day of the week via AI sound recognition, how many barking sounds a week, how many kids crying and screaming sounds, how many civil shouts of humans or kids every week (mom come here, etc), how many loud angry quarell yelling by people sounds, how many construction noises a week (each of these can be a filter to search houses by) all done secretly by a drone going over an electric pole or something and recording so people can't fake it and be quiet, how many cars pass by, how many max acceleration car racing sounds, how many motorcycle sounds, how many honks, how many

bird noises at night (and day), how many woodpeckers knocking, how many cicada sounds, etc, a whole list of all sounds, so people who're happy in silence can have that, while those happy with big lots can have that and raise more veggies, etc, so all are happy and less likely to overthrow the government by becoming spies for others due to anger. We also get the samples of sounds at every 4 hour interval, to get an idea of the background city noise pattern, so we save billions of gallons of fuel or electricity, tire particles killing people's lungs, brains, hearts, and not drive there just to find out it's too noisy. This is the use of tech to save time, life and energy, prevent useless car traffic, car accidents, etc. Because house selection ought to take 5 days, not 5 years. This allows one drone to provide all info so 1000 people checking a house for sale don't waste 10 hours to check it multiple times, each, and instead look at the report and save 5000 miles of driving thru a state to find a nice quiet property (tire particles pollute the air, gas and electric cars also wear and cause emissions and extra work to make new cars) that dishonest realtors told them it's quiet but is not, because the lazy realtor was there only minutes, not 10 hours to hear huge airplane noises from 7 am to 7 pm. The electric airplanes of the leftists and immortalists are 100 times quieter, and they don't use oil that causes global warming, improving everyone's sleep. We need to get all governments to ban current aircraft designs and require 100 times quieter airplanes for regular☺☺☺ travel. People often have no concept of how annoying it is to hear strong airplanes 100 times daily, even 10 pm to 8 am. Realtors lie always, tell people stuff like "all houses have this issue, or airplane noise in this state" etc, to make you go ahead and buy some junk. Check flightradar24.com for the most common flight paths next week or so for any airport, to see if it will be ultra noisy or not. flightradar24.com/data/airports/dca/routes is for DCA airport, simply replace DCA with 3 letters of your airport to see routes, click 'show all routes' on the upper right of the map.

The new housing.gov site allowing all to buy house in 2 days would also list concentration of 2000 types of mold, fungi, bacteria, viruses, mycotoxins in the air from mulch or rotting vegetation (common in southeast states and Hawaii, South Florida with 1000 lakes and tons of mold growing, tornadoes). The current websites don't have a 50 point checklist that realtors fill that says "mold smell present on first, second or basement or washer dryer room" or "dirty paint etc" on level 1, etc, rusty pipe on third sink, etc… housing.gov will list all these so people don't waste time visiting, or even better, fix houses before they're ready to inhabit by new owners. As one person visits a house and leaves a review at reviews.gov the room smell score is changed it it stinks and Immortality Building Inc comes to fix the smell, measure the 7000 chemicals in the air and remove rotten egg smell from algal bloom, canal moldy weeds. Each house shows 900 parameters not the 10 today. The amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ housing.gov allows anyone to search by shape of lot (thin and long or square), by violent crime rate within 2 miles, 5 miles, 10 miles, by minimum winter average temp, construction materials (concrete block vs wood, vs mobile home, etc), and 900 other parameters in the search of all homes in the USA. The site would show the age of the house, nice exterior and interior pics from the last remodel done by I B Inc. No scams on craigslist.com trying to get you to pay some application fee first, when they have no room or house to rent. To list a room one has to be verified by the government as the owner, so private sites means total jungle is eternal. Aristocrats don't mind, as only slaves get scammed. It's a USA for 2 tiers of people: 5% aristocrats and the 95% slaves.

The first house I bought was a condo, but being busy I didn't go there at night, when it's much quieter outside, when windows are closed, and you can hear the pipe 'hammer noise'. That noise is easy to notice if windows are closed even during daytime if you know what to listen for. The criminal system of realtor parasitism☺☺☺ ensures thru distraction and window opening, the parasite lives in a quiet imperial place, while the 1000 workers he loots by his real estate commission live in pretty crappy places, with nothing properly disclosed even when he knows it from the home owner. The drone takes pictures and videos of all walls, parts of the house, fixtures, anything, immediately notices anything. At night, the sound becomes huge relatively speaking, and it's simply unbelievable such junk is sold in the USA: the HOA (the guys managing the condo complex) didn't want to fix it, so I sold the condo soon after. The second house I bought, the realtor and owners (who knew of the issues) hid them and even pressured me to buy it, when I wanted to pull out due to street noise. It's pretty standard, the parasite realtor wants the money, so will do anything to sell quick by advising the owner on what to disclose etc. The main function of spies/militaries worldwide seems to protect the imperial lifestyle of aristocrats, while the poor (30-50% of each nation) workers live in the most terrible conditions. After sleep deprivation thru noise, whole body destruction thru bad sleep via noise or torture, thru bad foods, thru bad music inciting people to crime and negative emotion, the scapegoat poor is jailed for more extermination, while the gangster aristocrats walk free. No need of 'house appraisal', another useless job to drain global resources. The images, readings go into database, then the gov gives you the house price within 2 hours, then you choose a mortgage and get approved within 2 hours. You only wait for private bids if you want more $, the drones take a 3D video so real, it is as if buyer visits the house and nearby streets (and can indicate violent crime rate range in the search, or "average min temp any month of year or Jan 50 and above, etc" (climate (average low and high for each month, ought to be listed too as an option to click on for details during a search nationwide for a house built this year or last 5, with a back house or etc, "noise decibels max 40", "split ventless AC/heating only" houses, vents got microbes) shown on housing.gov. Today you can still search for new houses nationwide, you type any city on redfin, and then zoom out to the entire state and it will show up new houses under 400K or your budget for entire states, just move the map. However, it's very time consuming to play with the map. Buyer can still visit once before moving in, after he won the bid, to make sure he will like it, having 1 day to change his mind. Today, no search is possible for the entire nation by violent crime rate (<4/10000 residents) or noise (decibels), climate, within a price range for example, since money is God, nonviolence is the last thing and priority.

This enables us to sell houses in min 24 hours, instead of 1-12 months today. It's the difference between fraud and feudalism (current system) and democratic immortality capitalism,☺☺☺ between a chariot and a space rocket traveling 8000 times faster. If we live to 9000 are we going to remodel every 8 years? With high tech we prevent all issues, so we remodel 100 times less. This fast selling and buying ensures society doesn't waste enormous amounts of time with signing up with 20 rental sites, or advertising sites if one wants to rent something, searching for 'good' realtor sites or companies, finding a realtor, realtors texting and calling and wasting eons to leave messages and behave like ☺some low IQ chimps☺ wasting time (instead of doing some science research) to find a 'good apartment' website, to change realtors when house doesn't sell giving 0 power to seller to change speed instantly by accepting bids easily, with searching online 100 companies to sell house with, etc. With housing.gov, we spend less time selling, buying houses or renting a room; once house sell request is sent to housing.gov, the photos, inspection, appraisal are done within 24 hours, if needed that fast, in the same 3 hour slot by the gov who buys it from you and you can move on; escrow closing in 48 hours, unless you want private bids too to outbid government valuation all can see (inspection results too). This is efficiency; gov can remodel it to bring it to high standards and eliminate vampiric flippers, as gov sells it at a correct price, with complicated algorithms of Immortality for All, not just highest bidder always, since it's Immortality for All capitalism, not flipper capitalism; those who currently don't own a house (to ensure all own a house, 1st time buyers get priority, if credit score is slightly lower than someone who already bought a house before and is selling it now to housing.gov), with Immortality Credit Score (this is ethics, nothing to do with finance normal credit score) higher than all others without a home, that is renters, (or who sell their own home at the same time, due to relocation needed for job, seller can extend escrow, so government allows him to stay a few extra days in his home until he gets another home, that way he doesn't have to rent and move twice, move only once, but renting is an option for those wanting to see an area, etc and renting a room takes a day anyway, so it would be easy, etc) bidding within a 2 hour window can get it first, at gov price, within hours of escrow closing for the sale (if two got same score, the bidding continues a few more minutes until a third person has higher score).

It is essential that we prevent predatory capitalism that turns countries into ghettos: in vampiric capitalism, as opposed to Immortality capitalism, the vampire buys 30 houses and rents them to 29 families, besides his 10 times bigger mansion. As a result, the conditions in which the "2nd class slaves" live in are bad, as no renter is allowed to make changes and landlord won't take the same interest in improving the house as the owner. Not only that, but USA has 7.2% of houses vacant, often due to being up for rent at high prices. This is because parasites own more than 1 home and keep people in crowded conditions or homeless by gaming the system to subjugate the poor 30%. Who needs 2 homes when 90 million Americans rent??? Only selfish heartless people with 0 morality and who don't actually give a crap about Immortality for All or who have been brainwashed to 'invest in real estate', since everything is about making money, not living to 100. Equal opportunity means equal opportunity to own your own home too. The American Revolution of 1776 accomplished little, since many of the same parasites do the same things as before 1776. The religion is often big house, big car, big stock assets, etc, not a world of nonkilling, nonviolence and Immortality for All. Once again, the people today don't think of giving trillion year lifespans to all, due to the brainwashing by religions and ideologies, if anything, they give them 20$ food stamps or bread crumbs, 0.001% of their 30 million mansion built on the sweat of the poor 30%. The folks of 2023 think about destroying other nations, if spies or soldiers, and many people wish bad things to others, we're so far from the immortalist greeting vibe of the Immortalist Anthem. Trillions of years allow all to transform and become nice. We need a peaceful evolution. Nobody can be happy and productive if they live in a crappy rented place. To make US productive,☺☺☺ innovative, we need to end aristocratic vampirism, give everyone basic shelter that is allowing decent sleep. We need to step in and bring basic ethics to USA. The owner will make his house so beautiful, because it's his property. I like it how they claim to be capitalists proud about property rights, but it's only for the rich, the rest have no property rights, only renting crap housing rights. The parasite becomes like a communist government (the parasites like to criticize always, and invoke for 5 million Ukrainians dead in collectivization), who takes away the property rights of 100s of people and becomes the big daddy☺☺☺ who provides lousy service to the slaves (of all races by the way), who die early and thus are victim of subtle hidden disguised genocide. This mini daddy is not accountable to anyone really, unlike the government. Thus, parasitic capitalism leads to decay, as renters have no incentive to beautify the neighborhood, house, etc – they don't live there for long, can't get the money back from the effort spent to upgrade it, make it nicer at the sale, etc. By encouraging parasitism, we make housing degrade faster, and 29 families being enraged by the system; the anger then leads to system collapse, due to disinterest in doing a good job in their 9-5 job, no interest in voting, anger, riots. Let all be engaged in Immortalism building and first of all, we need good sleep, as that's when the body repair happens every day and without that, we age ultra fast. If the parasite lets the pipe make a loud "hammer" noise (old pipes) 24-7 365 days/year in a condo, then of course, we have people not getting good sleep, he simply doesn't care. Sometimes, he intentionally does it to destroy others. The noise is so loud, that not even earplugs make it go away. The current system of house purchase favors parasites. It's so complex, that people will often move 5-7 times within 10 years, as renters, when they could have easily bought a house in that area. Landlords often want room for family, so renter has to move out, which makes renters age faster, as you sleep better if you don't move every 1-2 years.

It would take max 4 days for housing.gov to sell a house once clean/empty, 1 day to rent any room (2 minutes to increase rent yearly by going to the national rent increase form that gets emailed and texted to the tenant, to avoid 30000 forms and papers and ☺abysmal IQ☺ of the 14th century of Neolithic laws of cities and states, decentralization wasting everyone's time; why do we need 50 states rent or buying contract forms?) 1 day to find any room for rent that is quiet (no barking, loud parties, 20K fines for noise, as sleep is # 1 for longevity). In your own 1 bedroom house it can be quiet, but when you rent, the owner can make a big noise, you can't really do much about it, except ask him to lower TV volume. This will cause a shift from rentals to owning, rentals become 0.1% of the houses, which are maintained much better, since people own them and .gov sends maintenance tips, and Immortality Building Inc maintains when called, if sensors didn't detect issues first. It's a known fact landlords don't take as much care of a property as their own home, so people who rent live shorter per many studies. If we want to be a healthier nation and planet, these blood sucking parasites who rent 50 houses of 5 and don't take care of them will need to find new jobs. No renting is needed if houses are bought and sold in 2 days, and Building Inc mass produces many single tiny houses for temp stays. If space exists, single story is better, since if any leaks develop in upstairs baths, they won't ruin the whole ceiling and everything. Plus in hot climates, downstairs is cooler. The parasites won't thrive off the workers. Americans will finally feel as if the government doesn't reward thieves, greed and parasites, but innovation, IQ, Immortality for All building qualities, research and science that provides high tech materials instead of keeping house technology in the 1st century: wood and rock for the most part. The government's duty is to encourage altruistic ethical behavior and tech solutions not to incentivize people to become thieves and speculators, or doing a poor job or not caring about RESEARCH "since gov doesn't care of course". There is a legal battle that will reshape the realtor field, that says Americans are conned of $30 billion at least. USA can evolve past the 3rd world country stage to civilization, as the yoke of slavery is discarded. Thru efficient education centralization, we will increase RESEARCH & Dev jobs 50 fold, decrease redundant parasites 10000 fold. Even K-12/college students will do 50x more RESEARCH. All will be motivated to do a good job, innovate, etc, since they know all benefit, not the 0.1% only. Then, all can live to 500. If they don't do that right away, California and other states can simply set max commission to 0.5% for a house sale, paid by seller, with 0.25 to seller agent and 0.25 to the buyer agent. This removes the lies and incentives for people to become realtors: we need STEM majors. This allows the immortalist California administration to rein in the parasites and promote tech jobs. In some counties houses are 40-100K, so then obviously, they can set it a little higher. But this California thing is only a temporary solution, why create 50 systems, if one is much better and efficient. The whole nation and planet needs to wake up. ☺☺☺

Since all can buy a home in 2-4 days, and millions of 200 ft^2 studio like houses exist, nobody rents anything, except rarely a room for short visits, so we get out of the whole landlord-tenant games. One federal rule for all 20000 cities: 3 day notice to leave since anyone can find a place to rent, a room that is within 1 day. Landlord simply goes to housing.gov, files the notice and it goes to tenant who will vacate. No more courts, and evictions or anything like that, to make room for science jobs. We're full of parasitic lawyers, judges, etc who're simply lackeys of the aristocratic reign of terror. That's why we don't have any new invention, except military related stuff: cars, rockets, PCs, phones to spy on people. Whoever doesn't vacate will pay $5000 a day (monthly average salary) fine to the Immortality Nurturing Agency, half of which goes to landlord and after 10 days of delay, the landlord can file a request of removal (meaning the cops take the guy out to a healing center to help him find a room, and all his stuff and downgrade his Immortality Credit Score 100 points which will take 2 years to recover usually). We won't have to have trillions of dollars wasted with lawyers, notices printed and all these Paleolithic laws about paper notices and stuff. Since anyone can buy a house and ownership is above everything, doable in 2 days, the only rentals will be temporary rooms for people not interested in buying a house there yet. This removes so many laws and bureaucracy. No more 60 day notices required by Neolithic California and nonsense that make house selling take eons, that way seller has money by next mortgage payment to buy new house in 4 days, since inspector drones need an empty house except owner room. Buying would be as easy as renting a room is today or 50 times easier. There will be a huge amount of studios, to own and none for rent. To prevent people being unhappy, any renter can give 24 hour notice of leaving to landlord. This prevents abuse by renters and landlords and minimizes conflict, tension. No lease can exist and since all payment is done via housing.gov, one can leave and housing.gov no longer charges the person the daily rent. It's the end of leases and complex systems of slavery and financial obsession. Gone will be stock markets, 4500 banks (except one) and soulless parasites giving talks on "how to build wealth". These ☺abysmal IQ☺ parasitic primitives care about nothing except paper money, not on increasing average healthy lifespan. 11 companies for all and free education for all, for 100 times more science innovation jobs, instead of how to rip everyone off jobs. No taxes or all taxes subtracted by gov automatically for all in all transactions, gov prints money and basic and other goods distributed to all. Why do we need taxes for? So rich pay none and the rest pay it? IRS say the rich 1% use tricks to avoid paying 160 billion. The evil rich create 300 loopholes to avoid paying even 1%, while we pay 10-20%. It's a scam. The rich hire 300 tax professionals to cheat the government. It's a criminal system of feudal terrorism.☺☺☺ Even Trump, the aristocrat supporter, wants to get rid of all income taxes and institute tariffs instead. Real reform is making max income 5 times higher than minimum too, via the 11 companies. Since we need eliminate all state and city governments for true efficiency and make them all federal employees, then state taxes make no sense anymore either. To bring Eternal Universal Peace and 1 billion times lower violent crime, we need real reforms, not the cosmetic reforms of the last 5 millennia. Let's have one law and keep it simple, science jobs instead of tax professionals jobs. We're a nation of "accountants, lawyers and number crunching experts" that has 0 physics innovation: chemistry and physics are physical sciences that require infrastructure, not a pen and paper, you can't discover everything in "your head or computer". Too many economics majors and complex tax/government systems. Too much bureaucracy everywhere, nothing gets done, 20000 cities make 20000s version of a law to act busy and say they "do something for America" to turn us into a 3rd world country falling behind. Why do we need 50 states and 50 attorney generals and all this? Gently read the section on creating 8 US states of similar size.

We get a Tesla like robot based high tech factory of Immortality Building Inc producing 50 million kits for 200-400 ft^2 studios, at a low price, that can be shipped by truck and installed: recall, one company builds and maintains all hotels/houses, the age of "conflicts", "that company did X, Y, Z" ends. We finally can focus on the health, wellbeing of the galley slaves workers. Nobody will want to rent if they can own the exact house, except for people who only want a tiny room for a few weeks where no house is available for sale, nor hotel rooms. Nobody will need "rental income", but some can rent a room, if hotel is pricey or absent in town. However, due to the vast improvement in efficiency and end of parasitism, all hotel prices fall. No Airbnb, all rents via housing.gov to remove need for 10^{90} lawyers, judges, procedures. Who needs divorce lawyers? Nobody if all choose to not marry, or if it is all done fast via divorce.gov, max 1 week, usually 3 days. Send all evidence and videos and done. Never stay in a relationship with a person who doesn't further the rise of the Immortalist Culture in all its aspects, the rise of 0 war, 0 violent crime in 10 years, who doesn't strive to post only immortalist tone content on social media, who doesn't strive to change one's vocal tone and fight the evil of the terrorists at many spy/military agencies worldwide who don't follow immortalist ethics. Machiavelli was right about something (even if wrong about most things): Your Purpose to Bring Heaven on Earth is more important than all relationships with any men or women on Earth. So, if anyone distracts you from your Goal, Immortality for All, 0 war in 10 years, you can end the relationship fast, regardless of their gender or relationship, since World Peace in 3 months is preventing the 10 seconds end of all human beings and is above everything else on Earth, meaning gentle tone music and social media posts, gentle tone of speech for bringing 0 violent crime to sustain the peace that brings eternal World Peace via 1 nation, 1 language, 11 companies. Time is short, soon all humans may die in 10 seconds. Choose wisely, any relationship, not just a "spouse", you don't need marry anyway, since it keeps standards higher when they know you can leave any time and the love for humanity deeper. Don't enrich Jewish lawyers, stay in a relationship only if both are happy. Efficiency & Research 1st. No Airbnb, since the company never checks anything, while housing.gov will check everything. The AirBnbs I used, 4 of them so far, are absolutely neglected:

endless holes in the roof allowing horrible smells from rotten moldy roof to seep into the rooms, bent roof, moldy stinky vents, old poor air filters for the intake, not even spending 5 minutes to put some caulking in to prevent horrible smell, mold in the bath, 3 of them, bacteria on the floor, rugs, the most disgusting moldy leaking rust filled sinks, mold in showers everywhere on one of the AirBnB, squeaky floors (takes so little to fix), mold smell in the house near bath, central heat/cooling filters not changed for 5 years. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

AirBnB is a criminal organization run by thugs who don't check anything, nor the gangsters, CIA agents who use torture weapons per their contracts with CIA terrorists. We need Immortality Building Inc to make it easy for anyone to rent a room short term and do proper inspection, not this private banditry and hooliganism. Exactly like we have minimum liability insurance for cars, we need minimum maintenance of houses by professionals from Immortality Building Inc, to make sure any hotel, building, house rented, etc is in health sustaining condition. Choose guesthouses, in the AirBnB filters, select guesthouse, check photos to be without carpets, only wood floors, since carpets stink and gather 50000 times more allergens and odor. Take pics and send them to FBI to close AirBnB or help them renovate those units. That way you have full kitchen, private bath, etc and no vents to bring in toxic molds, dust mites inside from rooms. Just use a silent sealed oil heater you buy and keep in your car. Hotels can stink and be incredibly filthy with smoke odor and so many bacteria from carpet etc. Plus these filthy hotels can cost more than guesthouse Airbnb and be louder, while guesthouses are separate. As it is, Airbnb is a total scam, with people claiming clean house, but full of mold and nothing ever changed, the most vomit like smell of carpets (mix of weed, alcohol, smoke and dirt of a carpet never cleaned in 20 years), dirty filthy disgusting fridges, no meters for fridge bacteria to determine if proper cleaning done, nothing, so it's probably also a CIA (or other spy agency) prison and concentration camp cell, where they torture people with hidden devices. It's worse than traditional room/house rentals, which are not checked well either. We're often shocked how filthy these Airbnbs are. Does the house stink like mold? People forget that colonialism never died, it only uses multinational "private" companies (state spy agency extensions, military of country of origin extensions) to train and install devices, spies, etc and ensure enslavement. So, to bring true democracy, one company takes care of all rentals and housing transactions, so all those outside know any foreign branch is the extension of the state company. It's time to stop lying about being private, when all big companies are extensions of the military of that nation. Without honesty, peace is fiction. To achieve violent crime 1 billion times lower, we also need honesty to be 1 billion times higher. They're interdependent. There is nothing to hide, when you want trillion years lifespan for all, this is what our country stands for and any branch of our 11 companies plus educational policies all can adopt for free (free education courses) is aiming to bring trillion year lifespans for all. Right now, it's all gangsterism. So the gangs don't

All couples who want to have a baby can move to a cleaner air area, instantly, since babies and pregnant ladies need cleaner air, and sometimes a filter won't work well for jobs outside. Since all read this book or others and learn about pressure cookers, all kit studios contain a 40 ft2 kitchen only (comes with world's most advanced electric pressure cooker, (even the stone age ones today are 12 appliances into one, as the box says, and you can make nice lentils or whatever) since stoves/ovens are deadly, they create AGEs), but people can buy for 20$ a stove, yet all stoves have warning that cooking without water will wreck your health and make you a burden on the entire humanity who has to fix your arteries and organs, world's quietest Immortality brand food processor for smoothies made in USA, a 50 ft^2 bath with tub, 50 ft^2 living room, 200 ft^2 room, 30 ft^2 laundry room. When people see the analytical data on nutrition, toxic AGEs in this pressure cooker versus the stoves houses come with in the Age of Aristocratic Terror, they will never want a stove in the house, because, they know chemistry, that electric stoves are deadly, they cause free radicals in the air, by high heat burning volatile chemicals, that we inhale and destroy our lungs with (open stove oxidizes 100000 more air chemicals than the plate inside a pressure cooker sealed from the outside, so please don't share the "crap" with "electric stoves are great", they're genocide from the PALATIAL Aristocrats*)*, as explained in the electric heater section on why we need electric oil heaters and not electric radiant, furnace or ceramic ones (gas heaters are banned globally in many areas, due to toxic incomplete burn products and gas explosions, those are genocidal as we explained in the paragraphs on the lethality of central AC/heating systems that spread microbes, molds via vents that can never be sealed or cleaned well, etc). Stoves, even when cooking in water, without a lid, lead to 10000 to 100000 more "air induced" oxidation *of the water portion a*nd even solid portion of the food that sometimes rotates around the surface, versus pressure cooker, due to 10,000 to 1000000 more air coming into contact with the water, so definitely AVOID STOVES, even if lid is on, you get way more oxidation. Clueless moms let the soup boil without lid, no brains, for millennia, today galley slave PhDs, even in chemistry, act like robots, cooking in the most toxic way, not realizing what they're doing: this is because aristocrats designed an "eternal slavery" education system, not one to teach people to live to 900. Do you PhDs realize all restaurant food is poison by the standards of America's immortalist future government? Do you see the fraud these people perpetrate on the workers and themselves via their pathological selfishness? If you want to avoid being a burden on humanity. Microwaves need an evaluation and special stickers, don't come built in, so people know the dangers and why other nations have limits 1000 times lower for RF emissions of microwave ovens. This is the age of science and we install a studio in about 10 hours. Rentals of any sort will decrease 90000 fold. Thousands of hotels (that sit half empty due to decentralization) are turned into condo complexes or demolished if old and not safe during earthquake, to make room for 400-2000 ft^2 kit homes, 800 times more high tech that the best aristocratic home today. No more landlords… science 1st. Let every single scientist, engineer be happy in a gorgeous 400 ft^2 1 bedroom house (700 ft^2 backyard truly amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ decorations, landscaping), or if a family, 800-2400 ft^2 2-6 bedroom house (800-2400 ft^2 backyard). Redundant companies districts are razed, replaced with quiet residential areas. We rebuild America ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ so that all beings feel infinitely loved and cared for, like Immortalist Anthem verses 8-40. We group 5 bedroom houses in similar areas, to avoid annoying silence lovers with eternal shouts of 40 kids. The shouting folks can learn to practice eterni tones via free educational courses. Aristocrats, ever busy waging war on the workers to damage brains with bad food, poor sleep, never rest. Recall the gift of British & other aristocrats for non-Brits: blowing by gun. Most aristocrats have no mercy, to them "only they're humans", the rest are mere rats. The attitude is identical, the only thing that has changed is the way the "blowing by gun" is done… it can be done even with breads, bakeries that are dark, toasted, full of carcinogenic brown crust, 1000s of products or plain torture. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Immortality Building Inc can rebuild the house, during remodel due to ownership change, so bedroom windows face the quietest areas and sides and floor levels (sometimes upstairs can be noisier as no building exists to obstruct noise as downstairs), furthest away from the noisiest street and in the direction of wind (has to be quieter, so it's easier to sleep with window open) to diminish AC use and associated noise (let kitchen, living room, bath be in the noisiest of the 4 sides, bedrooms in the quietest. Due to electric pressure cookers, etc, kitchens no longer need so many special things such as stove, fans, etc since more portable exhaust fan systems can be created and shifting kitchens would be easier and kitchens will be replaced by immortality labs anyway. Every house is scanned for ticks and if ticks are in the area, the owner needs to be informed, and Immortality Building Inc must do everything possible to use lasers, etc to wipe all ticks out via new high tech methods as ticks spread too many lethal diseases. Termite inspection is not enough, they need tick inspection in the backyard too. Everyone gets a booklet with basic house maintenance he has to do*, and like the cutting of the grass done by* Immortality Building Inc before owner got the house keys, to keep grass under 3-4 inches, to prevent ticks (who prefer shadow, moist environments, meaning tall grass to hide under). Each house comes with the quietest grass mower, for owner to mow grass quietly and keep it under 2-4 inches to prevent death by tick bites (manual explains the 5 levels of grass one can adjust for, go for lowest if terrain is level). They also use a device to record noise around each house for 30 days to create average and a sample of each day of the week and hour, so 168 audio samples of the average of every hour of the week. They create walls, ☺☺☺ made of new materials, 20x cheaper than brick walls, that absorb sound and produce electricity to charge roads traveling on those noisy roads and ultra tranquil music on both sides of the wall, music that calms people, pedestrians, cyclists, drivers with open windows, and is more like white noise 30-50 db lower, around major roads to reduce noise of nearby houses and allow better health via acoustic nutrition). The houses near roads need to have, by law, windows, roof and walls that are way more soundproof than houses 800 ft or more away; there need to be 9 types of soundproof levels at least depending on noise level on the road so all can sleep with window open, get oxygen and not use AC so much. This is equal opportunity for all, at least give some good portable window quiet AC or central fan (if using electric heating) to bring in fresh air from outside with windows closed, if window open is not option in aircraft areas or in the hot summer or due to sky high road noise in areas that don't need AC and are freezing temps. ☺☺☺

Immortality Building Inc coordinates with Eternal Travel Inc to have fewer tire/road companies that produce better product, that makes 3 times less noise on the road*; we need R&D jobs not admin*. 5 instead of 5 million contractors or restaurants, hotels etc also means inspectors have a far easier job to inspect with drones (like Walmart ones) or in person and every change takes 1000 times less effort to implement, like white (special 99.9% heat reflective paint) roofs/walls in hot states to avoid AC, better window positions and heat reflection, wall insulation, etc to increase natural cooling, etc. These sound absorbing walls could also generate a little electricity via the wind, sun, create amazing & beautiful ☺☺☺ light shows, like permanent neon light quotes, on the road side of the wall with "Immortality for All" quotes or just listing the 200 qualities of the Immortals. One day, 1 drone will carry 30 tiny drones that each has a special device to penetrate wall, see thru every pipe, drywall, everything and check it without any physical person being there, drone calls the person, he opens the door and then checks everything slowly 1000 times better than the comical☺ inspections today. Recall, that a small business (1-2 people) of Neolithic inspectors can't compare with Immortality Building Inc with 100,000 PhD and automated gadgets and devices and computerized stuff, it's like Tesla Model 3 (19K only new in some areas of California) vs 15th century chariots. If we got 1 million taco trucks and tiny restaurants, and we want to optimize their formula, reduce AGEs 10 times to increase lifespan, we need to do 5 million tests, to optimize cooking, etc, reduce dry heat, etc - but with one or five big companies making many tacos, like Taco Bell, Chipotle, etc we can optimize it 1 million times faster and make a change instantly to increase lifespan. To achieve individual immortality, or 500 year lifespan, we need to COOPERATE, lovingly gently kindly help all live to 900, and not be so about 'me, my business', to reduce redundancy and forget about the ego building 'be my own boss is great and will serve society best' illusion. After all, many small business owners live paycheck to paycheck, make 10% of the money others with a job make, and inhale smog while selling tacos; exploiting others is not how we live to 500, we need to jointly raise everyone up to live to 500; divided we fall, united we rise in fewer bigger businesses we get 100x more RESEARCH and tech to live longer. ☺☺☺☺☺☺☺

Today, only houzeo.com (see all their videos by clicking on the ►) (and a few other flat fee MLS sites operating in most states, though most flat fee operate in only 1 state or 2) allows you to sell your house for 400$ if you do all the work, etc (ask buyer agent realtor to write offers and you simply sign the DocuSign, this is for those with more time and confidence), as TechCrunch 12 min video explains, instead of $50000 in commission, using a flat fee MLS service, but it's a far cry from the future centralized immortalist way. However, due to MLS rules that promote global slavery, the contact person on MLS can't be the seller, it has to be some agent, hired by Houzeo.com, so phone calls can't go directly to you, only to some automated line (that makes it hard to get the seller actual phone, they could just create a temporary phone for every house sold and message says "This is the MLS listing agent, to see house, the seller needs to be contacted at his number 111-111-1111, since this house is cheaper due to having lower commission for the listing agent; so this is a good buy for you; you can make offer thru houzeo.com/111-111-1111"). Due to the stone age houzeo.com tech of linking callers to the seller, it puts you at a disadvantage and you won't sell faster, but actually slower: the automated phone prompt has you go thru several menu options, waste time and then you're told "make offers and see more info at houzeo.com" or something like that. It's a way to never get any real reply, so no buyer or buyer agent will like working with this, unless you got a brand new house below market value. It's comical☺, another way to make the slaves feel they're "getting a deal", by saving 2% on house expenses, when you probably lose 3% from sale price and work way harder. The automated line and MLS rule to list agent as contact delays inquiries, house selling and is very bad, as nobody picks that line, buyers and agents have to take extra steps to make an offer versus normal sales, so seller gains nothing except frustration as there will be fewer showings, offers, etc. It's no democracy, but the enslavement of all Americans by the aristocratic gangs (see military rule, how 15th century feudalism lives on, in new disguised forms, with aristocrats (who created US colony and later USA, and many nations, regimes, etc, and many spy agencies to maintain their power over the enslaved masses under the guise of 'protecting the public' from 'bad guys' who threaten their power hold) wearing military uniforms, disguised as 'spies', royal families, 'patriotic generals', 'poor man turned into self-made genius politician or billionaire', etc). A future housing.gov sells any house in 1 week max. End all filif IQ☺ stone age sites and realtors and deliver true freedom and justice, in action not lies. Seller needs to be able to pick up the phone via any MLS listing if he wants to list on the national MLS site, even if the agent is some houzeo.com agent that helps seller. The 1.4 million realtor member NAR (National Association of Realtors, or National Realtors Association, NRA, National Rifle Association, the same vibe, they're all cops, FBI probably or spies (military, police, CIA, etc), conscious spies or not) made MLS rules, the dictatorship of realtors for USA means that people, buyers, agents who don't want to go thru the menus and to the houzeo.com website, won't really like it and give up, so you get maybe 2-5 times fewer offers. The house selling MLS is a system of subjugation of all USA by the National Association of Realtors (NAR), who founded the MLS in the 1960s and had the first online house ads in 1994; it is a relic of the era of slavery. The Department of Justice has been fighting the Realtors on PAPER for decades, in reality, it's a mere show to pretend they protect the PEOPLE. Everything is shrouded in secrecy, 1000s of houses don't even appear on MLS, they only go on the internal listings of these companies, the internal network of agents, etc. The average buyer, the enslaved 99%, is not allowed to buy or sell fast, only the super rich, with pure cash can do that. This is a system of pure exploitation. ☺

Houzeo.com offers 0.5% commission option (save 55000$ on a $1 million home vs 6% realtor if you pay 0% buyer commission or 50000 if you pay 0.5% buyer commission; please note in California, etc houses are so pricey, even 0.5% is overpaying the realtor, since most people make 50K a year and 5K for just 40 hours of work is like 260K a year: the 0.5% option of Houzeo.com allows us to bring down the aristocratic system of worker exploitation by the real estate mafia, until we get an immortalist government that makes it 900 times easier than houzeo.com even, which already is far easier than it ever was for an owner sale 10 years ago. Buyers look for houses, they see it on MLS, Redfin.com, etc as houzeo.com forces it on and then they will tell agents to make offers and agents can't negotiate the buyer %, you select that and this way we force commissions to come down more and more. You still have a listing agent at Houzeo.com to call at gold plan, 0.5% and make all offers electronically. Houzeo.com does everything for you almost (except showing and you talking to escrow to finalize the sale, calling to confirm offers, counteroffers were received, etc). Just make sure you answer any call within 10 hours or so and do all the steps of a realtor, with professionalism, good photos (30-50 photos), 1 video of the house (clean it and then take a 10 min video), talk to escrow, title company. The customer service is poor though: the realtor they assign even when you pay 0.5% to houzeo.com at closing doesn't really answer any texts or phone calls (they only forward any emails and texts, phone calls received, since seller does most work) until a showing exists (everything is done via the website, so don't expect to talk with the agent much), they don't update things as you enter them, the for sale sign has the price listed, so if price changes, it looks strange.

The present real estate sites are pathetic at best, reflective of the corrupt USA government, who defends palace dwelling aristocrats, not the people's high quality access to a website that is much better than the junk ones today: you can't do even basic searches like search by dozens of parameters, mobile home space rent or land lease amount, can't sear h for criteria in a whole state or country, only by tiny counties, etc. They have these mentally retarded sites, where instead of searching by 200 parameters, you can only search by 10 or so. Again, quantity versus quality, 5 million real estate sites, none of them good, the more the more ghetto America gets. Everything is made so stone age and hard to search, it's unbelievable, one has to waste so much time or rely on the lies of parasitic buyer agent realtor. It's stone age, just like our military and immigration system. With the housing.gov system detailed above, we inspect houses far more often, keep housing in perfect shape since if ownership changes 5 times every 20 years, instead of once, we can treat problems earlier and do far better repairs. For renting, no federal inspections are done, as landlords are allowed to rent in any condition for a few months. So, it's not just centralization, but life extension. The government inspects any room for rent yearly with all the gadgets they use at house selling and when requested by tenants. ☺☺☺

Whoever submits credit score and bid to buy a house, etc, during that 48 hour window of escrow opening for the sale, (escrow ending hour, minute, day is public), so all Immortalists can bid and get their house bought in 2 hours, vs 1 year in "current capitalism", that's IMMORTALITY CAPITALISM,☺☺☺ REWARDING "Immortality for All", those who contribute to highest average lifespan, not 1 person's GREED. meaning all town knows that will be gov property soon, available to buy after gov remodel, if remodel needed, done in a week, not a year, like some 'capitalistic enterprise companies from hell' who extort the weak and inflate price ever) and renovation being done, if needed, before anyone has time to bid and start a useless 50 day bidding war that drives prices too high, makes too many renters and flippers overextended landlords oppressing the tenants, making tenants unhappy and wasting time of courts that have to deal with the issues coming from unfair housing for all, all for flippers, shortening lifespan of the average American; we need longevity, not lawyers, physicists not admin jobs and etc; thus, with centralized immortalism (eternism of the 11 Eternal Companies if you wish), a house can be bought in 2 hours, or a few extra minutes if the two highest credit scores are identical for more bids to come; this is 4,400 times faster than some people spend now. All will spend 50 times fewer days selling a house, move to 21st century finally. Gently give all a single family house in America and let everyone experience the joy of home ownership and maintenance, so nobody feels cheated. We need longevity not arguing in courts; action, not words; one nation all for all; all help all; ultra high tech drones to remove subjectivity of inspectors and fraud. We remove vampire realtors who collide with appraiser, inspector to flip houses, do this and that, etc. ☺☺☺ The whole system is running on lawyers and courts being 500 times more numerous than it would be in an ethical efficient society. For example, when tenants pay a room rent, they'll pay housing.gov and that goes to the landlord instantly, so if they're late per the one national rule, more than 1 day, their Immortality Credit Score goes down. With each day the score decreases even more, so there is no more "cash" and arguments "he paid me this or that" or wasting eons with jokes. Tenants can't get mad at landlord, since all maintenance is done by Immortality Building Inc. Similar mega companies reduce the amount of litigation 900 fold, so we're a virtuous society, not one that wastes so much time with fights. This increases efficiency, as we major in physics, etc. Today the rules for each industry, or even renting, etc are 20,000 for 20,000 cities, instead of 1. The whole society wastes ENORMOUS amounts of time with their

20,000 principalities, where the Mayor and City Council are the Bosses who decentralize and make America a 3rd world country where everyone is a lawyer, judge, economist. Everyone gets mad, has to learn the 1000 procedures in every little village. Let's get ONE system everywhere, do science not mind games. If tenant, neighbor, owner or anyone senses an issue before the 700 house sensors do, then, they call 800-housing and in 10 minutes someone comes to fix it if urgent, 2 days if not. No more games "I told him to do x" and he didn't call that guy, etc. Due to the ultra selfish design, all we do is fight, each other and other countries, this is the American dream. Why can't we evolve? Why do we need 10 million phone numbers to call? Why can't we make it efficient? You enter your immortality pin or ID or phone and then all your info is uploaded, or your phone is the one on immortality.gov central ID system and is recognized instantly and asks: how can I help? Employers (non-residential) can call 800-buildit. Nobody can make prank calls, as reviews.gov is there and if the gov employee finds out it was a prank, he goes to reviews.gov and degrades the score of the prank caller. If any issue with the maintenance, reviews.gov degrades technician score, everyone is held accountable, no more "he said this". Video of each maintenance visit by the Immortality Building employee exists.

With one efficient housing.gov, we eliminate endless parasites, speculators and conmen. Today, we have a criminal 'realtor' system of rewarding LAZINESS, in all nations. Basically, for doing essentially the same work, a realtor gets to earn 5000 times more, simply because he sells a house that's worth, hear that, 5000 times more or 100 million, instead of 20,000. This criminal government system, that rewarded aristocracy, that rewards basically doing nothing to maximize the lifespan of the maximum amount of people, that makes a mockery of the US Constitution, We the People, has been here for 250 years. The system rewards theft, finding clever ways to game the system, to cheat, not work that maximizes the lifespan of all using science ☺☺lovingly tenderly gently kindly☺☺ applied. Hard work to increase the healthy lifespan of ALL, not just 200 aristocrat families, is not rewarded, so mafia thrives and we become a 3rd world country. We already are in many ways. It doesn't reward science of longevity and healthcare Immortality for All, but thuggery and banditry, profiteering and exploitation. If we pay scientists and inventors, that's what people aim to do, science, not economics and real estate. If we want to remain backwards, all we need is to keep the house buying and selling the same way. Decentralize and waste time. This gives these predators time to torture everyone, as one sale and then they have all year to harass and torture, enslave and subjugate all workers, as aristocrats gang up on us, spy on us, kill us. Look at MIT. I learned nothing about longevity and health in there, not required, most stuff I already knew from high school (I got books from University library, so in my spare time I learned all that), we were forced to waste 4 years to get a useless paper called diploma: many courses, I just went to the exam. EDU for profit: make slaves, get some paper, maybe a job later, not related to the study. A complete waste of time and money, not to mention the bad sleep, noise. Let's centralize EDU. Eliminate realtors and get some scientific and engineering progress going. We have too many 'clueless' running individual businesses, when with fewer, we get far better tech, due to 100 times more R&D. We either centralize or become a 3rd world country run by gangs. Lots of people who're single, just need a quiet place, small home, 400 ft^2, etc, like a studio almost, so we see the complete lack of features: for example, on these 1st century realty websites, you can't search by "quiet, pet free, kid free mobile home park or HOA for single people who need a temporary 1-7 year house to own until they will marry". There is very little choice, and the only quiet areas are for 55+. Same for apartments. Priority is PROFIT, the development of the immortality techs is not. Oddly, the best mobile parks are for 55+ only, so it's interesting how we trash the young people who're the future and who can innovate, create recordings for the centralized education, etc.

The young have no right to a peaceful place until they settle into a family, unless they're aristocrats. They're forced to listen to the loud music, dogs, screams, etc. This completely destroys the civilization, for the young have the most potential to innovate and poor sleep makes it impossible. Not only that, but families with kis could live together in HOA or family mobile parks, etc so they're happy with the noise. Let's create the Immortalist Party or radically change Demon-crats and Re-pub-licans. Kindly don't forget George Washington and Freemasons who created USA were aristocrats who owned slaves. 711 = Washington in the secret code of revolution spies, 7*11=77, 7+7 = 14 stations of the cross in many churches?, similar to 11-7-1917 Nov 7th 1917 USSR revolution), or 77 on these cars (717 on highest rank) at each annual parade or 49 German area code, 7*7, Angela Merkel birthday 7-17-54 July 17 1954, Mein Kampf published 7-18-1925. Jews rest on 7th day, Sabbath. So, they were not really as progressive as one might think, though they gave people freedom of religion, of belief in one of the 5000 fake miracles based beliefs, while a slave. How "generous" of them, to allow slaves to believe in any fantasy that enhances their low IQ and slavery. What an "amazing" American Revolution.☺☺☺

The Revolution got Freemason aristocrats replacing the British ones, if different, maybe and probably many of the same. We have nationalized our country's defense to protect us against foreign vampires and looters, we can nationalize real estate exchanges to protect us against domestic vampires and looters, to make it far more efficient, fair and transparent, eliminate the middle vampire, the "Court Jew" of real estate, who has sucked dry the planet for centuries. We can nationalize a lot more, if people want, the slaves probably want, the only opposition would be the aristocratic 5%. Today we see tons of Israel born or etc Jews in real estate, with all founders Jewish, recruiting Jews as agents, or gentiles. It's 50 hours of stressful work to be a scientist, so 2600 hours a year, and you can work just 26 hours to sell an average house and make the same yearly income, so what kind of gangster democracy is this? We got someone who doesn't contribute in any way to progress almost, making 100 times more if selling an
